Preface

This volume contains the general laws of a permanent nature enacted by the General Assembly through the 2007 Regular Session and 1st Extra Session that are within Chapters 159A through 168A, and brings to date the annotations included therein.

A majority of the Session Laws are made effective upon becoming law, but a few provide for stated effective dates. If the Session Law makes no provision for an effective date, the law becomes effective under G.S. 120-20 "from and after 60 days after the adjournment of the session" in which passed.

A ready reference index is included at the back of this volume. This index is intended to give the user a quick reference to larger bodies of statutes within this volume only. For detailed research on any subject, both within this volume and the General Statutes as a whole, see the General Index to the General Statutes.

Beginning with formal opinions issued by the North Carolina Attorney General on July 1, 1969, selected opinions which construe a specific statute are cited in the annotations to that statute. For a copy of an opinion or of its headnotes, write the Attorney General, P.O. Box 629, Raleigh, N.C. 27602.

This recompiled volume has been prepared and published under the supervision of the Department of Justice of the State of North Carolina. The members of the North Carolina Bar are requested to communicate any suggestions they may have for improving the General Statutes to the Department, or to LexisNexis, Charlottesville, Virginia.

ROY COOPER
Attorney General

§ 159B-2. Legislative findings and purposes.

The General Assembly hereby finds and determines that:

A critical situation exists with respect to the present and future supply of electric power and energy in the State of North Carolina;

The public utilities operating in the State have sustained greatly increased capital and operating costs;

Such public utilities have found it necessary to postpone or curtail construction of planned generation and transmission facilities serving the consumers of electricity in the State, increasing the ultimate cost of such facilities to the public utilities, and that such postponements and curtailments will have an adverse effect on the provision of adequate and reliable electric service in the State;

The above conditions have occurred despite substantial increases in electric rates;

In the absence of further material increases in electric rates, additional postponements and curtailments in the construction of additional generation and transmission facilities may occur, thereby impairing those utilities' ability to continue to provide an adequate and reliable source of electric power and energy in the State;

Seventy-two municipalities in the State have for many years owned and operated systems for the distribution of electric power and energy to customers in their respective service areas and are empowered severally to engage in the generation and transmission of electric power and energy;

Such municipalities owning electric distribution systems have an obligation to provide their inhabitants and customers an adequate, reliable and economical source of electric power and energy in the future;

In order to achieve the economies and efficiencies made possible by the proper planning, financing, sizing and location of facilities for the generation and transmission of electric power and energy which are not practical for any municipality acting alone, and to insure an adequate, reliable and economical supply of electric power and energy to the people of the State, it is desirable for the State of North Carolina to authorize municipal electric systems to jointly plan, finance, develop, own and operate electric generation and transmission facilities appropriate to their needs in order to provide for their present and future power requirements for all uses without supplanting or displacing the service at retail of other electric suppliers operating in the State; and

The joint planning, financing, development, ownership and operation of electric generation and transmission facilities by municipalities which own electric distribution systems and the issuance of revenue bonds for such purposes as provided in this Chapter is for a public use and for public and municipal purposes and is a means of achieving economies, adequacy and reliability in the generation of electric power and energy and in the meeting of future needs of the State and its inhabitants.

In addition to the authority granted municipalities to jointly plan, finance, develop, own and operate electric generation and transmission facilities by Article 2 of this Chapter and the other powers granted in said Article 2, and in addition and supplemental to powers otherwise conferred on municipalities by the laws of this State for interlocal cooperation, it is desirable for the State of North Carolina to authorize municipalities and joint agencies to form joint municipal assistance agencies which shall be empowered to provide aid and assistance to municipalities in the construction, ownership, maintenance, expansion and operation of their electric systems, and to empower joint agencies authorized herein to provide aid and assistance to municipalities or joint municipal assistance agencies in the development and implementation of integrated resource planning, including, but not limited to, the evaluation of resources, generating facilities, alternative energy resources, conservation and load management programs, transmission and distribution facilities, and purchase power options, and in the development, construction and operation of supply-side and demand-side resources, in addition to exercising such other powers as hereinafter provided to joint municipal assistance agencies and joint agencies. In order to provide maximum economies and efficiencies to municipalities and the consuming public in the generation and transmission of electric power and energy contemplated by Article 2 of this Chapter, it is also desirable that the joint municipal assistance agencies authorized herein be empowered to act as provided in Article 3 of this Chapter and that such agency or agencies be empowered to act for and on behalf of any one or more municipalities or joint agencies, as requested, with respect to the construction, ownership, maintenance, expansion and operation of their electric systems; and that the joint agencies authorized herein be empowered to act as provided in Article 2 of this Chapter and that such joint agencies be empowered to act for and on behalf of any one or more municipalities or joint municipal assistance agencies, in each case as requested, with respect to the integrated resource planning and development, construction, and operation of supply-side and demand-side options described above. § 159B-3. Definitions.

The following terms whenever used or referred to in this Chapter shall have the following respective meanings unless a different meaning clearly appears from the context:

- (1) "Bonds" shall mean revenue bonds, notes and other evidences of indebtedness of a joint agency or municipality issued under the provisions of this Chapter and shall include refunding bonds.
- (2) "Cost" or "cost of a project" shall mean, but shall not be limited to, the cost of acquisition, construction, reconstruction, improvement, enlargement, betterment or extension of any project, including the cost of studies, plans, specifications, surveys, and estimates of costs and revenues relating thereto; the cost of land, land rights, rights-of-way and easements, water rights, fees, permits, approvals, licenses, certificates, franchises, and the preparation of applications for and securing the same; administrative, legal, engineering and inspection expenses; financing fees, expenses and costs; working capital; initial fuel costs; interest on the bonds during the period of construction and for such reasonable period thereafter as may be determined by the issuing municipality or joint agency (provided that a period of three years shall be deemed to be reasonable for bonds issued to finance a generating unit expected to be operated to supply base load); establishment of reserves; and all other expenditures of the issuing municipality or joint agency incidental, necessary or convenient to the acquisition, construction, reconstruction, improvement, enlargement, betterment or extension of any project and the placing of the same in operation. The term shall also mean the capital cost of fuel for any project.
- (2a) "Electric system" shall mean any electric power generation, transmission or distribution system.

- (3) "Governing board" shall mean the legislative body, council, board of commissioners, board of trustees, or other body charged by law with governing the municipality, joint agency, or joint municipal assistance agency, including any executive committee created pursuant to G.S. 159B-10.
- (4) "Joint agency" shall mean a public body and body corporate and politic organized in accordance with the provisions of Article 2 of this Chapter.
- (4a) "Joint municipal assistance agency" shall mean a public body and body corporate and politic organized in accordance with the provisions of Article 3 of this Chapter.
- (5) "Municipality" shall mean a city, town or other unit of municipal government created under the laws of the State, or any board, agency, or commission thereof, owning a system or facilities for the generation, transmission or distribution of electric power and energy for public and private uses.
- (6) "Project" shall mean any system or facilities for the generation, transmission and transformation, or any of them, of electric power and energy by any means whatsoever including, but not limited to, any one or more electric generating units situated at a particular site, or any interest in the foregoing, whether an undivided interest as a tenant in common or otherwise. Project does not mean an administrative office building or office or facilities related to the administrative office building or office.
- (7) "State" shall mean the State of North Carolina. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1977, c. 708, s. 2; 1983, c. 609, ss. 3-6; 1985, c. 266, s. 1; 1989, c. 329; 1991, c. 513, s. 1; 1995, c. 412, s. 2.)

ARTICLE 2.

Joint Agencies; Municipalities.

§ 159B-4. Authority of municipalities to jointly cooperate.

In addition and supplemental to the powers otherwise conferred on municipalities by the laws of the State, and in order to accomplish the purposes of this Chapter and to obtain a supply of electric power and energy for the present and future needs of its inhabitants and customers, a municipality may jointly or severally plan, finance, develop, construct, reconstruct, acquire, improve, enlarge, better, own, operate and maintain a project situated within or without the State with one or more other municipalities or joint agencies created pursuant to this Chapter or, in the case of projects for the generation and transmission of electric power and energy, jointly with any persons, firms, associations or corporations, public or private, engaged in the generation, transmission or distribution of electric power and energy for resale within this State or any state contiguous to the State, and may make such plans and enter into such contracts in connection therewith, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Chapter, as are necessary or appropriate.

Prior to acquiring any generation project the governing board shall determine the needs of the municipality for power and energy based upon engineering studies and reports, and shall not acquire a project in excess of that amount of capacity and the energy associated therewith required to provide for its projected needs for power and energy from and after the date the project is estimated to be placed in normal continuous operation and for such reasonable period of time thereafter as shall be determined by the governing board and approved by the North Carolina Utilities Commission in a proceeding instituted pursuant to G.S. 159B-24. In determining the future power requirements of a municipality, there shall be taken into account the following:

- (1) The economies and efficiencies to be achieved in constructing on a large scale facilities for the generation of electric power and energy;
- (2) The municipality's needs for reserve and peaking capacity and to meet obligations under pooling and reserve sharing agreements reasonably related to its needs for power and energy to which it is or may become a party;
- (3) The estimated useful life of such project;
- (4) The estimated time necessary for the planning, development, acquisition or construction of such project and the length of time required in advance to obtain, acquire or construct additional power supply; and
- (5) The reliability and availability of existing or alternative power supply sources and the cost of such existing or alternative power supply sources.

A determination by such governing board approved by the North Carolina Utilities Commission based upon appropriate findings of the foregoing matters shall be conclusive as to the quantity of the interest which a municipality may acquire in a generation project unless a party to the proceeding aggrieved by the determination of said Commission shall file notice of appeal pursuant to Article 5 of Chapter 62 of the General Statutes of North Carolina.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent a municipality or municipalities from undertaking studies to determine whether there is a need for a project or whether such project is feasible. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1977, c. 385, s. 2; 1983, c. 574, s. 1; 1995, c. 412, s. 3.)

Each municipality shall own a project in proportion to the amount of the money furnished or the value of property or other consideration supplied by it for the planning, development, acquisition or construction thereof, and shall be entitled to a percentage share of the output and capacity therefrom equal to such ownership proportion in such project.

Each municipality shall be severally liable for its own acts and not jointly or severally liable for the acts, omissions or obligations of others, and no money or property or other consideration supplied by any municipality shall be credited or otherwise applied to the account of any other municipality, nor shall the share of any municipality in a project be charged directly or indirectly with any debt or obligation of any other municipality or be subject to any lien as a result thereof. The acquisition of a project shall include, but shall not be limited to, the purchase or lease of an existing, completed project and the purchase of a project under construction. A municipality participating in the joint or several planning, financing, construction, reconstruction, acquisition, improvement, enlargement, betterment, ownership, operation or maintenance of any project under this Chapter may furnish money derived solely from the proceeds of bonds or from the ownership and operation of its electric system, or both, and provide property, both real and personal, services and other considerations.

Any contracts entered into by municipalities with respect to ownership in a project shall contain such terms, conditions and provisions, not inconsistent with the provisions hereof, as the governing boards of the municipalities shall deem to be in the interests of the municipalities. Any such contracts shall be ratified by resolution of the governing board of each municipality spread upon its minutes. Any such contracts shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following:

- (1) The purpose or purposes of the contract;
- (2) The duration of the contract;
- (3) The manner of appointing or employing the personnel necessary in connection with the project;
- (4) The method of financing the project, including the apportionment of costs and revenues;
- (5) Provisions specifying the ownership interests of the parties in real property used or useful in connection with the project, and the procedures for the disposition of such property when the contract expires, is terminated or when the project, for any reason, is abandoned, decommissioned or dismantled;
- (6) Provisions relating to alienation and prohibiting partition of a municipality's interest in a project, which provisions shall not be subject to any provision of law restricting covenants against alienation or partition;
- (7) Provisions for the construction of a project, which may include the determination that one participating municipality or any person, firm or corporation may construct the project as agent for all the parties;
- (8) Provisions for the operation and maintenance of a project, which may include the determination that one participating municipality or any person, firm or corporation may operate and maintain the project as agent for all the parties;
- (9) Provisions for the creation of a committee of representatives of the participating municipalities with such powers of supervision of the construction and operation of the project as the contract, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Chapter, may provide;
- (10) Provisions that if one or more of the municipalities shall default in the performance or discharge of its or their obligations with respect to the project, the other party or parties may assume, pro rata or otherwise, the obligations of such defaulting party or parties and may succeed to such rights and interests of the defaulting party or parties in the project as may be agreed upon in the contract;
- (11) Methods for amending the contract;
- (12) Methods for terminating the contract; and
- (13) Any other necessary or proper matter.

For the purpose of paying its respective share of the cost of a project or projects, a municipality may issue its bonds as provided in this Chapter, and, notwithstanding the provisions of any other law to the contrary, may secure the payment of the principal of, premium, if any, and interest on such bonds by a lien and charge on all, or any portion of, the revenue derived or to be derived from the ownership and operation of its system or facilities for the generation, transmission, or distribution of electric power or energy or its interests in any project or projects, or a combination of such revenues. Provided that all bonds issued under the provisions of this Chapter shall be authorized and issued by the governing board of a city, town, or other unit of municipal government created under the laws of the State.

In connection with any project undertaken pursuant to this Chapter, a municipality shall have all of the rights and powers granted to a joint agency by subdivisions (12) and (13) of G.S. 159B-11.

Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law to the contrary, any contracts with respect to the sale or purchase of capacity, output, power or energy from a project may extend for a period not exceeding 50 years from the date a project is estimated to be placed in normal continuous operation; and the execution and effectiveness thereof shall not be subject to any authorizations or approvals by the State or any agency, commission or instrumentality or political subdivision thereof except as in this Chapter specifically required and provided. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1983, c. 574, ss. 2-2.6.)

Municipalities and joint agencies may jointly or severally own, operate and maintain projects with any person, firm, association or corporation, public or private, engaged in the generation, transmission or distribution of electric power and energy for resale within this State or any state contiguous to this State. Any municipality or joint agency shall have for such purposes all powers conferred upon them by the provisions of this Chapter including the power to issue revenue bonds pursuant to the provisions of this Chapter to finance its share of the cost of any such project. The definitions and all other terms and provisions of this Chapter shall be construed so as to include such undivided ownership interest in order to fully effectuate the power and authority conferred by the foregoing provisions of this section. (1977, c. 708, s. 3.)

§ 159B-6. Sale of capacity and output by a municipality.

Capacity or output derived by a municipality from its ownership share of a project not then required by such municipality for its own use and for the use of its consumers may be sold or exchanged by such municipality, for such consideration and for such period and upon such other terms and conditions as may be determined by the parties, to any municipality owning electric distribution facilities in this State, to any electric membership corporation or public utility authorized to do business in this State, or to any state, federal or municipal agency which owns electric generation, transmission or distribution facilities. Provided, however, that the foregoing limitations shall not apply to the temporary sale of excess capacity and energy without the State in cases of emergency or when required to fulfill obligations under any pooling or reserve-sharing agreements reasonably related to its needs for power and energy. Provided further, however, that sales of excess capacity or output of a project to electric membership corporations, public utilities, and other persons the interest on whose securities and other obligations is not exempt from taxation by the federal government shall not be made in such amounts, for such periods of time, and under such terms and conditions as will cause the interest on bonds issued to finance the cost of a project to become taxable by the federal government. (1975, c. 186, s. 1.)

§ 159B-7. Licenses, permits, certificates and approvals.

Municipalities proposing to jointly plan, finance, develop, own and operate a project are hereby authorized, either jointly or separately, to apply to the appropriate agencies of the State, the United States, or any state thereof, and to any other proper agency for such licenses, permits, certificates or approvals as may be necessary, and to construct, maintain and operate projects in accordance with such licenses, permits, certificates or approvals and to obtain, hold and use such licenses, permits, certificates and approvals in the same manner as any other operating unit of any other person. (1975, c. 186, s. 1.)

§ 159B-9. Creation of a joint agency; board of commissioners.

(a) The governing boards of two or more municipalities may by resolution or ordinance determine that it is in the best interests of the municipalities in accomplishing the purposes of this Chapter to create a joint agency as prescribed herein for the purpose of undertaking the planning, financing, development, acquisition, construction, reconstruction, improvement, enlargement, betterment, operation and maintenance of a project or projects as an alternative or supplemental method of obtaining the benefits and assuming the responsibilities of ownership in a project.

In determining whether or not creation of a joint agency for such purpose is in the best interests of the municipalities, the governing boards shall take into consideration, but shall not be limited to, the following:

- (1) Whether or not a separate entity may be able to finance the cost of projects in a more efficient and economical manner;
- (2) Whether or not better financial market acceptance may result if one entity is responsible for issuing all of the bonds required for a project or projects in a timely and orderly manner and with a uniform credit rating instead of multiple entities issuing separate issues of bonds;
- (3) Whether or not savings and other advantages may be obtained by providing a separate entity responsible for the acquisition, construction, ownership and operation of a project or projects; and
- (4) Whether or not the existence of such a separate entity will foster the continuation of joint planning and undertaking of projects, and the resulting economies and efficiencies to be derived from such joint planning and undertaking.

If each governing board shall determine that it is in the best interest of the municipality to create a joint agency to provide power and energy to the municipality as provided in this Chapter, each shall adopt a resolution or ordinance so finding (which need not prescribe in detail the basis for the determination), and which shall set forth the names of the municipalities which are proposed to be initial members of the joint agency. The governing board of the municipality shall thereupon by ordinance or resolution appoint one commissioner of the joint agency who may, at the discretion of the governing board, be an officer or employee of the municipality.

Any two or more commissioners so named may file with the Secretary of State an application signed by them setting forth (i) the names of all the proposed member municipalities; (ii) the name and official residence of each of the commissioners so far as known to them; (iii) a certified copy of the appointment evidencing their right to office; (iv) a statement that each governing board of each respective municipality appointing a commissioner has made the aforesaid determination; (v) the desire that a joint agency be organized as a public body and a body corporate and politic under this Chapter; and (vi) the name which is proposed for the joint agency.

The application shall be subscribed and sworn to by such commissioners before an officer or officers authorized by the laws of the State to administer and certify oaths.

The Secretary of State shall examine the application and, if he finds that the name proposed for the joint agency is not identical with that of any other corporation of this State or of any agency or instrumentality thereof, or so nearly similar as to lead to confusion and uncertainty, he shall receive and file it and shall record it in an appropriate book of record in his office.

When the application has been made, filed and recorded as herein provided, the joint agency shall constitute a public body and a body corporate and politic under the name proposed in the application. The Secretary of State shall make and issue to the commissioners executing the application a certificate of incorporation pursuant to this Chapter under the seal of the State, and shall record the same with the application. The certificate shall set forth the names of the member municipalities.

In any suit, action or proceeding involving the validity or enforcement of, or relating to, any contract of the joint agency, the joint agency, in the absence of establishing fraud in the premises, shall be conclusively deemed to have been established in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter upon proof of the issuance of the aforesaid certificate by the Secretary of State. A copy of such certificate, duly certified by the Secretary of State, shall be admissible in evidence in any such suit, action or proceeding, and shall be conclusive proof of the filing and contents thereof.

Notice of the issuance of such certificate shall be given to all of the proposed member municipalities by the Secretary of State. If a commissioner of any such municipality has not signed the application to the Secretary of State and such municipality does not notify the Secretary of State of the appointment of a commissioner within 40 days after receipt of such notice, such municipality shall be deemed to have elected not to be a member of the joint agency. As soon as practicable after the expiration of such 40-day period, the Secretary of State shall issue a new certificate of incorporation, if necessary, setting forth the names of those municipalities which have elected to become members of the joint agency. The failure of any proposed member to become a member shall not affect the validity of the corporate existence of the joint agency.

(b) After the creation of a joint agency, any other municipality may become a member thereof upon application to such joint agency after the adoption of a resolution or ordinance by the governing board of the municipality setting forth the determination and finding prescribed in paragraph (a) of this G.S. 159B-9, and authorizing said municipality to participate, and with the unanimous consent of the members of the joint agency evidenced by the resolutions of their respective governing bodies. Any municipality may withdraw from a joint agency, provided, however, that all contractual rights acquired and obligations incurred while a municipality was a member shall remain in full force and effect.

(c) The powers of a joint agency shall be exercised by or under the authority of, and the business and affairs of a joint agency shall be managed under the direction of, its board of commissioners. However, all or a portion of those powers and the management of all or any part of the business and affairs of a joint agency may be exercised by an executive committee created pursuant to G.S. 159B-10. The board of commissioners shall consist of commissioners appointed by the respective governing boards of the municipalities which are members of the joint agency. Each commissioner shall have not less than one vote and may have in addition thereto such additional votes as the governing boards of a majority of the municipalities which are members of the agency shall determine. Each commissioner shall serve at the pleasure of the governing board by which the commissioner was appointed. Each appointed commissioner before entering upon his duties shall take and subscribe to an oath before some person authorized by law to administer oaths to execute the duties of his office faithfully and impartially, and a record of each such oath shall be filed with the governing board of the appointing municipality and spread upon its minutes. The governing board of each of the municipalities may appoint up to two alternate commissioners to act in lieu of its appointed commissioner when the appointed commissioner is unable for any reason to attend meetings of the board of commissioners or any committee thereof, and the governing board shall designate them as first or second alternate commissioner. Each alternate commissioner shall serve at the pleasure of the governing body by which that commissioner was appointed and shall take, subscribe to and file an oath in the same manner as prescribed for regularly appointed commissioners. Such alternate commissioner when acting in lieu of the regularly appointed commissioner shall be deemed to be the commissioner of such municipality, and shall have the rights, powers and authority of the regularly appointed commissioner, including any committee function of said commissioner, other than such commissioner's position as an officer pursuant to paragraph (d) of this G.S. 159B-9. A certificate entered into the minutes of the board of commissioners of a joint agency by the clerk or other custodian of the minutes and records of the governing body of a municipality, appointing commissioners and alternate commissioners and reciting their appointments, shall constitute conclusive evidence of their appointment. The offices of commissioner, alternate commissioner, or officer of a joint agency are hereby declared to be offices which may be held by the holders of any office, place of trust or profit in addition to and concurrently with those offices permitted by G.S. 128-1.1 and other offices permitted by other General Statute.

(d) The board of commissioners of the joint agency shall annually elect one of the commissioners as chairman, another as vice-chairman, and another person or persons, who may but need not be commissioners, as treasurer, secretary, and, if desired, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer. The office of treasurer or assistant treasurer may be held by the secretary or assistant secretary. The board of commissioners may also appoint such additional officers as it deems necessary. The secretary or any assistant secretary of the joint agency shall keep a record of the proceedings of the joint agency, and the secretary shall be the custodian of all records, books, documents and papers filed with the joint agency, the minute book or journal of the joint agency and its official seal. Either the secretary or the assistant secretary of the joint agency may cause copies to be made of all minutes and other records and documents of the joint agency and may give certificates under the official seal of the joint agency to the effect that such copies are true copies, and all persons dealing with the joint agency may rely upon such certificates.

(e) A majority of the commissioners of a joint agency then in office shall constitute a quorum. A vacancy in the board of commissioners of the joint agency shall not impair the right of a quorum to exercise all the rights and perform all the duties of the joint agency. Any action taken by the joint agency under the provisions of this Chapter may be authorized by resolution at any regular or special meeting, and each such resolution may take effect immediately and need not be published or posted. A majority of the votes which the commissioners present are entitled to cast shall be necessary and sufficient to take any action or to pass any resolution, provided that such commissioners present are entitled to cast a majority of the votes of all commissioners of the board.

(f) No commissioner of a joint agency shall receive any compensation for the performance of his duties hereunder, provided, however, that each commissioner may be paid his necessary expenses incurred while engaged in the performance of such duties. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1977, c. 385, ss. 3, 4; 1979, c. 102; 1983, c. 574, s. 3; 1985, c. 243, s. 1; 1995, c. 412, s. 5.)

§ 159B-10. Executive committee, composition; powers and duties; terms.

(a) The board of commissioners of a joint agency may create an executive committee by resolution. The board may provide for the composition and terms of office of, and the method of filling vacancies on, the executive committee. The executive committee may include representatives of the joint agency, representatives of any other joint agency, and any other persons. The executive committee of a joint agency may simultaneously act as the executive committee of any other joint agency or agencies, or joint municipal assistance agency or agencies, if so provided by all such entities, and also may simultaneously act as the sole governing board of any joint municipal assistance agency created by two or more joint agencies pursuant to G.S. 159B-45 if so provided by all such joint agencies. An executive committee acting as the sole governing board of a joint municipal assistance agency shall not be subject to the limitations on the powers and authority of executive committees set forth in subsection (b) of this section.

(b) Except as limited by resolution of the board of commissioners creating an executive committee and except as otherwise provided in this subsection, an executive committee shall have and shall exercise all of the powers and authority of the board of commissioners creating the executive committee. However, the executive committee shall not have the power or authority to (i) amend any resolution of the board of commissioners of the joint agency relating to the creation of the executive committee or providing for its powers or authority; or (ii) adopt or amend a budget. Any rate for a joint agency adopted by an executive committee may be rejected, within 30 days following the adoption of the rate, by a vote of two-thirds in number of the commissioners representing the joint agency members affected by the rate. In the event that any rate is rejected in this manner, the executive committee shall, within 10 days following the action on the part of the commissioners, adopt a second rate for that joint agency, which may be the same rate as previously adopted. This second rate may be rejected, within 10 days following the adoption of the rate, by a vote of two-thirds in number of the commissioners representing the joint agency members affected by the rate. If a second rate adopted by the executive committee is rejected in this manner, the board of commissioners of the affected joint agency shall, acting by weighted vote, adopt a rate for the joint agency which is sufficient at least to comply with the requirements of G.S. 159B-17(b). No such rate adopted by the executive committee shall become effective so long as it is subject to rejection by commissioners of a joint agency as provided for in this subsection. However, if the executive committee determines that the establishment of a rate is required within 50 days to enable a joint agency to satisfy the requirements of G.S. 159B-17(b), the rate adopted by the executive committee shall be effective until changed by the executive committee or board of commissioners in accordance with this subsection.

(c) Each member of the executive committee shall have one vote and shall serve at the pleasure of the governing board by which the member was appointed. Before performing duties as a member, each member shall take and subscribe to an oath before some person authorized by law to administer oaths to execute the duties of the office faithfully and impartially, and a record of each oath shall be filed with the governing board appointing the member and spread upon its minutes. The office of a member of an executive committee may be held by the holders of any office, place of trust or profit in addition to and concurrently with those offices permitted by G.S. 128-1.1 and other offices permitted by law.

(d) The executive committee shall annually elect from its membership a chair and vice-chair, and shall elect another person or persons, who need not be members, to serve as secretary and, if desired, assistant secretary. The secretary or any assistant secretary of the executive committee shall keep a record of the proceedings of the executive committee, and the secretary shall be the custodian of all records, books, documents, and papers filed with the executive committee, as well as the minute book or journal of the executive committee. Either the secretary or the assistant secretary of the executive committee may cause copies to be made of all minutes and other records and documents of the executive committee and may give certificates of the executive committee to the effect that the copies are true copies, and all persons dealing with the executive committee may rely upon those certificates.

(e) A majority of the members of an executive committee then serving shall constitute a quorum. A vacancy on the executive committee shall not impair the right of a quorum to exercise all the rights and perform all the duties of the executive committee. Any action taken by the executive committee under the provisions of this Chapter may be authorized by resolution at any regular or special meeting, and each such resolution may take effect immediately and need not be published or posted. A vote of the majority of the members present shall be necessary and sufficient to take any action or to pass any resolution, provided that those members present are entitled to cast a majority of the votes of all members of the executive committee.

(f) Members of the executive committee, and of any subcommittee created by the executive committee, may receive compensation and be paid expenses for the performance of their duties as determined by the board or boards of commissioners creating that executive committee. However, for any member of an executive committee who is an employee of a municipality, a payment in lieu of any compensation shall be made to the municipality for distribution to the executive committee member in the manner and amount, if any, it deems appropriate. An executive committee for more than one entity may be referred to as a board of directors of any or each of those entities. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1977, c. 385, s. 5; 1995, c. 412, s. 6.)

§ 159B-11. General powers of joint agencies; prerequisites to undertaking projects.

Each joint agency shall have all of the rights and powers necessary or convenient to carry out and effectuate the purposes and provisions of this Chapter, including, but without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the rights and powers:

- (1) To adopt bylaws for the regulation of the affairs and the conduct of its business, and to prescribe rules, regulations and policies in connection with the performance of its functions and duties;
- (2) To adopt an official seal and alter the same at pleasure;
- (3) To acquire and maintain an administrative office building or office at such place or places as it may determine, which building or office may be used or owned alone or together with any other joint agency or agencies, joint municipal assistance agency, municipalities, corporations, associations or persons under such terms and provisions for sharing costs and otherwise as may be determined;
- (4) To sue and be sued in its own name, and to plead and be impleaded;
- (5) To receive, administer and comply with the conditions and requirements respecting any gift, grant or donation of any property or money;
- (6) To acquire by purchase, lease, gift, or otherwise, or to obtain options for the acquisition of, any property, real or personal, improved or unimproved, including an interest in land less than the fee thereof;
- (7) To sell, lease, exchange, transfer or otherwise dispose of, or to grant options for any such purposes with respect to, any real or personal property or interest therein;
- (8) To pledge, assign, mortgage or otherwise grant a security interest in any real or personal property or interest therein, including the right and power to pledge, assign or otherwise grant a security interest in any money, rents, charges or other revenues and any proceeds derived by the joint agency from the sales of property, insurance or condemnation awards;

- (9) To issue bonds of the joint agency for the purpose of providing funds for any of its corporate purposes;
- (10) To study, plan, finance, construct, reconstruct, acquire, improve, enlarge, extend, better, own, operate and maintain one or more projects, either individually or jointly with one or more municipalities in this State or any state contiguous to this State owning electric distribution facilities or with any political subdivisions, agencies or instrumentalities of any state contiguous to this State or with other joint agencies created pursuant to this Chapter, and to pay all or any part of the costs thereof from the proceeds of bonds of the joint agency or from any other available funds of the joint agency; no provisions of law with respect to the acquisition, construction, or operation of property by other public bodies shall be applicable to any project as defined in this Chapter and as authorized by this subdivision unless the General Assembly shall specifically so state;
- (11) To authorize the construction, operation or maintenance of any project or projects by any person, firm, association, or corporation, public or private;
- (12) To acquire by private negotiated purchase or lease or otherwise an existing project, a project under construction, or other property, either individually or jointly, with one or more municipalities or joint agencies in this State or any state contiguous to this State owning electric distribution facilities or with any political subdivisions, agencies or instrumentalities of any state contiguous to this State or with other joint agencies created pursuant to this Chapter; to acquire by private negotiated purchase or lease or otherwise any facilities for the development, production, manufacture, procurement, handling, storage, fabrication, enrichment, processing or reprocessing of fuel of any kind or any facility or rights with respect to the supply of water, and to enter into agreements by private negotiation or otherwise, for a period not exceeding fifty (50) years, for the development, production, manufacture, procurement, handling, storage, fabrication, enrichment, processing or reprocessing of fuel of any kind or any facility or rights with respect to the supply of water; no provisions of law with respect to the acquisition, construction or operation of property by other public bodies shall be applicable to any agency created pursuant to this Chapter unless the legislature shall specifically so state;
- (13) To dispose of by private negotiated sale or lease, or otherwise, an existing project or a project under construction, or to dispose of by private negotiated sale or lease, or otherwise any facilities for the development, production, manufacture, procurement, handling, storage, fabrication, enrichment, processing or reprocessing of fuel of any kind or any facility or rights with respect to the supply of water; no provisions of law with respect to the disposition of property by other public bodies shall be applicable to an agency created pursuant to this Chapter unless the legislature shall specifically so state;
- (14) To fix, charge and collect rents, rates, fees and charges for electric power or energy and other services, facilities and commodities sold, furnished or supplied through any project or activity permitted in this Chapter;
- (15) To generate, produce, transmit, deliver, exchange, purchase, sell for resale only, electric power or energy, and to enter into contracts for any or all such purposes;

- (16) To negotiate and enter into contracts for the purchase, sale for resale only, exchange, interchange, wheeling, pooling, transmission or use of electric power and energy with any person, firm, association, or corporation, public or private;
- (17) To make and execute contracts and other instruments necessary or convenient in the exercise of the powers and functions of the joint agency under this Chapter, including contracts with persons, firms, associations, or corporations, public or private;
- (18) To apply to the appropriate agencies of the State, the United States or any state thereof, and to any other proper agency, for such permits, licenses, certificates or approvals as may be necessary, and to construct, maintain and operate projects and undertake other activities permitted in this Chapter in accordance with such licenses, permits, certificates or approvals, and to obtain, hold and use such licenses, permits, certificates and approvals in the same manner as any other person or operating unit of any other person;
- (19) To employ engineers, architects, attorneys, real estate counselors, appraisers, financial advisors and such other consultants and employees as may be required in the judgment of the joint agency and to fix and pay their compensation from funds available to the joint agency therefor and to select and retain subject to approval of the Local Government Commission the financial consultants, underwriters and bond attorneys to be associated with the issuance of any bonds and to pay for services rendered by underwriters, financial consultants or bond attorneys out of the proceeds of any such issue with regard to which the services were performed;
- (19a) To purchase power and energy, and services and facilities relating to the utilization of power and energy, from any source on behalf of its members and other customers and to furnish, sell, lease, exchange, transfer, or otherwise dispose of, or to grant options for any such purposes with respect to the same, to its members and other customers in such amounts, with such characteristics, for such periods of time and under such terms and conditions as the governing board of the joint agency shall determine;
- (19b) To provide aid and assistance to municipalities, and to act for or on behalf of any municipality, in any activity related to the development and implementation of integrated resource planning, including, but not limited to, the evaluation of resources, generating facilities, alternative energy resources, conservation and load management programs, transmission and distribution facilities, and purchased power options, and related to the development, construction and operation of supply-side and demand-side resources, and to do such other acts and things as provided in Article 3 of this Chapter as if the joint agency were a joint municipal assistance agency, and to carry out the powers granted in this Chapter in relation thereto; to provide aid and assistance to any joint municipal assistance agency in the exercise of its respective powers and functions; and
- (20) To do all acts and things necessary, convenient or desirable to carry out the purposes, and to exercise the powers granted to the joint agency in this Chapter.

No joint agency shall undertake any project required to be financed, in whole or in part, with the proceeds of bonds without the approval of a majority of its members. Before undertaking any project, a joint agency shall, based upon engineering studies and reports, determine that such project is required to provide for the projected needs for power and energy of its members from and after the date the project is estimated to be placed in normal and continuous operation and for a reasonable period of time thereafter. Prior to or simultaneously with granting a certificate of public convenience and necessity for any such generation project the North Carolina Utilities Commission, in a proceeding instituted pursuant to G.S. 159B-24 of this Chapter, shall approve such determination. In determining the future power requirements of the members of a joint agency, there shall be taken into account the following:

- (1) The economies and efficiencies to be achieved in constructing on a large scale facilities for the generation of electric power and energy;
- (2) Needs of the joint agency for reserve and peaking capacity and to meet obligations under pooling and reserve-sharing agreements reasonably related to its needs for power and energy to which the joint agency is or may become a party;
- (3) The estimated useful life of such project;
- (4) The estimated time necessary for the planning, development, acquisition, or construction of such project and the length of time required in advance to obtain, acquire or construct additional power supply for the members of the joint agency;
- (5) The reliability and availability of existing alternative power supply sources and the cost of such existing alternative power supply sources.

A determination by the joint agency approved by the North Carolina Utilities Commission based upon appropriate findings of the foregoing matters shall be conclusive as to the appropriateness of a project to provide the needs of the members of a joint agency for power and energy unless a party to the proceeding aggrieved by the determination of said Commission shall file notice of appeal pursuant to Article 5 of Chapter 62 of the General Statutes of North Carolina.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent a joint agency from undertaking studies to determine whether there is a need for a project or whether such project is feasible. CASE NOTES

Cited in State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. Eddleman, 320 N.C. 344, 358 S.E.2d 339 (1987).

§ 159B-12. Sale of capacity and output by a joint agency; other contracts with a joint agency.

Any municipality which is a member of the joint agency may contract to buy from the joint agency power and energy for its present or future requirements, including the capacity and output of one or more specified projects. As the creation of a joint agency is an alternative method whereby a municipality may obtain the benefits and assume the responsibilities of ownership in a project, any such contract may provide that the municipality so contracting shall be obligated to make the payments required by the contract whether or not a project is completed, operable or operating and notwithstanding the suspension, interruption, interference, reduction or curtailment of the output of a project or the power and energy contracted for, and that such payments under the contract shall not be subject to any reduction, whether by offset or otherwise, and shall not be conditioned upon the performance or nonperformance of the joint agency or any other member of the joint agency under the contract or any other instrument. Any contract with respect to the sale or purchase of capacity or output of a project entered into between a joint agency and its member municipalities may also provide that if one or more of such municipalities shall default in the payment of its or their obligations with respect to the purchase of said capacity or output, then in that event the remaining member municipalities which are purchasing capacity and output under the contract shall be required to accept and pay for and shall be entitled proportionately to and may use or otherwise dispose of the capacity or output which was to be purchased by the defaulting municipality. Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law to the contrary, any such contract with respect to the sale or purchase of capacity, output, power, or energy from a project may extend for a period not exceeding 50 years from the date a project is estimated to be placed in normal continuous operation.

Any municipality may contract with a joint agency, or may contract indirectly with a joint agency through a joint municipal assistance agency, to implement the provisions of G.S. 159B-11(19a) and (19b). Notwithstanding the provisions of any law to the contrary, including, but not limited to, the provisions of G.S. 159B-44(13), any contract between a joint agency and a municipality or a joint municipal assistance agency (or between a municipality and a joint municipal assistance agency) to implement the provisions of G.S. 159B-11(19b) may extend for a period not exceeding 30 years; provided, that any such contract in respect of a capital project to be used by or for the benefit of a municipality shall be subject to the prior approval of the Local Government Commission of North Carolina. In reviewing any such contract for approval, said Local Government Commission shall consider the municipality's debt management procedures and policies, whether the municipality is in default with respect to its debt service obligations and such other matters as said Local Government Commission may believe to have a bearing on whether the contract should be approved.

Notwithstanding the provisions of any law to the contrary, the execution and effectiveness of any contracts authorized by this section shall not be subject to any authorizations or approvals by the State or any agency, commission or instrumentality or political subdivision thereof except as in this Chapter specifically required and provided.

Payments by a municipality under any contract authorized by this section shall be made solely from the revenues derived from the ownership and operation of the electric system of said municipality and any obligation under such contract shall not constitute a legal or equitable pledge, charge, lien, or encumbrance upon any property of the municipality or upon any of its income, receipts, or revenues, except the revenues of its electric system, and neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of the municipality are, or may be, pledged for the payment of any obligation under any such contract. A municipality or joint agency, pursuant to an agreement with a municipality, shall be obligated to fix, charge and collect rents, rates, fees and charges for electric power and energy and other services, activities permitted in this Chapter, facilities and commodities sold, furnished or supplied through the electric system of the municipality sufficient to provide revenues adequate to meet its obligations under any such contract and to pay any and all other amounts payable from or constituting a charge and lien upon such revenues, including amounts sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on general obligation bonds heretofore or hereafter issued by the municipality for purposes related to its electric system.

Payments by any joint municipal assistance agency to any joint agency under any contract or contracts authorized by this section, shall be made solely from the sources specified in such contract or contracts and no other, and any obligation under such contract shall not constitute a legal or equitable pledge, charge, lien, or encumbrance upon any property of the joint municipal assistance agency or upon any of its income, receipts, or revenues, or upon any property of any municipality with which the joint agency or joint municipal assistance agency contracts or upon any of such municipality's income, receipts, or revenues in each case except such sources so specified. A joint municipal assistance agency shall be obligated to fix, charge and collect rents, rates, fees, and charges for providing aid and assistance sufficient to provide revenues adequate to meet its obligations under such contract.

Any municipality which is a member of a joint agency may furnish the joint agency with money derived solely from the ownership and operation of its electric system or facilities and provide the joint agency with personnel, equipment and property, both real and personal. Any municipality may also provide any services to a joint agency.

Any member of a joint agency may contract for, advance or contribute funds derived solely from the ownership and operation of its electric system or facilities to a joint agency as may be agreed upon by the joint agency and the member, and the joint agency shall repay such advances or contributions from proceeds of bonds, from operating revenues or from any other funds of the joint agency, together with interest thereon as may be agreed upon by the member and the joint agency. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1983, c. 574, s. 5; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 888, s. 3; 1995, c. 412, s. 8.)

§ 159B-13. Sale of excess capacity and output by a joint agency.

A joint agency may sell or exchange the excess capacity or output of a project not then required by any of its members, for such consideration and for such period and upon such other terms and conditions as may be determined by the parties, to any person, firm, association, or corporation, public or private. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1977, c. 385, s. 11; 1995, c. 412, s. 9.)

§ 159B-14. Bonds of a joint agency.

A joint agency may issue bonds for the purpose of paying the cost of a project and secure both the principal of and interest on the bonds by a pledge of part or all of the revenues derived or to be derived from all or any of its projects, and any additions and betterments thereto or extensions thereof, or from the sale of power and energy and services and facilities related to the utilization of power and energy, or from other activities or facilities permitted in this Chapter, or from contributions or advances from its members. A joint agency may issue bonds that are not for the purpose of paying the cost of a project and secure the bonds solely by a pledge of revenues, solely by a security interest in real or personal property, or by both a pledge of revenues and a security interest in real or personal property. Bonds of a joint agency shall be authorized by a resolution adopted by its governing board and spread upon its minutes. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1983, c. 574, s. 6; 1991, c. 513, s. 2; 1995, c. 412, s. 10.)

§ 159B-15. Issuance of bonds.

(a) Each municipality and joint agency is hereby authorized to issue at one time or from time to time its bonds for the purpose of paying all or any part of the cost of any of the purposes herein authorized. The principal of, premium, if any, and the interest on bonds issued to pay the cost of a project shall be payable solely from revenues. Bonds that are not issued to pay the cost of a project shall be payable from revenues, from property pledged as security for the bonds, or from both.

The bonds of each issue shall bear interest at such rate or rates as may be determined or provided for by the Local Government Commission of North Carolina with the approval of the issuer. The bonds of each issue shall be dated and shall mature in such amounts and at such time or times, not exceeding 50 years from their respective date or dates, as may be determined by the governing board of the issuer, and may be made redeemable before maturity at such price or prices and under such terms and conditions as may be fixed by the governing board of the issuer prior to the issuance of the bonds. The governing board of the issuer shall determine the form and the manner of execution of the bonds, including any interest coupons to be attached thereto, and shall fix the denomination or denominations of the bonds and the place or places of payment of principal and interest, which may be at any bank or trust company within or without the State. In case any officer whose signature or a facsimile of whose signature shall appear on any bonds or coupons shall cease to be such officer before the delivery of such bond, such signature or such facsimile shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if he had remained in office until such delivery. The governing board of the issuer may also provide for the authentication of the bonds by a trustee or fiscal agent appointed by the issuer, or by an authenticating agent of any such trustee or fiscal agent. The bonds may be issued in coupon or in fully registered form, or both, as the governing board of the issuer may determine, and provisions may be made for the registration of any coupon bonds as to principal alone and also as to both principal and interest, and for the reconversion into coupon bonds of any bonds registered as to both principal and interest, and for the interchange of registered and coupon bonds. At the election of a joint agency, any bonds issued and sold in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter may be purchased or otherwise acquired by the joint agency and held by it in lieu of cancellation, and subsequently resold.

(a1) Notwithstanding anything in this Chapter to the contrary, the Local Government Commission of North Carolina and the issuer (i) may authorize officers or employees of either or both thereof to fix principal amounts, maturity dates, interest rates or methods of fixing interest rates, interest payment dates, denominations, redemption rights of the issuer or holder, places of payment of principal and interest, and purchase prices of any bonds, to sell and deliver any bonds in whole or in part at one time or from time to time, and to fix other matters and procedures necessary to complete the transactions authorized, all subject to such limitations as may be prescribed by the Local Government Commission with the approval of the issuer, (ii) may approve insurance contracts, agreements for lines of credit, letters of credit, commitments to purchase bonds and any other transactions to provide security to assure, timely payment of bonds, (iii) may employ one or more persons or firms to assist in the sale of the bonds and appoint one or more banks, trust companies or any dealer in bonds, within or without the State, as depository for safekeeping and as agent for the delivery and payment of the bonds, and (iv) may provide for the payment of fees and expenses in connection with the foregoing either from the proceeds of the bonds or from other available funds.

(b) The proceeds of the bonds of each issue shall be used solely for the purposes for which such bonds have been issued, and shall be disbursed in such manner and under such restrictions, if any, as the governing board of the issuer may provide in the resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or in any trust agreement securing the same. The municipality or joint agency may issue interim receipts or temporary bonds, with or without coupons, exchangeable for definitive bonds when such bonds shall have been executed and are available for delivery. The municipality or joint agency may also provide for the replacement of any bonds which shall have become mutilated or shall have been destroyed or lost.

(c) Bonds may be issued under the provisions of this Chapter without obtaining, except as otherwise expressly provided in G.S. 159B-24 of this Chapter, the consent of the State or of any political subdivision, or of any agency, commission or instrumentality of either thereof, and without any other approvals, proceedings or the happening of any conditions or things other than those approvals, proceedings, conditions or things which are specifically required by this Chapter and the provisions of the resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or the trust agreement securing the same. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1983, c. 574, ss. 7, 7.1; 1985, c. 266, ss. 2, 3; 1991, c. 513, s. 3; 1995, c. 412, s. 11.)

§ 159B-16. Resolution or trust agreement.

In the discretion of the governing board of the issuer, any bonds issued under the provisions of this Chapter may be secured by a trust agreement by and between the issuer and a corporate trustee, which may be any trust company or bank having the powers of a trust company within or without the State. Such trust agreement or the resolution providing for the issuance of such bonds may contain such provisions for protecting and enforcing the rights and remedies of the bondholders and of the trustee as may be reasonable and proper and not in violation of law, and may restrict the individual right of action by bondholders. The trust agreement or the resolution providing for the issuance of such bonds may contain covenants including, but not limited to, the following:

- (1) The pledge of all or any part of the revenues derived or to be derived from the project or projects to be financed by the bonds, or from the sale or other disposition of power and energy and services and facilities related to the utilization of power and energy, or from other services or activities permitted in this Chapter, or from contributions and advances from members of a joint agency, or from the electric system or other facilities of a municipality or a joint agency.
- (2) The rents, rates, fees and charges to be established, maintained, and collected, and the use and disposal of revenues, gifts, grants and funds received or to be received by the municipality or joint agency.
- (3) The setting aside of reserves and the investment, regulation and disposition thereof.
- (4) The custody, collection, securing, investment, and payment of any moneys held for the payment of bonds.
- (5) Limitations or restrictions on the purposes to which the proceeds of sale of bonds then or thereafter to be issued may be applied.
- (6) Limitations or restrictions on the issuance of additional bonds; the terms upon which additional bonds may be issued and secured; or the refunding of outstanding or other bonds.
- (7) The procedure, if any, by which the terms of any contract with bondholders may be amended, the percentage of bonds the bondholders of which must consent thereto, and the manner in which such consent may be given.
- (8) Events of default and the rights and liabilities arising thereupon, the terms and conditions upon which bonds issued under this Chapter shall become or may be declared due before maturity, and the terms and conditions upon which such declaration and its consequences may be waived.
- (9) The preparation and maintenance of a budget.
- (10) The retention or employment of consulting engineers, independent auditors, and other technical consultants.
- (11) Limitations on or the prohibition of free service to any person, firm or corporation, public or private.
- (12) The acquisition and disposal of property, provided that no project or part thereof shall be mortgaged by such trust agreement or resolution.

- (13) Provisions for insurance and for accounting reports and the inspection and audit thereof.
- (14) The continuing operation and maintenance of the project or other facilities.
- (15) For bonds that are not issued to pay the cost of a project, the pledge, assignment, mortgage, or grant of a security interest in any real or personal property or interest in real or personal property, including the pledge, assignment, or grant of a security interest in money, rents, charges, or other revenues or proceeds derived by the joint agency from the sale of property, from insurance, or from a condemnation award. In the event of default on a bond secured by a pledge, assignment, mortgage, or grant of a security interest, the rights of the bond holders and the liabilities arising from the default shall be limited, except to the extent provided in a pledge of revenues, to the specific property or interest in property pledged, assigned, or mortgaged or in which a security interest was granted to secure the bonds, and no claim for any deficiency shall be made nor any deficiency judgment entered as a result of the pledge, assignment, mortgage, or grant of a security interest in the property or the interest in property. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1983, c. 574, s. 8; 1991, c. 513, ss. 4, 5; 1995, c. 412, s. 12.)

§ 159B-17. Revenues.

(a) A municipality is hereby authorized to fix, charge and collect rents, rates, fees and charges for electric power and energy and other services, facilities and commodities sold, furnished or supplied through the facilities of its electric system or its interest in any joint project. For so long as any bonds of a municipality are outstanding and unpaid, the rents, rates, fees and charges shall be so fixed as to provide revenues sufficient to pay all costs of and charges and expenses in connection with the proper operation and maintenance of its electric system, and its interest in any joint project, and all necessary repairs, replacements or renewals thereof, to pay when due the principal of, premium, if any, and interest on all bonds and other evidences of indebtedness payable from said revenues, to create and maintain reserves as may be required by any resolution or trust agreement authorizing and securing bonds, to pay when due the principal of, premium, if any, and interest on all general obligation bonds heretofore or hereafter issued to finance additions, improvements and betterments to its electric system, and to pay any and all amounts which the municipality may be obligated to pay from said revenues by law or contract.

(b) A joint agency is hereby authorized to fix, charge, and collect rents, rates, fees and charges for electric power and energy and other services, facilities and commodities sold, furnished or supplied through the facilities of its projects or otherwise as authorized by this Chapter. For so long as any bonds of a joint agency are outstanding and unpaid, the rents, rates, fees and charges shall be so fixed as to provide revenues sufficient to pay all costs of and charges and expenses in connection with the proper operation and maintenance of its projects, and all necessary repairs, replacements or renewals thereof, to pay when due the principal of, premium, if any, and interest on all bonds and other evidences of indebtedness payable from said revenues, to create and maintain reserves as may be required by any resolution or trust agreement authorizing and securing bonds, and to pay any and all amounts which the joint agency may be obligated to pay from said revenues by law or contract.

(c) Any pledge of revenues, securities or other moneys made by a municipality, joint agency or joint municipal assistance agency pursuant to this Chapter shall be valid and binding from the date the pledge is made. The revenues, securities, and other moneys so pledged and then held or thereafter received by the municipality, joint agency or joint municipal assistance agency or any fiduciary shall immediately be subject to the lien of the pledge without any physical delivery thereof or further act, and the lien of the pledge shall be valid and binding as against all parties having claims of any kind in tort, contract, or otherwise against the municipality, joint agency or joint municipal assistance agency without regard to whether such parties have notice thereof. The resolution or trust agreement or any financing statement, continuation statement or other instrument by which a pledge of revenues, securities or other moneys is created need not be filed or recorded in any manner. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1983, c. 574, s. 9; 1985, c. 212, s. 2; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 888, s. 4; 1995, c. 412, s. 13.)

§ 159B-18. Trust funds; investment authority.

(a) Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, all moneys received pursuant to the authority of this Chapter, whether as proceeds from the sale of bonds or as revenues, shall be deemed to be trust funds to be held and applied solely as provided in this Chapter. The resolution authorizing the bonds of any issue or the trust agreement securing such bonds may provide that any of such moneys may be temporarily invested and reinvested pending the disbursements thereof in such securities and other investments as shall be provided in such resolution or trust agreement, and shall provide that any officer with whom, or any bank or trust company with which, such moneys shall be deposited shall hold and apply the same for the purposes hereof, subject to such regulation as this Chapter and such resolution or trust agreement may provide.

(b) Any moneys received pursuant to the authority of this Chapter and any other moneys available to a joint agency for investment may be invested:

- (1) As provided in subsection (a) of this section;
- (2) As provided in G.S. 159-30, except that:

- a. A joint agency may also invest, in addition to the obligations enumerated in G.S. 159-30(c)(2), in bonds, debentures, notes, participation certificates, or other evidences of indebtedness issued, or the principal of and the interest on which are unconditionally guaranteed, whether directly or indirectly, by any agency or instrumentality of, or corporation wholly owned by, the United States of America.

- b. For purposes of G.S. 159-30(c)(12), a joint agency may also enter into repurchase agreements with respect to, in addition to the obligations enumerated in G.S. 159-30(c)(12):

1. Obligations of the Federal Financing Bank, the Federal Farm Credit Bank, the Bank for Cooperatives, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, the Federal Land Banks, the Federal Home Loan Banks, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, Fannie Mae, the Government National Mortgage Association, the Federal Housing Administration, the Farmers Home Administration, and the United States Postal Service;
2. Bonds, debentures, notes, participation certificates, or other evidences of indebtedness issued, or the principal of and the interest on which are unconditionally guaranteed, whether directly or indirectly, by any agency or instrumentality of, or corporation wholly owned by, the United States of America;
3. Mortgage-backed pass-through securities guaranteed by the Government National Mortgage Association, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, or Fannie Mae;

4. Direct or indirect obligations which are collateralized by or represent beneficial ownership interests in mortgage-backed pass-through securities guaranteed by the Government National Mortgage Association, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, Fannie Mae; and
 5. Direct or indirect obligations, trust certificates, or other similar instruments which are both: (i) guaranteed by the Government National Mortgage Association, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, or Fannie Mae; (ii) collateralized by or represent beneficial ownership interests in mortgage-backed pass-through securities which are guaranteed by the Government National Mortgage Association, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, or Fannie Mae; including, but not limited to, Real Estate Mortgage Investment Conduit Certificates; and (iii) for purposes of the second proviso of G.S. 159-30(c)(12)a., the financial institution serving either as trustee or as fiscal agent for a joint agency holding the obligations subject to the repurchase agreement may also be the provider of the repurchase agreement if the obligations that are subject to the repurchase agreement are held in trust by the trustee or fiscal agent for the benefit of the joint agency;
- (3) In mortgage-backed pass-through securities guaranteed by the Government National Mortgage Association, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, or Fannie Mae;
 - (4) In direct or indirect obligations which are collateralized by or represent beneficial ownership interests in mortgage-backed pass-through securities guaranteed by the Government National Mortgage Association, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, or Fannie Mae; and
 - (5) In direct or indirect obligations, trust certificates, or other similar instruments which are (i) guaranteed by the Government National Mortgage Association, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, or Fannie Mae, and (ii) collateralized by or represent beneficial ownership interests in mortgage-backed pass-through securities which are guaranteed by the Government National Mortgage Association, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, or Fannie Mae, including, but not limited to, Real Estate Mortgage Investment Conduit Certificates. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 888, s. 5; 1993, c. 445, s. 1; 1995, c. 412, s. 14; 2001-487, s. 14(n).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 888, s. 6 provides: "Section 5 of this act [which added "investment authority" in the catchline, added the subsection (a) designation and added subsection (b)] is intended to provide additional and alternative methods for investment and shall be regarded as supplemental and additional to powers conferred by any other laws, and shall not be regarded as being in derogation of any powers now existing."

§ 159B-19. Remedies.

Any holder of bonds issued under the provisions of this Chapter or any of the coupons appertaining thereto, and the trustee under any trust agreements, except to the extent the rights herein given may be restricted by such trust agreement or the resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds, may, either at law or in equity, by suit, action, mandamus or other proceeding, protect and enforce any and all rights under the laws of the State or granted hereunder, or, to the extent permitted by law, under such trust agreement or resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or under any agreement or other contract executed by the municipality or joint agency pursuant to this Chapter, and may enforce and compel the performance of all duties required by this Chapter or by such trust agreement or resolution to be performed by any joint agency or municipality or by any officer thereof, including the fixing, charging and collecting of rents, rates, fees and charges. (1975, c. 186, s. 1.)

§ 159B-20. Status of bonds under Uniform Commercial Code.

Whether or not the bonds and interest coupons appertaining thereto are of such form and character as to be investment securities under Article 8 of the Uniform Commercial Code as enacted in this State, all bonds and interest coupons appertaining thereto issued under this Chapter are hereby made investment securities within the meaning of and for all the purposes of Article 8 of the Uniform Commercial Code as enacted in this State, subject only to the provisions of the bonds pertaining to registration. (1975, c. 186, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The Uniform Commercial Code, referred to in this section, is found in Chapter 25 of the General Statutes.

§ 159B-21. Bonds eligible for investment.

Bonds issued by a municipality or joint agency under the provisions of this Chapter are hereby made securities in which all public officers and agencies of the State and all political subdivisions, all insurance companies, banking associations, investment companies, executors, administrators, trustees and other fiduciaries may properly and legally invest funds, including capital in their control or belonging to them. Such bonds are hereby made securities which may properly and legally be deposited with and received by any officer or agency of the State or any political subdivision for any purpose for which the deposit of bonds or obligations of the State or any political subdivision is now or may hereafter be authorized by law. (1975, c. 186, s. 1.)

§ 159B-22. Agreement of the State.

The State does hereby covenant and agree with the holders of any bonds that so long as any bonds of a municipality or joint agency are outstanding and unpaid the State will not limit or alter the rights vested in such municipality or joint agency to acquire, construct, reconstruct, improve, enlarge, better, extend, own, operate and maintain its electric system or any project or interest therein, as the case may be, or to establish, maintain, revise, charge, and collect the rents, rates, fees and charges referred to in this Chapter and to fulfill the terms of any agreements made with the holders of the bonds or in any way impair the rights and remedies of the bondholders, until the bonds, together with interest thereon, interest on any unpaid installment of interest, and all costs and expenses in connection with any action or proceedings by or on behalf of the bondholders, are fully paid, met and discharged. (1975, c. 186, s. 1.)

§ 159B-23. Limited liability.

(a) Bonds shall be special obligations of the municipality or joint agency issuing them. The principal of, premium, if any, and interest on the bonds shall not be payable from the general funds of the municipality or joint agency.

Bonds issued to pay the cost of a project and, except as provided in this subsection, bonds that are not issued to pay the cost of a project shall not constitute a legal or equitable pledge, charge, lien, or encumbrance upon any of the municipality's or joint agency's property or upon any of its income, receipts, or revenues, except the funds pledged under the resolution authorizing the bonds or the trust agreement securing the bonds. Bonds that are not issued to pay the cost of a project and that are secured by a pledge, assignment, mortgage, or grant of a security interest in property shall constitute an encumbrance on the municipality's or joint agency's property as provided in the resolution authorizing the bonds or the trust agreement securing the bonds.

(b) Neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of a municipality or of the State are, or may be, pledged for the payment of the principal of or interest on bonds, and no holder of bonds shall have the right to compel the exercise of the taxing power by the State or a municipality. No holder of bonds issued to pay the cost of a project shall have the right to compel the forfeiture of any of the municipality's or joint agency's property in connection with any default on the bonds. A holder of bonds that are not issued to pay the cost of a project and that are secured by a pledge, assignment, mortgage, or grant of a security interest in property may compel the forfeiture of the property to the extent allowed in the resolution authorizing the bonds or the trust agreement securing the bonds.

(c) Every bond issued to pay the cost of a project shall recite in substance that the principal of and interest on the bond is payable solely from the revenues pledged to its payment and that the municipality or joint agency is not obligated to pay the principal or interest except from these revenues. A bond that is not issued to pay the cost of a project shall recite in substance that the principal of and interest on the bond is payable and secured as provided in the resolution authorizing the bond or the trust agreement securing the bond. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1991, c. 513, s. 6.)

§ 159B-24. Approval and sale of bonds.

Prior to the acquisition or the commencement of construction of any project consisting of a system or facilities for the generation of power and energy which is to be financed by the issuance of bonds under the provisions of this Chapter, the participating municipalities or joint agency, as the case may be, shall first obtain a certificate of public convenience and necessity and, in the same proceeding, the approval required by G.S. 159B-4 hereof, in the case of the participating municipalities, or the approval required by G.S. 159B-11 hereof, in the case of a joint agency, from the North Carolina Utilities Commission under such rules, regulations and procedures as the Commission may prescribe.

No municipality or joint agency shall issue any bonds pursuant to this Chapter unless and until, and only to the extent that, the issuance of such bonds is approved by the Local Government Commission. A participating municipality or joint agency shall file with the secretary of the Local Government Commission an application for Commission approval of the issuance of the bonds upon such form as the said Commission may prescribe, which form shall provide for the submission of such information as the secretary may require concerning the proposed bond issue, the details thereof and the security therefor. Before he accepts the application, the secretary may require the governing board or its representatives to attend a preliminary conference at which time the secretary and his deputies may informally discuss the details of the proposed issue and the security therefor.

After an application in proper form has been filed, and after a preliminary conference if one is required, the secretary shall notify the municipality or joint agency in writing that the application has been filed and accepted for submission to the Commission. The secretary's statement shall be conclusive evidence that the municipality or joint agency, as the case may be, has complied with the requirements of this section with respect to the filing of an application for approval by the said Local Government Commission.

In determining whether a proposed bond issue shall be approved, the Commission may consider:

- (1) The municipality's or joint agency's debt management procedures and policies.
- (2) Whether the municipality or joint agency is in default with respect to any of its debt service obligations.
- (3) Whether, based upon feasibility reports submitted to it, the probable revenues of the project to be financed or the revenues of the municipality's electric system, as the case may be, will be sufficient to service the proposed bonds.

The Commission may inquire into and give consideration to any other matters that it may believe to have a bearing on whether the issue should be approved except matters which are expressly required by the provisions of this Chapter to be determined by the North Carolina Utilities Commission.

The Commission shall approve the application if, upon the information and evidence it receives, it finds and determines:

- (1) That, based upon engineering studies and feasibility reports submitted to it, the principal amount of the proposed bonds will be adequate and not excessive for the proposed purpose of the issue.
- (2) That the municipality's or joint agency's debt management procedures and policies are good, or that reasonable assurances have been given that its debt will henceforth be managed in strict compliance with law.
- (3) That the requirements of this Chapter with respect to the issuance of the bonds and the details thereof and security therefor have been, or will be, satisfied.
- (4) That the issuance of the proposed bonds will effectuate the purposes and policies of this Chapter.

After considering an application, the Local Government Commission shall enter its order either approving or denying the application. An order approving an issue shall not be regarded as an approval of the legality of the bonds in any respect.

If the Commission enters an order denying the application, the proceedings under this section shall be at an end.

At any time after the Commission approves an application for the issuance of bonds, the governing board of the issuer may adopt a bond resolution or enter into a trust agreement in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter, and may thereafter at one time, or from time to time, issue the bonds as provided herein.

Upon the filing with the Local Government Commission of a resolution of the issuer requesting that its bonds be sold, such bonds may be sold in such manner, either at public or private sale, and for such price as the Local Government Commission shall determine to be for the best interest of the issuer and effectuate best the purposes of this Chapter, provided that such sale shall be approved by the issuer.

Except as herein expressly provided, bonds may be issued and sold under the provisions of this Chapter without obtaining the approval or consent of any other department, division, commission, board, bureau or agency of the State, and without any other proceeding or the happening of any other condition or thing than those proceedings, conditions or things which are specifically required by this Chapter. § 159B-25. Refunding bonds.

(a) A municipality or joint agency is hereby authorized to provide by resolution for the issuance of refunding bonds of the municipality or joint agency for the purpose of refunding any bonds then outstanding which shall have been issued under the provisions of this Chapter, including the payment of any redemption premium thereon and any interest accrued or to accrue to the date of redemption of such bonds.

(b) In addition to any refunding bonds that may be issued pursuant to subsection (a), a municipality or joint agency is hereby authorized to provide by resolution for the issuance of refunding bonds for the purpose of providing for the payment of any interest accrued or to accrue on any bonds which shall have been issued by the joint agency under the provisions of this Chapter; provided, however, that the refunding bonds are issued on or prior to June 30, 1992, and the latest maturity of the refunding bonds issued for a project is no later than the latest maturity of any other bonds issued by the municipality or joint agency, as the case may be, then outstanding for the same project; and provided further that the Local Government Commission shall conduct an evidentiary hearing and upon the evidence presented find and determine that:

- (1) The municipality’s or the joint agency’s debt will be managed in strict compliance with law;
- (2) The requirements of this Chapter with respect to the issuance of its bonds and the details thereof and security therefor have been and will be satisfied;
- (3) The estimated revenues of the project or the revenues of the municipality’s electric system, as the case may be, will be sufficient to service all bonds to be outstanding after the issuance of the refunding bonds;
- (4) The application of the proceeds of the refunding bonds will result in the deferral of recovery in rates of a portion of the capital costs of the project for a reasonable period of time;
- (5) All capital costs of the project will be recovered over a period ending, and all bonds issued for the project will mature, no later than the end of the then estimated useful economic life of the project;
- (6) The issuance of the bonds is in the best interest of the municipality’s or joint agency’s electricity customers; and
- (7) The bond rating of the State and its several political subdivisions and agencies allowed to issue bonds should not be adversely affected.

(c) The issuance of such bonds, the maturities and other details thereof, the rights of the holders thereof, and the rights, duties and obligations of the municipality or joint agency in respect to the same shall be governed by the provisions of this Chapter which relate to the issuance of bonds, insofar as such provisions may be appropriate thereto. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1989, c. 735, s. 2; 1995, c. 412, s. 16.)

§ 159B-26. Tax exemption.

Bonds shall at all times be free from taxation by the State or any political subdivision or any of their agencies, excepting inheritance or gift taxes, income taxes on the gain from the transfer of the bonds, and franchise taxes. The interest on the bonds is not subject to taxation as income. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1995, c. 46, s. 18.)

§ 159B-27. Taxes; payments in lieu of taxes.

(a) A project jointly owned by municipalities or owned by a joint agency shall be exempt from property taxes; provided, however, that each municipality possessing an ownership share of a project, and a joint agency owning a project, shall, in lieu of property taxes, pay to any governmental body authorized to levy property taxes the amount which would be assessed as taxes on real and personal property of a project if such project were otherwise subject to valuation and assessment by the Department of Revenue. Such payments in lieu of taxes shall be due and shall bear interest if unpaid, as in the cases of taxes on other property. Payments in lieu of taxes made hereunder shall be treated in the same manner as taxes for purposes of all procedural and substantive provisions of law. Any administrative building and associated land shall be deemed a project for purposes of this paragraph.

(b) Each municipality having an ownership share in a project shall pay to the State in lieu of an annual franchise or privilege tax an amount equal to three and twenty-two hundredths percent (3.22%) of that percentage of all moneys expended by said municipality on account of its ownership share, including payment of principal and interest on bonds issued to finance such ownership share, which is equal to the percentage of such city or town's total entitlement that is used or sold by it to any person, firm or corporation exempted by law from the payment of the tax on gross receipts pursuant to G.S. 105-116.

(c) In lieu of an annual franchise or privilege tax, each joint agency shall pay to the State an amount equal to three and twenty-two hundredths percent (3.22%) of the gross receipts from sales of electric power or energy, less receipts from sales of electric power or energy to a vendee subject to tax under G.S. 105-116.

(d) The State shall distribute to cities and towns which receive electric power and energy from their ownership share of a project or to which electric power and energy is sold by a joint agency an amount equal to a tax of three and nine hundredths percent (3.09%) of all moneys expended by a municipality on account of its ownership share of a project, including payment of principal and interest on bonds issued to finance such ownership share, or an amount equal to a tax of three and nine hundredths percent (3.09%) of the gross receipts from all sales of electric power and energy to such city or town by a joint agency, as the case may be. The General Assembly finds that the revenue distributed under this section is local revenue, not a State expenditure, for the purpose of Section 5(3) of Article III of the North Carolina Constitution. Therefore, the Governor may not reduce or withhold the distribution.

(e) The reporting, payment and collection procedures contained in G.S. 105-116 shall apply to the levy herein made.

(f) Except as herein expressly provided with respect to jointly owned projects or projects owned by a joint agency, no other property of a municipality used or useful in the generation, transmission and distribution of electric power and energy shall be subject to payments in lieu of taxes. (1973, c. 476, s. 193; 1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1977, c. 385, s. 12; 1981, c. 487; 1983, c. 574, s. 10; 1983 (Reg. Sess., 1984), c. 1097, s. 11; 1995, c. 412, s. 17; 2002-120, s. 6.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2002-120, s. 9, contains a severability clause.

Session Laws 2002-159, s. 65, effective October 11, 2002, provides: "It is the intent of the General Assembly that Sections 1 through 7 of S.L. 2002-120 shall be effective prospectively only and shall not apply to pending litigation or claims that accrued before the effective date of S.L. 2002-120. Nothing in Section 1 through 7 of S.L. 2002-120 shall be construed as a waiver of the sovereign immunity of the State or any other defenses as to any claim for damages, other recovery of funds, including attorneys' fees, or injunctive relief from the State by any unit of local government or political subdivision of the State."

CASE NOTES

Payments Made in Lieu of “Property Taxes”. — Under subsection (a) of this section, municipally owned public utilities make payments for system property to counties and cities “in lieu of property taxes”. Under the statute, these payments are treated as property taxes. North Carolina E. Mun. Power v. Wake County, 100 N.C. App. 693, 398 S.E.2d 486 (1990), cert. denied, 329 N.C. 270, 407 S.E.2d 838 (1991).

§ 159B-28. Personnel.

Personnel employed or appointed by a municipality to work on a joint project or for a joint agency shall have the same authority, rights, privileges and immunities (including coverage under the workers’ compensation laws) which the officers, agents and employees of the appointing municipality enjoy within the territory of that municipality, whether within or without the territory of the appointing municipality, when they are acting within the scope of their authority or in the course of their employment.

Personnel employed or appointed directly by a joint agency or by a nonprofit operating agency of the participating municipalities or of the joint agency, shall be qualified for participation in the North Carolina Local Government Employees Retirement System with the same rights, privileges, obligations and responsibilities as they would have if they were employees of a municipality. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1991, c. 636, s. 3.)

§ 159B-29. Dissolution of joint agencies.

Whenever the governing board of a joint agency and the governing boards of its member municipalities shall by resolution or ordinance determine that the purposes for which the joint agency was formed have been substantially fulfilled and that all bonds theretofore issued and all other obligations theretofore incurred by the joint agency have been fully paid or satisfied, the governing board of the joint agency may by resolution declare the joint agency to be dissolved. On the effective date of such resolution declaring the joint agency to be dissolved, the title to all funds and other property owned by the joint agency at the time of such dissolution shall vest in the member municipalities of the joint agency as provided in this Chapter and the bylaws of the joint agency. Notice of such dissolution shall be filed with the Secretary of State. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1995, c. 412, s. 18.)

§ 159B-30. Annual reports.

Each joint agency shall, following the closing of each fiscal year, submit an annual report of its activities for the preceding year to the governing boards of its member municipalities and to the North Carolina Utilities Commission. Each such report shall set forth in a form prescribed by the North Carolina Utilities Commission a complete operating and financial statement covering the operations of the joint agency during such year. The joint agency shall cause an audit of its books of record and accounts to be made at least once in each year by certified public accountant(s) and the cost thereof may be treated as a part of the cost of construction of a project or projects, or otherwise as part of the expense of administration of a project covered by such audit.

The municipalities possessing ownership interests in a project shall, following the closing of each fiscal year, submit a consolidated or combined annual report of their activities with respect to such project for the preceding year to the respective governing board of such municipalities and to the North Carolina Utilities Commission. Each such report shall set forth in a form prescribed by the North Carolina Utilities Commission a complete operating and financial statement covering the operations of the jointly owned project during such year. The municipalities possessing ownership interests in a project shall cause an audit of the books of record and accounts relating to such project to be made at least once in each year by certified public accountant(s) and the cost thereof may be treated as a cost of construction of the project, or otherwise as part of the expenses of the administration of the project covered by such audit. (1975, c. 186, s. 1.)

§ 159B-30.1. Additional reports.

Beginning March 1, 1996, and annually thereafter, each joint agency operating under the authority of Chapter 159B of the General Statutes shall file a report with the Joint Legislative Utility Review Committee describing the activities of the joint agency carried out pursuant to the authority granted by G.S. 159B-2, 159B-11(19b), 159B-12 and 159B-17(c). The report shall cover the preceding calendar year. Each joint agency shall file such additional reports as the Joint Legislative Utility Review Committee shall request. (1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 888, s. 7; 1995, c. 412, s. 19.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 888, s. 7, has been codified as this section at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Legislative consent is hereby given

- (1) To the application of the laws of other states with respect to taxation, payments in lieu of taxes, and the assessment thereof, to any municipality or joint agency created pursuant to this Chapter, which has acquired or has an interest in a project, real or personal, situated without the State, or which owns or operates a project without the State pursuant to this Chapter, and
- (2) To the application of regulatory and other laws of other states and of the United States to any municipality or joint agency which owns or operates a project without the State. (1975, c. 186, s. 1.)

§ 159B-32. Government grants and loans.

The governing board of any municipality or joint agency is hereby authorized to make application and to enter into contracts for and to accept grants-in-aid and loans from the federal and State governments and their agencies for planning, acquiring, constructing, expanding, maintaining and operating any project or facility, or participating in any research or development program, or performing any function which such municipality or joint agency may be authorized by general or local law to provide or perform.

In order to exercise the authority granted by this section, the governing board of any municipality or joint agency may:

- (1) Enter into and carry out contracts with the State or federal government or any agency or institution thereof under which such government, agency or institution grants financial or other assistance to the municipality or joint agency;
- (2) Accept such assistance or funds as may be granted or loaned by the State or federal government with or without such a contract;
- (3) Agree to and comply with any reasonable conditions which are imposed upon such grants or loans;
- (4) Make expenditures from any funds so granted. (1975, c. 186, s. 1.)

§ 159B-33. Eminent domain.

Municipalities participating in a joint project and joint agencies shall possess the power of eminent domain to the extent and in the same manner and under the same laws as municipalities pursuant to Chapter 40A of the General Statutes of North Carolina; provided, however, that a municipality or joint agency exercising the power of eminent domain for a purpose authorized by this Chapter shall have no power to condemn an existing facility used for the generation, transmission or distribution of electric power and energy; provided, further, that the North Carolina Utilities Commission shall have the power and authority to order that the lines and rights-of-way of any public utility or electric membership corporation, municipalities participating in a joint project or any joint agency may be crossed by any municipalities participating in a joint project or any joint agency or that the lines of any municipalities participating in a joint project or any joint agency may be crossed by any public utility or electric membership corporation pursuant to the provisions of G.S. 62-39; provided, further, when any municipalities participating in a joint project, or any joint agency, proposes to condemn the lands or rights-of-way of any public utility, electric membership corporation, municipalities participating in a joint project or any joint agency, or any public utility or electric membership corporation proposes to condemn the lands or rights-of-way of any municipalities participating in a joint project or any joint agency, not then used for the generation, transmission or distribution of electric power and energy but held for future use or development, the party desiring to condemn shall file a petition with the North Carolina Utilities Commission requesting authority to condemn such lands or rights-of-way. Upon such petition, the North Carolina Utilities Commission shall have the power and authority, after notice and hearing, to order that such lands or rights-of-way, or parts thereof, may be condemned, and its order shall be final, subject to appeal as provided in this section. In all such cases in which the Commission permits condemnation and when the parties affected cannot agree upon the damages to be paid for the lands or rights-of-way to be condemned, it shall be the duty of the Commission to fix the damages, if any, to be paid in such amounts as may be just and equitable. Any party shall have the right of appeal from any final order or decision or determination of the North Carolina Utilities Commission as to matters of crossings and condemnation of property held for future use or development pursuant to the provisions of Article 5 of Chapter 62 of the General Statutes of North Carolina. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1981, c. 919, s. 27.)

§ 159B-34. Liability and defense.

(a) No commissioner or officer of any joint agency or municipality, or member of an executive committee created pursuant to G.S. 159B-10, or person or persons acting in their behalf, while acting within the scope of their authority, shall be subject to any personal liability or accountability by reason of his carrying out any of the powers expressly or impliedly given in this Chapter.

(b) The governing board of a joint agency may provide for the defense of a criminal or civil proceeding brought against any current or former commissioner, member of an executive committee, officer, agent or employee either in his official or individual capacity, or both, on account of any act done or omission made in the scope and course of his employment or duty as a commissioner, member of an executive committee, officer, agent, or employee of the joint agency. The defense may be provided by the agency by its own counsel, by employing other counsel or by purchasing insurance which requires that the insurer provide the defense.

(c) The governing board may appropriate funds for the purpose of paying all or part of a claim made or any civil judgment entered against any of its current or former commissioners, members of executive committees, officers, agents or employees, when such claim is made or such judgment is rendered as damages on account of any act done or omission made in the scope and course of his current or former employment or duty as a commissioner, member of an executive committee, officer, agent or employee; provided, however, that nothing in this section shall authorize any joint agency to appropriate funds for the purpose of paying any claim made or civil judgment entered against any current or former commissioners, members of executive committees, officers, agents or employees if the board of commissioners finds that commissioner, member of an executive committee, officer, agent or employee acted or failed to act because of actual fraud, corruption or actual malice on his part. Any joint agency may purchase insurance coverage for payment of claims or judgments pursuant to this section. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1985, c. 225, s. 1; 1995, c. 412, s. 20.)

§ 159B-35. Additional method.

The foregoing sections of this Chapter shall be deemed to provide an additional, alternative and complete method for the doing of the things authorized thereby and shall be deemed and construed to be supplemental and additional to powers conferred by other laws, and shall not be regarded as in derogation of any powers now existing; provided, however, that insofar as the provisions of this Chapter are inconsistent with the provisions of any other general, special or local law, the provisions of this Chapter shall be controlling. Nothing in this Chapter shall be construed to authorize the issuance of bonds for the purpose of financing facilities to be owned exclusively by any private corporation. (1975, c. 186, s. 1; 1977, c. 385, s. 13.)

§ 159B-36: Recodified as G.S. 159B-52 by Session Laws 1983, c. 609, s. 8.

§ 159B-37. Actions relating to bonds or to security for bonds.

Notwithstanding the general provisions concerning venue contained in Chapter 1, Subchapter IV, Article 7, or elsewhere in the General Statutes, any action or proceeding by or against a municipality or a joint agency that concerns or relates to (a) any bonds issued pursuant to this Chapter, (b) any contract or document the revenues from which secure in whole or in part the payment of said bonds or (c) any other security or source for payment of said bonds must be tried in the Superior Court of Wake County. (1985, c. 414, s. 1.)

§ 159B-38. Confidentiality of contract discussions.

Discussions of a proposed or existing contract to which a joint agency may be or is a party for the construction, ownership, or operation of works, plants, and facilities for or incident to the generation, transmission, or use of electric power and energy or the purchase, sale, exchange, interchange, wheeling, pooling, transmission, or use of electric power and energy shall be confidential and information relating to such discussions shall not be a public record under Chapter 132 of the General Statutes; provided that any contract entered into by or on behalf of a joint agency as defined by G.S. 159B-3 shall be a public record unless otherwise exempted by law. (1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 570, s. 11.)

§§ 159B-39 through 159B-41: Reserved for future codification purposes.

ARTICLE 3.

Joint Municipal Assistance Agencies.

§ 159B-42. Joint municipal assistance agencies.

The purpose of this Article is to authorize joint agencies or municipalities to form one or more joint municipal assistance agencies which shall be empowered to provide aid and assistance to municipalities in the construction, ownership, maintenance, expansion and operation of their electric systems, to do such other acts and things as hereinafter provided and to carry out the powers and responsibilities hereinafter granted in this Chapter. It shall also be the purpose of a joint municipal assistance agency to provide aid and assistance to any joint agency in the exercise of its respective powers and functions. The term “provide aid and assistance” shall be liberally construed. (1983, c. 609, s. 7; 1995, c. 412, s. 21.)

§ 159B-43. Joint municipal assistance agencies authorized.

(a) Any two or more joint agencies, or any two or more municipalities, may organize a joint municipal assistance agency, which shall be a public body and body corporate and politic. Any joint agency or municipality is hereby authorized to become a member of any such joint municipal assistance agency upon a determination, by resolution or ordinance of its governing board, that economies, efficiencies and other benefits might be achieved from participation in such an agency.

The resolution or ordinance determining it desirable for a joint agency or municipality to become a member of a joint municipal assistance agency (which need not prescribe in detail the basis for the determination) shall set forth the names of the joint agencies or municipalities which are proposed to be initial members of the joint municipal assistance agency. The governing board of the joint agency or municipality shall thereupon by ordinance or resolution appoint one commissioner and up to two alternate commissioners of the joint municipal assistance agency who may, at the discretion of the governing board, be an officer or employee of the joint agency or municipality. If two alternate commissioners are appointed, the governing board shall designate them as first or second alternate commissioner.

Any two or more commissioners so named may file with the Secretary of State an application signed by them setting forth (i) the names of all the proposed member joint agencies or municipalities; (ii) the name and official residence of each of the commissioners so far as known to them; (iii) a certified copy of the appointment evidencing their right to office; (iv) a statement that each governing board of each respective joint agency or municipality appointing a commissioner has made the aforesaid determination; (v) the desire that a joint municipal assistance agency be organized as a public body and a body corporate and politic under this Chapter; and (vi) the name which is proposed for the joint municipal assistance agency.

The application shall be subscribed and sworn to by such commissioners before an officer or officers authorized by the laws of the State to administer and certify oaths.

The Secretary of State shall examine the application and, if he finds that the name proposed for the joint municipal assistance agency is not identical with that of any other corporation of this State or of any agency or instrumentality thereof, or so nearly similar as to lead to confusion and uncertainty, he shall receive and file it and shall record it in an appropriate book of record in his office.

When the application has been made, filed and recorded as herein provided, the joint municipal assistance agency shall constitute a public body and a body corporate and politic under the name proposed in the application. The Secretary of State shall make and issue to the commissioners executing the application a certificate of incorporation pursuant to this Chapter under the seal of the State, and shall record the same with the application. The certificate shall set forth the names of the member municipalities.

In any suit, action or proceeding involving the validity or enforcement of, or relating to, any contract of the joint municipal assistance agency, the joint municipal assistance agency, in the absence of establishing fraud in the premises, shall be conclusively deemed to have been established in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter upon proof of the issuance of the aforesaid certificate by the Secretary of State. A copy of such certificate or of any new or supplemental certificate hereinafter provided for, duly certified by the Secretary of State, shall be admissible in evidence in any suit, action or proceeding, and shall be conclusive proof of the filing and contents thereof.

Notice of the issuance of such certificate shall be given to all of the proposed member joint agencies or municipalities by the Secretary of State. If a commissioner of any such joint agency or municipality has not signed the application to the Secretary of State and such joint agency or municipality does not notify the Secretary of State of the appointment of a commissioner within 60 days after receipt of such notice, such joint agency or municipality shall be deemed to have elected not to be a member of the joint municipal assistance agency. As soon as practicable after the expiration of such 60-day period, the Secretary of State shall issue a new certificate of incorporation, if necessary, setting forth the names of those joint agencies or municipalities which have elected to become members of the joint municipal assistance agency. The failure of any proposed member to become a member shall not affect the validity of the corporate existence of the joint municipal assistance agency.

(b) After the creation of a joint municipal assistance agency, any other joint agency (if organized by joint agencies) or municipality (if organized by municipalities) may become a member thereof upon application to such joint municipal assistance agency after the adoption of a resolution or ordinance by the governing board of the joint agency or municipality setting forth the determination and finding prescribed above for the original members and authorizing said municipality to become a member and appointing one commissioner, and with the consent of a majority of the board of commissioners of the joint municipal assistance agency. Any joint agency or municipality may withdraw from a joint municipal assistance agency, provided, however, that all obligations incurred by a joint agency or municipality while it was a member shall remain in full force and effect. Notice that a joint agency or municipality has been added to or withdrawn from membership in the joint municipal assistance agency shall be filed with the Secretary of State, and the Secretary of State shall thereupon issue a new or supplemental certificate of incorporation setting forth the names of all members of the joint municipal assistance agency. Additions of new members or withdrawal of members shall not affect the validity of the corporate existence of the joint municipal assistance agency.

(c) The joint municipal assistance agency may be governed by a board of commissioners appointed as provided in subsections (a) and (b) of this section. It shall not be necessary to notify the Secretary of State of the appointment of any commissioners following the notifications referred to in subsections (a) and (b) of this section. Each commissioner shall have one vote and shall serve at the pleasure of the governing board by which he was appointed. Each appointed commissioner before entering upon his duties shall take and subscribe to an oath before some person authorized by law to administer oaths to execute the duties of his office faithfully and impartially, and a record of each such oath shall be filed with the governing board of the appointing joint agency or municipality and spread upon its minutes. The governing board of each of the joint agencies or municipalities may appoint up to two alternate commissioners to act in lieu of its appointed commissioner when the appointed commissioner is unable for any reason to attend meetings of the board of commissioners or any committee thereof, and the governing board shall designate them as first or second alternate commissioner. Each alternate commissioner shall serve at the pleasure of the governing board by which he is appointed and shall take, subscribe to and file an oath in the same manner as prescribed for regularly appointed commissioners. Such alternate commissioner when acting in lieu of the regularly appointed commissioner shall be deemed to be the commissioner representing such joint agency or municipality, and shall have the rights, powers and authority of the regularly appointed commissioner, other than such commissioner's position as an officer, director or member of the executive committee. A certificate entered into the minutes of the board of commissioners of a joint agency by the clerk or other custodian of the minutes and records of the governing body of a municipality, appointing commissioners and alternate commissioners and reciting their appointments, shall constitute conclusive evidence of their appointment. All powers, functions, rights and privileges of the joint municipal assistance agency shall be exercised or delegated by the board of commissioners.

(d) The board of commissioners of the joint municipal assistance agency shall annually elect one of the commissioners as president, another as vice president, and another person or persons, who may but need not be commissioners, as treasurer, secretary, and, if desired, assistant secretary or secretaries and assistant treasurer. The office of treasurer or assistant treasurer may be held by the secretary or any assistant secretary. The board of commissioners may also appoint and prescribe the duties of such additional officers as it deems necessary. The secretary or any assistant secretary of the joint municipal assistance agency shall keep a record of the proceedings of the joint municipal assistance agency, and the secretary shall be the custodian of all records, books, documents and papers filed with the joint municipal assistance agency, the minute book or journal of the joint municipal assistance agency and its official seal. Either the secretary or any assistant secretary of the joint municipal assistance agency may cause copies to be made of all minutes and other records and documents of the joint municipal assistance agency and may give certificates under the official seal of the joint municipal assistance agency to the effect that such copies are true copies, and all persons dealing with the joint municipal assistance agency may rely upon such certificates.

(e) Fifty-one percent (51%) of the commissioners of a joint municipal assistance agency then in office shall constitute a quorum, and the commissioners may by written consent executed before or after any meeting waive notice and all other formalities incident to the calling or conduct of the same. Meetings of the commissioners may be held at any place within the State or any state contiguous to the State. A vacancy in the board of commissioners of the joint municipal assistance agency shall not impair the right of a quorum to exercise all the rights and perform all the duties of the joint municipal assistance agency. Any action taken by the joint municipal assistance agency under the provisions of this Chapter may be authorized by resolution at any regular or special meeting, and each such resolution may take effect immediately and need not be published or posted. Except as specifically provided by the bylaws, a majority of the votes of the commissioners present shall be necessary and sufficient to take any action or to pass any resolution.

(f) The board of commissioners of the joint municipal assistance agency may, in its bylaws, provide for a board of directors of the joint municipal assistance agency to be selected from the commissioners and alternate commissioners. The board of directors shall have and exercise such of the powers and authority of the board of commissioners during the intervals between the board of commissioners' meetings as shall be prescribed in the bylaws, rules, motions and resolutions of the board of commissioners. The terms of office of the members of the board of directors and the method of filling vacancies therein shall be fixed by the bylaws of the board of commissioners of the joint municipal assistance agency. The bylaws of the joint municipal assistance agency shall provide that the officers of the board of commissioners elected pursuant to subsection (d) of this section must also serve on the board of directors and hold the same offices thereon.

(g) The board of commissioners may also provide, in its bylaws or otherwise, that the board of directors shall create an executive committee of the board of directors composed of the officers of the board of directors, together with such other members of the board of directors as may be prescribed and that such executive committee shall have and shall exercise such of the powers and authority of the board of directors during the intervals between that board's meetings as shall be prescribed in the bylaws of the joint municipal assistance agency or in the rules or resolutions of the board of directors.

(h) The board of commissioners, board of directors and executive committee may provide or adopt methods and procedures consistent with other applicable laws for the calling or conducting of meetings or the taking of any action.

(i) No commissioner or director of a joint municipal assistance agency shall receive any compensation for the performance of his or her duties hereunder, provided, however, that each commissioner and director may be paid his or her necessary expenses incurred while engaged in the performance of such duties. (1983, c. 609, s. 7; 1985, c. 243, ss. 2, 3; 1995, c. 412, s. 22.)

§ 159B-43.1. Alternative to board of commissioners.

(a) In lieu of the provisions of G.S. 159B-43(c) through (i), a joint municipal assistance agency organized by two or more joint agencies, by resolutions adopted by each of those joint agencies, may be governed by an executive committee created pursuant to the provisions of G.S. 159B-10. In that case, the commissioners of the joint municipal assistance agency appointed pursuant to the provisions of G.S. 159B-43(a) and (b) shall adopt a resolution substantially identical to the resolutions adopted by the joint agencies creating the executive committee. The terms of office, methods of filling vacancies, and such other matters involving the executive committee shall be as set forth in those resolutions.

(b) In connection with a joint municipal assistance agency governed pursuant to the provisions of subsection (a) of this section, member municipalities of that joint municipal assistance agency which are not members of the joint agencies organizing that joint municipal assistance agency and nonmunicipal members, as defined in G.S. 159B-50, may elect members to the executive committee pursuant to those procedures as they agree upon among themselves, but subject to the following: if the number of the member municipalities and nonmunicipal members is seven or less, those municipalities and nonmunicipal members, acting jointly, may appoint one member to the executive committee, and if the number of the member municipalities and nonmunicipal members is more than seven, those member municipalities and nonmunicipal members, acting jointly, may appoint two members to the executive committee.

(c) Members of the executive committee appointed by the member municipalities and nonmunicipal members, and members of any subcommittee created by those member municipalities and nonmunicipal members, may receive compensation, and be paid expenses, for the performance of their duties as determined by the member municipalities and nonmunicipal members appointing those members. However, for any member of an executive committee who is an employee of a member municipality or nonmunicipal member, a payment in lieu of any compensation shall be made to the member municipality or nonmunicipal member for distribution to the executive committee member in the manner and amount, if any, it deems appropriate. (1995, c. 412, s. 23.)

Each joint municipal assistance agency shall have all of the rights and powers necessary or convenient to carry out and effectuate the purposes and provisions of this Article, including, but without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the rights and powers:

- (1) To establish and from time to time modify a schedule of dues and assessments and to provide that the payment thereof when due shall be prerequisite to voting at any meeting and participation in and enjoyment of rights or benefits of the joint municipal assistance agency;
- (2) To appropriate for the purposes of the joint municipal assistance agency the funds derived from dues and assessments, and from any other source;
- (3) To provide aid and assistance to any one or more municipalities, and to act for or on behalf of any one or more municipalities, in any activity related to the construction, ownership, maintenance, expansion or operation of an electric system, upon such terms, conditions and considerations as may be agreed to between the municipalities and the joint municipal assistance agency;
- (4) To provide aid and assistance to any one or more joint agencies, and to act for or on behalf of any one or more joint agencies in the exercise of any power, function, right, privilege or immunity granted by Article 2 of this Chapter, upon such terms, conditions and considerations as may be agreed to between the joint agency and the joint municipal assistance agency;
- (5) To provide property and services to any one or more municipalities or joint agencies upon such terms, conditions and considerations as may be agreed to between the municipalities or joint agency and the joint municipal assistance agency;
- (6) To adopt bylaws for the regulation of the affairs and the conduct of its business, and to prescribe rules, regulations and policies in connection with the performance of its functions and duties;
- (7) To adopt an official seal and alter the same at pleasure;
- (8) To acquire and maintain an administrative office building or office at such place or places as it may determine, which building or office may be used or owned together with any joint agency or agencies, munic-

- ipalities, corporations, associations or persons under such terms and provisions for sharing costs and otherwise as may be determined;
- (9) To sue and be sued in its own name, and to plead and be impleaded;
 - (10) To receive, administer and comply with the conditions and requirements respecting any gift, grant or donation of any property or money;
 - (11) To acquire by purchase, lease, gift, or otherwise, or to obtain options for the acquisition of, any property, real or personal, improved or unimproved, including an interest in land less than the fee thereof;
 - (12) To sell, lease, exchange, transfer or otherwise dispose of, or to grant options for any such purposes with respect to, any real or personal property or interest therein; provided, however, that property acquired by a joint municipal assistance agency from a municipality without consideration or for a consideration other than the fair market value thereof as determined by the governing board of the municipality may only be disposed of in accordance with the procedures set forth in Article 12 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes;
 - (13) To make and execute contracts for a period not exceeding three years and other instruments necessary or convenient in the exercise of the powers and functions of the joint municipal assistance agency, including contracts with municipalities, joint agencies, persons, firms, corporations and others, provided, however, that such contracts shall not unreasonably preclude the municipality or joint agency from contracting with other parties in order to achieve economy, adequacy and reliability in the operation of their electric systems;
 - (14) To employ engineers, architects, attorneys, real estate counselors, appraisers, financial advisors and such other consultants and employees as may be required in the judgment of the joint municipal assistance agency and to fix and pay their compensation from funds available to the joint municipal assistance agency therefor; and
 - (15) To do all acts and things necessary, convenient or desirable to carry out the purposes, and to exercise the powers granted to the joint municipal assistance agency herein.

Any municipality or joint agency is authorized to appropriate and pay funds to a joint municipal assistance agency and to enter into contracts or arrangements with a joint municipal assistance agency for the purposes and in the execution of the functions and powers of the municipality or joint agency.

Joint municipal assistance agencies shall comply with Article 8 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes respecting acquisition or construction of property to the same extent required of municipalities; provided, however, that Article 8 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes shall not apply to a municipality, joint municipal assistance agency or joint agency in transactions between a joint municipal assistance agency and a municipality or joint agency involving the transfer or construction of property.

Property owned by a joint municipal assistance agency or jointly owned by municipalities or joint agencies and joint municipal assistance agencies shall be exempt from property taxes; provided, however, that each joint municipal assistance agency shall, in lieu of property taxes, pay to any governmental agency authorized to levy property taxes the amount which would be assessed as taxes on real and personal property of such agency if such property were otherwise subject to valuation and assessment by the Department of Revenue. Such payments in lieu of taxes shall be due and shall bear interest if unpaid, as in the cases of taxes on other property. Payments in lieu of taxes made hereunder shall be treated in the same manner as taxes for purposes of all procedural and substantive provisions of law. (1983, c. 609, s. 7; 1995, c. 412, s. 24.)

§ 159B-45. Dissolution.

Whenever the governing board of a joint municipal assistance agency and the governing boards of its member joint agencies or municipalities shall by resolution or ordinance determine that the purposes for which the joint municipal assistance agency was formed have been substantially fulfilled and that all obligations incurred by the joint municipal assistance agency have been fully paid or satisfied, the governing board of the joint municipal assistance agency may by resolution declare the joint municipal assistance agency to be dissolved. On the effective date of such resolution declaring the joint agency to be dissolved, the title to all funds and other property owned by the joint municipal assistance agency at the time of such dissolution shall vest in the members of the joint municipal assistance agency as provided in this Chapter and the bylaws of the joint municipal assistance agency. Notice of such dissolution shall be filed with the Secretary of State. (1983, c. 609, s. 7; 1995, c. 412, s. 25.)

§ 159B-46. Reports, liability, and personnel.

(a) Each joint municipal assistance agency shall, following the closing of each fiscal year, submit an annual report of its activities for the preceding year to the governing boards of its members. Each such report shall set forth an operating and financial statement covering the operations of the joint municipal assistance agency during such year. The joint municipal assistance agency shall cause an audit of its books of record and accounts to be made at least once in each year by independent certified public accountants.

(b) No commissioner, alternate commissioner or director or officer of any joint municipal assistance agency, member of an executive committee created pursuant to G.S. 159B-10, officer of any joint agency or municipality, or person or persons acting in their behalf, while acting within the scope of his authority, shall be subject to any personal liability or accountability by reason of his carrying out any of the powers expressly or impliedly given in this Article.

(c) Each municipality, joint agency and joint municipal assistance agency shall be severally liable for its own acts or omissions and not jointly or severally liable for the acts, omissions, or obligations of others, including other municipalities.

(d) In no event shall any municipality or joint agency be liable or responsible for any acts, omissions or obligations of any joint municipal assistance agency or any of its officers, members of an executive committee, employees or agents; provided, however, that contracts between the joint municipal assistance agency and one or more municipalities or one or more joint agencies may expressly provide for the imputation of or indemnification for any liability of one party thereto by the other, or for the assumption of any obligation of one party thereto by the other.

(e) Personnel employed or appointed by a municipality and performing services for or on behalf of a joint municipal assistance agency shall have the same authority, rights, privileges and immunities (including coverage under the workers' compensation laws) which the officers, agents and employees of the appointing municipality enjoy within the territory of that municipality, whether within or without the territory of the appointing municipality, when they are acting within the scope of their authority or in the course of their employment.

(f) Personnel employed or appointed by a joint municipal assistance agency shall be qualified for participation in the North Carolina Local Government Employees' Retirement System with the same rights, privileges, obligations and responsibilities as they would have if they were employees of a municipality.

(g) The offices of commissioner, alternate commissioner, officer, director and member of the executive committee of a joint municipal assistance agency are hereby declared to be offices which may be held by the holder of any office, place of trust or profit in addition to and concurrently with those offices permitted by G.S. 128-1.1 and other offices permitted by other General Statute. (1983, c. 609, s. 7; 1991, c. 636, s. 3; 1995, c. 412, s. 26.)

§ 159B-47. Defense.

(a) The board of commissioners of a joint municipal assistance agency may provide for the defense of a criminal or civil proceeding brought against any current or former commissioner, member of an executive committee, director, officer, agent or employee either in his official or individual capacity, or both, on account of any act done or omission made in the scope and course of his employment or duty as a commissioner, member of an executive committee, director, officer, agent or employee of the joint municipal assistance agency. The defense may be provided by the agency by its own counsel, by employing other counsel or by purchasing insurance which requires that the insurer provide the defense.

(b) The board of commissioners may appropriate funds for the purpose of paying all or part of a claim made or any civil judgment entered against any of its current or former commissioners, members of executive committees, directors, officers, agents or employees, when such claim is made or such judgment is rendered as damages on account of any act done or omission made or any act allegedly done or omission allegedly made in the scope and course of his current or former employment or duty as a commissioner, member of an executive committee, director, officer, agent or employee; provided, however, that nothing in this section shall authorize any joint municipal assistance agency to appropriate funds for the purpose of paying any claim made or civil judgment entered against any current or former commissioners, members of executive committees, directors, officers, agents or employees if the board of commissioners finds that commissioner, member of an executive committee, director, officer, agent or employee acted or failed to act because of actual fraud, corruption or actual malice on his part. Any joint municipal assistance agency may purchase insurance coverage for payment of claims or judgments pursuant to this section. (1985, c. 225, s. 2; 1995, c. 412, s. 27.)

§ 159B-48. Nonmunicipal members; constituent institutions of The University of North Carolina.

Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 1 of Chapter 159B of the General Statutes or any other provision of law, any constituent institution of The University of North Carolina, as defined in Article 1 of Chapter 116 of the General Statutes, that owns a system or facility for the generation, transmission, or distribution of electric power and energy for public and private use, may become a member of a joint municipal assistance agency. The commissioner and one or more alternate commissioners designated by any such members shall be appointed by its local governing board. As a member, the constituent institution has all the rights, privileges, immunities, powers, authority, and responsibilities of a municipal member of a joint municipal assistance agency under Article 3 of this Chapter, including, the protection and immunities granted under Article 3 to those employed, appointed or otherwise acting on behalf of the constituent institutions, and the power and authority to enter into contracts and arrangements with a joint municipal assistance agency. (1991, c. 291, s. 1; 1995, c. 412, s. 28.)

Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 1 of Chapter 159B of the General Statutes or any other provision of law, a joint municipal assistance agency may, in its bylaws, create associate memberships. An associate member of a joint municipal assistance agency shall have only those rights, privileges, immunities, powers, authority, and responsibilities as set forth in the bylaws of the joint municipal assistance agency; provided, that:

- (1) An associate member shall not have the right to appoint a commissioner or alternate commissioner, have the right to vote or otherwise participate in decisions of the joint municipal assistance agency;
- (2) An associate member shall not have the right to a distribution of assets upon dissolution of the joint municipal assistance agency; and
- (3) Income from the joint municipal assistance agency shall not accrue to, or otherwise inure to the benefit of, an associate member. (1991, c. 291, s. 2.)

§§ 159B-50, 159B-51: Reserved for future codification purposes.

ARTICLE 4.

Construction.

§ 159B-52. Chapter liberally construed.

In order to effectuate the purposes and policies prescribed in this Chapter the provisions hereof shall be liberally construed. (1975, c. 186, s. 3; 1983, c. 609, s. 8.)

§ 159C-2. Legislative findings and purposes.

such unemployment results in obligations to grant public assistance and to pay unemployment compensation; that the aforesaid conditions can best be remedied by the attraction, stimulation, expansion and rehabilitation and revitalization of industrial and manufacturing facilities for industry in the State; and that there is a need to stimulate a larger flow of private investment funds into industrial building programs into the State.

(b) The General Assembly further finds and determines that the development and expansion of industry within the State, and the generation of electric power and the supply of other services by public utilities, which are essential to the economic growth of the State and to the full employment and prosperity of its people, are accompanied by the increased production and discharge of gaseous, liquid, and solid pollution and wastes which threaten and endanger the health, welfare and safety of the inhabitants of the State by polluting the air, land and waters of the State; that in order to reduce, control, and prevent such environmental pollution, it is imperative that action be taken at various levels of government to require the provision of devices, equipment and facilities for the collection, reduction, treatment, and disposal of such pollution and wastes; that the assistance provided in this Chapter, especially with respect to financing, is therefore in the public interest and serves a public purpose of the State in promoting the health, welfare and safety of the inhabitants of the State not only physically by collecting, reducing, treating and preventing environmental pollution but also economically by securing and retaining private industry thereby maintaining a higher level of employment and economic activity and stability.

(c) It is therefore declared to be the policy of the State to promote the right to gainful employment opportunity, private industry, the prevention and control of the pollution of the air, land and waters of the State, and the safety, morals and health of the people of the State, and thereby promote general welfare of the people of the State, by authorizing counties to create county authorities which shall be political subdivisions and bodies corporate and politic of the State. These bodies are to be formed (i) to aid in the financing of industrial and manufacturing facilities for the purpose of alleviating unemployment or raising below average manufacturing wages by financing industrial and manufacturing facilities which provide job opportunities or pay better wages than those prevalent in the area and (ii) to aid in financing pollution control facilities for industry in connection with manufacturing and industrial facilities and for public utilities; provided, however, that it is the policy of the State to finance only those facilities where there is a direct or indirect favorable impact on employment or an improvement in the degree of prevention or control of pollution commensurate with the size and cost of the facilities. (1975, c. 800, s. 1.)

The following definitions apply in this Chapter:

- (1) Agency. — Any agency, bureau, commission, department, or instrumentality.
- (2) Air pollution control facility. — Any structure, equipment, or other facility for, including any increment in the cost of any structure, equipment, or facility attributable to, the purpose of treating, neutralizing, or reducing gaseous industrial waste and other air pollutants, including recovery, treatment, neutralizing, or stabilizing plants and equipment and their appurtenances, which have been certified by the government entity having jurisdiction to be in furtherance of the purpose of abating or controlling atmospheric pollutants or contaminants.

- (3) Bonds. — Revenue bonds of an authority issued under the provisions of this Chapter.
- (4) Cost. — This term as applied to any project embraces all capital costs of the project, including all of the following:
 - a. The cost of construction.
 - b. The cost of acquisition of all property, including rights in land and other property, real and personal and improved and unimproved.
 - c. The cost of demolishing, removing or relocating any buildings or structures on lands so acquired, including the cost of acquiring any lands to which those buildings or structures may be moved or relocated.
 - d. The cost of all machinery and equipment, installation, start-up expenses, financing charges, and interest prior to, during and for a period not exceeding one year after completion of construction.
 - e. The cost of engineering and architectural surveys, plans and specifications.
 - f. The cost of consultants' and legal services, other expenses necessary or incident to determining the feasibility or practicability of the project, administrative and other expenses necessary or incident to the acquisition or construction of the project and the financing of the acquisition and construction of the project.
- (5) Repealed by Session Laws 2000, c. 179, s. 3, effective August 1, 2000.
- (6) Financing agreement. — A written instrument establishing the rights and responsibilities of the authority, operator, and obligor with respect to a project financed by the issuance of bonds. A financing agreement may be in the nature of a lease, a lease and leaseback, a sale and leaseback, a lease purchase, an installment sale and purchase agreement, a conditional sales agreement, a secured or unsecured loan agreement or other similar contract and may involve property in addition to the property financed with the bonds.
- (6a) Governing body. — The board, commission, council, or other body in which the general legislative powers of any county or other political subdivision are vested.
- (6b) Industrial project. — Any industrial or manufacturing factory, mill, assembly plant, or fabricating plant; freight terminal; industrial research, development, or laboratory facility; industrial processing facility; or distribution facility for industrial or manufactured products.
- (7) Obligor. — Any person, which may include the operator, who is obligated under a financing agreement or guaranty agreement or other contract or agreement to make payments to, or for the benefit of, the holders of bonds of the authority. Any requirement of an obligor may be satisfied by any one or more persons who are defined collectively by this Chapter as the obligor.
- (8) Operator. — The person entitled to the use or occupancy of a project.
- (9) Political subdivision. — Any county, city, town, other unit of local government or any other governmental corporation, authority, or instrumentality of the State now or hereafter existing.
- (10) Pollution or pollutants. — Any noxious or deleterious substances in any air or waters of or adjacent to the State of North Carolina or affecting the physical, chemical or biological properties of any air or waters of or adjacent to the State of North Carolina in a manner and to an extent which renders or is likely to render the air or waters harmful or inimical to the public health, safety or welfare, or to animal, bird or aquatic life, or to the use of such air or waters for domestic, industrial or agricultural purposes or recreation.

- (10a) Pollution control project. — Any air pollution control facility, water pollution control facility, or solid waste disposal facility if the facility is in connection with either an industrial project or a public utility plant.
- (11) Project. — Any land or equipment or one or more buildings or other structures, whether or not on the same site or sites, and any rehabilitation, improvement, renovation or enlargement of, or any addition to, any building or structure for use as or in connection with (i) any industrial project, (ii) any pollution control project for industry or for public utilities, (iii) any special purpose project, or (iv) any combination of projects mentioned in clauses (i) through (iii) of this subdivision. Any project may include all appurtenances and incidental facilities such as land, headquarters or office facilities, warehouses, distribution centers, access roads, sidewalks, utilities, railway sidings, trucking and similar facilities, parking facilities, landing strips and other facilities for aircraft, waterways, docks, wharves and other improvements necessary or convenient for the construction, maintenance and operation of any building or structure, or addition to it.
- (12) Revenues. — With respect to any project, the rents, fees, charges, payments, proceeds and other income or profit derived from the project or from the financing agreement or security document in connection with the project.
- (13) Security document. — A written instrument establishing the rights and responsibilities of the authority and the holders of bonds issued to finance a project, which may provide for, or be in the form of an agreement with, a trustee for the benefit of the bondholders. A security document may contain an assignment, pledge, mortgage or other encumbrance of all or part of the authority's interest in, or right to receive revenues with respect to, a project and any other property provided by the operator or other obligor under a financing agreement and may bear any appropriate title. A financing agreement and a security document may be combined as one instrument.
- (14) Solid waste. — Solid waste materials resulting from any industrial or manufacturing activities or from any pollution control facility.
- (15) Solid waste disposal facility. — A facility for the purpose of treating, burning, compacting, composting, storing or disposing of solid waste.
- (15a) Special purpose project. — Any structure, equipment, or other facility for any one or more of the following purposes:
- a. Water systems or facilities, including all plants, works, instrumentalities, and properties used or useful in obtaining, conserving, treating, and distributing water for domestic or industrial use, irrigation, sanitation, fire protection, or any other public or private use.
 - b. Sewage disposal systems or facilities, including all plants, works, instrumentalities, and properties used or useful in the collection, treatment, purification, or disposal of sewage, other than facilities constituting a water pollution control facility.
 - c. Public transportation systems, facilities, or equipment, including bus, truck, ferry, and railroad terminals, depots, trackages, vehicles, and ferries, and mass transit systems.
 - d. Public parking lots, areas, garages, and other public vehicular parking structures and facilities.
 - e. Public auditoriums, gymnasiums, stadiums, and convention centers.
 - f. Recreational facilities, including museums.
 - g. Land, equipment, and facilities for the disposal, treatment, or recycling of solid or other waste that are described in G.S. 159I-8.

- h. Facilities for the provision of rehabilitation services, education, training, and employment opportunities for persons with disabilities and the disadvantaged. The term does not include a retail facility, however, unless the proposed operator of the facility certifies that at least seventy-five percent (75%) of its employees will be disadvantaged or disabled persons and at least seventy-five percent (75%) of its inventory will be composed of used, donated items and items manufactured by disadvantaged or disabled persons.
 - i. Orphanages and similar housing facilities for children or disadvantaged or disabled persons.
 - j. Facilities for the provision of material salvage and recycling services, the proceeds of which are used to provide for low, moderate, or affordable housing.
 - k. Research facilities owned or operated by a nonprofit corporation incorporated by two or more accredited universities whose main campuses are located in North Carolina or by the Chancellor, President, or similar official of such universities.
 - l. Facilities for housing the international headquarters of a nonprofit scholarly society that is a member of the Scholarly Societies Project.
- (16) Water pollution control facility. — Any structure, equipment or other facility for, including any increment in the cost of any structure, equipment or facility attributable to, the purpose of treating, neutralizing or reducing liquid industrial waste and other water pollution, including collecting, treating, neutralizing, stabilizing, cooling, segregating, holding, recycling, or disposing of liquid industrial waste and other water pollution, including necessary collector, interceptor, and outfall lines and pumping stations, which have been certified by the agency exercising jurisdiction to be in furtherance of the purpose of abating or controlling water pollution. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1197; 1979, c. 109, s. 1; 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 575, ss. 4, 5; 2000-179, s. 3; 2005-238, s. 10; 2007-128, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-238, s. 15, provides: "The General Assembly finds that the provisions of this act are necessary for the health and welfare of the State and as such finds that the act shall be construed liberally to effect its purposes."

Session Laws 2005-238, s. 16 is a severability clause.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2007-128, s. 1, effective June 27, 2007, added subdivisions (15a)j. through (15a) l.

§ 159C-4. Creation of authorities.

(a) The governing body of any county is hereby authorized to create by resolution a political subdivision and body corporate and politic of the State known as "The _____ (the blank space to be filled in with the name of the county) County Industrial Facilities and Pollution Control Financing Authority," which shall consist of a board of seven commissioners, to be appointed by the governing body of such county in the resolution creating such authority, or by subsequent resolution. At least 30 days prior to the adoption of such resolution, the governing body of such county shall file with the Department of Commerce and the Local Government Commission of the State notice of its intention to adopt a resolution creating an authority. At the time of the appointment of the first board of commissioners the governing body of the county shall appoint two commissioners for initial terms of two years each, two commissioners for initial terms of four years each and three commissioners for initial terms of six years each and thereafter the terms of all commissioners shall be six years, except appointments to fill vacancies which shall be for the unexpired terms. Each appointed commissioner before entering upon his duties shall take and subscribe to an oath before some person authorized by law to administer oaths to execute the duties of his office faithfully and impartially, and a record of each such oath shall be filed with the governing body of the county and entered in its minutes. All authority commissioners will serve at the pleasure of the governing body of the county. If at the end of any term of office of any commissioner a successor thereto shall not have been appointed, then the commissioner whose term of office shall have expired shall continue to hold office until his successor shall be so appointed and qualified.

(b) Each commissioner of an authority shall be a qualified elector and resident of the county for which the authority is created, and no commissioner shall be an elected official of the county for which the authority is created. Any commissioner of an authority may be removed, with or without cause, by the governing body of the county.

(c) The board of commissioners of the authority shall annually elect from its membership a chairman and a vice-chairman and another person or persons, who may but need not be commissioners, as treasurer, secretary and, if desired, assistant secretary. The position of secretary and treasurer or assistant secretary and treasurer may be held by the same person. The secretary of the authority shall keep a record of the proceedings of the authority and shall be the custodian of all books, documents and papers filed with the authority, the minute book or journal of the authority and its official seal. Either the secretary or the assistant secretary of the authority may cause copies to be made of all minutes and other records and documents of the authority and may give certificates under the official seal of the authority to the effect that such copies are true copies, and all persons dealing with the authority may rely upon such certificates.

(d) A majority of the commissioners of an authority then in office shall constitute a quorum. The affirmative vote of a majority of the commissioners of an authority then in office shall be necessary for any action taken by the authority. A vacancy in the board of commissioners of the authority shall not impair the right of a quorum to exercise all the rights and perform all the duties of the authority. Any action taken by the authority under the provisions of this Chapter may be authorized by resolution at any regular or special meeting, and each resolution shall take effect immediately and need not be published or posted. No bonds shall be issued under the provisions of this Chapter unless the issuance thereof shall have been approved by the governing body of the county.

(e) No commissioner of an authority shall receive any compensation for the performance of his duties under this Chapter; provided, however, that each commissioner shall be reimbursed for his necessary expenses incurred while engaged in the performance of duties but only from moneys provided by obligors.

(f) Within 30 days of the date of creation of the authority, the authority shall advise the Department of Commerce and the Local Government Commission that an authority has been formed. The authority shall also furnish such Department and such Commission with (i) a list of its commissioners and its officers and (ii) a description of any projects that are under consideration by the authority. The authority shall, from time to time, notify the Department of Commerce and the Local Government Commission of changes in commissioners and officers and of new projects under consideration by the authority. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1977, c. 198, s. 23; c. 719, s. 1; 1989, c. 751, s. 7(47); 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 959, s. 78.)

§ 159C-5. General powers.

Each authority shall have all of the powers necessary or convenient to carry out and effectuate the purposes and provisions of this Chapter, including, but without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the powers:

- (1) To adopt bylaws for the regulation of its affairs and the conduct of its business and to prescribe rules, regulations and policies in connection with the performance of its functions and duties;
- (2) To adopt an official seal and alter the same at pleasure;
- (3) To maintain an office at such place or places within the boundaries of the county for which it was created as it may determine;
- (4) To sue and be sued in its own name, plead and be impleaded;
- (5) To receive, administer and comply with the conditions and requirements respecting any gift, grant or donation of any property or money;
- (6) To make and execute financing agreements, security documents and other contracts and instruments necessary or convenient in the exercise of the powers and functions of the authority under this Chapter;
- (7) To acquire by purchase, lease, gift or otherwise, but not by eminent domain, or to obtain options for the acquisition of, any property, real or personal, improved or unimproved, and interests in land less than the fee interest, for the construction, operation or maintenance of any project;
- (7a) Repealed by Session Laws 2001-487, s. 94, effective December 16, 2001.
- (8) To sell, lease, exchange, transfer or otherwise dispose of, or to grant options for any such purposes with respect to, any real or personal property or interest therein;
- (9) To pledge or assign revenues of the authority;
- (10) To construct, acquire, own, repair, maintain, extend, improve, rehabilitate, renovate, furnish and equip one or more projects and to pay all or any part of the costs thereof from the proceeds of bonds of the authority or from any contribution, gift or donation or other funds made available to the authority for such purpose;
- (11) To fix, charge and collect revenues with respect to any project;
- (12) To employ consulting engineers, architects, attorneys, real estate counselors, appraisers and such other consultants and employees as may be required in the judgment of the authority and to fix and pay their compensation from funds available to the authority therefor and to select and retain subject to approval of the Local Government Commission the financial consultants, underwriters and bond attorneys to be associated with the issuance of any bonds and to pay for services rendered by underwriters, financial consultants or bond attorneys out of the proceeds of any such issue with regard to which the services were performed; and
- (13) To do all acts and things necessary, convenient or desirable to carry out the purposes, and to exercise the powers herein granted. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1979, c. 109, s. 1; 1985, c. 723, s. 3; 2000-179, s. 4; 2001-487, s. 94.)

§ 159C-6. Bonds.

(a) Each authority is authorized to provide for the issuance, at one time or from time to time, of bonds of the authority for the purpose of paying all or any part of the cost of any project. The principal of, the interest on and any premium payable upon the redemption of the bonds shall be payable solely from the funds authorized in this Article for their payment. The bonds of each issue shall bear interest as may be determined by the Local Government Commission with the approval of the authority and the obligor irrespective of the limitations of G.S. 24-1.1, as amended, and successor provisions. The bonds of each issue shall be dated, shall mature at any time or times not exceeding 35 years after the date of their issuance, and may be made redeemable before maturity at any price or prices and under any terms and conditions, as may be fixed by the authority before the issuance of the bonds. The authority shall determine the form and the manner of execution of the bonds, including any interest coupons to be attached to them, and shall fix the denomination or denominations of the bonds and the place or places of payment of principal and interest. In case any officer whose signature or a facsimile of whose signature appears on any bonds or coupons ceases to be that officer before the delivery of the bonds, the signature or the facsimile shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if the officer had remained in office until the delivery. The authority may also provide for the authentication of the bonds by a trustee or fiscal agent. The bonds may be issued in coupon or in fully registered form, or both, as the authority may determine, and provision may be made for the registration of any coupon bonds as to principal alone and also as to both principal and interest, and for the reconversion into coupon bonds of any bonds registered as to both principal and interest, and for the interchange of registered and coupon bonds.

(b) The proceeds of the bonds of each issue shall be used solely for the payment of the cost of all or part of the project for which the bonds were issued, and shall be disbursed in any manner and under any restrictions, as the authority may provide in the financing agreement and the security document. If the proceeds of the bonds of any issue, by reason of increased construction costs or error in estimates or otherwise, are less than this cost, additional bonds may in like manner be issued to provide the amount of the deficiency.

(c) The proceeds of bonds shall not be used to refinance the cost of an industrial project or a pollution control project. For the purposes of this section, a cost of an industrial project or a pollution control project is considered refinanced if both of the following conditions are met:

- (1) The cost is initially paid from sources other than bond proceeds, and the original expenditure is to be reimbursed from bond proceeds.
- (2) The original expenditure was paid more than 60 days before the authority took some action indicating its intent that the expenditure would be financed or reimbursed from bond proceeds.

(d) Notwithstanding subsection (c) of this section, preliminary expenditures that are incurred prior to the commencement of the acquisition, construction, or rehabilitation of an industrial project or a pollution control project, such as architectural costs, engineering costs, surveying costs, soil testing costs, bond issuance costs, and other similar costs, may be reimbursed from bond proceeds even if these costs are incurred or paid more than 60 days prior to the authority's action. This exception that allows preliminary expenditures to be reimbursed from bond proceeds, regardless of whether or not they are incurred or paid within 60 days of the authority's action, does not include costs that are incurred incident to the commencement of the construction of an industrial project or a pollution control project, such as expenditures for land acquisition and site preparation. In any event, an expenditure in connection with an industrial project or a pollution control project originally paid before the authority took some action indicating its intent that the expenditures would be financed or reimbursed from bond proceeds may be reimbursed from bond proceeds only if the authority finds that reimbursing those costs from bond proceeds will promote the purposes of this Chapter.

(e) An authority may make loans to an obligor to refund outstanding loans, obligations, deeds of trust, or advances issued, made, or given by the obligor for the cost of a special purpose project.

(f) The authority may issue interim receipts or temporary bonds, with or without coupons, exchangeable for definitive bonds when the bonds have been executed and are available for delivery. The authority may also provide for the replacement of any bonds that become mutilated or are destroyed or lost.

(g) Bonds may be issued under the provisions of this Chapter without obtaining, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Chapter, the consent of the State or of any political subdivision or of any agency of either, and without any other proceedings or the happening of any conditions or things other than those proceedings, conditions, or things that are specifically required by this Chapter and the provisions of the financing agreement and security document authorizing the issuance of the bonds and securing the bonds. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1979, c. 109, s. 1; 1997-111, s. 1; 1997-463, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 5.)

§ 159C-7. Approval of industrial projects and pollution control projects by Secretary of Commerce.

(a) Approval Required. — No bonds may be issued by an authority to finance an industrial project or a pollution control project unless the project for which their issuance is proposed is first approved by the Secretary of Commerce. The authority shall file an application for approval of its proposed industrial project or pollution control project with the Secretary of Commerce, and shall notify the Local Government Commission of the filing.

(b) Findings. — The Secretary shall not approve any proposed industrial project or pollution control project unless the Secretary makes all of the following, applicable findings:

- (1) In the case of a proposed industrial project, that the proposed project will not have a materially adverse effect on the environment.
- (2) In the case of a proposed pollution control project, that the project will have a materially favorable impact on the environment or will prevent or diminish materially the impact of pollution which would otherwise occur.
- (2a) In the case of a hazardous waste facility or low-level radioactive waste facility that is used as a reduction, recovery or recycling facility, that such project will further the waste management goals of North Carolina and will not have an adverse effect upon public health or a significant adverse effect on the environment.
- (3) In the case of an industrial project or a pollution control project, except a pollution control project for a public utility,
 - a. That the jobs to be generated or saved, directly or indirectly, by the proposed project will be large enough in number to have a measurable impact on the area immediately surrounding the proposed project and will be commensurate with the size and cost of the proposed project,
 - b. That the proposed operator of the proposed project has demonstrated or can demonstrate the capability to operate the project, and
 - c. That the financing of the project by the authority will not cause or result in the abandonment of an existing industrial or manufacturing facility of the proposed operator or an affiliate elsewhere within the State unless the facility is to be abandoned because of obsolescence, lack of available labor in the area, or site limitations.

(b1) Initial Operator. — If the initial proposed operator of an industrial project or a pollution control project is not expected to be the operator for the term of the bonds proposed to be issued, the Secretary may make the findings required pursuant to subdivisions (b)(1)a. and (3)b. of this section only with respect to the initial operator. The initial operator shall be identified in the application for approval of the proposed project.

(c) Public Hearing. — The Secretary of Commerce shall not approve any proposed industrial project or pollution control project pursuant to this section unless the governing body of the county in which the project is located has first conducted a public hearing and, at or after the public hearing, approved in principle the issuance of bonds under this Chapter for the purpose of paying all or part of the cost of the proposed project. Notice of the public hearing shall be published at least once in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the county not less than 14 days before the public hearing. The notice shall describe generally the bonds proposed to be issued and the proposed project, including its general location, and any other information the governing body considers appropriate or the Secretary of Commerce prescribes for the purpose of providing the Secretary with the views of the community. The notice shall also state that following the public hearing the authority intends to file an application for approval of the proposed project with the Secretary of Commerce.

(d) Certificate of Department of Environment and Natural Resources. — The Secretary of Commerce shall not make the findings required by subdivisions (b)(1)b and (2) of this section unless the Secretary has first received a certification from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources that, in the case of a proposed industrial project, the proposed project will not have a materially adverse effect on the environment and that, in the case of a proposed pollution control project, the proposed project will have a materially favorable impact on the environment or will prevent or diminish materially the impact of pollution which would otherwise occur. The Secretary of Commerce shall not make the findings required by subdivision (2a) unless the Secretary has first received a certification from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources that the proposed project is environmentally sound, will not have an adverse effect on public health and will further the waste management goals of North Carolina. The Secretary of Commerce shall deliver a copy of the application to the Department of Environment and Natural Resources. The Department of Environment and Natural Resources shall provide each certification to the Secretary of Commerce within seven days after the applicant satisfactorily demonstrates to it that all permits, including environmental permits, necessary for the construction of the proposed project have been obtained, unless the authority consents to a longer period of time.

(e) Waiver of Wage Requirement. — If the Secretary of Commerce has made all of the required findings respecting a proposed industrial project except that prescribed in subdivision (b)(1)a of this section, the Secretary may, in the Secretary's discretion, approve the proposed industrial project if the Secretary has received (i) a resolution of the governing body of the county requesting that the proposed industrial project be approved notwithstanding that the operator will not pay an average weekly manufacturing wage above the average weekly manufacturing wage in the county and (ii) a letter from an appropriate State official, selected by the Secretary, to the effect that unemployment in the county is especially severe.

(f) Rules. — To facilitate review of each proposed industrial project or pollution control project, the Secretary may require the authority to obtain and submit any data and information about the project the Secretary may prescribe. The Secretary may also prescribe forms and rules the Secretary considers reasonably necessary to implement the provisions of this section.

(g) Certificate of Approval. — If the Secretary approves the proposed industrial project or pollution control project, the Secretary shall prepare a certificate of approval evidencing the approval and setting forth the findings and shall cause the certificate of approval to be published in a newspaper of general circulation within the county. This approval shall be reviewable as provided in Article 4 of Chapter 150B of the General Statutes only by an action filed, within 30 days after notice of the findings and approval have been so published, in the Superior Court of Wake County. The superior court is vested with jurisdiction to hear the action, but if no action is filed within the 30 days prescribed, the validity of the approval is conclusively presumed, and no court has authority to inquire into the approval. Copies of the certificate of approval of the proposed industrial project or pollution control project will be given to the authority, the board of county commissioners, and the Secretary of the Local Government Commission.

The certificate of approval becomes effective immediately following the expiration of the 30-day period or the expiration of any appeal period after a final determination by any court of any action timely filed pursuant to this section. The certificate expires one year after its date unless extended by the Secretary who shall not extend the certificate unless the Secretary again approves the proposed industrial project or pollution control project as provided in this section. If bonds are issued within that year pursuant to the authorization of this Chapter to pay all or part of the costs of the industrial project or pollution control project, however, the certificate expires three years after the date of the first issuance of the bonds. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1977, c. 198, s. 23; c. 719, ss. 2, 3; c. 771, s. 4; 1979, c. 109, s. 1; 1981, c. 704, s. 22; 1987, c. 827, s. 1; 1989, c. 727, ss. 218(161), 219(38); c. 751, s. 8(29); 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 959, s. 79; 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 575, s. 6; 1997-443, s. 11A.123; 1997-463, s. 2; 2000-179, s. 6; 2004-132, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2004-132, s. 3, provides: "The Department of Commerce shall encourage projects applying for industrial revenue bonds under Chapter 159C or Chapter 159D of the General Statutes to locate the projects in development zones."

§ 159C-8. Approval of bonds.

(a) No bonds may be issued by an authority unless the issuance of the bonds is first approved by the Local Government Commission.

The authority shall file an application for approval of its proposed bond issue with the Secretary of the Local Government Commission, and shall notify the Secretary of Commerce of the filing if the project is an industrial project or pollution control project.

(b) In determining whether a proposed bond issue should be approved, the Local Government Commission may consider any of the following:

- (1) Whether the proposed operator and obligor have demonstrated or can demonstrate the financial responsibility and capability to fulfill their obligations with respect to the financing agreement. In making such determination, the Commission may consider the operator's experience and the obligor's ratio of current assets to current liabilities, net worth, earnings trends and coverage of fixed charges, the nature of the industry or business involved and its stability and any additional security such as credit enhancement, insurance, guaranties or property to be pledged to secure such bonds.
- (2) Whether the political subdivisions in or near which the proposed project is to be located have the ability to cope satisfactorily with the impact of the project and to provide, or cause to be provided, the public facilities and services, including utilities, that will be necessary for the project and on account of any increase in population which are expected to result from the project.

- (3) Whether the proposed date and manner of sale will have an adverse effect upon any scheduled or anticipated sale of obligations by the State or any political subdivision or any agency of either of them.

- (4) Any other factors the Commission considers relevant.

(c) The Local Government Commission shall not approve the issuance of bonds for a special purpose project unless the governing body of the county in which the special purpose project is located has conducted a public hearing and, at or after the public hearing, approved in principle the issuance of bonds under this Chapter for the purposes of paying all or a part of the proposed special purpose project. Notice of the public hearing must be published at least once in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the county not less than 14 days before the public hearing. The notice must describe generally the bonds proposed to be issued and the proposed special purpose project, including its general location, and any other information the governing body considers appropriate.

(d) If the initial proposed operator of the project is not expected to be the operator for the term of the bonds proposed to be issued, the Local Government Commission may consider the matters required under subdivision (b)(1) of this section only with respect to the initial operator. The obligor shall be obligated to perform all of the duties of the obligor required hereunder during the term the bonds are outstanding. The Local Government Commission shall evaluate the obligor's ability to perform these duties without regard to whether the initial proposed operator of the project is expected to be the operator for the term of the bonds proposed to be issued. To facilitate the review of the proposed bond issue by the Commission, the Secretary may require the authority to obtain and submit any financial data and information about the proposed bond issue and the security for it, including the proposed prospectus or offering circular, the proposed financing agreement and security document and annual and other financial reports and statements of the obligor, as the Secretary may prescribe. The Secretary may also prescribe any forms and rules the Secretary considers reasonably necessary to implement the provisions of this section. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1977, c. 198, s. 23; 1979, c. 109, s. 1; 1989, c. 751, s. 7(49); 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 959, s. 80; 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 575, s. 7; 2000-179, s. 7.)

§ 159C-9. Sale of bonds.

Bonds may be sold in such manner, either at public or private sale, and for such price as the Local Government Commission shall determine to be for the best interests of the authority and effectuate best the purposes of this Chapter irrespective of the interest limitations set forth in G.S. 24-1.1, as amended, and successor provisions, provided that such sale shall be approved by the authority and the obligor. (1975, c. 800, s. 1.)

§ 159C-10. Location of projects.

Except as provided in this section, any project or projects of an authority shall be located within the boundaries of the county for which the authority was created. A portion or portions of any project including, but not limited to, any real or personal property or improvements necessary or convenient for the construction, maintenance, and operation of the project, may be located in a county or counties other than the county in which the principal part of the project is located so long as the additional portion or portions constitute functionally appurtenant or incidental facilities and the governing body of each other county in which the additional portion or portions of the project is or are located approves the project. In addition, if a project or a group of related projects is located in two or more adjacent counties, the authority created for any one of the counties may issue bonds as provided in G.S. 159C-6 for the purpose of paying all or any part of the cost of the project or group of related projects if the following conditions are met:

- (1) The board of commissioners of each county in which the project or group of related projects is located has consented.
- (2) The governing body of the authority created for each county in which the project or group of related projects is located has consented.
- (3) The bonds are issued in compliance with all other provisions of this Chapter. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1993, c. 130, s. 1; 1997-463, s. 3.)

§ 159C-11. Financing agreements.

(a) Every financing agreement shall provide that:

- (1) The amounts payable under the financing agreement shall be sufficient to pay all of the principal of and redemption premium, if any, and interest on the bonds issued by the authority to pay the cost of the project as they respectively become due.
- (2) The obligor shall pay all costs incurred by the authority in connection with the financing and administration of the project, except as may be paid out of the proceeds of bonds or otherwise, including insurance costs, the cost of administering the financing agreement and the security document and the fees and expenses of the fiscal agent or trustee, paying agents, attorneys, consultants and others.
- (3) The obligor shall pay all the costs and expenses of operation, maintenance and upkeep of the project.
- (4) The obligor's obligation to provide for the payment of the bonds in full is not subject to cancellation, termination or abatement until payment of the bonds or provision for their payment has been made.
- (5) If the proposed initial operator of the project is not expected to be the operator for the term of the bonds proposed to be issued, the financing agreement shall require that the obligor attempt to arrange for a new operator when the current operator discontinues serving as operator. The new operator is subject to the approval of the Secretary under subdivisions (b)(1)a. and (3)b. of G.S. 159C-7 if the project is an industrial project or a pollution control project, and is subject in any event to the approval of the Local Government Commission under G.S. 159C-8.

(b) The financing agreement, if in the nature of a lease agreement, shall either provide that the obligor has an option to purchase, or require that the obligor purchase, the project upon the expiration or termination of the financing agreement subject to the condition that payment in full of the principal of, and the interest and any redemption premium on, the bonds, or provision for payment, has been made.

The financing agreement may provide the authority with rights and remedies in the event of a default by the obligor under the agreement, including any one or more of the following:

- (1) Acceleration of all amounts payable under the financing agreement;
- (2) Reentry and repossession of the project;
- (3) Termination of the financing agreement;
- (4) Leasing or sale or foreclosure of the project to others; and
- (5) Taking whatever actions at law or in equity may appear necessary or desirable to collect the amounts payable under, and to enforce covenants made in, the financing agreement.

(c) The authority's interest in a project under a financing agreement may be that of owner, lessor, lessee, conditional or installment vendor, mortgagor, mortgagee, secured party or otherwise, but the authority need not have any ownership or possessory interest in the project.

The authority may assign all or any of its rights and remedies under the financing agreement to the trustee or the bondholders under a security document.

The financing agreement may contain any additional provisions the authority considers necessary or convenient to effectuate the purposes of this Chapter. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1979, c. 109, s. 1; 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 575, s. 8; 2000-179, s. 8.)

§ 159C-12. Security documents.

Bonds issued under the provisions of this Chapter may be secured by a security document which may be a trust instrument between the authority and a bank or trust company or individual within the State, or a bank or a trust company without the State, as trustee. Such security document may pledge and assign the revenues provided for the security of the bonds, including proceeds from the sale of any project, or part thereof, insurance proceeds and condemnation awards, and may convey or mortgage the project and other property to secure a bond issue.

The revenues and other funds derived from the project, except such part thereof as may be necessary to provide reserves therefor, if any, shall be set aside at such regular intervals as may be provided in such security document in a sinking fund which may be thereby pledged to, and charged with, the payment of the principal of and the interest on such bonds as the same shall become due and the redemption price or the purchase price of bonds retired by call or purchase as therein provided. Such pledge shall be valid and binding from the time when the pledge is made. The revenues so pledged and thereafter received by the authority shall immediately be subject to the lien of such pledge without any physical delivery thereof or further act, and the lien of any such pledge shall be valid and binding as against all parties having claims of any kind in tort, contract or otherwise against the authority, irrespective of whether such parties have notice thereof. The use and disposition of money to the credit of such sinking fund shall be subject to the provisions of the security document. Such security document may contain such provisions for protecting and enforcing the rights and remedies of the bondholders as may be reasonable and proper and not in violation of law, including, without limitation, any one or more of the following:

- (1) Acceleration of all amounts payable under the security document;
- (2) Appointment of a receiver to manage the project and any other property mortgaged or assigned as security for the bonds;
- (3) Foreclosure and sale of the project and any other property mortgaged or assigned as security for the bonds; and
- (4) Rights to bring and maintain such other actions at law or in equity as may appear necessary or desirable to collect the amounts payable under, or to enforce the covenants made in, the security document.

It shall be lawful for any bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of this State which may act as depository of the proceeds of bonds, revenues or other funds provided under this Chapter to furnish such indemnifying bonds or to pledge such securities as may be required by the authority. All expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of such security document may be treated as a part of the cost of the project in connection with which bonds are issued or as an expense of administration of such project.

The authority may subordinate the bonds or its rights under the financing agreement or otherwise to any prior, contemporaneous or future securities or obligations or lien, mortgage or other security interest. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1977, c. 719, s. 4; 1979, c. 109, s. 1.)

§ 159C-13. Trust funds.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, all money received pursuant to the authority of this Chapter, whether as proceeds from the sale of bonds or as revenues, shall be deemed to be trust funds to be held and applied solely as provided in this Chapter. The security document may provide that any of such moneys may be temporarily invested and reinvested pending the disbursement thereof in such securities and other investments as shall be provided in such security document, and shall provide that any officer with whom, or any bank or trust company with which, such moneys shall be deposited shall act as trustee of such moneys and shall hold and apply the same for the purpose hereof, subject to such regulations as this Chapter and such security document may provide. (1975, c. 800, s. 1.)

§ 159C-14. Tax exemption.

The authority shall not be required to pay any taxes on any project or on any other property owned by the authority under the provisions of this Chapter or upon the income therefrom.

The interest on bonds issued by the authority shall be exempt from all income taxes within the State.

All projects and all transactions therefor shall be subject to taxation to the extent such projects and transactions would be subject to taxation if no public body were involved therewith. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1977, c. 719, s. 5.)

§ 159C-15. Construction contracts.

The authority may agree with the prospective operator that all contracts relating to the acquisition, construction, installation and equipping of a project shall be solicited, negotiated, awarded and executed by the prospective operator and its agents subject only to such approvals by the authority as the authority may require in such agreement. Such agreement may provide that the authority may, out of the proceeds of bonds, make advances to or reimburse the operator for all or a portion of its costs incurred in connection with such contracts. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1977, c. 719, s. 6.)

§ 159C-16. Conflict of interest.

If any officer, commissioner or employee of the authority, or any member of the governing body of the county for which the authority is created, shall be interested either directly or indirectly in any contract with the authority, such interest shall be disclosed to the authority and the county board of commissioners and shall be set forth in the minutes of the authority and the county board of commissioners, and the officer, commissioner, employee or member having such interest therein shall not participate on behalf of the authority in the authorization of any such contract or on behalf of the governing body of the county in the approval of the bonds to be issued by the authority to finance the project, respectively; provided, however, that this section shall not apply to the ownership of less than one per centum (1%) of the stock of any operator or obligor. Failure to take any or all actions necessary to carry out the purposes of this section shall not affect the validity of bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of this Chapter. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1977, c. 719, s. 7.)

§ 159C-17. Credit of State not pledged.

Bonds issued under the provisions of this Chapter shall not be deemed to constitute a debt of the State or any political subdivision or any agency thereof or a pledge of the faith and credit of the State or any political subdivision or any such agency, but shall be payable solely from the revenues and other funds provided therefor. Each bond issued under this Chapter shall contain on the face thereof a statement to the effect that the authority shall not be obligated to pay the same or the interest thereon except from the revenues and other funds pledged therefor and that neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of the State or any political subdivision or any agency thereof is pledged to the payment of the principal of or the interest on such bonds. (1975, c. 800, s. 1.)

§ 159C-18. Bonds eligible for investment.

Bonds issued by an authority under the provisions of this Chapter are hereby made securities in which all public officers and agencies of the State and all political subdivisions, all insurance companies, trust companies, banking associations, investment companies, executors, administrators, trustees and other fiduciaries may properly and legally invest funds, including capital in their control or belonging to them. (1975, c. 800, s. 1.)

§ 159C-19. Revenue refunding bonds.

(a) Each authority is authorized to provide by resolution for the issuance of refunding bonds of the authority for the purpose of refunding any bonds then outstanding that have been issued under the provisions of this Chapter, including the payment of any redemption premium on them and any interest accrued or to accrue to the date of redemption of the bonds, and, if deemed advisable by the authority, for either or both of the following additional purposes:

(1) Constructing improvements, additions, extensions or enlargements of the project or projects in connection with which the bonds to be refunded have been issued, and

(2) Paying all or any part of the cost of any additional project or projects.

(a1) The issuance of these bonds, their maturities and other details, the rights of their holders, and the rights, duties, and obligations of the authority in respect to them shall be governed by the provisions of this Chapter that relate to the issuance of bonds, to the extent appropriate, including that the bonds may have a single maturity within the limit prescribed by G.S. 159C-6.

The approvals required by G.S. 159C-7 and 159C-8 shall be obtained prior to the issuance of any refunding bonds, except that if the refunding bonds of all or a portion of an issue are to be issued solely for the purpose of refunding outstanding bonds issued under this Chapter, the approval required by G.S. 159C-7 is not required as to the project financed with the bonds to be refunded.

(b) Refunding bonds issued under this section may be sold or exchanged for outstanding bonds issued under this Chapter and, if sold, their proceeds may be applied, in addition to any other authorized purposes, to the purchase, redemption, or payment of the outstanding bonds. Refunding bonds may be issued, in the determination of the authority, at any time before the date of maturity or maturities or the date selected for the redemption of the bonds being refunded by them. Pending the application of the proceeds of the refunding bonds, with any other available funds, to the payment of the principal of and accrued interest and any redemption premium on the bonds being refunded, and, if so provided or permitted in the security document securing them, to the payment of any interest on the refunding bonds and any expenses in connection with the refunding, the proceeds may be invested in direct obligations of, or obligations the principal of and the interest on which are unconditionally guaranteed by, the United States of America that mature or are subject to redemption by the holder, at the option of such holder, not later than the respective dates when the proceeds, together with the interest accruing on them, will be required for the purposes intended. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1997-463, s. 4; 2000-179, s. 9.)

§ 159C-20. No power of eminent domain.

No authority shall have any right or power to acquire any property through the exercise of eminent domain or any proceedings in the nature of eminent domain. (1975, c. 800, s. 1.)

§ 159C-21. Dissolution of authorities.

Whenever the board of commissioners of an authority and the governing body of the county for which such authority was created shall by joint resolution determine that the purposes for which the authority was formed have been substantially fulfilled and that all bonds theretofore issued and all other obligations theretofore incurred by the authority have been fully paid or satisfied, such board of commissioners and governing body may declare the authority to be dissolved. On the effective date of such joint resolution, the title to all funds and other property owned by the authority at the time of such dissolution shall vest in the county or in such other political subdivisions as the county shall direct, and possession of such funds and other property shall forthwith be delivered to the county or to such other political subdivisions in accordance with the direction of the county. (1975, c. 800, s. 1.)

§ 159C-22. Annual reports; application of Article 3, Subchapter III of Chapter 159.

Each authority shall, promptly following the close of each calendar year, submit an annual report of its activities for the preceding year to the governing body of the county for which the authority was created. Each such report shall set forth a complete operating and financial statement covering the operations of the authority during such year.

The provisions of Article 3, Subchapter III of Chapter 159 of the General Statutes of North Carolina entitled: "The Local Government Budget and Fiscal Control Act" shall have no application to authorities created pursuant to this Chapter. (1975, c. 800, s. 1; 1977, c. 719, s. 8.)

§ 159C-23. Officers not liable.

No commissioner of any authority shall be subject to any personal liability or accountability by reason of his execution of any bonds or the issuance thereof. (1975, c. 800, s. 1.)

§ 159C-24. Additional method.

The foregoing sections of this Chapter shall be deemed to provide an additional and alternative method for the doing of the things authorized thereby and shall be regarded as supplemental and additional to powers conferred by other laws, and shall not be regarded as in derogation of any powers now existing; provided, however, that the issuance of bonds or refunding bonds under the provisions of this Chapter need not comply with the requirements of any other law applicable to the issuance of bonds. (1975, c. 800, s. 1.)

§ 159C-25. Liberal construction.

This Chapter, being necessary for the prosperity and welfare of the State and its inhabitants, shall be liberally construed to effect the purposes hereof. (1975, c. 800, s. 2.)

§ 159C-26. Inconsistent laws inapplicable.

Insofar as the provisions of this Chapter are inconsistent with the provisions of any general, special or local laws, or parts thereof, the provisions of this Chapter shall be controlling. (1975, c. 800, s. 3.)

§ 159C-27. Creation, etc., of prior authorities ratified.

The creation, formation and organization of all authorities heretofore [prior to June 24, 1977] purported to have been created, formed and organized are hereby ratified, confirmed and validated. (1977, c. 719, s. 9.)

§ 159C-28: Repealed by Session Laws 2001-218, s. 5, effective July 1, 2001.

ARTICLE 1.

Industrial and Pollution Control Facilities Financing.

§ 159D-1. Short title.

This Article may be referred to as “The North Carolina Industrial and Pollution Control Facilities Financing Act.” (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 1987, c. 517, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-2. Legislative findings and purposes.

prosperity is dependent, to migrate elsewhere to find employment and establish homes; that such emigration has resulted in a reduced rate of growth in the tax base of the counties and other local governmental units of the State which impairs the financial ability of such counties and other local governmental units to support education and other local governmental services; that such unemployment results in obligations to grant public assistance and to pay unemployment compensation; that the aforesaid conditions can best be remedied by the attraction, stimulation, expansion and rehabilitation and revitalization of industrial and manufacturing facilities for industry in the State; and that there is a need to stimulate a larger flow of private investment funds into industrial building programs in the State.

(b) The General Assembly further finds and determines that the development and expansion of industry within the State, which are essential to the economic growth of the State, and to the full employment and prosperity of its people, are accompanied by the increased production and discharge of gaseous, liquid, and solid pollution and wastes which threaten and endanger the health, welfare and safety of the inhabitants of the State by polluting the air, land and waters of the State; that in order to reduce, control, and prevent such environmental pollution, it is imperative that action be taken at various levels of government to require the provision of devices, equipment and facilities for the collection, reduction, treatment, and disposal of such pollution and wastes; that the assistance provided in this Article, especially with respect to financing, is therefore in the public interest and serves a public purpose of the State in promoting the health, welfare and safety of the inhabitants of the State not only physically by collecting, reducing, treating and preventing environmental pollution but also economically by securing and retaining private industry thereby maintaining a higher level of employment and economic activity and stability.

§ 159D-3. Definitions.

The following terms, whenever used or referred to in this Article, shall have the following respective meanings, unless a different meaning clearly appears from the context:

- (1) "Agency" means the North Carolina Capital Facilities Finance Agency, an agency of the State created pursuant to G.S. 159D-38 of the North Carolina Capital Facilities Finance Act, codified as Article 2 of this Chapter.
- (2) "Air pollution control facility" shall mean any structure, equipment or other facility for, including any increment in the cost of any structure, equipment or facility attributable to, the purpose of treating, neutralizing or reducing gaseous industrial waste and other air pollutants, including recovery, treatment, neutralizing or stabilizing plants and equipment and their appurtenances, which shall have been certified by the agency having jurisdiction to be in furtherance of the purpose of abating or controlling atmospheric pollutants or contaminants.
- (3) "Authority" shall mean The North Carolina Industrial and Pollution Control Facilities Financing Authority, a political subdivision and body politic of the State, created pursuant to the provisions of this Article.
- (4) "Bonds" shall mean revenue bonds issued under the provisions of this Article.
- (5) "Cost" as applied to any project shall embrace all capital costs thereof, including the cost of construction, the cost of acquisition of all property, including rights in land and other property, both real and personal and improved and unimproved, the cost of demolishing, removing or relocating any buildings or structures on lands so acquired, including the cost of acquiring any lands to which such buildings or structures may be moved or relocated, the cost of all machinery and equipment, installation, start-up expenses, financing charges, interest prior to, during and for a period not exceeding one year after completion of construction, the cost of engineering and architectural surveys, plans and specifications, the cost of consultants and legal services, other expenses necessary or incident to determining the feasibility or practicability of such project, administrative and other expenses necessary or incident to the acquisition or construction of such project and the financing of the acquisition and construction thereof, including a reserve for debt services.

- (6) Repealed by Session Laws 2000, c. 179, s. 2, effective July 1, 2000.
- (7) "Financing agreement" shall mean a written instrument establishing the rights and responsibilities of the agency and the operator with respect to a project financed by the issue of bonds.
- (8) "Governing body" shall mean the board, commission, council or other body in which the general legislative powers of any county or other political subdivision are vested.
- (9) "Obligor" shall mean collectively the operator and any others (including, but not by way of limitation, any other person, collateral device or fund that shall be obligated to pay) who or which shall be obligated under a financing agreement or guaranty agreement or other contract or agreement to make payments to, or for the benefit of, the holders of bonds of the agency. Any requirement of an obligor may be satisfied by any one or more persons who are defined collectively by this Article as the obligor.
- (10) "Operator" shall mean the person entitled to the use or occupancy of a project.
- (11) "Political subdivision" shall mean any county, city, town, other unit of local government or any other governmental corporation, entity, authority or instrumentality of the State now or hereafter existing.
- (12) "Pollution and pollutants" shall mean any noxious or deleterious substances in any air or waters of or adjacent to the State of North Carolina or affecting the physical, chemical or biological properties of any air or waters of or adjacent to the State of North Carolina in a manner and to an extent which renders or is likely to render such air or waters harmful or inimical to the public health, safety or welfare, or to animal, bird or aquatic life, or to the use of such air or waters for domestic, industrial or agricultural purposes or recreation.
- (13) "Project" shall mean any land, equipment or any one or more buildings or other structures, whether or not on the same site or sites, and any rehabilitation, improvement, renovation or enlargement of, or any addition to, any building or structure for use as or in connection with (i) any industrial project for industry which project may be any industrial or manufacturing factory, mill, assembly plant or fabricating plant, or freight terminal, or industrial research, development or laboratory facility or industrial processing facility for industrial or manufactured products, or (ii) any pollution control project for industry which project may be any air pollution control facility, water pollution control facility, or solid waste disposal facility in connection with any factory, mill, plant, terminal or facility described in clause (i) of this subdivision, or (iii) any combination of projects mentioned in clauses (i) and (ii) of this subdivision. Any project may include all appurtenances and incidental facilities such as land, headquarters or office facilities, warehouses, distribution centers, access roads, sidewalks, utilities, railway sidings, trucking and similar facilities, parking facilities, landing strips and other facilities for aircraft, waterways, docks, wharves and other improvements necessary or convenient for the construction, maintenance and operation of any building or structure, or addition thereto.

- (14) "Revenues" shall mean, with respect to any project, the rents, fees, charges, payments, proceeds and other income or profit derived therefrom or from the financing agreement or security document in connection therewith.
- (15) "Security document" shall mean a written instrument or instruments establishing the rights and responsibilities of the agency and the holders of bonds issued to finance a project, and may provide for, or be in the form of an agreement with, a trustee for the benefit of such bondholders. A security document may contain an assignment, pledge, mortgage or other encumbrance of all or part of the agency's interest in, or right to receive revenues with respect to, a project and any other property provided by the operator or other obligor under a financing agreement and may bear any appropriate title. A financing agreement and a security document may be combined as one instrument.
- (16) "Solid waste" shall mean solid waste materials resulting from any industrial or manufacturing activities or from any pollution control facility.
- (17) "Solid waste disposal facility" shall mean a facility for the purpose of treating, burning, compacting, composting, storing or disposing of solid waste.
- (18) "Water pollution control facility" shall mean any structure, equipment or other facility for, including any increment in the cost of any structure, equipment or facility attributable to, the purpose of treating, neutralizing or reducing liquid industrial waste and other water pollution, including collecting, treating, neutralizing, stabilizing, cooling, segregating, holding, recycling, or disposing of liquid industrial waste and other water pollution, including necessary collector, interceptor, and outfall lines and pumping stations, which has been certified by the entity exercising jurisdiction to be in furtherance of the purpose of abating or controlling water pollution. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 1987, c. 517, ss. 4, 4.1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-4.1. Jurisdiction of the agency.

All actions taken by counties, local officials, the Secretary of State, the State Treasurer, and other interested parties to create and organize The North Carolina Industrial Facilities and Pollution Control Financing Authority are ratified and confirmed. All duties, powers, jurisdiction, and responsibilities vested by statute or by contract in the authority are transferred to and vested in the North Carolina Capital Facilities Finance Agency, subject to the provisions of this Article. Upon this transfer, the agency is responsible for all duties and obligations of the authority entered into or incurred, by contract or otherwise, before the transfer. Particularly, the agency is responsible for all matters relating to any outstanding bonds of the authority to the same extent that the authority was responsible for them before the date of transfer. The agency for all purposes assumes the role and is the legal successor of the authority. Upon this transfer, the authority is dissolved. (2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-5. General powers.

The agency shall have all of the powers necessary or convenient to carry out and effectuate the purposes and provisions of this Article, including all of the following:

- (1) To adopt bylaws for the regulation of its affairs and the conduct of its business and to prescribe rules, regulations and policies in connection with the performance of its functions and duties;
- (2) To adopt an official seal and alter the same at pleasure;
- (3) To maintain an office at such place or places as it may determine;
- (4) To sue and be sued in its own name, plead and be impleaded;
- (5) To receive, administer and comply with the conditions and requirements respecting any gift, grant or donation of any property or money;
- (6) To make and execute financing agreements, security documents and other contracts and instruments necessary or convenient in the exercise of the powers and functions of the agency under this Article;
- (7) To acquire by purchase, lease, gift or otherwise, but not by eminent domain, or to obtain options for the acquisition of any property, real or personal, improved or unimproved, and interests in land less than the fee thereof, for the construction, operation or maintenance of any project;
- (8) To sell, lease, exchange, transfer or otherwise dispose of, or to grant options for any such purposes with respect to, any real or personal property or interest therein;
- (9) To pledge or assign revenues of the agency;
- (10) To construct, acquire, own, repair, maintain, extend, improve, rehabilitate, renovate, furnish and equip one or more projects and to pay all or any part of the costs thereof from the proceeds of bonds of the agency or from any contribution, gift or donation or other funds made available to the agency for such purpose;
- (11) To fix, charge and collect revenues with respect to any project;
- (12) To employ consulting engineers, architects, attorneys, real estate counselors, appraisers and such other consultants and employees as may be required in the judgment of the agency and to fix and pay their compensation from funds available to the agency therefor and to select and retain subject to approval of the Local Government Commission the financial consultants, underwriters and bond attorneys to be associated with the issuance of any bonds and to pay for services rendered by underwriters, financial consultants or bond attorneys out of the proceeds of any such issue with regard to which the services were performed; and
- (13) To do all acts and things necessary, convenient or desirable to carry out the purposes, and to exercise the powers granted in this Article. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 1985, c. 723, s. 3; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-6. Bonds.

(a) The agency is authorized to provide for the issuance, at one time or from time to time, of bonds of the agency for the purpose of paying all or any part of the cost of any project. The principal of, the interest on and any premium payable under the redemption of such bonds shall be payable solely from the funds herein authorized for such payment. The bonds of each issue shall bear interest as may be determined by the Local Government Commission of North Carolina with the approval of the agency and the obligor irrespective of the limitations of G.S. 24-1.1, as amended, and successor provisions. The bonds of each issue shall be dated, shall mature at such time or times not exceeding 30 years from the date of their issuance, and may be made redeemable before maturity at such price or prices and under such terms and conditions, as may be fixed by the agency prior to the issuance of the bonds. The agency shall determine the form and the manner of execution of the bonds, including any interest coupons to be attached thereto, and shall fix the denomination or denominations of the bonds and the place or places of payment of principal and interest. In case any officer whose signature or a facsimile of whose signature appears on any bonds or coupons ceases to be that officer before the delivery of the bonds, the signature or the facsimile shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if the officer had remained in office until such delivery. The agency may also provide for the authentication of the bonds by a trustee or fiscal agent.

(b) The proceeds of the bonds of each issue shall be used solely for the payment of the cost of the project or projects, or a portion thereof, for which the bonds were issued, and shall be disbursed in such manner and under such restrictions, if any, as the agency may provide in the financing agreement and the security document. If the proceeds of the bonds of any issue, by reason of increased construction costs or error in estimates or otherwise, are less than such cost, additional bonds may in like manner be issued to provide the amount of such deficiency.

(c) The proceeds of bonds issued pursuant to this Article shall not be used to refinance the cost of a project. For the purposes of this section, a cost of a project is considered refinanced if both of the following conditions are met:

- (1) The cost is initially paid from sources other than bond proceeds, and the original expenditure is to be reimbursed from bond proceeds.
- (2) The original expenditure was paid more than 60 days before the agency took some action indicating its intent that the expenditure would be financed or reimbursed from bond proceeds.

(e) Bonds may be issued under the provisions of this Article without obtaining, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Article, the consent of the State or of any political subdivision and without any other proceedings or the happening of any conditions or things other than those proceedings, conditions or things specifically required by this Article and the provisions of the financing agreement and security document authorizing the issuance of such bonds and securing the same. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-7. Approval of project by Secretary of Commerce.

(a) Approval Required. — No bonds may be issued by the agency pursuant to this Article unless the project for which their issuance is proposed is first approved by the Secretary of Commerce. The agency shall file an application for approval of its proposed project with the Secretary of Commerce, and shall notify the Local Government Commission of such filing.

(b) Findings. — The Secretary shall not approve any proposed project unless the Secretary makes all of the following, applicable findings:

- (1) In the case of a proposed industrial project, that the proposed project will not have a materially adverse effect on the environment.
- (2) In the case of a proposed pollution control project, that such project will have a materially favorable impact on the environment or will prevent or diminish materially the impact of pollution which would otherwise occur.
- (2a) In the case of a hazardous waste facility or low-level radioactive waste facility that is used as a reduction, recovery or recycling facility, that such project will further the waste management goals of North Carolina and will not have an adverse effect upon public health or a significant adverse effect on the environment.
- (3) In any case (whether the proposed project is an industrial or a pollution control project),
 - a. That the jobs to be generated or saved, directly or indirectly, by the proposed project will be large enough in number to have a measurable impact on the area immediately surrounding the proposed project and will be commensurate with the size and cost of the proposed project,
 - b. That the proposed operator of the proposed project has demonstrated or can demonstrate the capability to operate such project, and
 - c. That the financing of such project by the agency will not cause or result in the abandonment of an existing industrial or manufacturing facility of the proposed operator or an affiliate elsewhere within the State unless the facility is to be abandoned because of obsolescence, lack of available labor in the area, or site limitations.

(c) Initial Operator. — If the initial proposed operator of a project is not expected to be the operator for the term of the bonds proposed to be issued, the Secretary may make the findings required pursuant to subdivisions (b)(1)a. and (3)b. of this section only with respect to the initial operator. The initial operator shall be identified in the application for approval of the proposed project.

(d) Public Hearing, Generally. — The Secretary of Commerce shall not approve any proposed project pursuant to this section unless the governing body of the county in which the project is located has first conducted a public hearing and, at or after the public hearing, approved in principle the issuance of bonds under this Article for the purpose of paying all or part of the cost of the proposed project. Notice of the public hearing shall be published at least once in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the county not less than 14 days before the public hearing. The notice shall describe generally the bonds proposed to be issued and the proposed project, including its general location, and any other information the governing body considers appropriate or the Secretary of Commerce prescribes for the purpose of providing the Secretary with the views of the community. The notice shall also state that following the public hearing the agency intends to file an application for approval of the proposed project with the Secretary of Commerce.

(d1) Public Hearing, Multiple Projects. — Notwithstanding subsection (d) of this section, in the event the bonds proposed to be issued are to finance more than one project, the public hearing shall be conducted by the agency or by a hearing officer designated by the agency to conduct public hearings. The public hearing may be held at any location designated by the agency. Notice of the public hearing shall be published at least once in at least one newspaper of general circulation in each county in which a proposed project is to be located not less than 14 days before the public hearing. The notice shall describe generally the bonds proposed to be issued and any proposed project in that county, including its general location, and any other information the agency considers appropriate or the Secretary of Commerce prescribes for the purpose of providing the Secretary with the views of the community. A copy of the notice of public hearing must be mailed to the board of county commissioners of any county in which a proposed project is to be located and to the governing body of any municipality in which a proposed project is to be located.

(e) Certificate of Department of Environment and Natural Resources. — The Secretary of Commerce shall not make the findings required by subdivisions (b)(1)b and (2) of this section unless the Secretary has first received a certification from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources that, in the case of a proposed industrial project, the proposed project will not have a materially adverse effect on the environment and that, in the case of a proposed pollution control project, the proposed project will have a materially favorable impact on the environment or will prevent or diminish materially the impact of pollution which would otherwise occur. The Secretary shall not make the findings required by subdivision (b)(2a) of this section unless the Secretary has first received a certification from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources that the proposed project is environmentally sound, will not have an adverse effect on public health and will further the waste management goals of North Carolina. The Secretary of Commerce shall deliver a copy of the application to the Department of Environment and Natural Resources. The Department of Environment and Natural Resources shall provide each certification to the Secretary of Commerce within seven days after the applicant satisfactorily demonstrates to it that all permits, including environmental permits, necessary for the construction of the proposed project have been obtained, unless the agency consents to a longer period of time.

(f) Waiver of Wage Requirement. — If the Secretary of Commerce has made all of the required findings respecting a proposed industrial project, except that prescribed in subdivision (b)(1)a of this section, the Secretary may, in the Secretary's discretion, approve the proposed project if the Secretary has received (i) a resolution of the governing body of the county in which the proposed project is to be located requesting that the proposed project be approved notwithstanding that the operator will not pay an average weekly manufacturing wage above the average weekly manufacturing wage in the county and (ii) a letter from an appropriate State official, selected by the Secretary, to the effect that unemployment in the county is especially severe.

(g) Rules. — To facilitate the Secretary's review of each proposed project, the Secretary may require the agency to obtain and submit such data and information about such project as the Secretary may prescribe. The Secretary may also prescribe such forms and such rules as the Secretary considers reasonably necessary to implement the provisions of this section.

(h) Certificate of Approval. — If the Secretary approves the proposed project, the Secretary shall prepare a certificate of approval evidencing such approval and setting forth the findings and shall cause the certificate of approval to be published in a newspaper of general circulation within the county in which the proposed project is to be located. Any such approval shall be reviewable as provided in Article 4 of Chapter 150B of the General Statutes only by an action filed, within 30 days after notice of such findings and approval shall have been so published, in the Superior Court of Wake County. The superior court is hereby vested with jurisdiction to hear such action, but if no such action is filed within the 30 days herein prescribed, the validity of such approval shall be conclusively presumed, and no court shall have authority to inquire into such approval. Copies of the certificate of approval of the proposed project will be given to the agency, the governing body of the county in which the proposed project is to be located and the secretary of the Local Government Commission.

The certificate of approval shall become effective immediately following the expiration of the 30-day period or the expiration of any appeal period after a final determination by any court of any action timely filed pursuant to this section. The certificate shall expire one year after its date unless extended by the Secretary who shall not extend the certificate unless the Secretary again approves the proposed project as provided in this section. If bonds are issued within that year pursuant to the authorization of this Article or Chapter 159C of the General Statutes to pay all or part of the costs of the project, however, the certificate expires three years after the date of the first issuance of the bonds.

(i) Certificate Issued Under Chapter 159C Effective. — Any certificate of approval with respect to a project which has become effective pursuant to G.S. 159C-7 satisfies the requirements of this section to the extent that the findings made by the Secretary pursuant to G.S. 159C-7 are consistent with the findings required to be made by the Secretary pursuant to this section. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 1987, c. 517, s. 6; c. 827, s. 1; 1989, c. 727, ss. 218(162), 219(39); c. 751, s. 8(30); 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 959, s. 82; 1997-443, s. 11A.123; 2000-179, s. 2; 2002-172, s. 5.2; 2003-416, s. 2; 2004-132, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2002-172, s. 5.1, provides: "The General Assembly finds that there are small manufacturing companies in the State that are eligible for industrial development bond financing for capital improvements and expansions, but are not able to take advantage of that financing because of the administrative costs involved. This problem can be addressed by reviving the composite bond program under Chapter 159D of the General Statutes, under which the North Carolina Capital Facilities Finance Agency could combine several series of bonds into a single bond offering, thereby reducing transaction costs and permitting eligible small manufacturers to access tax exempt financing for capital investments. The composite bond program would be facilitated by the changes proposed to Chapter 159D in this part [Part 5 of Session Laws 2002-172] that will streamline the procedures for composite issues by requiring only one public hearing and align the review standard for bonds issued as part of a composite bond program with the standard for bonds issued by county industrial development projects."

Session Laws 2002-172, s. 7.1, contains a severability clause.

Session Laws 2004-132, s. 3, provides: "The Department of Commerce shall encourage projects applying for industrial revenue bonds under Chapter 159C or Chapter 159D of the General Statutes to locate the projects in development zones."

§ 159D-8. Approval of bonds.

(a) No bonds may be issued by the agency pursuant to this Article unless the issuance is first approved by the Local Government Commission.

The agency shall file an application for approval of its proposed bond issue with the secretary of the Local Government Commission, and shall notify the Secretary of the Department of Commerce of such filing.

(b) In determining whether a proposed bond issue should be approved, the Local Government Commission may consider, without limitation, the following:

- (1) Whether the proposed operator and obligor have demonstrated or can demonstrate the financial responsibility and capability to fulfill their obligations with respect to the financing agreement. In making such determination, the commission may consider the operator's experience and the obligor's ratio of current assets to current liabilities, net worth, earnings trends and coverage of fixed charges, the nature of the industry or business involved and its stability and any additional security such as credit enhancement, insurance, guaranties or property to be pledged or secure such bonds.

- (2) Whether the political subdivisions in or near which the proposed project is to be located have the ability to cope satisfactorily with the impact of such project and to provide, or cause to be provided, the public facilities and services, including utilities, that will be necessary for such project and on account of any increase in population which are expected to result therefrom.
- (3) Whether the proposed date and manner of sale will have an adverse effect upon any scheduled or anticipated sale of obligations by the State or any political subdivision or any agency of either of them.

(c) To facilitate the review of the proposed bond issue by the commission, the Secretary may require the agency to obtain and submit such financial data and information about the proposed bond issue and the security therefor, including the proposed prospectus or offering circular, the proposed financing agreement and security document and annual and other financial reports and statements of the obligor, as the Secretary may prescribe. The Secretary may also prescribe forms and rules that the Secretary considers reasonably necessary to implement the provisions of this section. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 1989, c. 751, s. 7(52); 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 959, s. 83; 2000-179, s. 2; 2002-172, s. 5.3; 2003-416, s. 2.)

§ 159D-9. Sale of bonds.

Bonds issued under this Article may be sold in such manner, either at public or private sale, and for such price as the Local Government Commission determines to be for the best interests of the agency and effectuate best the purposes of this Article irrespective of the interest limitations set forth in G.S. 24-1.1, as amended, and successor provisions, as long as the sale is approved by the agency and the obligor. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-10. Location of projects.

Any project of the agency shall be located within the boundaries of the State. Bonds may not be issued to finance any project or group of projects in any county of the State unless the board of commissioners for the county in which the project is located has consented to the location of the project within the county. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 1993, c. 130, s. 2; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-11. Financing agreements.

- (a) Every financing agreement shall provide that:
 - (1) Repealed by Session Laws 1987, c. 517, s. 7.
 - (2) The amounts payable under the financing agreement shall be sufficient to pay all of the principal of and interest and redemption premium, if any, and interest on the bonds issued by the agency to pay the cost of the project as they respectively become due;
 - (3) The obligor shall pay all costs incurred by the agency in connection with the financing and administration of the project, except as may be paid out of the proceeds of bonds or otherwise, including, but without limitation, insurance costs, the cost of administering the financing agreement and the security document and the fees and expenses of the fiscal agent or trustee, paying agents, attorneys, consultants and others;
 - (4) The obligor shall pay all the costs and expenses of operation, maintenance and upkeep of the project; and

- (5) The obligor's obligation to provide for the payment of the bonds in full shall not be subject to cancellation, termination or abatement until payment of the bonds or provision for payment has been made.
- (b) The financing agreement may be in the nature of:
 - (1) A sale and leaseback,
 - (2) A lease purchase,
 - (3) A conditional sale,
 - (4) An installment sale,
 - (5) A secured or unsecured loan,
 - (6) A loan and mortgage, or
 - (7) Another similar transaction.
- (c) The financing agreement, if in the nature of a lease agreement, shall either provide that the obligor has an option to purchase, or require that the obligor purchase, the project upon the expiration or termination of the financing agreement subject to the condition that payment in full of the principal of, and the interest and any redemption premium on, the bonds, or provision for payment has been made.
- (d) The financing agreement may provide the agency with rights and remedies in the event of a default by the obligor under it including, without limitation, any one or more of the following:
 - (1) Acceleration of all amounts payable under the financing agreement;
 - (2) Reentry and repossession of the project;
 - (3) Termination of the financing agreement;
 - (4) Leasing or sale or foreclosure of the project to others; and
 - (5) Taking whatever actions at law or in equity may appear necessary or desirable to collect the amounts payable under, and to enforce covenants made in, the financing agreement.
- (e) The agency's interest in a project under a financing agreement may be that of owner, lessor, lessee, conditional or installment vendor, mortgagor, mortgagee, secured party or otherwise, but the agency need not have any ownership or possessory interest in the project.
- (f) The agency may assign all or any of its rights and remedies under the financing agreement to the trustee or bondholders under the security document.
- (g) The financing agreement may contain any additional provisions the agency considers necessary or convenient to effectuate the purposes of this Article. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 1987, c. 517, s. 7; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-12. Security documents.

- (a) Bonds issued under the provisions of this Article may be secured by a security document which may be a trust instrument between the agency and a bank or trust company or individual within the State, or a bank or a trust company without the State, as trustee. Such security document may pledge and assign the revenues provided for the security of the bonds, including proceeds from the sale of any project, or part thereof, insurance proceeds and condemnation awards, and may convey or mortgage the project and other property to secure a bond issue.
- The revenues and other funds derived from the project, except any part necessary to provide reserves shall be set aside at such regular intervals as may be provided in such security document in a sinking fund which may be pledged to, and charged with, the payment of the principal of and the interest on such bonds as they become due and the redemption price or the purchase price of bonds retired by call or purchase as therein provided. Such pledge shall be valid and binding from the time when the pledge is made. The revenues so pledged and thereafter received by the agency shall immediately be subject to the lien of such pledge without any physical delivery thereof or further act, and the lien of any such pledge shall be valid and binding as against all parties having claims of any kind in tort, contract or otherwise against the agency, irrespective of whether such parties have notice thereof. The use and disposition of money to the credit of such sinking fund shall be subject to the provisions of the security document. Such security document may contain such provisions for protecting and enforcing the rights and remedies of the bondholders as may be reasonable and proper and not in violation of law, including, without limitation, any one or more of the following:

- (1) Acceleration of all amounts payable under the security document;
- (2) Appointment of a receiver to manage the project and any other property mortgaged or assigned as security for the bonds;
- (3) Foreclosure and sale of the project and any other property mortgaged or assigned as security for the bonds; and
- (4) Rights to bring and maintain such other actions at law or in equity as may appear necessary or desirable to collect the amounts payable under, or to enforce the covenants made in, the security document.

(b) It is lawful for any bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of this State which may act as depositary of the proceeds of bonds, revenues or other funds provided under this Article to furnish such indemnifying bonds or to pledge such securities as may be required by the agency. All expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of such security document may be treated as a part of the cost of the project in connection with which bonds are issued or as an expense of administration of such project.

The agency may subordinate the bonds or its rights under the financing agreement or otherwise to any prior, contemporaneous or future securities or obligations or lien, mortgage or other security interest.

Any such security document may contain such additional provisions as in the determination of the agency are necessary or convenient or effectuate the purposes of this Article. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-13. Trust funds.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, all money received pursuant to the authority of this Article, whether as proceeds from the sale of bonds or as revenues, are trust funds to be held and applied solely as provided in this Article. The security document may provide that any of the money may be temporarily invested and reinvested pending its disbursement in any securities and other investments as provided in such security document, and shall provide that any officer with whom, or any bank or trust company with which, the money is deposited shall act as trustee and shall hold and apply it for the purpose of this Article, subject to any regulations this Article and the security document provide. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-14. Tax exemption.

The agency is not required to pay any taxes on any project or on any other property owned by the agency under the provisions of this Article or upon the income from the property.

The interest on bonds issued by the agency is exempt from all income taxes within the State.

All projects and all transactions for them are subject to taxation to the extent they would be subject to taxation if no public body were involved with them. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-15. Construction contracts.

The agency may agree with the prospective operator that all contracts relating to the acquisition, construction, installation and equipping of a project shall be solicited, negotiated, awarded and executed by the prospective operator and its agents subject only to such approval by the agency as the agency may require in such agreement. Such agreement may provide that the agency may, out of the proceeds of bonds, make advances to or reimburse the operator for all or a portion of its costs incurred in connection with such contracts. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-16. Conflict of interest.

If any officer, commissioner or employee of the agency is interested either directly or indirectly in any contract with the agency, such interest shall be disclosed to the agency and shall be set forth in the minutes of the agency, and the officer, commissioner, employee or member having such interest shall not participate on behalf of the agency in the authorization of the project. This section does not apply to the ownership of less than one percent (1%) of the stock of any operator or obligor. Failure to take any or all actions necessary to carry out the purposes of this section does not affect the validity of bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of this Article. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-17. Credit of State not pledged.

Bonds issued under the provisions of this Article do not constitute a debt of the State or any political subdivision or a pledge of the faith and credit of the State or any political subdivisions, but shall be payable solely from the revenues and other funds provided for payment. Each bond issued under this Chapter shall contain on its face a statement to the effect that the agency shall not be obligated to pay the bonds or the interest on it except from the revenues and other funds pledged for payment and that neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of the State or any political subdivision is pledged to the payment of the principal of or the interest on the bonds. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-18. Bonds eligible for investment.

Bonds issued by the agency under the provisions of this Article are securities in which all public officers and agencies of the State and all political subdivisions, and all insurance companies, trust companies, banking associations, investment companies, executors, administrators, trustees and other fiduciaries may properly and legally invest funds, including capital in their control or belonging to them. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-19. Revenue refunding bonds.

(a) The agency is authorized to provide by resolution for the issuance of refunding bonds of the agency for the purpose of refunding any bonds then outstanding that have been issued under the provisions of this Article, or under the provisions of Chapter 159C of the General Statutes, including the payment of any redemption premium and any interest accrued or to accrue to the date of redemption of such bonds, and, if considered advisable by the agency, for either or both of the following additional purposes:

- (1) Constructing improvements, additions, extensions or enlargements of the project or projects in connection with which the bonds to be refunded shall have been issued; and

(2) Paying all or any part of the cost of any additional project or projects.

(a1) The issuance of bonds, the maturities and other details thereof, the rights of the holders thereof, and the rights, duties and obligations of the agency in respect to the bonds are governed by the provisions of this Article that relate to the issuance of bonds.

The approvals required by G.S. 159D-7 and G.S. 159D-8 shall be obtained prior to the issuance of any refunding bonds, except that in the case where the refunding bonds of all or a portion of an issue are to be issued solely for the purpose of refunding outstanding bonds issued under this Article, the approval required by G.S. 159D-7 is not required as to the project financed with the bonds to be refunded.

(b) Refunding bonds issued under this section may be sold or exchanged for outstanding bonds issued under this Article and, if sold, the proceeds may be applied, in addition to any other authorized purposes, to the purchase, redemption or payment of such outstanding bonds. Refunding bonds may be issued, in the determination of the agency, at any time not more than five years prior to the date of maturity or maturities or the date selected for the redemption of the bonds being refunded thereby. Pending the application of the proceeds of such refunding bonds, with any other available funds, to the payment of the principal of and accrued interest and any redemption premium on the bonds being refunded, and, if so provided or permitted in the security document securing the bonds to the payment of any interest on such refunding bonds, such proceeds may be invested in direct obligations of, or obligations the principal of and the interest on which are unconditionally guaranteed by, the United States of America if these obligations mature or are subject to redemption by the holder, at the holder's option not later than the respective dates when the proceeds, together with the interest accruing on them will be required for the purposes intended. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 1987, c. 517, s. 8; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-20. No power of eminent domain.

The agency shall not have any right or power to acquire any property through the exercise of eminent domain or any proceedings in the nature of eminent domain. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — This section was also amended by Session Laws 2001-487, s. 35, effective July 1, 2001, which deleted the former second paragraph, which consisted of language that had been added by Session Laws 2000-179, s. 2, and that was inadvertently retained. The section is set out above as repealed.

§ 159D-24. Officers not liable.

No member of the Board of Directors of the agency shall be subject to any personal liability or accountability by reason of the issuance or execution of any bonds. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-25. Additional method.

The foregoing sections of this Article provide an additional and alternative method for the doing of the things authorized and are supplemental and additional to powers conferred by other laws. They do not derogate any other powers. The issuance of bonds or refunding bonds under the provisions of this Article need not comply with the requirements of any other law applicable to the issuance of bonds. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-26. Liberal construction.

This Article, being necessary for the prosperity and welfare of the State and its inhabitants, shall be liberally construed to effect its purposes. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-27. Inconsistent laws inapplicable.

Insofar as the provisions of this Article are inconsistent with the provisions of any general, special or local laws, or parts thereof, the provisions of this Article shall be controlling. (1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1198, s. 1; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§§ 159D-28 through 159D-34: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 27 made this Article effective upon certification by the State Board of Elections that an amendment to the North Carolina Constitution authorizing the enactment of general laws dealing with transactions of the type contemplated by the act has been approved by the people of the State. Such an amendment was proposed by Session Laws 1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 814. It was adopted by the People at the general election held Nov. 4, 1986, and was certified by the State Board of Elections on Nov. 25, 1986.

This Article is Chapter 115E as rewritten by Session Laws 2000-179, s. 2, and recodified as Article 2 of Chapter 159D. The historical citations to the sections in the former Chapter have been retained in corresponding sections in the Article as rewritten and recodified.

§ 159D-36. Legislative findings.

It is declared that for the benefit of the people of the State of North Carolina, the increase of their commerce, welfare and prosperity and the improvement of their health and living conditions it is essential that they be given the fullest opportunity to learn and to develop their intellectual capacities; that it is essential for institutions for higher education and institutions for elementary and secondary education within the State to be able to construct and renovate facilities to assist its citizens in achieving the fullest development of their intellectual capacities; and that it is the purpose of this Article to provide a measure of assistance and an alternative method to enable private institutions for higher education and institutions for elementary and secondary education in the State to provide the facilities and the structures that are needed to accomplish the purposes of this Article, all to the public benefit and good, to the extent and in the manner provided in this Article.

It is further declared that this purpose will benefit the people as a way to improve student learning, increase learning opportunities for all students, encourage the use of different and innovative teaching methods, create new professional opportunities for teachers, provide parents and students with expanded choices in the types of educational opportunities that are available, and lower the overall cost of education to the State and to parents and students.

The General Assembly also finds that the private sector often provides services and opportunities to the people of the State of North Carolina in activities that constitute a public purpose, and that these activities by the private sector are to be fostered and encouraged. The people of the State of North Carolina will benefit from the enactment of laws and creation of programs that assist the private sector in obtaining financing for capital improvements of facilities that will be used in conducting these activities. § 159D-37. Definitions.

As used or referred to in this Article, the following words and terms have the following meanings, unless the context clearly indicates otherwise:

- (1) "Agency" means the North Carolina Capital Facilities Finance Agency or, should this agency be abolished or otherwise divested of its functions under this Article, the public body succeeding it in its principal functions, or upon which are conferred by law the rights, powers and duties given by this Article to the agency.
- (1a) "Bonds" or "notes" means the revenue bonds or bond anticipation notes, respectively, authorized to be issued by the agency under this Article, including revenue refunding bonds, notwithstanding that they may be secured by a deed of trust or the full faith and credit of a participating institution or any other lawfully pledged security of a participating institution.
- (2) "Cost", as applied to any project or any portion of a project financed under the provisions of this Article, means all or any part of the cost of construction, acquisition, alteration, enlargement, reconstruction and remodeling of a project, including all lands, structures, real or personal property, rights, rights-of-way, franchises, easements and interests acquired or used for or in connection with a project, the cost of demolishing or removing any buildings or structures on land so acquired, including the cost of acquiring any lands to which such buildings or structures may be moved, the cost of all machinery and equipment, financing charges, interest prior to and during construction and, if deemed advisable by the agency, for a period not exceeding two years after the estimated date of completion of construction, the cost of engineering and architectural surveys, plans and specifications, the cost of consulting and legal services and other expenses necessary or incident to determining the feasibility or practicability of constructing or equipping a project, the cost of administrative and other expenses necessary or incident to the construction or acquisition of a project and the financing of the construction or acquisition thereof, including reasonable provision for working capital and a reserve for debt service, and the cost of reimbursing any participating institution for any payments made for any cost described above or the refinancing of any cost described above, including any evidence of indebtedness incurred to finance such cost; provided, however, that no payment shall be reimbursed or any cost or indebtedness be refinanced if such payment was made or such cost or indebtedness was incurred before November 25, 1981.

- (3), (4) Repealed by Session Laws 2000, c. 179, s. 2, effective July 1, 2000.
- (4a) "Institution for elementary and secondary education" means a non-profit institution within the State of North Carolina authorized by law and engaged or to be engaged in the providing of kindergarten, elementary, or secondary education, or any combination of these.
- (5) "Institution for higher education" means a nonprofit private educational institution within the State of North Carolina authorized by law to provide a program of education beyond the high school level.
- (6) "Participating institution" means an institution for higher education, an institution for elementary and secondary education, or a special purpose institution that, pursuant to the provisions of this Article, undertakes the financing, refinancing, acquiring, constructing, equipping, providing, owning, repairing, maintaining, extending, improving, rehabilitating, renovating, or furnishing of a project or undertakes the refunding or refinancing of obligations or of a deed of trust or a mortgage or of advances as provided in this Article.
- (6a) "Project" means any one or more buildings, structures, equipment, improvements, additions, extensions, enlargements, or other facilities comprising any of the following:
- a. Educational facilities used by an institution for higher education or an institution for elementary and secondary education, including dormitories and other housing facilities, housing facilities for student nurses, dining halls and other food preparation and food service facilities, student unions, administration buildings, academic buildings, libraries, laboratories, research facilities, classrooms, athletic facilities, health care facilities, laundry facilities, and other structures or facilities related to these facilities or required or useful for the instruction of students, the conducting of research, or the operation of the institution.
 - b. Student housing facilities to be owned or operated by an owner or operator other than an institution for higher education or an institution for elementary and secondary education.
 - c. A special purpose project as defined in G.S. 159C-3.
- The term "project" includes landscaping, site preparation, furniture, equipment and machinery, and other similar items necessary or convenient for operation of a particular facility in the manner for which its use is intended. The term also includes all appurtenances and incidental facilities, such as headquarters or office facilities, maintenance, storage, or utility facilities, parking facilities, and other facilities related to, required, or useful for the operation of the project or essential or convenient for the orderly conduct of the facility. The term "project" does not include the cost of items that customarily result in a current operating charge, such as books, fuel, or supplies. The term does not include any facility used or to be used for sectarian instruction or as a place of religious worship nor any facility that is used or to be used primarily in connection with any part of the program of a school or department of divinity for any religious denomination.
- (6b) "Special purpose institution" means a for-profit or not-for-profit corporation or similar entity that undertakes any of the activities set forth in sub-subdivisions (6a)b. and (6a)c. of this section.
- (7) "State" means the State of North Carolina. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 3; 1998-124, s. 4; 2000-179, s. 2; 2007-128, s. 2.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2007-128, s. 2, effective June 27, 2007, rewrote the first four sentences of the last paragraph of subdivision (6a).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

A charter school is an “institution for elementary and secondary education” within the meaning of this section and, therefore, is eligible for financing pursuant to Article 2, Chapter 159D, G.S. 159D-35 et seq. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Brad Sneed, Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, Department of Public Instruction, 2001 N.C. AG LEXIS 37 (10/2/01).

§ 159D-38. Capital facilities finance agency.

(a) There is created a body politic and corporate to be known as “North Carolina Capital Facilities Finance Agency” which shall be constituted a public agency and an instrumentality of the State for the performance of essential public functions. The agency shall be governed by a board of directors composed of seven members. Two of the members of the board shall be the State Treasurer and the State Auditor, both of whom shall serve ex officio. The remaining directors of the agency shall be residents of the State and shall not hold other public office. The General Assembly upon the recommendation of the President Pro Tempore of the Senate shall appoint one director in accordance with G.S. 120-121, the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint one director in accordance with G.S. 120-121, and the Governor shall appoint three directors of the agency. The five appointive directors of the agency shall be appointed for staggered four-year terms, two being appointed initially for one year by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, respectively, and one for two years, one for three years and one for four years, respectively, as designated by the Governor. Each director shall continue in office until a successor is duly appointed and qualified, except that any person appointed to fill a vacancy shall serve only for the unexpired term. Any vacancy in a position held by an appointive member shall be filled by a new appointment made by the officer who originally made the appointment. Any member of the board of directors is eligible for reappointment. Each appointive member of the board of directors may be removed by the Governor for misfeasance, malfeasance or neglect of duty after reasonable notice and a public hearing, unless the notice and hearing are in writing expressly waived. Each appointive member of the board of directors shall take an oath of office to administer the duties of office faithfully and impartially and a record of the oath shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State. The Governor shall designate from among the members of the board of directors a chair and a vice-chair, whose terms extend to the earlier of either two years or the date of expiration of their then current terms as members of the board of directors of the agency. The board of directors shall elect and appoint and prescribe the duties of a secretary-treasurer and any other officers it considers necessary or advisable, which officers need not be members of the board of directors.

(b) No part of the revenues or assets of the agency shall inure to the benefit of or be distributable to its members or officers or other private persons. The members of the agency shall receive no compensation for their services but shall be entitled to receive, for attendance at meetings of the agency or any committee thereof and for other services for the agency, reimbursement for such actual expenses as may be incurred for travel and subsistence in the performance of official duties and such per diem as is allowed by law for members of other State boards, commissions and committees.

(c) The secretary-treasurer of the agency shall keep a record of the proceedings of the agency and shall be custodian of all books, documents and papers filed with the agency, the minute book or journal of the agency and its official seal. The secretary-treasurer shall have authority to cause copies to be made of all minutes and other records and documents of the agency and to give certificates under the official seal of the agency to the effect that such copies are true copies, and all persons dealing with the agency may rely upon such certificates.

(d) Four members of the board of directors of the agency shall constitute a quorum and the affirmative vote of a majority of the members present at a meeting of the board of directors duly called and held shall be necessary for any action taken by the board of directors of the agency. The board of directors may, however, appoint an executive committee to act on behalf of the board during the period between regular meetings of said board, and said committee shall have full power to act upon the vote of a majority of its members. No vacancy in the membership of the agency impairs the rights of a quorum to exercise all the rights and to perform all the duties of the agency.

(e) The North Carolina Capital Facilities Finance Agency shall be contained within the Department of State Treasurer as if it had been transferred to that department by a Type II transfer as defined in G.S. 143A-6(b). (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 4; 1995, c. 490, s. 17(a); 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-39. General powers.

The agency shall have all of the powers necessary or convenient to carry out and effectuate the purposes and provisions of this Article, including all of the following:

- (1) To make and execute contracts and agreements necessary or incidental to the exercise of its powers and duties under this Article, including loan agreements and agreements of sale or leases with, mortgages and deeds of trust and conveyances to participating institutions, persons, firms, corporations, governmental agencies and others and including credit enhancement agreements.
- (2) To acquire by purchase, lease, gift or otherwise, or to obtain options for the acquisition of any property, real or personal, improved or unimproved, including interests in land in fee or less than fee for any project, upon such terms and at such cost as shall be agreed upon by the owner and the agency.
- (3) To arrange or contract with any county, city, town or other political subdivision or instrumentality of the State for the opening or closing of streets or for the furnishing of utility or other services to any project.
- (4) To sell, convey, lease as lessor, mortgage, exchange, transfer, grant a deed of trust in, or otherwise dispose of, or to grant options for these purposes with respect to, any real or personal property or interest in property.
- (5) To pledge or assign any money, purchase price payments, rents, loan repayments, charges, fees or other revenues, including any federally guaranteed securities and moneys received from them whether the securities are initially acquired by the agency or a participating institution, and any proceeds derived by the agency from sales of property, insurance, condemnation awards or other sources.
- (6) To pledge or assign the revenues and receipts from any project and from any loan agreement, agreement of sale, or lease, including any loan repayments, purchase price payments, rent, or other income received under a loan agreement, agreement of sale, or lease.
- (7) To borrow money as provided in this Article to carry out and effectuate its corporate purposes and to issue bonds and notes for the purpose of providing funds to pay all or any part of the cost of any project, to lend money to any participating institution for the acquisition of any federally guaranteed securities, and to issue revenue refunding bonds.

- (8) To finance, refinance, acquire, construct, equip, provide, operate, own, repair, maintain, extend, improve, rehabilitate, renovate and furnish any project and to pay all or any part of the cost thereof from the proceeds of bonds or notes or from any contribution, gift or donation or other funds available to the agency for this purpose.
- (9) To fix, revise, charge and collect or cause to be fixed, revised, charged and collected purchase price payments, rents, loan repayments, fees, rates and charges for the use of, or services rendered by, any project.
- (10) To employ fiscal consultants, consulting engineers, architects, attorneys, feasibility consultants, appraisers and any other consultants and employees as may be required in the judgment of the agency and to fix and pay their compensation from funds available to the agency.
- (11) To conduct studies and surveys respecting the need for projects and their location, financing and construction.
- (12) To apply for, accept, receive and agree to and comply with the terms and conditions governing grants, loans, advances, contributions, interest subsidies and other aid with respect to any project from federal and State agencies or instrumentalities.
- (13) To sue and be sued in its own name, plead and be impleaded.
- (14) To acquire and enter into commitments to acquire any federally guaranteed security or federally insured mortgage note and to pledge or otherwise use the federally guaranteed security or federally insured mortgage note as the agency considers in its best interest to secure or otherwise provide a source of repayment on any of its bonds or notes issued on behalf of any participating institution to finance or refinance the cost of any project.
- (15) To make loans to any participating institution for the cost of a project in accordance with an agreement between the agency and the participating institution.
- (16) To make loans to a participating institution to refund outstanding loans, obligations, deeds of trust or advances issued, made or given by the participating institutions for the cost of a project.
- (17) To charge and to apportion among participating institutions its administrative costs and expenses incurred in the exercise of its powers and duties conferred by this Article.
- (18) To adopt an official seal and alter it at pleasure.
- (19) To do all other things necessary or convenient to carry out the purposes of this Article. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 5; 1998-124, s. 5; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-40. Criteria and requirements.

(a) In undertaking any project pursuant to this Article, the agency shall be guided by and shall observe the following criteria and requirements listed below. The determination of the agency as to its compliance with these criteria and requirements is conclusive.

- (1) No project shall be sold or leased nor any loan made to any participating institution that is not financially responsible and capable of fulfilling its obligations, including its obligations under an agreement of sale or lease or a loan agreement to make purchase price payments, to pay rent, to make loan repayments, to operate, repair and maintain at its own expense the project and to discharge any other responsibilities imposed under the agreement of sale or lease or loan agreement.

- (2) Adequate provision shall be made for the payment of the principal of and the interest on the bonds and any necessary reserves for payment and for the operation, repair and maintenance of the project at the expense of the participating institution.
- (3) The public facilities, including utilities, and public services necessary for the project will be made available.
- (4) The projects shall be operated to serve and benefit the public and there shall be no discrimination against any person based on race, creed, color, or national origin.

(b) In making these determinations, the agency may consider the participating institution's experience and ratio of current assets to current liabilities; the participating institution's net worth, earnings trends, and coverage of fixed charges; the nature of the project involved; and any additional security for payment of the bonds and performance of the participating institution's obligations under the agreement of sale or lease or loan agreement, such as credit enhancement, insurance, guaranties, or property pledged to secure the payment and performance. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 6; 1998-124, s. 6; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-41. Procedural requirements.

Any participating institution may submit to the agency, and the agency may consider, a proposal for financing a project using forms and following instructions prescribed by the agency. The proposal shall set forth the type and location of the project and may include other information and data respecting the project and the extent to which the project conforms to the criteria and requirements set forth in this Article. The agency may request the applicant to provide additional information and data respecting the project. The agency is authorized to make or cause to be made any investigation, surveys, studies, reports and reviews as in its judgment are necessary and desirable to determine the feasibility and desirability of the project, the extent to which the project will contribute to the health and welfare of the area in which it will be located, the powers, experience, background, financial condition, record of service and capability of the management of the applicant, the extent to which the project otherwise conforms to the criteria and requirements of this Article, and any other factors the agency considers relevant or convenient in carrying out the purposes of this Article. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 7; 1998-124, s. 7; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-42. Operations of projects; agreements of sale on leases; conveyance of interest in projects.

(a) The agency may sell or lease any project to a participating institution for operation and maintenance or lend money to any participating institution to effectuate the purposes of this Article, under a loan agreement or an agreement of sale or lease in form and substance not inconsistent with this Article. The loan agreement or agreement of sale or lease may include provisions that:

- (1) The participating institution shall, at its own expense, operate, repair and maintain the project covered by the agreement.
- (2) The purchase price payments to be made under the agreement of sale, the rent payable under the agreement of lease or the loan repayments under the loan agreement shall in the aggregate be not less than an amount sufficient to pay all of the interest, principal and any redemption premium on the bonds or notes issued by the agency to pay the cost of the project sold or leased or with respect to which the loan was made.

- (3) The participating institution shall pay all other costs incurred by the agency in connection with the providing of the project covered by any agreement, except costs paid out of the proceeds of bonds or notes or otherwise, including insurance costs, the cost of administering the resolution authorizing the issuance of, or any trust agreement securing, the bonds or notes and the fees and expenses of trustees, paying agents, attorneys, consultants, and others.
- (4) The loan agreement or the agreement of sale or lease shall terminate not earlier than the date on which all bonds and all other obligations incurred by the agency in connection with the project covered by the agreement are retired or provision for their retirement is made.
- (5) The obligation of the participating institution to make loan repayments or purchase price payments or to pay rent shall not be subject to cancellation, termination or abatement by the participating institution until the bonds have been retired or provision has been made for their retirement.

(b) If the agency has acquired a possessory or ownership interest in any project it has undertaken on behalf of a participating institution, it shall promptly convey, without the payment of any consideration, all its right, title and interest in the project to that participating institution upon the retirement or provision for the retirement of all bonds or notes issued and obligations incurred by the agency in connection with that project. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 8; 1998-124, s. 8; 2000-179, s. 2.)

If the agency determines that the purposes of this Article will be more effectively served, the agency in its discretion may award or cause to be awarded contracts for the construction of any project on behalf of a participating institution upon a negotiated basis as determined by the agency. The agency shall prescribe any bid security requirements and other procedures in connection with the award of the contracts as in its judgment will protect the public interest. The agency may by written contract engage the services of the participating institution in the construction of the project and may provide in the contract that the participating institution, subject to any conditions and requirements consistent with the provisions of this Article prescribed in the contract, may act as an agent of, or an independent contractor for, the agency for the performance of the functions described in the contract including the acquisition of the site and other real property for the project, the preparation of plans, specifications and contract documents, the award of construction and other contracts upon a competitive or negotiated basis, the construction of the project directly by the participating institution, the inspection and supervision of construction, the employment of engineers, architects, builders and other contractors and the provision of money to pay the cost of these functions pending reimbursement by the agency. The contract may provide that the agency may, out of proceeds of bonds or notes, make advances to or reimburse the participating institution for its costs incurred in the performance of these functions, and shall set forth the supporting documents required to be submitted to the agency and the reviews, examinations and audits that are required in connection to assure compliance with the provisions of this Article and the contract. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 9; 1998-124, s. 9; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-44. Credit of State not pledged.

Bonds or notes issued under the provisions of this Article shall not be secured by a pledge of the faith and credit of the State or of any political subdivision of the State, or create an indebtedness of the State, or of any political subdivision of the State requiring any voter approval, but shall be payable solely from the revenues and other funds provided for payment. Each bond or note issued under this Article shall contain on its face a statement to the effect that the agency is not obligated to pay it nor the interest on it except from the revenues and other funds pledged for its payment and that neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of the State or of any political subdivision of the State is pledged as security for the payment of the principal of or the interest on the bond or note.

Expenses incurred by the agency in carrying out the provisions of this Article may be made payable from funds provided pursuant to, or made available for use under, this Article and no liability shall be incurred by the agency under this Article beyond the extent to which moneys have been so provided. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 10; 2000-179, s. 2.)

(a) The agency is authorized to provide for the issuance, at one time or from time to time, of bonds, or notes in anticipation of the issuance of bonds, of the agency to carry out and effectuate its corporate purposes. The principal of and the interest on such bonds or notes shall be payable solely from funds provided under this Article for such payment. Any such notes may be made payable from the proceeds of bonds or renewal notes or, in the event bond or renewal note proceeds are not available, such notes may be paid from any available revenues or other funds provided therefor. The bonds or notes of each issue shall be dated and may be made redeemable before maturity at the option of the agency at such price or prices and upon such terms and conditions as may be determined by the agency. The bonds may also be made payable from time to time on demand or tender for purchase by the owner upon such terms and conditions as may be determined by the agency. Any such bonds or notes shall bear interest at such rate or rates (including variable rates) as may be determined by the Local Government Commission with the approval of the agency. Notes shall mature at such time or times not exceeding 10 years from their date or dates and bonds shall mature at such time or times not exceeding 40 years from their date or dates, as may be determined by the agency. The agency shall determine the form and manner of execution of the bonds or notes, including any interest coupons to be attached thereto, and shall fix the denomination or denominations and the place or places of payment of principal and interest, which may be any bank or trust company within or without the State. In case any officer whose signature or a facsimile of whose signature appears on any bonds or notes or coupons attached to them ceases to be that officer before their delivery, the signature or facsimile shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if the officer had remained in office until delivery. The agency may also provide for the authentication of the bonds or notes by a trustee or fiscal agent. The bonds or notes may be issued in coupon or in registered form, or both, as the agency may determine, and provision may be made for the registration of any coupon bonds or notes as to principal alone and also as to both principal and interest, and for the reconversion into coupon bonds or notes of any bonds or notes registered as to both principal and interest, and for the interchange of registered and coupon bonds or notes. No bonds or notes may be issued by the agency under this Article unless the issuance thereof is approved by the Local Government Commission.

(b) The agency shall file with the Secretary of the Local Government Commission an application requesting approval of the issuance of the bonds or notes. The application must include any information and documents concerning the proposed financing and prospective borrower, vendee or lessee required by the Secretary.

In determining whether a proposed bond or note issue should be approved, the Local Government Commission may consider, in addition to the criteria and requirements in this Article, the effect of the proposed financing upon any scheduled or proposed sale of tax-exempt obligations by the State or any of its agencies or departments or by any unit of local government in the State.

The Local Government Commission shall approve the issuance of the bonds or notes if, upon the information and evidence it receives, it finds that the proposed financing will effectuate the purposes of this Article.

Upon the filing with the Local Government Commission of a resolution of the agency requesting that its bonds or notes be sold, the bonds or notes may be sold in such manner, either at public or private sale, and for such price as the Local Government Commission determines to be for the best interests of the agency and to effectuate best the purposes of this Article, as long as the sale is approved by the agency.

(c) The proceeds of any bonds or notes shall be used solely for the purposes for which issued and shall be disbursed in such manner and under such restrictions, if any, as the agency may provide in the resolution authorizing the issuance of, or any trust agreement securing, the bonds or notes.

(d) Prior to the preparation of definitive bonds, the agency may, under like restrictions, issue interim receipts or temporary bonds, with or without coupons, exchangeable for definitive bonds, when the bonds have been executed and are available for delivery. The agency may also provide for the replacement of any bonds or notes which become mutilated or are destroyed or lost.

(e) Bonds or notes may be issued under the provisions of this Article without obtaining, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Article, the consent of any department, division, commission, board, body, bureau or agency of the State, and without any other proceedings or the happening of any conditions or things other than those proceedings, conditions or things specifically required by this Article and the provisions of the resolution authorizing the issuance of, or any trust agreement securing, the bonds or notes.

(f) Before the issuance of bonds pursuant to this Article to finance a project, the Agency shall hold a public hearing with respect to the proposed project and the issuance of the bonds to finance the proposed project. The public hearing may be held at any location designated by the Agency, including at the offices of the Agency in Raleigh, North Carolina.

The public hearing may be conducted by the Agency or by a hearing officer designated by the Agency to conduct public hearings. Notice of the public hearing must be published at least once in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the county where the proposed project is to be located not less than 14 days before the public hearing. The notice must describe generally the bonds proposed to be issued and the proposed project, including its general location, and any other information the Agency considers appropriate. A copy of the notice of public hearing must be mailed to the clerk of the Board of Commissioners of the county in which the proposed project is to be located and to the governing body of any city or town in which the proposed project is to be operated. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 11; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-46. Trust agreement or resolution.

In the discretion of the agency any bonds or notes issued under the provisions of this Article may be secured by a trust agreement by and between the agency and a corporate trustee, which may be any trust company or bank having the powers of a trust company within or without the State. Such trust agreement or the resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or notes may pledge or assign all or any part of the revenues of the agency received pursuant to this Article, including, without limitation, fees, loan repayments, purchase price payments, rents, charges, insurance proceeds, condemnation awards and any other revenues and funds received in connection with any project and may grant a deed of trust or a mortgage on any project. Such trust agreement or resolution may contain such provisions for protecting and enforcing the rights and remedies of the holders of any such bonds or notes as may be reasonable and proper and not in violation of law, including covenants setting forth the duties of the agency in relation to the purposes to which bond or note proceeds may be applied, the disposition or pledging of the revenues of the agency, including any payments in respect of any federally guaranteed security or any federally insured mortgage note, the duties of the agency with respect to the acquisition, construction, maintenance, repair and operation of any project, the fees, loan repayments, purchase price payments, rents and charges to be fixed and collected in connection therewith, the terms and conditions for the issuance of additional bonds or notes, and the custody, safeguarding and application of all moneys. All bonds issued under this Article shall be equally and ratably secured by a pledge, charge, and lien upon revenues provided for in such trust agreement or resolution, without priority by reason of number, or of dates of bonds, execution, or delivery, in accordance with the provisions of this Article and of such trust agreement or resolution; except that the agency may provide in such trust agreement or resolution that bonds issued pursuant thereto shall to the extent and in the manner prescribed in such trust agreement or resolution be subordinated and junior in standing, with respect to the payment of principal and interest and the security thereof, to any other bonds. It shall be lawful for any bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of the State which may act as depositary of the proceeds of bonds or notes, revenues or other money hereunder to furnish such indemnifying bonds or to pledge such securities as may be required by the agency. Any such trust agreement or resolution may set off the rights and remedies, including foreclosure of any deed of trust or mortgage, of the holders of any bonds or notes and of the trustee, and may restrict the individual right of action by any such holders. In addition to the foregoing, any such trust agreement or resolution may contain such other provisions as the agency considers reasonable and proper for the security of the holders of any bonds or notes. Expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of such trust agreement or resolution may be treated as a part of the cost of any project or paid from the revenues pledged or assigned to the payment of the principal of and the interest on bonds or notes or from any other funds available to the agency. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 12; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-47. Revenues; pledges of revenues.

(a) The agency is authorized to fix and to collect fees, loan repayments, purchase price payments, rents and charges for the use of any project, and any part or section of the project and to contract with any participating institution for its use. The agency may require that the participating institution operate, repair or maintain such project and bear the cost and other costs of the agency in connection with the project all as may be provided in the agreement of sale or lease, loan agreement or other contract with the agency, in addition to other obligations imposed under the agreement or contract.

(b) The fees, loan repayments, purchase price payments, rents and charges shall be fixed so as to provide a fund sufficient, with any other available funds,

(i) to pay the costs of operating, repairing and maintaining the project to the extent that adequate provision for the payment of such costs has not otherwise been provided for, (ii) to pay the principal of and the interest on all bonds or notes as they become due and payable and (iii) to create and maintain any reserves provided for in the resolution authorizing the issuance of, or any trust agreement securing, the bonds. The fees, loan repayments, purchase price payments, rents and charges may be applied or pledged to the payment of debt service on the bonds prior to the payment of the costs of operating, repairing and maintaining the project.

(c) All pledges of fees, loan repayments, purchase price payments, rents, charges and other revenues under the provisions of this Article are valid and binding from the time when they are made. All revenues so pledged and thereafter received by the agency are immediately subject to the lien of the pledge without any physical delivery or further act, and the lien of the pledge is valid and binding as against all parties having claims of any kind in tort, contract or otherwise against the agency, irrespective of whether the parties have notice of it. The resolution or any trust agreement by which a pledge is created or any loan agreement, agreement of sale or lease need not be filed or recorded except in the records of the agency.

(d) The State of North Carolina pledges to and agrees with the holders of any bonds or notes issued by the agency that so long as any of the bonds or notes are outstanding and unpaid the State will not limit or alter the rights vested in the agency at the time of issuance of the bonds or notes to fix, revise, charge, and collect or cause to be fixed, revised, charged and collected loan repayments, purchase price payments, rents, fees and charges for the use of or services rendered by any project in connection with which the bonds or notes were issued, so as to provide a fund sufficient, with any other available funds to pay the costs of operating, repairing and maintaining the project, to pay the principal of and the interest on all bonds and notes as they become due and payable, to create and maintain any reserves provided for their payment, and to fulfill the terms of any agreements made with the bondholders or noteholders. The State will not in any way impair the rights and remedies of the bondholders or noteholders until the bonds or notes and all costs and expenses in connection with any action or proceedings by or on behalf of the bondholders or noteholders, are fully paid, met and discharged. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 13; 1998-124, s. 10; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-48. Trust funds.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, all moneys received pursuant to the authority of this Article, including fees, loan repayments, purchase price payments, rents, charges, insurance proceeds, condemnation awards and any other revenues and funds received in connection with any project, are trust funds to be held and applied solely as provided in this Article. The resolution authorizing the issuance of, or any trust agreement securing, any bonds or notes may provide that any of these moneys may be temporarily invested pending their disbursement and shall provide that any officer with whom, or any bank or trust company with which, such moneys are deposited shall act as trustee of such moneys and shall hold and apply them for the purposes of this Article, subject to any limitations provided in this Article and in the resolution or trust agreement. The moneys may be invested as provided in G.S. 159-30, as it may from time to time be amended. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 14; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-49. Remedies.

Any holder of bonds or notes issued under the provisions of this Article or any coupons appertaining thereto, and the trustee under any trust agreement or resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or notes, except to the extent the rights herein given may be restricted by such trust agreement or resolution, may, either at law or in equity, by suit, action, mandamus or other proceeding, protect and enforce any and all rights under the laws of the State or granted hereunder or under such trust agreement or resolution, or under any other contract executed by the agency pursuant to this Article, and may enforce and compel the performance of all duties required by this Article or by such trust agreement or resolution to be performed by the agency or by any officer of the agency. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 15; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-50. Investment securities.

All bonds, notes and interest coupons issued under this Article are investment securities within the meaning of and for all the purposes of Article 8 of the Uniform Commercial Code as enacted in this State, whether or not they are of such form and character as to be investment securities under that Article, subject only to the provisions of the bonds and notes pertaining to registration. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 16; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-51. Bonds or notes eligible for investment.

Bonds or notes issued under the provisions of this Article are securities in which all public officers and public bodies of the State and its political subdivisions, and all insurance companies, trust companies, banking associations, investment companies, executors, administrators, trustees and other fiduciaries may properly and legally invest funds, including capital in their control or belonging to them. These bonds or notes are securities which may properly and legally be deposited with and received by any State or municipal officer or any agency or political subdivision of the State for any purpose for which the deposit of bonds, notes or obligations of this State is authorized by law. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 17; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-52. Refunding bonds or notes.

(a) The agency is authorized to provide for the issuance of refunding bonds or notes for the purpose of refunding any bonds or notes then outstanding which have been issued under the provisions of this Article, including the payment of any redemption premium and any interest accrued or to accrue to the date of redemption of the bonds or notes and, if considered advisable by the agency, for any corporate purpose of the agency, including, without limitation:

- (1) Constructing improvements, additions, extensions or enlargements of the project in connection with which the bonds or notes to be refunded shall have been issued, and
- (2) Paying all or any part of the cost of any additional project.

(b) The issuance of refunding bonds or notes, their maturities and other details the rights of their holders, and the rights, duties and obligations of the agency are governed by the provisions of this Article which relate to the issuance of bonds or notes, as appropriate.

Refunding bonds may be sold or exchanged for outstanding bonds issued under this Article and, if sold, their proceeds, and investment earnings on them, may be applied, with any other available funds, to the purchase, redemption, or payment of the bonds being refunded, to the payment of any interest on the refunding bonds, and to the payment of any expenses in connection with the refunding. The proceeds may be invested in direct obligations of, or obligations the principal of and the interest on which are unconditionally guaranteed by, the United States of America if the obligations mature or are subject to redemption by the holders, at their option not later than the respective dates when the proceeds, together with the interest accrued thereon, will be required for the purposes intended. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 18; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-53. Annual report.

The agency shall, promptly following the close of each fiscal year, submit an annual report of its activities under this Article for the preceding year to the Governor, the State Auditor, the General Assembly, the Advisory Budget Commission and the Local Government Commission. The agency shall cause an audit of its books and accounts relating to its activities under this Article to be made at least once in each year by an independent certified public accountant and the cost of the audit may be paid from any available moneys of the agency. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 19; 2000-179, s. 2.)

No member or officer of the agency shall be subject to any personal liability or accountability by reason of the issuance or execution of any bonds or notes. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 20; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-55. Tax exemption.

The exercise of the powers granted by this Article will be in all respects for the benefit of the people of the State and will promote their health and welfare.

Any bonds or notes issued by the agency under the provisions of this Article are at all times be free from taxation by the State or any local unit or political subdivision or other instrumentality of the State, excepting inheritance or gift taxes, income taxes on the gain from the transfer of the bonds and notes, and franchise taxes. The interest on the bonds and notes is not subject to taxation as income. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 21; 1995, c. 46, s. 5; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-56. Conflict of interest.

If any member, officer or employee of the agency is interested either directly or indirectly, or is an officer or employee of or has an ownership interest in any firm or corporation interested directly or indirectly, in any contract with the agency, this interest shall be disclosed to the agency and shall be set forth in the minutes of the agency, and the member, officer or employee having an interest in a contract shall not participate on behalf of the agency in the authorization of the contract. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 22; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§ 159D-57. Additional method.

The foregoing sections of this Article provide an additional and alternative method for the doing of the things authorized and are supplemental and additional to powers conferred by other laws. This Article does not derogate any existing powers. The issuance of bonds or notes under the provisions of this Article need not comply with the requirements of any other law applicable to the issuance of bonds or notes. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 794, s. 23; 2000-179, s. 2.)

§§ 159D-58 through 159D-64. [Reserved.]: Reserved for future codification purposes.

§ 159E-1. Short title.

This Chapter may be cited as the “Registered Public Obligations Act.” (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

§ 159E-2. Definitions.

As used in this Chapter, the following terms have the following meanings, unless the context otherwise requires:

- (1) “Authorized officer” means any individual required or permitted, alone or with others, by any provision of law or by the issuing public entity, to execute on behalf of the public entity a certificated registered public obligation or a writing relating to an uncertificated registered public obligation.
- (2) “Certificated registered public obligation” means a registered public obligation which is represented by an instrument.
- (3) “Code” means the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended.
- (4) “Commission” means the Local Government Commission.
- (5) “Facsimile seal” means the reproduction by engraving, imprinting, stamping, or other means of the seal of the issuer, official or official body.
- (6) “Facsimile signature” means the reproduction by engraving, imprinting, stamping, or other means of the manual signature.
- (7) “Financial intermediary” means a bank, broker, clearing corporation or other person or the custodian for or nominee of any of them which in the ordinary course of its business maintains registered public obligation accounts for its customers, when so acting.
- (8) “Issuer” means a public entity which issues an obligation.
- (9) “Obligation” means an agreement of a public entity issuer to pay principal and any interest thereon, whether in the form of a contract to repay borrowed money, a lease, an installment purchase agreement or otherwise, and includes a share, participation, or other interest in any such agreement.
- (10) “Official actions” means the actions by statute, order, ordinance, resolution, contract, or other authorized means by which the issuer provides for issuance of a registered public obligation.
- (11) “Official or official body” means the officer or board that is empowered under the laws applicable to an issuer to provide for original issuance of an obligation of the issuer, by defining the obligation and its terms, conditions and other incidents, the successor or successors of any such official or official body, and such other person or group of persons as shall be assigned duties of such official or official body with respect to a registered public obligation under applicable law from time to time. Unless otherwise provided by law, the State Treasurer shall be the “official” for the issuance of all State obligations.

- (12) “Public entity” means any entity, department, or agency which is empowered under the laws of this State, to issue obligations any interest with respect to which may, under any provision of law, be provided an exemption from the income tax referred to in the Code. The term “public entity” may thus include, without limitation, this State, an entity deriving powers from and acting pursuant to the State Constitution or a special legislative act, a political subdivision, a municipal corporation, a State university or college, a special district, a public authority and other similar entities.
- (13) “Registered public obligation” means an obligation issued by a public entity pursuant to a system of registration.
- (14) “System of registration” and its variants means a plan that provides:
 - a. With respect to a certificated registered public obligation, that (i) the certificated registered public obligation specify a person entitled to the registered public obligation or the rights it represents, and (ii) transfer of the certificated registered public obligation and the rights it represents may be registered upon books maintained for that purpose by or on behalf of the issuer; and
 - b. With respect to an uncertificated registered public obligation, that (i) books maintained by or on behalf of the issuer for the purpose of registration of the transfer of a registered public obligation specify a person entitled to the registered public obligation and the rights evidenced thereby, and (ii) transfer of the uncertificated registered public obligation and the rights evidenced thereby be registered upon such books.
- (15) “Uncertificated registered public obligation” means a registered public obligation which is not represented by an instrument. (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

(a) The Code provides that interest with respect to certain obligations may not be exempt from federal income taxation unless they are in registered form. It is therefore a matter of State concern that public entities be authorized to provide for the issuance of obligations in such form. It is a purpose of this Chapter to empower all public entities to establish and maintain a system pursuant to which obligations may be issued in registered form within the meaning of the applicable provisions of the Code.

(b) Obligations have traditionally been issued predominantly in bearer rather than in registered form, and a change from bearer to registered form may affect the relationships, rights and duties of issuers of and the persons that deal with obligations, and by such effect, the costs. Such effects will impact the various issuers and varieties of obligations differently depending on their legal and financial characteristics, their markets and their adaptability to recent and prospective technological and organizational developments. It is therefore a matter of State concern that public entities be provided flexibility in the development of such systems and control over system incidents, so as to accommodate such differing impacts. It is a purpose of this Chapter to empower the establishment and maintenance, and amendment from time to time, of differing systems of registration of obligations, including system incidents, so as to accommodate the differing impacts upon issuers and varieties of obligations. It is further a purpose of this Chapter to authorize systems that will facilitate the prompt and accurate transfer of registered public obligations and the development of practices with regard to the registration and transfer of registered public obligations in order to maintain market acceptance for obligations of public entities. (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

§ 159E-4. Systems of registration.

(a) Each issuer, with the approval of the Commission, is authorized to establish and maintain a system of registration with respect to each obligation which it issues. The system may either be (i) a system pursuant to which only certificated registered public obligations are issued, or (ii) a system pursuant to which only uncertificated registered public obligations are issued, or (iii) a system pursuant to which both certificated and uncertificated registered public obligations are issued. The issuer may amend, discontinue and reinstitute any system, from time to time, subject to covenants.

(b) The system shall be established, amended, discontinued, or reinstituted, for the issuer by the official or official body.

(c) The system shall be described in the registered public obligation or in the official actions which provide for original issuance of the registered public obligation, and in subsequent official actions providing for amendments and other matters from time to time. Such description may be by reference to a program of the issuer which is established by the official or official body.

(d) The system shall define the method or methods by which transfer of the public obligations shall be effective with respect to the issuer, and by which payment of principal and any interest shall be made. The system may permit the issuance of registered public obligations in any denomination to represent several registered public obligations of smaller denominations. The system may also provide for the form of any certificated registered public obligation, or of any writing relating to an uncertificated registered public obligation, for identifying numbers or other designations, for a sufficient supply of certificates for subsequent transfers, for record and payment dates, for varying denominations, for communications to holders or owners of obligations, and for accounting, cancelled certificate destruction and other incidental matters. Unless the issuer otherwise provides, the record date for interest payable on the first or fifteenth day of a month shall be the fifteenth day or the last business day of the preceding month, respectively, and for interest payable on other than the first or fifteenth day of a month, shall be the fifteenth calendar day before the interest payment date.

(e) Under a system pursuant to which both certificated and uncertificated registered public obligations are issued, both types of registered public obligations may be regularly issued, or one type may be regularly issued and the other type issued only under described circumstances or to particular described categories of owners.

(f) The system may include covenants of the issuer as to amendments, discontinuances, and reinstitutions of the system and the effect of such on the exemption of interest from the income tax provided for by the Code.

(g) Whenever an issuer shall issue an uncertificated registered public obligation, the system of registration may provide that a true copy of the official actions of the issuer relating to such uncertificated registered public obligation be maintained by the issuer or by the person, if any, maintaining such system on behalf of the issuer, so long as the uncertificated registered public obligation remains outstanding and unpaid. A copy of such official actions, verified to be such by an authorized officer, shall be admissible before any court of record, administrative body or arbitration panel without further authentication.

(h) Nothing in this Chapter shall preclude a conversion from one of the forms of registered public obligations provided for by this Chapter to a form of obligation not provided for by this Chapter if interest on the obligation so converted will continue to be exempt from the income tax provided for by the Code.

(i) The rights provided by other laws with respect to obligations in forms not provided for by this Chapter shall, to the extent not inconsistent with this Chapter, apply with respect to registered public obligations issued in forms authorized by this Chapter. This includes Subchapter IV of Chapter 159 of the General Statutes and the "State Debt" provisions of Chapter 142 of the General Statutes. (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

§ 159E-5. Certificated registered public obligations; execution; authentication.

(a) A certificated registered public obligation shall be executed by the issuer by the manual or facsimile signature or signatures of authorized officers. Any signature of an authorized officer may be attested by the manual or facsimile signature of another authorized officer.

(b) In addition to the signatures referred to in (a) of this section any certificated registered public obligation or any writing relating to an uncertificated registered public obligation may include a certificate or certificates signed by the manual or facsimile signature of an authenticating agent, registrar, transfer agent or the like. (1983, c. 322, s. 1; 1987, c. 282, s. 29.)

§ 159E-6. Certificated registered public obligation; signatures.

(a) Any certificated registered public obligation signed by the authorized officers at the time of the signing thereof shall remain valid and binding, notwithstanding that before the issuance thereof any or all of such officers shall have ceased to fill their respective offices.

(b) Any authorized officer empowered to sign any certificated registered public obligation may adopt as and for the signature of such officer the signature of a predecessor in office in the event that such predecessor's signature appears on such certificated registered public obligation. An unauthorized officer incurs no liability by adoption of a predecessor's signature that would not be incurred by such authorized officer if the signature were that of such authorized officer. (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

§ 159E-7. Certificated registered public obligation; seal.

When a seal is required or permitted in the execution of any certificated registered public obligation, an authorized officer may cause the seal to be printed, engraved, stamped, or otherwise placed in facsimile thereon. The facsimile seal has the same legal effect as the impression of the seal. (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

§ 159E-8. Agents; depositories.

(a) An issuer, with the approval of the Commission, may appoint for such term as may be agreed, including for so long as a registered public obligation may be outstanding, corporate or other authenticating agents, transfer agents, registrars, paying or other agents and specify the terms of their appointment, including their rights, their compensation and duties, limits upon their liabilities and provision for their payment of liquidated damages in the event of breach of certain of the duties imposed, which liquidated damages may be made payable to the issuer, the owner or a financial intermediary. None of such agents need have an office or do business within this State.

(b) An issuer may agree with financial intermediaries in connection with the establishment and maintenance by others of a depository system for the transfer or pledge of registered public obligations or any interest therein. Any such financial intermediaries may, if qualified and acting as fiduciaries, also serve as authenticating agents, transfer agents, registrars, paying or other agents of the issuer with respect to the same issue of public obligations.

(c) Nothing in this Chapter shall preclude the issuer from itself performing, either alone or jointly with others, any transfer, registration, authentication, payment, depository or other function described in this section. (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

§ 159E-9. Costs; collection.

(a) An issuer, prior to or at original issuance of registered public obligations, may provide as a part of a system of registration that the transferor or transferee of the registered public obligations pay all or a designated part of the costs of the system as a condition precedent to transfer, that costs be paid out of proceeds of the registered public obligations, or that both methods be used. The portion of the costs of the system not provided to be paid for by the transferor or transferee or out of proceeds shall be the responsibility of the issuer. Moneys for the discharge of this responsibility may be appropriated annually.

(b) The issuer may as a part of the system of registration provide for reimbursement or for satisfaction of its responsibility for costs by others. The issuer may enter into agreements with others respecting such reimbursement or satisfaction, may establish fees and charges pursuant to such agreements or otherwise, and may provide that the amount or estimated amount of such fees and charges shall be reimbursed or satisfied from the same sources and by means of the same collection and enforcement procedures and with the same priority and effect as with respect to the obligation. (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

§ 159E-10. Security for deposits.

Obligations issued by public entities under the laws of one or more states, territories, or possessions of the United States, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, or the District of Columbia, which are in registered form, whether or not represented by an instrument, and which, except for their form, satisfy the requirements with regard to security for deposits of moneys of public agencies prescribed pursuant to any law of this State, shall be deemed to satisfy all such requirements even though they are in registered form if a security interest in such obligations is perfected under the laws of this State on behalf of the public agencies whose moneys are so deposited. (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

§ 159E-11. Public records; locations.

(a) Records, with regard to the ownership of or security interests in registered public obligations, are not subject to inspection or copying under any law of this State relating to the right of the public to inspect or copy public records, notwithstanding any law to the contrary. This provision shall not exempt from public inspection records of ownership of a public entity's own holdings in this type of security.

(b) Registration records of the issuer may be maintained at such locations within or without this State as the issuer shall determine. (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

§ 159E-12. Applicability; determination.

(a) Unless at any time prior to or at original issuance of a registered public obligation the official or official body of the issuer determines otherwise, this Chapter shall be applicable to such registered public obligation notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary. When this Chapter is applicable, no contrary provision shall apply.

(b) Nothing in this Chapter limits or prevents issuance of obligations in any other form or manner authorized by law.

(c) Unless determined otherwise pursuant to subsection (a) of this section, the provisions of this Chapter shall be applicable with respect to obligations which have heretofore been approved by vote, referendum or hearing authorizing or permitting the authorization of obligations in bearer and registered form, or in bearer form only, and such obligations need not be resubmitted for a further vote, referendum or hearing for the purpose of authorizing or permitting the authorization of registered public obligations pursuant to this Chapter. (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

§ 159E-13. Construction.

This Chapter shall be construed in conjunction with the Uniform Commercial Code and the principles of contract law relative to the registration and transfer of obligations. (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

§ 159E-14. Amendment or repeal; effect.

The State hereby covenants with the owners of any registered public obligations that it will not amend or repeal this Chapter if the effect may be to impair the exemption from income taxation of interest on registered public obligations. (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

§ 159E-15. Severability.

If any provision or the application of any provision of this Chapter shall be invalid, such shall not affect the validity of other provisions or other applications, it hereby being declared that the provisions or the applications of this Chapter are separable and this Chapter would have been enacted with the invalid provision omitted or without the invalid application in any event. (1983, c. 322, s. 1.)

§§ 159G-1 through 159G-18: Repealed by Session Laws 2005-454, s. 2, effective January 1, 2006.

Eligibility under the Clean Water Revolving Loan and Grant Act. — Session Laws 2005-190, s. 3(d), provides: "The definitions set out in G.S. 159G-3 apply to this subsection. The operator of a wastewater treatment works that is owned by an agency of the State may apply for a loan or grant under Chapter 159G of the General Statutes on the same basis as any other applicant if the operator is a local government unit and if the local government unit operates the wastewater treatment works pursuant to a contract with the State agency that contemplates that the local government unit will eventually acquire ownership of the wastewater treatment works."

State Match for Federal Safe Drinking

Water Act Funds. — Session Laws 2005-276, s. 12.1, provides: "Notwithstanding the provisions of Chapter 159G of the General Statutes, the Department of Environment and Natural Resources may transfer from the General Water Supply Revolving Loan Account up to one million five hundred thousand dollars ($1,500,000) to the Department of Environment and Natural Resources to be used to match the federal grant moneys authorized by section 1452 of the federal Safe Drinking Water Act amendments of 1996 for the 2005-2006 fiscal year. The General Water Supply Revolving Loan Account is an account under the Clean Water Revolving Loan and Grant Fund and is established under G.S. 159G-4. The Clean Wa-

Session Laws 2005-276, s. 1.2, provides: “This act shall be known as the ‘Current Operations and Capital Improvements Appropriations Act of 2005’.”

Session Laws 2005-276, s. 46.3, provides: “Except for statutory changes or other provisions that clearly indicate an intention to have effects beyond the 2005-2007 fiscal biennium, the textual provisions of this act apply only to funds appropriated for, and activities occurring during, the 2005-2007 fiscal biennium.”

Session Laws 2005-276, s. 46.5 is a severability clause.

Editor’s Note. — Session Laws 2005-238, s. 11, effective August 1, 2005, amended G.S. 159G-18; however, since G.S. 159G-18 was repealed by Session Laws 2005-454, s. 1, the amendment has not been given effect.

Session Laws 2005-238, s. 15, provides: “The General Assembly finds that the provisions of this act are necessary for the health and welfare of the State and as such finds that the act shall be construed liberally to effect its purposes.”

Session Laws 2005-238, s. 16 is a severability clause.

§ 159G-19: Reserved for future codification purposes.

§ 159G-20. Definitions.

The following definitions apply in this Chapter:

- (1) Construction costs. — The costs of planning, designing, and constructing a project for which a loan or grant is available under this Chapter. The term includes the following:
 - a. Excess or reserve capacity costs attributable to no more than 20-year projected domestic growth plus ten percent (10%) unspecified industrial growth.
 - b. Legal, fiscal, administrative, and contingency costs.
 - c. The fee imposed under G.S. 159G-24 to obtain a loan or grant for a project.
 - d. A fee payable to the Department for a permit to implement a project for which a loan or grant is obtained.
 - e. The cost to acquire real property or an interest in real property.
- (2) CWSRF. — The Clean Water State Revolving Fund established in G.S. 159G-22 as an account in the Water Infrastructure Fund.
- (3) Department. — The Department of Environment and Natural Resources.
- (4) Division of Environmental Health. — The Division of Environmental Health of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources.
- (5) Division of Water Quality. — The Division of Water Quality of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources.
- (6) Drinking Water Reserve. — The Drinking Water Reserve established in G.S. 159G-22 as an account in the Water Infrastructure Fund.
- (7) DWSRF. — The Drinking Water State Revolving Fund established in G.S. 159G-22 as an account in the Water Infrastructure Fund.
- (8) Grant. — A sum of money given to an applicant without any obligation on the part of the applicant to repay the sum.
- (9) High-unit-cost project. — A project that results in an estimated average household user fee for water and sewer service in the area served by the project in excess of the high-unit-cost threshold. The average household user fee is calculated for a continuous 12-month period.
- (10) High-unit-cost threshold. — Either of the following amounts determined on the basis of data from the most recent federal decennial census and updated by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development’s annual estimated income adjustment factors:
 - a. One and one-half percent (1.5%) of the median household income in an area that receives both water and sewer service.

- b. Three-fourths of one percent ($\frac{3}{4}\%$) of the median household income in an area that receives only water service or only sewer service.
- (11) Loan. — A sum of money loaned to an applicant with an obligation on the part of the applicant to repay the sum.
- (12) Local Government Commission. — The Local Government Commission of the Department of the State Treasurer, established in G.S. 159-3.
- (13) Local government unit. — Any of the following:
 - a. A city as defined in G.S. 160A-1.
 - b. A county.
 - c. A consolidated city-county as defined in G.S. 160B-2.
 - d. A county water and sewer district created pursuant to Article 6 of Chapter 162A of the General Statutes.
 - e. A metropolitan sewerage district or a metropolitan water district created pursuant to Article 4 of Chapter 162A of the General Statutes.
 - f. A water and sewer authority created under Article 1 of Chapter 162A of the General Statutes.
 - g. A sanitary district created pursuant to Part 2 of Article 2 of Chapter 130A of the General Statutes.
 - h. A joint agency created pursuant to Part 1 of Article 20 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes.
 - i. A joint agency that was created by agreement between two cities and towns to operate an airport pursuant to G.S. 63-56 and that provided drinking water and wastewater services off the airport premises before 1 January 1995.
- (14) Nonprofit water corporation. — A nonprofit corporation that is incorporated under Chapter 55A of the General Statutes solely for the purpose of providing drinking water or wastewater services and is an eligible applicant for a federal loan or grant from the Rural Utility Services Division, U.S. Department of Agriculture.
- (15) Public water system. — Defined in G.S. 130A-313.
- (16) Reserved.
- (17) Reserved.
- (18) Secretary. — The Secretary of Environment and Natural Resources.
- (19) State. — The State of North Carolina.
- (20) Stormwater quality project. — A project whose primary purpose is to prevent or remove pollution from stormwater rather than collect, store, or convey stormwater for drainage or flood control purposes.
- (21) Targeted interest rate project. — Either of the following types of projects:
 - a. A high-unit-cost project that is awarded a loan.
 - b. A project that is awarded a loan from the CWSRF or the DWSRF and is in a category for which federal law encourages a special focus.
- (22) Treasurer. — The Treasurer of the State elected pursuant to Article III, Section 7, of the Constitution.
- (23) Wastewater collection system. — A unified system of pipes, conduits, pumping stations, force mains, and appurtenances for collecting and transmitting water-carried human wastes and other wastewater from residences, industrial establishments, or any other buildings.
- (24) Wastewater Reserve. — The Wastewater Reserve established in G.S. 159G-22 as an account in the Water Infrastructure Fund.
- (25) Wastewater system. — A wastewater collection system, wastewater treatment works, stormwater quality project, or nonpoint source pollution project.

- (26) Wastewater treatment works. — The various facilities and devices used in the treatment of sewage, industrial waste, or other wastes of a liquid nature, including the necessary interceptor sewers, outfall sewers, nutrient removal equipment, pumping equipment, power and other equipment, and their appurtenances.
- (27) Water Infrastructure Fund. — The fund established in G.S. 159G-22. (2005-454, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-454, s. 12, made this Article effective January 1, 2006. The definitions have been put in alphabetical order at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

§ 159G-21. Revenue for water projects.

This Chapter governs the use of the following revenue:

- (1) Revenue appropriated to the Department to match federal funds received for loans and grants for wastewater and drinking water projects and revenue received by the Department from the repayment of loans made with the use of the federal funds.
- (2) Revenue appropriated to the Department to provide a source of State funds to make loans and grants for wastewater and drinking water projects and revenue received by the Department from the repayment of loans made with the use of these funds. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-22. Water Infrastructure Fund.

(a) Fund Established. — The Water Infrastructure Fund is established as a special revenue fund. The Fund is comprised of the accounts set out in this section. The Fund provides revenue through its accounts for loans and grants as provided in this Chapter to meet the water infrastructure needs of the State. The Treasurer is responsible for distributing and investing all revenue received by the Fund. Interest and other investment income earned by the Fund accrues to it and must be allocated to the account to which the income is attributable. Accounts to which federal funds are credited must be kept separate from accounts that do not receive federal funds. A payment of the principal of or interest on a loan made from an account of the Fund must be credited to the account from which the loan was made.

(b) CWSRF. — The Clean Water State Revolving Fund is established as an account within the Water Infrastructure Fund. The account receives federal funds for wastewater projects and the State funds required to match the federal funds. The account is established under and must be managed in accordance with Title VI of the Federal Water Quality Act of 1987, Pub. L. 100-4, to achieve the purposes of that act and the Federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1972, 33 U.S.C. §§ 1251 through 1387. The account must comply with these federal acts and the federal regulations adopted to implement the acts. Revenue credited to the account is available in perpetuity and must be used only to provide construction loans and other assistance allowed under federal law. Grants are available from this account only to the extent allowed under federal law.

(c) DWSRF. — The Drinking Water State Revolving Fund is established as an account within the Water Infrastructure Fund. The account receives federal funds for public water systems and the State funds required to match the federal funds. The account is established under and must be managed in accordance with section 130 of Title 1 of the federal Safe Drinking Water Act of 1996 as amended, 42 U.S.C. § 300J-12, to achieve the purposes of that act. The account must comply with that act and the federal regulations adopted to implement the act. Revenue credited to the account is available in perpetuity and must be used only to provide construction loans and other assistance allowed under federal law. Grants are available from this account only to the extent allowed under federal law.

(d) Wastewater Reserve. — The Wastewater Reserve is established as an account within the Water Infrastructure Fund. The account is established to receive State funds that are to be used for loans and grants for wastewater systems. Revenue credited to the Reserve is neither received from the federal government nor provided as a match for federal funds.

(e) Wastewater Accounts. — The Department is directed to establish accounts within the Wastewater Reserve to administer loans and grants for wastewater collection systems, wastewater treatment works, stormwater quality projects, and nonpoint source pollution projects. The wastewater accounts must include an account for each type of loan or grant set out in G.S. 159G-33.

(f) Drinking Water Reserve. — The Drinking Water Reserve is established as an account within the Water Infrastructure Fund. The account is established to receive State funds that are to be used for loans and grants for public water systems. Revenue credited to the Reserve is neither received from the federal government nor provided as a match for federal funds.

(g) Drinking Water Accounts. — The Department is directed to establish accounts within the Drinking Water Reserve to administer loans and grants for public water systems. The drinking water accounts must include an account for each type of loan or grant set out in G.S. 159G-34. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-23. Common criteria for loan or grant from Wastewater Reserve or Drinking Water Reserve.

The criteria in this section apply to a loan or grant from the Wastewater Reserve or the Drinking Water Reserve. The Division of Water Quality and the Division of Environmental Health must each establish a system of assigning points to applications based on the following criteria:

- (1) Public necessity. — An applicant must explain how the project promotes public health and protects the environment. A project that improves a system that is not in compliance with permit requirements or is under orders from the Department, enables a moratorium to be lifted, or replaces failing septic tanks with a wastewater collection system has priority.
- (2) Effect on impaired waters. — A project that improves designated impaired waters of the State has priority.
- (3) Efficiency. — A project that achieves efficiencies in meeting the State's water infrastructure needs by one of the following methods has priority:
 - a. The combination of two or more wastewater or public water systems into a regional wastewater or public water system by merger, consolidation, or another means.
 - b. Conservation or reuse of water.
- (4) Comprehensive land-use plan. — A project that is located in a city or county that has adopted or has taken significant steps to adopt a comprehensive land-use plan under Article 18 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes or Article 19 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes has priority over a project located in a city or county that has not adopted a plan or has not taken steps to do so. The existence of a plan has more priority than steps taken to adopt a plan, such as adoption of a zoning ordinance. A plan that exceeds the minimum State standards for protection of water resources has more priority than one that does not. A project is considered to be located in a city or county if it is located in whole or in part in that unit. A land-use plan is not considered a comprehensive land-use plan unless it has provisions that protect existing water uses and ensure compliance with water quality standards and classifications in all waters of the State affected by the plan.

- (5) Flood hazard ordinance. — A project that is located in a city or county that has adopted a flood hazard prevention ordinance under G.S. 143-215.54A has priority over a project located in a city or county that has not adopted an ordinance. A plan that exceeds the minimum standards under G.S. 143-215.54A for a flood hazard prevention ordinance has more priority than one that does not. A project is considered to be located in a city or county if it is located in whole or in part in that unit. If no part of the service area of a project is located within the 100-year floodplain, the project has the same priority under this subdivision as if it were located in a city or county that has adopted a flood hazard prevention ordinance. The most recent maps prepared pursuant to the National Flood Insurance Program or approved by the Department determine whether an area is within the 100-year floodplain.
- (6) Sound management. — A project submitted by a local government unit that has demonstrated a willingness and ability to meet its responsibilities through sound fiscal policies and efficient operation and management has priority.
- (7) Capital improvement plan. — A project that implements the applicant's capital improvement plan for the wastewater system or public water system it manages has priority over a project that does not implement a capital improvement plan. To receive priority, a capital improvement plan must set out the applicant's expected water infrastructure needs for at least 10 years.
- (8) Coastal habitat protection. — A project that implements a recommendation of a Coastal Habitat Protection Plan adopted by the Environmental Management Commission, the Coastal Resources Commission, and the Marine Fisheries Commission pursuant to G.S. 143B-279.8 has priority over other projects that affect counties subject to that Plan. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-24. Fee imposed on a loan or grant from Wastewater Reserve or Drinking Water Reserve.

(a) Amount. — A loan awarded from the Wastewater Reserve or the Drinking Water Reserve is subject to a fee of two and one-half percent (2 ½%) of the loan. A grant awarded from the Wastewater Reserve or the Drinking Water Reserve is subject to a fee of one and one-half percent (1 ½%) of the grant. The fee is payable when a loan or grant is awarded.

(b) Departmental Receipt. — The fee on a loan from the Wastewater Reserve or the Drinking Water Reserve is a departmental receipt and must be applied to the Department's and the Local Government Commission's costs in administering loans from these Reserves. The Department and the Local Government Commission must determine how to allocate the fee receipts between their agencies. The fee on a grant from the Wastewater Reserve or the Drinking Water Reserve is a departmental receipt of the Department and must be applied to the Department's costs in administering grants from these Reserves. (2005-454, s. 3.)

(a) The Department may use revenue in any account of the Wastewater Reserve to provide funds for emergency corrective action at a wastewater treatment works under the circumstances set out in this section. The amount expended in a fiscal year for corrective action under this section may not exceed two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000). An expenditure for emergency corrective action is authorized only under the following circumstances:

- (1) A person holding a wastewater discharge or nondischarge permit issued under Article 21 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes is violating the terms of the permit.
- (2) The wastewater treatment works operated under the permit has a design flow capacity of no more than 100,000 gallons a day.
- (3) The Department has given the permit holder written notice of the violation.
- (4) The permit holder refuses to take the action required to comply with the permit.
- (5) The inaction by the permit holder poses a threat to public health.
- (6) The Department has informed the permit holder in writing that the Department plans to take emergency corrective action and then bring a civil action against the permit holder to recover the cost of the emergency corrective action.

(b) The Department may bring a civil action against the holder of the permit for the wastewater treatment works to recover the amount expended from the Wastewater Reserve for the emergency corrective action. The amount recovered in a civil action must be credited to the account in the Wastewater Reserve from which the funds were expended. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-26. Annual reports on Water Infrastructure Fund.

(a) Requirement. — The Department must publish a report each year on the accounts in the Water Infrastructure Fund that are administered by the Division of Water Quality or the Division of Environmental Health. The report must be published by 1 November of each year and cover the preceding fiscal year. The Department must make the report available to the public and must give a copy of the report to the Environmental Review Commission and the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly.

(b) Content. — The report required by this section must contain the following information concerning the accounts of the Water Infrastructure Fund:

- (1) The beginning and ending balance of the account for the fiscal year.
- (2) The amount of revenue credited to the account during the fiscal year, by source.
- (3) The total amount of loans and grants awarded from the account, by type, and the amount of any expenditure for emergency corrective action made from the account.
- (4) For each loan or grant awarded, the recipient of the award, the amount of the award, the amount of the award that was disbursed, and the amount of the award remaining to be disbursed in a subsequent fiscal year.
- (5) The amount disbursed for loans and grants awarded but not disbursed in a prior fiscal year and the amount remaining to be disbursed in a subsequent fiscal year.
- (6) An assessment of the expected impact on water quality and water supply of the projects for which the loans and grants were awarded. (2005-454, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-454, s. 11, provides: "The first reports required by G.S. 159G-26 and G.S. 159G-67, as enacted by Section 3 of this act, shall be published on or before 1 November 2006."

§§ 159G-27 through 159G-29: Reserved for future codification purposes.

ARTICLE 2.

Water Infrastructure Loans and Grants Administered by Department.

§ 159G-30. Department's responsibility.

The Department, through the Division of Water Quality and the Division of Environmental Health, administers loans and grants made from the CWSRF, the DWSRF, the Wastewater Reserve, and the Drinking Water Reserve. The Division of Water Quality administers loans and grants from the CWSRF and the Wastewater Reserve. The Division of Environmental Health administers loans and grants from the DWSRF and the Drinking Water Reserve. (2005-454, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-454, s. 12, made this Article effective January 1, 2006.

§ 159G-31. Entities eligible to apply for loan or grant.

A local government unit or a nonprofit water corporation is eligible to apply for a loan or grant from the CWSRF, the DWSRF, the Wastewater Reserve, or the Drinking Water Reserve. Other entities are not eligible for a loan or grant from these accounts. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-32. Projects eligible for loan or grant.

(a) CWSRF and DWSRF. — Federal law determines whether a project is eligible for a loan or grant from the CWSRF and the DWSRF. A project must meet the eligibility requirements set under federal law.

(b) Wastewater Reserve. — The Department is authorized to make loans and grants from the Wastewater Reserve for the following types of projects:

- (1) Wastewater collection system.
- (2) Wastewater treatment works.
- (3) Stormwater quality project.
- (4) Nonpoint source pollution project.

(c) Drinking Water Reserve. — The Department is authorized to make loans and grants from the Drinking Water Reserve for public water system projects. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-33. Loans and grants available from Wastewater Reserve.

(a) Types. — The Department is authorized to make the types of loans and grants listed in this subsection from the Wastewater Reserve. Each type of loan or grant must be administered through a separate account within the Wastewater Reserve.

- (1) General. — A loan or grant is available for a project authorized in G.S. 159G-32(b).

- (2) High-unit-cost grant. — A high-unit-cost grant is available for the portion of the construction costs of a wastewater collection system project or a wastewater treatment works project that results in an estimated average household user fee for water and sewer service in the area served by the project that exceeds the high-unit-cost threshold.
 - (3) Technical assistance grant. — A technical assistance grant is available to determine the best way to correct the deficiencies in a wastewater collection system or wastewater treatment works that either is not in compliance with its permit limits or, as identified in the most recent inspection report by the Department under G.S. 143-215.3, is experiencing operational problems and is at risk of violating its permit limits.
 - (4) Emergency loan. — An emergency loan is available in the event the Secretary certifies that a serious public health hazard related to the inadequacy of an existing wastewater collection system or wastewater treatment works is present or imminent in a community.
- (b) Interaccount Transfer. — The Secretary may use revenue in any account in the Wastewater Reserve to provide funds for an emergency loan. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-34. Loans and grants available from Drinking Water Reserve.

(a) Types. — The Department is authorized to make the types of loans and grants listed in this section from the Drinking Water Reserve. Each type of loan or grant must be administered through a separate account within the Drinking Water Reserve.

- (1) General. — A loan or grant is available for a project for a public water system.
- (2) High-unit-cost grant. — A grant is available for the portion of the construction costs of a public water system project that results in an estimated average household user fee for water and sewer service in the area served by the project that exceeds the high-unit-cost threshold.
- (3) Technical assistance grant. — A technical assistance grant is available to determine the best way to correct the deficiencies in a public water system that does not comply with State law or the rules adopted to implement that law.
- (4) Emergency loan. — An emergency loan is available to an applicant in the event the Secretary certifies that either a serious public health hazard or a drought emergency related to the water supply system is present or imminent in a community.

(b) Interaccount Transfer. — The Secretary may use revenue in any account in the Drinking Water Reserve to provide funds for an emergency loan. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-35. Criteria for loans and grants.

(a) CWSRF and DWSRF. — Federal law determines the criteria for awarding a loan or grant from the CWSRF or the DWSRF. An award of a loan or grant from one of these accounts must meet the criteria set under federal law. The Department is directed to establish through negotiation with the United States Environmental Protection Agency the criteria for evaluating applications for loans and grants from the CWSRF and the DWSRF and the priority assigned to the criteria. The Department must incorporate the negotiated criteria and priorities in the Capitalization Grant Operating Agreement between the Department and the United States Environmental Protection Agency. The criteria and priorities incorporated in the Agreement apply to a loan or grant from the CWSRF or the DWSRF. The common criteria in G.S. 159G-23 do not apply to a loan or grant from the CWSRF or the DWSRF.

(b) Reserves. — The common criteria in G.S. 159G-23 apply to a loan or grant from the Wastewater Reserve or the Drinking Water Reserve. The Department may establish by rule other criteria that apply to a loan or grant from the Wastewater Reserve or the Drinking Water Reserve. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-36. Limits on loans and grants.

(a) CWSRF and DWSRF. — Federal law governs loans and grants from the CWSRF and the DWSRF. An award of a loan or grant from one of these accounts must be consistent with federal law.

(b) Reserve Cost Limit. — The amount of a loan or grant from the Wastewater Reserve or the Drinking Water Reserve may not exceed the construction costs of a project. A loan or grant from one of these Reserves is available only to the extent that other funding sources are not reasonably available to the applicant.

(c) Reserve Recipient Limit. — The following limits apply to a loan or grant made from the Wastewater Reserve or the Drinking Water Reserve to the same local government unit or nonprofit water corporation:

- (1) The amount of loans awarded for a fiscal year may not exceed three million dollars ($3,000,000).
- (2) The amount of loans awarded for three consecutive fiscal years for targeted interest rate projects may not exceed three million dollars ($3,000,000).
- (3) The amount of high-unit-cost grants awarded for three consecutive fiscal years may not exceed three million dollars ($3,000,000).
- (4) The amount of technical assistance grants awarded for three consecutive fiscal years may not exceed fifty thousand dollars ($50,000). (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-37. Application to CWSRF, Wastewater Reserve, DWSRF, and Drinking Water Reserve.

An application for a loan or grant from the CWSRF or the Wastewater Reserve must be filed with the Division of Water Quality of the Department. An application for a loan or grant from the DWSRF or the Drinking Water Reserve must be filed with the Division of Environmental Health of the Department. An application must be submitted on a form prescribed by the Division and must contain the information required by the Division. An applicant must submit to the Division any additional information requested by the Division to enable the Division to make a determination on the application. An application that does not contain information required on the application or requested by the Division is incomplete and is not eligible for consideration. An applicant may submit an application in as many categories as it is eligible for consideration under this Article. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-38. Environmental assessment and public hearing.

(a) Required Information. — An application submitted under this Article for a loan or grant for a project must state whether the project requires an environmental assessment. If the application indicates that an environmental assessment is not required, it must identify the exclusion in the North Carolina Environmental Policy Act, Article 1 of Chapter 113A of the General Statutes, that applies to the project. If the application does not identify an exclusion in the North Carolina Environmental Policy Act, it must include an environmental assessment of the project's probable impacts on the environment.

(b) Division Review. — If, after reviewing an application, the Division of Water Quality or the Division of Environmental Health, as appropriate, determines that a project requires an environmental assessment, the assessment must be submitted before the Division continues its review of the application. If, after reviewing an environmental assessment, the Division concludes that an environmental impact statement is required, the Division may not continue its review of the application until a final environmental impact statement has been completed and approved as provided in the North Carolina Environmental Policy Act.

(c) Hearing. — The Division of Water Quality or the Division of Environmental Health, as appropriate, may hold a public hearing on an application for a loan or grant under this Article if it determines that holding a hearing will serve the public interest. An individual who is a resident of any county in which a proposed project is located may submit a written request for a public hearing. The request must set forth each objection to the proposed project or other reason for requesting a hearing and must include the name and address of the individual making the request. The Division may consider all written objections to the proposed project, any statement submitted with the hearing request, and any significant adverse effects the proposed project may have on the environment. The Division's decision on whether to hold a hearing is conclusive. The Division must keep all written requests for a hearing on an application as part of the records pertaining to the application. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-39. Review of applications and award of loan or grant.

(a) Point Assignment. — The Division of Water Quality or the Division of Environmental Health, as appropriate, must review all applications filed for a loan or grant under this Article for an application period. The Division must rank each application in accordance with the points assigned to the evaluation criteria. The Division must make a written determination of an application's rank and attach the determination to the application. The Division's determination of rank is conclusive.

(b) Initial Consideration. — The Division may consider an application for an emergency loan from the Wastewater Reserve or the Drinking Water Reserve at any time. The Division must consider all other loan applications and all grant applications filed during an application period at the same time in order to rank the applications.

(c) Reconsideration. — When an application's rank is too low to receive an award of a loan or grant for an application period, the Division must include the application with those considered for the next application period. If the application's rank is again too low to receive an award, the application is not eligible for consideration in a subsequent application period. An applicant whose application does not receive an award after review in two application periods may file a new application.

(d) Notification of Decision. — When the Division determines that an application's rank makes it eligible for an award of a loan or grant, the Division must send the applicant a letter of intent to award the loan or grant. The notice must set out any conditions the applicant must meet to receive an award of a loan or grant. When the applicant satisfies the conditions set out in the letter of intent, the Division must send the applicant an offer to award a loan or grant. The applicant must give the Division written notice of whether it accepts or rejects the offer. A loan or grant is considered awarded when an offer to award the loan or grant is issued. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-40. Terms of loan and execution of loan documents.

(a) Approval by Local Government Commission. — The Department may not award a loan under this Article unless the Local Government Commission approves the award of the loan and the terms of the loan. The terms of a loan awarded from the CWSRF and the DWSRF must be consistent with federal law. In reviewing a proposed loan to a local government unit, the Local Government Commission must consider the loan as if it were a bond proposal and review the proposed loan in accordance with the factors set out in G.S. 159-52 for review of a proposed bond issue. The Local Government Commission must review a proposed loan to a nonprofit water corporation in accordance with the factors set out in G.S. 159-153.

(b) Interest Rate and Maturity. — The interest rate payable on and the maximum maturity of a loan are subject to the following limitations:

(1) Interest rate. — The interest rate for a loan may not exceed the lesser of four percent (4%) or one half the prevailing national market rate for tax-exempt general obligation debt of similar maturities derived from a published indicator. When recommended by the Department, the Local Government Commission may set an interest rate for a loan for a targeted interest rate project at a rate that is lower than the standard rate to achieve the purpose of the target.

(2) Maturity. — The maximum maturity for a loan for a project that is not a high-unit-cost project may not exceed 20 years or the project's expected life, whichever is shorter. The maximum maturity for a loan for a high-unit-cost project is 30 years or the project's expected life, whichever is shorter.

(c) Security for Loan. — A local government unit may pledge any of the following, alone or in combination, as security for an obligation to repay the principal of and interest on a loan awarded under this Article:

(1) User fee revenues derived from operation of the wastewater system or public water system that benefits from the project for which the loan is awarded.

(2) A mortgage, deed of trust, security interest, or similar lien on part or all of the real and personal property comprising the wastewater system or public water system that benefits from the project for which the loan is awarded.

(3) Its full faith and credit if it meets the requirements of Article 4 of Chapter 159 of the General Statutes.

(4) Nontax revenue not included in subdivision (1) of this subsection.

(d) Debt Instrument. — A local government unit and a nonprofit water corporation may execute a debt instrument payable to the State to evidence an obligation to repay the principal of and interest on a loan awarded under this Article. The Treasurer, with the assistance of the Local Government Commission, must develop debt instruments for use by local government units and nonprofit water corporations under this section. The Local Government Commission must develop procedures for loan recipients to deliver debt instruments to the State without public bidding. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-41. Withdrawal of loan or grant.

A letter of intent to offer an award for a loan or grant for a project is withdrawn if the applicant fails to enter into a construction contract for the project within two years after the date of the letter, unless the Department finds that the applicant has good cause for the failure. An award for a loan or grant for a project is withdrawn if the applicant fails to enter into a construction contract for the project within one year after the date of the award, unless the Department finds that the applicant has good cause for the failure. If the Department finds good cause for an applicant's failure, the Department must set a date by which the applicant must take action or forfeit the loan or grant. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-42. Disbursement of loan or grant.

The Department must disburse the proceeds of a loan or grant to a recipient in a series of payments based on the progress of the project for which the loan or grant was awarded. To obtain a payment, a loan or grant recipient must submit a request for payment to the Department and document the expenditures for which the payment is requested. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-43. Inspection of project.

(a) Authority. — The Department may inspect a project for which it awards a loan or grant under this Article to determine the progress made on the project and whether the construction of the project is consistent with the project described in the loan or grant application. The inspection may be performed by personnel of the Department or by a professional engineer licensed under Chapter 89C of the General Statutes.

(b) Disqualification. — An individual may not perform an inspection of a project under this section if the individual meets any of the following criteria:

- (1) Is an officer or employee of the local government unit or nonprofit water corporation that received the loan or grant award for the project.
- (2) Is an owner, officer, employee, or agent of a contractor or subcontractor engaged in the construction of the project for which the loan or grant was made. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-44. Rules.

The Department may adopt rules to implement this Chapter. Chapter 150B of the General Statutes, the Administrative Procedure Act, governs the adoption of rules by the Department. A rule adopted to administer a loan or grant from the CWSRF or the DWSRF must be consistent with federal law. The Department must give a copy of the rules adopted to implement this Article without charge to a person who requests a copy. (2005-454, s. 3.)

ARTICLE 4.

*State Water Infrastructure Commission.§ 159G-65. State Water Infrastructure Commission.

(a) Purpose. — The State Water Infrastructure Commission is established in the Office of the Governor. The purpose of the Commission is to identify the State's water infrastructure needs, develop a plan to meet those needs, and monitor the implementation of the plan.

(b) Membership. — The Commission consists of 13 members as follows:

- (1) The Secretary of Commerce or a Department of Commerce employee designated by the Secretary who is familiar with the State programs that fund water or other infrastructure improvements for the purpose of promoting economic development.
- (2) The Secretary of Environment and Natural Resources or a Department of Environment and Natural Resources employee designated by the Secretary who is familiar with the water infrastructure financing, regulatory, and technical assistance programs of the Department.
- (3) The President of the Rural Economic Development Center or a Rural Center employee designated by the President who is familiar with the water infrastructure financing programs of the Rural Center.
- (4) The Executive Director of the Clean Water Management Trust Fund or a Trust Fund employee designated by the Executive Director who is familiar with wastewater, drinking water, and stormwater issues.
- (5) The Director of the Local Government Commission or an employee of the State Treasurer's Office designated by the Director who is familiar with the functions of the Commission.
- (6) The Executive Director of the League of Municipalities or a League employee designated by the Executive Director who is familiar with the League's programs.
- (7) The Executive Director of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners or an Association employee designated by the Executive Director who is familiar with the Association's programs.
- (8) One member appointed by the Chancellor of North Carolina State University.
- (9) An engineer appointed by the American Council of Engineering Companies.
- (10) One member appointed by the Water Resources and Research Institute.
- (11) One member appointed by the Governor who is a representative of a local government wastewater system or public water system.
- (12) One member appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate.
- (13) One member appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

(c) Terms. — The members appointed by the Governor, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives serve two-year terms. The other members, who are ex officio members or designees of those members, serve until they are no longer in office or are replaced with another designee. Members may be removed in accordance with G.S. 143B-13 as if that section applied to this Article.

(d) Chair. — The Governor appoints the initial chair of the Commission. The chair appointed by the Governor must call the first meeting, at which the members must elect a chair. The Chair serves a term of one year. The Commission must elect a chair annually.

(e) Meetings. — The Commission must meet at least four times a year and may meet as often as needed. A majority of the members of the Commission constitutes a quorum for the transaction of business. The affirmative vote of a majority of the members present at a meeting of the Commission is required for action to be taken by the Commission.

(f) Vacancies. — A vacancy in the Commission or as chair of the Commission resulting from the resignation of a member or otherwise is filled in the same manner in which the original appointment was made. The term of an appointment to fill a vacancy is for the balance of the unexpired term.

(g) Compensation. — The Commission members receive no salary or other monetary compensation for serving on the Commission. (2005-454, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-454, s. 12, made this Article effective January 1, 2006.

§ 159G-66. Duties of the Commission.

The Commission has the following duties:

- (1) To assess and make recommendations on the role of the State in the development and funding of wastewater, drinking water, and stormwater infrastructure in the State.
- (2) To analyze the adequacy of projected funding to meet projected needs over the next five years.
- (3) To propose State priorities for funding.
- (4) To make recommendations on ways to maximize the use of current funding resources, whether federal, State, or local, and to ensure that funds are used in a coordinated manner.
- (5) To review the application of management practices in wastewater, drinking water, and stormwater utilities and determine the best practices.
- (6) To assess the role of public-private partnerships in the future provision of utility service.
- (7) To assess the application of the river basin approach to utility planning and management.
- (8) To assess the need for a “troubled system” protocol. (2005-454, s. 3.)

§ 159G-67. Commission reports.

The Commission must publish an annual report by 1 November of each year on its activity and findings. The Commission must give a copy of the report to the Environmental Review Commission and the Fiscal Research Division of the General Assembly. The report must include any recommendations of the Commission that require action by the General Assembly to implement. (2005-454, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-454, s. 11, provides: “The first reports required by G.S. 159G-26 and G.S. 159G-67, as enacted by Section 3 of this act, shall be published on or before 1 November 2006.”

§ 159I-1. Short title.

This Chapter may be cited as the Solid Waste Management Loan Program and Local Government Special Obligation Bond Act. (1989, c. 756, s. 1; 2002-72, s. 21.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1989, c. 756, s. 9, provides: "This act shall be construed liberally to effectuate the legislative intent and the purposes as complete and independent authority for the performance of each and every act and thing authorized by this act, and all powers granted shall be broadly interpreted to effectuate the intent and purposes and not as a limitation of powers."

Session Laws 2001-238, s. 2, amended the Chapter heading, which formerly read: "Solid Waste Management Loan Program," so that it now reads: "Solid Waste Management Loan Program and Local Government Special Obligation Bonds." However, the act did not amend G.S. 159I-1, which states that the short title for the Chapter may be cited as the "North Carolina Solid Waste Management Loan Program."

§ 159I-2. Findings and purpose.

The General Assembly finds that units of local government need a source of funds to implement solid waste management programs. Units of local government will confront a crisis in solid waste management in the near future. Within five years of the creation of this program, one-third of all the landfills in this State will have reached their capacity. Many local governments do not have the funds to meet:

- (1) The increased costs of constructing new landfills that meet current standards for the protection of the environment; or
- (2) The cost of constructing a local or regional incinerator that would serve to reduce the volume of waste to be landfilled; or
- (3) The costs of implementing alternative programs to reduce the amount of waste generated, to decrease the volume of waste that is generated, or to recover or to recycle that part of the waste stream that can be recovered or used for another purpose.

The General Assembly finds that comprehensive solid waste management programs at a local or regional level are needed in order to preserve the quality of North Carolina's groundwater. It is the purpose of the General Assembly to facilitate the implementation of local and regional solid waste management programs by establishing a loan fund for financing the capital expenses of these programs. The General Assembly seeks to encourage and assist units of local government to continue to voluntarily provide solid waste collection and disposal for their citizens, thereby maintaining a clean and healthful environment and an adequate supply of clean water. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-3. Definitions.

(a) Unless a different meaning is required by the context, the following definitions shall apply throughout this Chapter:

- (1) "Administrative charges" means any charge made by the Agency to a unit of local government for the providing of financing pursuant to this Chapter and may include, without limitation, charges for financing costs, charges for the costs of bond and reserve fund insurance, of credit-enhancement and liquidity facilities, and of interest-rate agreements, charges in respect of nonasset bond and investment income deficiencies, and charges for administrative expenses of the Agency incurred in the exercise of its powers and duties conferred by this Chapter.
- (2) "Agency" means the North Carolina Solid Waste Management Capital Projects Financing Agency.
- (3) "Board" means the board of directors of the Agency or any other governing body of the Agency succeeding to the principal functions of the Agency.
- (4) "Bonds" means the revenue bonds authorized to be issued by the Agency under this Chapter. As used in this Chapter, the term "bonds" does not include any loan agreement.
- (5) "Costs" means the capital cost of acquiring or constructing any project, including, without limitation, the following:
 - a. The costs of doing any or all of the following deemed necessary or convenient by a unit of local government:
 1. Acquiring, constructing, erecting, providing, developing, installing, furnishing, and equipping;
 2. Reconstructing, remodeling, altering, renovating, replacing, refurnishing, and re-equipping;
 3. Enlarging, expanding, and extending; and
 4. Demolishing, relocating, improving, grading, draining, landscaping, paving, widening, and resurfacing.
 - b. The costs of all property, both real and personal and both improved and unimproved, and of plants, works, appurtenances, structures, facilities, furnishings, machinery, equipment, vehicles, easements, water rights, air rights, franchises, and licenses used or useful in connection with the purpose authorized;
 - c. The costs of demolishing or moving structures from land acquired and acquiring any lands to which such structures thereafter are to be moved;
 - d. Financing charges, including estimated interest during the acquisition or construction of such project and for six months thereafter;
 - e. The costs of services to provide and the cost of plans, specifications, studies and reports, surveys, and estimates of costs and revenues;

- f. The costs of paying any interim financing, including principal, interest, and premium, related to the acquisition or construction of a project;
 - g. Administrative and legal expenses and administrative charges;
 - h. The costs of obtaining bond and reserve fund insurance and investment contracts, of credit-enhancement facilities, liquidity facilities and interest-rate agreements, and of establishing and maintaining debt service and other reserves; and
 - i. Any other services, costs, and expenses necessary or incidental to the purpose authorized.
- (6) “Division” means the Division of Waste Management of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources and any successor of the Division of Waste Management.
- (7) “Loan” means moneys loaned by the Agency to a unit of local government for a project authorized by this Chapter.
- (8) “Loan agreement” means any bond, note, contract, loan agreement, or other written agreement of a unit of local government delivered to the Agency and evidencing the unit’s receipt of loan proceeds from the sale of all or a portion of the Agency’s bonds or from other available money of the Agency and setting forth the terms of the unit’s agreement to make payments to the Agency in respect of such loan.
- (9) “Local Government Commission” means the Local Government Commission of the Department of the State Treasurer, established by Article 2 of Chapter 159 of the General Statutes and any successor of said Commission.
- (10) “Notes” means the revenue notes or revenue bond anticipation notes authorized to be issued by the Agency under this Chapter. As used in this Chapter, the term “notes” does not include any loan agreement.
- (11) “Project” means any capital project authorized to be financed in G.S. 159I-8.
- (12) “Revenues” means all moneys received by the Agency, other than the proceeds received by the Agency from the sale of bonds or notes and moneys appropriated by the State for the Solid Waste Management Loan Fund, in connection with the providing of financing to units of local government, including without limitation:
- a. The payments received by the Agency of the principal of and premium, if any, and interest on loan agreements;
 - b. Administrative charges, but only to the extent determined by the Agency; and
 - c. Investment earnings on all revenues, funds, and other moneys of the Agency.
- (13) “Unit of local government” or “unit” means:
- a. A unit of local government as defined in G.S. 159-44(4);
 - b. Any combination of units, as defined in G.S. 160A-460(2), entering into a contract or agreement with each other under G.S. 160A-461;
 - c. Any joint agency established under G.S. 160A-462; as any such section may be amended from time to time;
 - d. Any regional solid waste management authority created pursuant to G.S. 153A-421; or
 - e. A consolidated city-county as defined by G.S. 160B-2(1), including such a consolidated city-county acting with respect to an urban service district defined by a consolidated city-county.
- (b) Unless a different meaning is required by the context, the definitions set out in G.S. 130A-290, as such section may be amended from time to time, shall apply throughout this Chapter. (1989, c. 756, s. 1; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c.

§ 159I-4. Creation of Agency.

(a) A body politic and corporate to be known as the "North Carolina Solid Waste Management Capital Projects Financing Agency" is created. This Agency shall be a public agency and an instrumentality of the State for the performance of essential governmental and public functions.

(b) The Board of Directors of this Agency shall be its governing board, which shall consist of five members. One of the members of the Board shall be the State Treasurer who shall serve ex officio. The State Treasurer shall be Chairman of the Board of Directors. Two members shall be appointed by the Governor, one member shall be appointed by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the Speaker of the House of Representatives in accordance with G.S. 120-121 and one member shall be appointed by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the President Pro Tempore in accordance with G.S. 120-121. The appointments to be made initially by the Governor shall be for terms beginning on the dates of their respective appointments and expiring on June 30, 1990, and June 30, 1992. The appointments to be made initially by the General Assembly as recommended by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and by the General Assembly as recommended by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate shall be for terms beginning on the date of their respective appointments and expiring on June 30, 1991. Appointments made to succeed the initial appointments shall be for two-year terms commencing, respectively, on July 1, 1990, July 1, 1991, and July 1, 1992, and subsequent appointments shall be for two-year terms.

(c) All members of the Board shall remain in office until their successors are appointed and qualify. Vacancies in appointments made by the Governor shall be filled by the Governor for the remainder of the unexpired terms. Vacancies in appointments made by the General Assembly shall be filled in accordance with G.S. 120-122. Persons appointed to fill vacancies shall qualify in the same manner as persons appointed for full terms.

(d) Any member of the Board may be removed from office for misfeasance, malfeasance, nonfeasance, or improper influence in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 143B-13 and the resulting vacancy shall be filled as provided herein for vacancies in general.

(e) The Board of Directors shall adopt bylaws with respect to the call of meetings, quorums, voting procedures, the keeping of records, and such other organizational and administrative matters as the Board of Directors may determine. A quorum shall consist of no less than three members of the Board.

(f) No vacancy in the membership of the Board of Directors shall impair the right of a quorum to exercise all rights and to perform all the duties of the Board of Directors and the Agency.

(g) No part of the revenues or assets of the Agency shall inure to the benefit of or be distributable to its members or officers or other private persons. The members of the Board of Directors shall receive no salary for their services but shall be entitled to receive per diem and allowances in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 138-5.

(h) The Agency shall be contained within the Department of State Treasurer as if it had been transferred to that Department by a Type II transfer as defined in G.S. 143A-6(b). (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-5. General powers of the Agency.

The Agency shall have all of the powers necessary or convenient to carry out and to effect the purposes and provisions of this Chapter, including, without limitation, the powers:

- (1) To make and execute contracts and agreements necessary or incidental to the exercise of its powers and duties under this Chapter, including, without limitation, agreements in respect of loan agreements and agreements with issuers of credit-enhancement facilities, liquidity facilities, bond insurance policies, reserve fund insurance policies and investment contracts, and interest-rate agreements;
- (2) To contract with any unit of local government with respect to any of the matters covered by this Chapter;
- (3) To establish a debt service reserve fund or funds, from moneys in the Solid Waste Management Loan Fund or from other available moneys, and other reserve funds and to borrow money to purchase insurance and investment contracts to establish, maintain, or increase such funds;
- (4) To agree to apply and assign any money, loan agreements, and other revenues;
- (5) To borrow money as herein provided to carry out and effect its corporate purposes and to issue in evidence thereof bonds, notes, or bond anticipation notes for the purpose of providing funds therefor, including funds for the financing and refinancing of the cost of the acquisition or construction of projects, including the payment or advance on behalf of units of local government of the costs of such projects;
- (6) To apply any payments, or prepayments, or principal of or interest on any loan agreement, to the extent such payment or prepayment is not necessary to pay debt service on the Agency's bonds or notes, to the financing of the cost of the acquisition or construction of projects for units of local government to the same extent as provided in G.S. 159I-6;
- (7) To fix, revise, charge and collect, or cause to be fixed, revised, charged, and collected, and to apportion administrative charges among units of local government participating in any program of the Agency.
- (8) To employ an administrator to administer the operations of the Agency, fiscal and financial consultants, underwriters, attorneys, trustees, remarketing agents, and such other consultants, agents, and employees as may be required in the judgment of the Agency and to fix and pay their compensation from funds available to the Agency;
- (9) To apply for, accept, receive and agree to, and to comply with the terms and conditions governing grants, loans, advances, contributions, gifts, and other aid from any source whatsoever, including federal and State sources;
- (10) To sue and be sued in its own name, to plead and be impleaded;
- (11) To adopt an official seal and to alter the same at its pleasure;
- (12) To establish and revise from time to time minimum financial standards and criteria for determining the eligibility of specific units of local government to obtain financing and to make loans as provided in this Chapter;
- (13) To deposit, disburse, and invest, pursuant to the provisions of this Chapter, the proceeds of any fund established in accordance with this Chapter and to determine the application of the proceeds of any earnings thereon, subject to the specific provisions of this Chapter; and
- (14) To act as otherwise necessary or convenient to carry out the purposes of this Chapter. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-6. Specific powers of the Agency.

(a) The Agency shall have the discretion to enter into one or more loan agreements with a unit of local government, providing for the making of a loan by the Agency to the unit of local government, to finance or refinance the cost of the acquisition or construction of a project; and

(b) Any loan agreement entered into by the Agency with a unit of local government shall be in writing and shall set forth the terms and conditions agreed to between the Agency and the unit of local government for the Agency's loan to such unit of local government including, without limitation, the following:

- (1) The term of such loan agreement;
- (2) The payment provisions and prepayment provisions, if any, required:
 - a. To enable the Agency to administer its programs;
 - b. To pay when due the principal of and premium, if any, and interest on bonds or notes or other obligations of the Agency incurred to make such loan; and
 - c. To pay or reimburse the Agency for such unit's administration charges and the cost of establishing and maintaining any reserves;
- (3) The security for payment by the unit of local government of the loan; and
- (4) Such other provisions and covenants as the Board may require.

(c) Nothing in this Chapter shall be deemed to change the application of the provisions of Article 8 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes, relating to competitive bidding for public contracts, or the application of the provisions of Article 3 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes specifically including the provisions of G.S. 143-49(6), as it applies to units of local government financing projects under this Chapter. To the extent that units comply with such competitive bidding requirements, there shall be no further requirements in respect of the Agency. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-7. Solid Waste Management Loan Fund.

(a) A Fund to be known as the Solid Waste Management Loan Fund is established. Moneys appropriated to, paid to, or earned by this Fund shall be deposited with the State Treasurer or a corporate trustee as provided for in G.S. 159I-16, as may be determined by the Board.

(b) Moneys in the Solid Waste Management Loan Fund may be invested in the same manner as permitted for investments of funds belonging to the State or held in the State treasury. Interest earnings derived from such investments shall be credited to the Fund, credited to such other use as may be provided in a trust agreement or resolution securing any bonds or notes issued under the provisions of this Chapter, or credited to such other use, including the payment of administrative expenses of the Agency, the costs of research for solid waste management programs and the making of grants for such research, as may be directed by the Board.

(b1) In connection with solid waste research to be contracted for by the Division, the Secretary of Environment and Natural Resources shall negotiate, with the Board of the Agency, a memorandum of agreement which shall contain necessary rules and provisions for certifying that proper competitive bid procedures, and when appropriate, proper sole source bid procedures, for contracts have been executed in connection with a Request for Proposals (RFP); and, which shall state that a previously determined one-to-one match requirement from private sector sources has been met in accordance with rules and provisions set out in the memorandum of agreement, and that the Secretary is ready to award a contract for a specified amount. The Treasurer, at the direction of the Board, shall certify that funds are available and that the purpose of the contract is consistent with provisions for the use of solid waste loan program proceeds.

(c) Moneys in the Solid Waste Management Loan Fund may be used, as shall be determined by the Board, for any one or more of the following purposes:

- (1) The establishment of one or more debt service reserve funds;
- (2) The obtaining of one or more credit facilities as hereinafter defined in this Chapter;
- (3) The making of loans to units of local government, which loans may be evidenced by debt instruments; and
- (4) The subsidization of interest rates on loans to units of local government.

In addition, any investment income or profit on moneys in the Solid Waste Management Loan Fund or on any moneys transferred from the Fund to a debt service reserve fund may be used, as shall be determined by the Board, to pay administrative expenses of the Agency.

(d) As used in this section, "debt instrument" means an instrument in the nature of a promissory note executed by a unit of local government to evidence a debt to the Agency in respect of a loan made to the unit from the Solid Waste Management Loan Fund and obligation to repay the principal, plus interest, under stated terms. (1989, c. 756, s. 1; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 1004, s. 21; c. 1024, s. 49; 1997-443, s. 11A.119(a).)

§ 159I-8. Eligible purpose.

(a) Loans may be made by the Agency to finance the cost of acquisition or construction of projects. Projects shall include solid waste management projects and capital expenditures to implement such projects, including, without limitation, the purchase of equipment or facilities, construction costs of an incinerator; land to be used for recycling facilities or landfills; leachate collection and treatment systems; liners for landfills; monitoring wells; recycling equipment and facilities; volume reduction equipment; and financing charges.

(b) Projects may not include:

- (1) The operational and maintenance costs of solid waste management facilities or programs;
- (2) General planning or feasibility studies; or
- (3) The purchase of land, unless the land is to be used for a recycling facility or a landfill. (1989, c. 756, s. 1; 1995, c. 384, s. 1.)

§ 159I-9. Application.

(a) All applications for loans shall be filed with the Division. The information required in the application shall be sufficient to permit the Division to determine the eligibility of the applicant pursuant to G.S. 159I-10 and to establish the priority of the application pursuant to G.S. 159I-11. An applicant shall furnish information in addition or supplemental to the information contained in its application upon written request.

(b) Applicants may apply for a loan prior to arranging for repayment. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-10. Eligible applicant.

(a) In determining the eligibility of a unit of local government for financing a project with a loan from the Agency, the Agency may consider:

- (1) The type and useful life of and the need for the project to be financed or refinanced;
- (2) The amount of financing or the cost of the project sought;

- (3) The credit rating, if any, of the unit of local government;
 - (4) The future financing and capital needs of the unit of local government;
 - (5) The availability and cost to the unit of local government of other methods of financing;
 - (6) The construction, disbursement, and management procedures in effect in the unit of local government; and
 - (7) Such other factors as the Agency may, in its discretion, determine to be relevant in the providing of such financing.
- (b) As a condition of determining eligibility for participating in one or more financing programs, the Agency may establish:
- (1) Procedures requiring compliance by units of local government with such construction, disbursement and accounting procedures, and programs as the Agency may determine;
 - (2) Minimum credit ratings or criteria;
 - (3) Minimum and maximum amounts with respect to the cost of the projects to be financed under this Chapter;
 - (4) Procedures that may be employed by the Agency in respect of units of local government that default in their obligations under loan agreements; and
 - (5) Such other procedures, conditions, and requirements as the Agency determines to be necessary or desirable in establishing its programs.

Nothing in this Chapter shall be deemed to restrict or limit the powers otherwise available to a unit of local government except to the extent restricted by the terms of any loan agreements or other agreements between a unit and the Agency, to obtain financing or refinancing for projects from a source other than the Agency or to establish or continue its own financing program or to enter into any other financing program.

(c) A unit of local government is not eligible to finance a project with a loan from the Agency unless the unit holds a public hearing on the issue of obtaining a loan from the Agency before it applies for the loan. The unit must publish notice of the hearing in a newspaper that is qualified for legal advertising in the unit at least ten days before the date fixed for the hearing. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-11. Priority factors.

(a) The Commission for Public Health shall adopt, pursuant to Chapter 150B of the General Statutes, rules for the assignment of a priority to each application for a loan under this Chapter.

(b) An application for a loan under this Chapter shall be assigned a priority by the Division. Factors to be taken into consideration in assigning such priorities shall include, but are not limited to, projects identified by the Division as addressing emergency solid waste management situations, current implementation by the unit of local government of a recycling program or a waste stream reduction program; financial need; multi-county solid waste management projects; groundwater protection needs; local effort; public health needs; and the proposed purpose of the applicant's loan is to implement a method of disposal that is an alternative to landfilling.

(c) A written statement of each priority assigned shall be prepared by the Division and shall be attached to the application. The priority assigned shall be conclusive.

(d) Any application that does not qualify for a loan for the period in which the application was eligible for consideration by reason of the priority assigned shall be considered for a loan during the next period upon written request of the applicant. If the second application should fail to qualify for a loan during the period for consideration by reason of the priority assigned, the application shall receive no further consideration. An applicant may file a new or amended application at any time. (1989, c. 756, s. 1; 2007-182, s. 2.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2007-182, s. 2, effective July 5, 2007, substituted “Commission for Public Health” for “Commission for Health Services” in subsection (a).

§ 159I-12. Units of local government authorized to borrow money from the Agency by loans.

(a) Any unit of local government determined by the Agency to be eligible pursuant to G.S. 159I-10 may borrow money from the Agency for the purpose of financing or refinancing the cost of the acquisition or construction of a project by a unit. The unit shall enter into a loan agreement with the Agency. The loan agreement shall set forth the terms and conditions of the loan, including the terms and conditions described in G.S. 159I-6(b), as determined and approved by the governing body of the unit.

(b) The obligation of a unit of local government under any loan agreement entered into with the Agency pursuant to this section shall be payable and otherwise secured as provided in G.S. 159I-13.

(c) In connection with entering into a loan obligation, any unit of local government may enter into a credit facility, as defined in G.S. 159I-13(g), and the obligation of a unit of local government under the credit facility to repay any drawing thereunder may be made payable and otherwise secured, to the extent applicable, as provided in G.S. 159I-13.

(d) The Agency or a unit of local government may propose an amendment, including an amendment restructuring or otherwise relating to the principal repayment schedule and the interest payment schedule set forth in such loan agreement, upon a determination by the Agency that such amendment is:

- (1) Consistent with the then existing financial condition of the unit of local government and its ability to meet its agreement under the loan agreement; and
- (2) Consistent with the then existing financial condition of the Agency and the administration of the Agency’s duties and responsibilities under this Chapter.

Nothing in this Chapter shall be deemed as restricting the power of the Agency or the unit of local government to agree to any amendment to a loan agreement.

(e) No loan agreement or amendment to a loan agreement may become effective without the approval of the Local Government Commission. In determining whether a loan agreement or any amendment thereto should be approved, the Local Government Commission may consider, to the extent applicable as shall be determined by the Local Government Commission, the criteria set forth in G.S. 159-52 and G.S. 159-86. The Local Government Commission shall approve any such loan agreement, or any amendment thereto, if, upon the information and evidence it receives, it finds and determines that such loan agreement, or amendment thereto, will satisfy its criteria and is consistent with the purposes of this Chapter. After considering a loan agreement or an amendment thereto, the Local Government Commission shall enter its order either approving or disapproving such agreement or amendment. An order of approval may not be regarded as an approval of the legality of such agreement or amendment. The order of the Local Government Commission disapproving such agreement or amendment is final. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-13. Sources and security for units of local government.

(a) The source or sources of and the security for payment of each loan agreement shall be determined by the governing body of such unit of local government and shall be set forth in the loan agreement.

(b) In the event that, under the provisions of The Local Government Bond Act a bond order authorizing the issuance of bonds that pledge the faith and credit of a unit of local government, that is otherwise authorized to issue bonds under the act, for the purpose of providing funds for one or more purposes that constitute eligible projects within the meaning of this Chapter has taken effect, then, in lieu of issuing any bonds authorized or any bond anticipation note in anticipation of such bonds, but not sold and delivered pursuant to such order, the governing body of any unit of local government may enter into a loan agreement authorized by this Chapter and may pledge the faith and credit of such unit to secure its obligation to make the payments required under such loan agreement or a credit facility in support of such loan agreement, provided the following conditions are met:

(1) The aggregate principal amount due under such loan agreement does not exceed the aggregate amount of authorized but unissued bonds, or any bond anticipation notes in anticipation of such bonds, under the bond order; and

(2) The project to be acquired is a purpose for which proceeds of bonds or bond anticipation notes may be expended under the bond order.

(c) Each unit of local government may agree to apply to the payment of a loan agreement any available source or sources of revenues of such unit and, to the extent the generation of such revenues is within the power of such unit, to enter into covenants to take action in order to generate such revenues, provided such agreement to use such sources to make payments or such covenant to generate revenues does not constitute a pledge of the unit's taxing power.

(d) Each unit of local government otherwise having the power of taxation may enter into loan agreements constituting a continuing contract and providing for the making of payments in ensuing fiscal years from any available source or sources of revenues, including the proceeds of taxes realized from the exercise of the unit's power of taxation, appropriated by the unit in its annual budget provided:

(1) The governing body of such unit shall have appropriated sufficient funds to pay any amount to be paid under the loan agreement in the fiscal year in which such contract is entered into, this appropriation to be made prior to the entering into of the loan agreement;

(2) There is included in the loan agreement a provision automatically cancelling the loan agreement in the event the governing body of the unit decides not to appropriate funds to make payment in an ensuing fiscal year in which event the obligation of the unit to make any future payments in any ensuing fiscal year shall cease;

(3) No deficiency judgment requiring the exercise of the unit's power of taxation may be entered against the unit in any action for breach of a contractual obligation authorized by this subsection; and

(4) The taxing power of the unit is not pledged to secure any payments to be made pursuant to the loan agreement and the Agency shall have agreed that it has no right to require the exercise of a unit's power of taxation to secure such loan agreement.

No loan agreement may contain a nonsubstitution clause which restricts the right of a unit to replace or provide a substitute for any project financed pursuant to the loan agreement.

(e) The obligation of a unit of local government with respect to the sources of revenues authorized by subsections (c) and (d) of this section shall be specifically identified in the proceedings of the governing body authorizing the unit to enter into a loan agreement. This loan agreement shall be valid and binding from the date the unit enters into the loan agreement. The sources of payment so specifically identified and then held or thereafter received by a unit, any fiduciary, or the Agency shall immediately be subject to the lien of the loan agreement without any physical delivery of such sources or further act. This lien shall be valid and binding as against all parties having claims of any kind in tort, contract, or otherwise against a unit without regard to whether such parties have notice thereof. The proceedings, the loan agreement, or any other document or action by which the lien on a source of payment is created need not be filed or recorded in any manner other than as provided in the Chapter.

Any loan agreement secured by a source or sources of revenue authorized by subsection (b), (c) or (d) of this section may provide additional security by the granting of a security interest in the project financed to secure payment of the purchase money provided by the loan agreement, including a deed of trust on any real property so acquired.

(f) The interest payable by a unit to the Agency on any loan agreement may be at such rate or rates, including variable rates, as may be determined by the Local Government Commission with the approval of the governing body of such unit. Such approval may be given as the governing body of such unit may direct, including without limitation, a certificate signed by a representative of the unit designated by the governing body of such unit. The Agency may determine that it is necessary that certain provisions in the Agency's bonds or notes be reflected, in similar terms, in loan agreements, so that if it is necessary to vary the interest rate or call the principal prior to maturity of certain of the Agency's bonds or notes the Agency will have the power to effect a similar variation in interest rate or a similar call prior to maturity of certain loan agreements. Accordingly, in fixing the details of a loan agreement, the governing body of such unit may provide that a loan agreement be:

- (1) Made payable from time to time on demand or tender for purchase by the Agency, provided a credit facility supports such a loan agreement. A credit facility is not required if the governing body of such unit specifically determines that a credit facility is not required upon a finding and determination by the governing body that the absence of a credit facility will not affect the unit's ability to make payments on demand or tender, and will not materially and adversely affect the financial position of the unit and the entering into of the loan agreement at a reasonable interest cost to the unit;
 - (2) Additionally supported by a credit facility;
 - (3) Made subject to redemption or a mandatory tender for purchase by the unit prior to maturity; and
 - (4) Bear interest at a rate or rates that may vary for such period or periods of time, all as may be provided in the proceedings of the governing body providing for the entering into of the loan agreement, including, without limitation, such variation as may be permitted pursuant to a par formula.
- (g) As used in this section:
- (1) "Credit facility" means an agreement entered into by the unit of local government with a bank, savings and loan association, or other banking institution; an insurance company, reinsurance company, surety company or other insurance institution; a corporation, investment banking firm or other investment institution; or any financial institution providing for prompt payment of all or any part of the principal or purchase price (whether at maturity, presentment, or tender for purchase, redemption, or acceleration), redemption premium, if any, and interest on any loan agreement payable on demand or tender by the Agency, in consideration of the unit agreeing to repay the provider of such credit facility in accordance with the terms and provisions of the agreement; the provider of any credit facility may be located either within or without the United States of America.

- (2) "Par formula" shall mean any provision or formula adopted by the unit to provide for the adjustment from time to time, of the interest rate or rates borne by any loan agreement, including:
 - a. A provision for such adjustment so that the purchase price of such loan agreement in the open market would be as close to par as possible.
 - b. A provision providing for such adjustment based upon a percentage or percentages of a prime rate or base rate, which percentage or percentages may vary or be applied for different periods of time.
 - c. A provision providing for such adjustment based upon the adjustments of the interest rate or rates of the Agency's bonds and notes, or
 - d. Such other provision as the unit may determine to be consistent with this Chapter and will not affect the unit's ability to pay the principal of and the interest on any loan agreement, and will not materially and adversely affect the financial position of the unit and the entering into of the loan agreement at a reasonable interest cost to the unit.

(h) Any loan agreement may provide for an acceleration of the repayment schedule. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The Local Government Bond Act, referred to in subsection (b), is codified at G.S. 159-43 et seq.

§ 159I-14. Credit of State not pledged.

Bonds or notes issued by the Agency under the provisions of this Chapter shall not be secured by a pledge of the faith and credit of the State or of any political subdivision thereof or be deemed to create an indebtedness of the State, or of any such political subdivision thereof, requiring any voter approval, but shall be payable solely from Agency revenues and other funds provided therefor. Each bond or note issued by the Agency under this Chapter shall contain on its face a statement to the effect that the Agency shall not be obligated to pay the same, the interest, or the premium thereon except from Agency revenues and other funds pledged therefor and that neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of the State or of any political subdivision thereof is pledged as security for the payment of the principal of or the interest or premium on such Agency bond or note.

Expenses incurred by the Agency in carrying out the provisions of this Chapter shall be payable from revenues and other funds provided pursuant to, or available for use under, this Chapter. No liability may be incurred by the Agency beyond the extent to which moneys shall have been so provided. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-15. Bonds and notes.

(a) The Agency may provide for the issuance at one time or from time to time of bonds and notes, including bond anticipation notes and renewal notes, of the Agency to carry out and effectuate its corporate purposes. The principal of and interest on such bonds or notes shall be payable solely from funds provided under this Chapter for such payment. Any bond anticipation notes may be made payable from the proceeds of bonds or renewal notes or, in the event bond or renewal note proceeds are not available, notes may be paid from any available Agency revenues or other funds provided for this purpose. Bonds and notes may also be paid from the proceeds of any credit facility. The bonds and notes of each issue shall be dated and may be made redeemable prior to maturity at the option of the Agency or otherwise, at such price or prices, on such date or dates, and upon such terms and conditions as may be determined by the Agency. The bonds or notes may also be made payable from time to time on demand or tender for purchase by owner, all upon such terms and conditions as may be determined by the Agency. Any such bonds or notes shall bear interest at such rate or rates, including variable rates, as may be determined by the Local Government Commission with the approval of the Agency.

The Agency may also issue one or more series of bonds and notes, including bond anticipation notes and renewal notes, from time to time, to make loans to an individual unit of local government upon a determination, by resolution, of the Board as follows:

- (1) The issuance of a series of bonds or notes by the Agency in order to make a loan to an individual unit of local government, as distinct from the proceeds of such series of bonds or notes being used to provide a pool of money to make a number of such loans, does not materially adversely affect the ability of the Agency to effect its general policy of making loans on a pooled basis.
- (2) The issuance of the series of bonds or notes will not economically disadvantage the Agency and will provide an economic benefit to the individual unit of local government.
- (3) The use, if any, of any of the proceeds of the Solid Waste Management Loan Fund in connection with the Agency financing for an individual unit of local government is consistent with the Agency's use of any proceeds in connection with loans made on a pooled basis.

All of the provisions of this Chapter, including, without limitation, G.S. 159I-13 relating to the sources and security that may be used by units of local government in making loans, shall apply to any Agency financing for an individual unit of local government.

(b) In fixing the details of bonds or notes, the Agency may provide that any of the bonds or notes may:

- (1) Be made payable from time to time on demand or tender for purchase by the owner thereof provided a credit facility supports such bonds or notes, unless the Local Government Commission specifically determines that a credit facility is not required upon a finding and determination by the Local Government Commission that the absence of a credit facility will not materially and adversely affect the financial position of the Agency and the marketing of the bonds or notes at a reasonable interest cost to the Agency;
- (2) Be additionally supported by a credit facility;
- (3) Be made subject to redemption or a mandatory tender for purchase prior to maturity;
- (4) Bear interest at a rate or rates that may vary for such period or periods of time, all as may be provided in the proceedings providing for the issuance of such bonds or notes including, without limitation, such variations as may be permitted pursuant to a par formula; and
- (5) Be made the subject of a remarketing agreement whereby an attempt is made to remarket the bonds or notes to new purchasers prior to their presentment for payment to the provider of the credit facility or to the Agency.

(c) As used in this section:

- (1) "Credit facility" means an agreement entered into by the Agency with a bank, savings and loan association or other banking institution, an insurance company, reinsurance company, surety company or other insurance institution, a corporation, investment banking firm or other investment institution, or any financial institution providing for prompt payment of all or any part of the principal or purchase price (whether at maturity, presentment or tender for purchase, redemption or acceleration), redemption premium, if any, and interest on any bonds or notes payable on demand or tender by the owner, in consideration of the Agency agreeing to repay the provider of such credit facility in accordance with the terms and provisions of such agreement; the provider of any credit facility may be located either within or without the United States of America.
- (2) "Par formula" means any provision or formula adopted by the Agency to provide for the adjustment, from time to time, of the interest rate or rates borne by any bonds or notes including:
 - a. A provision providing for the adjustment so that the purchase price of the bonds or notes in the open market would be as close to par as possible;
 - b. A provision providing for the adjustment based upon a percentage or percentages of a prime rate or base rate, which percentage or percentages may vary or be applied for different periods of time; or
 - c. Such other provisions as the Agency may determine to be consistent with this Chapter and will not materially and adversely affect the financial position of the Agency and the marketing of the bonds or notes at a reasonable interest cost to the Agency.

(d) Notes shall mature at such time or times and bonds shall mature, not exceeding 40 years from their date or dates, as may be determined by the Agency. The Agency shall determine the form and manner of execution of the bonds or notes, including any interest coupons to be attached thereto, and shall fix the denomination or denominations and the place or places of payment of principal and interest, which may be any bank or trust company within or without the United States. In case any officer whose signature or a facsimile of whose signature shall appear on any bonds or notes or coupons, if any, shall cease to be this officer before the delivery thereof, this signature or the facsimile shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if the officer had remained in office until the delivery and any bond or note or coupon may bear the facsimile signatures of such persons who at the actual time of the execution thereof shall be the proper officers to sign although at the date of the bond or note or coupon the persons may not have been these officers. The Agency may also provide for the authentication of the bonds or notes by a trustee or other authenticating agent. The bonds or notes may be issued as certificated or uncertificated obligations or both, and in coupon or in registered form, or both, as the Agency may determine. Provision may be made for the registration of any coupon bonds or notes as to principal alone and also as to both principal and interest, and for the reconversion into coupon bonds or notes of any bonds or notes registered as to both principal and interest, and for the interchange of registered and coupon bonds or notes. Any system for registration may be established as the Agency may determine.

(e) No bonds or notes may be issued by the Agency under this Chapter unless the issuance thereof is approved and the bonds or notes are sold by the Local Government Commission as provided in this Chapter. The Agency shall file with the Secretary of the Local Government Commission an application requesting approval of the issuance of the bonds or notes which application shall contain any such information and shall have attached to it any such documents concerning the proposed financing as the Secretary of the Local Government Commission may require.

In determining whether a proposed bond or note issue should be approved, the Local Government Commission may consider, to the extent applicable as shall be determined by the Local Government Commission, the criteria set forth in G.S. 159-52 and G.S. 159-86, as well as the effect of the proposed financing upon any scheduled or proposed sale of obligations by the State, by any of its agencies or departments, or by any unit of local government in the State. The Local Government Commission shall approve the issuance of such bonds or notes if, upon the information and evidence it receives, it finds and determines that the proposed financing will satisfy such criteria and will effect the purposes of this Chapter.

Upon the filing with the Local Government Commission of a written request of the Agency requesting that its bonds or notes be sold, the bonds or notes may be sold by the Local Government Commission in such manner, either at public or private sale, and for such price or prices as the Local Government Commission shall determine to be in the best interest of the Agency and to effect the purposes of this Chapter, provided that the sale shall be approved by the Agency.

(f) The proceeds of any bonds or notes shall be used solely for the purposes for which the bonds or notes were issued and shall be disbursed in such manner and under such restrictions, if any, as the Agency may provide in the resolution authorizing the issuance of, or in any trust agreement securing, such bonds or notes.

(g) Prior to the preparation of definitive bonds, the Agency may issue interim receipts or temporary bonds, with or without coupons, exchangeable for definitive bonds when the bonds have been executed and are available for delivery. The Agency may also provide for the replacement of any bonds or notes which shall become mutilated or shall be destroyed or lost.

(h) Bonds or notes may be issued under the provision of this Chapter without obtaining, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Chapter, the consent of any department, division, commission, board, body, bureau, or agency of the State and without any other proceedings or the happening of any conditions or things other than those proceedings, conditions, or things that are specifically required by this Chapter and the provisions of the resolution authorizing the issuance of, or any trust agreement securing, such bonds or notes. (1989, c. 756, s. 1; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 1004, ss. 22, 23; c. 1024, s. 38(a), (b).)

§ 159I-16. Trust agreement or resolution.

(a) In the discretion of the Agency, any bonds and notes issued under the provisions of this Chapter may be secured by a trust agreement by and between the Agency and a corporate trustee or by a resolution providing for the appointment of a corporate trustee. The corporate trustee may be, in either case, any trust company or bank having the powers of a trust company within or without the State. Such trust agreement or resolution may pledge or assign all or part of the revenues or assets of the Agency, including, without limitation, loan agreements, agreements or commitments to enter into loan agreements, contracts, agreements and other security or investment obligations, any fees or charges made or received by the Agency, the moneys received in payment of loans and interest thereon, and any other moneys received by the Agency. The trust agreement or resolution may contain such provisions for protecting and enforcing the rights and remedies of the owners of any bonds or notes issued thereunder as may be reasonable and proper and not in violation of law, including covenants setting forth the duties of the Agency in respect of the purposes to which bond or note proceeds may be applied, the disposition and application of the revenues or assets of the Agency, the duties of the Agency with respect to the acquisition and disposition of any project and the purchase, acceptance and disposition of any loan agreement, the charges and collection of any revenues and administrative charges, the terms and conditions for the issuance of additional bonds and notes, and the custody, safeguarding, investment, and application of all moneys. All bonds and notes issued under this Chapter shall be equally and ratably secured by a pledge, charge, and lien upon the revenues or assets provided in such trust agreement or resolution, without priority by reason of number, or dates of bonds or notes, execution, or delivery, in accordance with the provision of this Chapter and of such trust agreement or resolution; except that the Agency may provide in such trust agreement or resolution that bonds or notes issued pursuant thereto shall, to the extent and in the manner prescribed in such trust agreement or resolution, be subordinated and junior in standing, with respect to the payment of principal and interest and to the security thereof, to any other bonds or notes. It shall be lawful for any bank or trust company that may act as depository of the proceeds of bonds or notes, revenues, assets, or other money hereunder to furnish such indemnifying bonds or to pledge such securities as may be required by the Agency. Any trust agreement or resolution may set out the rights and remedies of the owners of any bonds or notes and of any trustee, and may restrict the individual rights of action by any such owners. In addition to the foregoing, any trust agreement or resolution may contain such other provisions as the Agency may deem reasonable and proper for the security of the owners of any bonds or notes. Expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of any trust agreement or resolution may be treated as a part of the cost of any project or as an administrative charge and may be paid from the revenues or assets pledged or assigned to the payment of the principal of and the interest on bonds and notes or from any other funds available to the Agency.

(b) The Agency may set the terms and conditions of loan agreements, including, without limitation, the repayment terms, so as to provide a fund sufficient, with such other funds as may be made available therefor, including, without limitation, investment income and the proceeds of administrative charges to the extent determined by the Agency:

- (1) To pay the costs of operation of the Agency,
- (2) To pay the principal of and the interest on all bonds and notes as the same shall become due and payable, and
- (3) To create and maintain any reserves provided for in the trust agreement or resolution securing such bonds or notes.

(c) All pledges of any assets or revenues of the Agency as authorized by this Chapter shall be valid and binding from the time when such pledges are made. All such assets or revenues so pledged and thereafter received by the Agency shall immediately be subject to the lien of such pledge without any physical delivery thereof or further act, and the lien of any such pledge shall be valid and binding as against all parties having claims of any kind in tort, contract, or otherwise against the Agency, irrespective of whether such parties have notice thereof. The trust agreement or resolution by which a pledge is created or any loan obligation need not be filed or recorded except in the records of the Agency.

(d) The State does pledge to and agree with the holders of any bonds or notes issued by the Agency that so long as any of such bonds or notes are outstanding and unpaid the State will not limit or alter the rights vested in the Agency at the time of issuance of the bonds or notes to set the terms and conditions of loan agreements in connection with which the bonds or notes were issued, so as to provide a fund sufficient, with such other funds as may be made available therefor, including without limitation, investment income and the proceeds of administrative charges to the extent determined by the Agency, to pay the costs of operation of the Agency, to pay the principal of and the interest on all bonds and notes as the same shall become due and payable, and to create and maintain any reserves provided therefor, and to fulfill the terms of any agreements made with the bondholders or noteholders. The State shall in no way impair the rights and remedies of the bondholders or noteholders until the bonds or notes and all costs and expenses in connection with any action or proceedings by or on behalf of the bondholders or noteholders, are fully paid, met, and discharged. (1989, c. 756, s. 1; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 1004, ss. 24, 25; c. 1024, s. 38(c), (d).)

§ 159I-17. Trust funds.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, all moneys received pursuant to this Chapter, including, without limitation, payments made under and the proceeds received from the sale or other disposition of loan agreement, proceeds received from the disposition by the Agency of any project and any other revenues and funds received by the Agency, (except any portion, as designated by the Agency, representing administrative charges), shall be deemed to be trust funds to be held and applied solely as provided in this Chapter. The resolution authorizing the issuance of, or any trust agreement securing, any bonds or notes may provide that any of such moneys may be invested temporarily pending the disbursement thereof and shall provide that any officer with whom or any bank or trust company with which such moneys shall be deposited, shall act as trustee of such moneys and shall hold and apply the same for the purposes of this Chapter subject to such regulations as this Chapter or such resolution or trust agreement may provide. Any such moneys may be deposited and invested as provided in G.S. 159-30 and G.S. 147-69.1, as either section may be amended from time to time, provided, however that:

- (1) Any deposit or investment authorized by G.S. 159-30 or G.S. 147-69.1 may be deposited or invested with any bank located inside or outside the State, including outside the United States of America, provided that any such bank is a bank whose unsecured obligations are rated in either of the two highest rating categories by either Moody's Investors Service or Standard & Poor's Corporation; and
- (2) Any deposit or investment may be made pursuant to either G.S. 159-30 or G.S. 147-69.1. If one section is less restrictive or the other section authorizes additional deposit and investment options, the Agency may proceed under either section in order that the Agency shall have the broadest deposit and investment options available under either section. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-18. Remedies.

Any owner of bonds or notes issued under the provisions of this Chapter or any coupons appertaining thereto, and the trustee under any trust agreement securing or resolution authorizing the issuance of such bonds or notes, except to the extent the rights herein given may be restricted by such trust agreement or resolution, may either at law or in equity, by suit, action, mandamus, or other proceeding, protect and enforce any and all rights under the laws of the State or granted hereunder or under such trust agreement or resolution, or under any other contract executed by the Agency pursuant to this Chapter; and may enforce and compel the performance of all duties required by this Chapter or by such trust agreement or resolution by the Agency or by any officer thereof. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-19. Status of bonds and notes under Uniform Commercial Code.

All bonds and notes and interest coupons, if any, issued under this Chapter are hereby made investment securities within the meaning of and for all the purposes of Article 8 of the Uniform Commercial Code, as enacted in Chapter 25 of the General Statutes. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-20. Bonds and notes eligible for investment.

Bonds and notes issued under the provisions of this Chapter are hereby made securities in which all public offices, agencies, and public bodies of the State and its political subdivisions, all insurance companies, trust companies, investment companies, banks, savings banks, building and loan associations, credit unions, pension or retirement funds, other financial institutions engaged in business in the State, executors, administrators, trustees, and other fiduciaries may properly and legally invest funds, including capital in their control or belonging to them. Such bonds or notes are hereby made securities, which may properly and legally be deposited with and received by any officer or agency of the State or political subdivision of the State for any purpose for which the deposit of bonds, notes, or obligations of the State or any political subdivision is now or may hereafter be authorized by law. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-21. Refunding bonds and notes.

(a) The Agency may issue bonds and notes for the purposes of refunding any bonds or notes issued pursuant to this Chapter, including the payment of any redemption premium thereon and any interest accrued or to accrue to the date of redemption or maturity of such bonds or notes, and, if deemed advisable by the Agency, for any additional corporate purposes of the Agency.

Any such refunding bonds or notes may bear interest at rates, including variable rates as authorized in G.S. 159I-15, lower, the same as, or higher than and have maturities shorter than, the same as, or longer than the bonds or notes being refunded. The proceeds of any such refunding bonds or notes may be applied:

- (1) To the payment and retirement of the bonds or notes being refunded by direct application to such payment and retirement;
 - (2) To the payment and retirement of the bonds or notes being refunded by the deposit in trust of such proceeds;
 - (3) To the payment of any expenses incurred in connection with such refunding; and
 - (4) For any other uses not inconsistent with such refunding.
- (b) Any money so held in trust may be invested in:
- (1) Direct obligations of the United States of America.
 - (2) Obligations, the principal of and the interest on which are guaranteed by the United States of America.
 - (3) Evidences of ownership of a proportionate interest in specified obligations described in subdivision (1) and (2) of this subsection, which obligations are held by a bank or trust company organized and existing under the laws of the United States of America or any state thereof in the capacity of custodian.
 - (4) Obligations of the State or local governments of the State, provision for the payment of the principal of and interest on which obligations shall have been made by deposit with a trustee or escrow agent of obligations described in subdivisions (1), (2) or (3) of this subsection, the maturing principal of any interest on which, when due and payable, shall provide sufficient money with any other money held in trust for such purpose to pay the principal of, premium, if any, and interest on such obligations of the State or units of local government and which are rated in the highest category by Standard & Poor's Corporation and Moody's Investors Service.

- (5) Obligations of the State or local governments of the State, the principal of and interest on which, when due and payable, have been insured by a bond insurance company which is rated in the highest category by Standard & Poor's Corporation and Moody's Investors Service.
- (6) Full faith and credit obligations of the State or local governments of the State, which are rated in the highest category by Standard & Poor's Corporation and Moody's Investors Service.
- (7) Any obligations or investments in which the State Treasurer is authorized, at the time of such investment, to invest funds of the State.

The proceedings providing for the issuance of any refunding bonds or notes may limit the investments in which the proceeds of a particular refunding issue may be invested.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed as a limitation on:

- (1) The duration of any deposit in trust for the retirement of bonds or notes being refunded, but which shall not have matured and which shall not be then redeemable or, if then redeemable, shall not have been called for redemption; or
- (2) The power to issue bonds or notes for the combined purpose of refunding bonds or notes and providing moneys for any corporate purpose as provided in this Chapter. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-22. Officers not liable.

§ 159I-23. Tax exemption.

All of the bonds and notes authorized by this Chapter shall be exempt from all State, county, and municipal taxation or assessment, direct or indirect, general or special, whether imposed for the purpose of general revenue or otherwise, excluding inheritance and gift taxes, income taxes on the gain from the transfer of the bonds and notes, and franchise taxes. The interest on the bonds and notes shall not be subject to taxation as income. (1989, c. 756, s. 1; 1995, c. 46, s. 19.)

§ 159I-24. Conflicts of interest.

If any member, officer, or employee of the Agency shall be interested either directly or indirectly, or shall be an officer or employee of or have an ownership interest in any firm or corporation, not including units of local government interested directly or indirectly, in any contract with the Agency, such interest shall be disclosed to the Agency and shall be set forth in the minutes of the Agency. The member, officer, or employee having an interest therein shall not participate on behalf of the Agency in the authorization of any such contract. Other provisions of law notwithstanding, failure to take any or all actions necessary to carry out the purposes of this section may not affect the validity of any bonds, notes, or loan agreements issued pursuant to the provisions of this Chapter. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-25. Disbursement.

(a) The proceeds of any bonds or notes to be used to make loans shall be disbursed by, or pursuant to the direction of, the Office of State Budget and Management. No such proceeds shall be disbursed until the Office of State Budget and Management has received from the Division a certificate of eligibility that states that the applicant meets all eligibility criteria, and that all procedural requirements of this Chapter have been met.

(b) Once the prerequisites for disbursement have been satisfied pursuant to subsection (a) of this section, the proceeds shall be disbursed as the Board may provide. (1989, c. 756, s. 1; 2000-140, s. 93.1(a); 2001-424, s. 12.2(b).)

§ 159I-26. Withdrawal of commitment.

Failure of an applicant, within one year of the date of acceptance of a loan application to arrange for necessary financing of the proposed project, shall constitute sufficient cause for withdrawal of the commitment. Prior to withdrawal of a commitment, the Division shall give due consideration to any extenuating circumstances presented by the applicant as reasons for its failure to arrange necessary financing. The commitment may be extended for an additional period of time if, in the judgment of the Division, an extension is justified. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-27. Inspection.

(a) The Division shall perform one or more inspections of each project and shall monitor its progress. If the Division determines that the project is not in substantial compliance with the approved schedule of implementation, the Division may revoke its approval of the project, further disbursement of loan proceeds may be rescinded, and the outstanding loan, together with accrued interest, may immediately become due and payable.

(b) Inspection of a project for which a loan has been made under this Chapter may be performed by qualified personnel of the Division or by qualified professional engineers, registered in this State, who have been approved by the Division. No person may be approved to perform inspections who is an officer or employee of the unit of local government to which the loan was made or who is an owner, officer, employee or agent of a contractor or subcontractor engaged in the construction of any project for which the loan was made. (1989, c. 756, s. 1.)

§ 159I-28. Rules.

(a) The Office of State Budget and Management and the Commission for Public Health may adopt, modify and repeal rules establishing the procedures to be followed in the administration of this Chapter and regulations interpreting and applying the provisions of this Chapter, as provided in the Administrative Procedure Act. Uniform rules may be jointly adopted where feasible and desirable, and no rule jointly adopted may be modified or revoked except upon the concurrence of both agencies involved.

(b) A copy of the rules adopted to implement the provisions of this Chapter shall be furnished free of charge by the Division and the Office of State Budget and Management to any unit of local government. (1989, c. 756, s. 1; 1997-443, s. 11A.114; 2000-140, s. 93.1(a); 2001-424, s. 12.2(b); 2007-182, s. 2.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2007-182, s. 2, effective July 5, 2007, substituted “Commission for Public Health” for “Commission for Health Services” in subsection (a).

§ 159I-29. Annual reports to Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations.

(a) The Office of State Budget and Management and the Division shall prepare and file on or before July 31 of each year with the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations a consolidated report for the preceding fiscal year concerning the allocation of loans authorized by this Chapter.

(b) The portion of the report prepared by the Office of State Budget and Management shall set forth for the preceding fiscal year itemized and total allocations for loans authorized by the Division. The Office of State Budget and Management shall also prepare a summary report of all allocations for each fiscal year; the total funds received and allocations made; and the total unallocated funds as of the end of the preceding fiscal year.

(c) The portion of the report prepared by the Division shall include:

- (1) Identification of each loan made during the preceding fiscal year; the total amount of the loan commitments; the sums actually paid during the preceding fiscal year to each loan disbursed and to each loan previously committed but unpaid; and the total loan funds paid during the preceding fiscal year;
- (2) A summary for all preceding years of the total number of loans made; the total funds committed to these loans; the total sum actually paid to loans; and
- (3) Assessment and evaluation of the effects that approved projects have had upon solid waste management within the purposes of this Chapter.

(d) The report shall be signed by each of the chief executive officers of the two State agencies preparing the report. (1989, c. 756, s. 1; 1993, c. 553, s. 57; 2000-140, s. 93.1(a); 2001-424, s. 12.2(b).)

§ 159I-30. Additional powers of units of local government; issuance of special obligation bonds and notes.

(a) Authorization. — Any unit of local government may borrow money for the purpose of financing or refinancing its cost of the acquisition or construction of a project and may issue special obligation bonds and notes, including bond anticipation notes and renewal notes, pursuant to the provisions of this section and the applicable provisions of this Chapter for this purpose.

(b) Pledge. — Each unit of local government may pledge for the payment of a special obligation bond or note any available source or sources of revenues of the unit and, to the extent the generation of the revenues is within the power of the unit, may enter into covenants to take action in order to generate the revenues, as long as the pledge of these sources for payments or the covenant to generate revenues does not constitute a pledge of the unit's taxing power.

No agreement or covenant shall contain a nonsubstitution clause which restricts the right of a unit of local government to replace or provide a substitute for any project financed pursuant to this section.

The sources of payment pledged by a unit of local government shall be specifically identified in the proceedings of the governing body authorizing the unit to issue the special obligation bonds or notes.

After the issuance of special obligation bonds or notes, the governing body of the issuing unit may identify one or more additional sources of payment for the bonds or notes and pledge these sources, as long as the pledge of the sources does not constitute a pledge of the taxing power of the unit. Each source of additional payment pledged shall be specifically identified in the proceedings of the governing body of the unit pledging the source. The governing body of the unit may not pledge an additional source of revenue pursuant to this paragraph unless the pledge is first approved by the Local Government Commission pursuant to the procedures provided in subsection (i) of this section.

The sources of payment so pledged and then held or thereafter received by a unit or any fiduciary thereof shall immediately be subject to the lien of the pledge without any physical delivery of the sources or further act. The lien shall be valid and binding as against all parties having claims of any kind in tort, contract, or otherwise against a unit without regard to whether the parties have notice thereof. The proceedings or any other document or action by which the lien on a source of payment is created need not be filed or recorded in any manner other than as provided in this Chapter.

(b1) Security Interest. — In connection with issuing its special obligation bonds or special obligation bond anticipation notes under this Chapter, a unit of local government may grant a security interest in the project financed, or in all or some portion of the property on which the project is located, or in both. If a unit of local government determines to provide additional security as authorized by this subsection, the following conditions apply:

- (1) No bond order may contain a nonsubstitution clause that restricts the right of a unit of local government to:
 - a. Continue to provide a service or activity; or
 - b. Replace or provide a substitute for any municipal purpose financed pursuant to the bond order.
- (2) A bond order is subject to approval by the Commission under Article 8 of Chapter 159 of the General Statutes if it:
 - a. Meets the standards set out in G.S. 159-148(a)(1), 159-148(a)(2), and 159-148(a)(3), or involves the construction or repair of fixtures or improvements on real property; and
 - b. Is not exempted from the provisions of that Article by one of the exemptions contained in G.S. 159-148(b)(1) and (2).

The Commission approval required by this subdivision is in addition to the Commission approval required by subsection (i) of this section.

- (3) No deficiency judgment may be rendered against any unit of local government in any action for breach of a bond order authorized by this section, and the taxing power of a unit of local government is not and may not be pledged directly or indirectly to secure any moneys due under a bond order authorized by this section. This prohibition does not impair the right of the holder of a bond or note to exercise a remedy with respect to the revenues pledged to secure the bond or note, as provided in the bond order, resolution, or trust agreement under which the bond or note is authorized and secured. A unit of local government may, in its sole discretion, use tax proceeds to pay the principal of or interest or premium on bonds or notes, but shall not pledge or agree to do so.
- (4) Before granting a security interest under this subsection, a unit of local government shall hold a public hearing on the proposed security interest. A notice of the public hearing shall be published once at least 10 days before the date fixed for the hearing.

(c) Payment; Call. — Any bond anticipation notes may be made payable from the proceeds of bonds or renewal notes or, in the event bond or renewal note proceeds are not available, the notes may be paid from any sources available under G.S. 159I-30(b). Bonds or notes may also be paid from the proceeds of any credit facility. The bonds and notes of each issue shall be dated and may be made redeemable prior to maturity at the option of the unit of local government or otherwise, at such price or prices, on such date or dates, and upon such terms and conditions as may be determined by the unit. The bonds or notes may also be made payable from time to time on demand or tender for purchase by the owner, upon terms and conditions determined by the unit.

(d) Interest. — The interest payable by a unit on any special obligation bonds or notes may be at such rate or rates, including variable rates as authorized in this section, as may be determined by the Local Government Commission with the approval of the governing body of the unit. This approval may be given as the governing body of the unit may direct, including, without limitation, a certificate signed by a representative of the unit designated by the governing body of the unit.

(e) Nature of Obligation. — Special obligation bonds and notes shall be special obligations of the unit of local government issuing them. The principal of, and interest and any premium on, special obligation bonds and notes shall be secured solely by any one or more of the sources of payment authorized by this section as may be pledged in the proceedings, resolution, or trust agreement under which they are authorized or secured. Neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of the unit of local government are pledged for the payment of the principal of, or interest or any premium on, any special obligation bonds or notes, and no owner of special obligation bonds or notes has the right to compel the exercise of the taxing power by the unit in connection with any default thereon. Every special obligation bond and note shall recite in substance that the principal and interest and any premium on the bond or note are secured solely by the sources of payment pledged in the bond order, resolution, or trust agreement under which it is authorized or secured. The following limitations apply to payment from the specified sources:

- (1) Any such use of these sources will not constitute a pledge of the unit's taxing power; and
- (2) The unit is not obligated to pay the principal or interest or premium except from these sources.

(f) Details. — In fixing the details of bonds or notes, the unit of local government may provide that any of the bonds or notes may:

- (1) Be made payable from time to time on demand or tender for purchase by the owner thereof as long as a credit facility supports the bonds or notes, unless the Local Government Commission specifically determines that a credit facility is not required upon a finding and determination by the Local Government Commission that the absence of a credit facility will not materially and adversely affect the financial position of the unit and the marketing of the bonds or notes at a reasonable interest cost to the unit;
- (2) Be additionally supported by a credit facility;
- (3) Be made subject to redemption or a mandatory tender for purchase prior to maturity;
- (4) Bear interest at a rate or rates that may vary for such period or periods of time, all as may be provided in the proceedings providing for the issuance of the bonds or notes including, without limitation, such variations as may be permitted pursuant to a par formula; and
- (5) Be made the subject of a remarketing agreement whereby an attempt is made to remarket the bonds or notes to new purchasers prior to their presentment for payment to the provider of the credit facility or to the unit.

(g) Definitions. — The following definitions apply in this section:

- (1) Credit facility. — An agreement entered into by the unit with a bank, a savings and loan association, or another banking institution; an insurance company, a reinsurance company, a surety company, or another insurance institution; a corporation, an investment banking firm, or another investment institution; or any financial institution, providing for prompt payment of all or any part of the principal, or purchase price (whether at maturity, presentment, or tender for purchase, redemption, or acceleration), redemption premium, if any,

and interest on any bonds or notes payable on demand or tender by the owner, in consideration of the unit agreeing to repay the provider of the credit facility in accordance with the terms and provisions of the agreement; the provider of any credit facility may be located either within or without the United States of America.

- (2) Par formula. — Any provision or formula adopted by the unit to provide for the adjustment, from time to time of the interest rate or rates borne by any bonds or notes including:
 - a. A provision providing for such adjustment so that the purchase price of such bonds or notes in the open market would be as close to par as possible;
 - b. A provision providing for such adjustment based upon a percentage or percentages of a prime rate or base rate, which percentage or percentages may vary or be applied for different periods of time; or
 - c. Any other provision as the unit may determine to be consistent with this section and the applicable provisions of this Chapter and does not materially and adversely affect the financial position of the unit and the marketing of the bonds or notes at a reasonable interest cost to the unit.
- (3) Project. — Any of the following:
 - a. A project as defined in G.S. 159I-3.
 - b. Any of the following as defined in S.L. 1998-132: water supply systems, water conservation projects, water reuse projects, wastewater collection systems, and wastewater treatment works.
 - c. With respect to a city, any service or facility authorized by G.S. 160A-536 and provided in a municipal service district.

(g1) Credit Facility. — The obligation of a unit of local government under a credit facility to repay any drawing thereunder may be made payable and otherwise secured, to the extent applicable, as provided in this section.

(h) Term; Form. — Notes shall mature at such time or times and bonds shall mature, not exceeding 40 years from their date or dates, as may be determined by the unit of local government, except that no such maturity dates may exceed the maximum maturity periods prescribed by the Local Government Commission pursuant to G.S. 159-122, as it may be amended from time to time. The unit shall determine the form and manner of execution of the bonds or notes, including any interest coupons to be attached thereto, and shall fix the denomination or denominations and the place or places of payment of principal and interest, which may be any bank or trust company within or without the United States. In case any officer of the unit whose signature, or a facsimile of whose signature, appears on any bonds or notes or coupons, if any, ceases to be the officer before delivery thereof, the signature or facsimile shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes the same as if the officer had remained in office until the delivery. Any bond or note or coupon may bear the facsimile signatures of such persons who at the actual time or the execution thereof were the proper officers to sign although at the date of the bond or note or coupon these persons may not have been the proper officers. The unit may also provide for the authentication of the bonds or notes by a trustee or other authenticating agent. The bonds or notes may be issued as certificated or uncertificated obligations or both, and in coupon or in registered form, or both, as the unit may determine, and provision may be made for the registration of any coupon bonds or notes as to principal alone and also as to both principal and interest, and for the reconversion into coupon bonds or notes of any bonds or notes registered as to both principal and interest, and for the interchange of registered and coupon bonds or notes. Any system for registration may be established as the unit may determine.

(i) Local Government Commission Approval. — No bonds or notes may be issued by a unit of local government under this section unless the issuance is approved and the bonds or notes are sold by the Local Government Commission as provided in this section and the applicable provisions of this Chapter. The unit shall file with the Secretary of the Local Government Commission an application requesting approval of the issuance of the bonds or notes, which application shall contain such information and shall have attached to it such documents concerning the proposed financing as the Secretary of the Local Government Commission may require. The Commission may prescribe the form of the application. Before the Secretary accepts the application, the Secretary may require the governing body of the unit or its representatives to attend a preliminary conference, at which time the Secretary or the deputies of the Secretary may informally discuss the proposed issue and the timing of the steps taken in issuing the special obligation bonds or notes.

In determining whether a proposed bond or note issue should be approved, the Local Government Commission may consider, to the extent applicable as shall be determined by the Local Government Commission, the criteria set forth in G.S. 159-52 and G.S. 159-86, as either may be amended from time to time, as well as the effect of the proposed financing upon any scheduled or proposed sale of obligations by the State or by any of its agencies or departments or by any unit of local government in the State. The Local Government Commission shall approve the issuance of the bonds or notes if, upon the information and evidence it receives, it finds and determines that the proposed financing will satisfy such criteria and will effect the purposes of this section and the applicable provisions of this Chapter. An approval of an issue shall not be regarded as an approval of the legality of the issue in any respect. A decision by the Local Government Commission denying an application is final.

Upon the filing with the Local Government Commission of a written request of the unit requesting that its bonds or notes be sold, the bonds or notes may be sold by the Local Government Commission in such manner, either at public or private sale, and for such price or prices as the Local Government Commission shall determine to be in the best interests of the unit and to effect the purposes of this section and the applicable provisions of this Chapter, if the sale is approved by the unit.

(j) Proceeds. — The proceeds of any bonds or notes shall be used solely for the purposes for which the bonds or notes were issued and shall be disbursed in such manner and under such restrictions, if any, as the unit may provide in the resolution authorizing the issuance of, or in any trust agreement securing, the bonds or notes.

(k) Interim Documents; Replacement. — Prior to the preparation of definitive bonds, the unit may issue interim receipts or temporary bonds, with or without coupons, exchangeable for definitive bonds when definitive bonds have been executed and are available for delivery. The unit may also provide for the replacement of any bonds or notes which shall become mutilated or shall be destroyed or lost.

(l) No Other Conditions. — Bonds or notes may be issued under the provisions of this section and the applicable provisions of this Chapter without obtaining, except as otherwise expressly provided in this section and the applicable provisions of this Chapter, the consent of any department, division, commission, board, body, bureau, or agency of the State and without any other proceedings or the happening of any conditions or things other than those proceedings, conditions, or things that are specifically required by this section, the applicable provisions of this Chapter, and the provisions of the resolution authorizing the issuance of, or any trust agreement securing, the bonds or notes.

(m) Trust. — In the discretion of the unit of local government, any bonds and notes issued under the provisions of this section may be secured by a trust agreement by and between the unit and a corporate trustee or by a resolution providing for the appointment of a corporate trustee. Bonds and notes may also be issued under an order or resolution without a corporate trustee. The corporate trustee may be, in either case any trust company or bank having the powers of a trust company within or without the State. The trust agreement or resolution may pledge or assign such sources of revenue as may be permitted under this section. The trust agreement or resolution may contain such provisions for protecting and enforcing the rights and remedies of the owners of any bonds or notes issued thereunder as may be reasonable and proper and not in violation of law, including covenants setting forth the duties of the unit in respect of the purposes to which bond or note proceeds may be applied, the disposition and application of the revenues of the unit, the duties of the unit with respect to the project, the disposition of any charges and collection of any revenues and administrative charges, the terms and conditions of the issuance of additional bonds and notes, and the custody, safeguarding, investment, and application of all moneys. All bonds and notes issued under this section shall be equally and ratably secured by a lien upon the revenues pledged in the trust agreement or resolution, without priority by reasons of number, or dates of bonds or notes, execution, or delivery, in accordance with the provision of this section and of the trust agreement or resolution, except that the unit may provide in the trust agreement or resolution that bonds or notes issued pursuant thereto shall, to the extent and in the manner prescribed in the trust agreement or resolution, be subordinated and junior in standing, with respect to the payment of principal and interest and to the security thereof, to any other bonds or notes. It shall be lawful for any bank or trust company that may act as depository of the proceeds of bonds or notes, revenues, or any other money hereunder to furnish such indemnifying bonds or to pledge such securities as may be required by the unit. Any trust agreement or resolution may set out the rights and remedies of the owners of any bonds or notes and of any trustee, and may restrict the individual rights of action by the owners. In addition to the foregoing, any trust agreement or resolution may contain such other provisions as the unit may deem reasonable and proper for the security of the owners of any bonds or notes. Expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of any trust agreement or resolution may be treated as a part of the cost of any project or as an administrative charge and may be paid from the revenues or from any other funds available.

The State does pledge to, and agree with, the holders of any bonds or notes issued by any unit that so long as any of the bonds or notes are outstanding and unpaid the State will not limit or alter the rights vested in the unit at the time of issuance of the bonds or notes to set the terms and conditions of the bonds or notes and to fulfill the terms of any agreements made with the bondholders or noteholders. The State shall in no way impair the rights and remedies of the bondholders or noteholders until the bonds or notes and all costs and expenses in connection with any action or proceedings by or on behalf of the bondholders or noteholders, are fully paid, met, and discharged.

(n) Applicable Provisions. — The provisions of G.S. 159I-15(a), (d), and (e) relating to the Agency and its bonds and notes shall apply to a unit of local government and its bonds and notes issued under this section and the applicable provisions of this Chapter, except that the source or sources of revenue pledged to pay bonds and notes of a unit of local government shall be limited as provided in this section.

The provisions of G.S. 159I-17 relating to the Agency and its trust funds and investments shall apply to a unit of local government and its trust funds and investments, except that any such moneys of a unit shall be deposited and invested only as provided in G.S. 159-30, as it may be amended from time to time.

The provisions of G.S. 159I-18, 159I-19, 159I-20, and 159I-23 relating to remedies, the Uniform Commercial Code, investment eligibility, and tax exemption, as they relate to the Agency's bonds and notes, shall apply to a unit of local government and its bonds and notes. ARTICLE 1.

*Definitions and Statutory Construction.§ 160A-1. Application and meaning of terms.

Unless otherwise specifically provided, or unless otherwise clearly required by the context, the words and phrases defined in this section shall have the meaning indicated when used in this Chapter.

- (1) "Charter" means the entire body of local acts currently in force applicable to a particular city, including articles of incorporation issued to a city by an administrative agency of the State, and any amendments thereto adopted pursuant to 1917 Public Laws, Chapter 136, Subchapter 16, Part VIII, sections 1 and 2, or Article 5, Part 4, of this Chapter.
- (2) "City" means a municipal corporation organized under the laws of this State for the better government of the people within its jurisdiction and having the powers, duties, privileges, and immunities conferred by law on cities, towns, and villages. The term "city" does not include counties or municipal corporations organized for a special purpose. "City" is interchangeable with the terms "town" and "village," is used throughout this Chapter in preference to those terms, and shall mean any city as defined in this subdivision without regard to the terminology employed in charters, local acts, other portions of the General Statutes, or local customary usage. The terms "city" or "incorporated municipality" do not include a municipal corporation that, without regard to its date of incorporation, would be disqualified from receiving gasoline tax allocations by G.S. 136-41.2(a), except that the end of status as a city under this sentence shall not affect the levy or collection of any tax or assessment, or any criminal or civil liability, and shall not serve to escheat any property until five years after the end of such status as a city, or until September 1, 1991, whichever comes later.
- (3) "Council" means the governing board of a city. "Council" is interchangeable with the terms "board of aldermen" and "board of commissioners," is used throughout this Chapter in preference to those terms, and shall mean any city council as defined in this subdivision without regard to the terminology employed in charters, local acts, other portions of the General Statutes, or local customary usage.
- (4) "General law" means an act of the General Assembly applying to all units of local government, to all cities, or to all cities within a class defined by population or other criteria, including a law that meets the foregoing standards but contains a clause or section exempting from its effect one or more cities or all cities in one or more counties.
- (5) "Local act" means an act of the General Assembly applying to one or more specific cities by name, or to all cities within one or more specifically named counties. "Local act" is interchangeable with the terms "special act," "public-local act," and "private act," is used throughout this Chapter in preference to those terms, and shall mean a local act as defined in this subdivision without regard to the terminology employed in charters, local acts, or other portions of the General Statutes.

- (6) "Mayor" means the chief executive officer of a city by whatever title known.
- (7) "Publish," "publication," and other forms of the verb "to publish" mean insertion in a newspaper qualified under G.S. 1-597 to publish legal advertisements in the county or counties in which the city is located.
- (8) "Rural Fire Department" means, for the purpose of Articles 4A or 14 of this Chapter, a bona fide department which, as determined by the Commissioner of Insurance, is classified as not less than class "9" in accordance with rating methods, schedules, classifications, underwriting rules, bylaws or regulations effective or applied with respect to the establishment of rates or premiums used or charged pursuant to Article 36 or Article 40 of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes, and which operates fire apparatus and equipment of the value of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or more; but it does not include a municipal fire department. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 3; 1983, c. 636, s. 17.1; 1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 934, s. 1.)

Local Modification. — Union: 1983, c. 150; (As to Chapter 160A) Cabarrus: 1985, c. 194, s. 3.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which amended this section, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

Section 38 of Session Laws 1983, c. 636 provided: "This act shall be effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after the date of ratification of this act, except that Sections 36 and 37 shall become effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after July 1, 1984, Sections 25.1 through 35.5 and Section 37.1 are effective upon ratification and Section 25 shall become effective as provided in that section. No annexation where a resolution of intent was adopted prior to the date of ratification of this act shall be affected by this act except as provided in Section 25."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

CASE NOTES

Constitutionality. — See In re Annexation Ordinance No. 1219, 62 N.C. App. 588, 303 S.E.2d 380, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 309 N.C. 820, 310 S.E.2d 351 (1983).

Enactment Held a "Local Act". — Under this Chapter, Session Laws 1967, c. 506, which permits the City of Durham to employ the "quick-take" condemnation procedure provided by Article 9 of Chapter 136 of the General Statutes, is a local act and a part of the charter of the City of Durham. City of Durham v. Manson, 285 N.C. 741, 208 S.E.2d 662 (1974).

Session Laws 1967, c. 506, relating to municipal eminent domain procedures, is a legislative act which applies specifically to Durham by name, and is, therefore, a "local act" as that term is defined in subdivision (5) of this section, and as such it is subject to the applicable provisions of this Chapter. City of Durham v. Manson, 21 N.C. App. 161, 204 S.E.2d 41, modified and aff'd, 285 N.C. 741, 208 S.E.2d 662 (1974).

Housing authority provided a governmental function and was entitled to rely on doctrine of governmental immunity as it related to a personal injury suit brought against it; G.S. 160A-485(a) did not control whether or not the housing authority had legal capacity to waive its immunity by buying insurance, but authority could have accepted liability to the extent of insurance purchased, and the case was therefore remanded since the appellate court was unable to discern whether the trial court's denial of the housing authority's motion to dismiss was premised upon the housing authority's insurance coverage. Evans v. Hous. Auth., 359 N.C. 50, 602 S.E.2d 668, 2004 N.C. LEXIS 1125 (2004).

§ 160A-2. Effect upon prior laws.

Nothing in this Chapter shall repeal or amend any city charter in effect as of January 1, 1972, or any portion thereof, unless this Chapter or a subsequent enactment of the General Assembly shall clearly show a legislative intent to repeal or supersede all local acts. The provisions of this Chapter, insofar as they are the same in substance as laws in effect as of December 31, 1971, are intended to continue such laws in effect and not to be new enactments. The enactment of this Chapter shall not require the re adoption of any city ordinance enacted pursuant to laws that were in effect before January 1, 1972, and are restated or revised herein. The provisions of this Chapter shall not affect any act heretofore done, any liability incurred, any right accrued or vested, or any suit or prosecution begun or cause of action accrued as of January 1, 1972. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Specific legislative intent of this Chapter was not to repeal local acts by implication, but to save them. City of Durham v. Manson, 285 N.C. 741, 208 S.E.2d 662 (1974).

It was the express intent of the legislature to retain local acts unless otherwise specifically indicated. City of Durham v. Manson, 21 N.C. App. 161, 204 S.E.2d 41, modified and aff'd, 285 N.C. 741, 208 S.E.2d 662 (1974).

This section manifests the legislative concern that certain prior laws should be preserved. City of Durham v. Manson, 21 N.C. App. 161, 204 S.E.2d 41, modified and aff'd, 285 N.C. 741, 208 S.E.2d 662 (1974).

This section is made more meaningful by reference to § 160A-1, wherein the definitions of "charter" and "local act" are contained. City of Durham v. Manson, 21 N.C. App. 161, 204 S.E.2d 41, modified and aff'd, 285 N.C. 741, 208 S.E.2d 662 (1974).

Chapter 506 of Session Laws 1967, which became a part of the charter of the City of Durham, was not repealed by this Chapter. City of Durham v. Manson, 285 N.C. 741, 208 S.E.2d 662 (1974).

§ 160A-3. General laws supplementary to charters.

(a) When a procedure that purports to prescribe all acts necessary for the performance or execution of any power, duty, function, privilege, or immunity is provided by both a general law and a city charter, the two procedures may be used as alternatives, and a city may elect to follow either one.

(b) When a procedure for the performance or execution of any power, duty, function, privilege, or immunity is provided by both a general law and a city charter, but the charter procedure does not purport to contain all acts necessary to carry the power, duty, function, privilege, or immunity into execution, the charter procedure shall be supplemented by the general law procedure; but in case of conflict or inconsistency between the two procedures, the charter procedure shall control.

(c) When a power, duty, function, privilege, or immunity is conferred on cities by a general law, and a charter enacted earlier than the general law omits or expressly denies or limits the same power, duty, function, privilege or immunity, the general laws shall supersede the charter. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

The provisions of a municipal charter are supplemented by the General Statutes of the State. Parsons v. Wright, 223 N.C. 520, 27 S.E.2d 534 (1943), decided prior to enactment of this section.

City Charter Superseded by State Statute. — Summary judgment was properly awarded to a city and its officials in an action by property owners challenging an annexation because, pursuant to G.S. 160A-3(c), the statutory provision establishing involuntary annexations superseded a city charter provision permitting only voluntary annexations. Brown v. City of Winston-Salem, 171 N.C. App. 266, 614 S.E.2d 599, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1266 (2005).

§ 160A-4. Broad construction.

It is the policy of the General Assembly that the cities of this State should have adequate authority to execute the powers, duties, privileges, and immunities conferred upon them by law. To this end, the provisions of this Chapter and of city charters shall be broadly construed and grants of power shall be construed to include any additional and supplementary powers that are reasonably necessary or expedient to carry them into execution and effect: Provided, that the exercise of such additional or supplementary powers shall not be contrary to State or federal law or to the public policy of this State. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Many of the cases cited below were decided prior to enactment of this section.

Legislative Mandate. — The North Carolina Supreme Court treats the language in this section as a legislative mandate to construe in a broad fashion the provisions and grants of power contained in this Chapter. Homebuilders Ass'n v. City of Charlotte, 336 N.C. 37, 442 S.E.2d 45 (1994).

Mandate of G.S. 160A-4 Has Replaced "Dillon's Rule." — Narrow rule of statutory construction entitled "Dillon's Rule," used when interpreting municipal powers, has been replaced by the mandate of G.S. 160A-4; and the language of Chapter 160A must be construed in favor of extending powers to a municipality where there is an ambiguity in the authorizing language, or the powers clearly authorized reasonably necessitate additional and supplementary powers to carry them into execution and effect. BellSouth Telecomms., Inc. v. City of Laurinburg, 168 N.C. App. 75, 606 S.E.2d 721, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 164, cert. denied, — N.C. —, 615 S.E.2d 660, cert. denied, 359 N.C. 629, — S.E.2d — (2005).

A municipality may not exercise any power not granted to it, and possesses no inherent authority to exercise powers either expressly or impliedly prohibited by statute. Porsh Bldrs., Inc. v. City of Winston-Salem, 302 N.C. 550, 276 S.E.2d 443 (1981).

Municipal Powers Must Be Expressly Granted or Implied from Express Grants.

— A municipal corporation is a political subdivision of the State and can exercise only such powers as are granted in express words, or those necessary or fairly implied or incident to the powers expressly conferred, or those essential to the accomplishment of the declared objects and purposes of the corporation. Stephenson v. City of Raleigh, 232 N.C. 42, 59 S.E.2d 195 (1950).

A municipal corporation has only such powers as are granted to it by the General Assembly in its specific charter or by the general laws of the State applicable to all municipal corporations, and the powers granted in its charter will be construed together with those given under the General Statutes. Laughinghouse v. City of New Bern, 232 N.C. 596, 61 S.E.2d 802 (1950); Starbuck v. Town of Havelock, 252 N.C. 176, 113 S.E.2d 278 (1960).

A municipal corporation is a creature of the General Assembly and has no inherent power, but can exercise such powers as are expressly conferred by the General Assembly or such as are necessarily implied by those expressly given. State v. McGraw, 249 N.C. 205, 105 S.E.2d 659 (1958).

A municipal corporation has only such powers as are granted to it by the General Assembly in its specific charter or by the general laws of the State applicable to all municipal corporations, or such powers as are necessarily implied by those given. State v. Hord, 264 N.C. 149, 141 S.E.2d 241 (1965).

An incorporated city or town is an agency created by the State. It has no governmental power or authority except such as has been granted to it by the legislature, expressly or by necessary implication from the powers expressly conferred. State v. Furio, 267 N.C. 353, 148 S.E.2d 275 (1966).

Municipal corporations are created by legislative enactment and possess only those powers conferred in the express language of a statute and those necessarily implied by law therefrom. Porsh Bldrs., Inc. v. City of Winston-Salem, 302 N.C. 550, 276 S.E.2d 443 (1981).

What Municipal Powers Are Implied. — The implied powers of a municipality are those which are necessarily or fairly implied in or incident to the powers expressly granted or essential to the accomplishment of the purposes of the corporation. Green v. Kitchin, 229 N.C. 450, 50 S.E.2d 545 (1948), commented on in 27 N.C.L. Rev. 500 (1949).

A municipal corporation is authorized by implication to do an act if the doing of such act is necessarily or fairly implied in or incident to the powers expressly granted, or is essential to the accomplishment of the declared objects and purposes of the corporation. Harrelson v. City of Fayetteville, 271 N.C. 87, 155 S.E.2d 749 (1967).

Municipal corporations have no inherent police powers and can exercise only those conferred, which powers are subject to strict construction. Kass v. Hedgepeth, 226 N.C. 405, 38 S.E.2d 164 (1946).

An incorporated city or town has no inherent police powers. State v. Furio, 267 N.C. 353, 148 S.E.2d 275 (1966).

A city or town in this State has no inherent police power. It may exercise only such powers as are expressly conferred upon it by the General Assembly or as are necessarily implied from those expressly so conferred. Town of Conover v. Jolly, 277 N.C. 439, 177 S.E.2d 879 (1970).

No Power to Spend Tax Revenues Absent Authorization. — A municipality is a creature of the State, with the powers prescribed by the statute and those necessarily implied by law, and no other; therefore a city or town cannot make a rightful outlay of its tax revenues unless the outlay is explicitly or implicitly authorized by a statute conforming to the Constitution. Horner v. Chamber of Commerce, 231 N.C. 440, 57 S.E.2d 789 (1950), aff'd, 235 N.C. 77, 68 S.E.2d 660 (1952); Wilson v. City of High Point, 238 N.C. 14, 76 S.E.2d 546 (1953).

A municipal corporation has no authority to waive its immunity from tort liability in performance of its governmental functions. Stephenson v. City of Raleigh, 232 N.C. 42, 59 S.E.2d 195 (1950).

Municipal Authority to Charge User Fees. — Applying the broad rule of construction of this section, city possessed the authority to charge regulatory user fees as an additional and supplementary power that was reasonably necessary or expedient to carry a regulatory program into execution and effect. Homebuilders Ass'n v. City of Charlotte, 336 N.C. 37, 442 S.E.2d 45 (1994).

Absent Statutory Authority. — In the absence of statutory authority, a municipality has no authority to contract away or waive its governmental immunity in respect to torts committed in the exercise of its governmental function. Valevais v. City of New Bern, 10 N.C. App. 215, 178 S.E.2d 109 (1970).

Ordinances Having Effect Outside Territorial Limits of Corporation. — While the legislature may confer upon a municipal corporation the power to enact ordinances having effect in territory contiguous to the corporation, in the absence of the grant of such power a city or town may not, by its ordinance, prohibit acts outside its territorial limits or impose criminal liability therefor. State v. Furio, 267 N.C. 353, 148 S.E.2d 275 (1966).

Statutory delegations of power to municipalities should be strictly construed, resolving any ambiguity against the corporation's authority to exercise the power. Porsh Bldrs., Inc. v. City of Winston-Salem, 302 N.C. 550, 276 S.E.2d 443 (1981).

And Any Doubts Must Be Resolved Against Municipality. — A municipality has no inherent police powers, but can exercise only those conferred by the State, and any reasonable doubt concerning such powers is resolved against it. State v. Dannenberg, 150 N.C. 799, 63 S.E. 946 (1909).

Discretion as to Accomplishment of Municipal Purposes. — A municipal corporation has only those powers expressly granted in its charter and by the general law, construing the acts together, and those powers reasonably implied in or incident to the granted powers which are necessary to effect the fair intent and purpose of its creation; however, it may exercise a sound discretion as to the means by which the purposes of its creation may be accomplished. Riddle v. Ledbetter, 216 N.C. 491, 5 S.E.2d 542 (1939).

A municipal corporation may exercise all the powers within the fair intent and purpose of its creation which are reasonably necessary to give effect to the powers expressly granted, and in doing this it may exercise discretion as to the means to the end. Keeter v. Town of Lake Lure, 264 N.C. 252, 141 S.E.2d 634 (1965).

Although the power to impose a privilege license tax must be construed broadly to include incidental powers, a privilege license tax, standing alone, is only a tax and does not carry with it any powers wholly unrelated to its imposition or administration. Fantasy World, Inc. v. Greensboro Bd. of Adjustment, 162 N.C. App. 603, 592 S.E.2d 205, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 267 (2004), cert. denied, 358 N.C. 543, 599 S.E.2d 43 (2004).

The courts will not inquire into the motives which prompt a municipality's legislative body to enact an ordinance which is valid on its face. Clark's Greenville, Inc. v. West, 268 N.C. 527, 151 S.E.2d 5 (1966).

Contracts with Firefighters Not Ultra Vires. — As the legislature expressly authorized municipal corporations to fix salaries or other compensation or to approve and adopt pay plans to compensate city employees, and thus, the city could legally form contracts for the services of firefighters and offer a plan for accumulated vacation leave as a benefit under the contracts, even though they may have been executed improperly, any contracts entered into by the city through its agents to compensate firefighters with accumulated vacation leave were not ultra vires the city. Pritchard v. Elizabeth City, 81 N.C. App. 543, 344 S.E.2d 821, cert. denied, 318 N.C. 417, 349 S.E.2d 598 (1986).

Contract with Town Manager Not Ultra Vires. — The execution of an employment contract providing severance pay to an at-will town manager was not ultra vires. Myers v. Town of Plymouth, 135 N.C. App. 707, 522 S.E.2d 122, 1999 N.C. App. LEXIS 1237 (1999).

City had the authority to allow the city tax collector to assess zoning compliance as part of the administration of the business privilege license tax and to deny a business privilege license to a sexually oriented business because the business sought to operate in violation of a zoning ordinance. Fantasy World, Inc. v. Greensboro Bd. of Adjustment, 162 N.C. App. 603, 592 S.E.2d 205, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 267 (2004), cert. denied, 358 N.C. 543, 599 S.E.2d 43 (2004).

Condemnation of Property to Improve Road. — A proposed escrow agreement between a town and various property owners to collect and dispose of funds in order to acquire right of way, by condemnation or otherwise, in order to widen and improve a road was not prohibited by this section or public policy. See opinion of Attorney General to William C. Coward, Coward, Hicks & Siler, P.A., 2000 N.C. AG LEXIS 28 (4/10/2000).

§ 160A-5. Statutory references deemed amended to conform to Chapter.

Whenever a reference is made in another portion of the General Statutes or any local act, or any city ordinance, resolution, or order, to a portion of Chapter 160 of the General Statutes that is repealed or superseded by this Chapter, the reference shall be deemed amended to refer to that portion of this Chapter which most nearly corresponds to the repealed or superseded portion of Chapter 160. ARTICLE 1A.

Municipal Board of Control.

§§ 160A-6 through 160A-10: Repealed by Session Laws 1981 (Regular Session, 1982), c. 1191, s. 63.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1981 (Reg. Sess., 1982), c. 1191, s. 64, provided that the repeal of this Article did not affect the validity of any corporate charter issued by the Municipal Board of Control prior to the effective date thereof. Section 65 of the act provided that the repeal became effective October 1, 1982, except that an order incorporating a city which was entered prior to October 1, 1982, but subject to a referendum to be held under G.S. 160A-9.3 between October 1, 1982, and January 1, 1983, would be valid notwithstanding the abolition of the Municipal Board of Control.

ARTICLE 2.

General Corporate Powers.

§ 160A-11. Corporate powers.

The inhabitants of each city heretofore or hereafter incorporated by act of the General Assembly or by the Municipal Board of Control shall be and remain a municipal corporation by the name specified in the city charter. Under that name they shall be vested with all of the property and rights in property belonging to the corporation; shall have perpetual succession; may sue and be sued; may contract and be contracted with; may acquire and hold any property, real and personal, devised, bequeathed, sold, or in any manner conveyed, dedicated to, or otherwise acquired by them, and from time to time may hold, invest, sell, or dispose of the same; may have a common seal and alter and renew the same at will; and shall have and may exercise in conformity with the city charter and the general laws of this State all municipal powers, functions, rights, privileges, and immunities of every name and nature whatsoever.

All documents required or permitted by law to be executed by municipal corporations will be legally valid and binding in this respect when a legible corporate stamp, which is a facsimile of its seal, is used in lieu of an imprinted or embossed corporate or common seal. (Code, ss. 704, 3117; 1901, c. 283; 1905, c. 526; Rev., s. 2916; 1907, c. 978; P.L. 1917, c. 223; C.S., s. 2623; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 58; 1927, c. 14; 1933, c. 69; 1949, c. 938; 1955, c. 77; 1959, c. 391; 1961, c. 308; 1967, c. 100, s. 2; c. 1122, s. 1; 1969, c. 944; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 170; c. 426, s. 7.)

Editor's Note. — Many of the cases cited below were decided under former similar provisions.

Control of Municipal Territory and Affairs. — When a municipal corporation is established it takes control of the territory and affairs over which it is given authority to the exclusion of other governmental agencies.

Gunter v. Sanford, 186 N.C. 452, 120 S.E. 41 (1923); Parsons v. Wright, 223 N.C. 520, 27 S.E.2d 534 (1943).

Exclusive Control of Municipal Streets.

— The object of incorporating a town or city is to invest the inhabitants of the municipality with the government of all matters that are of special municipal concern, and certainly the streets are as much of a special and local concern as anything connected with a town or city can be. It ought, therefore, to be presumed that they pass under the exclusive control of the municipality as soon as it comes into existence under the law. Gunter v. Sanford, 186 N.C. 452, 120 S.E. 41 (1923); Parsons v. Wright, 223 N.C. 520, 27 S.E.2d 534 (1943).

Power to Purchase Land at Tax Sale.

— The title of the purchaser at a tax foreclosure sale may not be challenged by the listed owner upon the purchaser's motion for a writ of assistance; such purchaser may be a municipality where it does not appear of record that the purchase of the land was ultra vires, a municipality having the power to purchase land for certain purposes. Wake County v. Johnson, 206 N.C. 478, 174 S.E. 303 (1934).

Ordinance Within Power Granted Presumed Reasonable. — When an ordinance is within the grant of power to the municipality, the presumption is that it is reasonable. Gene's, Inc. v. City of Charlotte, 259 N.C. 118, 129 S.E.2d 889 (1963).

A town must be sued in its corporate name and not in the name of its officers. Young v. Barden, 90 N.C. 424 (1886).

Service Against City. — A summons against a city may be served on the mayor and on the secretary of the board of aldermen. Loughran v. Hickory, 129 N.C. 281, 40 S.E. 46 (1901).

Venue of Suits Against Cities or Towns.

— Cities and towns must be sued in the county in which they are located, and if suit is brought in another county, they have the right to have it removed. Jones v. Town of Statesville, 97 N.C. 86, 2 S.E. 346 (1887).

Action in Name of All Citizens Against City.

— In an action against a municipal corporation to enjoin the collection of an illegal tax, it was not error to allow all citizens other than the original plaintiff to be made parties plaintiff. Cobb v. Elizabeth City, 75 N.C. 1 (1876).

Ownership and Operation of Private For-Profit Corporation. — The authority of a city to hold property granted by this section should not be interpreted to authorize a city to act as a shareholder of a private for-profit corporation organized under the provisions of Chapter 55, and to appoint city officials and employees as corporate directors or officers. See opinion of the Attorney General to H. Michael Boyd, Deputy City Attorney, City of Charlotte, 60 N.C.A.G. 114 (1992).

While there may be authority for a city to purchase all of the stock of a corporation which owns and operates a water and sewer system, there is no authority to operate and continue the existence of a private for-profit corporation which is outside of the traditional functions of a municipality and for which there is no judicial or legislative approval. See opinion of the Attorney General to H. Michael Boyd, Deputy City Attorney, City of Charlotte, 60 N.C.A.G. 114 (1992).

§ 160A-12. Exercise of corporate power.

All powers, functions, rights, privileges, and immunities of the corporation shall be exercised by the city council and carried into execution as provided by the charter or the general law. A power, function, right, privilege, or immunity that is conferred or imposed by charter or general law without directions or restrictions as to how it is to be exercised or performed shall be carried into execution as provided by ordinance or resolution of the city council. (Code, s. 703; Rev., s. 2917; C.S., s. 2624; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Exercise of Corporate Powers by Board of Aldermen. — Where city had not adopted one of the plans of government prescribed in former Article 21 of Chapter 160, and its charter granted only those powers enumerated by the General Statutes, the corporate powers could only be exercised by the board of aldermen, unless otherwise provided by law. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Richard A. Williams, Maiden Town Attorney, 40 N.C.A.G. 450 (1969), issued under former statutory provisions.

Effect of Action by Individual Commissioner. — Individual commissioner's representation about payment of a damage claim neither created a duty on the town to pay the same, nor authorized it to pay, unless the board of commissioners, by resolution, authorized the individual to make such an offer, as the municipal power to contract was given to the board, and boards, nothing else appearing, must act through a quorum at a meeting rather than through an individual member on an ad hoc basis. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. John W. Twisdale, Clayton Town Attorney, 40 N.C.A.G. 522 (1970), issued under former G.S. 160-3.

ARTICLE 3.

Contracts.

§ 160A-16. Contracts to be in writing; exception.

All contracts made by or on behalf of a city shall be in writing. A contract made in violation of this section shall be void and unenforceable unless it is expressly ratified by the council. (1917, c. 136, subch. 13, s. 8; C.S., s. 2831; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

City Not Liable Absent Agreement for Treatment of Inebriate Injured While Being Assisted by Police. — A city was not liable to a hospital for the cost of treating a habitual inebriate who was injured when he fell while being assisted by city police officers, where there was no express agreement to pay for such services. Nor was there an implied promise to pay, pursuant to a statutory duty, since persons arrested by city police officers, if confined, were confined in the county jail. Under G.S. 153A-224(b), the cost of emergency medical services rendered to persons confined in local confinement facilities is imposed on the local governmental unit operating the facility.

Craven County Hosp. Corp. v. Lenoir County, 75 N.C. App. 453, 331 S.E.2d 690, cert. denied, 314 N.C. 663, 336 S.E.2d 620 (1985).

Where no duty was imposed by statute upon city to pay for medical services rendered to persons in custody of its police officers, there was no relationship implied by law which would obligate the city to pay the costs of such treatment. Craven County Hosp. Corp. v. Lenoir County, 75 N.C. App. 453, 331 S.E.2d 690, cert. denied, 314 N.C. 663, 336 S.E.2d 620 (1985).

§ 160A-17. Continuing contracts.

A city is authorized to enter into continuing contracts, some portion or all of which are to be performed in ensuing fiscal years. Sufficient funds shall be appropriated to meet any amount to be paid under the contract in the fiscal year in which it is made, and in each ensuing fiscal year, the council shall appropriate sufficient funds to meet the amounts to be paid during the fiscal year under continuing contracts previously entered into. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-17.1. (Effective until December 31, 2010) Grants and loans from other governments.

(a) Federal and State. — The governing body of any city or county is hereby authorized to make contracts for and to accept grants-in-aid and loans from the federal and State governments and their agencies for constructing, expanding, maintaining, and operating any project or facility, or performing any function, which such city or county may be authorized by general law or local act to provide or perform.

In order to exercise the authority granted by this section, the governing body of any city or county may:

- (1) Enter into and carry out contracts with the State or federal government or any agency or institution thereof under which such government, agency, or institution grants financial or other assistance to the city or county;
- (2) Accept such assistance or funds as may be granted or loaned by the State or federal government with or without such a contract;
- (3) Agree to and comply with any lawful and reasonable conditions which are imposed upon such grants or loans;
- (3a) Agree to and comply with minimum minority business enterprise participation requirements established by the federal government and its agencies in projects financed by federal grants-in-aid or loans, by including such minimum requirements in the specifications for contracts to perform all or part of such projects and awarding bids pursuant to G.S. 143-129 and 143-131, if applicable, to the lowest responsible bidder or bidders meeting these and any other specifications.
- (4) Make expenditures from any funds so granted.

(b) Local. — The governing body of a city that is subject to a lien by the federal government and is not eligible to receive a grant from the federal government until the lien is removed may accept a loan from the county in which the city is located in order to pay its debt to the federal government and have the lien removed. The term of the loan may not exceed three years. This subsection applies only to a city located in a county whose population does not exceed 20,000 according to the most recent annual population estimates certified by the State Budget Officer. (1971, c. 896, s. 10; c. 937, ss. 1, 1.5; 1973, c. 426, s. 8; 1981, c. 827; 2007-91, s. 1.)

G.S. 160A-17.1 is set out twice. See notes.

Section Set Out Twice. — The section above is effective until December 31, 2010. For the section as in effect December 31, 2010, see the following section, also numbered G.S. 160A-17.1.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws

2007-91, s. 1, effective June 20, 2007, and expiring on December 31, 2010, inserted “and loans” in the section heading; inserted the subsection (a) designation and the subsection catchline in subsection (a); and added subsection (b).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Municipality has authority to make relocation assistance payments which are required by the federal grants for the code enforcement program. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Roddey M. Ligon, Jr., 41 N.C.A.G. 896 (1972).

Confiscated Drug Related Property May Be Used by Local Law Enforcement. — If federal authorities confiscate drug related property and thereafter return a part of it to local authorities for law enforcement purposes, the N.C. Constitution and laws do not require these funds to go to the local school board as forfeited property and they may be used by local law enforcement. See opinion of the Attorney General to Mr. Aubrey S. Tomlinson, Jr., Attorney for Franklin County, 58 N.C.A.G. 51 (1988).

Minority Participation Provisions. — The minority participation provisions in G.S. 143-128, 136-28.4 and this section and Session Laws 1989, c. 8, s. 3(b) (Senate Bill 38) appear to be facially constitutional under the principles established by the United States Supreme Court in City of Richmond v. J.A. Croson Com- pany, — U.S. —, 109 S. Ct. 706 (1989), because none of the provisions in question mandate a racial preference which would result in a deprivation of personal rights guaranteed to all persons by the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. See opinion of the Attorney General to Rep. Thomas C. Hardaway, Co-Chairman, Sen. Ralph Hunt, Co-Chairman, Legislative Research Commission Committee on Minority Business Contracts and Small Business Assistance, 60 N.C.A.G. 1 (1990).

Project Subject to Minority Business Participation Requirements. — Under this section, the governing body of a city is specifically authorized to accept a state grant for constructing “any project”; accordingly, it is appropriate to interpret provisions of former G.S. 143-128 pertaining to minority business participation requirements, as applying to the construction of waste water collection facilities which were subject to a grant from the Department of Environment and Natural Resources. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. John T. Carter, Jr., Jacksonville City Attorney, 2002 N.C.A.G. 25 (7/18/02).

§ 160A-17.1. (Effective December 31, 2010) Grants from other governments.

(a) Federal and State. — The governing body of any city or county is hereby authorized to make contracts for and to accept grants-in-aid and loans from the federal and State governments and their agencies for constructing, expanding, maintaining, and operating any project or facility, or performing any function, which such city or county may be authorized by general law or local act to provide or perform.

In order to exercise the authority granted by this section, the governing body of any city or county may:

- (1) Enter into and carry out contracts with the State or federal government or any agency or institution thereof under which such government, agency, or institution grants financial or other assistance to the city or county;
- (2) Accept such assistance or funds as may be granted or loaned by the State or federal government with or without such a contract;
- (3) Agree to and comply with any lawful and reasonable conditions which are imposed upon such grants or loans;

G.S. 160A-17.1 is set out twice. See notes.

(3a) Agree to and comply with minimum minority business enterprise participation requirements established by the federal government and its agencies in projects financed by federal grants-in-aid or loans, by including such minimum requirements in the specifications for contracts to perform all or part of such projects and awarding bids pursuant to G.S. 143-129 and 143-131, if applicable, to the lowest responsible bidder or bidders meeting these and any other specifications.

(4) Make expenditures from any funds so granted.

(b) Expired effective December 31, 2010. (1971, c. 896, s. 10; c. 937, ss. 1, 1.5; 1973, c. 426, s. 8; 1981, c. 827.)

Section Set Out Twice. — The section above is effective December 31, 2010. For the section as in effect until December 31, 2010, see the preceding section, also numbered G.S. 160A-17.1.

§ 160A-18. Certain deeds validated.

(a) All deeds made, executed, and delivered by any city before July 1, 1970, for a good and valuable consideration are hereby in all respects validated, ratified, and confirmed notwithstanding any lack of authority to make the deed or any irregularities in the procedures by which conveyance of the land or premises described therein was authorized by the city council.

(b) All conveyances and sales of any interest in real property by private sale, including conveyances in fee and releases of vested or contingent future interests, made by the governing body of any city, school district, or school administrative unit before July 1, 1970, are hereby validated, ratified, and confirmed notwithstanding the fact that such conveyances or releases were made by private sale and not after notice and public outcry.

(b1) All conveyances of any interest in real property by private sale, including conveyance in fee, made by the governing body of any county before January 1, 1977, are hereby validated, ratified, and confirmed notwithstanding the fact that such conveyances were made by private sale, without advertisement, and not after notice and public outcry.

(c) Nothing in this section shall affect any action or proceeding begun before January 1, 1977. (Ex. Sess. 1924, c. 95; 1951, c. 44; 1959, c. 487; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1977, c. 1103.)

§ 160A-19. Leases.

A city is authorized to lease as lessee, with or without option to purchase, any real or personal property for any authorized public purpose. A lease of personal property with an option to purchase is subject to Article 8 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes. (1973, c. 426, s. 9.)

§ 160A-20. Security interests.

(a) Purchase. — A unit of local government may purchase, or finance or refinance the purchase of, real or personal property by installment contracts that create in some or all of the property purchased a security interest to secure payment of the purchase price to the seller or to an individual or entity advancing moneys or supplying financing for the purchase transaction.

(b) Improvements. — A unit of local government may finance or refinance the construction or repair of fixtures or improvements on real property by contracts that create in some or all of the fixtures or improvements, or in all or some portion of the property on which the fixtures or improvements are located, or in both, a security interest to secure repayment of moneys advanced or made available for the construction or repair.

(c) Accounts. — A unit of local government may use escrow accounts in connection with the advance funding of transactions authorized by this section, whereby the proceeds of the advance funding are invested pending disbursement. A unit of local government may also use other accounts, such as debt service payment accounts and debt service reserve accounts, to facilitate transactions authorized by this section. To secure transactions authorized by this section, a unit of local government may also create security interests in these accounts.

(d) Nonsubstitution. — No contract entered into under this section may contain a nonsubstitution clause that restricts the right of a unit of local government to:

- (1) Continue to provide a service or activity; or
- (2) Replace or provide a substitute for any fixture, improvement, project, or property financed, refinanced, or purchased pursuant to the contract.

(e) Oversight. — A contract entered into under this section is subject to approval by the Local Government Commission under Article 8 of Chapter 159 of the General Statutes if it:

- (1) Meets the standards set out in G.S. 159-148(a)(1), 159-148(a)(2), and 159-148(a)(3), or involves the construction or repair of fixtures or improvements on real property; and
- (2) Is not exempted from the provisions of that Article by one of the exemptions contained in G.S. 159-148(b).

(e1) Public Hospitals. — A nonprofit entity operating or leasing a public hospital may enter into a contract pursuant to this section only if the nonprofit entity will have an ownership interest in the property being financed or refinanced, including a leasehold interest. The security interest granted in the property shall be only to the extent of the nonprofit entity's property interest. In addition, any contract entered into by a nonprofit entity operating or leasing a public hospital pursuant to this section is subject to the approval of the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority that owns the hospital. Approval of the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority may be withheld only under one or more of the following circumstances:

- (1) The contract would cause the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority to breach or violate any covenant in an existing financing instrument entered into by the nonprofit entity.
- (2) The contract would restrict the ability of the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority to incur anticipated bank-eligible indebtedness under federal tax laws.
- (3) The entering into of the contract would have a material, adverse impact on the credit ratings of the city, county, hospital district, or hospital authority or would otherwise materially interfere with an anticipated financing by the nonprofit entity.

(f) Limit of Security. — No deficiency judgment may be rendered against any unit of local government in any action for breach of a contractual obligation authorized by this section. The taxing power of a unit of local government is not and may not be pledged directly or indirectly to secure any moneys due under a contract authorized by this section.

(g) Public Hearing. — Before entering into a contract under this section involving real property, a unit of local government shall hold a public hearing on the contract. A notice of the public hearing shall be published once at least 10 days before the date fixed for the hearing.

(h) Local Government Defined. — As used in this section, the term “unit of local government” means any of the following:

- (1) A county.
- (2) A city.
- (3) A water and sewer authority created under Article 1 of Chapter 162A of the General Statutes.
- (3a) A metropolitan sewerage district created under Article 5 of Chapter 162A of the General Statutes.
- (3b) A sanitary district created under Part 2 of Article 2 of Chapter 130A of the General Statutes.
- (3c) A county water and sewer district created under Article 6 of Chapter 162A of the General Statutes.
- (4) An airport authority whose situs is entirely within a county that has (i) a population of over 120,000 according to the most recent federal decennial census and (ii) an area of less than 200 square miles.
- (5) An airport authority in a county in which there are two incorporated municipalities with a population of more than 65,000 according to the most recent federal decennial census.
- (5a) An airport board or commission authorized by agreement between two cities pursuant to G.S. 63-56, one of which is located partially but not wholly in the county in which the jointly owned airport is located, and where the board or commission provided water and wastewater services off the airport premises before January 1, 1995, except that the authority granted by this subdivision may be exercised by such a board or commission with respect to water and wastewater systems or improvements only.
- (5b) A local airport authority that was created pursuant to a local act of the General Assembly.
- (6) A local school administrative unit whose board of education is authorized to levy a school tax.
- (6a) Any other local school administrative unit, but only for the purpose of financing energy conservation measures acquired pursuant to Part 2 of Article 3B of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes.
- (6b) A community college, but only for the purpose of financing energy conservation measures acquired pursuant to Part 2 of Article 3B of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes.
- (7) An area mental health, developmental disabilities, and substance abuse authority, acting in accordance with G.S. 122C-147.
- (8) A consolidated city-county, as defined by G.S. 160B-2(1).
- (9) Repealed by Session Laws 2001-414, s. 52, effective September 14, 2001.
- (10) A regional natural gas district, as defined by Article 28 of this Chapter.
- (11) A regional public transportation authority or a regional transportation authority created pursuant to Article 26 or Article 27 of this Chapter.
- (12) A nonprofit corporation or association operating or leasing a public hospital as defined in G.S. 159-39.
- (13) A public health authority created under Part 1B of Article 2 of Chapter 130A of the General Statutes. (1979, c. 743; 1987 (Reg. Sess., 1988), c. 981, s. 1; 1989, c. 708; 1991, c. 741, s. 1; 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 592, s. 2; 1995, c. 461, s. 6; 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 644, s. 2; 1997-380, s. 3; 1997-426, s. 7; 1997-426, s. 7.1; 1998-70, s. 1; 1998-117, s. 1; 1999-386, ss. 1, 2; 2001-414, s. 52; 2002-161, s. 10; 2003-259, s. 1; 2003-388, s. 3; 2007-226, s. 1; 2007-229, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1989, c. 708, which amended this section, in ss. 2 and 3 provides:

“Sec. 2. (a) Any contract made or entered into, prior to the date of ratification of this act, by a city, a county, or a water and sewer authority created under Article 1 of Chapter 162A of the General Statutes which would have been valid under G.S. 160A-20, subsections (a), (b), (c), and (f), as rewritten by this act, is hereby validated, ratified, and confirmed. Furthermore, such a contract may not be held invalid because it contains a nonsubstitution clause, or because no public hearing was advertised and held on the contract, or both.

“(b) Any contract made or entered into, prior to the date of ratification of this act, by a city, a county, or a water and sewer authority created under Article 1 of Chapter 162A of the General Statutes which would have been valid under subsection (a) of this Section 2 or under G.S. 160A-20 as it existed prior to the ratification of this act or as rewritten by this act, except that the Local Government Commission did not approve the contract, is hereby validated, ratified, and confirmed.

“Sec. 3. Nothing in this act shall be interpreted to limit or restrict the authority of cities, counties, or water and sewer authorities created under Article 1 of Chapter 162A of the General Statutes to purchase, improve, or finance the purchase or improvement of real or personal property pursuant to any other applicable law, whether general, special, or local.”

Session Laws 1997-426, s. 7.1, provided that if Ratified Senate Bill 389, 1997 Regular Session, became law, then subdivision (h)(9) was recodified as subdivision (h)(10) of this section. Senate Bill 389 became S.L.1997-380, which became law on August 7, 1997.

Session Laws 1997-426, s. 10(a)-(c), provide that, insofar as the provisions of that act are not consistent with the provisions of any other law, public or private, the provisions of that act shall be controlling; that references in that act to specific sections or Chapters of the General Statutes are intended to be references to such sections or Chapters as they may be amended from time to time by the General Assembly; and that that act, being necessary for the health and welfare of the people of the State, shall be liberally construed to effect the purposes thereof.

Session Laws 1997-426, s. 10(d), is a severability clause.

Session Laws 1999-377, s. 4, effective August

4, 1999, provides that any hospital continuing to operate under Article 2 of Chapter 131 of the General Statutes pursuant to Section 3 of Chapter 775 of the 1983 Session Laws shall be considered to be a “public hospital” within the meaning of G.S. 159-39 and to be a “unit of local government” within the meaning of G.S. 160A-20.

Session Laws 2002-161, s. 12, provides that nothing in the act limits the use of any method of contracting authorized by local law or other applicable laws.

Session Laws 2003-388, provides in its preamble:

“Whereas, the State Treasurer’s Office formed a Public Finance Advisory Committee comprised of representative city and county governments, as well as the public finance bar and financial services sectors, to review and propose changes to the General Statutes dealing with public finance in an effort to strengthen, modernize, and provide for the most efficient method of issuing of public debt by local governments and other political subdivisions of the State; and

“Whereas, the Public Finance Advisory Committee has developed, and the State Treasurer’s Office has reviewed, a set of recommendations to the General Assembly for specific changes to relevant General Statutes around which there is consensus that the proposed changes are beneficial to local governments in their issuance of public debt; and

“Whereas, the Local Government Commission remains the statutorily designated entity to which all proposed issuances must be submitted for approval, and these recommendations in no way lower or lessen the level of due diligence performed in determining the appropriateness of a specific issuance; and

“Whereas, for these reasons, this legislation is submitted for consideration by the General Assembly on behalf of the State Treasurer, the staff of the Local Government Commission, and the Public Finance Advisory Committee; Now, therefore,”

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2007-226, s. 1, effective July 18, 2007, added subdivision (h)(3c).

Session Laws 2007-229, s. 3, effective July 18, 2007, added subdivision (h)(13).

eral Assembly to regulate local government finance. Wayne County Citizens v. Wayne jail was authorized by this section. Wayne County Citizens v. Wayne County Bd. of Comm'rs, 328 N.C. 24, 399 S.E.2d 311 (1991).

§ 160A-20.1. Contracts with private entities.

A city may contract with and appropriate money to any person, association, or corporation, in order to carry out any public purpose that the city is authorized by law to engage in. (1985, c. 271, s. 1.)

ARTICLE 4.

Corporate Limits.

Part 1. General Provisions.

§ 160A-21. Existing boundaries.

The boundaries of each city shall be those specified in its charter with any alterations that are made from time to time in the manner provided by law or by local act of the General Assembly. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

ties: North Carolina Adopts the Prior Jurisdiction Rule," see 63 N.C.L. Rev. 1260 (1985).

CASE NOTES

Constitutionality of Annexation by Local Act Where Essential Service Not Provided. — Annexation to a municipality by a local act of the General Assembly is not invalid constitutionally where the municipality fails to provide one of the many essential services to the newly acquired territory. Abbott v. Town of Highlands, 52 N.C. App. 69, 277 S.E.2d 820, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 303 N.C. 710, 283 S.E.2d 136 (1981).

Contiguity and cohesiveness were not constitutionally required in an annexation proceeding under this section. Abbott v. Town of Highlands, 52 N.C. App. 69, 277 S.E.2d 820, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 303 N.C. 710, 283 S.E.2d 136 (1981).

Legislature Has Power to Regulate Annexation. — Annexation by a municipal corporation is a political question which is within the power of the state legislature to regulate. Abbott v. Town of Highlands, 52 N.C. App. 69, 277 S.E.2d 820, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 303 N.C. 710, 283 S.E.2d 136 (1981).

But Such Power Is Not Unlimited. — The power of the legislature to expand the boundaries of cities, towns, or other local units, though great, is not unlimited. Abbott v. Town of Highlands, 52 N.C. App. 69, 277 S.E.2d 820, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 303 N.C.

Scope of Legislative Discretion. — Enlargement of municipal boundaries by the annexation of new territory, and the consequent extension of corporate jurisdiction, including that of levying taxes, are legitimate subjects of legislation. In the absence of constitutional restriction, the extent to which such legislation shall be enacted, both with respect to the terms and circumstances under which the annexation may be had, and the manner in which it may be made, rests entirely in the discretion of the legislature. Abbott v. Town of Highlands, 52 N.C. App. 69, 277 S.E.2d 820, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 303 N.C. 710, 283 S.E.2d 136 (1981).

Judicial Review of Local Annexation Act. — A local annexation act is not insulated from judicial review when it is an instrument for circumventing a constitutionally protected right. *Abbott v. § 160A-22. Map of corporate limits.

The current city boundaries shall at all times be drawn on a map, or set out in a written description, or shown by a combination of these techniques. This delineation shall be retained permanently in the office of the city clerk. Alterations in these established boundaries shall be indicated by appropriate entries upon or additions to the map or description made by or under the direction of the officer charged with that duty by the city charter or by the council. Copies of the map or description reproduced by any method of reproduction that gives legible and permanent copies, when certified by the city clerk, shall be admissible in evidence in all courts and shall have the same force and effect as would the original map or description. The council may provide for revisions in any map or other description of the city boundaries. A revised map or description shall supersede for all purposes the earlier map or description that it is designated to replace. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 10.)

(a) If the city is divided into electoral districts for the purpose of electing the members of the council, the map or description required by G.S. 160A-22 shall also show the boundaries of the several districts.

(b) The council shall have authority to revise electoral district boundaries from time to time. If district boundaries are set out in the city charter and the charter does not provide a method for revising them, the council may revise them only for the purpose of (i) accounting for territory annexed to or excluded from the city, and (ii) correcting population imbalances among the districts shown by a new federal census or caused by exclusions or annexations. When district boundaries have been established in conformity with the federal Constitution, the council shall not be required to revise them again until a new federal census of population is taken or territory is annexed to or excluded from the city, whichever event first occurs. In establishing district boundaries, the council may use data derived from the most recent federal census and shall not be required to use any other population estimates. § 160A-23.1. Special rules for redistricting after 2000 census.

(a) As soon as possible after receipt of federal census information in 2001 the council of any city which elects the members of its governing board on a district basis, or where candidates for such office must reside in a district in order to run, shall evaluate the existing district boundaries to determine whether it would be lawful to hold the next election without revising districts to correct population imbalances. If such revision is necessary, the council shall consider whether it will be possible to adopt the changes (and obtain approval from the United States Department of Justice, if necessary) before the third day before opening of the filing period for the municipal election. The council shall take into consideration the time that will be required to afford ample opportunities for public input. If the council determines that it most likely will not be possible to adopt the changes (and obtain federal approval, if necessary) before the third business day before opening of the filing period, and determines further that the population imbalances are so significant that it would not be lawful to hold the next election using the current electoral districts, it may adopt a resolution delaying the election so that it will be held on the timetable provided by subsection (d) of this section. Before adopting such a resolution, the council shall hold a public hearing on it. The notice of public hearing shall summarize the proposed resolution and shall be published at least once in a newspaper of general circulation, not less than seven days before the date fixed for the hearing. Notwithstanding adoption of such a resolution, if the council proceeds to adopt the changes, (and federal approval is obtained, if necessary) by the end of the third business day before the opening of the filing period, the election shall be held on the regular schedule under the revised electoral districts. Any resolution adopted under this subsection, and any changes in electoral district boundaries made under this section shall be submitted to the United States Department of Justice (if the city is covered under Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965), the State Board of Elections, and to the board conducting the elections for that city.

(b) In adopting any revisal under this section, if the council determines that in order for the plan to conform to the Voting Rights Act of 1965, the number of district seats needs to be increased or decreased, it may do so by following the procedures set forth in Part 4 of Article 5 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes, except that the ordinance under G.S. 160A-102 may be adopted at the same meeting as the public hearing, and any referendum on the change under G.S. 160A-103 shall not apply to the municipal election in 2001 or 2002.

(c) If the resolution provided for in subsection (a) of this section is not adopted and:

- (1) Proposed changes to the electoral districts are not adopted, or
- (2) Such changes are adopted, but approval under the Voting Rights Act of 1965, as amended, is required, and notice of such approval is not received, by the end of the third business day before the opening of the filing period, the election shall be held on the regular schedule using the current electoral districts.

(d) If the council adopts the resolution provided for in subsection (a) of this section and does not adopt the changes, or does adopt the changes, but approval under the Voting Rights Act of 1965, as amended, is required, and notice of such approval is not received, by the end of the third day before the opening of the filing period, the municipal election shall be rescheduled as provided in this subsection and current officeholders shall hold over until their successors are elected and qualified. For cities using the:

- (1) Partisan primary and election method under G.S. 163-291, the primary shall be held on the primary election date for county officers in 2002, the second primary, if necessary, shall be held on the second primary election date for county officers in 2002, and the general election shall be held on the general election date for county officers in 2002;
- (2) Nonpartisan primary and election method under G.S. 163-294, the primary shall be held on the primary election date for county officers in 2002 and the election shall be held on the date for the second primary for county officers in 2002;
- (3) Nonpartisan plurality election method under G.S. 163-292, the election shall be held on the primary election date for county officers in 2002;

- (4) Election and runoff method under G.S. 163-293, the election shall be held on the primary election date for county officers in 2002 and the runoffs, if necessary, shall be held on the date for the second primary for county officers in 2002.

The organizational meeting of the new council may be held at any time after the results of the election have been officially determined and published, but not later than the time and date of the first regular meeting of the council in November 2002, except in the case of partisan municipal elections, when the organizational meeting shall be held not later than the time and date of the first regular meeting of the council in December of 2002. Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which repealed these sections, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

§ 160A-29. Map of annexed area, copy of ordinance and election results recorded in the office of register of deeds.

Whenever the limits of any municipal corporation are enlarged, in accordance with the provisions of this Article, it shall be the duty of the mayor of the city or town to cause an accurate map of such annexed territory, together with a copy of the ordinance duly certified, and the official results of the election, if conducted, to be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county or counties in which such territory is situated and in the office of the Secretary of State. The documents required to be filed with the Secretary of State under this section shall be filed not later than 30 days following the effective date of the annexation ordinance. All documents shall have an identifying number affixed thereto and shall conform in size in accordance with rules prescribed by the Secretary. Failure to file within 30 days shall not affect the validity of the annexation. Any annexation shall be reported as part of the Boundary and Annexation Survey of the United States Bureau of the Census. Right to Annexation Conditioned on Compliance with Duty to Create Record. — For an annexation ordinance to be valid, the record must show prima facie complete and substantial compliance with Article 4A of G.S. 160A as a condition precedent to the municipality's right to annex the territory. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

If Record Is Complete, Burden of Showing Irregularity Shifts to Those Opposing Annexation. — Once a municipality has made its prima facie showing of compliance with this Article, the burden shifts to those opposing annexation to prove either a procedural irregularity in the annexation process materially prejudicing the rights of those opposing annexation or a failure on the part of the municipality to comply with statutory prerequisites to annexation as a matter of fact. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

The governing bodies of the cities and towns after five days' written notice to the owner of record or persons in possession of the premises are hereby authorized to enter upon any lands to make surveys or examinations as may be necessary in carrying out the mapping requirements of proposed annexations under any provision of Article 4A of Chapter 160A; provided, the city or town authorizing such entry shall make reimbursement for any damage resulting from such activity. § 160A-31. Annexation by petition.

(a) The governing board of any municipality may annex by ordinance any area contiguous to its boundaries upon presentation to the governing board of a petition signed by the owners of all the real property located within such area. The petition shall be signed by each owner of real property in the area and shall contain the address of each such owner.

(b) The petition shall be prepared in substantially the following form:

DATE:

To the _____ (name of governing board) of the (City or Town) of _____

1. We the undersigned owners of real property respectfully request that the area described in paragraph 2 below be annexed to the (City or Town) of _____

2. The area to be annexed is contiguous to the (City or Town) of _____ and the boundaries of such territory are as follows: _____

(c) Upon receipt of the petition, the municipal governing board shall cause the clerk of the municipality to investigate the sufficiency thereof and to certify the result of his investigation. Upon receipt of the certification, the municipal governing board shall fix a date for a public hearing on the question of annexation, and shall cause notice of the public hearing to be published once in a newspaper having general circulation in the municipality at least 10 days prior to the date of the public hearing; provided, if there be no such paper, the governing board shall have notices posted in three or more public places within the area to be annexed and three or more public places within the municipality.

(d) At the public hearing all persons owning property in the area to be annexed who allege an error in the petition shall be given an opportunity to be heard, as well as residents of the municipality who question the necessity for annexation. The governing board shall then determine whether the petition meets the requirements of this section. Upon a finding that the petition meets the requirements of this section, the governing board shall have authority to pass an ordinance annexing the territory described in the petition. The governing board shall have authority to make the annexing ordinance effective immediately or on any specified date within six months from the date of passage of the ordinance.

(e) From and after the effective date of the annexation ordinance, the territory and its citizens and property shall be subject to all debts, laws, ordinances and regulations in force in such municipality and shall be entitled to the same privileges and benefits as other parts of such municipality. Real and personal property in the newly annexed territory on the January 1 immediately preceding the beginning of the fiscal year in which the annexation becomes effective is subject to municipal taxes as provided in G.S. 160A-58.10. If the effective date of annexation falls between June 1 and June 30, and the effective date of the privilege license tax ordinance of the annexing municipality is June 1, then businesses in the area to be annexed shall be liable for taxes imposed in such ordinance from and after the effective date of annexation.

(f) For purposes of this section, an area shall be deemed "contiguous" if, at the time the petition is submitted, such area either abuts directly on the municipal boundary or is separated from the municipal boundary by a street or street right-of-way, a creek or river, or the right-of-way of a railroad or other public service corporation, lands owned by the municipality or some other political subdivision, or lands owned by the State of North Carolina. In describing the area to be annexed in the annexation ordinance, the municipal governing board may include within the description any territory described in this subsection which separates the municipal boundary from the area petitioning for annexation.

(g) The governing board may initiate annexation of contiguous property owned by the municipality by adopting a resolution stating its intent to annex the property, in lieu of filing a petition. The resolution shall contain an adequate description of the property, state that the property is contiguous to the municipal boundaries and fix a date for a public hearing on the question of annexation. Notice of the public hearing shall be published as provided in subsection (c) of this section. The governing board may hold the public hearing and adopt the annexation ordinance as provided in subsection (d) of this section.

(h) A city council which receives a petition for annexation under this section may by ordinance require that the petitioners file a signed statement declaring whether or not vested rights with respect to the properties subject to the petition have been established under G.S. 160A-385.1 or G.S. 153A-344.1. If the statement declares that such rights have been established, the city may require petitioners to provide proof of such rights. A statement which declares that no vested rights have been established under G.S. 160A-385.1 or G.S. 153A-344.1 shall be binding on the landowner and any such vested right shall be terminated. (1947, c. 725, s. 8; 1959, c. 713; 1973, c. 426, s. 74; 1975, c. 576, s. 2; 1977, c. 517, s. 4; 1987, c. 562, s. 1; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 996, s. 3.)

CASE NOTES

Deliberate preference for voluntary annexation is incorporated into the law. Town of Hazelwood v. Town of Waynesville, 320 N.C. 89, 357 S.E.2d 686, cert. denied, 320 N.C. 639, 360 S.E.2d 106 (1987).

Sections 160A-37(e), 160A-49(e), and this section are in pari materia. Conover v. Newton, 297 N.C. 506, 256 S.E.2d 216 (1979).

No Authorization to Annex Only Part of Area Described. — If the General Assembly had intended to authorize cities proceeding pursuant to a petition for voluntary annexation to annex merely a part of the area described in the petition, it would have so provided, as it has explicitly done in G.S. 160A-37(e) and 160A-49(e). The absence of such statutory authorization, in light of the explicit provisions for it in the involuntary annexation statutes, is cogent evidence that the General Assembly intended a petition for voluntary annexation to stand or fall as a unity. Conover v. Newton, 297 N.C. 506, 256 S.E.2d 216 (1979).

Subsection (f) — "Contiguous". — North Carolina annexation statutes do not permit municipality to annex by voluntary means tract of land that is contiguous with its municipal boundaries only by virtue of second tract of land that is being annexed simultaneously. City of Kannapolis v. City of Concord, 326 N.C. 512, 391 S.E.2d 493 (1990).

Standing to Contest Annexation. — Because this section describes a voluntary annexation undertaken at the request of land owners and does not authorize suit by neighboring municipalities, plaintiff town did not have standing to contest the annexation scheme of defendant neighboring town; only if another town owned property in the annexed area, or if both towns were simultaneously attempting to annex controverted property, could there be a justiciable controversy, giving one town standing to contest the annexation by the other, and, even then, G.S. 160A-360 provides a way to resolve such a conflict. Town of Ayden v. Town of Winterville, 143 N.C. App. 136, 544 S.E.2d 821, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 223 (2001).

Annexation of Undeveloped Lands Only on Petition. — Large tracts of agricultural or vacant lands, where no evidence of urban development can be shown, should not be annexed in any event, except upon petition of the landowners. Lithium Corp. of Am. v. Town of Property owners who have signed a voluntary annexation petition have the right to withdraw from the petition at any time up until the governing municipal body has taken action upon the petition by annexing the area described in the petition. Conover v. Newton, 297 N.C. 506, 256 S.E.2d 216 (1979).

Resolution of intent is "first mandatory public procedural step" for purposes of the prior jurisdiction rule. Town of Hazelwood v. Town of Waynesville, 320 N.C. 89, 357 S.E.2d 686, cert. denied, 320 N.C. 639, 360 S.E.2d 106 (1987).

The adoption of a resolution of intent is the critical date for determining whether a municipality utilizing involuntary annexation procedures has prior jurisdiction over the same territory being considered for voluntary annexation by a different municipality. Town of Hazelwood v. Town of Waynesville, 320 N.C. 89, 357 S.E.2d 686, cert. denied, 320 N.C. 639, 360 S.E.2d 106 (1987).

Property Not Contiguous. — Where city sought to annex private property and municipal property, and where municipal property was not contiguous with city but was contiguous to private property, city could not annex municipal property on the theory that the area as a whole was contiguous; the private property and municipal property were annexed by different procedures with independent requirements and could not be considered one whole area for the purpose of satisfying the contiguity requirement. City of Kannapolis v. City of Concord, 95 N.C. App. 591, 383 S.E.2d 402, rev'd on other grounds, 326 N.C. 512, 391 S.E.2d 493 (1990).

At the time town purported to annex defendant counties' property, the property was not contiguous and the attempted annexation was invalid. Town of Valdese v. Burke, Inc., 125 N.C. App. 688, 482 S.E.2d 24 (1997).

Effect of Withdrawal. — Where six owners of real property located within the area described in a voluntary annexation petition validly withdrew their signatures from the petition before the annexation ordinance was passed, the city governing body was without jurisdiction to take any further action on the petition as submitted, and the entire ordinance purporting to annex all the area described in the petition was void. Conover v. Newton, 297 N.C. 506, 256 S.E.2d 216 (1979).

Condemnor-County May Enjoin Municipal Annexation Proceeding. — When a county initiates condemnation of property for a sanitary landfill, and the property is being considered for voluntary annexation into a municipality, the county may proceed with the condemnation action. The county is entitled to an injunction enjoining the annexation proceeding, and the property owners and the municipality may raise the proposed annexation in the answer to the condemnation complaint, for appropriate consideration by the court. Yandle v. Mecklenburg County, 85 N.C. App. 382, 355 S.E.2d 216 (1987).

Annexation Held Proper. — City's division of an annexation area into sub-areas did not result in the improper annexation of an "island" not contiguous with the city limits as of the date of the original resolution of intent, although the boundaries of the sub-area, if considered in isolation, rather than as a sub-part of the area originally identified and eventually annexed, were not contiguous with the city limits on the date of the initial resolution. U.S. Cold Storage, Inc. v. City of Lumberton, 170 N.C. App. 411, 612 S.E.2d 415, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1014 (2005).

§ 160A-31.1. Assumption of debt.

(a) If the city has annexed under this Part any area which is served by a rural fire department and which is in:

- (1) An insurance district defined under G.S. 153A-233;
- (2) A rural fire protection district under Article 3A of Chapter 69 of the General Statutes; or
- (3) A fire service district under Article 16 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes, then beginning with the effective date of annexation the city shall pay annually a proportionate share of any payments due on any debt (including principal and interest) relating to facilities or equipment of the rural fire department, if the debt was existing at the time of submission of the petition for annexation to the city under this Part. The rural fire department shall make available to the city not later than 30 days following a written request from the city, information concerning such debt. The rural fire department forfeits its rights under this section if it fails to make a good faith response within 45 days following receipt of the written request for information from the city, provided that the city's written request so states by specific reference to this section.

(b) The annual payments from the city to the rural fire department on such shared debt service shall be calculated as follows:

- (1) The rural fire department shall certify to the city each year the amount that will be expended for debt service subject to be shared by the city as provided by subsection (a) of this section; and
- (2) The amount determined under subdivision (1) of this subsection shall be multiplied by the percentage determined by dividing the assessed valuation of the area of the district annexed by the assessed valuation of the entire district, each such valuation to be fixed as of the date the annexation ordinance becomes effective.

(c) This section does not apply in any year as to any annexed area(s) for which the payment calculated under this section as to all annexation ordinances adopted under this Part by a city during a particular calendar year does not exceed one hundred dollars ($100.00).

(d) The city and rural fire department shall jointly present a payment schedule to the Local Government Commission for approval and no payment may be made until such schedule is approved. The Local Government Commission shall approve a payment schedule agreed upon between the city and the rural fire department in cases where the assessed valuation of the district may not readily be determined, if there is a reasonable basis for the agreement. (1989, c. 598, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which repealed this section, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

Part 2. Annexation by Cities of Less Than 5,000.

§ 160A-33. Declaration of policy.

It is hereby declared as a matter of State policy:

- (1) That sound urban development is essential to the continued economic development of North Carolina;
- (2) That municipalities are created to provide the governmental services essential for sound urban development and for the protection of health, safety and welfare in areas being intensively used for residential, commercial, industrial, institutional and government purposes or in areas undergoing such development;

- (3) That municipal boundaries should be extended, in accordance with legislative standards applicable throughout the State, to include such areas and to provide the high quality of governmental services needed therein for the public health, safety and welfare; and
- (4) That new urban development in and around municipalities having a population of less than 5,000 persons tends to be concentrated close to the municipal boundary rather than being scattered and dispersed as in the vicinity of larger municipalities, so that the legislative standards governing annexation by smaller municipalities can be simpler than those for larger municipalities and still attain the objectives set forth in this section;
- (5) That areas annexed to municipalities in accordance with such uniform legislative standards should receive the services provided by the annexing municipality in accordance with G.S. 160A-35(3). (1959, c. 1010, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 74; 1983, c. 636, s. 8.)

Local Modification. — (As to Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A) Cabarrus: 2000-7, s. 1, 2003-317, s. 2 (effective until June 30, 2010); 2003-326, s. 1 (expires June 30, 2006); (As to Part 2) Durham: 1985, c. 435, s. 2; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 841, s. 4; 2000-93, s. 1; (As to Parts 2 and 3) Harnett: 1998-143, s. 4; Rockingham: 1993, c. 418, s. 1; (As to Part 2) Wake: 1985, c. 435, s. 2; 2000-93, s. 1; (As to Part 2) city of Brevard: 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 964, s. 2; city of Durham: 1987, c. 606; city of Eden: 1993, c. 418, s. 1; city of Hendersonville: 1997-188; (As to Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A, for five years after incorporation) town of Butner: 2007-269, s. 1.1; town of Dobbins Heights: 1983, c. 658; (As to Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A) town of Hemby Bridge: 1998-143, s. 4; (As to Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A) town of Laurel Park: 1997-188; 2000-8, s. 1; town of Old Fort: 1993, c. 309, s. 1; (As to Part 2) town of River Bend: 2007-334, s. 3; (As to Part 2) town of Stanley: 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 713, s. 2; town of Wallace: 1989, c. 619, s. 2; village of Sugar Mountain: 1985, c. 395; community of Rock Barn: 1989, c. 27.

Cross References. — As to effective date of annexation ordinances adopted under Article 4A of Chapter 160A, see G.S. 160A-58.9A.

Editor's Note. — Sections 160A-33 through 160A-44 were originally codified as G.S. 160-453.1 through 160-453.12. They were transferred to their present position by Session Laws 1973, c. 426, s. 74.

Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which amended this section, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

CASE NOTES

This Part does not constitute an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power in violation of N.C. Const., Art. VIII. Williams v. Town of Grifton, 19 N.C. App. 462, 199 S.E.2d 288 (1973).

The legislature may, without violating the state or federal Constitutions, delegate to a municipality the authority to implement a plan of annexation. Williams v. Town of Grifton, 19 N.C. App. 462, 199 S.E.2d 288 (1973).

The guidelines established by this Part are as stringent as those in G.S. 160A-45 et seq., and the discretion conferred upon the municipalities of population less than 5,000 is no greater than that conferred upon municipalities of population of 5,000 or greater. Therefore, the contention that the annexation statute is unconstitutional is untenable. Williams v. Town of Grifton, 19 N.C. App. 462, 199 S.E.2d 288 (1973).

Rational Basis for Statutory Scheme. — Given the State policy, it is not difficult to conceive of a rational basis supportive of the patchwork statutory scheme governing annexation in North Carolina. Thompson v. Whitley, 344 F. Supp. 480 (E.D.N.C. 1972).

Application to Property of Condominium Owners. — Condominium unit owners need municipal services like water, sewage disposal, and police and fire protection just as do homeowners in any new development. It would lead to anomalous results and violate legislative intent to construe the statute as applying to the property of homeowners but not to the property of condominium unit owners. Tar Landing Villas Owners' Ass'n v. Town of Atlantic Beach, 64 N.C. App. 239, 307 S.E.2d 181 (1983), cert. denied, 310 N.C. 156, 311 S.E.2d 296 (1984).

Annexation of territory by a municipality is a legislative and not a judicial act; hence, in the absence of statutory directive, the court, on appeal from an annexation ordinance, cannot divide the territory, annex a part thereof and refuse to annex the remainder. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961).

Proceeding Is Summary. — A proceeding by a municipality to annex territory pursuant to this Part is summary in nature. Southern Ry. v. Hook, 261 N.C. 517, 135 S.E.2d 562 (1964).

And the material statutory requirements must be complied with. Southern Ry. v. Hook, 261 N.C. 517, 135 S.E.2d 562 (1964).

Summary Judgment Inappropriate for Fact Questions. — The trial court erred in granting summary judgment as to whether defendant-town had fulfilled its duty to maintain a street it annexed where the record was undeveloped as to the current state of repair of the street and the customary maintenance provided by defendant on similar streets. Buckland v. Town of Haw River, 141 N.C. App. 460, 541 S.E.2d 497, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 1307 (2000).

Burden of Showing Noncompliance. — In an annexation proceeding under this Part, the record of the proceedings must show prima facie complete and substantial compliance with the applicable provisions of the statutes; the burden is upon petitioners requesting review of annexation proceedings to show, by competent evidence, failure on the part of the municipality to comply with the statutory requirements as a matter of fact, or irregularity in the proceedings which materially prejudiced the substantive rights of petitioners. Conover v. Newton, 297 N.C. 506, 256 S.E.2d 216 (1979).

Voluntary Procedure Is Simpler and Quicker Than Involuntary Procedure. — The voluntary procedure initiated by landowners and future municipal taxpayers has understandably been made simpler and quicker than involuntary annexation procedures. Town of Hudson v. City of Lenoir, 279 N.C. 156, 181 S.E.2d 443 (1971).

And Injects Element of Choice. — The variations in procedural requirements with respect to voluntary and involuntary annexation make it possible for property owners in the affected area to inject an element of choice as to which municipality will govern them. Town of Hudson v. City of Lenoir, 279 N.C. 156, 181 S.E.2d 443 (1971).

Contiguity is an essential component of the traditional concept of a municipal corporation, which is envisioned as a governmental unit capable of providing essential governmental services to residents within compact borders on a scale adequate to insure "the protection of health, safety, and welfare in areas being intensively used for residential, commercial, industrial, and government purposes or in areas undergoing such development." Imposition of the contiguity requirement is one means of ensuring that the annexation process remains consistent with principles of sound urban development. Hawks v. Town of Valdese, 299 N.C. 1, 261 S.E.2d 90 (1980).

Section 160A-37 provides two different procedural methods for beginning the involuntary annexation process under G.S. 160A-33 to 160A-42, and former G.S. 160A-43 and 160A-44. A municipality may either pass a resolution of consideration one year prior to adopting its resolution of intent, or it may immediately adopt the resolution of intent and postpone the effective date of annexation for at least a year after the ordinance is passed. Town of Hazelwood v. Town of Waynesville, 83 N.C. App. 670, 351 S.E.2d 558, rev'd on other grounds, 320 N.C. 89, 357 S.E.2d 686 (1987).

Prior Jurisdiction Doctrine. — Adherence to the prior jurisdiction doctrine is not only consistent with the majority rule, but is in keeping with the spirit and intent of the annexation statutes. City of Burlington v. Town of Elon College, 310 N.C. 723, 314 S.E.2d 534 (1984).

Where one municipality institutes valid annexation proceedings first, that municipality should be given priority under the prior jurisdiction rule, and subsequent annexation proceedings, of whatever nature, are of no force and effect. City of Burlington v. Town of Elon College, 310 N.C. 723, 314 S.E.2d 534 (1984).

Preference of Landowners Is of No Consequence. — For purposes of the prior jurisdiction rule, annexation proceedings, regardless of their nature, are "equivalent proceedings," and it is of no consequence which town or city the landowners prefer. In fact, it appears to be the very essence of the involuntary annexation procedures that the affected landowners have no choice, as long as the annexing body complies with the applicable statutes. City of Burlington v. Town of Elon College, 310 N.C. 723, 314 S.E.2d 534 (1984).

Objectives Held Sufficient to Justify Annexation. — Three avowed objectives stated by a town's governing board, namely, (1) essentially all of the town's desirable building sites were exhausted, (2) the tax base was unable to provide the kind of services people needed, and (3) many interested people were unable to participate in town government were sufficient to qualify annexation under this Part. Williams v. Town of Grifton, 19 N.C. App. 462, 199 S.E.2d 288 (1973).

Annexation Proper. — Trial court properly found that a village provided independent administrative, engineering, auditing, legal, and planning services to its residents, and that the village was exploring options for obtaining additional police patrol services, and had committed itself to providing its current and future levels of such services to its residents in a non-discriminatory manner; the trial court found that the village was going to provide some additional services to the area to be annexed, notwithstanding land owners' claim they would receive no additional services whatsoever, and the trial court's order affirming the annexation was proper. Nolan v. Village of Marvin, 172 N.C. App. 84, 615 S.E.2d 898, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1432 (2005).

Annexation Ordinance Unenforceable. — Appellate court's decision that upheld the trial court's judgment upholding the annexation ordinance was reversed, as the village's annexation ordinance did not provide for meaningful extension of municipal services to the lots subject to annexation, which meant that the village had not substantially complied with the statutory procedures for annexation and that the property owners would suffer material injury, in the form of municipal taxes, if annexation proceeded. Nolan v. Village of Marvin, 360 N.C. 256, 624 S.E.2d 305, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 3 (2006).

Municipality Need Not Acquire Private Water and Sewer Systems. — An annexation ordinance may not be attacked on the ground that the municipality has no plans to purchase or finance the purchase of private water and sewer systems existing in the annexed territory, since the mere existence of such private systems within the territory to be annexed does not compel the city to purchase or acquire ownership of them. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961).

Nor Does Mere Extension of Limits or Voluntary Maintenance Appropriate Such Systems. — Where a municipality annexes territory served by private water or sewer lines, the owners of such lines may not recover the value thereof from the municipality in the absence of provisions for payment by contract or ordinance, unless the municipality appropriates such private lines and controls them as proprietor; the mere extension of the city limits to include such lines or the voluntary maintenance of such lines by the city does not amount to an appropriation of such lines by the municipality. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961).

The governing board of any municipality having a population of less than 5,000 persons according to the last federal decennial census may extend the corporate limits of such municipality under the procedure set forth in this Part, except that this Part does not apply to any municipality in Craven County having a population of less than 500 persons according to the last federal decennial census unless that municipality provides at least six of the seven categories of municipal services listed in G.S. 136-41.2(c). (1959, c. 1010, s. 2; 1973, c. 426, s. 74; 1985, c. 92, s. 1.)

Funds for Local Government Water and Sewer Improvement Grants. — Session Laws 2007-323, s. 13.13A, provides for the use of certain funds appropriated to the Rural Economic Development Center, Inc. for the 2007-2008 fiscal year for wastewater-related and public water system-related projects. CASE NOTES

Annexation of territory to a municipal corporation is a legislative function which may not be delegated to a court. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961).

Municipality’s Discretion Limited to Method of Annexation. — The only discretion given to the governing boards of municipalities is the permission and discretionary right to use the new method of annexation set out in this Article, provided such boards conform to the procedure and meet the requirements set out in this Part as a condition precedent to the right to annex. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961).

Burden of Showing Failure to Meet Statutory Requirements. — Where the record of annexation proceedings under this section on its face showed substantial compliance with every essential element of the applicable statutes, the burden was upon petitioners, who appealed from the annexation ordinance, to show by competent evidence that the city in fact failed to meet the statutory requirements or that there was irregularity in the proceedings which materially prejudiced their substantive rights. Dunn v. City of Charlotte, 284 N.C. 542, 201 S.E.2d 873 (1974).

§ 160A-35. Prerequisites to annexation; ability to serve; report and plans.

A municipality exercising authority under this Part shall make plans for the extension of services to the area proposed to be annexed and shall, prior to the public hearing provided for in G.S. 160A-37, prepare a report setting forth such plans to provide services to such area. The report shall include:

- (1) A map or maps of the municipality and adjacent territory to show the following information:
 - a. The present and proposed boundaries of the municipality.
 - b. The proposed extensions of water mains and sewer outfalls to serve the annexed area, if such utilities are operated by the municipality. The water and sewer map must bear the seal of a registered professional engineer or a licensed surveyor.
- (2) A statement showing that the area to be annexed meets the requirements of G.S. 160A-36.

- (3) A statement setting forth the plans of the municipality for extending to the area to be annexed each major municipal service performed within the municipality at the time of annexation. Specifically, such plans shall:
- a. Provide for extending police protection, fire protection, solid waste collection and street maintenance services to the area to be annexed on the date of annexation on substantially the same basis and in the same manner as such services are provided within the rest of the municipality prior to annexation. A contract with a rural fire department to provide fire protection shall be an acceptable method of providing fire protection. If a water distribution system is not available in the area to be annexed, the plans must call for reasonably effective fire protection services until such time as waterlines are made available in such area under existing municipal policies for the extension of waterlines. A contract with a private firm to provide solid waste collection services shall be an acceptable method of providing solid waste collection services.
 - b. Provide for extension of water mains and sewer lines into the area to be annexed so that property owners in the area to be annexed will be able to secure public water and sewer services according to the policies in effect in such municipality for extending water and sewer lines to individual lots or subdivisions. If the municipality must, at its own expense, extend water and/or sewer mains into the area to be annexed before property owners in the area can, according to municipal policies, make such connection to such lines, then the plans must call for contracts to be let and construction to begin on such lines within one year following the effective date of annexation. In areas where the installation of sewer is not economically feasible due to the unique topography of the area, the municipality may agree to provide septic system maintenance and repair service until such time as sewer service is provided to properties similarly situated.
 - c. Set forth the method under which the municipality plans to finance extension of services into the area to be annexed.
- (4) A statement of the impact of the annexation on any rural fire department providing service in the area to be annexed and a statement of the impact of the annexation on fire protection and fire insurance rates in the area to be annexed, if the area where service is provided is in an insurance district designated under G.S. 153A-233, a rural fire protection district under Article 3A of Chapter 69 of the General Statutes, or a fire service district under Article 16 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes. The rural fire department shall make available to the city not later than 30 days following a written request from the city all information in its possession or control, including but not limited to operational, financial and budgetary information, necessary for preparation of a statement of impact. The rural fire department forfeits its rights under G.S. 160A-37.1 and G.S. 160A-37.2 if it fails to make a good faith response within 45 days following receipt of the written request for information from the city, provided that the city's written request so states by specific reference to this section.
- (5) A statement showing how the proposed annexation will affect the city's finances and services, including city revenue change estimates. This statement shall be delivered to the clerk of the board of county commissioners at least 30 days before the date of the public informational meeting on any annexation under this Part. (1959, c. 1010, s. 3; 1973, c. 426, s. 74; 1983, c. 636, ss. 7.1, 16, 18; 1985, c. 610, ss. 1, 5, 7; 1989, c. 598, s. 5; 1991, c. 25, s. 1; c. 761, s. 30; 1998-150, s. 4.)

Local Modification. — Town of Beaufort: 1963, c. 1189.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which amended this section, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

Section 38 of Session Laws 1983, c. 636 provided: "This act shall be effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after the date of ratification of this act, except that Sections 36 and 37 shall become effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after July 1, 1984, Sections 25.1 through 35.5 and Section 37.1 are effective upon ratification and Section 25 shall become effective as provided in that section. No annexation where a resolution of intent was adopted prior to the date of ratification of this act shall be affected by this act except as provided in Section 25."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

Session Laws 1991, c. 25, s. 1, effective April 1, 1991, and applicable to resolutions of intent adopted on or after March 1, 1992, designated the existing language as subsection (a), and added a new subsection (b). However, Session Laws 1991, c. 761, s. 30, effective July 16, 1991, recodified subsection (b) as enacted by Session Laws 1991, c. 25, s. 1, as G.S. 160A-35.1 and redesignated subsection (a) of G.S. 160A-35 as G.S. 160A-35.

CASE NOTES

Local Modification Held Unconstitutional. — Chapter 1189, Session Laws 1963, amending subdivision (3)b of this section solely as it applied to the Town of Beaufort and providing that a municipality shall not be required to extend sewage outfalls into an area annexed by it in the event that the municipal sewerage system shall have been declared a source of unlawful pollution, was a local act relating to health and sanitation within the meaning of N.C. Const., Art. II, § 24, and was unconstitutional and void. Gaskill v. Costlow, 270 N.C. 686, 155 S.E.2d 148 (1967); Safrit v. Costlow, 270 N.C. 680, 155 S.E.2d 252 (1967).

Standard of Review Under This Section. — The trial court's order affirming a town annexation ordinance had to be vacated where the court applied the material prejudice standard of review to the adequacy of maps contained in the town report as well as to the questions of solid waste collection and the financing of services instead of determining whether or not the town complied with this section in formulating and carrying out its annexation plan; procedural irregularities under G.S. 160A-37 are to be evaluated under a "material prejudice" standard, while violations of either this section or G.S. 160A-36 are to be viewed in light of compliance or lack thereof and, if necessary, result in appropriate amendment. Sonopress, Inc. v. Town of Weaverville, 139 N.C. App. 378, 533 S.E.2d 537, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 948 (2000).

Municipality, as a condition precedent to the right to annex, must file a report showing on its face strict compliance with statutory requirements, and upon review in superior court has the burden of sustaining the regularity, adequacy, veracity and validity of the report and annexation ordinance by competent evidence. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961).

The legislature has empowered municipal governing boards to amend the report required by this section, in order to make changes in the plans for serving the area proposed to be annexed, so long as such changes meet the requirements of this section. Gregory v. Town of Plymouth, 60 N.C. App. 431, 299 S.E.2d 232, cert. denied, 308 N.C. 544, 304 S.E.2d 237 (1983).

Plans Held in Compliance with Subdivision (3)a. — Plans which contained (1) information with respect to the current level of services within town, (2) a commitment to provide substantially the same level of services in the annexation area, and (3) information as to how the extension of services would be financed set forth sufficient information to allow the public and the courts to determine that the town had committed itself to provide a nondiscriminatory level of services to the annexed area and to establish compliance with subdivision (3)a. Huyck Corp. v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff'd, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

Failure to Call for Increase in Personnel in Plans. — Plans for services to the annexed area are not defective in failing to call for any significant increase in personnel where the record is devoid of evidence showing any need for increased personnel. Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 6 N.C. App. 78, 169 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 275 N.C. 681 (1969).

The fact that the metes and bounds description in a resolution of intent to annex failed to close, because one small piece of property owned by a person who did not join the petition for review was not included within the resolution of intent, was not fatal to the validity of the annexation ordinance where the resolution of intent and the published notice of public hearing made full reference to a map filed in the office of the clerk of the city and available for public inspection of the area proposed to be annexed, and this map and a map published in the newspaper notice of the public hearing showed all the property proposed to be annexed. Conover v. Newton, 297 N.C. 506, 256 S.E.2d 216 (1979).

This section does not make it incumbent upon the municipality to justify annexation other than to the extent of its ability to serve the areas to be annexed. Williams v. Town of Grifton, 19 N.C. App. 462, 199 S.E.2d 288 (1973).

While the extent to which an area needs municipal services is among the factors to be considered in a decision to annex, the statute requires only that a city demonstrate an ability to serve the area to be annexed. Thompson v. City of Salisbury, 24 N.C. App. 616, 211 S.E.2d 856, cert. denied, 287 N.C. 264, 214 S.E.2d 437 (1975).

Map Requirement Met. — Annexation report complied with statutory map requirements where the map indicated the current town limits, the area of proposed annexation, and the current town limits of satellite annexation, as well as major roads and property boundaries; there was no requirement that the report contain a sealed map where the town did not plan to extend water and sewer into an annexed area. Sonopress, Inc. v. Town of Weaverville, 149 N.C. App. 492, 562 S.E.2d 32, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 282 (2002), cert. denied, 355 N.C. 751, 565 S.E.2d 671 (2002).

Providing nondiscriminating level of services within statutory time is all that is required. Greene v. Town of Valdese, 306 N.C. 79, 291 S.E.2d 630 (1982).

Remedy Where Municipality Has Not Carried Out Service Plans Adopted under Subdivision (3). — The statutory remedy for owners of property in annexed territory where the municipality has not followed through on its service plans adopted under the provisions of subdivision (3) of this section and G.S. 160A-37 is by writ of mandamus. Safrit v. Costlow, 270 N.C. 680, 155 S.E.2d 252 (1967).

Record Held to Sustain Finding of Compliance. — Where the record disclosed the plans of the municipality for extending municipal services to the area annexed, itemizing the cost, and obtaining such cost from current taxes, the record supported a finding by the court of compliance with this section, and such finding would not be disturbed in the absence of evidence to the contrary of sufficient weight to overcome the prima facie presumption of regularity. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961).

Evidence supporting the plans set out in the report, and no evidence that the service would not be adequate, was sufficient to support the conclusion that the police protection requirement of this section would be met. Williams v. Town of Grifton, 19 N.C. App. 462, 199 S.E.2d 288 (1973).

Annexation ordinance and report met the requirements of this section and § 160A-37. Williams v. Town of Grifton, 22 N.C. App. 611, 207 S.E.2d 275 (1974).

A second public hearing after amendment is not required by this section. Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 6 N.C. App. 78, 169 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 275 N.C. 681 (1969).

There is no requirement that a second public hearing be held on an amended annexation proposal, when that amendment is adopted to achieve compliance with this section, pursuant to the authority granted in G.S. 160A-37(e). Gregory v. Town of Plymouth, 60 N.C. App. 431, 299 S.E.2d 232, cert. denied, 308 N.C. 544, 304 S.E.2d 237 (1983).

Town Not Required to Provide Service. — Language in annexation ordinances to the effect that since water service then provided to the annexed areas by plaintiff was comparable to that provided by the town, the town would not be required to appropriate funds to extend water and sewer lines to the annexed area was required by G.S. 160A-37(e)(3) and subdivision (3)b to insure that residents of the area to be annexed would have access to comparable water service; in no way did this serve as a promise to be rightfully relied upon that the town would not in the future construct its own water lines within the annexed area or that plaintiff had the exclusive right to furnish water service there. Carolina Water Serv., Inc. v. Town of Atlantic Beach, 121 N.C. App. 23, 464 S.E.2d 317 (1995).

Additional Services Not Required. — Annexation report complied with statutory requirements where it stated that no additional police officers were required by the annexation and that roads would continue to be maintained by the State; evidence supported the town's statements that additional police officers were not required and that the State would continue to provide road maintenance. Sonopress, Inc. v. Town of Weaverville, 149 N.C. App. 492, 562 S.E.2d 32, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 282 (2002), cert. denied, 355 N.C. 751, 565 S.E.2d 671 (2002).

Annexation Proper. — Trial court properly found that a village provided independent administrative, engineering, auditing, legal, and planning services to its residents, and that the village was exploring options for obtaining additional police patrol services, and had committed itself to providing its current and future levels of such services to its residents in a non-discriminatory manner; the trial court found that the village was going to provide some additional services to the area to be annexed, notwithstanding land owners' claim they would receive no additional services whatsoever, and the trial court's order affirming the annexation was proper. Nolan v. Village of Marvin, 172 N.C. App. 84, 615 S.E.2d 898, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1432 (2005).

ation ordinance was reversed, as the village's annexation ordinance did not provide for meaningful extension of municipal services to the lots subject to annexation, which meant that the village had not substantially complied with the statutory procedures for annexation and that the property owners would suffer material injury, in the form of municipal taxes, if annexation proceeds. Nolan v. Village of Marvin, 360 N.C. 256, 624 S.E.2d 305, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 3 (2006).

Financing Statement Not Required. — Town did not need to set out a method for the financing of additional services in its annexation report where the town's statement that no additional services were required was supported by competent evidence in the record; a financing statement was required only if there was to be an extension of services. Sonopress, Inc. v. Town of Weaverville, 149 N.C. App. 492, 562 S.E.2d 32, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 282 (2002), cert. denied, 355 N.C. 751, 565 S.E.2d 671 (2002).

§ 160A-35.1. Limitation on change in financial participation prior to annexation.

For purposes of the extension of water and sewer services required under G.S. 160A-35, no ordinance or policy substantially diminishing the financial participation of a municipality in the construction of water or sewer facilities required under this Article may apply to an area being annexed unless the ordinance or policy became effective at least 180 days prior to the date of adoption by the municipality of the resolution giving notice of intent to consider annexing the area under G.S. 160A-37(a). (1991, c. 25, s. 1; c. 761, s. 30; 1998-150, s. 5.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1991, c. 25, s. 1, initially amended G.S. 160A-35 by adding a subsection (b). This subsection was recodified as new G.S. 160A-35.1 by Session Laws 1991, c.

761, s. 30, effective July 16, 1991, and given the catchline "Limitation on change in financial participation prior to annexation."

§ 160A-36. Character of area to be annexed.

(a) A municipal governing board may extend the municipal corporate limits to include any area which meets the general standards of subsection (b), and which meets the requirements of subsection (c).

(b) The total area to be annexed must meet the following standards:

- (1) It must be adjacent or contiguous to the municipality's boundaries at the time the annexation proceeding is begun, except if the entire territory of a county water and sewer district created under G.S. 162A-86(b1) is being annexed, the annexation shall also include any noncontiguous pieces of the district as long as the part of the district with the greatest land area is adjacent or contiguous to the municipality's boundaries at the time the annexation proceeding is begun.
- (2) At least one eighth of the aggregate external boundaries of the area must coincide with the municipal boundary.
- (3) No part of the area shall be included within the boundary of another incorporated municipality.

(c) The area to be annexed must be developed for urban purposes at the time of approval of the report provided for in G.S. 160A-35. For purposes of this section, a lot or tract shall not be considered in use for a commercial, industrial, institutional, or governmental purpose if the lot or tract is used only temporarily, occasionally, or on an incidental or insubstantial basis in relation to the size and character of the lot or tract. For purposes of this section, acreage in use for commercial, industrial, institutional, or governmental purposes shall include acreage actually occupied by buildings or other man-made structures together with all areas that are reasonably necessary and appurtenant to such facilities for purposes of parking, storage, ingress and egress, utilities, buffering, and other ancillary services and facilities. Area of streets and street rights-of-way shall not be used to determine total acreage under this section. An area developed for urban purposes is defined as:

- (1) Any area which is so developed that at least sixty percent (60%) of the total number of lots and tracts in the area at the time of annexation are used for residential, commercial, industrial, institutional or governmental purposes, and is subdivided into lots and tracts such that at least sixty percent (60%) of the total acreage, not counting the acreage used at the time of annexation for commercial, industrial, governmental or institutional purposes, consists of lots and tracts three acres or less in size.
- (2) An area so developed that, at the time of the approval of the annexation report, all tracts in the area to be annexed are used for commercial, industrial, governmental, or institutional purposes.
- (3) The entire area of any county water and sewer district created under G.S. 162A-86(b1), but this subsection only applies to annexation by a municipality if that:
 - a. Municipality has provided in a contract with that district that the area is developed for urban purposes; and
 - b. Contract provides for the municipality to operate the sewer system of that county water and sewer district; provided that the special categorization provided by this subsection only applies if the municipality is annexing in one proceeding the entire territory of the district not already within the corporate limits of a municipality.

(d) In fixing new municipal boundaries, a municipal governing board shall use recorded property lines and streets as boundaries. Some or all of the boundaries of a county water and sewer district may also be used when the entire district not already within the corporate limits of a municipality is being annexed.

(e) The area of an abolished water and sewer district shall be considered to be a water and sewer district for the purpose of this section even after its abolition under G.S. 162A-87.2(b). (1959, c. 1010, s. 4; 1973, c. 426, s. 74; 1985, c. 757, s. 205(c); 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 696, s. 6; c. 714, s. 6; 1998-150, s. 6.)

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- II. Standards Under Subsection (b).
- III. Tests Under Subsection (c).
- IV. Boundaries.

I. IN GENERAL.

This section was not copied from the laws of other states, but is a result of a study and recommendations made by the Municipal Government Study Commission, which was established in accordance with Joint Resolution 51 of the General Assembly of 1957. Lithium Corp. of Am. v. Town of Bessemer City, 261 N.C. 532, 135 S.E.2d 574 (1964).

This Section and § 160A-48 Compared. — The provisions of subsections (b), (c) and (e) of G.S. 106A-48 are virtually identical to their counterparts in subsections (b), (c) and (d) of this section. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

When Annexation Proper Generally. — The language of subsection (a) of this section makes it clear that a municipality may annex any area which meets the general standards of subsection (b) and the requirements of subsection (c). Greene v. Town of Valdese, 306 N.C. 79, 291 S.E.2d 630 (1982).

Particular Facts Control in Doubtful Cases. — When compliance with the statutory requirements is in doubt, the determination of whether an area is used for a purpose qualifying it for annexation will depend upon the particular facts of each case. Scovill Mfg. Co. v. Town of Wake Forest, 58 N.C. App. 15, 293 S.E.2d 240, cert. denied, 306 N.C. 559, 294 S.E.2d 371 (1982).

This section does not specify any particular method of calculation for determination of compliance with statutorily mandated requirements and the reasonableness of the method chosen is to be determined in light of the particular circumstances of the questioned annexation proceedings. Lowe v. Town of Mebane, 76 N.C. App. 239, 332 S.E.2d 739 (1985).

Contiguous Area and Coincidence of Boundary Requirements Held Met. — For case holding that where each of three portions included in proposed annexation area was contiguous to the existing town boundary, and, by using a railroad strip as a connector, were contiguous to each other, when viewed as an entire area, the area was contiguous to the boundaries of the town as they existed at the commencement of the annexation proceedings and that the required coincidence of boundaries existed, see Huyck Corp. v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff'd, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

Reason for Providing for Judicial Review. — The difficulties of applying the standards of this section in extreme cases were the reason the Municipal Government Study Commission recommended a provision for court review, set out in G.S. 160A-38, to determine whether the agency making the decision made a reasonable decision in accord with statutory standards. Lithium Corp. of Am. v. Town of Bessemer City, 261 N.C. 532, 135 S.E.2d 574 (1964).

The trial court's order affirming a town annexation ordinance had to be vacated where the court applied the material prejudice standard of review to the adequacy of maps contained in the town report as well as to the questions of solid waste collection and the financing of services instead of determining whether or not the town complied with this section in formulating and carrying out its annexation plan; procedural irregularities under G.S. 160A-37 are to be evaluated under a “material prejudice” standard, while violations of either G.S. 160A-35 or this section are to be viewed in light of compliance or lack thereof and, if necessary, result in appropriate amendment. Sonopress, Inc. v. Town of Weaverville, 139 N.C. App. 378, 533 S.E.2d 537, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 948 (2000).

Town of Erwin*, 128 N.C. App. 101, 493 S.E.2d 797 (1997); Arquilla v. City of Salisbury, 136 N.C. App. 24, 523 S.E.2d 155, 1999 N.C. App. LEXIS 1294 (1999), cert. denied, 351 N.C. 350, 543 S.E.2d 122 (2000).

II. STANDARDS UNDER SUBSECTION (b).

Annexation of Area in Another Municipality Prohibited. — Any new or amended proceeding by a town correcting procedural irregularities would be an exercise in futility after the disputed area became a part of another city, because after that date any attempt by the town to annex the disputed area would be in violation of this statute, which prohibits the annexation of an area already included within the boundary of another incorporated municipality. Town of Hudson v. City of Lenoir, 279 N.C. 156, 181 S.E.2d 443 (1971), overruled on other grounds, City of Burlington v. Town of Elon College, 310 N.C. 723, 314 S.E.2d 538 (1984).

Summary judgment was proper in case involving a determination of prior jurisdiction between two towns’ competing resolutions of intent where one municipality had sought to involuntarily annex two acres within the boundaries of the other. Town of Spencer v. Town of E. Spencer, 351 N.C. 124, 522 S.E.2d 297 (1999).

Competing Resolutions of Intent and Priority Jurisdiction. — A resolution of intent to annex territory which includes any territory already within the boundaries of another municipality is void and will lose priority to an intervening and competing valid resolution of intent; the elements listed in this section are “essential elements” with regard to a “prior jurisdiction” determination. Town of Spencer v. Town of E. Spencer, 351 N.C. 124, 522 S.E.2d 297 (1999).

Territory which is contiguous solely to the “satellite corporate limits” fails to satisfy the requirement of subdivision (b)(1) of this section that the area to be annexed in an involuntary annexation proceeding be contiguous or adjacent to the municipal boundaries of the city which seeks annexation. Territory contiguous solely to “satellite corporate limits” is not eligible for annexation until such “satellite corporate limits” become “a part of the primary corporate limits.” This occurs in accord with G.S. 160A-58.6 when, through annexation of intervening territory, the boundaries of the satellite area and those of the primary town area touch. Hawks v. Town of Valdese, 299 N.C. 1, 261 S.E.2d 90 (1980).

If a town wishes to annex involuntarily two unannexed areas on either side of the satellite area, it must first annex the area which abuts directly on both the primary corporate limits and the satellite corporate limits. Only after this intervening territory has been successfully annexed is the area which presently abuts solely on satellite corporate limits eligible for annexation. Hawks v. Town of Valdese, 299 N.C. 1, 261 S.E.2d 90 (1980).

Coincidence of Boundary Requirement.

— In considering the coincidence of boundary requirement, the entire area proposed for annexation must be viewed as a whole, rather than as various component portions. Huyck Corp. v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff’d, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

Purposes Underlying Subsection (b)

Subverted. — Superior court properly remanded town’s annexation ordinance for amendment of its proposed boundaries, where although the literal contiguity requirements of subsection (b) of this section and G.S. 160A-41(1) were apparently satisfied by the town’s ordinance, the town’s compliance with the literal requirements of these statutes resulted in the subversion of the purposes underlying subsection (b), since the town’s intentional gerrymandering of the annexation boundary created isolated islands connected to the town by a single narrow corridor of land. Amick v. Town of Stallings, 95 N.C. App. 64, 382 S.E.2d 221 (1989).

When a town proposed to annex certain land, it did not comply with the purpose of the standards in G.S. 160A-36(b), to provide essential government services within compact borders, even though it technically complied with the one-eighth contiguity requirement of G.S. 160A-36(b)(2), because it sought to annex certain noncontiguous valuable property by connecting it to the town by a narrow strip of land, surrounded on either side by nonannexed property, thus creating the potential for confusion in the provision of emergency and other services, and this was an impermissible “shoestring” annexation. Hughes v. Town of Oak Island, 158 N.C. App. 175, 580 S.E.2d 704, 2003 N.C. App.

LEXIS 1052 (2003), aff'd, 357 N.C. 653, 588 S.E.2d 467 (2003).

III. TESTS UNDER SUBSECTION (C).

Tax Records and Land Use Maps Are Proper Basis for Use Calculations. — Tax records and land use maps have been approved as accepted methods designed to provide reasonably accurate results for calculating the land use requirements in G.S. 160A-36 for the annexation of property. Sonopress, Inc. v. Town of Weaverville, 149 N.C. App. 492, 562 S.E.2d 32, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 282 (2002), cert. denied, 355 N.C. 751, 565 S.E.2d 671 (2002).

For discussion as to history and scope of subsection (c), see Tar Landing Villas Owners' Ass'n v. Town of Atlantic Beach, 64 N.C. App. 239, 307 S.E.2d 181 (1983), cert. denied, 310 N.C. 156, 311 S.E.2d 296 (1984).

"Use" Test and "Subdivision" Test for Determining Availability for Annexation. — The General Assembly adopted a standard containing two tests for determining availability for annexation: (1) The use test, i.e., that not less than 60% of the lots and tracts in the area must be in actual use, other than for agriculture, and (2) the subdivision test, i.e., that not less than 60% of the acreage which is in residential use, if any, and is vacant must consist of lots and tracts of five acres or less in size. Lithium Corp. of Am. v. Town of Bessemer City, 261 N.C. 532, 135 S.E.2d 574 (1964); Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 6 N.C. App. 78, 169 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 275 N.C. 681 (1969); Huyck Corp. v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff'd, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

The criteria in subsection (c) are known as the "use" test and the "subdivision" test. Thompson v. City of Salisbury, 24 N.C. App. 616, 211 S.E.2d 856, cert. denied, 287 N.C. 264, 214 S.E.2d 437 (1975).

Subsection (c) contains two tests for determining the availability for annexation, the use test and the subdivision test. American Greetings Corp. v. Town of Alexander Mills, 128 N.C. App. 727, 497 S.E.2d 108 (1998).

Both Tests Must Be Complied With. — The fact that the General Assembly connected the two test clauses in subsection (c) of this section with the conjunctive "and," and the clear abuses and hardships which a literal application of the use test, if alone applied, would produce, leads to the conclusion that the legislative intent is that both tests be complied with. Lithium Corp. of Am. v. Town of Bessemer City, 261 N.C. 532, 135 S.E.2d 574 (1964).

Both tests established by the General Assembly must be met in order for an area to meet the statutory standard. Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 6 N.C. App. 78, 169 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 275 N.C. 681 (1969); Huyck Corp.

v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff'd, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

Both the "use" test and the "subdivision" test must be met before an area can be classified as urban. Scovill Mfg. Co. v. Town of Wake Forest, 58 N.C. App. 15, 293 S.E.2d 240, cert. denied, 306 N.C. 559, 294 S.E.2d 371 (1982).

Application of Tests in Subsection (c). — The use and subdivision tests prescribed by subsection (c) of this section yield accurate results only if applied to a land area which encompasses only unannexed territory. This is so because these tests require a determination of the percentage of lots being used for "urban purposes" and the percentage of "total acreage" subdivided into lots of five acres or less. Such percentage figures will be skewed and inaccurate if not based on data from all the acreage and lots encompassed by the land area under consideration. Hawks v. Town of Valdese, 299 N.C. 1, 261 S.E.2d 90 (1980).

Application of Both Tests May Cause Absurd Results in Extreme Cases. — Literal insistence upon the application of both tests in subsection (c) might in some extreme and improbable circumstances bring about absurd results adverse to municipalities. Lithium Corp. of Am. v. Town of Bessemer City, 261 N.C. 532, 135 S.E.2d 574 (1964).

When applying the subdivision test the central inquiry is the degree of actual urbanization of the proposed area. American Greetings Corp. v. Town of Alexander Mills, 128 N.C. App. 727, 497 S.E.2d 108 (1998).

Determining What Is a "Lot". — There are several methods which can be used in determining what is a lot in making an appraisal of an area to be annexed. One is to count each numbered lot separately. Another is to consider a landlocked lot as part of the lot in front of it and group the two lots, i.e., the landlocked lot and the one providing it with access to a street, as being a single lot. A third method would be to consider a group of lots in single ownership and used for a single purpose as being a tract within the meaning of the statute, and count tracts rather than lots. Any one of these methods would be "calculated to provide reasonably accurate results," as required by G.S. 160A-42. Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 6 N.C. App. 78, 169 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 275 N.C. 681 (1969).

Property owners did not show that a town was unreasonable in relying upon an actual survey, as allowed by G.S. 160A-36; thus, the reviewing court did not err in concluding that one property consisted of two separate lots for the purposes of the subdivision test. Hayes v. Town of Fairmont, 167 N.C. App. 522, 605 S.E.2d 717, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 2383 (2004), cert. denied, 359 N.C. 410, 612 S.E.2d 320 (2005).

The word "lot" in subsection (c) includes the concept of a condominium unit. Tar Landing Villas Owners' Ass'n v. Town of Atlantic Beach, 64 N.C. App. 239, 307 S.E.2d 181 (1983), cert. denied, 310 N.C. 156, 311 S.E.2d 296 (1984).

Landlocked Lot and Fronting Lot as Single Lot. — It is not unreasonable and beyond the statutory definition to classify a landlocked lot and its fronting lot in single ownership as a single lot in residential use, where only the fronting lot contains "a habitable dwelling unit." Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 6 N.C. App. 78, 169 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 275 N.C. 681 (1969).

Lots in Single Ownership Used for Common Purpose May Be Considered Single Tract. — In appraising an area to be annexed, one of the methods which can be used to determine what is a tract is to consider several lots in single ownership used for a common purpose as being a single tract; these consolidated lots can then be used to determine the percentage of tracts used for urban purposes. Lowe v. Town of Mebane, 76 N.C. App. 239, 332 S.E.2d 739 (1985).

"Use" means "to put into service" under subsection (c). Southern Ry. v. Hook, 261 N.C. 517, 135 S.E.2d 562 (1964).

Tract Held for Future Development Not "Used". — Where about a tenth of a tract of land, marked off by a bumper strip or barrier, was used for parking, and the rest of the tract was graded and held by the owner for possible future industrial development, the vacant part of the tract was not "used" for industrial purposes within the purview of subsection (c). Southern Ry. v. Hook, 261 N.C. 517, 135 S.E.2d 562 (1964).

As to classification of tract as being in industrial use, see Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 6 N.C. App. 78, 169 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 275 N.C. 681 (1969).

Industrial Classification Proper Where Area Is Actively So Used. — When an area is used for an active industrial purpose, the land is properly classified as in industrial use within the meaning of the annexation statute. Scovill Mfg. Co. v. Town of Wake Forest, 58 N.C. App. 15, 293 S.E.2d 240, cert. denied, 306 N.C. 559, 294 S.E.2d 371 (1982).

Industrial Classification Improper Absent Evidence of Such Use. — An area proposed for annexation is improperly classified as property in use for industrial purposes where there is no evidence that the land in question is being used either directly or indirectly for industrial purposes. Scovill Mfg. Co. v. Town of Wake Forest, 58 N.C. App. 15, 293 S.E.2d 240, cert. denied, 306 N.C. 559, 294 S.E.2d 371 (1982).

Transmission of electrical power over land by a power company is an industrial activity for an urban use. Scovill Mfg. Co. v.

Town of Wake Forest, 58 N.C. App. 15, 293 S.E.2d 240, cert. denied, 306 N.C. 559, 294 S.E.2d 371 (1982).

Golf Course as Commercial Purpose. — Golf course, open to the public and operated for profit, is used for a commercial purpose within the meaning of subsection (c). Thompson v. City of Salisbury, 24 N.C. App. 616, 211 S.E.2d 856, cert. denied, 287 N.C. 264, 214 S.E.2d 437 (1975).

Classification of apartment complex as commercial rather than residential property was a reasonable method of complying with statutorily mandated requirements for the character of an area to be annexed; the general statutory intent is not to exclude areas of urbanized land from annexation on a technicality, but to provide municipalities with a flexible planning tool. Lowe v. Town of Mebane, 76 N.C. App. 239, 332 S.E.2d 739 (1985).

Annexation Ordinance Statement Held Insufficient for Lack of Specific Findings.

— A statement in an annexation ordinance that the area to be annexed was in the process of being developed for urban purposes, that more than 60 percent of the area was in use for residential, commercial, industrial, governmental or institutional purposes, and that at least 60 percent of the total acreage, not counting the acreage so used, consisted of lots and tracts of five acres or less in size, did not meet the requirements of this section, as the statement was a mere conclusion and there were no specific findings nor any showing on the face of the record as to the method used by the municipality in making its calculations or as to the present use of any particular tract. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961).

Review as to Availability of Area. — If a municipality clearly complies with the standards of subsection (c) of this section, there is nothing to review with respect to the availability of an area proposed for annexation. Where compliance is in doubt, the determination must be made upon the facts in the particular case. Lithium Corp. of Am. v. Town of Bessemer City, 261 N.C. 532, 135 S.E.2d 574 (1964).

Substantial Compliance with Statute Shown. — Trial court erred in concluding that the usage of disputed acres affected the classification of a golf course tract as a whole when the golf course was annexed by a town ordinance, because the golf course tract was properly designated as commercial by the town in its original calculations, and the entire acreage should have been included as commercial acreage for purposes of calculations under the use test; based on the new calculations, the annexation area met the 60 percent minimum required under the subdivision test of G.S. 160A-36(c)(1), and, given that the town substantially complied with the provisions of G.S. 160A-36, the ordinance was properly affirmed without amendment pursuant to G.S. 160A-38. Hayes v. Town of Fairmont, 167 N.C. App. 522, 605 S.E.2d 717, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 2383 (2004), cert. denied, 359 N.C. 410, 612 S.E.2d 320 (2005).

Statutory Requirements Not Met. —

Where tract was not currently under active development; a plat was never recorded by either party and there was no evidence that the family intended to sell any portion of it, the tract was not sufficiently urbanized to satisfy the statutory requirements. American Greetings Corp. v. Town of Alexander Mills, 128 N.C. App. 727, 497 S.E.2d 108 (1998).

In order for a town to comply with the statutory requirements, there must exist some actual, minimum urbanization of the proposed annexation property. American Greetings Corp. v. Town of Alexander Mills, 128 N.C. App. 727, 497 S.E.2d 108 (1998).

When a town proposed to annex certain land, it did not comply with the subdivision test in G.S. 160A-36(c)(1), requiring that at least 60 percent of a proposed annexation site, not counting acreage used at the time of annexation for commercial, industrial, governmental, or industrial purposes, consist of lots and tracts three acres or less in size, because it designated certain acreage in the proposed annexation area as commercial, when, in fact, the commercial use of the acreage was only proposed, so the acreage was not being used at the time of the annexation for commercial purposes. Hughes v. Town of Oak Island, 158 N.C. App. 175, 580 S.E.2d 704, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1052 (2003), aff'd, 357 N.C. 653, 588 S.E.2d 467 (2003).

IV. BOUNDARIES.

Purpose of Subsection (d). — The legislative history of subsection (d) of this section suggests that the reason for its inclusion was the legislature's concern that the full range of municipal services be available to citizens in the annexed area. Recognizing that water and, particularly, sewer services are necessarily limited by natural drainage boundaries, the Municipal Government Study Commission, whose recommendations were followed in establishing the present annexation procedures, included topography as an important consideration to be incorporated into the new statutory scheme of annexation. In order to ensure consideration of such topographic features, subsection (d) was enacted specifically enumerating certain features which create natural drainage boundaries. Greene v. Town of Valdese, 306 N.C. 79, 291 S.E.2d 630 (1982).

Subsection (d) contains no mandatory standards or requirements for annexation. Greene v. Town of Valdese, 306 N.C. 79, 291 S.E.2d 630 (1982).

Requirements of Subsection (d) Not Intended to Defeat Otherwise Proper Annexation. —

It was not the intent of the legislature to defeat the annexation of an area which was otherwise ripe for annexation because of the directory language contained in subsection (d) of this section. Greene v. Town of Valdese, 306 N.C. 79, 291 S.E.2d 630 (1982).

"Practical" as used in subsection (d) is defined as "that which is possible of reasonable performance." Greene v. Town of Valdese, 306 N.C. 79, 291 S.E.2d 630 (1982).

Tree lines do not constitute "natural topographic features" within the meaning of the requirement of subsection (d) of this section. Greene v. Town of Valdese, 306 N.C. 79, 291 S.E.2d 630 (1982).

No provision in subsection (d) prevents a municipality from using a street as a reference in setting the boundary lines of an area to be annexed. Rexham Corp. v. Town of Pineville, 26 N.C. App. 349, 216 S.E.2d 445 (1975).

Drawing boundary exactly five feet from and parallel to a street for its entire length did not violate subsection (d). Lowe v. Town of Mebane, 76 N.C. App. 239, 332 S.E.2d 739 (1985).

Splitting of Tracts Not Prohibited. — The statutory requirement contained in subsection (d) that a municipality use natural topographic features wherever practical in setting an annexation boundary does not demonstrate a legislative intent to prevent the splitting of tracts. Rexham Corp. v. Town of Pineville, 26 N.C. App. 349, 216 S.E.2d 445 (1975).

Proof of Noncompliance with Subsection (d). — In order to establish noncompliance with subsection (d) of this section, petitioners must show two things: (1) that the boundary of the annexed area does not follow natural topographic features, and (2) that it would have been practical for the boundary to follow such features. Greene v. Town of Valdese, 306 N.C. 79, 291 S.E.2d 630 (1982); Lowe v. Town of Mebane, 76 N.C. App. 239, 332 S.E.2d 739 (1985); Weeks v. Town of Coats, 121 N.C. App. 471, 466 S.E.2d 83 (1996).

Topographic Features Not Followed. — There was sufficient evidence to support the court's conclusion that the town did not attempt to follow topographic features in violation of G.S. 160A-36(d). Weeks v. Town of Coats, 121 N.C. App. 471, 466 S.E.2d 83 (1996).

§ 160A-37. Procedure for annexation.

(a) Notice of Intent. — Any municipal governing board desiring to annex territory under the provisions of this Part shall first pass a resolution stating the intent of the municipality to consider annexation. Such resolution shall describe the boundaries of the area under consideration, fix a date for the public informational meeting, and fix a date for a public hearing on the question of annexation. The date for the public informational meeting shall be not less than 45 days and not more than 55 days following passage of the resolution. The date for the public hearing to be not less than 60 days and not more than 90 days following passage of the resolution.

(b) Notice of Public Hearing. — The notice of public hearing shall:

- (1) Fix the date, hour and place of the public informational meeting and the date, hour, and place of the public hearing.
- (2) Describe clearly the boundaries of the area under consideration, and include a legible map of the area.
- (3) State that the report required in G.S. 160A-35 will be available at the office of the municipal clerk at least 30 days prior to the date of the public informational meeting.
- (4) Include an explanation of an owner's rights pursuant to subsection (f1) and (f2) of this section.

Such notice shall be given by publication once a week for at least two successive weeks prior to the date of the informational meeting in a newspaper having general circulation in the municipality and, in addition thereto, if the area to be annexed lies in a county containing less than fifty percent (50%) of the land area of the municipality, in a newspaper having general circulation in the area of proposed annexation. The period from the date of the first publication to the date of the last publication, both dates inclusive, shall be not less than eight days including Sundays, and the date of the last publication shall be not more than seven days preceding the date of public informational meeting. If there be no such newspaper, the municipality shall post the notice in at least five public places within the municipality and at least five public places in the area to be annexed for 30 days prior to the date of public informational meeting. In addition, notice shall be mailed at least four weeks prior to date of the informational meeting, by first class mail, postage prepaid to the owners as shown by the tax records of the county of all freehold interests in real property located within the area to be annexed. The person or persons mailing such notices shall certify to the governing board that fact, and such certificate shall become a part of the record of the annexation proceeding and shall be deemed conclusive in the absence of fraud. If the notice is returned to the city by the postal service by the tenth day before the informational meeting, a copy of the notice shall be sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, at least seven days before the informational meeting. Failure to comply with the mailing requirement of this subsection shall not invalidate the annexation unless it is shown that the requirements were not substantially complied with.

If the governing board by resolution finds that the tax records are not adequate to identify the owners of some or all of the parcels of real property within the area it may in lieu of the mail procedure as to those parcels where the owners could not be so identified, post the notice at least 30 days prior to the date of public informational meeting on all buildings on such parcels, and in at least five other places within the area to be annexed. In any case where notices are placed on property, the person placing the notice shall certify that fact to the governing board.

(c) Action Prior to Informational Meeting. — At least 30 days before the date of the public informational meeting, the governing board shall approve the report provided for in G.S. 160A-35, and shall make it available to the public at the office of the municipal clerk. In addition, the municipality may prepare a summary of the full report for public distribution. In addition, the city shall post in the office of the city clerk at least 30 days before the public informational meeting a legible map of the area to be annexed and a list of the persons holding freehold interests in property in the area to be annexed that it has identified.

(c1) Public Informational Meeting. — At the public informational meeting a representative of the municipality shall first make an explanation of the report required in G.S. 160A-35. Following such explanation, all persons resident or owning property in the territory described in the notice of public hearing, and all residents of the municipality, shall be given the opportunity to ask questions and receive answers regarding the proposed annexation.

(e) Passage of the Annexation Ordinance. — The municipal governing board shall take into consideration facts presented at the public hearing and shall have authority to amend the report required by G.S. 160A-35 to make changes in the plans for serving the area proposed to be annexed so long as such changes meet the requirements of G.S. 160A-35. At any regular or special meeting held no sooner than the tenth day following the public hearing and not later than 90 days following such public hearing, the governing board shall have authority to adopt an ordinance extending the corporate limits of the municipality to include all, or such part, of the area described in the notice of public hearing which meets the requirements of G.S. 160A-36 and which the governing board has concluded should be annexed. The ordinance shall:

- (1) Contain specific findings showing that the area to be annexed meets the requirements of G.S. 160A-36. The external boundaries of the area to be annexed shall be described by metes and bounds. In showing the application of G.S. 160A-36(c) and (d) to the area, the governing board may refer to boundaries set forth on a map of the area and incorporate same by reference as a part of the ordinance.
- (2) A statement of the intent of the municipality to provide services to the area being annexed as set forth in the report required by G.S. 160A-35.
- (3) A specific finding that on the effective date of annexation the municipality will have funds appropriated in sufficient amount to finance construction of any water and sewer lines found necessary in the report required by G.S. 160A-35 to extend the basic water and/or sewer system of the municipality into the area to be annexed, or that on the effective date of annexation the municipality will have authority to issue bonds in an amount sufficient to finance such construction. If authority to issue such bonds must be secured from the electorate of the municipality prior to the effective date of annexation, then the effective date of annexation shall be no earlier than the day following the statement of the successful result of the bond election.
- (4) Fix the effective date for annexation. The effective date of annexation may be fixed for any date not less than 40 days nor more than 400 days from the date of passage of the ordinance.

(f) Effect of Annexation Ordinance. — Except as provided in subsection (f1) of this section, from and after the effective date of the annexation ordinance, the territory and its citizens and property shall be subject to all debts, laws, ordinances and regulations in force in such municipality and shall be entitled to the same privileges and benefits as other parts of such municipality. Real and personal property in the newly annexed territory on the January 1 immediately preceding the beginning of the fiscal year in which the annexation becomes effective is subject to municipal taxes as provided in G.S. 160A-58.10. If the effective date of annexation falls between June 1 and June 30, and the effective date of the privilege license tax ordinance of the annexing municipality is June 1, then businesses in the area to be annexed shall be liable for taxes imposed in such ordinance from and after the effective date of annexation.

(f1) Property Subject to Present-Use Value Appraisal. — If an area described in an annexation ordinance includes agricultural land, horticultural land, or forestland that meets either of the conditions listed below on the effective date of annexation, then the annexation becomes effective as to that property pursuant to subsection (f2) of this section:

- (1) The land is being taxed at present-use value pursuant to G.S. 105-277.4.
- (2) The land meets both of the following conditions:
 - a. On the date of the resolution of intent for annexation it was being used for actual production and is eligible for present-use value taxation under G.S. 105-277.4, but the land had not been in use for actual production for the required time under G.S. 105-277.3.
 - b. The assessor for the county where the land subject to annexation is located has certified to the city that the land meets the requirements of this subdivision.

- (1) Upon the effective date of the annexation ordinance, the property is considered part of the city only (i) for the purpose of establishing city boundaries for additional annexations pursuant to this Article and (ii) for the exercise of city authority pursuant to Article 19 of this Chapter.
- (2) For all other purposes, the annexation becomes effective as to each tract of the property or part thereof on the last day of the month in which that tract or part thereof becomes ineligible for classification pursuant to G.S. 105-277.4 or no longer meets the requirements of subdivision (f1)(2) of this section. Until annexation of a tract or a part of a tract becomes effective pursuant to this subdivision, the tract or part of a tract is not subject to taxation by the city under Article 12 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes nor is the tract or part of a tract entitled to services provided by the city.

(g) Simultaneous Annexation Proceedings. — If a municipality is considering the annexation of two or more areas which are all adjacent to the municipal boundary but are not adjacent to one another, it may undertake simultaneous proceedings under authority of this Part for the annexation of such areas.

(h) Remedies for Failure to Provide Services. — If, not earlier than one year from the effective date of annexation, and not later than 15 months from the effective date of annexation, any person owning property in the annexed territory shall believe that the municipality has not followed through on its service plans adopted under the provisions of G.S. 160A-35(3) and subsection (e) of this section, the person may apply for a writ of mandamus under the provisions of Article 40, Chapter 1 of the General Statutes. Relief may be granted by the judge of superior court

- (1) If the municipality has not provided the services set forth in its plan submitted under the provisions of G.S. 160A-35(3)a on substantially the same basis and in the same manner as such services were provided within the rest of the municipality prior to the effective date of annexation, and

- (2) If at the time the writ is sought such services set forth in the plan submitted under the provisions of G.S. 160A-35(3)a are still being provided on substantially the same basis and in the same manner as on the date of annexation of the municipality.

Relief may also be granted by the judge of superior court

- (1) If the plans submitted under the provisions of G.S. 160A-35(3)b. require the construction of major trunk water mains and sewer outfall lines and
- (2) If contracts for such construction have not yet been let.

If a writ is issued, costs in the action, including a reasonable attorney's fee for such aggrieved person, shall be charged to the municipality.

(i) No resolution of intent may be adopted under subsection (a) of this section unless the city council (or a planning agency created or designated under either G.S. 160A-361 or the charter) has, by resolution adopted at least one year prior to adoption of the resolution of intent, identified the area as being under consideration for annexation and included a statement in the resolution notifying persons subject to the annexation of their rights under subsections (f1) and (f2) of this section; provided, adoption of such resolution of consideration shall not confer prior jurisdiction over the area as to any other city. The area described under the resolution of intent may comprise a smaller area than that identified by the resolution of consideration. The resolution of consideration may have a metes and bounds description or a map, shall remain effective for two years after adoption, and shall be filed with the city clerk. A new resolution of consideration adopted before expiration of the two-year period for a previously adopted resolution covering the same area shall relate back to the date of the previous resolution.

(j) Subsection (i) of this section shall not apply to the annexation of any area if the resolution of intent describing the area and the ordinance annexing the area both provide that the effective date of the annexation shall be at least one year from the date of passage of the annexation ordinance.

(k) If a city fails to deliver police protection, fire protection, solid waste or street maintenance services as provided for in G.S. 160A-35(3)a. within 60 days after the effective date of the annexation, the owner of the property may petition the Local Government Commission for abatement of taxes to be paid to the city for taxes that have been levied as of the end of the 60-day period, if the petition is filed not more than 90 days after the expiration of the 60-day period. If the Local Government Commission finds that services were not extended by the end of the 60-day period, it shall enter an order directing the city not to levy any further ad valorem taxes on the property until the fiscal year commencing after extension of the municipal services. Editor's Note. — The reference to G.S. 160A-35(3)c in the second occurrence of (1) in subsection (h) should be to G.S. 160A-35(3)b. The bracketed reference has been added at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of Acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

Article 40, Chapter 1, referred to in the first sentence of subsection (h), was repealed by Session Laws 1967, c. 954, s. 4.

Session Laws 2001-487, s. 36, amended this section in the coded bill drafting format provided by G.S. 120-20.1. Subdivisions (f1)(1) and (f1)(2) have been set out in the form above at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes. The words in brackets were added by S.L. 2001-487, but were not underlined per code drafting guidelines, and the words "Land that" at the beginning of subdivisions (f1)(1) and (f1)(2) probably should have been deleted, but were not stricken through per code drafting guidelines.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-264, s. 17(a)-(c), effective August 27, 2006, deleted "Land that" from the beginning of subdivisions (f1)(1) and (f1)(2); added "both of the following conditions" to the end of the introductory language of subdivision (f1)(2); substituted "land had" for "land has" near the end of subdivision (f1)(2)a.; made a minor punctuation change in subsection (f2); substituted "subsection (e) of this section, the" for "160A-37(e), such" in the introductory paragraph of subsection (h); and substituted "G.S. 160A-35(3)b." for "G.S. 160A-35(3)c" in the middle of the second subdivision (h)(1).

CASE NOTES

This section provides two different procedural methods for beginning the involuntary annexation process under G.S. 160A-33 to 160A-42 and former G.S. 160A-43 and 160A-44. A municipality may either pass a resolution of consideration one year prior to adopting its resolution of intent, or it may immediately adopt the resolution of intent and postpone the effective date of annexation for at least a year after the ordinance is passed. Town of Hazelwood v. Town of Waynesville, 83 N.C. App. 670, 351 S.E.2d 558, rev'd on other grounds, 320 N.C. 89, 357 S.E.2d 686 (1987).

The trial court's order affirming a town annexation ordinance had to be vacated where the court applied the material prejudice standard of review to the adequacy of maps contained in the town report as well as to the questions of solid waste collection and the financing of services instead of determining whether or not the town complied with this section in formulating and carrying out its annexation plan; procedural irregularities under this section are to be evaluated under a "material prejudice" standard, while violations of either G.S. 160A-35 or G.S. 160A-36 are to be viewed in light of compliance or lack thereof and, if necessary, result in appropriate amendment. Sonopress, Inc. v. Town of Weaverville, 139 N.C. App. 378, 533 S.E.2d 537, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 948 (2000).

Notice of Rescinded Ordinance Not Required. — There is no provision in this section or any other section in this chapter that would impose a duty on the town to give plaintiffs notice of the fact that the town had rescinded an earlier annexation ordinance. Chicora Country Club, Inc. v. Town of Erwin, 128 N.C. App. 101, 493 S.E.2d 797 (1997).

Deliberate preference for voluntary annexation is incorporated into law. Town of Hazelwood v. Town of Waynesville, 320 N.C. 89, 357 S.E.2d 686, rehearing denied, 320 N.C. 639, 360 S.E.2d 106 (1987).

Resolution of intent is "first mandatory public procedural step" for purposes of the prior jurisdiction rule. Town of Hazelwood v. Town of Waynesville, 320 N.C. 89, 357 S.E.2d 686, rehearing denied, 320 N.C. 639, 360 S.E.2d 106 (1987).

The adoption of a resolution of intent is the critical date for determining whether a municipality utilizing involuntary annexation procedures has prior jurisdiction over the same territory being considered for voluntary annexation by a different municipality. Town of Hazelwood v. Town of Waynesville, 320 N.C. 89, 357 S.E.2d 686, rehearing denied, 320 N.C. 639, 360 S.E.2d 106 (1987).

Sections 160A-31(d), 160A-49(e) and subsection (e) of this section are in pari materia. Conover v. Newton, 297 N.C. 506, 256 S.E.2d 216 (1979).

The legislature has empowered municipal governing boards to amend the report required by G.S. 160A-35, to accommodate changes in the plans for serving the area proposed to be annexed, so long as such changes meet the requirements of G.S. 160A-35. Gregory v. Town of Plymouth, 60 N.C. App. 431, 299 S.E.2d 232, cert. denied, 308 N.C. 544, 304 S.E.2d 237 (1983).

Subsection (e) contains no provision requiring a second public hearing before the annexation report may be amended; to hold that a public hearing is always necessary when an annexation report is amended would result in a proliferation of unnecessary hearings. Williams v. Town of Grifton, 22 N.C. App. 611, 207 S.E.2d 275 (1974).

There is no requirement in subsection (e) that a second public hearing be held on the report as amended. Conover v. Newton, 297 N.C. 506, 256 S.E.2d 216 (1979).

There is no requirement that a second public hearing be held on an amended annexation proposal, when that amendment is adopted to achieve compliance with G.S. 160A-35, pursuant to the authority granted in subsection (e) of this section. Gregory v. Town of Plymouth, 60 N.C. App. 431, 299 S.E.2d 232, cert. denied, 308 N.C. 544, 304 S.E.2d 237 (1983).

Nor Any Provision as to Duration of Public Inspection of Amended Reports. — There is no requirement in subsection (e) that the amended report be available for public inspection for any particular amount of time before final action is taken on the annexation proposal. Conover v. Newton, 297 N.C. 506, 256 S.E.2d 216 (1979).

Newly annexed territory is subject to municipal taxes levied for the fiscal year following the effective date of annexation under subsection (f) of this section. A taxpayer's right to recover taxes paid under protest for a fiscal year depends upon the date the annexation ordinance became effective under G.S. 160A-38(i). Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 281 N.C. 147, 187 S.E.2d 704 (1972), decided under this section as it stood before the 1975 amendment.

Effect of Appeal on Effective Date of Annexation for Tax Purposes. — Where an appeal from an annexation ordinance was pending in the Court of Appeals on the effective date of annexation specified in the ordinance, May 15, 1969, and the decision of the Court of Appeals was filed and certified in September, 1969, property within the area being annexed was not subject to municipal ad valorem taxes for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1969, since (1) newly annexed territory is subject to municipal taxes levied for the fiscal year following the effective date of annexation, under subsection (f) of this section, and (2) under G.S. 160A-38(i), the appeal postponed the effective date of the ordinance until the date of the final judgment of the appellate court. Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 281 N.C. 147, 187 S.E.2d 704 (1972), decided under this section as it stood before the 1975 amendment.

Annexed Areas Need Not Be Contiguous to Each Other. — If the areas to be annexed meet the standards prescribed, it does not matter whether they be contiguous. Subsection (g) of this section simply alleviates the necessity for separate annexation proceedings where areas to be annexed are adjacent to the municipality but not adjacent to each other, and specifically provides that annexation procedures may be simultaneously instituted and carried forward. Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 6 N.C. App. 78, 169 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 275 N.C. 681 (1969).

But Contiguous Areas Are Not Excluded from Annexation. — Subsection (g) of this section is not interpreted to exclude annexation of areas contiguous to the municipality which are also contiguous to each other. Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 6 N.C. App. 78, 169 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 275 N.C. 681 (1969).

Fact that the metes and bounds description in a resolution of intent to annex failed to close because one small piece of property owned by a person who did not join the petition for review was not included within the resolution of intent was not fatal to the validity of the annexation ordinance, where the resolution of intent and the published notice of public hearing made full reference to a map, filed in the office of the clerk of the city, and available for public inspection of the area proposed to be annexed, and this map and a map published in the newspaper notice of the public hearing showed all the property proposed to be annexed. Conover v. Newton, 297 N.C. 506, 256 S.E.2d 216 (1979).

Property Owner Not Materially Prejudiced by Illegible Map. — Although the public notice provided by town for public hearing on annexation and printed in newspaper included an illegible map, the property owner was not materially prejudiced, since the public notice adequately described the property at issue; further, the property owner was not materially prejudiced by the denial of its request for a postponement of the public hearing because it had ample notice of the proposed annexation and an opportunity to be heard. Sonopress, Inc. v. Town of Weaverville, 149 N.C. App. 492, 562 S.E.2d 32, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 282 (2002), cert. denied, 355 N.C. 751, 565 S.E.2d 671 (2002).

Where annexation is completed without being challenged in the manner prescribed by G.S. 160A-38, it becomes an accomplished fact, and the remedies of property owners and citizens within the annexed areas are those provided in subsection (h) of this section. Gaskill v. Costlow, 270 N.C. 686, 155 S.E.2d 148 (1967).

Remedy Where Municipality Has Not Carried Out Service Plans. — The statutory remedy for owners of property in annexed territory where the municipality has not followed through on its service plans adopted under the provisions of subdivision (3) of G.S. 160A-35 and subsection (e) of this section is by writ of mandamus. Safrit v. Costlow, 270 N.C. 680, 155 S.E.2d 252 (1967).

Time for Bringing Action for Mandamus. — The owner of property within territory annexed by a municipality may bring an action for mandamus after the expiration of one year from the effective date of annexation and prior to the expiration of 15 months from such date to compel the municipality to follow through on its plans for furnishing essential municipal services to the area annexed in accordance with the plans filed in the proceedings. Safrit v. Costlow, 270 N.C. 680, 155 S.E.2d 252 (1967).

Annexation ordinance and annexation report met the requirements of G.S. 160A-35 and this section. Williams v. Town of Grifton, 22 N.C. App. 611, 207 S.E.2d 275 (1974).

Town Not Required to Provide Service. — Language in annexation ordinances to the effect that since water service then provided to the annexed areas by plaintiff was comparable to that provided by the town, the town would not be required to appropriate funds to extend water and sewer lines to the annexed area was required by subdivision (e)(3) and G.S. 160A-35(3)b to insure that residents of the area to be annexed would have access to comparable water service; in no way did this serve as a promise to be rightfully relied upon that the town would not in the future construct its own water lines within the annexed area or that plaintiff had the exclusive right to furnish water service there. Carolina Water Serv., Inc. v. Town of Atlantic Beach, 121 N.C. App. 23, 464 S.E.2d 317 (1995).

New Public Hearing Not Required. — Although town's annexation report failed to fully set forth the town's policies regarding sanitation services, the trial court did not have to order a new public hearing, but could remand the issue to the town to more fully and adequately set forth the town's policy, and the proposed extension of such services into the area of annexation; a municipal governing board has the authority to amend an annexation report to make changes in the plans for serving the area proposed to be annexed without another public hearing as long as the changes meet the statutory requirements and were part of the original notice of public hearing. Sonopress, Inc. v. Town of Weaverville, 149 N.C. App. 492, 562 S.E.2d 32, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 282 (2002), cert. denied, 355 N.C. 751, 565 S.E.2d 671 (2002).

Informational Meeting. — Land owners failed to demonstrate how they had suffered material injury as a result of a village's failure to answer one question at the informational meeting, the answer to which could have no effect on the validity of the proposed annexation, and the annexation was proper. Nolan v. Village of Marvin, 172 N.C. App. 84, 615 S.E.2d 898, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1432 (2005).

(a) If the area to be annexed described in a resolution of intent passed under G.S. 160A-37(a) includes an area in an insurance district defined under G.S. 153A-233, a rural fire protection district under Article 3A of Chapter 69 of the General Statutes, or a fire service district under Article 16 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes, and a rural fire department was on the date of adoption of the resolution of intent providing fire protection in the area to be annexed, then the city (if the rural fire department makes a written request for a good faith offer, and the request is signed by the chief officer of the fire department and delivered to the city clerk no later than 15 days before the public hearing) is required to make a good faith effort to negotiate a five-year contract with the rural fire department to provide fire protection in the area to be annexed.

(b) If the area is a rural fire protection district or a fire service district, then an offer to pay annually for the term of the contract the amount of money that the tax rate in the district in effect on the date of adoption of the resolution of intent would generate based on property values on January 1 of each year in the area to be annexed which is in such a district is deemed to be a good faith offer of consideration for the contract.

(c) If the area is an insurance district but not a rural fire protection district or fire service district, then an offer to pay annually over the term of the contract the amount of money which is determined to be the equivalent of the amount which would be generated by multiplying the fraction of the city's general fund budget in that current fiscal year which is proposed to be expended for fire protection times the tax rate for the city in the current year, and multiplying that result by the property valuation in the area to be annexed which is served by the rural fire department is deemed to be a good faith offer of consideration for the contract; Provided that the payment shall not exceed the equivalent of fifteen cents (15¢) on one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation of annexed property in the district according to county valuations for the current fiscal year.

(d) Any offer by a city to a rural fire department which would compensate the rural fire department for revenue loss directly attributable to the annexation by paying such annually for five years, is deemed to be a good faith offer of consideration for the contract.

(e) Under subsections (b), (c), or (d) of this section, if the good faith offer is for first responder service, an offer of one-half the calculated amount under those subsections is deemed to be a good faith offer.

(f) This section does not obligate the city or rural fire department to enter into any contract.

(g) The rural fire department may, if it feels that no good faith offer has been made, appeal to the Local Government Commission within 30 days following the passage of an annexation ordinance. The rural fire department may apply to the Local Government Commission for an order staying the operation of the annexation ordinance pending the outcome of the review. The Commission may grant or deny the stay in its discretion upon such terms as it deems proper, and it may permit annexation of any part of the area described in the ordinance concerning which no question for review has been raised, provided that no other appeal under G.S. 160A-38 is pending.

(h) The Local Government Commission may affirm the ordinance, or if the Local Government Commission finds that no good faith offer has been made, it shall remand the ordinance to the municipal governing board for further proceedings, and the ordinance shall then not become effective unless the Local Government Commission finds that a good faith offer has been made.

(i) Any party to the review under subsection (h) may obtain judicial review in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes. (1983, c. 636, s. 20; 1987, c. 827, s. 1.)

Cross References. — As to effective date of annexation ordinances adopted under Article 4A of Chapter 160A, see G.S. 160A-58.9A.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which enacted this section, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of Acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

Section 38 of Session Laws 1983, c. 636 provided: "This act shall be effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after the date of ratification of this act, except that Sections 36 and 37 shall become effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after July 1, 1984, Sections 25.1 through 35.5 and Section 37.1 are effective upon ratification and Section 25 shall become effective as provided in that section. No annexation where a resolution of intent was adopted prior to the date of ratification of this act shall be affected by this act except as provided in Section 25."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

§ 160A-37.2. Assumption of debt.

(a) If the city has annexed any area which is served by a rural fire department and which is in an insurance district defined under G.S. 153A-233, a rural fire protection district under Article 3A of Chapter 69 of the General Statutes or a fire service district under Article 17 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes, then upon the effective date of annexation if the city has not contracted with the rural fire department for fire protection, or when the rural fire department ceases to provide fire protection under contract, then the city shall pay annually a proportionate share of any payments due on any debt (including principal and interest) relating to facilities or equipment of the rural fire department, if the debt was existing at the time of adoption of the resolution of intent, with the payments in the same proportion that the assessed valuation of the area of the district annexed bears to the assessed valuation of the entire district on the date the annexation ordinance becomes effective or another date for valuation mutually agreed upon by the city and the fire department.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

Session Laws 1983, c. 636, s. 38, provided: "This act shall be effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after the date of ratification of this act, except that Sections 36 and 37 shall become effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after July 1, 1984, Sections 25.1 through 35.5 and Section 37.1 are effective upon ratification and Section 25 shall become effective as provided in that section. No annexation where a resolution of intent was adopted prior to the date of ratification of this act shall be affected by this act except as provided in Section 25."

§ 160A-37.3. Contract with private solid waste collection firm(s).

(a) If the area to be annexed described in a resolution of intent passed under G.S. 160A-37(a) includes an area where a firm (i) meets the requirements of subsection (a1) of this section, (ii) on the ninetieth day preceding the date of adoption of the resolution of intent or resolution of consideration was providing solid waste collection services in the area to be annexed, (iii) on the date of adoption of the resolution of intent is still providing such services, and (iv) by reason of the annexation the firm's franchise with a county or arrangements with third parties for solid waste collection will be terminated, the city shall do one of the following:

- (1) Contract with the firm for a period of two years after the effective date of the annexation ordinance to allow the firm to provide collection services to the city in the area to be annexed for sums determined under subsection (d) of this section.
 - (2) Pay to the firm the firm's economic loss, with one-third of the economic loss to be paid within 30 days of the termination and the balance paid in 12 equal monthly installments during the next succeeding 12 months. Any remaining economic loss payment is forfeited if the firm terminates service to customers in the annexation area prior to the effective date of the annexation.
 - (3) Make other arrangements satisfactory to the parties.
- (a1) To qualify for the options set forth in subsection (a) of this section, a firm must have done one of the following:
- (1) Subsequent to receiving notice of the annexation in accordance with subsection (b) of this section, filed with the city clerk at least 10 days prior to the public hearing a written request to contract with the city to provide solid waste collection services containing a certification, signed by an officer or owner of the firm, that the firm serves at least 50 customers within the county at that time.
 - (2) Contacted the city clerk pursuant to public notice published by the city, pursuant to G.S. 160A-37(b), at least 10 days before the hearing and provided to the city clerk a written request to contract with the city to provide solid waste collection services. The request must contain a certification signed by an officer or owner of the firm that the firm serves at least 50 customers within the county at that time.
- (a2) Firms shall file notice of provision of solid waste collection service with the city clerk of all cities located in the firm's collection area or within five miles thereof.
- (b) At least four weeks prior to the date of the informational meeting, the city shall provide written notice of the resolution of intent to all firms serving the area to be annexed. The notice shall be sent to all firms that filed notice in accordance with subsection (a2) of this section by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the address provided by the firm under subsection (a2) of this section.
- (c) The city may require that the contract contain:
- (1) A requirement that the firm post a performance bond and maintain public liability insurance coverage;
 - (2) A requirement that the firm agree to service customers in the annexed area that were not served by that firm on the effective date of annexation;
 - (3) A provision that divides the annexed area into service areas if there were more than one firm being contracted within the area, such that the entire area is served by the firms, or by the city as to customers not served by the firms;
 - (4) A provision that the city may serve customers not served by the firm on the effective date of annexation;
 - (5) A provision that the contract can be cancelled in writing, delivered by certified mail to the firm in question with 30 days to cure substantial violations of the contract, but no contract may be cancelled on these grounds unless the Local Government Commission finds that substantial violations have occurred, except that the city may suspend the contract for up to 30 days if it finds substantial violation of health laws;

- (6) Performance standards, not exceeding city standards existing at the time of notice published pursuant to G.S. 160A-37(b), with provision that the contract may be cancelled for substantial violations of those standards, but no contract may be cancelled on those grounds unless the Local Government Commission finds that substantial violations have occurred;

- (7) A provision for monetary damages if there are violations of the contract or of performance standards.

(d) If the services to be provided to the city by reason of the annexation are substantially the same as rendered under the franchise with the county or arrangements with the parties, the amount paid by the city shall be at least ninety percent (90%) of the amount paid or required under the existing franchise or arrangements. If such services are required to be adjusted to conform to city standards or as a result of changes in the number of customers, and as a result there are changes in disposal costs (including mileage and landfill charges), requirements for storage capacity (dumpsters and/or residential carts), and/or frequency of collection, the amount paid by the city for the service shall be increased or decreased to reflect the value of such adjusted services as if computed under the existing franchise or arrangements. In the event agreement cannot be reached between the city and the firm under this subsection, the matters shall be determined by the Local Government Commission.

(g) The firm may, if it contends that no contract has been offered, appeal to the Local Government Commission within 30 days following passage of an annexation ordinance. The firm may appeal to the Local Government Commission for an order staying the operation of the annexation ordinance pending the outcome of the review. The Commission may grant or deny the stay upon such terms as it deems proper. If the Local Government Commission finds that the city has not made an offer which complies with this section, it shall remand the ordinance to the municipal governing board for further proceedings, and the ordinance shall not become effective until the Local Government Commission finds that such an offer has been made. Either the firm or the city may obtain judicial review in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes.

(h) A firm which has given notice under subsection (a) of this section that it desires to contract, and any firm that the city believes is eligible to give such notice, shall make available to the city not later than 30 days following a written request of the city, sent by certified mail return receipt requested, all information in its possession or control, including but not limited to operational, financial and budgetary information, necessary for the city to determine if the firm qualifies for the benefits of this section and to determine the nature and scope of the potential contract and/or economic loss. The firm forfeits its rights under this section if it fails to make a good faith response within 30 days following receipt of the written request for information from the city, provided that the city's written request states that statutory rights will be forfeited in the absence of a timely response and includes a specific reference to this section.

- (i) As used in this section, the following terms mean:

- (1) Economic loss. — A sum equal to 15 times the average gross monthly revenue for the three months prior to the passage of the resolution of intent or resolution of consideration, as applicable under subsection (a) of this section, collected or due the firm for residential, commercial, and industrial collection service in the area annexed or to be annexed; provided that revenue shall be included in calculations under this subdivision only if policies of the city will provide solid waste collection to those customers such that arrangements between the firm and the customers will be terminated.

- (2) Firm. — A private solid waste collection firm. (1985, c. 610, s. 3; 1987, c. 827, s. 1; 1989, c. 598, s. 6; 1998-150, s. 9; 2006-193, s. 1.)

Cross References. — As to effective date of annexation ordinances adopted under Article 4A of Chapter 160A, see G.S. 160A-58.9A.

Editor's Note. — Subsection (h) of this section was amended by Session Laws 1998-150, s. 9, in the coded bill drafting format provided by G.S. 120-20.1; however, the introductory language stated the section was amended by adding a new subsection. It has been set out in the form above at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-193, s. 1, applicable to annexations for which a resolution of intent is adopted on or after January 1, 2007, rewrote subsections (a) and (b); added subsections (a1), (a2) and (i); deleted “private” preceding “firm” and “firms” throughout subsections (c), (d) and (g); substituted “in writing, delivered by certified mail to the firm in question with 30 days to cure” for “for” in subdivision (c)(5); inserted “existing at the time of notice published pursuant to G.S. 160A-37(b)” in subdivision (c)(6); substituted “the” for “such” near the end of subsection (d); deleted subsections (e) and (f); and substituted “30 days” for “10 business days” twice in subsection (h).

§ 160A-38. Appeal.

(a) Within 60 days following the passage of an annexation ordinance under authority of this Part, any person owning property in the annexed territory who shall believe that he will suffer material injury by reason of the failure of the municipal governing board to comply with the procedure set forth in this Part or to meet the requirements set forth in G.S. 160A-36 as they apply to his property may file a petition in the superior court of the county in which the municipality is located seeking review of the action of the governing board.

(b) Such petition shall explicitly state what exceptions are taken to the action of the governing board and what relief the petitioner seeks. Within 10 days after the petition is filed with the court, the person seeking review shall serve copies of the petition by registered mail, return receipt requested, upon the municipality.

(c) Within 15 days after receipt of the copy of the petition for review, or within such additional time as the court may allow, the municipality shall transmit to the reviewing court

- (1) A transcript of the portions of the municipal journal or minute book in which the procedure for annexation has been set forth and
- (2) A copy of the report setting forth the plans for extending services to the annexed area as required in G.S. 160A-35.

(d) If two or more petitions for review are submitted to the court, the court may consolidate all such petitions for review at a single hearing, and the municipality shall be required to submit only one set of minutes and one report as required in subsection (c).

(e) At any time before or during the review proceeding, any petitioner or petitioners may apply to the reviewing court for an order staying the operation of the annexation ordinance pending the outcome of the review. The court may grant or deny the stay in its discretion upon such terms as it deems proper, and it may permit annexation of any part of the area described in the ordinance concerning which no question for review has been raised.

(f) The court shall fix the date for review of annexation proceedings under this Chapter, which review date shall preferably be within 30 days following the last day for receiving petitions to the end that review shall be expeditious and without unnecessary delays. The review shall be conducted by the court without a jury. The court may hear oral arguments and receive written briefs, and may take evidence intended to show either

- (1) That the statutory procedure was not followed or
 - (2) That the provisions of G.S. 160A-35 were not met, or
 - (3) That the provisions of G.S. 160A-36 have not been met.
- (g) The court may affirm the action of the governing board without change, or it may
- (1) Remand the ordinance to the municipal governing board for further proceedings if procedural irregularities are found to have materially prejudiced the substantive rights of any of the petitioners.
 - (2) Remand the ordinance to the municipal governing board for amendment of the boundaries to conform to the provisions of G.S. 160A-36 if it finds that the provisions of G.S. 160A-36 have not been met; provided, that the court cannot remand the ordinance to the municipal governing board with directions to add area to the municipality which was not included in the notice of public hearing and not provided for in plans for service.
 - (3) Remand the report to the municipal governing board for amendment of the plans for providing services to the end that the provisions of G.S. 160A-35 are satisfied.
 - (4) Declare the ordinance null and void, if the court finds that the ordinance cannot be corrected by remand as provided in subdivisions (1), (2), or (3) of this subsection.

If any municipality shall fail to take action in accordance with the court's instructions upon remand within 90 days following entry of the order embodying the court's instructions, the annexation proceeding shall be deemed null and void.

(h) Any party to the review proceedings, including the municipality, may appeal to the Court of Appeals from the final judgment of the superior court under rules of procedure applicable in other civil cases. The superior court may, with the agreement of the municipality, permit annexation to be effective with respect to any part of the area concerning which no appeal is being made and which can be incorporated into the city without regard to any part of the area concerning which an appeal is being made.

(i) If part or all of the area annexed under the terms of an annexation ordinance is the subject of an appeal to the superior court, Court of Appeals or Supreme Court on the effective date of the ordinance, then the ordinance shall be deemed amended to make the effective date with respect to such area the last day of the next full calendar month following the date of the final judgment of the superior court, Court of Appeals or Supreme Court, whichever is appropriate, or the date the municipal governing board completes action to make the ordinance conform to the court's instructions in the event of remand. For the purposes of this subsection, a denial of a petition for a rehearing or for discretionary review shall be treated as a final judgement.

(j) The provisions of subsection (i) of this section shall apply to any judicial review authorized in whole or in part by G.S. 160A-37.1(i) or G.S. 160A-37.3(g).

(k) In any proceeding related to an annexation ordinance appeal under this section, a city shall not state a claim for lost property tax revenue caused by the appeal. Nothing in this Article shall be construed to mean that as a result of an appeal a municipality may assert a claim for property tax revenue lost during the pendency of the appeal.

(l) Any settlement agreed to by all parties in an appeal under this section may be presented to the superior court in the county in which the municipality is located. If the superior court, in its discretion, approves the settlement, it shall be binding on all parties without the need for approval by the General Assembly. CASE NOTES

Reason for Judicial Review. — The difficulties of applying the standards of G.S. 160A-36 in extreme cases are the reason the Municipal Government Study Commission recommended a provision for court review, set out in this section, to determine whether the agency making the decision made a reasonable decision in accord with statutory standards. Lithium Corp. of Am. v. Town of Bessemer City, 261 N.C. 532, 135 S.E.2d 574 (1964).

Scope of Superior Court Review. — The superior court's review of an involuntary annexation proceeding, pursuant to this section, is limited in scope to the following: (1) Did the municipality comply with the statutory procedures? (2) If not, will petitioners "suffer material injury" by reason of the municipality's failure to comply? (3) Does the character of the area specified for annexation meet the requirements of G.S. 160A-36 as applied to petitioners' property? Conover v. Newton, 297 N.C. 506, 256 S.E.2d 216 (1979).

Subsection (f) of this section and G.S. 160A-50(f) limit the court's inquiry on review of an annexation ordinance to a determination of whether applicable annexation statutes have been substantially complied with. Huyck Corp. v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff'd, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

In determining the validity of an annexation ordinance, the court's review is limited to the following inquiries: (1) Did the municipality comply with the statutory procedures? (2) If not, will the petitioner suffer material injury thereby? (3) Does the area to be annexed meet the requirements of G.S. 160A-36 or G.S. 160A-48? Huyck Corp. v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff'd, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

Section Provides Only Procedure Available to Property Owners to Prevent Annexation. — The statutory remedy provided by this section is the only procedure available to property owners to prevent the annexation provided by an annexation ordinance. Gaskill v. Costlow, 270 N.C. 686, 155 S.E.2d 148 (1967).

Remedy Under § 160A-37 Exclusive Where Annexation Not Challenged Under This Section. — Where annexation is completed without being challenged in the manner prescribed by this section, it becomes an accomplished fact, and the remedies of property owners and citizens within the annexed areas are those provided in subsection (h) of G.S. 160A-37. Gaskill v. Costlow, 270 N.C. 686, 155 S.E.2d 148 (1967).

And Independent Action to Have Ordinance Declared Void Ab Initio May Not Be Maintained. — An owner of land in an area annexed by a municipality may attack the validity of the annexation ordinance only by filing a petition within 30 days following the passage of the ordinance seeking a review of the action of the municipal board of commissioners, in accordance with the procedure provided by this section, and an independent action instituted some 22 months after the adoption of the ordinance and seeking to have it declared void ab initio will be dismissed. Gaskill v. Costlow, 270 N.C. 686, 155 S.E.2d 148 (1967).

Who May Appeal. — Subsection (a) allows persons owning property in the area to be annexed to appeal if such property owners believe that they will suffer material injury. Taylor v. City of Raleigh, 22 N.C. App. 259, 206 S.E.2d 401 (1974), aff'd, 290 N.C. 608, 227 S.E.2d 576 (1976).

Any person owning property in annexed territory has a right, within 30 days following the passage of the annexation ordinance, to challenge its validity by petition for review filed in the superior court. Gaskill v. Costlow, 270 N.C. 686, 155 S.E.2d 148 (1967).

Fact that city was proceeding under a local act which did not set forth the persons who could appeal, rather than under this Chapter, did not extend the right to challenge the annexation to persons outside the annexed area who did not own property within it. Taylor v. City of Raleigh, 22 N.C. App. 259, 206 S.E.2d 401 (1974), aff'd, 290 N.C. 608, 227 S.E.2d 576 (1976).

The only persons given authority by this Chapter to challenge an annexation ordinance are those who own property in the annexed area. Davis v. City of Archdale, 81 N.C. App. 505, 344 S.E.2d 369 (1986).

Plaintiff town had no standing to challenge annexations of contiguous properties by nearby village. Town of Seven Devils v. Village of Sugar

Mt., 125 N.C. App. 692, 482 S.E.2d 39 (1997), cert. denied, 346 N.C. 185, 486 S.E.2d 219 (1997).

The consolidation of two or more petitions for review in a single hearing referred to in subsection (d) refers to the consolidation of two or more petitions which involve a single annexation area and ordinance. Dunn v. City of Charlotte, 284 N.C. 542, 201 S.E.2d 873 (1974).

Failure to Allege Material Injury Not Fatal. — While the better practice would be to allege specifically that the petitioner will suffer material injury by reason of the failure of respondent to comply with the statutory procedures regarding annexation, the failure to do so is not fatal, particularly if the petition contains allegations from which material injury can be implied. Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 6 N.C. App. 78, 169 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 275 N.C. 681 (1969).

Effect of Appeal on Effective Date of Annexation for Tax Purposes. — Where an appeal from an annexation ordinance was pending in the Court of Appeals on the effective date of annexation specified in the ordinance, May 15, 1969, and the decision of the Court of Appeals was filed and certified in September 1969, property within the area being annexed was not subject to municipal ad valorem taxes for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1969, since (1) newly annexed territory is subject to municipal taxes levied for the fiscal year following the effective date of annexation, G.S. 160A-37(f), and (2) under subsection (i) of this section the appeal postponed the effective date of the ordinance until the date of the final judgment of the appellate court. Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 281 N.C. 147, 187 S.E.2d 704 (1972).

Findings of fact of the superior court are binding on appeal if supported by competent evidence, even though there is evidence to the contrary. Scovill Mfg. Co. v. Town of Wake Forest, 58 N.C. App. 15, 293 S.E.2d 240, cert. denied, 306 N.C. 559, 294 S.E.2d 371 (1982).

Record Must Show Prima Facie Compliance. — Upon review in the superior court of a municipal annexation ordinance enacted pursuant to this Article, the record of the proceedings, including the report and annexation ordinance, must show prima facie complete and substantial compliance with this Article as a condition precedent to the right of the municipality to annex the territory. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961); In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

Burden on Petitioners to Prove Prejudicial Irregularity Where Prima Facie Compliance Shown. — Where, upon review in the superior court of an annexation ordinance, the record of the proceeding shows prima facie that there has been substantial compliance with the requirements and provisions of the annexation statute, the burden is upon petitioners to show by competent evidence failure on the part of the municipality to comply with the statutory requirements as a matter of fact, or irregularity in the proceedings which materially prejudices the substantive rights of petitioners. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961); In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961); Scovill Mfg. Co. v. Town of Wake Forest, 58 N.C. App. 15, 293 S.E.2d 240, cert. denied, 306 N.C. 559, 294 S.E.2d 371 (1982); Huyck Corp. v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff'd, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

The burden is upon petitioners in such case by reason of the presumption that public officials will discharge their duties in good faith and exercise their powers in accord with the spirit and purpose of the law. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961).

Nothing to Review on Issue of Availability If Compliance Is Clear. — If a municipality clearly complies with the standards of subsection (c) of G.S. 160A-36, there is nothing to review with respect to the availability of an area proposed for annexation. Lithium Corp. of Am. v. Town of Bessemer City, 261 N.C. 532, 135 S.E.2d 574 (1964).

Where compliance is in doubt, the determination must be made upon the facts in the particular case with respect to the availability of an area proposed for annexation under subsection (c) of G.S. 160A-36. Lithium Corp. of Am. v. Town of Bessemer City, 261 N.C. 532, 135 S.E.2d 574 (1964).

Court May Not Amend Record. — The superior court itself is without authority to amend the report, ordinance or other part of the record. This is true even if evidence is presented which justifies amendment. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961).

But Must Remand Where Compliance Not Shown by Record. — Under this section, if the record of annexation proceedings on its face fails to show substantial compliance with any essential provision of this Article, the superior court upon review must remand to the governing board for amendment with respect to such noncompliance. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961).

Public Hearing on Remand. — Neither subdivision (g)(2) of this section nor any other provisions of the annexation statute requires the municipal governing board upon remand to hold a second public hearing unless it adds an area not included in the original notice of public hearing and not provided for in the plans for service. Rexham Corp. v. Town of Pineville, 26 N.C. App. 349, 216 S.E.2d 445 (1975).

When Court May Permit Annexation of Part of Area. — The superior court may permit, under subsection (h) of this section, an annexation ordinance to be effective with respect to a part of the area proposed only when there is no appeal in regard to such part and the municipality agrees to the order for such partial annexation. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961).

Where an order is issued restraining the operation of an annexation ordinance as to the entire area pending review, subsection (e) of this section has no application, since the statute permits the court to approve the annexation of a part of the proposed area only when no question for review has been raised as to such part. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961).

Voiding of Town Ordinance Rather Than Remanding. — When a town adopted an ordinance proposing to annex certain land, it was proper for the trial court to declare the ordinance void, under G.S. 160A-38(g)(4), rather than remanding the matter to the town for amendment of the boundaries, because there was no evidence that the annexation area could be corrected on remand to comply with the applicable statutes. Hughes v. Town of Oak Island, 158 N.C. App. 175, 580 S.E.2d 704, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1052 (2003), aff'd, 357 N.C. 653, 588 S.E.2d 467 (2003).

Findings of fact of the superior court are binding on appeal if supported by competent evidence, even though there is evidence to the contrary. Scovill Mfg. Co. v. Town of Wake Forest, 58 N.C. App. 15, 293 S.E.2d 240, cert. denied, 306 N.C. 559, 294 S.E.2d 371 (1982).

Jurisdiction of Court of Appeals. — An appeal from an order of the superior court affirming an annexation ordinance was properly taken to the Court of Appeals, notwithstanding that by clear legislative oversight subsections (h) and (i) of this section were not amended to include the Court of Appeals as one of the appellate courts, since G.S. 7A-27 gives initial appellate jurisdiction of such cause to the Court of Appeals, and the Court of Appeals, therefore, is deemed to be included in subsections (h) and (i). Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 281 N.C. 147, 187 S.E.2d 704 (1972).

Filing of Petition Necessary to Perfect Appellate Jurisdiction in Superior Court. — An appeal from the passage of an annexation ordinance by a municipality having a population of less than 5,000 must be taken within 30 days following such passage by filing a petition in the superior court of the county in which the municipality is located. Compliance with this provision is a condition precedent to perfecting appellate jurisdiction in the superior court for the review of an annexation ordinance. Ingles Markets, Inc. v. Town of Black Mt., 98 N.C. App. 372, 390 S.E.2d 688, cert. denied, 327 N.C. 429, 395 S.E.2d 679 (1990).

Entry of Remand Order Divested Superior Court of Jurisdiction. — Superior court's entry of order of remand of appeal of adoption of 1988 ordinance for the limited purpose of including specific findings of fact that the area to be annexed was developed for urban purposes divested that court of appellate jurisdiction to conduct further review of those aspects of the petition brought forward, but not addressed by the order, such that petitioner was required to appeal anew from the action of the town taken pursuant to remand in adopting an amended 1989 ordinance in order to obtain the right to a review of the 1989 ordinance in the superior court. Ingles Markets, Inc. v. Town of Black Mt., 98 N.C. App. 372, 390 S.E.2d 688, cert. denied, 327 N.C. 429, 395 S.E.2d 679 (1990).

Further Appellate Review After Remand. — In order to obtain further review of an annexation ordinance after infirmities have been corrected by the municipality pursuant to an order of remand, whether such order of remand addresses all or merely some of the issues raised in the initial petition, appellate jurisdiction in the superior court must be perfected anew by filing a separate petition in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 160A-38(a). Ingles Markets, Inc. v. Town of Black Mt., 98 N.C. App. 372, 390 S.E.2d 688, cert. denied, 327 N.C. 429, 395 S.E.2d 679 (1990).

Effective date of an ordinance adopted pursuant to superior court's order of remand is neither postponed nor amended absent further appeal, which must be taken within the required 30 days; i.e., the ordinance becomes an accomplished fact, subject only to further appeal. Ingles Markets, Inc. v. Town of Black Mt., 98 N.C. App. 372, 390 S.E.2d 688, cert. denied, 327 N.C. 429, 395 S.E.2d 679 (1990).

Appeal Dismissed. — Where the thirty days afforded by this section expired before plaintiff filed its petition for review of the ordinance, the trial court was within jurisdiction and properly dismissed the action. Chicora Country Club, Inc. v. Town of Erwin, 128 N.C. App. 101, 493 S.E.2d 797 (1997).

Property owners did not show that a town was unreasonable in relying upon an actual survey, as allowed by G.S. 160A-36; thus, the reviewing court did not err in concluding that one property consisted of two separate lots for the purposes of the subdivision test. Hayes v. Town of Fairmont, 167 N.C. App. 522, 605 S.E.2d 717, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 2383 (2004), cert. denied, 359 N.C. 410, 612 S.E.2d 320 (2005).

Substantial Compliance With Statute Shown. Trial court erred in concluding that the usage of disputed acres affected the classification of a golf course tract as a whole when the golf course was annexed by a town ordinance, because the golf course tract was properly designated as commercial by the town in its original calculations, and the entire acreage should have been included as commercial acreage for purposes of calculations under the use test; based on the new calculations, the annexation area met the 60 percent minimum required under the subdivision test of G.S. 160A-36(c)(1), and, given that the town substantially complied with the provisions of G.S. 160A-36, the ordinance was properly affirmed without amendment pursuant to G.S. 160A-38. Hayes v. Town of Fairmont, 167 N.C. App. 522, 605 S.E.2d 717, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 2383 (2004), cert. denied, 359 N.C. 410, 612 S.E.2d 320 (2005).

Annexation Properly Affirmed. — Trial court properly found that a village provided independent administrative, engineering, auditing, legal, and planning services to its residents, and that the village was exploring options for obtaining additional police patrol services, and had committed itself to providing its current and future levels of such services to its residents in a non-discriminatory manner; the trial court found that the village was going to provide some additional services to the area to be annexed, notwithstanding land owners' claim they would receive no additional services whatsoever, and the trial court's order affirming the annexation was proper. *Nolan v. § 160A-39. Annexation recorded.

Whenever the limits of a municipality are enlarged in accordance with the provisions of this Part, it shall be the duty of the mayor of the municipality to cause an accurate map of such annexed territory, together with a copy of the ordinance duly certified, to be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county or counties in which such territory is situated and in the office of the Secretary of State. The documents required to be filed with the Secretary of State under this section shall be filed not later than 30 days following the effective date of the annexation ordinance. All documents shall have an identifying number affixed thereto and shall conform in size in accordance with rules prescribed by the Secretary. Failure to file within 30 days shall not affect the validity of the annexation. Any annexation shall be reported as part of the Boundary and Annexation Survey of the United States Bureau of the Census. (1959, c. 1010, s. 7; 1973, c. 426, s. 74; 1987, c. 715, s. 7; c. 879, s. 3; 1989, c. 440, s. 8; 1991, c. 586, s. 2.)

Cross References. — As to effective date of certain annexation ordinances adopted from January 1, 1987, to August 3, 1987, see G.S. 160A-58.9.

§ 160A-40. Authorized expenditures.

Municipalities initiating annexations under the provisions of this Part are authorized to make expenditures for surveys required to describe the property under consideration or for any other purpose necessary to plan for the study and/or annexation of unincorporated territory adjacent to the municipality. In addition, following final passage of the annexation ordinance, the annexing municipality shall have authority to proceed with expenditures for construction of water and sewer lines and other capital facilities and for any other purpose calculated to bring services into the annexed area in a more effective and expeditious manner prior to the effective date of annexation. (1959, c. 1010, s. 8; 1973, c. 426, s. 74.)

The following terms where used in this Part shall have the following meanings, except where the context clearly indicates a different meaning:

- (1) "Contiguous area" shall mean any area which, at the time annexation procedures are initiated, either abuts directly on the municipal boundary or is separated from the municipal boundary by a street or street right-of-way, a creek or river, the right-of-way of a railroad or other public service corporation, lands owned by the municipality or some other political subdivision, or lands owned by the State of North Carolina.
- (2) "Used for residential purposes" shall mean any lot or tract five acres or less in size on which is constructed a habitable dwelling unit. (1959, c. 1010, s. 9; 1973, c. 426, s. 74.)

CASE NOTES

Coincidence of Boundary Requirement. — In considering the coincidence of boundary requirement, the entire area proposed for annexation must be viewed as a whole, rather than as various component portions. Huyck Corp. v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff'd, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

Territory which is contiguous solely to "satellite corporate limits" is not a "contiguous area" as that term is defined in subdivision (1). Hawks v. Town of Valdese, 299 N.C. 1, 261 S.E.2d 90 (1980).

Classification of Landlocked and Fronting Lots in Single Ownership as Single Lot. — It is not unreasonable and beyond the statutory definition to classify a landlocked lot and its fronting lot in single ownership as a single lot in residential use where only the fronting lot contains "a habitable dwelling unit." Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 6 N.C. App. 78, 169 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 275 N.C. 681 (1969).

§ 160A-42. Land estimates.

In determining degree of land subdivision for purposes of meeting the requirements of G.S. 160A-36, the municipality shall use methods calculated to provide reasonably accurate results. In determining whether the standards set forth in G.S. 160A-36 have been met on appeal to the superior court under G.S. 160A-38, the reviewing court shall accept the estimates of the municipality as provided in this section unless the actual total area or degree of subdivision falls below the standards in G.S. 160A-36:

- (1) As to total area if the estimate is based on an actual survey, or on county tax maps or records, or on aerial photographs, or on some other reasonably reliable map used for official purposes by a governmental agency unless the petitioners on appeal demonstrate that such estimates are in error in the amount of five percent (5%) or more.
- (2) As to degree of land subdivision, if the estimates are based on an actual survey, or on county tax maps or records, or on aerial photographs, or on some other reasonably reliable source, unless the petitioners on appeal show that such estimates are in error in the amount of five percent (5%) or more. (1959, c. 1010, s. 10; 1973, c. 426, s. 74; 1998-150, s. 11.)

CASE NOTES

Determining What Is a "Lot". — In making an appraisal of an area to be annexed, there are several methods which can be used in determining what is a lot. One is to count each numbered lot separately. Another is to consider a landlocked lot as part of the lot in front of it and group the two lots, i.e., the landlocked lot and the one providing it with access to a street, as being a single lot. A third method would be to consider a group of lots in single ownership and used for a single purpose as being a tract within the meaning of the statute, and count tracts rather than lots. Any one of these methods would be "calculated to provide reasonably accurate results," as required by this section. Adams-Millis Corp. v. Town of Kernersville, 6 N.C. App. 78, 169 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 275 N.C. 681 (1969).

Property owners did not show that a town was unreasonable in relying upon an actual survey, as allowed by G.S. 160A-36; thus, the reviewing court did not err in concluding that one property consisted of two separate lots for the purposes of the subdivision test. Hayes v. Town of Fairmont, 167 N.C. App. 522, 605 S.E.2d 717, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 2383 (2004), cert. denied, 359 N.C. 410, 612 S.E.2d 320 (2005).

Recorded Plat. — Recorded plat was not a "reasonably reliable" source for purposes of showing subdivision where: (1) property shown on plat had never actually been developed; (2) county tax office had exceeded its statutory authority in classifying property as "subdivision," because it was not divided into lots and there were no streets (G.S. 105-287); (3) the property had never been surveyed; and (4) no lots had ever been sold. Further, aerial photographs showed no road while recorded plat did. When accuracy of record evidence proffered by city to meet requisites for annexation is belied by evidence of actual condition of property, such records are not "reasonably reliable" for the purposes of this section. Thrash v. City of Asheville, 327 N.C. 251, 393 S.E.2d 842 (1990).

Use of Planimeter to Calculate Acreage. — See Scovill Mfg. Co. v. Town of Wake Forest, 58 N.C. App. 15, 293 S.E.2d 240, cert. denied, 306 N.C. 559, 294 S.E.2d 371 (1982).

§§ 160A-43, 160A-44: Repealed by Session Laws 1983, c. 636, s. 27.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which repealed these sections, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

Part 3. Annexation by Cities of 5,000 or More.

§ 160A-45. Declaration of policy.

It is hereby declared as a matter of State policy:

- (1) That sound urban development is essential to the continued economic development of North Carolina;
- (2) That municipalities are created to provide the governmental services essential for sound urban development and for the protection of health, safety and welfare in areas being intensively used for residential, commercial, industrial, institutional and governmental purposes or in areas undergoing such development;
- (3) That municipal boundaries should be extended in accordance with legislative standards applicable throughout the State, to include such areas and to provide the high quality of governmental services needed therein for the public health, safety and welfare;
- (4) That new urban development in and around municipalities having a population of 5,000 or more persons is more scattered than in and around smaller municipalities, and that such larger municipalities have greater difficulty in expanding municipal utility systems and other service facilities to serve such scattered development, so that the legislative standards governing annexation by larger municipalities must take these facts into account if the objectives set forth in this section are to be attained;
- (5) That areas annexed to municipalities in accordance with such uniform legislative standards should receive the services provided by the annexing municipality in accordance with G.S. 160A-47(3). (1959, c. 1009, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 74; 1983, c. 636, s. 9.)

Local Modification. — (As to Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A) Cabarrus: 2000-7, s. 1 (effective until June 30, 2010); (As to Part 3) Durham: 1985, c. 435, s. 2; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 841, s. 4; 2000-93, s. 1; (As to Parts 2 and 3) Harnett: 1998-143, s. 4; (As to Parts 2 and 3) Rockingham: 1993, c. 418, s. 1; (As to Part 3) Wake: 1985, c. 435, s. 2; 2000-93, s. 1; (As to Part 3) city of Brevard: 1987, c. 254, s. 2; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 964, s. 2; city of Durham: 1987, c. 606; city of Eden: 1993, c. 418, s. 1; city of Hendersonville: 1997-188; (As to Part 3) city of New Bern: 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 605, s. 1; (As to Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A, for five years after incorporation) town of Butner: 2007-269, s. 1.1; town of Dobbins Heights: 1983, c. 658; Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A) town of Hemby Bridge: 1998-143, s. 4; (As to Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A) town of Laurel Park: 1997-188; 2000-8, s. 1; (As to Part 3) town of Stanley: 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 713, s. 2; town of Wallace: 1989, c. 619, s. 2; (As to Part 3) community of Rock Barn: 1989, c. 27.

Cross References. — As to effective date of annexation ordinances adopted under Article 4A of Chapter 160A, see G.S. 160A-58.9A.

Editor's Note. — Sections 160A-45 through 160A-56 were originally codified as G.S. 160-453.13 through 160-453.24. They were transferred to their present position by Session Laws 1973, c. 426, s. 74.

Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which amended this section, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

Section 38 of Session Laws 1983, c. 636 provided: "This act shall be effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after the date of ratification of this act, except that Sections 36 and 37 shall become effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after July 1, 1984, Sections 25.1 through 35.5 and Section 37.1 are effective upon ratification and Section 25 shall become effective as provided in that section. No annexation where a resolution of intent was adopted prior to the date of ratification of this act shall be affected by this act except as provided in Section 25."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

CASE NOTES

Annexation Procedure Constitutional. — The procedure for annexation by cities of 5,000 or more, G.S. 160A-45 et seq., does not violate N.C. Const., Art. I, § 25, because it does not provide for trial by jury on issues of fact. Moody v. Town of Carrboro, 301 N.C. 318, 271 S.E.2d 265 (1980), rehearing denied, 301 N.C. 728, 274 S.E.2d 230 (1981).

The procedure for annexation by cities of 5,000 or more does not authorize a taking of private property without just compensation in violation of the due process clause of U.S. Const., Amend. V or the law of the land provision of N.C. Const., Art. I, § 19, on the alleged ground that petitioner will pay a substantial sum in ad valorem taxes to the annexing town without receiving any substantial benefits or major services he does not already receive, since petitioner may petition for a writ of mandamus pursuant to G.S. 160A-49(h) if he discovers he is not receiving services other residents are receiving, within 12 to 15 months from the effective date of the annexation, and the annexation procedure thus provides adequate due process safeguards to assure that citizens in the annexed area get municipal services on a nondiscriminatory basis. Moody v. Town of Carrboro, 301 N.C. 318, 271 S.E.2d 265 (1980), rehearing denied, 301 N.C. 728, 274 S.E.2d 230 (1981).

Provisions Not Unconstitutional as Special or Local Legislation. — Sections 160A-45 through 160A-50 are not unconstitutional as special or local legislation even though as enacted the statutes exempted certain counties from their application, because municipal annexation is not one of the subject matter areas which the Constitution requires to be accomplished by general or uniformly applicable laws. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance Numbered 5991 for Area A, 69 N.C. App. 77, 316 S.E.2d 649, appeal dismissed and cert. denied, 312 N.C. 493, 322 S.E.2d 553 (1984).

Sections 160A-45 et seq. do not violate N.C. Const., Art. II, § 24, which prohibits the General Assembly from enacting "any local, private, or special act or resolution" in regard to certain enumerated subjects. This constitutional provision does not apply to annexation proceedings by municipalities, since N.C. Const., Art. VII, § 1, authorizes the General Assembly "except as otherwise prohibited by this Constitution" to "give such powers and duties to counties, cities, and towns and other governmental subdivisions as it may deem advisable," and no other provision of the Constitution prohibits the General Assembly from enacting special legislation for the annexation of areas by municipalities. Campbell v. City of Greensboro, 70 N.C. App. 252, 319 S.E.2d 323, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 312 N.C. 492, 322 S.E.2d 553 (1984).

Nor as Denial of Equal Protection. — Part 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A does not deny equal protection under either the state or federal Constitutions. Campbell v. City of Greensboro, 70 N.C. App. 252, 319 S.E.2d 323, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 312 N.C. 492, 322 S.E.2d 553 (1984).

Rational Basis for Statutory Scheme. — Given the state policy, it is not difficult to conceive of a rational basis supportive of the patchwork statutory scheme governing annexation in North Carolina. Thompson v. Whitley, 344 F. Supp. 480 (E.D.N.C. 1972).

The annexation statutes are not taxation statutes, nor are they retrospective taxation statutes. Little Red School House, Ltd. v. City of Greensboro, 71 N.C. App. 332, 322 S.E.2d 195 (1984), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 313 N.C. 514, 329 S.E.2d 392 (1985).

Legislative Intent. — To apply a strict interpretation to G.S. 160A-45, et seq., would contravene the intent of the legislature, which is to obtain a meaningful review of annexation ordinances. Southern Glove Mfg. Co. v. City of Newton, 63 N.C. App. 754, 306 S.E.2d 466 (1983).

The legislative policy expressed in this section is that municipalities remain dynamic growing entities. Quality Water Supply, Inc. v. City of Wilmington, 97 N.C. App. 400, 388 S.E.2d 608, cert. denied, 326 N.C. 597, 393 S.E.2d 881 (1990).

Central purpose behind the annexation procedure is to assure that, in return for the added financial burden of municipal taxation, the residents receive the benefits of all the major services available to municipal residents. Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982); In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

The General Assembly has established detailed criteria and guidelines for annexation under Part 3 of this Article. McKenzie v. City of High Point, 61 N.C. App. 393, 301 S.E.2d 129, cert. denied, 308 N.C. 544, 302 S.E.2d 885 (1983).

The minimum requirements of the annexation statute are that the city provide information which is necessary to allow the public and the courts to determine whether the municipality has committed itself to provide a nondiscriminatory level of service. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

Prima facie complete and substantial compliance with this Part is a condition precedent to annexation of territory by a municipality. In re Ordinance of Annexation No. 1977-4, 296 N.C. 1, 249 S.E.2d 698 (1978).

The provisions of this section are merely statements of policy. No procedural steps, substantive rights, or annexation requirements are contained in that statute. Humphries v. City of Jacksonville, 300 N.C. 186, 265 S.E.2d 189 (1980); In re Annexation Ordinance No. D-21927, 303 N.C. 220, 278 S.E.2d 224 (1981).

And the policies enumerated under this section are aids for statutory interpretation when other sections of Part 3 of this Article are in need of clarification, definition, and interpretation. Humphries v. City of Jacksonville, 300 N.C. 186, 265 S.E.2d 189 (1980); In re Annexation Ordinance No. D-21927, 303 N.C. 220, 278 S.E.2d 224 (1981).

Statement of Policy Not Part of § 160A-50 "Procedure". — The statement of state policy with regard to annexation set forth in this section is not part of the "procedure" of annexation under G.S. 160A-50. In re Annexation Ordinance No. D-21927, 303 N.C. 220, 278 S.E.2d 224 (1981).

It is not required that proposed sewer interceptors be included on the maps that accompany annexation reports. Trask v. City of Wilmington, 64 N.C. App. 17, 306 S.E.2d 832 (1983), cert. denied, 310 N.C. 630, 315 S.E.2d 697 (1984).

The legislature has recognized the importance of adequate water and sewer facilities to the end of quality urban development and specifically required that certain present and proposed water and sewer facilities be shown in the report. That the legislature did not include proposed sewer interceptors among those certain facilities is a matter of legislative concern. Trask v. City of Wilmington, 64 N.C. App. 17, 306 S.E.2d 832 (1983), cert. denied, 310 N.C. 630, 315 S.E.2d 697 (1984).

Prior Jurisdiction Doctrine. — Adherence to the prior jurisdiction doctrine is not only consistent with the majority rule, but is in keeping with the spirit and intent of the annexation statutes. City of Burlington v. Town of Elon College, 310 N.C. 723, 314 S.E.2d 534 (1984).

A county may not exercise jurisdiction over any part of a city located within its borders. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Statutes do not give a county authority over provision of sewer services within a city, or over newly annexed areas of the city which also lie in the county. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Use of City-Owned Sewage Treatment Plant Without Prior Approval of County. — Since county had no authority to restrict or regulate city's provision of sewer service to its residents, the city could use city-owned sewage treatment plant located outside the city but within the county, which was upgraded pursuant to the county's special use permit, with a condition attached to the permit requiring the county's prior approval of service to county citizens, to meet its statutory mandate to provide sewer service to residents in newly annexed areas without seeking the county's prior approval, even though the facility was located in the county. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Where one municipality institutes valid annexation proceedings first, that municipality should be given priority under the prior jurisdiction rule, and subsequent annexation proceedings, of whatever nature, are of no force and effect. City of Burlington v. Town of Elon College, 310 N.C. 723, 314 S.E.2d 534 (1984).

Meaningful Benefit Provided to Annexed Residents. — Town's annexation was valid because: (1) according to the annexation report, the town would extend its municipal services on a non-discriminatory basis, thus satisfying the statutory requirements under G.S. 160A-47(3); (2) the town annexation provided police protection, a service that promoted the health, safety, and welfare of residents within the annexed area; (3) such protection provided a meaningful benefit to the annexed residents and furthered the public policies underlying the annexation statutes, under G.S. 160A-45; and (4) property owners were bound by a trial court's factual finding that the owners had not shown that the annexation area currently received police services that were comparable to those that the town would provide the annexation area after the annexation became effective. Nolan v. Town of Weddington, — N.C. App. —, 642 S.E.2d 261, 2007 N.C. App. LEXIS 690 (2007).

Preference of Landowners Is of No Consequence. — For purposes of the prior jurisdiction rule, annexation proceedings, regardless of their nature, are “equivalent proceedings,” and it is of no consequence which town or city the landowners prefer. In fact, it appears to be the very essence of the involuntary annexation procedures that the affected landowners have no choice, as long as the annexing body complies with the applicable statutes. City of Burlington v. Town of Elon College, 310 N.C. 723, 314 S.E.2d 534 (1984).

Discovery. — Though discovery in annexation proceedings is not altogether forbidden, its scope is necessarily limited by the nature of the proceeding. Campbell v. City of Greensboro, 70 N.C. App. 252, 319 S.E.2d 323, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 312 N.C. 492, 322 S.E.2d 553 (1984).

Reports’ Statement of Policy Objectives Held Sufficient. — A statement in an annexation plan report that the annexation was designed to promote sound urban development and assure adequate provision of government services was a sufficient statement of the policy objectives to be met by the annexation to comply with this section. Moody v. Town of Carrboro, 301 N.C. 318, 271 S.E.2d 265 (1980), rehearing denied, 301 N.C. 728, 274 S.E.2d 230 (1981).

Judicial Review. — The General Assembly has provided for limited judicial review of annexation ordinances. Section 160A-50 provides that a property owner in the annexed area may seek judicial review of the ordinance. Upon such review, the superior court may consider only whether (1) the statutory procedure was not followed, or (2) the provisions of G.S. 160A-47 were not met, or (3) the provisions of G.S. 160A-48 have not been met. Additionally, petitioner must carry the burden of showing both noncompliance with statutory requirements and procedure and material injury flowing from such noncompliance. McKenzie v. City of High Point, 61 N.C. App. 393, 301 S.E.2d 129, cert. denied, 308 N.C. 544, 302 S.E.2d 885 (1983).

§ 160A-46. Authority to annex.

The governing board of any municipality having a population of 5,000 or more persons according to the last federal decennial census may extend the corporate limits of such municipality under the procedure set forth in this Part. (1959, c. 1009, s. 2; 1973, c. 426, s. 74.)

CASE NOTES

This section is constitutional. In re Annexation Ordinances Nos. 866-870, 253 N.C. 637, 117 S.E.2d 795 (1961).

Right to Use New Annexation Method as Only Discretion Delegated to Municipalities. — By the enactment of Part 3 of this Article, the General Assembly did not delegate to the municipalities of the State having a population of 5,000 or more any discretion with respect to the provisions of the law. The guiding standards and requirements of the act are set out in great detail. The only discretion given to the governing boards of such municipalities is the permissive or discretionary right to use this new method of annexation, provided such boards conform to the procedure and meet the requirements set out in the act as a condition precedent to the right to annex. In re Annexation Ordinances Nos. 866-870, 253 N.C. 637, 117 S.E.2d 795 (1961).

A city has statutory authority to annex areas both contiguous and non-contiguous to its primary corporate limits. It must stand ready to provide sewer service (among other services) to newly annexed areas on substantially the same basis and in the same manner in which these services are provided to the rest of the city. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Use of City-Owned Sewage Treatment Plant Without Prior Approval of County.

— Since county had no authority to restrict or regulate city's provision of sewer service to its residents, the city could use city-owned sewage treatment plant located outside the city but within the county, which was upgraded pursuant to the county's special use permit, with a condition attached to the permit requiring the county's prior approval of service to county citizens, to meet its statutory mandate to provide sewer service to residents in newly annexed areas without seeking the county's prior approval, even though the facility was located in the county. *Davidson County v. § 160A-47. Prerequisites to annexation; ability to serve; report and plans.

A municipality exercising authority under this Part shall make plans for the extension of services to the area proposed to be annexed and shall, prior to the public hearing provided for in G.S. 160A-49, prepare a report setting forth such plans to provide services to such area. The report shall include:

- (1) A map or maps of the municipality and adjacent territory to show the following information:
 - a. The present and proposed boundaries of the municipality.
 - b. The present major trunk water mains and sewer interceptors and outfalls, and the proposed extensions of such mains and outfalls as required in subdivision (3) of this section. The water and sewer map must bear the seal of a registered professional engineer.
 - c. The general land use pattern in the area to be annexed.
- (2) A statement showing that the area to be annexed meets the requirements of G.S. 160A-48.
- (3) A statement setting forth the plans of the municipality for extending to the area to be annexed each major municipal service performed within the municipality at the time of annexation. Specifically, such plans shall:
 - a. Provide for extending police protection, fire protection, solid waste collection and street maintenance services to the area to be annexed on the date of annexation on substantially the same basis and in the same manner as such services are provided within the rest of the municipality prior to annexation. A contract with a rural fire department to provide fire protection shall be an acceptable method of providing fire protection. If a water distribution system is not available in the area to be annexed, the plans must call for reasonably effective fire protection services until such time as waterlines are made available in such area under existing municipal policies for the extension of waterlines. A contract with a private firm to provide solid waste collection services shall be an acceptable method of providing solid waste collection services.
 - b. Provide for extension of major trunk water mains and sewer outfall lines into the area to be annexed so that when such lines are constructed, property owners in the area to be annexed will be able to secure public water and sewer service, according to the policies in effect in such municipality for extending water and sewer lines to individual lots or subdivisions. If requested by the owner of an occupied dwelling unit or an operating commercial or industrial property in writing on a form provided by the municipality, which form acknowledges that such extension or extensions will be made according to the current financial policies of the municipality for making such extensions, and if such form is received by the city clerk no later than five days after the public hearing, provide for extension of water and sewer lines to the property or to a point on a public street or road right-of-way adjacent to the property according to the financial policies in effect in such municipality for extending water and sewer lines. If any such requests are timely made, the municipality shall at the time of adoption of the annexation ordinance amend its report and plan for services to reflect and accommodate such requests, if an amendment is necessary. In areas where the municipality is required to extend sewer service according to its policies, but the installation of sewer is not economically feasible due to the unique topography of the area, the municipality shall provide septic system maintenance and repair service until such time as sewer service is provided to properties similarly situated.

- c. If extension of major trunk water mains, sewer outfall lines, sewer lines and water lines is necessary, set forth a proposed timetable for construction of such mains, outfalls and lines as soon as possible following the effective date of annexation. In any event, the plans shall call for construction to be completed within two years of the effective date of annexation.
 - d. Set forth the method under which the municipality plans to finance extension of services into the area to be annexed.
- (4) A statement of the impact of the annexation on any rural fire department providing service in the area to be annexed and a statement of the impact of the annexation on fire protection and fire insurance rates in the area to be annexed, if the area where service is provided is in an insurance district designated under G.S. 153A-233, a rural fire protection district under Article 3A of Chapter 69 of the General Statutes, or a fire service district under Article 16 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes. The rural fire department shall make available to the city not later than 30 days following a written request from the city all information in its possession or control, including but not limited to operational, financial and budgetary information, necessary for preparation of a statement of impact. The rural fire department forfeits its rights under G.S. 160A-49.1 and G.S. 160A-49.2 if it fails to make a good faith response within 45 days following receipt of the written request for information from the city, provided that the city's written request so states by specific reference to this section.
- (5) A statement showing how the proposed annexation will affect the city's finances and services, including city revenue change estimates. This statement shall be delivered to the clerk of the board of county commissioners at least 30 days before the date of the public informational meeting on any annexation under this Part. (1959, c. 1009, s. 3; 1973, c. 426, s. 74; 1983, c. 636, ss. 7, 10, 11, 17, 19; 1985, c. 610, ss. 2, 6, 7; 1989, c. 598, s. 8; 1991, c. 25, s. 2; c. 761, s. 31; 1998-150, s. 12.)

Local Modification. — Franklin: 1969, c. 1232.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which amended this section, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

Section 38 of Session Laws 1983, c. 636 provided: "This act shall be effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after the date of ratification of this act, except that Sections 36 and 37 shall become effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after July 1, 1984, Sections 25.1 through 35.5 and Section 37.1 are effective upon ratification and Section 25 shall become effective as provided in that section. No annexation where a resolution of intent was adopted prior to the date of ratification of this act shall be affected by this act except as provided in Section 25."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

I. IN GENERAL.

Purpose. — The purpose of this section is to insure that major municipal services are provided to newly annexed areas on a nondiscriminatory basis. Wallace v. Town of Chapel Hill, 93 N.C. App. 422, 378 S.E.2d 225 (1989).

The purpose of this statute is to insure that, in return for the financial burden of city taxes, annexed residents receive all major city services. Parkwood Ass'n v. City of Durham, 124 N.C. App. 603, 478 S.E.2d 204 (1996).

Section Required to Be Followed Only Where Annexation Achieved Under Chapter 160A, Art. 4A, Part 3. — This section, dealing with the submission of plans by the municipality for the extension of municipal services (including police and fire protection, solid waste collection, and street maintenance), and G.S. 160A-49.1 and 160A-49.3, dealing with contracting for fire protection and sewage services, are required to be followed by a municipality only where the annexation is to be achieved under Chapter 160A, Art. 4A, Part 3. Piedmont Ford Truck Sales, Inc. v. City of Greensboro, 90 N.C. App. 692, 370 S.E.2d 262 (1988), rev'd on other grounds, 324 N.C. 499, 380 S.E.2d 107 (1989).

The annexation statutes are not taxation statutes, nor are they retrospective taxation statutes. Little Red School House, Ltd. v. City of Greensboro, 71 N.C. App. 332, 322 S.E.2d 195 (1984), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 313 N.C. 514, 329 S.E.2d 392 (1985).

Central purpose behind the annexation procedure is to assure that, in return for the added financial burden of municipal taxation, the residents receive the benefits of all the major services available to municipal residents. Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982); Trask v. City of Wilmington, 64 N.C. App. 17, 306 S.E.2d 832 (1983), cert.

denied, 310 N.C. 630, 315 S.E.2d 697 (1984); In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

Local act requiring city to extend municipal services, including services under this section, to newly annexed areas did not violate N.C. Const., Art. II, § 24(1)(a). Piedmont Ford Truck Sale v. Greensboro, 324 N.C. 499, 380 S.E.2d 107 (1989).

A city has statutory authority to annex areas both contiguous and non-contiguous to its primary corporate limits. It must stand ready to provide sewer service (among other services) to newly annexed areas on substantially the same basis and in the same manner in which these services are provided to the rest of the city. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Use of City-Owned Sewage Treatment Plant Without Prior Approval of County. — Since county had no authority to restrict or regulate city's provision of sewer service to its residents, the city could use city-owned sewage treatment plant located outside the city but within the county, which was upgraded pursuant to the county's special use permit, with a condition attached to the permit requiring the county's prior approval of service to county citizens, to meet its statutory mandate to provide sewer service to residents in newly annexed areas without seeking the county's prior approval, even though the facility was located in the county. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Discovery. — Judicial review of an annexation ordinance is a limited judicial review, with few similarities to ordinary civil actions which are initiated, tried and adjudicated in a different manner and for which the Rules of Civil Procedure were mostly devised. Nevertheless, since the court reviewing annexation proceedings is explicitly authorized to receive evidence as to the city's compliance with the various procedures prescribed, as to its annexation plan meeting the requisites of this section, and as to the area involved being eligible for annexation under G.S. 160A-48, in those instances where discovery may illuminate these issues it is authorized under the Rules of Civil Procedure. Campbell v. City of Greensboro, 70 N.C. App. 252, 319 S.E.2d 323, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 312 N.C. 492, 322 S.E.2d 553 (1984).

II. MAPS.

It is not required that proposed sewer interceptors be included on the maps that accompany annexation reports. Trask v. City of Wilmington, 64 N.C. App. 17, 306 S.E.2d 832 (1983), cert. denied, 310 N.C. 630, 315 S.E.2d 697 (1984).

Maps Held Sufficient. — Maps prepared by a town as part of its revised annexation plan report substantially complied with subdivision (1) of this section, although the eastern boundary and approximately one-fifth of the town area were omitted and the map showing the general land use pattern contained several blank areas representing vacant lots which did not appear as a category on the legend of the maps, where both the entire area contiguous to the area to be annexed and that area itself were included on the map. Moody v. Town of Carrboro, 301 N.C. 318, 271 S.E.2d 265 (1980), rehearing denied, 301 N.C. 728, 274 S.E.2d 230 (1981).

III. PLANS FOR EXTENDING SERVICES.

A. In General.

Plans for Extension of Services as Condition Precedent. — The requirement of plans for extension to the area to be annexed of all major municipal services performed within the municipality at the time of annexation is a condition precedent to annexation. In re Annex- ation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

The minimum requirements of subdivision (3) are that the city provide information which is necessary to allow the public and the courts to determine whether the municipality has committed itself to provide a nondiscriminatory level of service and to allow a reviewing court to determine after the fact whether the municipality has timely provided such services. In re Annexation Ordinance No. 300-X, 304 N.C. 549, 284 S.E.2d 470 (1981); Trask v. City of Wilmington, 64 N.C. App. 17, 306 S.E.2d 832 (1983), cert. denied, 310 N.C. 630, 315 S.E.2d 697 (1984).

The minimum requirements of the annexation statute are that the city provide information which is necessary to allow the public and the courts to determine whether the municipality has committed itself to provide a nondiscriminatory level of service and to allow a reviewing court to determine after the fact whether the municipality has timely provided such services. If such services are not provided, the residents of the annexed area would be entitled to a writ of mandamus requiring the municipality to live up to its commitments. Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

The minimum requirements of the annexation statute are that the city provide information which is necessary to allow the public and the courts to determine whether the municipality has committed itself to provide a nondiscriminatory level of service. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

Providing Forms to Property Owners. — Subdivision (3)(b) does not require the city to provide notice to the property owners that they may request a form providing for extension of lines to their property in accordance with the financial policies of the city, and in the absence of a request, the city is not required to provide forms to property owners to be used to request extensions from their property to a major main in accordance with the city financial policies for such extensions. Barnhardt v. City of Kannapolis, 116 N.C. App. 215, 447 S.E.2d 471, cert. denied, 338 N.C. 514, 452 S.E.2d 807 (1994).

Use of the word "substantially" in subdivision (3)a does not render the section vague and ambiguous. In re Annexation Ordinance No. D-21927, 303 N.C. 220, 278 S.E.2d 224 (1981).

This Article requires that services be provided on substantially the same basis and in the same manner as such services are provided within the rest of the municipality prior to annexation. When a municipality engages in supplying water to its inhabitants, it owes the duty of equal service to consumers within its corporate limits, as a general rule. In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

The city is required by law to provide waste disposal services on substantially the same basis and in the same manner as such services are provided within the municipality prior to annexation. Stillings v. City of Winston-Salem, 63 N.C. App. 618, 306 S.E.2d 489 (1983), rev'd on other grounds, 311 N.C. 689, 319 S.E.2d 233 (1984).

Subdivision (3)a of this section requires that the annexation report reflect the city's plans to provide certain enumerated services on substantially the same basis and in the same manner as in the rest of the city. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

Nowhere in this section does the concept of equality with "average service" appear in reference to the municipal services to be supplied by the annexing municipality. No reasonable reading of the statutory language permits that inference. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

There is no requirement that a municipality duplicate services, in an area to be annexed, which are already available in the area. In re Ordinance of Annexation No. 1977-4, 296 N.C. 1, 249 S.E.2d 698 (1978); In re Annexation Ordinance, 300 N.C. 337, 266 S.E.2d 661 (1980).

City May Not Delegate Duty of Extending Services. — The city must furnish major municipal services to areas annexed as provided by Parts 2 and 3 of this Article. The performance of this duty may not be made to depend upon a doubtful contingency, and may not be delegated to others by the city so as to relieve the city of the duty. If other parties are obligated to the city to perform such duty, the city must enforce the obligation directly against such parties and may not be otherwise relieved of its primary duty to the area which it seeks to make a part of the city for all other purposes. In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

But Plans May Provide Only for Needed Services. — Plans for extension of services may, of course, take into consideration all circumstances and provide only for services if and when needed. In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

Statement of Plans for Extension of Services. — In its annexation report the city must include a statement setting forth the plans of the municipality for extending certain enumerated municipal services to the area to be annexed on the date of annexation on substantially the same basis and in the same manner as such services are provided within the rest of the municipality prior to annexation. Food

Town Stores, Inc. v. City of Salisbury, 300 N.C. 21, 265 S.E.2d 123 (1980).

Only Services Listed in Subdivision (3) Must Be Described in Plan. — The annexation statute requires municipalities to include in their annexation reports plans to extend into the area proposed to be annexed only those municipal services specifically enumerated in subdivision (3) of this section: police protection, fire protection, garbage collection, street maintenance, major trunk water mains, and sewer outfall lines. Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Other Anticipated Services Need Not Be Included. — In a municipal annexation proceeding the city is not required to include in its annexation report plans for extending into the proposed annexation area municipal services other than those enumerated in subdivision (3) of this section. Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

The legislative intent expressed in subdivision (3) requires extension of a variety of municipal services, all of which are required for the public health and safety. Public transportation and parks and recreational facilities do not fall within this classification of service. In re Annexation Ordinance No. 1219, 62 N.C. App. 588, 303 S.E.2d 380, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 309 N.C. 820, 310 S.E.2d 351 (1983).

Municipal services, such as transportation, which are not specifically enumerated in subsection (3) are not required to be included in the annexation report. Parkwood Ass'n v. City of Durham, 124 N.C. App. 603, 478 S.E.2d 204 (1996).

Since plans and procedures concerning transportation are not required by law, a reviewing court has no jurisdiction to hear evidence on this issue. Parkwood Ass'n v. City of Durham, 124 N.C. App. 603, 478 S.E.2d 204 (1996).

The required information is not that of plans for extending all municipal services, but only the "major" municipal services. Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

City bus service and TV service are not "major" municipal services required to be addressed in the annexation report. Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

The respondent city was not required to file a new services plan under this section although the annexation area changed during subsequent revisions to the annexation ordinance, where the only significant change to the services plan was the scope of its coverage—the services for petitioners remained the same—and where the city was bound by the terms of the services plan as amended under principles of equitable estoppel. Bowers v. City of Thomasville, 143 N.C. App. 291, 547 S.E.2d 68, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 277 (2001), cert. denied, 353 N.C. 723, 550 S.E.2d 769 (2001).

Contents of Report. — The report need contain only the following: (1) Information on the level of services then available in the city, (2) a commitment by the city to provide this same level of services in the annexed area within the statutory period, and (3) the method by which the city will finance the extension of these services. In re Annexation Ordinance No. 300-X, 304 N.C. 549, 284 S.E.2d 470 (1981).

The report need contain only the following: (1) information on the level of services then available in the city, (2) a commitment by the city to provide this same level of services in the annexed area within the statutory period, and (3) the method by which the city will finance the extension of these services. With this minimal information, both the city council and the public can make an informed decision of the costs and benefits of the proposed annexation, a reviewing court can determine whether the city has committed itself to a nondiscriminating level of services, and the residents and the courts have a benchmark against which to measure the level of services which the residents receive within the statutory period. Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Service Is Municipal Even If Performed by Another. — A service, such as water or sewer service, is a "municipal service" even though it is performed or furnished by an independent authority or by franchise. Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

And Must Still Be Included in Plan. — If the municipal service is one enumerated in subdivision (3) of this section, it must be included in the annexation report, even though it is provided by an independent authority or under a franchise agreement. Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

The requirement that the annexation report contain a statement setting forth the plans for extending each major municipal service extends to a major service "performed within the municipality," not performed by the municipality. Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Plans Should Be Stated Fully and in Detail. — The report of plans for extension of services is the cornerstone of the annexation procedure under this Part, and to be of greatest possible benefit, the plans for services should be stated as fully and in as much detail as resources of the municipality reasonably permit. Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Response time is only one of many factors that enters into the court's consideration of whether an annexation report reflects plans to provide certain required municipal services on substantially the same basis and in the same manner as in the pre-annexation city area. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

Time for Implementing Extension of Services. — It would appear from a reading of G.S. 160A-49(h) that a city annexing territory has one year, and possibly 15 months, to implement its plan for extending services to an annexed area. In re Ordinance of Annexation No. 1977-4, 296 N.C. 1, 249 S.E.2d 698 (1978); In re Annexation Ordinance, 300 N.C. 337, 266 S.E.2d 661 (1980).

Burden of Showing Noncompliance with Subdivision (3). — The burden is on petitioner to establish, by competent and substantial evidence, the city's noncompliance with subdivision (3). In re Annexation Ordinance No. 300-X, 304 N.C. 549, 284 S.E.2d 470 (1981); Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Factors Affecting Whether a Plan Is Discriminatory. — A town's established policies for the provision of municipal services within pre-existing municipal limits should be taken into account when determining whether a proposed plan for extension of services to annexed territories is discriminatory. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

Plan Held Sufficient. — Trial court did not err in finding that city's report of plans for the extension of police protection into annexed area met the requirements of this section; the city made a prima facie showing of substantial compliance where it promised to provide a full range of police protection on the same basis and manner as in the present municipality and where the report then outlined the specific services it currently provided, to include a regular patrol division, criminal investigation, ordinance enforcement and traffic control. Thrash v. City of Asheville, 95 N.C. App. 457, 383 S.E.2d 657 (1989), rev'd on other grounds, 327 N.C. 251, 393 S.E.2d 842 (1990).

City's annexation plan which included provisions for police and fire protection and capital improvements for new water lines complied with subdivision (3)a. of this section, even though it did not include provisions for additional staff or equipment. Bali Co. v. City of Kings Mt., 134 N.C. App. 277, 517 S.E.2d 208 (1999).

When a city proposed the involuntary annexation of certain real property, it had to determine the use of that property at the time it prepared the service plan required by G.S. 160A-47, to determine if it complied with the urban usage percentages required under G.S. 160A-48(c)(3), and it was error to classify property according to its intended future use, rather than its use at the time the service plan was prepared. Ridgefield Props., L.L.C. v. City of Asheville, 159 N.C. App. 376, 583 S.E.2d 400, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1523 (2003), aff'd, 358 N.C. 216, 593 S.E.2d 584 (2004).

B. Police and Fire Protection.

There are many variables that affect the level of fire protection afforded to different areas of a municipality: height and size of buildings, construction materials, proximity of buildings to one another and street pattern, among others. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

Police Protection Provided. — Town's annexation was valid because: (1) according to the annexation report, the town would extend its municipal services on a non-discriminatory basis, thus satisfying the statutory requirements under G.S. 160A-47(3); (2) the town annexation provided police protection, a service that promoted the health, safety, and welfare of residents within the annexed area; (3) such protection provided a meaningful benefit to the annexed residents and furthered the public policies underlying the annexation statutes, under G.S. 160A-45; and (4) property owners were bound by a trial court's factual finding that the owners had not shown that the annexation area currently received police services that were comparable to those that the town would provide the annexation area after the annexation became effective. Nolan v. Town of Weddington, — N.C. App. —, 642 S.E.2d 261, 2007 N.C. App. LEXIS 690 (2007).

Regardless of the level of services that county residents receive through a private contractor prior to annexation, the city is only required to provide annexed territories with substantially the same level of services as are enjoyed in other areas of the city. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

An increase in the police force proportional to the increase in the population attributable to annexation is a sufficiently sophisticated plan for the provision of services to meet the requirements of subdivision (3)a of this section. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

Where city planned to hire three additional sworn officers to maintain its current ratio of one officer for every 486 citizens, the plan was sufficient to meet the requirements of subdivision (3)a of this section. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

Full Compliance as to Police and Fire Protection Shown. — Record of annexation proceedings showed prima facie full compliance with this section in regard to extension of police and fire protection to the area to be annexed. In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

City had shown prima facie compliance with the statute by proposing to provide fire protection services to the annexed area under the same plan as such services are provided to the pre-annexation portions of the city, and similar response times should be anticipated. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

Response time for the fire services is only one of many factors that determines whether an annexation report complies with statutory requirements for the extension of fire protection services. That an annexation report did not include an average response time did not preclude a finding of compliance with the statute. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

C. Street Maintenance.

City Must Plan to Maintain Streets. — So far as an annexation proceeding is concerned, the primary duty of street maintenance in an area after annexation is upon the city, and it must in good faith make plans to maintain the streets, whether paved or unpaved, on substantially the same basis and in the same manner as such services are provided within the rest of the municipality prior to annexation. In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

And May Not Limit Its Duty to Streets Meeting Certain Standards. — A municipality may not limit its obligations to maintain streets in the area to be annexed by it to those streets which are improved to stipulated standards by the landowners and developers in the area. Any obligation of the landowners and developers to the city to improve the streets is a matter between them and the municipality and is irrelevant to the question of the sufficiency of the annexation ordinance to meet the requirements of the statute. In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

Even if the property owners and developers in the area to be annexed are under a duty to the city to pave all streets and provide storm sewers and curbs and gutters, the city is in no position to rely on this obligation in an annexation proceeding and thereby shift to others the duty which this Article imposes on the city as a condition precedent to annexation. In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

Specificity Concerning Street Maintenance. — A revised annexation plan report was sufficiently specific with respect to extension of street maintenance services where it detailed what services were provided in the annexing town and stated that all such services would be provided in the annexed area, and was not deficient in failing to provide for the extension of water and sewer lines where this was not a service provided by the town to anyone but was a duty vested with an independent water authority. Moody v. Town of Carrboro, 301 N.C. 318, 271 S.E.2d 265 (1980), rehearing denied, 301 N.C. 728, 274 S.E.2d 230 (1981).

D. Water and Sewer Service.

City May Not Limit Water and Sewer Services to Existing Lines. — Where an annexation ordinance contains no plans for the municipality to extend water and sewer services in the area to be annexed beyond those services presently in existence in the area unless the water and sewer lines are extended by landowners and developers in the area, the ordinance fails to meet the requirements of subdivision (3)b of this section. In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

As to assessment of cost of water and sewer extensions upon lots or parcels of land abutting directly on lateral mains of water and sewer systems pursuant to former G.S. 160-241 to 160-248 and G.S. 160-255, see In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

Remedy for Failure to Implement Plan. — After an area is annexed, if the residents find that the city is not providing them with water and sewer services, they may petition the court for a writ of mandamus requiring the city to provide such services. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

Timetables for Extending Water Mains and Sewer Lines. — Since the city included in the annexation report its plans and timetables for extending the water mains and the sewer lines to the area proposed for annexation, it met the requirements of subdivisions (3)b and (3)c of this section even though no plan or associated timetables had been identified for the water supply. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

Failure to Show Extension Was a Major Water Main. — Where the plaintiffs offered no evidence from which the trial court or appellate court could ascertain in this instance that the twelve-inch water extension was a "major water main," and the policy requiring these petitioners to pay for the cost of water line extensions to their property was consistent with the policy of water line extensions within the pre-existing municipal limits, the trial court was not in error in concluding the town had substantially complied with all the relevant provisions of this section. Wallace v. Town of Chapel Hill, 93 N.C. App. 422, 378 S.E.2d 225 (1989).

Annexation Denied Because Plan Did

Not Provide Statutorily Required Sewer Service. — Trial court's judgment upholding an ordinance which the City of Asheville (North Carolina) passed to annex property was reversed because the court failed to recognize that the city's plan for providing services to the area it proposed to annex did not provide statutorily required sewer service. Briggs v. City of Asheville, 159 N.C. App. 558, 583 S.E.2d 733, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1534 (2003), cert. denied, 357 N.C. 657, 589 S.E.2d 886 (2003), cert. dismissed sub nom. Briggs v. City Asheville, 357 N.C. 657, 589 S.E.2d 887 (2003).

Remand When Protections of Section not Honored. — Where petitioners show that the degree of noncompliance with statutory requirements for annexation is so great as to eviscerate the protections provided in G.S. 160A-47, a trial court does not err in declaring an ordinance null and void. However, in order for a trial court to properly declare an ordinance null and void under G.S. 160A-50(g)(4), it must specifically find that "the ordinance cannot be corrected by remand" as opposed to finding that "the ordinance is not likely to be corrected on remand." Because the trial court failed to make the appropriate finding, perhaps acting under a misapprehension of applicable law, the matter was remanded to the trial court for appropriate findings to support one of the statutory grounds under G.S. 160A-50(g). Fix v. City of Eden, 175 N.C. App. 1, 622 S.E.2d 647, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2739 (2005).

Duties under Section. — The requirements of G.S. 160A-47 are that plans for extension to the area to be annexed of all major municipal services performed within the municipality at the time of annexation is a condition precedent to annexation. The minimum requirements of G.S. 160A-47 are that the city provide information which is necessary to allow the public and the courts to determine whether the municipality has committed itself to provide a nondiscriminatory level of service and to allow a reviewing court to determine after the fact whether the municipality has timely provided such services. A city need only substantially comply with G.S. 160A-47. A city is required to provide major municipal services under G.S. 160A-47, and its performance of that duty may not be made to depend upon a doubtful contingency. Fix v. City of Eden, 175 N.C. App. 1, 622 S.E.2d 647, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2739 (2005).

IV. METHOD OF FINANCING.

Subdivision (3)d requires only that the method of financing be disclosed, not that the precise source of each dollar be pinpointed. In re Annexation Ordinance No. 300-X, 304 N.C. 549, 284 S.E.2d 470 (1981).

Use of Federal Funds to Finance Extension of Services. — Although a city's proposals with reference to the financing of the extension of services into the area to be annexed contemplated the use of certain federal funds in connection with such financing, the method set forth in plans to finance extension of the services into the areas to be annexed constituted compliance with subdivision (3)d. Dunn v. City of Charlotte, 284 N.C. 542, 201 S.E.2d 873 (1974).

Budgeting of Funds at Time of Trial Held Unnecessary. — Since subdivision (3) of this section requires only that the annexing city file a statement showing how it will provide and finance municipal services to the annexed area, and since there is no requirement that available services be duplicated, the City of Goldsboro, in annexing a federal air force base, was not required to have funds budgeted at the time of trial to provide municipal services to the base in the event the federal government ceased providing those services, where the plan of annexation was based upon sound estimates of anticipated expenditures and revenues. In re Ordinance of Annexation No. 1977-4, 296 N.C. 1, 249 S.E.2d 698 (1978).

For purposes of the extension of water and sewer services required under G.S. 160A-47, no ordinance or policy substantially diminishing the financial participation of a municipality in the construction of water or sewer facilities required under this Article may apply to an area being annexed unless the ordinance or policy became effective at least 180 days prior to the date of adoption by the municipality of the resolution giving notice of intent to consider annexing the area under G.S. 160A-49(a). (1991, c. 25, s. 2; c. 761, s. 31; 1998-150, s. 13.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1991, c. 25, s. 2, initially amended G.S. 160A-47 by adding a subsection (b). This subsection was recodified as new G.S. 160A-47.1 by Session Laws 1991, c.

761, s. 31, effective July 16, 1991, which provides: "G.S. 160A-47(b), as enacted by Section 1 of Chapter 25 of the 1991 Session Laws, is recodified as G.S. 160A-47.1, with a catchline to read: 'Limitation on change in financial participation prior to annexation.' G.S. 160A-47(a) is redesignated as G.S. 160A-47."

Section 3 of Session Laws 1991, c. 25 makes this section effective April 1, 1991, and applicable to resolutions of intent adopted on or after March 1, 1992.

§ 160A-48. Character of area to be annexed.

(a) A municipal governing board may extend the municipal corporate limits to include any area

- (1) Which meets the general standards of subsection (b), and
- (2) Every part of which meets the requirements of either subsection (c) or subsection (d).

(b) The total area to be annexed must meet the following standards:

- (1) It must be adjacent or contiguous to the municipality's boundaries at the time the annexation proceeding is begun, except if the entire territory of a county water and sewer district created under G.S. 162A-86(b1) is being annexed, the annexation shall also include any noncontiguous pieces of the district as long as the part of the district with the greatest land area is adjacent or contiguous to the municipality's boundaries at the time the annexation proceeding is begun.
- (2) At least one eighth of the aggregate external boundaries of the area must coincide with the municipal boundary.
- (3) No part of the area shall be included within the boundary of another incorporated municipality.

(c) Part or all of the area to be annexed must be developed for urban purposes at the time of approval of the report provided for in G.S. 160A-47. Area of streets and street rights-of-way shall not be used to determine total acreage under this section. An area developed for urban purposes is defined as any area which meets any one of the following standards:

- (1) Has a total resident population equal to at least two and three-tenths persons for each acre of land included within its boundaries; or
- (2) Has a total resident population equal to at least one person for each acre of land included within its boundaries, and is subdivided into lots and tracts such that at least sixty percent (60%) of the total acreage consists of lots and tracts three acres or less in size and such that at least sixty-five percent (65%) of the total number of lots and tracts are one acre or less in size; or
- (3) Is so developed that at least sixty percent (60%) of the total number of lots and tracts in the area at the time of annexation are used for residential, commercial, industrial, institutional or governmental purposes, and is subdivided into lots and tracts such that at least sixty percent (60%) of the total acreage, not counting the acreage used at the time of annexation for commercial, industrial, governmental or institutional purposes, consists of lots and tracts three acres or less in size. For purposes of this section, a lot or tract shall not be considered in use for a commercial, industrial, institutional, or governmental purpose if the lot or tract is used only temporarily, occasionally, or on an incidental or insubstantial basis in relation to the size and character of the lot or tract. For purposes of this section, acreage in use for commercial, industrial, institutional, or governmental purposes shall include acreage actually occupied by buildings or other man-made structures together with all areas that are reasonably necessary and appurtenant to such facilities for purposes of parking, storage, ingress and egress, utilities, buffering, and other ancillary services and facilities; or
- (4) Is the entire area of any county water and sewer district created under G.S. 162A-86(b1), but this subdivision only applies to annexation by a municipality if that:

- a. Municipality has provided in a contract with that district that the area is developed for urban purposes; and
 - b. Contract provides for the municipality to operate the sewer system of that county water and sewer district;
- provided that the special categorization provided by this subdivision only applies if the municipality is annexing in one proceeding the entire territory of the district not already within the corporate limits of a municipality; or
- (5) Is so developed that, at the time of the approval of the annexation report, all tracts in the area to be annexed are used for commercial, industrial, governmental, or institutional purposes.
- (d) In addition to areas developed for urban purposes, a governing board may include in the area to be annexed any area which does not meet the requirements of subsection (c) if such area either:
- (1) Lies between the municipal boundary and an area developed for urban purposes so that the area developed for urban purposes is either not adjacent to the municipal boundary or cannot be served by the municipality without extending services and/or water and/or sewer lines through such sparsely developed area; or
 - (2) Is adjacent, on at least sixty percent (60%) of its external boundary, to any combination of the municipal boundary and the boundary of an area or areas developed for urban purposes as defined in subsection (c).

The purpose of this subsection is to permit municipal governing boards to extend corporate limits to include all nearby areas developed for urban purposes and where necessary to include areas which at the time of annexation are not yet developed for urban purposes but which constitute necessary land connections between the municipality and areas developed for urban purposes or between two or more areas developed for urban purposes. For purposes of this subsection, “necessary land connection” means an area that does not exceed twenty-five percent (25%) of the total area to be annexed.

(e) In fixing new municipal boundaries, a municipal governing board shall use recorded property lines and streets as boundaries. Some or all of the boundaries of a county water and sewer district may also be used when the entire district not already within the corporate limits of a municipality is being annexed.

(f) The area of an abolished water and sewer district shall be considered to be a water and sewer district for the purpose of this section even after its abolition under G.S. 162A-87.2(b). (1959, c. 1009, s. 4; 1973, c. 426, s. 74; 1983, c. 636, s. 15; 1985, c. 757, s. 205(d); 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 696, s. 7; c. 714, s. 7; 1998-150, s. 14.)

Local Modification. — City of Archdale: 2001-39 (for ordinances adopted before December 31, 2002); city of Durham: 1987, c. 606; 1993, c. 342, s. 1; town of Morrisville: 2007-324, s. 1 (requiring that any annexation ordinance adopted under this act be adopted before December 31, 2017).

Editor’s Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which amended this section, in s. 37.1, amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: “The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections.”

Section 38 of Session Laws 1983, c. 636 provided: “This act shall be effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after the date of ratification of this act, except that Sections 36 and 37 shall become effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after July 1, 1984, Sections 25.1 through 35.5 and Section 37.1 are effective upon ratification and Section 25 shall become effective as provided in that section. No annexation where a resolution of intent was adopted prior to the date of ratification of this act shall be affected by this act except as provided in Section 25."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

CASE NOTES

Constitutionality. — See In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

The annexation statutes are not taxation statutes, nor are they retrospective taxation statutes. Little Red School House, Ltd. v. City of Greensboro, 71 N.C. App. 332, 322 S.E.2d 195 (1984), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 313 N.C. 514, 329 S.E.2d 392 (1985).

Question whether area is ripe for annexation should be addressed under statutory criteria set up in this section. Moody v. Town of Carrboro, 301 N.C. 318, 271 S.E.2d 265 (1980), rehearing denied, 301 N.C. 728, 274 S.E.2d 230 (1981).

The entire area to be annexed must meet the requirements of subsection (b) of this section. In re Annexation Ordinance, 300 N.C. 337, 266 S.E.2d 661 (1980).

Cities with 5,000 or more people may annex an outlying urban area pursuant to subsection (c) of this section and the intervening undeveloped lands pursuant to subsection (d) so long as the entire area meets the requirements of subsection (b). In re Annexation Ordinance, 300 N.C. 337, 266 S.E.2d 661 (1980).

This Section and § 160A-36 Compared. — The provisions of subsections (b), (c) and (e) of this section are virtually identical to their counterparts in subsections (b), (c) and (d) of G.S. 160A-36. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

Character of areas which may properly be annexed, etc. (i) cannot be included within the boundary of another incorporated municipality, (ii) must be adjacent to the existing boundaries of the annexing municipality, (iii) must be developed for urban purposes or must connect an outlying area developed for urban purposes with the municipality and (iv) wherever practical should use topographic features as boundaries. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

When a city proposed the annexation of a certain area, it could combine lots in single ownership used for a common purpose into a single tract, which could then be used to determine the percentage of tracts in the area used for urban purposes, under G.S. 160A-48(c)(3), but it was impermissible for the city to combine lots being developed for commercial purposes into a single tract classified as commercial because the lots had to be used for a common purpose, and these lots were in the process of development rather than in commercial use. Ridgefield Props., L.L.C. v. City of Asheville, 159 N.C. App. 376, 583 S.E.2d 400, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1523 (2003), aff'd, 358 N.C. 216, 593 S.E.2d 584 (2004).

Each sub-area must be considered as a whole and must qualify under one of the urban purposes tests set forth in subsection (c). Wallace v. Town of Chapel Hill, 93 N.C. App. 422, 378 S.E.2d 225 (1989).

Tests as to Urban Development to Be Applied to Whole Annexation Area. — Not only must the entire annexation area meet the requirements of subsection (c)(1), but even more importantly, the tests to determine whether an area is developed for urban purposes must be applied to the annexation area as a whole. In re Annexation Ordinance, 284 N.C. 442, 202 S.E.2d 143 (1974); In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

The tests to determine whether an area is developed for urban purposes must be applied to the annexation area as a whole. In re Ordinance of Annexation No. 1977-4, 296 N.C. 1, 249 S.E.2d 698 (1978).

Division into Sub-Areas or Study Areas Improper. — The urban area that a city seeks to qualify for annexation under one of the urban purposes tests set forth in subdivisions (c)(1) through (c)(3) of this section must be considered as a whole, i.e., as one area, and may not be divided into sub-areas or study areas. In re Annexation Ordinance, 300 N.C. 337, 266 S.E.2d 661 (1980).

City acted under a misapprehension of the law, and misapplied the statutory standard in subdivision (c)(1), in deciding that population credits should be applied only in the "study area" in which such credits were accumulated, rather than applied uniformly to the whole area to be annexed. In re Annexation Ordinance, 284 N.C. 442, 202 S.E.2d 143 (1974).

Alternative Standards in Subdivisions (c)(1) and (c)(2). — This section's requirement that the area to be annexed must be developed for urban purposes is satisfied if either the standard of subdivision (c)(1) or the standard of subdivision (c)(2) is met. It is not required that both standards be satisfied. In re Annexation Ordinance 301-X, 304 N.C. 565, 284 S.E.2d 475 (1981).

To perform the computations required by the "subdivision test" under subdivision (c)(2) of this section, two figures are needed: the total acreage and the subdivided acreage. In re Annexation Ordinance 301-X, 304 N.C. 565, 284 S.E.2d 475 (1981).

Use of Different Standards Upheld. — The trial court did not err in concluding the town complied with subsection (c) of this section in annexing three noncontiguous sub-areas using different standards for qualifying each of the three sub-areas as urban property. Wallace v. Town of Chapel Hill, 93 N.C. App. 422, 378 S.E.2d 225 (1989).

Applicability of Error Margins of § 160A-54 to Calculations Under Subsection (c). — The five percent error margins allowed in subdivisions (2) and (3) of G.S. 160A-54 apply exclusively to calculations made by the municipality for purposes of establishing compliance with the population and subdivision tests contained within the alternative standards prescribed by subsection (c) of this section. Food Town Stores, Inc. v. City of Salisbury, 300 N.C. 21, 265 S.E.2d 123 (1980).

The language of G.S. 160A-54 is free from ambiguity and represents a legislative determination that margins of error should be allowed with respect to the calculations made by a municipality to establish compliance with the population and subdivision tests of subsection (c) of this section, but not with respect to the calculations made to establish compliance with the use test of subsection (c). Food Town Stores, Inc. v. City of Salisbury, 300 N.C. 21, 265 S.E.2d 123 (1980).

Counting "Total Resident Population". — A person is properly counted as a member of the "total resident population" under this section if such person would have been counted as an inhabitant of the proposed area of annexation under rules governing the last preceding decennial census. In re Ordinance of Annexation No. 1977-4, 296 N.C. 1, 249 S.E.2d 698 (1978).

Finding of Domicile Not Required. — The annexing unit is not required to make a finding that a person is actually domiciled within the proposed area of annexation before counting that person for the purpose of making the population estimate required by this section. In re Ordinance of Annexation No. 1977-4, 296 N.C. 1, 249 S.E.2d 698 (1978).

Military Personnel Properly Counted in Estimating Annexed Population. — In an annexation proceeding the military personnel on an air force base in the area to be annexed were properly counted in determining the population estimate required by this section, since in accordance with census practice dating back to 1790, persons enumerated in the 1970 census who lived on military bases as members of the armed forces were counted as residents of the states, counties, and minor civil divisions in which their installations were located. In re Ordinance of Annexation No. 1977-4, 296 N.C. 1, 249 S.E.2d 698 (1978).

The purpose of subsection (d) is to permit municipal governing boards to extend corporate limits to include all nearby areas developed for urban purposes and, where necessary, to include areas which at the time of annexation are not yet developed for urban purposes but which constitute necessary land connections between the municipality and areas developed for urban purposes or between two or more areas developed for urban purposes. Wallace v. Town of Chapel Hill, 93 N.C. App. 422, 378 S.E.2d 225 (1989).

Annexation of Intervening Undeveloped Land under Subsection (d). — The requirement that the urban area that a city seeks to qualify for annexation be considered as a whole does not preclude annexation of intervening undeveloped land pursuant to subsection (d) of this section. In re Annexation Ordinance, 300 N.C. 337, 266 S.E.2d 661 (1980).

Where the area proposed to be annexed by a municipality, when considered as a whole, meets the requirements of subsections (b) and (c) of this section, the fact that a part of the area is an undeveloped tract which does not comply with the standards set out in the statute does not require that such part be excluded from annexation. In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

The language of this section simply means that where a developed tract and an undeveloped tract are included in an area to be annexed, and the developed tract complies with subsection (c), but when the undeveloped tract is added, the area as a whole does not so comply, then the undeveloped tract must be excluded unless it complies with one of the requirements of subsection (d). In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

A city properly annexed land which was not developed for urban purposes, under G.S. 160A-48(d)(2), along with its annexation of land which was developed for urban purposes, even though the undeveloped land was not contiguous with the city's pre-annexation boundaries, because at least 60 percent of the land's external boundaries were contiguous with the developed land which was being annexed. Carolina Power & Light Co. v. City of Asheville, 161 N.C. App. 1, 587 S.E.2d 490, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1995 (2003).

Plain language of G.S. 160A-48(d)(2), regarding the annexation of areas not developed for urban used, included all possible combinations which made the following equation work: the amount of border which the non-urban area shared with the municipality combined with the amount of border that the non-urban area shared with an area or areas developed for urban purposes equaled 60 percent of the border of the non-urban area, and one workable combination existed where a non-urban area touched, on at least 60 percent of its external border, only an area or areas developed for urban purposes. Carolina Power & Light Co. v. City of Asheville, 161 N.C. App. 1, 587 S.E.2d 490, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1995 (2003).

Cities with 5,000 or more people could annex an outlying urban area pursuant to G.S. 160A-48(c) and the intervening undeveloped lands pursuant to G.S. 160A-48(d) so long as the entire area met the requirements of G.S. 160A-48(b). Carolina Power & Light Co. v. City of Asheville, 161 N.C. App. 1, 587 S.E.2d 490, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1995 (2003).

Compliance with Subsection (d). — In defining areas not developed for urban purposes that nevertheless may be annexed, G.S. 160A-48(d)(2) clearly specifies a combination of two things, in “any” variation or quantities of these two entities: the municipal boundary and the boundary of the urban developed area. To totally exclude one entity from the equation fails to yield a true “combination.” Carolina Power & Light Co. v. City of Asheville, 358 N.C. 512, 597 S.E.2d 717, 2004 N.C. LEXIS 668 (2004).

Plain meaning of G.S. 160A-48(d)(2) states that there must be a “combination” of adjacency to a municipality and adjacency to areas developed for urban purposes in order for a city to annex land under § 160A-48(d). Carolina Power & Light Co. v. City of Asheville, 358 N.C. 512, 597 S.E.2d 717, 2004 N.C. LEXIS 668 (2004).

Pursuant to G.S. 160A-48(d)(1) and (d)(2), a city could not annex a landowner's parcel of land, where the parcel was not developed for urban use and where the parcel was adjacent to areas developed for urban purposes but was not also adjacent to the city's boundary. Carolina Power & Light Co. v. City of Asheville, 358 N.C. 512, 597 S.E.2d 717, 2004 N.C. LEXIS 668 (2004).

Sub-area under subsection (d) may consist entirely of tracts of five acres or less. Southern Glove Mfg. Co. v. City of Newton, 75 N.C. App. 574, 331 S.E.2d 180, cert. denied, 314 N.C. 669, 336 S.E.2d 401 (1985).

Two lots, 60 percent of external boundaries of which were contiguous to city limits or to a part of other land which the city proposed to annex, qualified as sub-areas under subsection (d)(2), although they allegedly did not constitute “necessary land connections,” as mentioned in the unnumbered paragraph at the end of subsection (d). The unnumbered paragraph had to be read as describing the sub-areas specifically allowed by subsection (d). Southern Glove Mfg. Co. v. City of Newton, 75 N.C. App. 574, 331 S.E.2d 180, cert. denied, 314 N.C. 669, 336 S.E.2d 401 (1985).

In order to establish noncompliance with subsection (e) of this section, it must be shown: (1) that the boundary of the annexed area does not follow topographic features, and (2) that it would have been practical for the boundary to follow such features. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance Numbered 5991 for Area A, 69 N.C. App. 77, 316 S.E.2d 649, appeal dismissed and cert. denied, 312 N.C. 493, 322 S.E.2d 553 (1984).

Annexation of Water and Sewer District. — Even though a water and sewer district under Chapter 162A is termed a municipal corporation, a water and sewer district is a municipal corporation organized for a special purpose, which does not qualify as a municipal corporation for purposes of this Chapter. Thrash v. City of Asheville, 95 N.C. App. 457, 383 S.E.2d 657 (1989), rev'd on other grounds, 327 N.C. 251, 393 S.E.2d 842 (1990).

Annexation of Air Force Base. — A federal air force base was subject to annexation by the City of Goldsboro where the annexation was not for the sole purpose of generating revenue, and it did not interfere with federal jurisdiction. In re Ordinance of Annexation No. 1977-4, 296 N.C. 1, 249 S.E.2d 698 (1978).

The annexation of a federal air force base by the City of Goldsboro did not create unconstitutional tax classes. In re Ordinance of Annexation No. 1977-4, 296 N.C. 1, 249 S.E.2d 698 (1978).

Tract Classified as Residential Despite Growing of Grass Thereon for Cattle Feed. — A city could classify a 1.83 acre tract with a rented house located on it as one lot used for residential purposes, despite the fact that on two separate parts of the lot fescue and sudex grass was grown and a person living in the neighborhood had been allowed to mow this grass, bale it and feed it to his cows. Southern Glove Mfg. Co. v. City of Newton, 75 N.C. App. 574, 331 S.E.2d 180, cert. denied, 314 N.C. 669, 336 S.E.2d 401 (1985).

Record of annexation proceedings showed prima facie full compliance with requirements of this section as to the character of the area to be annexed. In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

Discovery. — Judicial review of an annexation ordinance is a limited judicial review, with few similarities to ordinary civil actions which are initiated, tried and adjudicated in a different manner and for which the Rules of Civil Procedure were mostly devised. Nevertheless, since the court reviewing annexation proceedings is explicitly authorized to receive evidence as to the city's compliance with the various procedures prescribed, as to its annexation plan meeting the requisites of G.S. 160A-47, and as to the area involved being eligible for annexation under this section, in those instances where discovery may illuminate these issues that it is authorized under the Rules of Civil Procedure. Campbell v. City of Greensboro, 70 N.C. App. 252, 319 S.E.2d 323, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 312 N.C. 492, 322 S.E.2d 553 (1984).

Commercial Classification Upheld. — Two parcels of six and over 41 acres were properly classified as commercial where the tracts had been consolidated for development and tax purposes, all but 19.75 acres had recently been developed as a commercial shopping center, and the remaining 19.75 acres, contiguous to the shopping center, had been cleared and graded, and indirectly served the shopping center as a dumping ground. Thrash v. City of Asheville, 95 N.C. App. 457, 383 S.E.2d 657 (1989), rev'd on other grounds, 327 N.C. 251, 393 S.E.2d 842 (1990).

Institutional Classification Upheld. — Tract of 5.92 acres owned by local school board was properly classified as being in institutional use, where the evidence tended to show that only because of the unusual circumstance that high school was in the process of relocating was property not used for agriculture class as it has been for most summers since 1973; since the property was consistently used for institutional purposes for about 13 years prior to the trial, the property's disuse was merely a brief hiatus which did not disqualify the property from being in urban use. Thrash v. City of Asheville, 95 N.C. App. 457, 383 S.E.2d 657 (1989), rev'd on other grounds, 327 N.C. 251, 393 S.E.2d 842 (1990).

Trial court properly classified property as industrial in use rather than as vacant; where the record supported the trial court's finding that a large part of its 17.7 acres consisted of a creek and that property owner pumped water from the creek for industrial use and also discharged effluent into the creek. Thrash v. City of Asheville, 95 N.C. App. 457, 383 S.E.2d 657 (1989), rev'd on other grounds, 327 N.C. 251, 393 S.E.2d 842 (1990).

Substantial Compliance with Subdivision (c)(3) Shown. — Petitioners/property owners failed to overcome the presumption that the City substantially complied with subdivision (c)(3) of this section when it moved to annex disputed areas; mobile homes used to meet the "urban purposes" percentage requirement were "constructed" on the lots pursuant to "residential purposes" defined by G.S. 160A-53(2), and the deletion of a condemned home, originally included as a "habitable" residence, did not affect the calculations or the city's compliance. Bali Co. v. City of Kings Mt., 134 N.C. App. 277, 517 S.E.2d 208 (1999).

It was error to include certain property among the acreage counted as subdivided and used for residential purposes under subdivision (c)(3) of this section where such classification did not reflect the factual characteristics of the property. Even though recorded plat indicated land was subdivided, the property had never been surveyed and divided on the ground, no lots had been sold, and no roads had been constructed and opened for traffic. Such land was not subdivided within the meaning of subdivision (c)(3) of this section. Thrash v. City of Asheville, 327 N.C. 251, 393 S.E.2d 842 (1990).

Collateral Estoppel Barred Reclassification of Land Previously Classified as "Vacant." — Original trial court decision that divided the landowner's property into commercial and "vacant" portions and the order that only the commercial portion be used on remand to determine compliance with G.S. 160A-48(c)(3) could not be construed as a license to attempt to re-classify the vacant acres. United States Cold Storage v. City of Lumberton, 156 N.C. App. 327, 576 S.E.2d 415, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 124 (2003).

Collateral estoppel applied where a second trial court decision permitted a city to reclassify a landowner's vacant acres for purposes of involuntary annexation because the original decision included an adjudication that the subject area was vacant. United States Cold Storage v. City of Lumberton, 156 N.C. App. 327, 576 S.E.2d 415, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 124 (2003).

Actual Minimum Urbanization Is An Essential Requirement of the Annexation Act. — "Sound urban development" does not mean a territory may be annexed whenever some documentation of record supports its assessment as urban; it means a territory may be annexed when its character reflects some actual minimum urbanization. Thrash v. City of Asheville, 327 N.C. 251, 393 S.E.2d 842 (1990).

Some actual, minimum urbanization of a proposed annexation area is required for annexation Shackelford v. City of Wilmington, 127 N.C. App. 449, 490 S.E.2d 578 (1997), aff'd, 349 N.C. 222, 505 S.E.2d 80 (1998).

When a city proposed to annex certain property, including certain lots which were being developed for commercial purposes, it was error to classify those lots as being used for a commercial purpose, for purposes of determining compliance with G.S. 160A-48(c)(3), because the property's actual use at the time of the city's service plan was the relevant consideration, rather than a proposed future use. Ridgefield Props., L.L.C. v. City of Asheville, 159 N.C. App. 376, 583 S.E.2d 400, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1523 (2003), aff'd, 358 N.C. 216, 593 S.E.2d 584 (2004).

Topographic Features Requirement. — In addressing the division between urban and non-urban areas, this section requires the use of topographic features to fix exterior boundaries of the municipality as annexed, but does not speak to interior boundaries. Bali Co. v. City of Kings Mt., 134 N.C. App. 277, 517 S.E.2d 208 (1999).

While this section does not provide “mandatory standards or requirements for annexation,” the provision itself is mandatory in light of the N.C. Supreme Court's holding in Greene v. Town of Valdese, 306 N.C. 79, 291 S.E.2d 630 that a boundary “must” follow topographic features unless to do so would defeat the annexation. Arquilla v. City of Salisbury, 136 N.C. App. 24, 523 S.E.2d 155, 1999 N.C. App. LEXIS 1294 (1999), cert. denied, 351 N.C. 350, 543 S.E.2d 122 (2000).

Landowners met their burden of showing that the boundary of an involuntarily annexed area failed to follow natural topographic features, and that it would have been practical for the boundary to follow such features. Arquilla v. City of Salisbury, 136 N.C. App. 24, 523 S.E.2d 155, 1999 N.C. App. LEXIS 1294 (1999), cert. denied, 351 N.C. 350, 543 S.E.2d 122 (2000).

Micro Approach Calculations Meet Urbanization Test. — Town met the urbanization test for annexation, where the town used a “micro approach” whereby it determined the number of dwelling units in each census block within the area to be annexed, then determined the average family size therein, then multiplied the number of dwelling units in each census block by the average family size to calculate the estimated population of each block, and finally added the block numbers together to produce the population estimate. Williams v. Town of Kernersville, 129 N.C. App. 734, 500 S.E.2d 770, 1998 N.C. App. LEXIS 757 (1998), cert. denied, 349 N.C. 241, 516 S.E.2d 611 (1998).

Governmental Use. — Involuntary annexation was improper where there was insufficient evidence of governmental use on four disputed tracts; while the evidence supported a finding of common ownership, there was insufficient evidence that the lots served a common purpose, and the court, therefore, erred in relying on a plan of future development to classify the entire tract as under governmental use. Arquilla v. City of Salisbury, 136 N.C. App. 24, 523 S.E.2d 155, 1999 N.C. App. LEXIS 1294 (1999), cert. denied, 351 N.C. 350, 543 S.E.2d 122 (2000).

Characterization of Property Held Proper. — Town could properly classify country club's property as being used for commercial or institutional purposes, even though much of the property was used as a golf course. Chapel Hill Country Club, Inc. v. Town of Chapel Hill, 97 N.C. App. 171, 388 S.E.2d 168 (1990).

When a power company asserted that certain parts of its land which a city proposed to annex were not developed for industrial use, and, thus, not subject to annexation, there was sufficient evidence from which the trial court could find each tract was used in support of the company's power plant, as there was testimony that two tracts were a buffer for a cooling pond, and that two other tracts were buffers for ash ponds on the property. Carolina Power & Light Co. v. City of Asheville, 161 N.C. App. 1, 587 S.E.2d 490, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1995 (2003).

In addition to topographic features, the statute explicitly permits the use of streets as boundaries. In order to establish non-compliance with subdivision (e) of this section, petitioners must show two things: (1) that the boundary of the annexed area does not follow topographic features, and (2) that it would have been practical for the boundary to follow such features. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

City Not Required to Extend Annexation to Areas in Conflict with Mandatory Statute Provisions. — The city was not required to extend the boundaries of the proposed annexation area to include ridge lines where to do so would have defeated the city's compliance with the other mandatory portions of the annexation statute. Matheson v. City of Asheville, 102 N.C. App. 156, 402 S.E.2d 140 (1991).

Shoestring Annexation Not Shown. — The area to be annexed by the town was not a prohibited ribbon, balloon or “shoestring” annexation, where the annexation area was a rectangle, with the easternmost side solidly abutted against the existing corporate limits. Williams v. Town of Kernersville, 129 N.C. App. 734, 500 S.E.2d 770, 1998 N.C. App. LEXIS 757 (1998), cert. denied, 349 N.C. 241, 516 S.E.2d 611 (1998).

Contiguity Requirement Met. — Town's annexation ordinance met the contiguity requirement of this subsection, where more than one-eighth of the area to be annexed coincided with the municipal boundary. Williams v. Town of Kernersville, 129 N.C. App. 734, 500 S.E.2d 770, 1998 N.C. App. LEXIS 757 (1998), cert. denied, 349 N.C. 241, 516 S.E.2d 611 (1998).

Annexation areas that were at least one-eighth contiguous with the municipal boundary and whose portions were connected by street right-of-way corridors, complied with the requirements of G.S. 160A-48(b). Anthony v. City of Shelby, 152 N.C. App. 144, 567 S.E.2d 222, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 904 (2002).

City's division of an annexation area into sub-areas did not result in the improper annexation of an "island" not contiguous with the city limits as of the date of the original resolution of intent, although the boundaries of the sub-area, if considered in isolation, rather than as a sub-part of the area originally identified and eventually annexed, were not contiguous with the city limits on the date of the initial resolution. U.S. Cold Storage, Inc. v. City of Lumberton, 170 N.C. App. 411, 612 S.E.2d 415, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1014 (2005).

Compliance with Subsection (e). — Sufficient evidence supported a finding that the city substantially complied with this section, where the city's Planning Director testified that the city first examined the area to be annexed for natural topographic features, and in the absence of such features, used a 200 foot setback requirement. Blackwell v. City of Reidsville, 129 N.C. App. 759, 502 S.E.2d 371 (1998), cert. denied, 349 N.C. 352, 517 S.E.2d 886 (1998).

Classification of Condominium Common Areas. — Common areas belonging to people who owned condominium units is residential property, and must be recognized in the city's plan for providing services to the area the City proposed to annex to provide statutorily required sewer service. Briggs v. City of Asheville, 159 N.C. App. 558, 583 S.E.2d 733, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1534 (2003), cert. denied, 357 N.C. 657, 589 S.E.2d 886 (2003), cert. dismissed sub nom. Briggs v. City Asheville, 357 N.C. 657, 589 S.E.2d 887 (2003).

Section 160A-48(c)(3) contained two mandatory tests for determining the availability of an area for annexation: (1) the use test — that not less than 60 percent of the lots and tracts in the area had to be in actual use, other than for agriculture, and (2) the subdivision test — not less than 60 percent of the acreage which was in residential use, if any, and was vacant had to consist of lots and tracts of five (now three) acres or less in size. Carolina Power & Light Co. v. City of Asheville, 161 N.C. App. 1, 587 S.E.2d 490, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1995 (2003).

Acreage in use for an industrial purpose was excluded from the subdivision test of the availability of acreage for annexation. Carolina Power & Light Co. v. City of Asheville, 161 N.C. App. 1, 587 S.E.2d 490, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1995 (2003).

Purpose of G.S. 160A-48(d) was to permit municipal governing boards to extend corporate limits to include all nearby areas developed for urban purposes and where necessary to include areas which at the time of annexation were not yet developed for urban purposes but which constituted necessary land connections between the municipality and areas developed for urban purposes or between two or more areas developed for urban purposes, and for purposes of this subsection, "necessary land connection" meant an area that did not exceed 25 percent of the total area to be annexed. Carolina Power & Light Co. v. City of Asheville, 161 N.C. App. 1, 587 S.E.2d 490, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1995 (2003).

Judicial Review. — Annexation ordinance could be challenged in a trial court on the basis that the provisions of G.S. 160A-48 had not been met, under G.S. 160A-50(f)(3), and judicial review of an annexation ordinance was limited to determining whether the annexation proceedings substantially complied with the requirements of the applicable annexation statute. Carolina Power & Light Co. v. City of Asheville, 161 N.C. App. 1, 587 S.E.2d 490, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1995 (2003).

Petitioners challenging a city's annexation ordinances failed to show the city misclassified the lots to be annexed or that the county tax maps it relied on were inaccurate. As petitioners offered no reliable evidence that the city's methodology was inaccurate and not calculated to provide reasonably accurate results, as required by G.S. 106A-54, the ordinances were properly deemed valid. Brown v. City of Winston-Salem, 176 N.C. App. 497, 626 S.E.2d 747, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 531 (2006).

§ 160A-49. Procedure for annexation.

(a) Notice of Intent. — Any municipal governing board desiring to annex territory under the provisions of this Part shall first pass a resolution stating the intent of the municipality to consider annexation. Such resolution shall describe the boundaries of the area under consideration, fix a date for a public informational meeting, and fix a date for a public hearing on the question of annexation. The date for the public informational meeting shall be not less than 45 days and not more than 55 days following passage of the resolution. The date for the public hearing to be not less than 60 days and not more than 90 days following passage of the resolution.

(b) Notice of Public Hearing. — The notice of public hearing shall:

- (1) Fix the date, hour and place of the public informational meeting and the date, hour, and place of the public hearing.
- (2) Describe clearly the boundaries of the area under consideration, and include a legible map of the area.
- (3) State that the report required in G.S. 160A-47 will be available at the office of the municipal clerk at least 30 days prior to the date of the public informational meeting.
- (4) Include a notice of a property owner's rights to request water and sewer service in accordance with G.S. 160A-47.
- (5) Include an explanation of a property owner's rights pursuant to subsections (f1) and (f2) of this section.

Such notice shall be given by publication once a week for at least two successive weeks prior to the date of the informational meeting in a newspaper having general circulation in the municipality and, in addition thereto, if the area to be annexed lies in a county containing less than fifty percent (50%) of the land area of the municipality, in a newspaper having general circulation in the area of proposed annexation. The period from the date of the first publication to the date of the last publication, both dates inclusive, shall be not less than eight days including Sundays, and the date of the last publication shall be not more than seven days preceding the date of public informational meeting. If there be no such newspaper, the municipality shall post the notice in at least five public places within the municipality and at least five public places in the area to be annexed for 30 days prior to the date of public informational meeting. In addition, notice shall be mailed at least four weeks prior to date of the informational meeting by first class mail, postage prepaid to the owners as shown by the tax records of the county of all freehold interests in real property located within the area to be annexed. The person or persons mailing such notices shall certify to the governing board that fact, and such certificate shall become a part of the record of the annexation proceeding and shall be deemed conclusive in the absence of fraud. If the notice is returned to the city by the postal service by the tenth day before the informational meeting, a copy of the notice shall be sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, at least seven days before the informational meeting. Failure to comply with the mailing requirements of this subsection shall not invalidate the annexation unless it is shown that the requirements were not substantially complied with. If the governing board by resolution finds that the tax records are not adequate to identify the owners of some or all of the parcels of real property within the area it may in lieu of the mail procedure as to those parcels where the owners could not be so identified, post the notice at least 30 days prior to the date of public informational meeting on all buildings on such parcels, and in at least five other places within the area to be annexed. In any case where notices are placed on property, the person placing the notices shall certify that fact to the governing board.

(c) Action Prior to Informational Meeting. — At least 30 days before the date of the public informational meeting, the governing board shall approve the report provided for in G.S. 160A-47, and shall make it available to the public at the office of the municipal clerk. In addition, the municipality may prepare a summary of the full report for public distribution. In addition, the city shall post in the office of the city clerk, at least 30 days before the public informational meeting, a legible map of the area to be annexed and a list of persons holding freehold interests in property in the area to be annexed that it has identified.

(d) Public Hearing. — At the public hearing a representative of the municipality shall first make an explanation of the report required in G.S. 160A-47. Following such explanation, all persons resident or owning property in the territory described in the notice of public hearing, and all residents of the municipality, shall be given an opportunity to be heard.

(e) Passage of the Annexation Ordinance. — The municipal governing board shall take into consideration facts presented at the public hearing and shall have authority to amend the report required by G.S. 160A-47 to make changes in the plans for serving the area proposed to be annexed so long as such changes meet the requirements of G.S. 160A-47, provided that if the annexation report is amended to show additional subsections of G.S. 160A-48(c) or (d) under which the annexation qualifies that were not listed in the original report, the city must hold an additional public hearing on the annexation not less than 30 nor more than 90 days after the date the report is amended, and notice of such new hearing shall be given at the first public hearing. At any regular or special meeting held no sooner than the tenth day following the public hearing and not later than 90 days following such public hearing, the governing board shall have authority to adopt an ordinance extending the corporate limits of the municipality to include all, or such part, of the area described in the notice of public hearing which meets the requirements of G.S. 160A-48 and which the governing board has concluded should be annexed. The ordinance shall:

- (1) Contain specific findings showing that the area to be annexed meets the requirements of G.S. 160A-48. The external boundaries of the area to be annexed shall be described by metes and bounds. In showing the application of G.S. 160A-48(c) and (d) to the area, the governing board may refer to boundaries set forth on a map of the area and incorporate same by reference as a part of the ordinance.
- (2) A statement of the intent of the municipality to provide services to the area being annexed as set forth in the report required by G.S. 160A-47.
- (3) A specific finding that on the effective date of annexation the municipality will have funds appropriated in sufficient amount to finance construction of any major trunk water mains and sewer outfalls and such water and sewer lines as required in G.S. 160A-47(3)b found necessary in the report required by G.S. 160A-47 to extend the basic water and/or sewer system of the municipality into the area to be annexed, or that on the effective date of annexation the municipality will have authority to issue bonds in an amount sufficient to finance such construction. If authority to issue such bonds must be secured from the electorate of the municipality prior to the effective date of annexation, then the effective date of annexation shall be no earlier than the day following the statement of the successful result of the bond election.

- (4) Fix the effective date for annexation. The effective date of annexation may be fixed for any date not less than 70 days nor more than 400 days from the date of passage of the ordinance.

(f) Effect of Annexation Ordinance. — Except as provided in subsection (f1) of this section, from and after the effective date of the annexation ordinance, the territory and its citizens and property shall be subject to all debts, laws, ordinances and regulations in force in such municipality and shall be entitled to the same privileges and benefits as other parts of such municipality. Real and personal property in the newly annexed territory on the January 1 immediately preceding the beginning of the fiscal year in which the annexation becomes effective is subject to municipal taxes as provided in G.S. 160A-58.10. Provided that annexed property which is a part of a sanitary district, which has installed water and sewer lines, paid for by the residents of said district, shall not be subject to that part of the municipal taxes levied for debt service for the first five years after the effective date of annexation. If this proviso should be declared by a court of competent jurisdiction to be in violation of any provision of the federal or State Constitution, the same shall not affect the remaining provisions of this Part. If the effective date of annexation falls between June 1 and June 30, and the effective date of the privilege license tax ordinance of the annexing municipality is June 1, then businesses in the area to be annexed shall be liable for taxes imposed in such ordinances from and after the effective date of annexation.

(f1) Property Subject to Present-Use Value Appraisal. — If an area described in an annexation ordinance includes agricultural land, horticultural land, or forestland that on the effective date of annexation is:

- (1) Land that is being taxed at present-use value pursuant to G.S. 105-277.4; or
- (2) Land that:
 - a. Was on the date of the resolution of intent for annexation being used for actual production and is eligible for present-use value taxation under G.S. 105-277.4, but the land has not been in use for actual production for the required time under G.S. 105-277.3; and the annexation becomes effective as to that property pursuant to subsection (f2) of this section.
 - b. The assessor for the county where the land subject to annexation is located has certified to the city that the land meets the requirements of this subdivision

(f2) Effective Date of Annexation for Certain Property. — Annexation of property subject to annexation under subsection (f1) of this section shall become effective:

- (1) Upon the effective date of the annexation ordinance, the property is considered part of the city only (i) for the purpose of establishing city boundaries for additional annexations pursuant to this Article and (ii) for the exercise of city authority pursuant to Article 19 of this Chapter.
- (2) For all other purposes, the annexation becomes effective as to each tract of such property or part thereof on the last day of the month in which that tract or part thereof becomes ineligible for classification pursuant to G.S. 105-277.4 or no longer meets the requirements of subdivision (f1)(2) of this section. Until annexation of a tract or a part of a tract becomes effective pursuant to this subdivision, the tract or part of a tract is not subject to taxation by the city under Article 12 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes nor is the tract or part of a tract entitled to services provided by the city.

(g) Simultaneous Annexation Proceedings. — If a municipality is considering the annexation of two or more areas which are all adjacent to the municipal boundary but are not adjacent to one another, it may undertake simultaneous proceedings under authority of this Part for the annexation of such areas.

(h) Remedies for Failure to Provide Services. — If, not earlier than one year from the effective date of annexation, and not later than 15 months from the effective date of annexation, any person owning property in the annexed territory shall believe that the municipality has not followed through on its service plans adopted under the provisions of G.S. 160A-47(3) and 160A-49(e), for any required service other than water and sewer services such person may apply for a writ of mandamus under the provisions of Article 40, Chapter 1 of the General Statutes. Relief may be granted by the judge of superior court

- (1) If the municipality has not provided the services set forth in its plan submitted under the provisions of G.S. 160A-47(3)a on substantially the same basis and in the same manner as such services were provided within the rest of the municipality prior to the effective date of annexation, and
- (2) If at the time the writ is sought such services set forth in the plan submitted under the provisions of G.S. 160A-47(3)a are still being provided on substantially the same basis and in the same manner as on the date of annexation of the municipality.

If, not earlier than 24 months from the effective date of the annexation, and not later than 27 months from the effective date of the annexation, any person owning property in the annexed area can show that the plans submitted under the provisions of G.S. 160A-47(3)c require the construction of major trunk water mains and sewer outfall lines and if construction has not been completed within two years of the effective date of the annexation, relief may also be granted by the superior court by an order to the municipality to complete such lines and outfalls within a certain time. Similar relief may be granted by the superior court to any owner of property who made a timely request for a water or sewer line, or both, pursuant to G.S. 160A-47(3)b and such lines have not been completed within two years from the effective date of annexation in accordance with applicable city policies and through no fault of the owner, if such owner petitions for such relief not earlier than 24 months following the effective date of annexation and not later than 27 months following the effective date of annexation.

If a writ is issued, costs in the action, including a reasonable attorney's fee for such aggrieved person, shall be charged to the municipality.

(i) No resolution of intent may be adopted under subsection (a) of this section unless the city council (or planning agency created or designated under either G.S. 160A-361 or the charter) has, by resolution adopted at least one year prior to adoption of the resolution of intent, identified the area as being under consideration for annexation and included a statement in the resolution notifying persons subject to the annexation of their rights under subsections (f1) and (f2) of this section; provided, adoption of such resolution of consideration shall not confer prior jurisdiction over the area as to any other city. The area described under the resolution of intent may comprise a smaller area than that identified by the resolution of consideration. The resolution of consideration may have a metes and bounds description or a map and shall remain effective for two years after adoption, and shall be filed with the city clerk. A new resolution of consideration adopted before expiration of the two-year period for a previously adopted resolution covering the same area shall relate back to the date of the previous resolution.

(j) Subsection (i) of this section shall not apply to the annexation of any area if the resolution of intent describing the area and the ordinance annexing the area both provide that the effective date of the annexation shall be at least one year from the date of passage of the annexation ordinance.

(k) If a valid request for extension of a water or sewer line has been made under G.S. 160A-47(3)b, and the extension is not complete at the end of two years after the effective date of the annexation ordinance, the owner of the property may petition the Local Government Commission for abatement of taxes to be paid to the city which have not been levied as of the expiration date of the two-year period, if such petition is filed not more than 60 days after the expiration of the two-year period. If the Local Government Commission finds that the extension to the property was not complete by the end of the two-year period, it shall enter an order directing the city not to levy any further ad valorem taxes on the property until the fiscal year commencing after completion of the extension. In addition, if the Local Government Commission found that the extension to the property was not completed by the end of the two-year period, and if it finds that for any fiscal year during the period beginning with the first day of the fiscal year in which the annexation ordinance became effective and ending the last day of the fiscal year in which the two-year period expired, the city made an appropriation for construction, operation or maintenance of a water or sewer system (other than payments the city made as a customer of the system) from the fund or funds for which ad valorem taxes are levied, then the Local Government Commission shall order the city to release or refund an amount of the petitioner's property taxes for that year in question in proportion to the percentage of appropriations in the fund made for water and sewer services. By way of illustration, if a net amount of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) was appropriated for water or sewer construction, operation or maintenance from a fund which had total expenditures of ten million dollars ($10,000,000) and the petitioner's tax levy was one thousand dollars ($1,000), the amount of release or refund shall be ten dollars ($10.00).

(l) If a city fails to deliver police protection, fire protection, solid waste or street maintenance services as provided for in G.S. 160A-47(3)a. within 60 days after the effective date of the annexation, the owner of the property may petition the Local Government Commission for abatement of taxes to be paid to the city for taxes that have been levied as of the end of the 60-day period, if the petition is filed not more than 90 days after the expiration of the 60-day period. If the Local Government Commission finds that services were not extended by the end of the 60-day period, it shall enter an order directing the city not to levy any further ad valorem taxes on the property until the fiscal year commencing after extension of the municipal services. Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which amended this section, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

Article 40, Chapter 1, referred to in the first sentence of subsection (h), was repealed by Session Laws 1967, c. 954, s. 4.

Session Laws 2006-264, s. 18(a), which made identical changes as those in Session Laws 2006-162, s. 21, was repealed upon the passage of Session Laws 2006-162, pursuant to the terms of Session Laws 2006-264, s. 18(b).

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-162, s. 21, effective July 24, 2006, substituted "G.S. 105-277.4" for "G.S. 105-227.4" in the first sentence in subdivision (f2)(2).

CASE NOTES

The annexation statutes are not taxation statutes, nor are they retrospective taxation statutes. Little Red School House, Ltd. v. City of Greensboro, 71 N.C. App. 332, 322 S.E.2d 195 (1984), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 313 N.C. 514, 329 S.E.2d 392 (1985).

Challenges to annexations generally are not actionable under U.S. Const., Amend. XIV. Raintree Homeowners Ass'n v. City of Charlotte, 543 F. Supp. 625 (W.D.N.C. 1982), aff'd sub nom. Baldwin v. City of Winston-Salem, 710 F.2d 132 (4th Cir. 1983).

Absolute and literal compliance with this section is unnecessary; only substantial compliance is required. McKenzie v. City of High Point, 61 N.C. App. 393, 301 S.E.2d 129, cert. denied, 308 N.C. 544, 302 S.E.2d 885 (1983).

The respondent city was not required to file a new services plan under this section although the annexation area changed during subsequent revisions to the annexation ordinance, where the only significant change to the services plan was the scope of its coverage—the services for petitioners remained the same—and where the city was bound by the terms of the services plan as amended under principles of equitable estoppel. Bowers v. City of Thomasville, 143 N.C. App. 291, 547 S.E.2d 68, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 277 (2001), cert. denied, 353 N.C. 723, 550 S.E.2d 769 (2001).

Metes and Bounds Description. — Property descriptions in annexation ordinances were not metes and bounds descriptions, where the property descriptions did not include courses and distances but made reference to "lots" that were not identified in the property descriptions. Blackwell v. City of Reidsville, 129 N.C. App. 759, 502 S.E.2d 371 (1998), cert. denied, 349 N.C. 352, 517 S.E.2d 886 (1998).

Identification. — Annexation resolution which identified the area under consideration for annexation as a certain township by the official mapping of the county fulfilled the requirement of G.S. 160A-49(i) to identify the area under consideration for annexation. Anthony v. City of Shelby, 152 N.C. App. 144, 567 S.E.2d 222, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 904 (2002).

Minimum requirements of the annexation statute are that the city provide information which is necessary to allow the public and the courts to determine whether the municipality has committed itself to provide a nondiscriminatory level of service and to allow a reviewing court to determine after the fact whether the municipality has timely provided such services. If such services are not provided, the residents of the annexed area would be entitled to a writ of mandamus requiring the municipality to live up to its commitments. Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Purpose of subsection (a), requiring resolution stating intent to consider annexation, is to record the town board's decision and to mark the formal beginning of the municipality's actions. This resolution expresses the intent of the governing board and it has little significance to the public. Kritzer v. Town of Southern Pines, 33 N.C. App. 152, 234 S.E.2d 648 (1977).

Subsection (a) does not specifically require a written resolution, nor is such requirement implicit in the fact that the resolution must describe the land under consideration. Kritzer v. Town of Southern Pines, 33 N.C. App. 152, 234 S.E.2d 648 (1977).

Form for Extension. — This section, which specifically describes the procedure of annexation and the information that is required to be provided to residents of an area to be annexed, does not require that the city furnish the form described in G.S. 160A-47 without a request. Barnhardt v. City of Kannapolis, 116 N.C. App. 215, 447 S.E.2d 471, cert. denied, 338 N.C. 514, 452 S.E.2d 807 (1994).

Reading Report at Public Hearing in Compliance with Subsection (d). — Reading report of proposed annexation in its entirety at a public hearing is a more detailed explanation of the report than a shorter summary explanation prepared by a representative of the municipality would have been. In this manner, those who attend the meeting are made aware of each and every provision and statement in the report and are then given an opportunity to be heard. This is sufficient compliance with the requirements of subsection (d) of this section. In re Annexation Ordinance, 300 N.C. 337, 266 S.E.2d 661 (1980).

The proper forum for attacking the accuracy of projected costs and other items in the report not required by statute is the hearing before the city council provided under this section. Parkwood Ass'n v. City of Durham, 124 N.C. App. 603, 478 S.E.2d 204 (1996).

Right of the general public to sufficient notice of proposed annexation is protected by subsections (b) and (e). Kritzer v. Town of Southern Pines, 33 N.C. App. 152, 234 S.E.2d 648 (1977).

The notice of the public hearing must be published in a newspaper, or by other means, and must contain a clear description of the land under consideration. Kritzer v. Town of Southern Pines, 33 N.C. App. 152, 234 S.E.2d 648 (1977).

Where materials delivered to the court did not include a certificate that notice of the public hearing was mailed to all the property owners in the affected area as required by subsection (b), but there was ample evidence that the notices were actually mailed and no contention that the property owners did not receive the mailed notices, this irregularity was so slight that it could not have prejudiced petitioner, and it did not require remand of the ordinance. Thrash v. City of Asheville, 115 N.C. App. 310, 444 S.E.2d 482 (1994).

Public Informational Meeting. — City substantially complied with the requirement of G.S. 160A-49(c1) that property owners be given the opportunity to ask questions and receive answers regarding a proposed annexation, when the trial court found all persons attending a public informational meeting were given the opportunity to ask one or more questions to which city representatives responded. Anthony v. City of Shelby, 152 N.C. App. 144, 567 S.E.2d 222, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 904 (2002).

Extension of Fire and Police Service. — Although city did not need to provide the details of how it intended to extend fire and police service to the annexed area, the city did provide this information to petitioners at the hearing; further, if the city failed to provide the services as promised within the statutory time limits, petitioners could apply for a writ of mandamus. Parkwood Ass'n v. City of Durham, 124 N.C. App. 603, 478 S.E.2d 204 (1996).

By virtue of subsection (e), the governing board is prohibited from annexing any land except that described in the notice of the public hearing. Kritzer v. Town of Southern Pines, 33 N.C. App. 152, 234 S.E.2d 648 (1977).

Sections 160A-37(e), 160A-31(d) and subsection (e) of this section are in pari materia. Conover v. Newton, 297 N.C. 506, 256 S.E.2d 216 (1979).

Remand Was Appropriate Remedy for Alleged Notice Irregularity. — Trial court did not err in refusing to declare an involuntary annexation ordinance null and void where, assuming arguendo that any alleged procedural irregularities pursuant to G.S. 160A-49(b)(3) had prejudiced a landowner, the remedy under G.S. 160A-50(g)(1) was a remand to the municipal governing board for further proceedings. United States Cold Storage v. City of Lumberton, 156 N.C. App. 327, 576 S.E.2d 415, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 124 (2003).

Extension of sewer lines and other services into the annexed area, pursuant to the plan of annexation, is not a condition precedent to annexation, the statutory remedy for failure to extend such services being an application, by a person owning property in the annexed territory, for a writ of mandamus to compel such performance of the plan. Dale v. City of Morganton, 270 N.C. 567, 155 S.E.2d 136 (1967).

In reviewing the procedure followed by a municipal governing board in an annexation proceeding, the question whether the municipality is then providing services pursuant to the plan of annexation is not before the court, and the extension of services into an annexed area in accordance with the promulgated plan is not a condition precedent to annexation. In re City of New Bern, 278 N.C. 641, 180 S.E.2d 851 (1971).

Time for Implementing Extension of Services. — It would appear from a reading of subsection (h) of this section that a city annexing territory has one year, and possibly 15 months, to implement its plan for extending services to an annexed area. In re Ordinance of Annexation No. 1977-4, 296 N.C. 1, 249 S.E.2d 698 (1978).

Increase in Voters Through Annexation Requires Preclearance Under 42 U.S.C. § 1973c. — The increase in the number of voters in the municipality resulting from annexation is a charge of a voting qualification, prerequisite, standard, practice, or procedure requiring preclearance as contemplated by 42 U.S.C. § 1973c. Moore v. Swinson, 58 N.C. App. 714, 294 S.E.2d 381 (1982).

Elections Held Before Preclearance Under 42 U.S.C. § 1973c. — Until the city obtains clearance of its annexations in accordance with 42 U.S.C. § 1973c, all future elections must be conducted on the basis of the city boundaries as they existed before the unprecleared annexations were made, and citizens residing in such annexed areas may not participate in future municipal elections, either as electors or as candidates. This relief applies only to the right to vote and be a candidate. It does not, of course, constitute de-annexation, and it does not affect the rights of citizens residing in the annexed areas in any other way. Moore v. Swinson, 58 N.C. App. 714, 294 S.E.2d 381 (1982).

Persons in Annexed Areas May Be Denied Vote During 60-Day Approval Period. — Although those in annexed areas become citizens of the annexing jurisdiction upon annexation, under 42 U.S.C. § 1973c, it is proper to deny such persons the right to vote on a bond referendum held within 60 days of the annexation since that section gives the United States Attorney General 60 days within which to approve an annexation expanding the number of voters. 42 U.S.C. § 1973c was designed, in part, to enforce U.S. Const., Amend. XV, and it preempts all other provisions regarding the right to vote in such referenda. Moore v. Swinson, 58 N.C. App. 714, 294 S.E.2d 381 (1982).

Failure of Resolution of Intent to State Effective Date. — City's failure to state effective date of annexation in its resolution of intent was not an omission of an essential requirement of the statute but was only a "slight irregularity," which would not invalidate annexation proceedings if there has been substantial compliance with all essential elements of the law. City of Kannapolis v. City of Concord, 326 N.C. 512, 391 S.E.2d 493 (1990).

Subsection (g) — "Simultaneous Annexation Proceedings." — North Carolina annexation statutes do not permit municipality to annex by voluntary means tract of land that is contiguous with its municipal boundaries only by virtue of second tract of land being annexed simultaneously. City of Kannapolis v. City of Concord, 326 N.C. 512, 391 S.E.2d 493 (1990).

City Charter Superseded by State Statute. — Summary judgment was properly awarded to a city and its officials in an action by property owners challenging an annexation because, pursuant to G.S. 160A-3(c), the statutory provision establishing involuntary annexations, G.S. 160A-49, superseded a city charter provision permitting only voluntary annexations. Brown v. City of Winston-Salem, 171 N.C. App. 266, 614 S.E.2d 599, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1266 (2005).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

As to the application of municipal privilege license taxes to newly annexed territory, see opinion of the Attorney General to Mr.

Edwin C. Ipock, Goldsboro City Attorney, 40 N.C.A.G. 863 (1970).

§ 160A-49.1. Contract with rural fire department.

(a) If the area to be annexed described in a resolution of intent passed under G.S. 160A-49(a) includes an area in an insurance district defined under G.S. 153A-233, a rural fire protection district under Article 3A of Chapter 69 of the General Statutes, or a fire service district under Article 16 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes, and a rural fire department was on the date of adoption of the resolution of intent providing fire protection in the area to be annexed, then the city (if the rural fire department makes a written request for a good faith offer, and the request is signed by the chief officer of the fire department and delivered to the city clerk no later than 15 days before the public hearing) is required to make a good faith effort to negotiate a five-year contract with the rural fire department to provide fire protection in the area to be annexed.

(b) If the area is a rural fire protection district or a fire service district, then an offer to pay annually for the term of the contract the amount of money that the tax rate in the district in effect on the date of adoption of the resolution of intent would generate based on property values on January 1 of each year in the area to be annexed which is in such a district is deemed to be a good faith offer of consideration for the contract.

(c) If the area is an insurance district but not a rural fire protection district or fire service district, then an offer to pay annually over the term of the contract the amount of money which is determined to be the equivalent of the amount which would be generated by multiplying the fraction of the city's general fund budget in that current fiscal year which is proposed to be expended for fire protection times the tax rate for the city in the current year, and multiplying that result by the property valuation in the area to be annexed which is served by the rural fire department is deemed to be a good faith offer of consideration for the contract; Provided that the payment shall not exceed the equivalent of fifteen cents (15¢) on one hundred dollars ($100.00) valuation of annexed property in the district according to county valuations for the current fiscal year.

(d) Any offer by a city to a rural fire department which would compensate the rural fire department for revenue loss directly attributable to the annexation by paying such amount annually for five years, is deemed to be a good faith offer of consideration for the contract.

(e) Under subsections (b), (c), or (d) of this section, if the good faith offer is for first responder service, an offer of one-half the calculated amount under those subsections is deemed to be a good faith offer.

(f) This section does not obligate the city or rural fire department to enter into any contract.

(g) The rural fire department may, if it feels that no good faith offer has been made, appeal to the Local Government Commission within 30 days following the passage of an annexation ordinance. The rural fire department may apply to the Local Government Commission for an order staying the operation of the annexation ordinance pending the outcome of the review. The Commission may grant or deny the stay in its discretion upon such terms as it deems proper, and it may permit annexation of any part of the area described in the ordinance concerning which no question for review has been raised, provided that no other appeal under G.S. 160A-50 is pending.

(h) The Local Government Commission may affirm the ordinance, or if the Local Government Commission finds that no good faith offer has been made, it shall remand the ordinance to the municipal governing board for further proceedings, and the ordinance shall then not become effective unless the Local Government Commission finds that a good faith offer has been made.

(i) Any party to the review under subsection (h) may obtain judicial review in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes. (1983, c. 636, s. 21; 1987, c. 827, s. 1.)

Cross References. — As to effective date of annexation ordinances adopted under Article 4A of Chapter 160A, see G.S. 160A-58.9A.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which amended this section, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

CASE NOTES

Section Required to Be Followed Only Where Annexation Achieved Under Chapter 160A, Art. 4A, Part 3.

Section 160A-47, dealing with the submission of plans by the municipality for the extension of municipal services (including police and fire protection, solid waste collection, and street maintenance), this section and G.S. 160A-49.3, dealing with contracting for fire protection and sewage services, are required to be followed by a municipality only where the annexation is to be achieved under Chapter 160A, Art. 4A, Part 3. Piedmont Ford Truck Sales, Inc. v. City of Greensboro, 90 N.C. App. 692, 370 S.E.2d 262 (1988), rev'd on other grounds, 324 N.C. 499, 380 S.E.2d 107 (1989).

Local act requiring city to extend municipal services, including services relating to health and sanitation, in a manner not authorized except when annexation is accomplished under general law was in contravention of N.C. Const., Art. II, § 24(a), and therefore void. Piedmont Ford Truck Sales, Inc. v. City of Greensboro, 90 N.C. App. 692, 370 S.E.2d 262 (1988), rev'd on other grounds, 324 N.C. 499, 380 S.E.2d 107 (1989).

§ 160A-49.2. Assumption of debt.

(a) If the city has annexed any area which is served by a rural fire department and which is in an insurance district defined under G.S. 153A-233, a rural fire protection district under Article 3A of Chapter 69 of the General Statutes or a fire service district under Article 16 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes, then upon the effective date of annexation if the city has not contracted with the rural fire department for fire protection, or when the rural fire department ceases to provide fire protection under contract, then the city shall pay annually a proportionate share of any payments due on any debt (including principal and interest) relating to facilities or equipment of the rural fire department, if the debt was existing at the time of adoption of the resolution of intent, with the payments in the same proportion that the assessed valuation of the area of the district annexed bears to the assessed valuation of the entire district on the date the annexation ordinance becomes effective or another date for valuation mutually agreed upon by the city and the fire department.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which amended this section, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

§ 160A-49.3. Contract with private solid waste collection firms.

(a) If the area to be annexed described in a resolution of intent passed under G.S. 160A-49(a) includes an area where a firm (i) meets the requirements of subsection (a1) of this section, (ii) on the ninetieth day preceding the date of adoption of the resolution of intent or resolution of consideration was providing solid waste collection services in the area to be annexed, (iii) on the date of adoption of the resolution of intent is still providing such services, and (iv) by reason of the annexation the firm's franchise with a county or arrangements with third parties for solid waste collection will be terminated, the city shall do one of the following:

- (1) Contract with the firm for a period of two years after the effective date of the annexation ordinance to allow the firm to provide collection services to the city in the area to be annexed for sums determined under subsection (d) of this section.
 - (2) Pay the firm for the firm's economic loss, with one-third of the economic loss to be paid within 30 days of the termination and the balance paid in 12 equal monthly installments during the next succeeding 12 months. Any remaining economic loss payment is forfeited if the firm terminates service to customers in the annexation area prior to the effective date of the annexation.
 - (3) Make other arrangements satisfactory to the parties.
- (a1) To qualify for the options set forth in subsection (a) of this section, a firm must have done one of the following:
- (1) Subsequent to receiving notice of the annexation in accordance with subsection (b) of this section, filed with the city clerk at least 10 days prior to the public hearing a written request to contract with the city to provide solid waste collection services containing a certification, signed by an officer or owner of the firm, that the firm serves at least 50 customers within the county at that time.

- (2) Contacted the city clerk pursuant to public notice published by the city, pursuant to G.S. 160A-49(b), at least 10 days before the hearing and provided to the city clerk a written request to contract with the city to provide solid waste collection services. The request must contain a certification signed by an officer or owner of the firm that the firm serves at least 50 customers within the county at that time.

(a2) Firms shall file notice of provision of solid waste collection service with the city clerk of all cities located in the firm's collection area or within five miles thereof.

(b) At least four weeks prior to the date of the informational meeting, the city shall provide written notice of the resolution of intent to all firms serving the area to be annexed. The notice shall be sent to all firms that filed notice in accordance with subsection (a2) of this section by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the address provided by the firm under subsection (a2) of this section.

(c) The city may require that the contract contain:

- (1) A requirement that the firm post a performance bond and maintain public liability insurance coverage;
- (2) A requirement that the firm agree to service customers in the annexed area that were not served by that firm on the effective date of annexation;
- (3) A provision that divides the annexed area into service areas if there were more than one firm being contracted within the area, such that the entire area is served by the firms, or by the city as to customers not served by the firms;
- (4) A provision that the city may serve customers not served by the firm on the effective date of annexation;
- (5) A provision that the contract can be cancelled in writing, delivered by certified mail to the firm in question with 30 days to cure substantial violations of the contract, but no contract may be cancelled on these grounds unless the Local Government Commission finds that substantial violations have occurred, except that the city may suspend the contract for up to 30 days if it finds substantial violation of health laws;
- (6) Performance standards, not exceeding city standards existing at the time of notice published pursuant to G.S. 160A-49(b) with provision that the contract may be cancelled for substantial violations of those standards, but no contract may be cancelled on those grounds unless the Local Government Commission finds that substantial violations have occurred;
- (7) A provision for monetary damages if there are violations of the contract or of performance standards.

(d) If the services to be provided to the city by reason of the annexation are substantially the same as rendered under the franchise with the county or arrangements with the parties, the amount paid by the city shall be at least ninety percent (90%) of the amount paid or required under the existing franchise or arrangements. If such services are required to be adjusted to conform to city standards or as a result of changes in the number of customers and as a result there are changes in disposal costs (including mileage and landfill charges), requirements for storage capacity (dumpsters and/or residential carts), and/or frequency of collection, the amount paid by the city for the service shall be increased or decreased to reflect the value of such adjusted services as if computed under the existing franchise or arrangements. In the event agreement cannot be reached between the city and the firm under this subsection, the matters shall be determined by the Local Government Commission.

(g) The firm may, if it contends that no contract has been offered, appeal to the Local Government Commission within 30 days following passage of an annexation ordinance. The firm may appeal to the Local Government Commission for an order staying the operation of the annexation ordinance pending the outcome of the review. The Commission may grant or deny the stay upon such terms as it deems proper. If the Local Government Commission finds that the city has not made an offer which complies with this section, it shall remand the ordinance to the municipal governing board for further proceedings, and the ordinance shall not become effective until the Local Government Commission finds that such an offer has been made. Either the firm or the city may obtain judicial review in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes.

(h) A firm which has given notice under subsection (a) of this section that it desires to contract, and any firm that the city believes is eligible to give such notice, shall make available to the city not later than 30 days following a written request of the city, sent by certified mail return receipt requested, all information in its possession or control, including but not limited to operational, financial and budgetary information, necessary for the city to determine if the firm qualifies for the benefits of this section and to determine the nature and scope of the potential contract and/or economic loss. The firm forfeits its rights under this section if it fails to make a good faith response within 30 days following receipt of the written request for information from the city, provided that the city's written request so states by specific reference to this section.

(i) As used in this section, the following terms mean:

- (1) Economic loss. — A sum equal to 15 times the average gross monthly revenue for the three months prior to the passage of the resolution of intent or resolution of consideration, as applicable under subsection (a) of this section, collected or due the firm for residential, commercial, and industrial collection service in the area annexed or to be annexed; provided that revenues shall be included in calculations under this subdivision only if policies of the city will provide solid waste collection to those customers such that arrangements between the firm and the customers will be terminated.
- (2) Firm. — A private solid waste collection firm. (1985, c. 610, s. 4; 1987, c. 827, s. 1; 1989, c. 598, s. 9; 1998-150, s. 17; 2006-193, s. 2; 2006-259, s. 53.)

Cross References. — As to effective date of annexation ordinances adopted under Article 4A of Chapter 160A, see G.S. 160A-58.9A.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-193, s. 2, applicable to annexations for which a resolution of intent is adopted on or after January 1, 2007, rewrote subsections (a) and (b); added subsections (a1), (a2) and (i); deleted "private" preceding "firm" and "firms" throughout subsections (c), (d) and (g); substituted "in writing, delivered by certified mail to the firm in question with 30 days to cure" for "for" in subdivision (c)(5); inserted "existing at the time of notice published pursuant to G.S. 160A-49(b)" in subdivision (c)(6); substituted "the" for "such" near the end of subsection (d); deleted subsections (e) and (f); and substituted "30 days" for "10 business days" twice in subsection (h).

Session Laws 2006-259, s. 53, effective August 23, 2006, substituted "file" for "fill" near the beginning of subsection (a2).

CASE NOTES

Section Required to Be Followed Only Where Annexation Achieved Under Chapter 160A, Art. 4A, Part 3. — Section 160A-47, dealing with the submission of plans by the municipality for the extension of municipal services (including police and fire protection, solid waste collection, and street maintenance), and G.S. 160A-49.1 and this section, dealing with contracting for fire protection and sewage services, are required to be followed by a municipality only where the annexation is to be achieved under Chapter 160A, Art. 4A, Part 3. Piedmont Ford Truck Sales, Inc. v. City of Greensboro, 90 N.C. App. 692, 370 S.E.2d 262 (1988), rev'd on other grounds, 324 N.C. 499, 380 S.E.2d 107 (1989).

Local act requiring city to extend municipal services, including services relating to health and sanitation, in a manner not authorized except when annexation is accomplished under general law was in contravention of N.C. Const., Art. II, § 24(a), and therefore void. Piedmont Ford Truck Sales, Inc. v. City of Greensboro, 90 N.C. App. 692, 370 S.E.2d 262 (1988), rev'd on other grounds, 324 N.C. 499, 380 S.E.2d 107 (1989).

§ 160A-50. Appeal.

(a) Within 60 days following the passage of an annexation ordinance under authority of this Part, any person owning property in the annexed territory who shall believe that he will suffer material injury by reason of the failure of the municipal governing board to comply with the procedure set forth in this Part or to meet the requirements set forth in G.S. 160A-48 as they apply to his property may file a petition in the superior court of the county in which the municipality is located seeking review of the action of the governing board.

(b) Such petition shall explicitly state what exceptions are taken to the action of the governing board and what relief the petitioner seeks. Within 10 days after the petition is filed with the court, the person seeking review shall serve copies of the petition by registered mail, return receipt requested, upon the municipality.

(c) Within 15 days after receipt of the copy of the petition for review, or within such additional time as the court may allow, the municipality shall transmit to the reviewing court

- (1) A transcript of the portions of the municipal journal or minute book in which the procedure for annexation has been set forth and
- (2) A copy of the report setting forth the plans for extending services to the annexed area as required in G.S. 160A-47.

(d) If two or more petitions for review are submitted to the court, the court may consolidate all such petitions for review at a single hearing, and the municipality shall be required to submit only one set of minutes and one report as required in subsection (c).

(e) At any time before or during the review proceeding, any petitioner or petitioners may apply to the reviewing court for an order staying the operation of the annexation ordinance pending the outcome of the review. The court may grant or deny the stay in its discretion upon such terms as it deems proper, and it may permit annexation of any part of the area described in the ordinance concerning which no question for review has been raised.

(f) The court shall fix the date for review of annexation proceedings under this Part, which review date shall preferably be within 30 days following the last day for receiving petitions to the end that review shall be expeditious and without unnecessary delays. The review shall be conducted by the court without a jury. The court may hear oral arguments and receive written briefs, and may take evidence intended to show either

- (1) That the statutory procedure was not followed, or
- (2) That the provisions of G.S. 160A-47 were not met, or
- (3) That the provisions of G.S. 160A-48 have not been met.

(g) The court may affirm the action of the governing board without change, or it may

- (1) Remand the ordinance to the municipal governing board for further proceedings if procedural irregularities are found to have materially prejudiced the substantive rights of any of the petitioners.

- (2) Remand the ordinance to the municipal governing board for amendment of the boundaries to conform to the provisions of G.S. 160A-48 if it finds that the provisions of G.S. 160A-48 have not been met; provided, that the court cannot remand the ordinance to the municipal governing board with directions to add area to the municipality which was not included in the notice of public hearing and not provided for in plans for service.
- (3) Remand the report to the municipal governing board for amendment of the plans for providing services to the end that the provisions of G.S. 160A-47 are satisfied.
- (4) Declare the ordinance null and void, if the court finds that the ordinance cannot be corrected by remand as provided in subdivisions (1), (2), or (3) of this subsection.

If any municipality shall fail to take action in accordance with the court's instructions upon remand within 90 days following entry of the order embodying the court's instructions, the annexation proceeding shall be deemed null and void.

(h) Any party to the review proceedings, including the municipality, may appeal to the Court of Appeals from the final judgment of the superior court under rules of procedure applicable in other civil cases. The superior court may, with the agreement of the municipality, permit annexation to be effective with respect to any part of the area concerning which no appeal is being made and which can be incorporated into the city without regard to any part of the area concerning which an appeal is being made.

(i) If part or all of the area annexed under the terms of an annexation ordinance is the subject of an appeal to the superior court, Court of Appeals or Supreme Court on the effective date of the ordinance, then the ordinance shall be deemed amended to make the effective date with respect to such area the last day of the next full calendar month following the date of the final judgment of the superior court or appellate division, whichever is appropriate, or the date the municipal governing board completes action to make the ordinance conform to the court's instructions in the event of remand. For the purposes of this subsection, a denial of a petition for rehearing or for discretionary review shall be treated as a final judgement.

(j) If a petition for review is filed under subsection (a) of this section or an appeal is filed under G.S. 160A-49.1(g) or G.S. 160A-49.3(g), and a stay is granted, then the time periods of two years, 24 months or 27 months provided in G.S. 160A-47(3)c, 160A-49(h), or 160A-49(j) are each extended by the lesser of the length of the stay or one year for that annexation.

(k) The provisions of subsection (i) of this section shall apply to any judicial review authorized in whole or in part by G.S. 160A-49.1(i) or G.S. 160A-49.3(g).

(l) In any proceeding related to an annexation ordinance appeal under this section, a city shall not state a claim for lost property tax revenue caused by the appeal. Nothing in this Article shall be construed to mean that as a result of an appeal a municipality may assert a claim for property tax revenue lost during the pendency of the appeal.

(m) Any settlement reached by all parties in an appeal under this section may be presented to the superior court in the county in which the municipality is located. If the superior court, in its discretion, approves the settlement, it shall be binding on all parties without the need for approval by the General Assembly. (1959, c. 1009, s. 6; 1973, c. 426, s. 74; 1981, c. 682, ss. 20, 21; 1983, c. 636, s. 14.1; 1989, c. 598, s. 10; 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 746, s. 3; 1998-150, s. 18; 1999-148, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which amended this section, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

Section 38 of Session Laws 1983, c. 636 provided: "This act shall be effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after the date of ratification of this act, except that Sections 36 and 37 shall become effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after July 1, 1984, Sections 25.1 through 35.5 and Section 37.1 are effective upon ratification and Section 25 shall become effective as provided in that section. No annexation where a resolution of intent was adopted prior to the date of ratification of this act shall be affected by this act except as provided in Section 25."

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

The subsection designation (l) was assigned by the Revisor of Statutes, the subsection designation in Session Laws 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 746, s. 3, having been (m).

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- II. Review by Superior Court.
- III. Review by Court of Appeals.
- IV. Effective Date.

I. IN GENERAL.

Limited Scope of Review. — Section 160A-38(f) and subsection (f) of this section limit the court's inquiry on review of an annexation ordinance to a determination of whether applicable annexation statutes have been substantially complied with. Huyck Corp. v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff'd, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

In determining the validity of an annexation ordinance, the court's review is limited to the following inquiries: (1) Did the municipality comply with the statutory procedures? (2) If not, will the petitioner suffer material injury thereby? (3) Does the area to be annexed meet the requirements of G.S. 160A-36 or G.S. 160A-48? Huyck Corp. v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff'd, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

Supreme Court Appeals Not Included. — There is no evidence to support a conclusion that the General Assembly intended the automatic stay of an annexation ordinance to include appeals to the United States Supreme Court. Biltmore Square Assocs. v. City of Asheville, 129 N.C. App. 101, 497 S.E.2d 121 (1998).

If a party desires to stay the effective date of an annexation while a petition for certiorari is pending before the United States Supreme Court, a stay can be requested from the Court pursuant to a motion under Rule 23 of the Rules of the Supreme Court of the United States. Biltmore Square Assocs. v. City of Asheville, 129 N.C. App. 101, 497 S.E.2d 121 (1998).

The annexation statutes are not taxation statutes, nor are they retrospective taxation statutes. Little Red School House, Ltd. v. City of Greensboro, 71 N.C. App. 332, 322 S.E.2d 195 (1984), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 313 N.C. 514, 329 S.E.2d 392 (1985).

The central purpose behind the annexation procedure is to assure that, in return for the added financial burden of municipal taxation, the residents of the annexed area receive the benefits of all the major services available to municipal residents. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

The minimum requirements of the annexation statute are that the city provide information which is necessary to allow the public and the courts to determine whether the municipality has committed itself to provide a nondiscriminatory level of service. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

Subsection (g) Time Requirement. — A city annexation ordinance was valid where the city complied with the 3-month requirement of subsection (g) although it acted more than six months after the Court of Appeals' opinion was filed; the city could act only after the case was remanded two times; first to the superior court, and then to the city council because only then did the city have the power to revise the annexation ordinance. Bowers v. City of Thomasville, 143 N.C. App. 291, 547 S.E.2d 68, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 277 (2001), cert. denied, 353 N.C. 723, 550 S.E.2d 769 (2001).

As to the different appellate forums formerly prescribed for appeals under this section and § 160A-38(h), see In re Annexation Ordinance, 300 N.C. 337, 266 S.E.2d 661 (1980), decided prior to the 1981 amendment to this section.

Who May Challenge Annexation Ordinance. — The only persons given the authority by this chapter to challenge an annexation ordinance are those who own property in the annexed area. Davis v. City of Archdale, 81 N.C. App. 505, 344 S.E.2d 369 (1986).

Where the record of the annexation proceedings showed substantial compliance with the requirements of Chapter 160A, the burden was on petitioners to prove failure to meet those requirements or an irregularity in the proceedings which materially prejudiced their substantive rights. Thrash v. City of Asheville, 115 N.C. App. 310, 444 S.E.2d 482 (1994).

Plaintiff town had no standing to challenge annexations of contiguous properties by nearby village. Town of Seven Devils v. Village of Sugar Mt., 125 N.C. App. 692, 482 S.E.2d 39 (1997), cert. denied, 346 N.C. 185, 486 S.E.2d 219 (1997).

Denial of Motion to Intervene Was Proper. — Denial of a corporation's motion to intervene in a case seeking review of an annexation ordinance was proper, since the corporation failed to comply with G.S. 160A-50 procedures by moving to intervene six months after the ordinance was adopted; intervention was also improper under G.S. 1A-1-24, due to the facts that the motion was filed after judgment approving a settlement was entered and that the proposed intervention would have prejudiced the original parties by destroying their settlement. Gates Four Homeowners Ass'n v. N.C. Municipality, 170 N.C. App. 688, 613 S.E.2d 55, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1088 (2005).

No Jurisdiction Over Plans Concerning Transportation. — Since plans and procedures concerning transportation are not required by law, a reviewing court has no jurisdiction to hear evidence on this issue. Parkwood Ass'n v. City of Durham, 124 N.C.

App. 603, 478 S.E.2d 204 (1996).

Order compelling discovery was generally not immediately appealable; while G.S. 160A-50 contemplated an expedited hearing procedure, where the challengers in an annexation case did not appear concerned with an expedited hearing, and the most significant portion of the delay in the matter was due to the challengers' refusal to answer discovery, and in getting the matter before the appellate court, the challengers failed to show that a substantial right was affected, and an order compelling discovery was not immediately appealable. Arnold v. City of Asheville, 169 N.C. App. 451, 610 S.E.2d 280, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 616 (2005).

II. REVIEW BY SUPERIOR COURT.

Annexation statutes are not unconstitutional in providing that review by the superior court is without a jury. In re Annexation Ordinance No. D-21927, 303 N.C. 220, 278 S.E.2d 224 (1981).

Provisions for Nonjury Trial in Subsection (f) Not Superseded by Rules of Civil Procedure. — The provisions of subsection (f) authorizing review of annexation proceedings by the court without a jury have not been superseded by the N.C. Rules of Civil Procedure. In re Annexation Ordinance, 284 N.C. 442, 202 S.E.2d 143 (1974).

This section specifies the inquiries to which the courts are limited. In re Annexation Ordinance, 284 N.C. 442, 202 S.E.2d 143 (1974).

Constitutional Challenges Restricted. — Attacks on state annexation procedures on either due process or equal protection grounds are specifically foreclosed. Baldwin v. City of Winston-Salem, 544 F. Supp. 123 (M.D.N.C. 1982), aff'd, 710 F.2d 132 (4th Cir. 1983).

Challenges to annexations generally are not actionable under U.S. Const., Amend. XIV. Raintree Homeowners Ass'n v. City of Charlotte, 543 F. Supp. 625 (W.D.N.C. 1982), aff'd sub nom. Baldwin v. City of Winston-Salem, 710 F.2d 132 (4th Cir.)

Limited Scope of Review. — The judicial review afforded in annexation proceedings is limited in scope and serves as a safeguard against unreasonable and arbitrary action by the annexing municipality. Moody v. Town of Carrboro, 301 N.C. 318, 271 S.E.2d 265 (1980), rehearing denied, 301 N.C. 728, 274 S.E.2d 230 (1981).

Judicial review of an annexation ordinance is limited to determination of whether the annexation proceedings substantially comply with the requirements of the applicable annexation statute. Food Town Stores, Inc. v. City of Salisbury, 300 N.C. 21, 265 S.E.2d 123 (1980).

The clear intent of the legislature under this section was to provide an expedited judicial review, limited in scope, and avoiding unnecessary procedural delays. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

Section 160A-38(f) and subsection (f) of this section limit the court's inquiry on review of an annexation ordinance to a determination of whether applicable annexation statutes have been substantially complied with. Huyck Corp. v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff'd, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

In determining the validity of an annexation ordinance, the court's review is limited to the following inquiries: (1) Did the municipality comply with the statutory procedures? (2) If not, will the petitioner suffer material injury thereby? (3) Does the area to be annexed meet the requirements of G.S. 160A-36 or G.S. 160A-48? Huyck Corp. v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff'd, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

A court's review of an annexation ordinance is limited to the following inquiries:

(1) Did the municipality comply with the statutory procedures? (2) If not, will the petitioners "suffer material injury" by reason of the municipality's failure to comply? (3) Does the character of the area specified for annexation meet the requirement of G.S. 160A-48 as applied to petitioners' property? In re Annexation Ordinance No. 1219, 62 N.C. App. 588, 303 S.E.2d 380, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 309 N.C. 820, 310 S.E.2d 351 (1983).

There is no test of "reasonableness" which must be considered upon judicial review of an annexation proceeding. In re Annexation Ordinance No. D-21927, 303 N.C. 220, 278 S.E.2d 224 (1981).

On review of an annexation, a superior court may only hear claims based upon the grounds set out in subsection (f) of this section. There is no separate test of "reasonableness" within the limited scope of judicial review permitted in annexation cases. Raintree Homeowners Ass'n v. City of Charlotte, 543 F. Supp. 625 (W.D.N.C. 1982), aff'd sub nom. Baldwin v. City of Winston-Salem, 710 F.2d 132 (4th Cir. 1983).

But Reasonableness Is Considered under Subsection (f). — A separate test of the reasonableness of an annexation is not included within the limited scope of judicial review; however, subsection (f) of this section and the provisions incorporated therein amount to a requirement that the courts determine whether an annexation is reasonable. Forsyth Citizens Opposing Annexation v. City of Winston-Salem, 67 N.C. App. 164, 312 S.E.2d 517, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 310 N.C. 743, 315 S.E.2d 701, appeal dismissed, 469 U.S. 802, 105 S. Ct. 57, 83 L. Ed. 2d 8 (1984).

Subsection (f) of this section and the provisions incorporated therein amount to a requirement that the superior court determine whether an annexation is reasonable. The language of the provisions does not speak in terms of arbitrariness, capriciousness or unreasonableness, but, the effect of the statute is to give substantial protection against arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable acts by the city. Raintree Homeowners Ass'n v. City of Charlotte, 543 F. Supp. 625 (W.D.N.C. 1982), aff'd sub nom. Baldwin v. City of Winston-Salem, 710 F.2d 132 (4th Cir.)

Statutory procedure referred to in subdivision (f)(1) is set out in § 160A-49. Raintree Homeowners Ass'n v. City of Charlotte, 543 F. Supp. 625 (W.D.N.C. 1982), aff'd sub nom. Baldwin v. City of Winston-Salem, 710 F.2d 132 (4th Cir.)

Section 160A-45 Policy Not Part of "Procedure". — The statement of state policy with regard to annexation set forth in G.S. 160A-45 is not part of the "procedure" of annexation under subsection (a) and subdivision (f)(1) of this section. In re Annexation Ordinance No. D-21927, 303 N.C. 220, 278 S.E.2d 224 (1981).

Issue on Review Is Substantial Compliance. — The basic question presented by a petition for review under this section is whether the procedure followed in adopting the ordinance was in substantial compliance with the applicable statutes. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984); Forsyth Citizens Opposing Annexation v. City of Winston-Salem, 67 N.C. App. 164, 312 S.E.2d 517, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 310 N.C. 743, 315 S.E.2d 701, appeal dismissed, 469 U.S. 802, 105 S. Ct. 57, 83 L. Ed. 2d 8 (1984).

And Record Must Show Prima Facie Compliance. — Upon review in the superior court of a municipal annexation ordinance enacted pursuant to this Article, the record of the proceedings, including the report and annexation ordinance, must show prima facie complete and substantial compliance with this Article as a condition precedent to the right of the municipality to annex the territory. In re Annexation Ordinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961).

When a power company challenged the annexation of certain of its land, pursuant to G.S. 160A-50, the city properly annexed land which was not developed for urban purposes, under G.S. 160A-48(d)(2), along with its annexation of land which was developed for urban purposes, even though the undeveloped land was not contiguous with the city's pre-annexation boundaries, because at least 60 percent of the land's external boundaries were contiguous with the developed land which was being annexed. Carolina Power & Light Co. v. City of Asheville, 161 N.C. App. 1, 587 S.E.2d 490, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1995 (2003).

Burden on Petitioners to Prove Non-compliance or Irregularity. — The burden is upon plaintiffs who appeal from annexation ordinance to show by competent evidence that city in fact failed to meet the statutory requirements or that there was irregularity in the proceedings which materially prejudiced their substantive rights. In re City of New Bern, 278 N.C. 641, 180 S.E.2d 851 (1971).

The party challenging the annexation has the burden of showing error. In re Ordinance of Annexation No. 1977-4, 296 N.C. 1, 249 S.E.2d 698 (1978).

Where appeal is taken from an annexation ordinance and a petition has been filed requesting review of the annexation proceedings, and the proceedings show prima facie that there has been substantial compliance with the requirements and provisions of this Article, the burden is upon the petitioners to show, by competent evidence, failure on the part of the municipality to comply with the statutory requirements as a matter of fact or irregularity in the proceedings which materially prejudice their substantive rights. In re Annexation Or- dinance, 255 N.C. 633, 122 S.E.2d 690 (1961); Food Town Stores, Inc. v. City of Salisbury, 300 N.C. 21, 265 S.E.2d 123 (1980).

Where the record of the annexation proceedings demonstrates prima facie substantial compliance with the applicable statutes, the burden is on the petitioner to show by competent evidence that the city has failed to meet the statutory requirements or that there was some irregularity in the proceedings that resulted in material prejudice to petitioners' rights. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984); Huyck Corp. v. Town of Wake Forest, 86 N.C. App. 13, 356 S.E.2d 599, aff'd, 321 N.C. 589, 364 S.E.2d 139 (1988).

Under subsection (f) of this section, a party challenging an annexation action of a governing body must show (1) that the statutory procedure was not followed, or (2) that the provisions of G.S. 160A-47 were not met, or (3) that the provisions of G.S. 160A-48 were not met. The party challenging the ordinance has the burden of showing error. Knight v. City of Wilmington, 73 N.C. App. 254, 326 S.E.2d 376 (1985).

Slight irregularities will not invalidate annexation proceedings if there has been substantial compliance with all essential provisions of the law. In re City of New Bern, 278 N.C. 641, 180 S.E.2d 851 (1971).

Absolute and literal compliance with a statute describing the conditions of annexation is unnecessary; substantial compliance only is required, because absolute and literal compliance with the statute would result in defeating the purpose of the statute in situations where no one has been or could be misled. In re City of New Bern, 278 N.C. 641, 180 S.E.2d 851 (1971); McKenzie v. City of High Point, 61 N.C. App. 393, 301 S.E.2d 129, cert. denied, 308 N.C. 544, 302 S.E.2d 885 (1983).

Adverse Effect upon Financial Interests Not Grounds for Attacking Annexation Proceedings. — A property owner can attack annexation proceedings only upon the grounds specified in the statutes; he cannot successfully resist annexation because a city ordinance will adversely affect his financial interest. In re City of New Bern, 278 N.C. 641, 180 S.E.2d 851 (1971); Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982).

Time Limit for Seeking Review Not Extended by Settlement Agreement. — As petitioners failed to seek judicial review of an annexation ordinance within 60 days as required by G.S. 160A-50(a), their action was time-barred. A prior settlement between the city and another party that did timely file for review did not require a remand to city council or allow petitioners a new 60-day period to seek review. Home Builders Ass'n of Fayetteville N.C., Inc. v. City of Fayetteville, 170 N.C. App.

Remand for Amendment of Record. — If the record of annexation proceedings on its face fails to show substantial compliance with any essential provision of the statute, the superior court upon review must remand to the governing board for amendment with respect to such noncompliance. The court itself is without authority to amend the report, ordinance or other part of the record, even if evidence is presented which justifies amendment. Huntley v. Potter, 255 N.C. 619, 122 S.E.2d 681 (1961); Food Town Stores, Inc. v. City of Salisbury, 300 N.C. 21, 265 S.E.2d 123 (1980).

Remand on City's Motion. — While this section does not explicitly empower a superior court judge to remand an annexation ordinance upon a city's motion to exclude a landowner who originally was covered by it, such remand occasioned no material injury to the petitioners, where the end result was that petitioners were not made part of the city by the ordinance at issue. Southern Glove Mfg. Co. v. City of Newton, 63 N.C. App. 754, 306 S.E.2d 466 (1983).

Remand Appropriate Remedy. — Trial court did not err in refusing to declare an involuntary annexation ordinance null and void where, assuming arguendo that any alleged procedural irregularities had prejudiced a landowner, the remedy under the G.S. 160A-50(g)(1) was a remand to the municipal governing board for further proceedings. United States Cold Storage v. City of Lumberton, 156 N.C. App. 327, 576 S.E.2d 415, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 124 (2003).

Applicability of Rules of Civil Procedure. — Since judicial review of an annexation ordinance is manifestly a "proceeding of a civil nature," the Rules of Civil Procedure clearly apply to it, unless a different procedure is provided by statute, but only to the extent necessary to process the proceeding according to its nature. A different procedure for this proceeding from that provided in the Rules of Civil Procedure is provided to some extent by this section. Campbell v. City of Greensboro, 70 N.C. App. 252, 319 S.E.2d 323, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 312 N.C. 492, 322 S.E.2d 553 (1984).

Intervention in Petition for Review. — Petitioners' motion under G.S. 1A-1-24(a) to intervene in another party's petition for review of an annexation ordinance was properly denied, because G.S. 1A-1-24(a) does not apply to appeals of annexation ordinances under G.S. 160A-50(a). Home Builders Ass'n of Fayetteville N.C., Inc. v. City of Fayetteville, 170 N.C. App. 625, 613 S.E.2d 521, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1072 (2005).

Appellants' motion to intervene in another party's petition for review of an annexation ordinance was properly denied because, even assuming G.S. 1A-1-24(a) applied to appeals of annexation ordinances under G.S. 160A-50(a), judgment had already entered, intervention would have prejudiced the city and the other party, and appellants did not offer a legitimate reason for the delay. Home Builders Ass'n of Fayetteville N.C., Inc. v. City of Fayetteville, 170 N.C. App. 625, 613 S.E.2d 521, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1072 (2005).

Discovery. — Judicial review of an annexation ordinance is a limited judicial review, with few similarities to ordinary civil actions which are initiated, tried and adjudicated in a different manner and for which the Rules of Civil Procedure were mostly devised. Nevertheless, since the court reviewing annexation proceedings is explicitly authorized to receive evidence as to the city's compliance with the various procedures prescribed, as to its annexation plan meeting the requisites of G.S. 160A-47, and as to the area involved being eligible for annexation under G.S. 160A-48, in those instances where discovery may illuminate these issues that it is authorized under the Rules of Civil Procedure. Campbell v. City of Greensboro, 70 N.C. App. 252, 319 S.E.2d 323, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 312 N.C. 492, 322 S.E.2d 553 (1984).

Power to Require Production of Evidence. — Absent an explicit statutory restriction to the contrary, a judge having the duty to receive evidence on and decide certain issues has the power, within his discretion, to require that evidence on those issues be produced. In the exercise of that power other factors require consideration, however, including the information already available through the documents required by subsection (c) of this section and the mandate contained in this section that these reviews be accomplished expeditiously and without unnecessary delays. Campbell v. City of Greensboro, 70 N.C. App. 252, 319 S.E.2d 323, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 312 N.C. 492, 322 S.E.2d 553 (1984).

Settlement of Annexation Disputes. — Settlements of annexation disputes under G.S. 160A-50(m) are not "actions having the effect of an ordinance" under G.S. 160A-75, but are a method of dispute resolution in the annexation process; therefore, there is no need to send the matter back to city council after a settlement is reached. Home Builders Ass'n of Fayetteville N.C., Inc. v. City of Fayetteville, 170 N.C. App. 625, 613 S.E.2d 521, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1072 (2005).

III. REVIEW BY COURT OF APPEALS.

On appeal, the findings of fact made below are binding on the Supreme Court (now the Court of Appeals) if supported by the evidence, even when there may be evidence to the contrary. Humphries v. City of Jacksonville, 300 N.C. 186, 265 S.E.2d 189 (1980).

But Conclusions of Law Are Reviewable De Novo. — Conclusions of law drawn by the trial judge from the findings of fact are reviewable de novo on appeal. Humphries v. City of Jacksonville, 300 N.C. 186, 265 S.E.2d 189 (1980).

Right to Appeal. — When a city proposed the involuntary annexation of certain real property, the owners of that property were entitled to seek review of the annexation ordinance passed by the city in the superior court and in the Court of Appeals. Ridgefield Props., L.L.C. v. City of Asheville, 159 N.C. App. 376, 583 S.E.2d 400, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1523 (2003), aff'd, 358 N.C. 216, 593 S.E.2d 584 (2004).

Trial court properly granted the city's motion to dismiss the military servicemembers' challenge to the annexation of approximately 28 square miles of land and over 40,000 residents as time-barred because the federal Servicemembers Civil Relief Act, specifically 50 U.S.C.S. app. § 525, did not contain a plain statement showing an unmistakably clear intent to intrude upon North Carolina's state sovereignty in the area of annexations, where: (1) the word "annexation" appeared nowhere in the statute; (2) the Act's fundamental purpose was to address personal financial claims, not large-scale government action; and (3) the servicemembers failed to cite a single case which applied the Act to non-personal claims challenging large-scale government action. Kegley v. City of Fayetteville, 170 N.C. App. 656, 613 S.E.2d 696, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1073 (2005), review denied, — N.C. —, 619 S.E.2d 508 (2005), cert. denied, — U.S. —, 126 S. Ct. 1147, 163 L. Ed. 2d 1001 (2006).

Remand Required. — Because a trial court failed to make the appropriate finding that a city's annexation ordinance was not subject to correction upon remand before declaring it null and void, an appellate court remanded the case to the trial court for it to make the appropriate findings to support one of the statutory grounds under G.S. 160A-50(g). Fix v. City of Eden, 175 N.C. App. 1, 622 S.E.2d 647, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2739 (2005).

IV. EFFECTIVE DATE.

Effect of Appeal. — Where petitioner appealed an annexation ordinance to the superior court within the time limits of subsection (a) of this section, but not before the ordinance's effective date of December 31, 1979, and the superior court on February 18, 1980, remanded the annexation plan report to the town board for a more specific statement of the services to be provided and the sources of revenues to finance such services, and where the infirmities in the report were cured by a revised plan adopted on February 26, 1980, this date became the effective date of the annexation ordinance, subject to further appeal to the superior court. Where such appeal was taken and the superior court entered an order on March 4, 1980, approving the revised annexation plan report and affirming the annexation, the effective date of the annexation became March 4, 1980, subject to further appeal to the North Carolina Supreme Court (now to the Court of Appeals). When petitioner appealed from that judgment to the Supreme Court, the effective date of the ordinance was again postponed by the language of subsection (i) of this section, until the date the final judgment of the Supreme Court was certified to the clerk of the superior court. Moody v. Town of Carrboro, 301 N.C. 318, 271 S.E.2d 265 (1980), rehearing denied, 301 N.C. 728, 274 S.E.2d 230 (1981).

The effective date of annexation ordinance was July 11, 1983, the date the judgment of the Court of Appeals holding the ordinance to be valid was certified, and not December 6, 1983, the date of the Supreme Court's order dismissing plaintiffs' appeal and denying discretionary review of the judgment of the Court of Appeals, as the final judgment in the annexation case was the judgment of the Court of Appeals. Hunter v. City of Asheville, 80 N.C. App. 325, 341 S.E.2d 743 (1986).

Act which decreased the corporate boundaries of town was constitutional and plaintiffs were time-barred from asserting any further challenges. Bethania Town Lot Comm. v. City of Winston-Salem, 126 N.C. App. 783, 486 S.E.2d 729 (1997).

rules prescribed by the Secretary. Failure to file within 30 days shall not affect the validity of the annexation. Any annexation shall be reported as part of the Boundary and Annexation Survey of the United States Bureau of the Census. (1959, c. 1009, s. 7; 1973, c. 426, s. 74; 1987, c. 715, s. 8; c. 879, s. 3; 1989, c. 440, s. 9; 1991, c. 586, s. 3.)

Cross References. — As to effective date of certain annexation ordinances adopted from January 1, 1987, to August 3, 1987, see G.S. 160A-58.9.

CASE NOTES

Recordation of Map and Ordinance Not Condition Precedent to Annexation. — The requirement in this section that a map of the annexed territory, together with a certified copy of the ordinance, be recorded in the office of the register of deeds and in the office of the Secretary of State is not a condition precedent to the effective annexation of the territory, but is the imposition of a duty to be performed after the annexation is complete. Dale v. City of Morganton, 270 N.C. 567, 155 S.E.2d 136 (1967).

§ 160A-52. Authorized expenditures.

Municipalities initiating annexations under the provisions of this Part are authorized to make expenditures for surveys required to describe the property under consideration or for any other purpose necessary to plan for the study and/or annexation of unincorporated territory adjacent to the municipality. In addition, following final passage of the annexation ordinance, the annexing municipality shall have authority to proceed with expenditures for construction of water and sewer lines and other capital facilities and for any other purpose calculated to bring services into the annexed area in a more effective and expeditious manner prior to the effective date of annexation. (1959, c. 1009, s. 8; 1973, c. 426, s. 74.)

§ 160A-53. Definitions.

The following terms where used in this Part shall have the following meanings, except where the context clearly indicates a different meaning:

- (1) "Contiguous area" shall mean any area which, at the time annexation procedures are initiated, either abuts directly on the municipal boundary or is separated from the municipal boundary by a street or street right-of-way, a creek or river, the right-of-way of a railroad or other public service corporation, lands owned by the city or some other political subdivision, or lands owned by the State of North Carolina.
- (2) "Used for residential purposes" shall mean any lot or tract five acres or less in size on which is constructed a habitable dwelling unit. (1959, c. 1009, s. 9; 1973, c. 426, s. 74.)

CASE NOTES

Mobile Homes as "Constructed" for "Residential Purposes" Requirement. — Petitioners/property owners failed to overcome the presumption that the City substantially complied with G.S. 160A-48(c)(3) when it moved to annex disputed areas; mobile homes used to meet the "urban purposes" percentage requirement were "constructed" on the lots pursuant to "residential purposes" as defined by subdivision (2) of this section, and the deletion of a condemned home, originally included as a "habitable" residence, did not affect the calculations or the city's compliance. Bali Co. v. City of Kings Mt., 134 N.C. App. 277, 517 S.E.2d 208 (1999).

Tract Classified as Residential Despite Growing of Grass Thereon for Cattle Feed. — A city could classify a 1.83 acre tract with a rented house located on it as one lot used for residential purposes, despite the fact that on two separate parts of the lot fescue and sudex grass was grown and a person living in the neighborhood had been allowed to mow this grass, bale it and feed it to his cows. Southern Glove Mfg. Co. v. City of Newton, 75 N.C. App. 574, 331 S.E.2d 180, cert. denied, 314 N.C. 669, 336 S.E.2d 401 (1985).

§ 160A-54. Population and land estimates.

In determining population and degree of land subdivision for purposes of meeting the requirements of G.S. 160A-48, the municipality shall use methods calculated to provide reasonably accurate results. In determining whether the standards set forth in G.S. 160A-48 have been met on appeal to the superior court under G.S. 160A-50, the reviewing court shall accept the estimates of the municipality unless the actual population, total area, or degree of land subdivision falls below the standards in G.S. 160A-48:

- (1) As to population, if the estimate is based on the number of dwelling units in the area multiplied by the average family size in such area, or in the township or townships of which such area is a part, as determined by the last preceding federal decennial census; or if it is based on a new enumeration carried out under reasonable rules and regulations by the annexing municipality; provided, that the court shall not accept such estimates if the petitioners demonstrate that such estimates are in error in the amount of ten percent (10%) or more.
- (2) As to total area if the estimate is based on an actual survey, or on county tax maps or records, or on aerial photographs, or on some other reasonably reliable map used for official purposes by a governmental agency, unless the petitioners on appeal demonstrate that such estimates are in error in the amount of five percent (5%) or more.
- (3) As to degree of land subdivision, if the estimates are based on an actual survey, or on county tax maps or records, or on aerial photographs, or on some other reasonably reliable source, unless the petitioners on appeal show that such estimates are in error in the amount of five percent (5%) or more. (1959, c. 1009, s. 10; 1973, c. 426, s. 74; 1998-150, s. 19.)

CASE NOTES

The annexation statutes are not taxation statutes, nor are they retrospective taxation statutes. Little Red School House, Ltd. v. City of Greensboro, 71 N.C. App. 332, 322 S.E.2d 195 (1984), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 313 N.C. 514, 329 S.E.2d 392 (1985).

Tests as to Urban Development to Be Applied to Whole Annexation Area. — The tests to determine whether an area is developed for urban purposes must be applied to the annexation area as a whole. In re Ordinance of Annexation No. 1977-4, 296 N.C. 1, 249 S.E.2d 698 (1978).

Micro Approach Calculations Meet Urbanization Test. — Town met the urbanization test for annexation, where the town used a "micro approach" whereby it determined the number of dwelling units in each census block within the area to be annexed, then determined the average family size therein, then multiplied the number of dwelling units in each census block by the average family size to calculate the estimated population of each block, and finally added the block numbers together to produce the population estimate. Williams v. Town of Kernersville, 129 N.C. App. 734, 500 S.E.2d 770, 1998 N.C. App. LEXIS 757 (1998), cert. denied, 349 N.C. 241, 516 S.E.2d 611 (1998).

Evidence Not Admissible to Challenge City's Methodology. — Where petitioners challenged a city annexation ordinances, the trial court properly ruled that their spreadsheets could not be offered to show that the city's methodology was not calculated to provide reasonably accurate results, as required by G.S. 160A-54, because they presented no expert testimony about the spreadsheets, and testimony of the city's principal planner was insuff-ficient to establish a foundation for their admissibility. Brown v. City of Winston-Salem, 176 N.C. App. 497, 626 S.E.2d 747, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 531 (2006).

Census figures are more reliable than any formula that alters the figures by arbitrarily assuming vacancy rates and adjusting for dwelling unit size. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

This section contains no requirement regarding the use of final census data and there is no judicially imposed requirement. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

Although this statute specifies the use of federal census data, it does not require the use of final rather than preliminary census data. In re City of Durham Annexation Ordinance No. 5791, 66 N.C. App. 472, 311 S.E.2d 898 (1984).

Applicability of Error Margins to Calculations Under § 160A-48(c). — The five percent error margins allowed in subdivisions (2) and (3) of this section apply exclusively to calculations made by the municipality for purposes of establishing compliance with the population and subdivision tests contained within the alternative standards prescribed by G.S. 160A-48(c). Food Town Stores, Inc. v. City of Salisbury, 300 N.C. 21, 265 S.E.2d 123 (1980).

The language of this section is free from ambiguity and represents a legislative determination that margins of error should be allowed with respect to the calculations made by a municipality to establish compliance with the population and subdivision tests of G.S. 160A-48(c), but not with respect to the calculations made to establish compliance with the use test of G.S. 160A-48(c). Food Town Stores, Inc. v. City of Salisbury, 300 N.C. 21, 265 S.E.2d 123 (1980).

Method of Calculating Number of Lots. — A municipality is not tied to any particular method of calculating the number of lots so long as the method utilized is calculated to provide reasonably accurate results. Food Town Stores, Inc. v. City of Salisbury, 300 N.C. 21, 265 S.E.2d 123 (1980).

The fact that different methods of lot calculation have been used by the city in past annexations is of no import where the record establishes that the method utilized in the annexation under scrutiny complies with the requirements of this section. Food Town Stores, Inc. v. City of Salisbury, 300 N.C. 21, 265 S.E.2d 123 (1980).

It is eminently reasonable for the city to follow actual use and ownership patterns instead of artificial patterns of subdivision in determining the number of lots in the area to be annexed. Such method of lot counting was calculated to provide reasonably accurate results as required by this section. Food Town Stores, Inc. v. City of Salisbury, 300 N.C. 21, 265 S.E.2d 123 (1980).

Petitioners Failed to Meet Burden to Show Inaccuracy of City's Methodology. — Petitioners challenging a city's annexation ordinances failed to show the city misclassified the lots to be annexed or that the county tax maps it relied on were inaccurate. As they offered no reliable evidence that the city's methodology was inaccurate and not calculated to provide reasonably accurate results, as required by G.S. 106A-54, the ordinances were properly deemed valid. Brown v. City of Winston-Salem, 176 N.C. App. 497, 626 S.E.2d 747, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 531 (2006).

§§ 160A-55, 160A-56: Repealed by Session Laws 1983, c. 636.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, which repealed these sections, in s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections."

prior to the date of ratification of this act shall be affected by this act except as provided in Session Laws 1983, c. 636 was ratified June 29, 1983.
Section 25.”

Part 4. Annexation of Noncontiguous Areas.

§ 160A-58. Definitions.

The words and phrases defined in this section have the meanings indicated when used in this Part unless the context clearly requires another meaning:

- (1) “City” means any city, town, or village without regard to population, except cities not qualified to receive gasoline tax allocations under G.S. 136-41.2.
- (2) “Primary corporate limits” means the corporate limits of a city as defined in its charter, enlarged or diminished by subsequent annexations or exclusions of contiguous territory pursuant to Parts 1, 2, and 3 of this Article or local acts of the General Assembly.
- (3) “Satellite corporate limits” means the corporate limits of a noncontiguous area annexed pursuant to this Part or a local act authorizing or effecting noncontiguous annexations. (1973, c. 1173, s. 2.)

Local Modification. — (As to Part 4) Iredell and municipalities located therein: 1989, c. 598, s. 12.1; Union: 2003-321, s. 1; (as to Part 4) town of Dobbins Heights: 1983, c. 658; town of Moorehead City and Newport: 1997-219, s. 1; 1997-363, s. 1.1; (as to Part 4) city of Sanford: 2007-43, s. 2 (shall not annex areas located within Chatham County).

§ 160A-58.1. Petition for annexation; standards.

(a) Upon receipt of a valid petition signed by all of the owners of real property in the area described therein, a city may annex an area not contiguous to its primary corporate limits when the area meets the standards set out in subsection (b) of this section. The petition need not be signed by the owners of real property that is wholly exempt from property taxation under the Constitution and laws of North Carolina, nor by railroad companies, public utilities as defined in G.S. 62-3(23), or electric or telephone membership corporations.

(b) A noncontiguous area proposed for annexation must meet all of the following standards:

- (1) The nearest point on the proposed satellite corporate limits must be not more than three miles from the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.
- (2) No point on the proposed satellite corporate limits may be closer to the primary corporate limits of another city than to the primary corporate limits of the annexing city, except as set forth in subsection (b2) of this section.
- (3) The area must be so situated that the annexing city will be able to provide the same services within the proposed satellite corporate limits that it provides within its primary corporate limits.
- (4) If the area proposed for annexation, or any portion thereof, is a subdivision as defined in G.S. 160A-376, all of the subdivision must be included.
- (5) The area within the proposed satellite corporate limits, when added to the area within all other satellite corporate limits, may not exceed ten percent (10%) of the area within the primary corporate limits of the annexing city.

This subdivision does not apply to the Cities of Claremont, Concord, Conover, Durham, Elizabeth City, Gastonia, Greenville, Hickory, Kannapolis, Locust, Marion, Mount Airy, Mount Holly, New Bern, Newton, Oxford, Randleman, Roanoke Rapids, Rockingham, Sanford, Salisbury, Southport, Statesville, and Washington and the Towns of Ahoskie, Angier, Ayden, Benson, Bladenboro, Burgaw, Calabash, Catawba, Clayton, Columbia, Columbus, Cramerton, Creswell, Dallas, Dobson, Four Oaks, Fuquay-Varina, Garner, Godwin, Green Level, Grimesland, Holly Ridge, Holly Springs, Kenly, Knightdale, Landis, Leland, Louisburg, Maggie Valley, Maiden, Mayodan, Midland, Mocksville, Morrisville, Mount Pleasant, Oak Island, Pembroke, Pine Level, Princeton, Ranlo, Rolesville, Rutherfordton, Shallotte, Smithfield, Spencer, Stem, Stovall, Surf City, Swansboro, Taylorsville, Troy, Wallace, Warsaw, Watha, Waynesville, Weldon, Wendell, Windsor, Yadkinville, and Zebulon.

(b1) Repealed by Session Laws 2004-203, ss. 13(a) and 13(d), effective August 17, 2004.

(b2) A city may annex a noncontiguous area that does not meet the standard set out in subdivision (b)(2) of this section if the city has entered into an annexation agreement pursuant to Part 6 of this Article with the city to which a point on the proposed satellite corporate limits is closer and the agreement states that the other city will not annex the area but does not say that the annexing city will not annex the area. The annexing city shall comply with all other requirements of this section.

(c) The petition shall contain the names, addresses, and signatures of all owners of real property within the proposed satellite corporate limits (except owners not required to sign by subsection (a)), shall describe the area proposed for annexation by metes and bounds, and shall have attached thereto a map showing the area proposed for annexation with relation to the primary corporate limits of the annexing city. When there is any substantial question as to whether the area may be closer to another city than to the annexing city, the map shall also show the area proposed for annexation with relation to the primary corporate limits of the other city. The city council may prescribe the form of the petition.

(d) A city council which receives a petition for annexation under this section may by ordinance require that the petitioners file a signed statement declaring whether or not vested rights with respect to the properties subject to the petition have been established under G.S. 160A-385.1 or G.S. 153A-344.1. If the statement declares that such rights have been established, the city may require petitioners to provide proof of such rights. A statement which declares that no vested rights have been established under G.S. 160A-385.1 or G.S. 153A-344.1 shall be binding on the landowner and any such vested rights shall be terminated. Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-37, s. 1, amended subsection (b) by deleting subdivision (b)(5), regarding limitations on the area within the proposed satellite corporate limits. Section 2 of the act made this amendment applicable to the Cities of Marion, Oxford, and Rockingham and the Towns of Calabash, Catawba, Dallas, Godwin, Louisburg, Mocksville, Pembroke, Rutherfordton, and Waynesville only. Session Laws 2001-37, ss. 1 and 2, have been codified as subsection (b1) at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes. Session Laws 2001-438, s. 1, also enacted a subsection (b1), which has been recodified as subsection (b2) at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Session Laws 2002-121, s. 1, provides that subdivision (b)(5) does not apply to the cities of Claremont, Concord, Conover, Newton, Sanford, and Southport, and the Towns of Maiden, Midland, Swansboro, and Warsaw. Session Laws 1997-2, s. 1, provided that subdivision (b)(5) did not apply to the town of Catawba, and Session Laws 2001-72, s. 1 provided the subdivision did not apply to the city of Salisbury. Since subdivision (b)(5) does not apply to more than 10 jurisdictions, the second paragraph of that subdivision has been added at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Session Laws 2007-26, s. 2(a), contained a local modification as to G.S. 160A-58.1(b)(2) and (b)(5). The local modification as to subdivision (b)(5) adds to a local modification that affects ten or more localities. It was codified at this section at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes by inserting "Oak Island" in the second paragraph of subdivision (b)(5).

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-62, s. 1, effective July 6, 2006, inserted "Princeton" and "Smithfield" in the second paragraph of subdivision (b)(5).

Session Laws 2006-122, s. 1, effective July 18, 2006, inserted "Benson", "Burgaw", "Clayton", "Dobson", and "Yadkinville" in the second paragraph of subdivision (b)(5).

Session Laws 2006-130, s. 1, effective July 19, 2006, inserted "Grimesland", "Stem" and "Stovall" in the second paragraph of subdivision (b)(5).

Session Laws 2007-17, s. 1, effective April 19, 2007, inserted "Four Oaks" in the second paragraph of subdivision (b)(5).

Session Laws 2007-26, s. 1, effective April 26, 2007, inserted "Green Level" in the second paragraph of subdivision (b)(5).

Session Laws 2007-62, s. 1, effective June 6, 2007, inserted "Cramerton" and "Watha" in the second paragraph of subdivision (b)(5).

Session Laws 2007-225, s. 1, effective July 17, 2007, inserted "Durham" in the second paragraph of subdivision (b)(5).

Session Laws 2007-311, s. 1, effective July 28, 2007, inserted "Roanoke Rapids," "Ahoskie," "Columbus," and "Weldon" in the second paragraph of subdivision (b)(5).

Session Laws 2007-342, s. 1, effective August 2, 2007, added "Mount Pleasant" in the second paragraph of subdivision (b)(5).

CASE NOTES

A city has statutory authority to annex areas both contiguous and noncontiguous to its primary corporate limits. It must stand ready to provide sewer service (among other services) to newly annexed areas on substantially the same basis and in the same manner in which these services are provided to the rest of the city. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Use of City-Owned Sewage Treatment Plant Without Prior Approval of County. — Since county had no authority to restrict or regulate city's provision of sewer service to its residents, the city could use the city-owned sewage treatment plant located outside the city but within the county, which was upgraded pursuant to the county's special use permit, with a condition attached to the permit requiring the county's prior approval of service to county citizens to meet its statutory mandate to provide sewer service to residents in newly annexed areas without seeking the county's prior approval, even though the facility was located in the county. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Town Had No Standing to Challenge Annexations. — Plaintiff town had no standing to challenge annexations of contiguous properties by nearby village. Town of Seven Devils v. Village of Sugar Mt., 125 N.C. App. 692, 482 S.E.2d 39 (1997), cert. denied, 346 N.C. 185, 486 S.E.2d 219 (1997).

Residents and Property Owners Without Standing to Challenge Voluntary Annexation of Noncontiguous Property. — Residents and property owners in town, who instituted an action in which they sought to enjoin town from placing into effect an ordinance annexing into the corporate limits of the town 89.68 acres of noncontiguous property belonging to intervenor company, residents and property owners did not have standing; no judicial review is provided for annexations of noncontiguous territory, since such annexations are, by statute, the result of voluntary petitions by the property owners. Joyner v. Town of Weaverville, 94 N.C. App. 588, 380 S.E.2d 536 (1989).

§ 160A-58.2. Public hearing.

Upon receipt of a petition for annexation under this Part, the city council shall cause the city clerk to investigate the petition, and to certify the results of his investigation. If the clerk certifies that upon investigation the petition appears to be valid, the council shall fix a date for a public hearing on the annexation. Notice of the hearing shall be published once at least 10 days before the date of hearing.

At the hearing, any person residing in or owning property in the area proposed for annexation and any resident of the annexing city may appear and be heard on the questions of the sufficiency of the petition and the desirability of the annexation. If the council then finds and determines that (i) the area described in the petition meets all of the standards set out in G.S. 160A-58.1(b), (ii) the petition bears the signatures of all of the owners of real property within the area proposed for annexation (except those not required to sign by G.S. 160A-58.1(a)), (iii) the petition is otherwise valid, and (iv) the public health, safety and welfare of the inhabitants of the city and of the area proposed for annexation will be best served by the annexation, the council may adopt an ordinance annexing the area described in the petition. The ordinance may be made effective immediately or on any specified date within six months from the date of passage. (1973, c. 1173, s. 2.)

§ 160A-58.2A. Assumption of debt.

(a) If the city has annexed under this Part any area which is served by a rural fire department and which is in:

- (1) An insurance district defined under G.S. 153A-233;
- (2) A rural fire protection district under Article 3A of Chapter 69 of the General Statutes; or
- (3) A fire service district under Article 16 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes, then beginning with the effective date of annexation the city shall pay annually a proportionate share of any payments due on any debt (including principal and interest) relating to facilities or equipment of the rural fire department, if the debt was existing at the time of submission of the petition for annexation to the city under this Part. The rural fire department shall make available to the city not later than 30 days following a written request from the city, information concerning such debt. The rural fire department forfeits its rights under this section if it fails to make a good faith response within 45 days following receipt of the written request for information from the city, provided that the city's written request so states by specific reference to this section.

(b) The annual payments from the city to the rural fire department on such shared debt service shall be calculated as follows:

- (1) The rural fire department shall certify to the city each year the amount that will be expended for debt service subject to be shared by the city as provided by subsection (a) of this section; and
- (2) The amount determined under subdivision (1) of this subsection shall be multiplied by the percentage determined by dividing the assessed valuation of the area of the district annexed by the assessed valuation of the entire district, each such valuation to be fixed as of the date the annexation ordinance becomes effective.

(c) This section does not apply in any year as to any annexed area(s) for which the payment calculated under this section as to all annexation ordinances adopted under this Part by a city during a particular calendar year does not exceed one hundred dollars ($100.00).

(d) The city and rural fire department shall jointly present a payment schedule to the Local Government Commission for approval and no payment may be made until such schedule is approved. The Local Government Commission shall approve a payment schedule agreed upon between the city and the rural fire department in cases where the assessed valuation of the district may not readily be determined, if there is a reasonable basis for the agreement. (1989, c. 598, s. 3.)

§ 160A-58.3. Annexed area subject to city taxes and debts.

From and after the effective date of the annexation ordinance, the annexed area and its citizens and property are subject to all debts, laws, ordinances and regulations of the annexing city, and are entitled to the same privileges and benefits as other parts of the city. Real and personal property in the newly annexed territory on the January 1 immediately preceding the beginning of the fiscal year in which the annexation becomes effective is subject to municipal taxes as provided in G.S. 160A-58.10. If the effective date of annexation falls between June 1 and June 30, and the privilege licenses of the annexing city are due on June 1, then businesses in the annexed area are liable for privilege license taxes at the full-year rate. (1973, c. 1173, s. 2; 1975, c. 576, s. 5; 1977, c. 517, s. 7.)

§ 160A-58.4. Extraterritorial powers.

Satellite corporate limits shall not be considered a part of the city's corporate limits for the purposes of extraterritorial land-use regulation pursuant to G.S. 160A-360, or abatement of public health nuisances pursuant to G.S. 160A-193. However, a city's power to regulate land use pursuant to Chapter 160A, Article 19, or to abate public health nuisances pursuant to G.S. 160A-193, shall be the same within satellite corporate limits as within its primary corporate limits. (1973, c. 1173, s. 2.)

Local Modification. — Town of Canton: 1983, c. 301; town of Mooresville: 1991, c. 289, s. 1; 1997-219, s. 4.

§ 160A-58.5. Special rates for water, sewer and other enterprises.

For the purposes of G.S. 160A-314, provision of public enterprise services within satellite corporate limits shall be considered provision of service for special classes of service distinct from the classes of service provided within the primary corporate limits of the city, and the city may fix and enforce schedules of rents, rates, fees, charges and penalties in excess of those fixed and enforced within the primary corporate limits. A city providing enterprise services within satellite corporate limits shall annually review the cost thereof, and shall take such steps as may be necessary to insure that the current operating costs of such services, excluding debt service on bonds issued to finance services within satellite corporate limits, does not exceed revenues realized therefrom. (1973, c. 1173, s. 2.)

Cross References. — For satellite annexation in conjunction with municipal annexation in certain sanitary districts, see G.S. 130A-70.1.

§ 160A-58.6. Transition from satellite to primary corporate limits.

An area annexed pursuant to this Part ceases to constitute satellite corporate limits and becomes a part of the primary corporate limits of a city when, through annexation of intervening territory, the two boundaries touch. (1973, c. 1173, s. 2.)

CASE NOTES

If a town wishes to annex involuntarily two unannexed areas on either side of the satellite area, it must first annex the area which abuts directly on both the primary corporate limits and the satellite corporate limits. Only after this intervening territory has been successfully annexed is the area which presently abuts solely on satellite corporate limits eligible for annexation. Only then do the satellite corporate limits become part of the primary corporate limits in accord with this section. Hawks v. Town of Valdese, 299 N.C. 1, 261 S.E.2d 90 (1980).

Definition of Satellite. — A corporate limit is defined as a satellite only when there is no connection whatsoever between the municipality and the satellite. Williams v. Town of Kernersville, 129 N.C. App. 734, 500 S.E.2d 770, 1998 N.C. App. LEXIS 757 (1998), cert. denied, 349 N.C. 241, 516 S.E.2d 611 (1998).

§ 160A-58.7. Annexation of municipal property.

The city council may initiate annexation of property not contiguous to the primary corporate limits and owned by the city by adopting a resolution stating its intent to annex the property, in lieu of filing a petition. The property must satisfy the requirements of G.S. 160A-58.1. The resolution shall contain an adequate description of the property and fix a date for a public hearing on the question of annexation. Notice of the public hearing shall be published once at least 10 days before the date of the hearing. At the hearing, any resident of the city may appear and be heard on the question of the desirability of the annexation. If the council finds that annexation is in the public interest, it may adopt an ordinance annexing the property. The ordinance may be made effective immediately or on any specified date within six months from the date of passage. (1987, c. 562, s. 2.)

Local Modification. — City of Durham: 1993, c. 342, s. 1; city of Reidsville: 1997-343.

§ 160A-58.8. Recording and reporting.

Annexations made under this part shall be recorded and reported in the same manner as under G.S. 160A-29. (1987, c. 879, s. 4.)

Part 4A. Effective Dates of Certain Annexation Ordinances.

§ 160A-58.9. Effective date of certain annexation ordinances adopted from January 1, 1987, to August 3, 1987.

(a) In the case of any annexation ordinance adopted during the period beginning January 1, 1987, and ending on August 3, 1987, if the effective date of the annexation under the ordinance is during 1988, the governing board of the municipality may, notwithstanding G.S. 160A-37(j) or G.S. 160A-49(j), amend the ordinance to provide for an effective date of December 31, 1987. The board must give notice by publication of its intent to consider adoption of such ordinance, such notice to be published at least 10 days before the meeting at which the ordinance is adopted. Copies of the adopted ordinance shall be recorded in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 160A-39 or G.S. 160A-51, as applicable.

(b) This section applies only to territory located in counties with a population of 55,000 or over, according to the 1980 decennial federal census. (1987, c. 715, s. 2.)

§ 160A-58.9A. Effective date of certain annexation ordinances adopted under Article 4A of Chapter 160A.

(a) No annexation ordinance adopted under Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes may become effective during the period beginning November 1, 1989, and ending January 1, 1990. If because of the operation of G.S. 160A-37.1(h), G.S. 160A-37.3(g), G.S. 160A-38, G.S. 160A-49.1(h), G.S. 160A-49.3(g), G.S. 160A-50, the order of any court, or the operation of Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, an annexation ordinance is to become effective during the period beginning November 1, 1989, and ending January 1, 1990, it shall instead become effective on a date during the period beginning January 2, 1990, and ending December 31, 1990, set by ordinance of the governing board of the city.

(b) If the final date upon which an annexation ordinance adopted under Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes, may be made effective occurs during the period beginning November 1, 1989, and ending January 1, 1990, the effective date of the annexation may be set in the annexation ordinance as any date during the period beginning January 2, 1990, and ending December 31, 1990, in addition to any date permitted by law before November 1, 1989.

(c) This section applies to territory located in counties with a population of 55,000 or over, according to the 1980 decennial federal census, and to territory located in all other counties subject to Article 12A of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes, pursuant to G.S. 163-132.6. (1987, c. 715, s. 3; 1989, c. 440, s. 6.)

Part 5. Property Tax Liability of Newly Annexed Territory.

§ 160A-58.10. Tax of newly annexed territory.

(a) Applicability of Section. — Real and personal property in territory annexed pursuant to this Article is subject to municipal taxes as provided in this section.

(b) Prorated Taxes. — Real and personal property in the newly annexed territory on the January 1 immediately preceding the beginning of the fiscal year in which the annexation becomes effective is subject to prorated municipal taxes levied for that fiscal year as provided in this subsection. The amount of municipal taxes that would have been due on the property had it been within the municipality for the full fiscal year shall be multiplied by the following fraction: the denominator shall be 12 and the numerator shall be the number of full calendar months remaining in the fiscal year, following the day on which the annexation becomes effective. The product of the multiplication is the amount of prorated taxes due. The lien for prorated taxes levied on a parcel of real property shall attach to the parcel taxed on the listing date, as provided in G.S. 105-285, immediately preceding the fiscal year in which the annexation becomes effective. The lien for prorated taxes levied on personal property shall attach on the same date to all real property of the taxpayer in the taxing unit, including the newly annexed territory. If the annexation becomes effective after June 30 and before September 2, the prorated taxes shall be due and payable on the first day of September of the fiscal year for which the taxes are levied. If the annexation becomes effective after September 1 and before the following July 1, the prorated taxes shall be due and payable on the first day of September of the next succeeding fiscal year. The prorated taxes are subject to collection and foreclosure in the same manner as other taxes levied for the fiscal year in which the prorated taxes become due.

(c) Taxes in Subsequent Fiscal Years. — In fiscal years subsequent to the fiscal year in which an annexation becomes effective, real and personal property in the newly annexed territory is subject to municipal taxes on the same basis as is the preexisting territory of the municipality.

(d) Transfer of Tax Records. — For purposes of levying prorated taxes the municipality shall obtain from the county a record of property in the area being annexed that was listed for taxation on the January 1 immediately preceding the fiscal year for which the prorated taxes are levied. In addition, if the effective date of annexation falls between January 1 and June 30, the municipality shall, for purposes of levying taxes for the fiscal year beginning July 1 following the date of annexation, obtain from the county a record of property in the area being annexed that was listed for taxation as of said January 1. (1977, c. 517, s. 9.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-72, s. 1, provides: "A taxing unit's governing body may by resolution provide that, notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 105-360 regarding the due date and accrual of interest, G.S. 105-380 and G.S. 105-381 regarding the release, refund, and compromise of taxes, and G.S. 160A-58.10 regarding the taxation of newly annexed property, property taxes for the partial fiscal year October 1, 2005, through June 30, 2006, shall be collected over a three-year period with one-third due and payable on September 1, 2006, one-third due and payable on September 1, 2007, and the remaining one-third due and payable on September 1, 2008. The resolution may provide that interest accrues on unpaid property taxes only to the extent that the property taxes have become due and payable under the payment schedule set out in the resolution. To the extent property taxes are due and payable pursuant to a resolution adopted under this act, interest accruing on taxes that remain unpaid shall be computed according to the schedule stated in G.S. 105-360. A resolution adopted pursuant to this act applies only to taxes for the partial fiscal year October 1, 2005, through June 30, 2006, on property located in an area that was annexed between January 1, 2003, and January 1, 2006, and for which effective date of the annexation was set by judicial order."

Session Laws 2006-72, s. 2, provides: "If a resolution adopted by a taxing unit's governing body pursuant to this act delays the due date, accrual of interest, or both for any property taxes, the tax collector's obligations under G.S. 160A-58.10 and G.S. 105-360 with respect to those taxes are delayed to the same extent."

Part 6. Annexation Agreements.

§ 160A-58.21. Purpose.

It is the purpose of this Part to authorize cities to enter into binding agreements concerning future annexation in order to enhance orderly planning by such cities as well as residents and property owners in areas adjacent to such cities. (1989, c. 143, s. 1.)

§ 160A-58.22. Definitions.

The words defined in this section shall have the meanings indicated when used in this Part:

- (1) "Agreement" means any written agreement authorized by this Part.
- (2) "Annexation" means any extension of a city's corporate limits as authorized by this Article, the charter of the city, or any local act applicable to the city, as such statutory authority exists now or is hereafter amended.
- (3) "Participating city" means any city which is a party to an agreement. (1989, c. 143, s. 1.)

§ 160A-58.23. Annexation agreements authorized.

Two or more cities may enter into agreements in order to designate one or more areas which are not subject to annexation by one or more of the participating cities. The agreements shall be of reasonable duration, not to exceed 20 years, and shall be approved by ordinance of the governing board and executed by the mayor of each city and spread upon its minutes. (1989, c. 143, s. 1.)

§ 160A-58.24. Contents of agreements; procedure.

(a) The agreement shall:

- (1) State the duration of the agreement.
- (2) Describe clearly the area or areas subject to the agreement. The boundaries of such area or areas may be established at such locations as the participating cities shall agree. Thereafter, any participating city may follow such boundaries in annexing any property, whether or not such boundaries follow roads or natural topographical features.
- (3) Specify one or more participating cities which may not annex the area or areas described in the agreement.
- (4) State the effective date of the agreement.
- (5) Require each participating city which proposes any annexation to give written notice to the other participating city or cities of the annexation at least 60 days before the adoption of any annexation ordinance; provided, however, that the agreement may provide for a waiver of this time period by the notified city.
- (6) Include any other necessary or proper matter.

(b) The written notice required by subdivision (a)(5) of this section shall describe the area to be annexed by a legible map, clearly and accurately showing the boundaries of the area to be annexed in relation to: the area or areas described pursuant to subdivision (a)(2) of this section, roads, streams and any other prominent geographical features. Such notice shall not be effective for more than 180 days.

(c) No agreement may be entered into under this Part unless each participating city has held a public hearing on the agreement prior to adopting the ordinance approving the agreement. The governing boards of the participating cities may hold a joint public hearing if desired. Notice of the public hearing or hearings shall be given as provided in G.S. 160A-31(c).

(d) Any agreement entered into under this Part may be modified or terminated by a subsequent agreement entered into by all the participating cities to that agreement. The subsequent agreement shall be approved by ordinance after a public hearing or hearings as provided in subsection (c).

(e) No agreement entered into under this Part shall be binding beyond three miles of the primary corporate limits of a participating city which is permitted to annex the area under the agreement, unless approved by the board of county commissioners with jurisdiction over the area. Provided however, that an area where the agreement is not binding because of failure of the board of county commissioners to approve it, shall become subject to the agreement if subsequent annexation brings it within three miles. The approval of a board of county commissioners shall be evidenced by a resolution adopted after a public hearing as provided in subsection (c).

(f) A participating city may terminate an annexation agreement unilaterally or withdraw itself from the agreement, by repealing the ordinance by which it approved the agreement and providing five years' written notice to the other participating cities. Upon the expiration of the five-year period, an agreement originally involving only two cities shall terminate, and an agreement originally involving more than two cities shall terminate unless each of the other participating cities shall have adopted an ordinance reaffirming the agreement. (1989, c. 143, s. 1.)

Local Modification. — Town of Carthage:
1999-239, s. 11.

§ 160A-58.25. Effect of agreement.

From and after the effective date of an agreement, no participating city may adopt an annexation ordinance as to all or any portion of an area in violation of the agreement. (1989, c. 143, s. 1.)

§ 160A-58.26. Part grants no annexation authority.

Nothing in this Part shall be construed to authorize the annexation of any area which is not otherwise subject to annexation under applicable law. (1989, c. 143, s. 1.)

§ 160A-58.27. Relief.

(a) Each provision of an agreement shall be binding upon the respective parties. Not later than 30 days following the passage of an annexation ordinance concerning territory subject to an agreement, a participating city which believes that another participating city has violated this Part or the agreement may file a petition in the superior court of the county where any of the territory proposed to be annexed is located, seeking review of the action of the city alleged to have violated this Part or the agreement.

(b) Within five days after the petition is filed with the court, the petitioning city shall serve copies of the petition by certified mail, return receipt requested, upon the respondent city.

(c) Within 15 days after receipt of the copy of the petition for review, or within such additional time as the court may allow, the respondent city shall transmit to the reviewing court:

- (1) A transcript of the portions of the ordinance or minute book in which the procedure for annexation has been set forth;
- (2) A copy of resolutions, ordinances, and any other document received or approved by the respondent city's governing board as part of the annexation proceeding.

(d) The court shall fix the date for review of the petition so that review shall be expeditious and without unnecessary delays. The review shall be conducted by the court without a jury. The court may hear oral arguments and receive written briefs, and may take evidence intended to show either:

- (1) That the provisions of this Part were not met; or

(2) That the provisions of the agreement were not met.

(e) At any time before or during the review proceeding, any petitioner may apply to the reviewing court for an order staying the operation of the annexation ordinance pending the outcome of the review. The court may grant or deny the stay in its discretion upon such terms as it deems proper, and it may permit annexation of any part of the area described in the ordinance concerning which no question for review has been raised.

(f) Upon a finding that the respondent city has not violated this Part or the agreement, the court may affirm the action of the respondent city without change. Upon a finding that the respondent city has violated this Part or the agreement, the court may:

(1) Remand to the respondent city's governing board any ordinance adopted pursuant to Parts 2 or 3 of this Article, as the same exists now or is hereafter amended, for amendment of the boundaries, or for such other action as is necessary, to conform to the provisions of this Part and the agreement.

(2) Declare any annexation begun pursuant to any other applicable law to be void. If the respondent city shall fail to take action in accordance with the court's instructions upon remand under subdivision (d)(1) of this section within three months from receipt of such instructions, the annexation proceeding shall be void.

(g) Any participating city which is a party to the review proceedings may appeal from the final judgment of the superior court under rules of procedure applicable in other civil cases. The appealing party may apply to superior court for a stay in its final determination, or a stay of the annexation ordinance, whichever shall be appropriate, pending the outcome of the appeal to the appellate division; provided, that the superior court may, with the agreement of the parties, permit annexation to be effective with respect to any part of the area concerning which no appeal is being made and which can be incorporated into the respondent city without regard to any part of the area concerning which an appeal is being made.

(h) If part or all of the area annexed under the terms of a challenged annexation ordinance is the subject of an appeal to the superior court or appellate division on the effective date of the ordinance, then the ordinance shall be deemed amended to make the effective date with respect to such area the date of the final judgment of the superior court or appellate division, whichever is appropriate, or the date the respondent city's governing board completes action to make the ordinance conform to the court's instructions in the event of remand.

(i) A participating city which is prohibited from annexing into an area under a binding agreement may file a petition in the superior court where any of the territory proposed to be annexed is located, or a response in a proceeding initiated by another participating city, seeking permission to annex territory in the area notwithstanding the agreement. If the territory qualifies for annexation by the city seeking to annex it, the court may enter an order allowing the annexation to proceed with respect to all or a portion of the territory upon a finding that there is an imminent threat to public health or safety that can be remedied only by the city seeking annexation. The procedural provisions of this section shall apply to proceedings under this subsection, so far as applicable. (1989, c. 143, s. 1.)

Local Modification. — Town of Carthage:
1999-239, s. 11.

§ 160A-58.28. Effect on prior local acts.

This Part does not affect Chapter 953, Session Laws of 1983, Chapter 847, Session Laws of 1985 (1986 Regular Session), or Chapters 204, 233, or 1009, Session Laws of 1987, authorizing annexation agreements, but any city which is authorized to enter into agreements by one of those acts may enter into future agreements either under such act or this Part. ARTICLE 5.

Form of Government.

Part 1. General Provisions.

§ 160A-59. Qualifications for elective office.

All city officers elected by the people shall possess the qualifications set out in Article VI of the Constitution. In addition, when the city is divided into electoral districts for the purpose of electing members of the council, council members shall reside in the district they represent. When any elected city officer ceases to meet all of the qualifications for holding office pursuant to the Constitution, or when a council member ceases to reside in an electoral district that he was elected to represent, the office is ipso facto vacant. Local Modification. — City of Roanoke Rapids: 1995, c. 34, s. 1; town of Tarboro: 1995, c. 73, s. 3.2.

§ 160A-60. Qualifications for appointive office.

Residence within a city shall not be a qualification for or prerequisite to appointment to any city office not filled by election of the people, unless the charter or an ordinance provides otherwise. City councils shall have authority to fix qualifications for appointive offices, but shall have no authority to waive qualifications for appointive offices fixed by charters or general laws. (1870-1, c. 24, s. 3; Code, s. 3796; Rev., s. 2941; C.S., s. 2646; 1951, c. 24; 1969, c. 134, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

Former § 160-25 dealt merely with the qualification of the appointee and not with the character of the office. State v. Hord, 264 N.C. 149, 141 S.E.2d 241 (1965).

Vacating Office for Preexisting Impediment. — While there can be no serious doubt of the right of a corporate body to vacate the seat of a corporate officer for adequate causes arising subsequent to taking his seat, there has been no precedent for depriving a member of his place by the action of a municipal body of which he is a member for any preexisting impediment affecting his capacity to hold the office. Ellison v. Aldermen of Raleigh, 89 N.C. 125 (1883).

Right to Declaratory Judgment. — When the rights of parties were affected by provisions similar to this section and other statutes, to the end that they might be relieved “from uncertainty and insecurity” such parties were entitled to have the applicable statutes construed and their rights declared, and a real controversy existed between the parties. Bland v. City of Wilmington, 278 N.C. 657, 180 S.E.2d 813 (1971).

City Charter Prescribing Qualifications of Firemen Not Repealed by Former Provisions. — Former G.S. 160-25 and 160-115.1

did not repeal the provisions of a city's charter prescribing the qualifications of its firemen.

Bland v. City of Wilmington, 278 N.C. 657, 180 S.E.2d 813 (1971).

§ 160A-61. Oath of office.

Every person elected by the people or appointed to any city office shall, before entering upon the duties of the office, take and subscribe the oath of office prescribed in Article VI, § 7 of the Constitution. Oaths of office shall be administered by some person authorized by law to administer oaths, and shall be filed with the city clerk. (R.C., c. 111, s. 12; Code, s. 3799; Rev., s. 2920; C.S., s. 2628; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-62. Officers to hold over until successors qualified.

All city officers, whether elected or appointed, shall continue to hold office until their successors are chosen and qualified. This section shall not apply when an office or position has been abolished, when an appointed officer or employee has been discharged, or when an elected officer has been removed from office. (R.C., c. 111, s. 8; Code, s. 3792; Rev., s. 2943; C.S., s. 2648; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Liability for Negligent Obstructions. — The city did not owe a special duty to a cable television repairman who was electrocuted by a fallen unmarked power line, and as plaintiff did not allege any intentional misconduct on the part of the city which would survive application of the public duty doctrine, the city was immune to liability. Vanasek v. Duke Power Co., 132 N.C. App. 335, 511 S.E.2d 41 (1999).

§ 160A-63. Vacancies.

A vacancy that occurs in an elective office of a city shall be filled by appointment of the city council. If the term of the office expires immediately following the next regular city election, or if the next regular city election will be held within 90 days after the vacancy occurs, the person appointed to fill the vacancy shall serve the remainder of the unexpired term. Otherwise, a successor shall be elected at the next regularly scheduled city election that is held more than 90 days after the vacancy occurs, and the person appointed to fill the vacancy shall serve only until the elected successor takes office. The elected successor shall then serve the remainder of the unexpired term. If the number of vacancies on the council is such that a quorum of the council cannot be obtained, the mayor shall appoint enough members to make up a quorum, and the council shall then proceed to fill the remaining vacancies. If the number of vacancies on the council is such that a quorum of the council cannot be obtained and the office of mayor is vacant, the Governor may fill the vacancies upon the request of any remaining member of the council, or upon the petition of any five registered voters of the city. Vacancies in appointive offices shall be filled by the same authority that makes the initial appointment. This section shall not apply to vacancies in cities that have not held a city election, levied any taxes, or engaged in any municipal functions for a period of five years or more.

In cities whose elections are conducted on a partisan basis, a person appointed to fill a vacancy in an elective office shall be a member of the same political party as the person whom he replaces if that person was elected as the nominee of a political party. (R.C., c. 111, ss. 9, 10; Code, ss. 3793, 3794; Rev.,

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

This Section Provides for Filling Vacancy Created by Official's Departure. — Upon arriving at a determination that an elected town official has removed his residence to another electoral jurisdiction, a town council, pursuant to the provisions of this section, may fill the vacancy created by the official's departure. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. John C. Wessell, III, Town Attorney, Surf City (Pender County), 58 N.C.A.G. 28 (1988).

§ 160A-64. Compensation of mayor and council.

(a) The council may fix its own compensation and the compensation of the mayor and any other elected officers of the city by adoption of the annual budget ordinance, but the salary of an elected officer other than a member of the council may not be reduced during the then-current term of office unless he agrees thereto. The mayor, councilmen, and other elected officers are entitled to reimbursement for actual expenses incurred in the course of performing their official duties at rates not in excess of those allowed to other city officers and employees, or to a fixed allowance, the amount of which shall be established by the council, for travel and other personal expenses of office; provided, any fixed allowance so established during a term of office shall not be increased during such term of office.

(b) All charter provisions in effect as of January 1, 1972, fixing the compensation or allowances of any city officer or employee are repealed, but persons holding office or employment on January 1, 1972, shall continue to receive the compensation and allowances then prescribed by law until the council provides otherwise in accordance with this section or G.S. 160A-162. (1969, c. 181, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 12; c. 1145; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 1.)

§ 160A-65: Repealed by Session Laws 1975, c. 514, s. 17.

Part 2. Mayor and Council.

Unless otherwise provided by its charter, each city shall be governed by a mayor and a council of three members, who shall be elected from the city at large for terms of two years. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-67. General powers of mayor and council.

Except as otherwise provided by law, the government and general management of the city shall be vested in the council. The powers and duties of the mayor shall be such as are conferred upon him by law, together with such other powers and duties as may be conferred upon him by the council pursuant to law. The mayor shall be recognized as the official head of the city for the purpose of service of civil process, and for all ceremonial purposes. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

City council, and not the city, was responsible for the government and general management of the city, and, thus, had final policymaking authority; accordingly, the city could not be held liable for its alleged retaliation against the storage business regarding the billing of it for water and sewer services as the entity liable had to be found liable for its policy or custom that violated the rights of another and the city was not responsible for making policy or customs. United States Cold Storage, Inc. v. City of Lumberton, — F.3d —, 2002 U.S. App. LEXIS 8392 (4th Cir. May 2, 2002).

Part 3. Organization and Procedures of the Council.

(a) The council may fix the date and time of its organizational meeting. The organizational meeting may be held at any time after the results of the municipal election have been officially determined and published pursuant to Subchapter IX of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes but not later than the date and time of the first regular meeting of the council in December after the results of the municipal election have been certified pursuant to that Subchapter. If the council fails to fix the date and time of its organizational meeting, then the meeting shall be held on the date and at the time of the first regular meeting in December after the results of the municipal election have been certified pursuant to Subchapter IX of Chapter 163 of the General Statutes.

(b) At the organizational meeting, the newly elected mayor and councilmen shall qualify by taking the oath of office prescribed in Article VI, Section 7 of the Constitution. The organization of the council shall take place notwithstanding the absence, death, refusal to serve, failure to qualify, or nonelection of one or more members, but at least a quorum of the members must be present.

(c) All local acts or provisions of city charters which prescribe a particular meeting day or date for the organizational meeting of a council are hereby repealed. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 13; c. 607; 1979, c. 168; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 2.)

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

For discussion of legal impediments which prohibit employers from disclosing personal information about their employees, see opinion of Attorney General to Bryan

E. Beatty, Inspector General, North Carolina Department of Justice, 1998 N.C.A.G. 49 (12/1/98).

§ 160A-69. Mayor to preside over council.

The mayor shall preside at all council meetings, but shall have the right to vote only when there are equal numbers of votes in the affirmative and in the negative. In a city where the mayor is elected by the council from among its membership, and the city charter makes no provision as to the right of the mayor to vote, he shall have the right to vote as a council member on all matters before the council, but shall have no right to break a tie vote in which he participated. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 3.)

Local Modification. — Town of Lewisville: 1991, c. 116, s. 1.

CASE NOTES

Power of Mayor to Vote. — Ordinarily, the office of mayor is of an executive or administrative character, and he is not permitted to vote except in cases where it is especially provided. Markham v. Simpson, 175 N.C. 135, 95 S.E. 106 (1918), decided under prior law.

§ 160A-70. Mayor pro tempore; disability of mayor.

At the organizational meeting, the council shall elect from among its members a mayor pro tempore to serve at the pleasure of the council. A councilman serving as mayor pro tempore shall be entitled to vote on all matters and shall be considered a councilman for all purposes, including the determination of whether a quorum is present. During the absence of the mayor, the council may confer upon the mayor pro tempore any of the powers and duties of the mayor. If the mayor should become physically or mentally incapable of performing the duties of his office, the council may by unanimous vote declare that he is incapacitated and confer any of his powers and duties on the mayor pro tempore. Upon the mayor's declaration that he is no longer incapacitated, and with the concurrence of a majority of the council, the mayor shall resume the exercise of his powers and duties. In the event both the mayor and the mayor pro tempore are absent from a meeting, the council may elect from its members a temporary chairman to preside in such absence. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 4.)

§ 160A-71. Regular and special meetings; recessed and adjourned meetings; procedure.

(a) The council shall fix the time and place for its regular meetings. If no action has been taken fixing the time and place for regular meetings, a regular meeting shall be held at least once a month at 10:00 A.M. on the first Monday of the month.

- (b)(1) The mayor, the mayor pro tempore, or any two members of the council may at any time call a special council meeting by signing a written notice stating the time and place of the meeting and the subjects to be considered. The notice shall be delivered to the mayor and each councilman or left at his usual dwelling place at least six hours before the meeting. Only those items of business specified in the notice may be transacted at a special meeting, unless all members are present or have signed a written waiver of notice. In addition to the procedures set out in this subsection or any city charter, a person or persons calling a special meeting of a city council shall comply with the notice requirements of Article 33C of General Statutes Chapter 143.
- (2) Special meetings may be held at any time when the mayor and all members of the council are present and consent thereto, or when those not present have signed a written waiver of notice.
- (3) During any regular meeting, or any duly called special meeting, the council may call or schedule a special meeting, provided that the motion or resolution calling or scheduling any such special meeting shall specify the time, place and purpose or purposes of such meeting and shall be adopted during an open session.

(b1) Any regular or duly called special meeting may be recessed to reconvene at a time and place certain, or may be adjourned to reconvene at a time and place certain, by the council.

(c) The council may adopt its own rules of procedure, not inconsistent with the city charter, general law, or generally accepted principles of parliamentary procedure. (1917, c. 136, subch. 13, s. 1; C.S., s. 2822; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 14; 1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1191, s. 7; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 5; 1989, c. 770, s. 37.)

Legal Periodicals. — For survey of 1978 administrative law, see 57 N.C.L. Rev. 831 (1979).

§ 160A-72. Minutes to be kept; ayes and noes.

Full and accurate minutes of the council proceedings shall be kept, and shall be open to the inspection of the public. The results of each vote shall be recorded in the minutes, and upon the request of any member of the council, the ayes and noes upon any question shall be taken. (1917, c. 136, subch. 13, s. 1; C.S., s. 2822; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 15.)

CASE NOTES

Requirement that a full and accurate journal of the proceedings be kept is merely directory and not a condition precedent to the validity of a contract regularly entered into by the municipality. Town of Graham v. Karpark Corp., 194 F.2d 616 (4th Cir. 1952), decided under former § 160-269.

§ 160A-73: Repealed by Session Laws 1971, c. 896, s. 16.

Editor's Note. — The repealed section had been enacted by Session Laws 1971, c. 698, s. 1, and required public legislative sessions of the council and that the results of each vote be recorded in the minutes.

§ 160A-74. Quorum.

A majority of the actual membership of the council plus the mayor, excluding vacant seats, shall constitute a quorum. A member who has withdrawn from a meeting without being excused by majority vote of the remaining members present shall be counted as present for purposes of determining whether or not a quorum is present. (1917, c. 136, subch. 13, s. 1; C.S., s. 2821; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1975, c. 664, s. 5; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 6.)

Local Modification. — City of Roanoke Rapids: 1995, c. 34, s. 1.

§ 160A-75. Voting.

No member shall be excused from voting except upon matters involving the consideration of the member's own financial interest or official conduct or on matters on which the member is prohibited from voting under G.S. 14-234, 160A-381(d), or 160A-388(e1). In all other cases, a failure to vote by a member who is physically present in the council chamber, or who has withdrawn without being excused by a majority vote of the remaining members present, shall be recorded as an affirmative vote. The question of the compensation and allowances of members of the council is not a matter involving a member's own financial interest or official conduct.

An affirmative vote equal to a majority of all the members of the council not excused from voting on the question in issue, including the mayor's vote in case of an equal division, shall be required to adopt an ordinance, take any action having the effect of an ordinance, authorize or commit the expenditure of public funds, or make, ratify, or authorize any contract on behalf of the city. In addition, no ordinance nor any action having the effect of any ordinance may be finally adopted on the date on which it is introduced except by an affirmative vote equal to or greater than two thirds of all the actual membership of the council, excluding vacant seats and not including the mayor unless the mayor has the right to vote on all questions before the council. For purposes of this section, an ordinance shall be deemed to have been introduced on the date the subject matter is first voted on by the council. (1917, c. 136, subch. 13, s. 1; C.S., s. 2821; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 16; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 7; 1983, c. 696; 2001-409, s. 9; 2005-426, s. 5.1(a).)

Local Modification. — Town of Elon College: 1985, c. 109.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-409, s. 10, provides that prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective dates of the provisions of the act [Session Laws 2001-409 is effective July 1, 2002] are not abated or affected by the act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for the act remain applicable to those prosecutions.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-426, s. 5.1(a), effective January 1, 2006, substituted "G.S. 14-234, 160A-381(d), or 160A-388(e1)" for "G.S. 14-234" in the first paragraph.

CASE NOTES

Personnel Policy Must Be Adopted with Formalities to Create Right. — In North Carolina to create property rights, a personnel policy must not merely be adopted, but must be adopted with the formalities necessary for it to rise to the level of an ordinance, and where plaintiff's only evidence as to personnel policy was an affidavit from the clerk of the board of commissioners stating that the personnel policy was "adopted" by the town board, the plaintiff was merely an at-will employee with no property interest in his employment and no procedural due process protections. Dunn v. Town of Emerald Isle, 722 F. Supp. 1309 (E.D.N.C. 1989), aff'd, 918 F.2d 955 (4th Cir. 1990).

Settlement of Annexation Disputes. — Settlements of annexation disputes under G.S. 160A-50(m) are not "actions having the effect of an ordinance" under G.S. 160A-75, but are a method of dispute resolution in the annexation process; therefore, there is no need to send the matter back to city council after a settlement is reached. Home Builders Ass'n of Fayetteville N.C., Inc. v. City of Fayetteville, 170 N.C. App. 625, 613 S.E.2d 521, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1072 (2005).

§ 160A-76. Franchises; technical ordinances.

(a) No ordinance making a grant, renewal, extension, or amendment of any franchise shall be finally adopted until it has been passed at two regular meetings of the council, and no such grant, renewal, extension, or amendment shall be made otherwise than by ordinance.

(b) Any published technical code or any standards or regulations promulgated by any public agency may be adopted in an ordinance by reference subject to G.S. 143-138(e). A technical code or set of standards or regulations adopted by reference in a city ordinance shall have the force of law within the city. Official copies of all technical codes, standards, and regulations adopted by reference shall be maintained for public inspection in the office of the city clerk.

§ 160A-77. Code of ordinances.

(a) Not later than July 1, 1974, each city having a population of 5,000 or more shall adopt and issue a code of its ordinances. The code may be reproduced by any method that gives legible and permanent copies, and may be issued as a securely bound book or books with periodic separately bound supplements, or as a loose-leaf book maintained by replacement pages. Supplements or replacement pages should be adopted and issued annually at least, unless no additions to or modifications of the code have been adopted by the council during the year. The code may consist of two separate parts, the "General Ordinances" and the "Technical Ordinances." The technical ordinances may be published as separate books or pamphlets, and may include ordinances regarding the construction of buildings, the installation of plumbing and electric wiring, the installation of cooling and heating equipment, the use of public utilities, buildings, or facilities operated by the city, the zoning ordinance, the subdivision control ordinance, the privilege license tax ordinance, and other similar technical ordinances designated as such by the council. The council may omit from the code designated classes of ordinances of limited interest or transitory nature, but the code should clearly describe the classes of ordinances omitted therefrom.

(b) The council may provide that one or more of the following classes of ordinances shall be codified by appropriate entries upon official map books to be retained permanently in the office of the city clerk or some other city office generally accessible to the public:

- (1) Establishing or amending the boundaries of zoning districts;
- (2) Designating the location of traffic control devices;
- (3) Designating areas or zones where regulations are applied to parking, loading, bus stops, or taxicab stands;
- (4) Establishing speed limits;
- (4a) Restricting or regulating traffic at certain times on certain streets, or to certain types, weights or sizes of vehicles;
- (5) Designating the location of through streets, stop intersections, yield-right-of-way intersections, waiting lanes, one-way streets, or truck traffic routes; and
- (6) Establishing regulations upon vehicle turns at designated locations.

(b1) The council may provide that the classes of ordinances described in paragraphs (2) through (6) of subsection (b) above, and ordinances establishing rates for utility or other public enterprise services, or ordinances establishing fees of any nature, shall be codified by entry upon official lists or schedules of the regulations established by such ordinances, or schedules of such rates or fees, to be maintained in the office of the city clerk.

(c) It is the intent of this section to make uniform the law concerning the adoption of city codes. To this end, all charter provisions in conflict with this section in effect as of January 1, 1972, are expressly repealed, except to the extent that the charter makes adoption of a code mandatory, and no local act taking effect on or after January 1, 1972, shall be construed to repeal or amend this section in whole or in part unless it shall expressly so provide by specific reference. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, ss. 8, 9.)

§ 160A-78. Ordinance book.

Effective January 1, 1972, each city shall file a true copy of each ordinance adopted on or after January 1, 1972, in an ordinance book separate and apart from the council's minute book. The ordinance book shall be appropriately indexed and maintained for public inspection in the office of the city clerk. Effective July 1, 1973, true copies of all ordinances that were adopted before January 1, 1972, and are still in effect shall be filed and indexed in the ordinance book. If the city has adopted and issued a code of ordinances in compliance with G.S. 160A-77, its ordinances shall be filed and indexed in the ordinance book until they are codified. § 160A-79. Pleading and proving city ordinances.

(a) In all civil and criminal cases a city ordinance that has been codified in a code of ordinances adopted and issued in compliance with G.S. 160A-77 must be pleaded by both section number and caption. In all civil and criminal cases a city ordinance that has not been codified in a code of ordinances adopted and issued in compliance with G.S. 160A-77 must be pleaded by its caption. In both instances, it is not necessary to plead or allege the substance or effect of the ordinance unless the ordinance has no caption and has not been codified.

(b) Any of the following shall be admitted in evidence in all actions or proceedings before courts or administrative bodies and shall have the same force and effect as would an original ordinance:

- (1) A city code adopted and issued in compliance with G.S. 160A-77, containing a statement that the code is published by order of the council.
- (2) Copies of any part of an official map book maintained in accordance with G.S. 160A-77 and certified under seal by the city clerk as having been adopted by the council and maintained in accordance with its directions (the clerk's certificate need not be authenticated).
- (3) A copy of an ordinance as set out in the minutes, code, or ordinance book of the council, certified under seal by the city clerk as a true copy (the clerk's certificate need not be authenticated).
- (4) Copies of any official lists or schedules maintained in accordance with G.S. 160A-77 and certified under seal by the city clerk as having been adopted by the council and maintained in accordance with its directions (the clerk's certificate need not be authenticated).

(c) The burden of pleading and proving the existence of any modification or repeal of an ordinance, map, or code, a copy of which has been duly pleaded or admitted in evidence in accordance with this section, shall be upon the party asserting such modification or repeal. It shall be presumed that any portion of a city code that is admitted in evidence in accordance with this section has been codified in compliance with G.S. 160A-77, and the burden of pleading and proving to the contrary shall be upon the party seeking to obtain an advantage thereby.

(d) From and after the respective effective dates of G.S. 160A-77 and 160A-78, no city ordinance shall be enforced or admitted into evidence in any court unless it has been codified or filed and indexed in accordance with G.S. 160A-77 or 160A-78. It shall be presumed that an ordinance which has been properly pleaded and proved in accordance with this section has been codified or filed and indexed in accordance with G.S. 160A-77 or 160A-78, and the burden of pleading and proving to the contrary shall be upon the party seeking to obtain an advantage thereby.

(e) It is the intent of this section to make uniform the law concerning the pleading and proving of city ordinances. To this end, all charter provisions in conflict with this section in effect as of January 1, 1972, are expressly repealed, and no local act taking effect on or after January 1, 1972, shall be construed to repeal or amend this section in whole or in part unless it shall expressly so provide by specific reference. Radio and Television Coverage. — Though radio and television coverage may not be necessary to the conduct of investigative hearings by municipalities, it does not follow that it is unreasonable to permit such coverage; conversely, radio and television coverage is rea-

§ 160A-81. Conduct of public hearings.

Public hearings may be held at any place within the city or within the county in which the city is located. The council may adopt reasonable rules governing the conduct of public hearings, including but not limited to rules (i) fixing the maximum time allotted to each speaker, (ii) providing for the designation of spokesmen for groups of persons supporting or opposing the same positions, (iii) providing for the selection of delegates from groups of persons supporting or opposing the same positions when the number of persons wishing to attend the hearing exceeds the capacity of the hall, and (iv) providing for the maintenance of order and decorum in the conduct of the hearing.

The council may continue any public hearing without further advertisement. If a public hearing is set for a given date and a quorum of the council is not then present, the hearing shall be continued until the next regular council meeting without further advertisement. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-81.1. Public comment period during regular meetings.

The council shall provide at least one period for public comment per month at a regular meeting of the council. The council may adopt reasonable rules governing the conduct of the public comment period, including, but not limited to, rules (i) fixing the maximum time allotted to each speaker, (ii) providing for the designation of spokesmen for groups of persons supporting or opposing the same positions, (iii) providing for the selection of delegates from groups of persons supporting or opposing the same positions when the number of persons wishing to attend the hearing exceeds the capacity of the hall, and (iv) providing for the maintenance of order and decorum in the conduct of the hearing. The council is not required to provide a public comment period under this section if no regular meeting is held during the month. (2005-170, s. 3.)

§ 160A-82. Applicability of Part.

Nothing in this Part, except G.S. 160A-77, 160A-78 and 160A-79, shall be construed to repeal any portion of any city charter inconsistent with anything contained herein. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§§ 160A-83 through 160A-100: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Part 4. Modification of Form of Government.

§ 160A-101. Optional forms.

Any city may change its name or alter its form of government by adopting any one or combination of the options prescribed by this section:

- (1) Name of the corporation:

The name of the corporation may be changed to any name not deceptively similar to that of another city in this State.

- (2) Style of the corporation:

The city may be styled a city, town, or village.

- (3) Style of the governing board:

The governing board may be styled the board of commissioners, the board of aldermen, or the council.

- (4) Terms of office of members of the council:

Members of the council shall serve terms of office of either two or four years. All of the terms need not be of the same length, and all of the terms need not expire in the same year.

- (5) Number of members of the council:

The council shall consist of any number of members not less than three nor more than 12.

- (6) Mode of election of the council:

- a. All candidates shall be nominated and elected by all the qualified voters of the city.

- b. The city shall be divided into single-member electoral districts; council members shall be apportioned to the districts so that each member represents the same number of persons as nearly as possible, except for members apportioned to the city at large, if any; the qualified voters of each district shall nominate and elect candidates who reside in the district for seats apportioned to that

- district; and all the qualified voters of the city shall nominate and elect candidates apportioned to the city at large, if any.
- c. The city shall be divided into single-member electoral districts; council members shall be apportioned to the districts so that each member represents the same number of persons as nearly as possible, except for members apportioned to the city at large; and candidates shall reside in and represent the districts according to the apportionment plan adopted, but all candidates shall be nominated and elected by all the qualified voters of the city.
 - d. The city shall be divided into electoral districts equal in number to one half the number of council seats; the council seats shall be divided equally into "ward seats" and "at-large seats," one each of which shall be apportioned to each district, so that each council member represents the same number of persons as nearly as possible; the qualified voters of each district shall nominate and elect candidates to the "ward seats"; candidates for the "at-large seats" shall reside in and represent the districts according to the apportionment plan adopted, but all candidates for "at-large" seats shall be nominated and elected by all the qualified voters of the city.
 - e. The city shall be divided into single-member electoral districts; council members shall be apportioned to the districts so that each member represents the same number of persons as nearly as possible, except for members apportioned to the city at large, if any; in a nonpartisan primary, the qualified voters of each district shall nominate two candidates who reside in the district, and the qualified voters of the entire city shall nominate two candidates for each seat apportioned to the city at large, if any; and all candidates shall be elected by all the qualified voters of the city.

If either of options b, c, d or e is adopted, the council shall divide the city into the requisite number of single-member electoral districts according to the apportionment plan adopted, and shall cause a map of the districts so laid out to be drawn up and filed as provided by G.S. 160A-22 and 160A-23. No more than one half of the council may be apportioned to the city at large. An initiative petition may specify the number of single-member electoral districts to be laid out, but the drawing of district boundaries and apportionment of members to the districts shall be done in all cases by the council.

(7) Elections:

- a. Partisan. — Municipal primaries and elections shall be conducted on a partisan basis as provided in G.S. 163-291.
- b. Nonpartisan Plurality. — Municipal elections shall be conducted as provided in G.S. 163-292.
- c. Nonpartisan Election and Runoff Election. — Municipal elections and runoff elections shall be conducted as provided in G.S. 163-293.
- d. Nonpartisan Primary and Election. — Municipal primaries and elections shall be conducted as provided in G.S. 163-294.

(8) Selection of mayor:

- a. The mayor shall be elected by all the qualified voters of the city for a term of not less than two years nor more than four years.
- b. The mayor shall be selected by the council from among its membership to serve at its pleasure.

Under option a, the mayor may be given the right to vote on all matters before the council, or he may be limited to voting only to break a tie. Under option b, the mayor has the right to vote on all matters before the council. In both cases the mayor has no right to break a tie vote in which he participated.

(9) Form of government:

- a. The city shall operate under the mayor-council form of government in accordance with Part 3 of Article 7 of this Chapter.
- b. The city shall operate under the council-manager form of government in accordance with Part 2 of Article 7 of this Chapter and any charter provisions not in conflict therewith. CASE NOTES Applied in Disher v. Weaver, 308 F. Supp. 2d 614, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 3849 (M.D.N.C. 2004).

§ 160A-102. Amendment by ordinance.

By following the procedure set out in this section, the council may amend the city charter by ordinance to implement any of the optional forms set out in G.S. 160A-101. The council shall first adopt a resolution of intent to consider an ordinance amending the charter. The resolution of intent shall describe the proposed charter amendments briefly but completely and with reference to the pertinent provisions of G.S. 160A-101, but it need not contain the precise text of the charter amendments necessary to implement the proposed changes. At the same time that a resolution of intent is adopted, the council shall also call a public hearing on the proposed charter amendments, the date of the hearing to be not more than 45 days after adoption of the resolution. A notice of the hearing shall be published at least once not less than 10 days prior to the date fixed for the public hearing, and shall contain a summary of the proposed amendments. Following the public hearing, but not earlier than the next regular meeting of the council and not later than 60 days from the date of the hearing, the council may adopt an ordinance amending the charter to implement the amendments proposed in the resolution of intent.

The council may, but shall not be required to unless a referendum petition is received pursuant to G.S. 160A-103, make any ordinance adopted pursuant to this section effective only if approved by a vote of the people, and may by resolution adopted at the same time call a special election for the purpose of submitting the ordinance to a vote. The date fixed for the special election shall be not more than 90 days after adoption of the ordinance.

Within 10 days after an ordinance is adopted under this section, the council shall publish a notice stating that an ordinance amending the charter has been adopted and summarizing its contents and effect. If the ordinance is made effective subject to a vote of the people, the council shall publish a notice of the election in accordance with G.S. 163-287, and need not publish a separate notice of adoption of the ordinance.

The council may not commence proceedings under this section between the time of the filing of a valid initiative petition pursuant to G.S. 160A-104 and the date of any election called pursuant to such petition. (1969, c. 629, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 20; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 11.)

Local Modification. — City of Greenville: 1989, c. 359, s. 1.

§ 160A-103. Referendum on charter amendments by ordinance.

An ordinance adopted under G.S. 160A-102 that is not made effective upon approval by a vote of the people shall be subject to a referendum petition. Upon receipt of a referendum petition bearing the signatures and residence addresses of a number of qualified voters of the city equal to at least 10 percent of the whole number of voters who are registered to vote in city elections according to the most recent figures certified by the State Board of Elections or 5,000, whichever is less, the council shall submit an ordinance adopted under G.S. 160A-102 to a vote of the people. The date of the special election shall be fixed at not more than 120 nor fewer than 60 days after receipt of the petition. A referendum petition shall be addressed to the council and shall identify the ordinance to be submitted to a vote. A referendum petition must be filed with the city clerk not later than 30 days after publication of the notice of adoption of the ordinance. (1969, c. 629, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, ss. 13, 15.)

Local Modification. — City of Wilson: 1989, c. 107, s. 1; town of Duck: 2001-394, s. 1; town of Eastover: 2007-267, s. 1 (contingent on preclearance under Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965); town of St. James: 1999-241, s. 1.

§ 160A-104. Initiative petitions for charter amendments.

The people may initiate a referendum on proposed charter amendments. An initiative petition shall bear the signatures and resident addresses of a number of qualified voters of the city equal to at least ten percent (10%) of the whole number of voters who are registered to vote in city elections according to the most recent figures certified by the State Board of Elections or 5,000, whichever is less. The petition shall set forth the proposed amendments by describing them briefly but completely and with reference to the pertinent provisions of G.S. 160A-101, but it need not contain the precise text of the charter amendments necessary to implement the proposed changes. The petition may not propose changes in the alternative, or more than one integrated set of charter amendments. Upon receipt of a valid initiative petition, the council shall call a special election on the question of adopting the charter amendments proposed therein, and shall give public notice thereof in accordance with G.S. 163-287. The date of the special election shall be fixed at not more than 120 nor fewer than 60 days after receipt of the petition. If a majority of the votes cast in the special election shall be in favor of the proposed changes, the council shall adopt an ordinance amending the charter to put them into effect. Such an ordinance shall not be subject to a referendum petition. No initiative petition may be filed (i) between the time the council initiates proceedings under G.S. 160A-102 by publishing a notice of hearing on proposed charter amendments and the time proceeding under that section have been carried to a conclusion either through adoption or rejection of a proposed ordinance or lapse of time, nor (ii) within one year and six months following the effective date of an ordinance amending the city charter pursuant to this Article, nor (iii) within one year and six months following the date of any election on charter amendments that were defeated by the voters.

The restrictions imposed by this section on filing initiative petitions shall apply only to petitions concerning the same subject matter. For example, pendency of council action on amendments concerning the method of electing the council shall not preclude an initiative petition on adoption of the council-manager form of government.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the submission of more than one proposition for charter amendments on the same ballot so long as no proposition offers a different plan under the same option as another proposition on the same ballot. (1969, c. 629, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 21; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, ss. 12, 14.)

Local Modification. — (Effective September 1, 1999) City of Charlotte: 1998-212, s. 24.2(a).

§ 160A-105. Submission of propositions to voters; form of ballot.

A proposition to approve an ordinance or petition shall be printed on the ballot in substantially the following form:

“Shall the ordinance (describe the effect of the ordinance) be approved?

() YES

() NO”

The ballot shall be separate from all other ballots used at the election.

If a majority of the votes cast on a proposition shall be in the affirmative, the plan contained therein shall be put into effect as provided in this Article. If a majority of the votes cast shall be against the proposition, the ordinance or petition proposing the amendments shall be void and of no effect. (1969, c. 629, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-106. Amendment of charter provisions dependent on form of government.

The authority conferred by this Article to amend charter provisions within the options set out in G.S. 160A-101 also includes authority to amend other charter provisions dependent on the form of city government to conform them to the form of government amendments. By way of illustration and not limitation, if a charter providing for a five-member council is amended to increase the size of the council to seven members, a charter provision defining a quorum of the council as three members shall be amended to define a quorum as four members. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-107. Plan to continue for two years.

Charter amendments adopted as provided in this Article shall continue in force for at least two years after the beginning of the term of office of the officers elected thereunder. (1969, c. 629, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-108. Municipal officers to carry out plan.

It shall be the duty of the mayor, the council, the city clerk, and other city officials in office, and all boards of election and election officials, when any plan of government is adopted as provided by this Article or is proposed for adoption, to comply with all requirements of this Article, to the end that all things may be done which are necessary for the nomination and election of the officers first to be elected under the new plan so adopted. (1969, c. 629, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-109. Effective date.

The council may submit new charter amendments proposed under this Article at any regular or special municipal election, or at a special election called for that sole purpose. Any amendment affecting the election of city officers shall be finally adopted and approved at least 90 days before the first election for mayor or council members held thereunder. (1969, c. 629, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-110. Charters to remain in force.

The charter of any city that adopts a new form of government as provided in this Article shall continue in full force and effect notwithstanding adoption of a new form of government, except to the extent modified by an ordinance adopted under the authority conferred and pursuant to the procedures prescribed by this Article. (1969, c. 629, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-111. Filing certified true copies of charter amendments.

The city clerk shall file a certified true copy of any charter amendment adopted under this Part with the Secretary of State, and the Legislative Library. (1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 935, s. 2; 1989, c. 191, s. 2.)

ARTICLE 7.Administrative Offices.Part 1. Organization and Reorganization of City Government.§ 160A-146. Council to organize city government.

The council may create, change, abolish, and consolidate offices, positions, departments, boards, commissions, and agencies of the city government and generally organize and reorganize the city government in order to promote orderly and efficient administration of city affairs, subject to the following limitations:

- (1) The council may not abolish any office, position, department, board, commission, or agency established and required by law;
- (2) The council may not combine offices or confer certain duties on the same officer when such action is specifically forbidden by law;
- (3) The council may not discontinue or assign elsewhere any functions or duties assigned by law to a particular office, position, department, or agency. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Board of Adjustment. — If a board of adjustment is created, then it must consist of at least five appointees, each with three-year terms. Such terms may not be reduced by the city council as long as the board of adjustment is in existence. However, the prohibition against the reduction of the length of the terms of the members of an existing board of adjustment does not diminish the authority of the city council to abolish the board. Board of Adjustment v. Town of Swansboro, 108 N.C. App. 198, 423 S.E.2d 498 (1992), aff'd, 334 N.C. 421, 432 S.E.2d 310, reh'g denied, 335 N.C. 182, 436 S.E.2d 369 (1993).

A town's board of commissioners authority to organize city government pursuant to this section includes the power to abolish a board of adjustment, appointed and created pursuant to G.S. 160A-388, and to thereafter create a new board of adjustment and make appointments thereto. Board of Adjustment v. Town of Swansboro, 334 N.C. 421, 432 S.E.2d 310, reh'g denied, 335 N.C. 182, 436 S.E.2d 369 (1993).

Part 2. Administration of Council-Manager Cities.

§ 160A-147. Appointment of city manager; dual office holding.

(a) In cities whose charters provide for the council-manager form of government, the council shall appoint a city manager to serve at its pleasure. The manager shall be appointed solely on the basis of the manager's executive and administrative qualifications. The manager need not be a resident of the city or State at the time of appointment. The office of city manager is hereby declared to be an office that may be held concurrently with other appointive (but not elective) offices pursuant to Article VI, Sec. 9, of the Constitution.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a), a city manager may serve on a county board of education that is elected on a non-partisan basis if the following criteria are met:

- (1) The population of the city by which the city manager is employed does not exceed 10,000;
- (2) The city is located in two counties; and
- (3) The population of the county in which the city manager resides does not exceed 40,000.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a), a city manager may hold elective office if the following criteria are met:

- (1) The population of the city by which the city manager is employed does not exceed 3,000.
- (2) The city manager is an elected official of a city other than the city by which the city manager is employed.

(d) For the purposes of this section, population figures shall be according to the latest United States decennial figures issued at the time the second office is assumed. If census figures issued after the second office is assumed increase the city or county population beyond the limits of this section, the city manager may complete the term of elected office that the city manager is then serving. (1969, c. 629, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1989, c. 49; 1997-25, s. 1.)

Local Modification. — Town of Elon College: 1985, c. 109; (As to Part 2) town of Kernersville: 1989, c. 381, s. 12.
Editor’s Note. — Session Laws 1989, c. 49, which amended this section, in s. 2 provided: “Whenever a city manager has served on a county board of education consistent with the requirements set forth in G.S. 160A-147(b) as enacted by Section 1 of this act, provided that such dual office holding commenced no earlier than January 1, 1984, that person may continue to serve in such dual capacity and shall not be deemed to have given up the first office upon assumption of the second office. Actions of neither the county board of education nor the city shall be invalid because of the dual office holding permitted or validated by this act.”

CASE NOTES

Severance Pay Not at Odds with “At Will” Employment. — An agreement providing severance pay to a town manager does not prohibit, although it may deter, a town from terminating the town manager “at will” in violation of this section. Myers v. Town of Plymouth, 135 N.C. App. 707, 522 S.E.2d 122, 1999 N.C. App. LEXIS 1237 (1999).

§ 160A-148. Powers and duties of manager.

The manager shall be the chief administrator of the city. He shall be responsible to the council for administering all municipal affairs placed in his charge by them, and shall have the following powers and duties:

- (1) He shall appoint and suspend or remove all city officers and employees not elected by the people, and whose appointment or removal is not otherwise provided for by law, except the city attorney, in accordance with such general personnel rules, regulations, policies, or ordinances as the council may adopt.
- (2) He shall direct and supervise the administration of all departments, offices, and agencies of the city, subject to the general direction and control of the council, except as otherwise provided by law.
- (3) He shall attend all meetings of the council and recommend any measures that he deems expedient.
- (4) He shall see that all laws of the State, the city charter, and the ordinances, resolutions, and regulations of the council are faithfully executed within the city.
- (5) He shall prepare and submit the annual budget and capital program to the council.
- (6) He shall annually submit to the council and make available to the public a complete report on the finances and administrative activities of the city as of the end of the fiscal year.
- (7) He shall make any other reports that the council may require concerning the operations of city departments, offices, and agencies subject to his direction and control.
- (8) He shall perform any other duties that may be required or authorized by the council. (1969, c. 629, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 22.)

CASE NOTES

Role of Manager Under Subdivision (1). — Subdivision (1) of this section prohibits the city manager from unilateral adoption of a policy establishing funding for stand-by and on-call duty for any city department. The manager’s role is limited to recommending position classification and pay plans to the city council for their ultimate approval. Newber v. City of Wilmington, 83 N.C. App. 327, 350 S.E.2d 125 (1986), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 319

N.C. 225, 353 S.E.2d 402 (1987).

Liability of City for Malicious Prosecution of Employee by City Manager. — Action of the city manager in instigating the arrest and prosecution of a municipal employee for embezzlement was done in the performance of a governmental function imposed upon the city manager, and therefore the city could not be held liable in tort by such employee in an action for malicious prosecution. McDonald v. Carper, 252 N.C. 29, 112 S.E.2d 741 (1960), decided under former § 160-349.

§ 160A-149. Acting city manager.

By letter filed with the city clerk, the manager may designate, subject to the approval of the council, a qualified person to exercise the powers and perform the duties of manager during his temporary absence or disability. During this absence or disability, the council may revoke that designation at any time and appoint another to serve until the manager returns or his disability ceases. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-150. Interim city manager.

When the position of city manager is vacant, the council shall designate a qualified person to exercise the powers and perform the duties of manager until the vacancy is filled. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-151. Mayor and councilmen ineligible to serve or act as manager.

Neither the mayor nor any member of the council shall be eligible for appointment as manager or acting or interim manager. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-152. Applicability of Part.

This Part shall apply only to those cities having the council-manager form of government. If the powers and duties of a city manager set out in any city charter shall differ materially from those set out in G.S. 160A-148, the council may by ordinance confer or impose on the manager any of the powers or duties set out in G.S. 160A-148 but not contained in the charter. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§§ 160A-153, 160A-154: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Part 3. Administration of Mayor-Council Cities.

§ 160A-155. Council to provide for administration in mayor-council cities.

The council shall appoint, suspend, and remove the heads of all city departments, and all other city employees; provided, the council may delegate to any administrative official or department head the power to appoint, suspend, and remove city employees assigned to his department. The head of each department shall see that all laws of the State, the city charter, and the ordinances, resolutions, and regulations of the council concerning his department are faithfully executed within the city. Otherwise, the administration of the city shall be performed as provided by law or direction of the council. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 16.)

§ 160A-156. Acting department heads.

By letter filed with the city clerk, the head of any department may designate, subject to the approval of the council, a qualified person to exercise the powers and perform the duties of head of that department during his temporary absence or disability. During his absence or disability, the council may revoke that designation at any time and appoint another officer to serve until the department head returns or his disability ceases. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-157. Interim department heads.

When the position of head of any department is vacant, the council may designate a qualified person to exercise the powers and perform the duties of head of the department until the vacancy is filled. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-158. Mayor and councilmen ineligible to serve or act as heads of departments.

Neither the mayor nor any member of the council shall be eligible for appointment as head of any city department or as acting or interim head of a department; provided, that in cities having a population of less than 5,000 according to the most recent official federal census, the mayor and any member of the council shall be eligible for appointment by the council as department head or other employee, and may receive reasonable compensation for such employment, notwithstanding any other provision of law. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 17.)

§ 160A-159. Applicability of Part.

This Part shall apply only to those cities having the mayor-council form of government. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§§ 160A-160, 160A-161: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Part 4. Personnel.§ 160A-162. Compensation.

(a) The council shall fix or approve the schedule of pay, expense allowances, and other compensation of all city employees, and may adopt position classification plans; any compensation or pay plan may include provisions for payments to employees on account of sickness or disability. In cities with the council-manager form of government, the manager shall be responsible for preparing position classification and pay plans for submission to the council and, after any such plans have been adopted by the council, shall administer them. In cities with the mayor-council form of government, the council shall appoint a personnel officer (or confer the duties of personnel officer on some city administrative officer); the personnel officer shall then be responsible for administering the pay plan and any position classification plan in accordance with general policies and directives adopted by the council.

(b) The council may purchase life, health, and any other forms of insurance for the benefit of all or any class of city employees and their dependents, and may provide other fringe benefits for city employees. (1923, c. 20; 1949, c. 103; 1969, c. 845; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, ss. 18, 19.)

CASE NOTES

Policy as to Payment of Employees Must Have Council Approval. — This section makes ineffective any policy as to payment of city employees in the City of Wilmington, a city with the council-manager form of government, without the approval of the Wilmington City Council. Newber v. City of Wilmington, 83 N.C. App. 327, 350 S.E.2d 125 (1986), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 319 N.C. 225, 353 S.E.2d 402 (1987).

As the evidence before the trial court on a motion for summary judgment filed by a police department did not raise a genuine issue of material fact as to whether numerous current police officers were entitled to a pay increase, because the city council had not approved any pay raise for existing employees of the police department with post-secondary degrees, the trial court properly granted summary judgment in favor of the department and against the contesting officers. City of Asheville v. Bowman, 172 N.C. App. 586, 616 S.E.2d 669, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1808 (2005).

Stand-By and On-Call Duty Policy. — Administrative policy issued by city manager's office, which indicated in its initial sentence its purposes "to establish conditions for authorizing stand-by and on-call duty, to define them and to set rates for compensation," fell within the purview of this section and its mandate as to "schedule of pay." Newber v. City of Wilmington, 83 N.C. App. 327, 350 S.E.2d 125 (1986), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 319 N.C. 225, 353 S.E.2d 402 (1987).

Compensation When No Salary Specified. — Where a municipal corporation engaged a commissioner of its sinking fund under the provisions of its charter, by which the incumbent was employed for a term of years continuously, his employment was that of a public officer, which precluded compensation based upon a quantum meruit, and he could not recover for his services in the absence of express statutory provision. Borden v. City of Goldsboro, 173 N.C. 661, 92 S.E. 694 (1917), decided under former law.

Contract with Town Manager Not Ultra Vires. — The execution of an employment contract providing severance pay to an at-will town manager was not ultra vires. Myers v. Town of Plymouth, 135 N.C. App. 707, 522 S.E.2d 122, 1999 N.C. App. LEXIS 1237 (1999).

§ 160A-163. Retirement benefits.

(a) The council may provide for enrolling city employees in the Local Governmental Employees' Retirement System, the Law-Enforcement Officers' Benefit and Relief Fund, the Firemen's Pension Fund, or a retirement plan certified to be actuarially sound by a qualified actuary as defined in subsection (d) of this section, and may make payments into any such retirement system or plan on behalf of its employees. The city may also supplement from local funds benefits provided by the Local Governmental Employees' Retirement System, the Law-Enforcement Officers' Benefit and Relief Fund, or the Firemen's Pension Fund.

(b) The council may create and administer a special fund for the relief of members of the police and fire departments who have been retired for age, or for disability or injury incurred in the line of duty, but any such funds established on or after January 1, 1972, shall be subject to the provisions of subsection (c) of this section. The council may receive donations and bequests in aid of any such fund, shall provide for its permanence and increase, and shall prescribe and regulate the conditions under which benefits may be paid.

(c) No city shall make payments into any retirement system or plan established or authorized by local act of the General Assembly unless the plan is certified to be actuarially sound by a qualified actuary as defined in subsection (d) of this section.

(d) A qualified actuary means an individual certified as qualified by the Commissioner of Insurance, or any member of the American Academy of Actuaries.

(e) A city which is providing health insurance under G.S. 160A-162(b) may provide health insurance for all or any class of former employees of the city who are receiving benefits under subsection (a) of this section or who are 65 years of age or older. Such health insurance may be paid entirely by the city, partly by the city and former employee, or entirely by the former employee, at the option of the city.

(f) The council may provide a deferred compensation plan. Where the council provides a deferred compensation plan, the investment of funds for the plan shall be exempt from the provisions of G.S. 159-30 and G.S. 159-31. Cities may invest deferred compensation plan funds in life insurance, fixed or variable annuities and retirement income contracts, regulated investment trusts, or other forms of investments approved by the Board of Trustees of the North Carolina Public Employee Deferred Compensation Plan.

(g) Should the council provide for a retirement plan, a plan which supplements a State-administered plan, or a special fund, any benefits payable from such plan or fund on account of the disability of city employees may be restricted with regard to the amount which may be earned by the disabled former employee in any other employment, but only to the extent that the earnings of disability beneficiaries in the Local Governmental Employees' Retirement System are restricted in accordance with G.S. 128-27(e)(1). (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1965, c. 931; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1981, c. 347, s. 2; 1991, c. 277, s. 2; 1995, c. 259, s. 3.)

§ 160A-164. Personnel rules.

The council may adopt or provide for rules and regulations or ordinances concerning but not limited to annual leave, sick leave, special leave with full pay or with partial pay supplementing workers' compensation payments for employees injured in accidents arising out of and in the course of employment, hours of employment, holidays, working conditions, service award and incentive award programs, other personnel policies, and any other measures that promote the hiring and retention of capable, diligent, and honest career employees. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1965, c. 931; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, c. 714, s. 2.)

CASE NOTES

Role of City Manager. — Section 160A-148(1) prohibits the city manager from the unilateral adoption of a policy establishing the funding for stand-by and on-call duty for any city department. The manager's role is limited to recommending position classification and pay plans to the city council for their ultimate approval. Newber v. City of Wilmington, 83 N.C. App. 327, 350 S.E.2d 125 (1986), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 319 N.C. 225, 353 S.E.2d 402 (1987).

§ 160A-164.1. Smallpox vaccination policy (see editor's note on condition precedent).

All municipalities that employ firefighters, police officers, paramedics, or other first responders shall, not later than 90 days after this section becomes law, enact a policy regarding sick leave and salary continuation for those employees for absence from work due to an adverse medical reaction resulting from the employee receiving in employment vaccination against smallpox incident to the Administration of Smallpox Countermeasures by Health Professionals, section 304 of the Homeland Security Act, Pub. L. No. 107-296 (Nov. 25, 2002) (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. § 233(p)). (2003-169, s. 5.)

Cross References. — As to tort claims arising from certain smallpox vaccinations of State employees, see G.S. 143-300.1A.

Condition precedent to recovery. — Session Laws 2003-169, s. 7, provides: "In the event that federal regulatory or statutory provisions providing compensation and benefits to persons for infection with smallpox, infection with vaccinia, or any adverse medical reaction incident to the Administration of Smallpox

Countermeasures by Health Professionals, section 304 of the Homeland Security Act, Pub. L. No. 107-296 (Nov. 25, 2002) (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. § 233(p)) are adopted, a condition precedent to recovery under this act shall be that the person claiming compensation and benefits under this act shall first seek compensation and benefits under the federal provisions, with those provisions constituting primary coverage and the person then being entitled to compensation and benefits under this act not exceeding a total recovery under the federal provisions and this act equal to the amount available under the applicable provisions of this act.”

The Smallpox Emergency Personnel Protection Act of 2003, Public Law 108-20, 117, Sta. 638, authorizes the Secretary of Health and Human Services to establish a Smallpox Vaccine Injury Compensation Program, which covers individuals immunized through January 23, 2005 or vaccina contacts who show symptoms by February 22, 2005.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2003-169, s. 9, made this section effective June 12, 2003, and applicable to claims arising from infection or adverse medical reactions related to smallpox vaccinations incident to the Administration of Smallpox Countermeasures by Health Professionals, section 304 of the Homeland Security Act, Pub. L. No. 107-296 (Nov. 25, 2002) (to be codified at 42 U.S.C. § 233(p)) whether the infection or adverse medical reactions occurred before, on, or after June 12, 2003.

Session Laws 2003-169, s. 8, is a severability clause.

§ 160A-164.2. Criminal history record check of employees permitted.

The council may adopt or provide for rules and regulations or ordinances concerning a requirement that any applicant for employment be subject to a criminal history record check of State and National Repositories of Criminal Histories conducted by the Department of Justice in accordance with G.S. 114-19.14. The city may consider the results of these criminal history record checks in its hiring decisions. (2003-214, s. 5.)

Editor's Note. — This section was originally enacted as G.S. 160A-164.1 by Session Laws 2003-214, s. 5. It has been renumbered as G.S. 160A-164.2 at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

§ 160A-165. Personnel board.

The council may establish a personnel board with authority to administer tests designed to determine the merit and fitness of candidates for appointment or promotion, to conduct hearings upon the appeal of employees who have been suspended, demoted, or discharged, and hear employee grievances. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1965, c. 931; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-166. Participation in Social Security Act.

The council may take any action necessary to allow city employees to participate fully in benefits provided by the federal Social Security Act. (1949, c. 103; 1969, c. 845; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-167. Defense of employees and officers; payment of judgments.

(a) Upon request made by or in behalf of any member or former member of the governing body of any authority, or any city, county, or authority employee or officer, or former employee or officer, any soil and water conservation supervisor or any local soil and water conservation employee, whether the employee is a district or county employee, or any member of a volunteer fire department or rescue squad which receives public funds, any city, authority, county, soil and water conservation district, or county alcoholic beverage control board may provide for the defense of any civil or criminal action or proceeding brought against him either in his official or in his individual capacity, or both, on account of any act done or omission made, or any act allegedly done or omission allegedly made, in the scope and course of his employment or duty as an employee or officer of the city, authority, county or county alcoholic beverage control board. The defense may be provided by the city, authority, county or county alcoholic beverage control board by its own counsel, or by employing other counsel, or by purchasing insurance which requires that the insurer provide the defense. Providing for a defense pursuant to this section is hereby declared to be for a public purpose, and the expenditure of funds therefor is hereby declared to be a necessary expense. Nothing in this section shall be deemed to require any city, authority, county or county alcoholic beverage control board to provide for the defense of any action or proceeding of any nature.

(b) Any city council or board of county commissioners may appropriate funds for the purpose of paying all or part of a claim made or any civil judgment entered against any of its members or former members of the governing body of any authority, or any city, county, or authority employees or officers, or former employees or officers, or any soil and water conservation supervisor or any local soil and water conservation employee, whether the employee is a district or county employee, when such claim is made or such judgment is rendered as damages on account of any act done or omission made, or any act allegedly done or omission allegedly made, in the scope and course of his employment or duty as a member or former member of the governing body of any authority, or any city, county, district, or authority employee or officer of the city, authority, district, or county; provided, however, that nothing in this section shall authorize any city, authority, district, or county to appropriate funds for the purpose of paying any claim made or civil judgment entered against any of its members or former members of the governing body of any authority, or any city, county, district, or authority employees or officers or former employees or officers if the city council or board of county commissioners finds that such members or former members of the governing body of any authority, or any city, county, or authority employee or officer acted or failed to act because of actual fraud, corruption or actual malice on his part. Any city, authority, or county may purchase insurance coverage for payment of claims or judgments pursuant to this section. Nothing in this section shall be deemed to require any city, authority, or county to pay any claim or judgment referred to herein, and the purchase of insurance coverage for payment of any such claim or judgment shall not be deemed an assumption of any liability not covered by such insurance contract, and shall not be deemed an assumption of liability for payment of any claim or judgment in excess of the limits of coverage in such insurance contract.

(c) Subsection (b) shall not authorize any city, authority, or county to pay all or part of a claim made or civil judgment entered unless (1) notice of the claim or litigation is given to the city council, authority governing board, or board of county commissioners as the case may be prior to the time that the claim is settled or civil judgment is entered, and (2) the city council, authority governing board, or board of county commissioners as the case may be shall have adopted, and made available for public inspection, uniform standards under which claims made or civil judgments entered against members or former members of the governing body of any authority, or any city, county, or authority employees or officers, or former employees or officers, shall be paid.

(d) For the purposes of this section, "authority" means an authority organized under Article 1 of Chapter 162A of the General Statutes, the North Carolina Water and Sewer Authorities Act. "District" means a soil and water conservation district organized under Chapter 139 of the General Statutes. (1967, c. 1093; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 23; c. 1450; 1977, c. 307, s. 2; c. 834, s. 1; 1983, c. 525, ss. 1-4; 2001-300, s. 2.)

CASE NOTES

Action Under Section Does Not Waive Immunity. — Section 106A-485 provides that the only way a city may waive its governmental immunity is by the purchase of liability insurance. Action by the City under this section does not waive immunity. Blackwelder v. City of Winston-Salem, 332 N.C. 319, 420 S.E.2d 432 (1992).

When taxpayers sued county commissioners for entering into a contract that benefitted one of the commissioners, evidence of the amount spent by the county to defend the commissioners was admissible; the actions of one of the commissioners were unquestionably outside the scope of his office, due to his clear violation of the conflict of interest statute, G.S. 14-234(a), so that he was not entitled to have his defense provided by the county, and, while the actions of the other commissioners did not rise to a violation of the conflict of interest law, their actions combined with their judgment and knowledge of the actions of the commissioner who was guilty of a conflict of interest raised questions as to whether their conduct was within the course and scope of their office. Gibbs v. Mayo, 162 N.C. App. 549, 591 S.E.2d 905, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 252 (2004), cert. denied, 358 N.C. 543, 599 S.E.2d 45 (2004).

§ 160A-168. Privacy of employee personnel records.

(a) Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 132-6 or any other general law or local act concerning access to public records, personnel files of employees, former employees, or applicants for employment maintained by a city are subject to inspection and may be disclosed only as provided by this section. For purposes of this section, an employee's personnel file consists of any information in any form gathered by the city with respect to that employee and, by way of illustration but not limitation, relating to his application, selection or nonselection, performance, promotions, demotions, transfers, suspension and other disciplinary actions, evaluation forms, leave, salary, and termination of employment. As used in this section, "employee" includes former employees of the city.

(b) The following information with respect to each city employee is a matter of public record: name; age; date of original employment or appointment to the service; the terms of any contract by which the employee is employed whether written or oral, past and current, to the extent that the city has the written contract or a record of the oral contract in its possession; current position title; current salary; date and amount of the most recent increase or decrease in salary; date of the most recent promotion, demotion, transfer, suspension, separation, or other change in position classification; and the office to which the employee is currently assigned. For the purposes of this subsection, the term "salary" includes pay, benefits, incentives, bonuses, and deferred and all other forms of compensation paid by the employing entity. The city council shall determine in what form and by whom this information will be maintained. Any person may have access to this information for the purpose of inspection, examination, and copying, during regular business hours, subject only to such rules and regulations for the safekeeping of public records as the city council may have adopted. Any person denied access to this information may apply to the appropriate division of the General Court of Justice for an order compelling disclosure, and the court shall have jurisdiction to issue such orders.

(c) All information contained in a city employee's personnel file, other than the information made public by subsection (b) of this section, is confidential and shall be open to inspection only in the following instances:

- (1) The employee or his duly authorized agent may examine all portions of his personnel file except (i) letters of reference solicited prior to employment, and (ii) information concerning a medical disability, mental or physical, that a prudent physician would not divulge to his patient.
- (2) A licensed physician designated in writing by the employee may examine the employee's medical record.
- (3) A city employee having supervisory authority over the employee may examine all material in the employee's personnel file.
- (4) By order of a court of competent jurisdiction, any person may examine such portion of an employee's personnel file as may be ordered by the court.
- (5) An official of an agency of the State or federal government, or any political subdivision of the State, may inspect any portion of a personnel file when such inspection is deemed by the official having custody of such records to be necessary and essential to the pursuance of a proper function of the inspecting agency, but no information shall be divulged for the purpose of assisting in a criminal prosecution (of the employee), or for the purpose of assisting in an investigation of (the employee's) tax liability. However, the official having custody of such records may release the name, address, and telephone number from a personnel file for the purpose of assisting in a criminal investigation.
- (6) An employee may sign a written release, to be placed with his personnel file, that permits the person with custody of the file to provide, either in person, by telephone, or by mail, information specified in the release to prospective employers, educational institutions, or other persons specified in the release.
- (7) The city manager, with concurrence of the council, or, in cities not having a manager, the council may inform any person of the employment or nonemployment, promotion, demotion, suspension or other disciplinary action, reinstatement, transfer, or termination of a city employee and the reasons for that personnel action. Before releasing the information, the manager or council shall determine in writing that the release is essential to maintaining public confidence in the administration of city services or to maintaining the level and quality of city services. This written determination shall be retained in the office of the manager or the city clerk, and is a record available for public inspection and shall become part of the employee's personnel file.

(c1) Even if considered part of an employee's personnel file, the following information need not be disclosed to an employee nor to any other person:

- (1) Testing or examination material used solely to determine individual qualifications for appointment, employment, or promotion in the city's service, when disclosure would compromise the objectivity or the fairness of the testing or examination process.
- (2) Investigative reports or memoranda and other information concerning the investigation of possible criminal actions of an employee, until the investigation is completed and no criminal action taken, or until the criminal action is concluded.

- (3) Information that might identify an undercover law enforcement officer or a law enforcement informer.
- (4) Notes, preliminary drafts and internal communications concerning an employee. In the event such materials are used for any official personnel decision, then the employee or his duly authorized agent shall have a right to inspect such materials.

(c2) The city council may permit access, subject to limitations they may impose, to selected personnel files by a professional representative of a training, research, or academic institution if that person certifies that he will not release information identifying the employees whose files are opened and that the information will be used solely for statistical, research, or teaching purposes. This certification shall be retained by the city as long as each personnel file examined is retained.

(d) The city council of a city that maintains personnel files containing information other than the information mentioned in subsection (b) of this section shall establish procedures whereby an employee who objects to material in his file on grounds that it is inaccurate or misleading may seek to have the material removed from the file or may place in the file a statement relating to the material.

(e) A public official or employee who knowingly, willfully, and with malice permits any person to have access to information contained in a personnel file, except as is permitted by this section, is guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor and upon conviction shall only be fined an amount not more than five hundred dollars ($500.00).

(f) Any person, not specifically authorized by this section to have access to a personnel file designated as confidential, who shall knowingly and willfully examine in its official filing place, remove or copy any portion of a confidential personnel file shall be guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor and upon conviction shall only be fined in the discretion of the court but not in excess of five hundred dollars ($500.00). (1975, c. 701, s. 2; 1981, c. 926, ss. 1-4; 1993, c. 539, ss. 1084, 1085; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 2007-508, s. 7.)

Local Modification. — City of Charlotte: 1997-305, s. 3; city of Durham: 1998-142, s. 1; city of Greensboro: 2001-20; city of Wilmington: 2003-238, s. 1.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2007-508, s. 7, effective August 30, 2007, in subsection (b), inserted “the terms of any contract by which the employee is employed whether written or oral, past and current, to the extent that the city has the written contract or a record of the oral contract in its possession” in the first sentence and added the second sentence.

CASE NOTES

Subdivision (c)(4) of this section specifically authorizes disclosure by order of a court of competent jurisdiction. Hall v. Helms, 118 F.R.D. 51 (W.D.N.C. 1987).

The plain language of subsection (c)(4) indicates that a superior court, being a court of competent jurisdiction, has the authority to allow inspection of the personnel files of police officers. In re Brooks, 143 N.C. App. 601, 548 S.E.2d 748, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 344 (2001).

This section does not create a civil cause of action. Houpe v. City of Statesville, 128

N.C. App. 334, 497 S.E.2d 82 (1998), cert. denied, 348 N.C. 72, 505 S.E.2d 871 (1998).

Ex Parte Petitions for Disclosure under Subsection (c)(4). — An ex parte petition submitted pursuant to subsection (c)(4) should be accompanied by sworn affidavits or similar evidence, including specific factual allegations detailing reasons justifying disclosure and stating the statutory grounds which allow disclosure, the court should docket petitions submitted and orders entered pursuant to subsection (c)(4) per its rules for docketing special proceedings, and the Superior Court should make an independent determination that the interests of justice require disclosure of the confidential employment information. In re Brooks, 143

N.C. App. 601, 548 S.E.2d 748, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 344 (2001).

Applied in Spell v. McDaniel, 591 F. Supp. 1090 (E.D.N.C. 1984).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Attorney-Client Communications to City on Personnel Matters. — Written attorney-client communications to a city (including the city manager and city council) on specific personnel matters related to an employee that are more than three years old, and which are confidential under G.S. 160A-168(a), are not public records; by its specific terms, G.S. 160A-168(a) supersedes the requirement in G.S. 132-1.1 that privileged attorney-client communications must be disclosed three years after they are received. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Grady Joseph Wheeler, Jr., Esq., Attorney, 2001 N.C. AG LEXIS 15 (5/30/2001).

§ 160A-169. City employee political activity.

(a) Purpose. The purpose of this section is to ensure that city employees are not subjected to political or partisan coercion while performing their job duties, to ensure that employees are not restricted from political activities while off duty, and to ensure that public funds are not used for political or partisan activities.

It is not the purpose of this section to allow infringement upon the rights of employees to engage in free speech and free association. Every city employee has a civic responsibility to support good government by every available means and in every appropriate manner. Employees shall not be restricted from affiliating with civic organizations of a partisan or political nature, nor shall employees, while off duty, be restricted from attending political meetings, or advocating and supporting the principles or policies of civic or political organizations, or supporting partisan or nonpartisan candidates of their choice in accordance with the Constitution and laws of the State and the Constitution and laws of the United States of America.

(b) Definitions. For the purposes of this section:

- (1) "City employee" or "employee" means any person employed by a city or any department or program thereof that is supported, in whole or in part, by city funds;
- (2) "On duty" means that time period when an employee is engaged in the duties of his or her employment; and
- (3) "Workplace" means any place where an employee engages in his or her job duties.

(c) No employee while on duty or in the workplace may:

- (1) Use his or her official authority or influence for the purpose of interfering with or affecting the result of an election or nomination for political office; or
- (2) Coerce, solicit, or compel contributions for political or partisan purposes by another employee.

(d) No employee may be required as a duty or condition of employment, promotion, or tenure of office to contribute funds for political or partisan purposes.

(e) No employee may use city funds, supplies, or equipment for partisan purposes, or for political purposes except where such political uses are otherwise permitted by law.

(f) To the extent that this section conflicts with the provisions of any local act, city charter, local ordinance, resolution, or policy, this section prevails to the extent of the conflict. (1991, c. 619, s. 2; 1993, c. 298, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — The number of this section was assigned by the Revisor of Statutes. The number assigned by the enacting act, G.S. 160A-99, was apparently a typographical error.

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

The provisions of this section and § 153A-99 are applicable to elected officials of counties and cities. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. William R. Gilkeson, Staff Attorney, N.C. General Assembly, 1998 N.C.A.G. 1 (1/14/98).

§ 160A-170: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Part 5. City Clerk.

§ 160A-171. City clerk; duties.

There shall be a city clerk who shall give notice of meetings of the council, keep a journal of the proceedings of the council, be the custodian of all city records, and shall perform any other duties that may be required by law or the council. (1917, c. 136, subch. 13, s. 1; C.S., s. 2826; 1941, c. 103; 1949, c. 14; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

Town Clerk. — Trial court did not err in denying the town's motion to dismiss the newspaper's amended complaint for lack of standing and for the alleged failure to join a necessary party, the town clerk, as the newspaper was a party to the action who sought the disclosure of the alleged public records at issue and, thus, the newspaper had standing to request the documents, and it was not necessary to join the town clerk to the action before all necessary parties to the action were before the trial court. Womack Newspapers, Inc. v. Town of Kitty Hawk, — N.C. App. —, 639 S.E.2d 96, 2007 N.C. App. LEXIS 81 (2007).

§ 160A-172. Deputy clerk.

The council may provide for a deputy city clerk who shall have full authority to exercise and perform any of the powers and duties of the city clerk that may be specified by the council. (1917, c. 136, subch. 13, s. 1; C.S., s. 2826; 1941, c. 103; 1949, c. 14; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

Part 6. City Attorney.

§ 160A-173. City attorney; appointment and duties.

The council shall appoint a city attorney to serve at its pleasure and to be its legal adviser. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

ARTICLE 8.

Delegation and Exercise of the General Police Power.

§ 160A-174. General ordinance-making power.

(a) A city may by ordinance define, prohibit, regulate, or abate acts, omissions, or conditions, detrimental to the health, safety, or welfare of its citizens and the peace and dignity of the city, and may define and abate nuisances.

(b) A city ordinance shall be consistent with the Constitution and laws of North Carolina and of the United States. An ordinance is not consistent with State or federal law when:

- (1) The ordinance infringes a liberty guaranteed to the people by the State or federal Constitution;
- (2) The ordinance makes unlawful an act, omission or condition which is expressly made lawful by State or federal law;
- (3) The ordinance makes lawful an act, omission, or condition which is expressly made unlawful by State or federal law;
- (4) The ordinance purports to regulate a subject that cities are expressly forbidden to regulate by State or federal law;
- (5) The ordinance purports to regulate a field for which a State or federal statute clearly shows a legislative intent to provide a complete and integrated regulatory scheme to the exclusion of local regulation;
- (6) The elements of an offense defined by a city ordinance are identical to the elements of an offense defined by State or federal law.

The fact that a State or federal law, standing alone, makes a given act, omission, or condition unlawful shall not preclude city ordinances requiring a higher standard of conduct or condition. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- II. Sunday Ordinances.
- III. Other Specific Ordinances.

I. IN GENERAL.

Editor’s Note. — Many of the cases cited below were decided under former similar provisions.

Through this section and § 160A-186 the legislature has delegated to the municipalities a part of its police power, which may be exercised to protect or promote the health, morals, order, safety and general welfare of society. Town of Atlantic Beach v. Young, 307 N.C. 422, 298 S.E.2d 686, appeal dismissed, 462 U.S. 1101, 103 S. Ct. 2446, 77 L. Ed. 2d 1328 (1983).

Power to Enact Ordinances. — Established municipal authorities may enact such ordinances as are promotive of the peace and good order of the town, the limitation being that the regulations may not be unreasonable or unduly discriminative nor manifestly oppressive and in derogation of common right. State v. Burbage, 172 N.C. 876, 89 S.E. 795 (1916).

The necessary implication of subdivision (b)(3) is that the General Assembly intended to allow the issuance of a preliminary injunction upon a showing by plaintiffs of a likelihood of success on the merits of a tort claim and some type of irreparable harm, even where an ordinance has not been enforced by local authorities or where an ordinance might permit one to pursue a course of action that otherwise would constitute a potential tort claim under State law. Kaplan v. Prolife Action League, 111 N.C. App. 1, 431 S.E.2d 828, appeal dismissed and discretionary review denied, 335 N.C. 175, 436 S.E.2d 379 (1993), cert. denied, 512 U.S. 1253, 114 S. Ct. 2783, 129 L. Ed. 2d 894 (1994).

It is not necessary now to aver authority conferred by a general and public law to pass an ordinance, as it was when that authority was derived under a special act of incorporation. State v. Merritt, 83 N.C. 677 (1880).

A municipal ordinance is presumed to be valid, and the burden is upon the complaining party to show its invalidity or inapplicability. Currituck County v. Willey, 46 N.C. App. 835, 266 S.E.2d 52, cert. denied, 283 S.E.2d 131 (1980).

A municipal ordinance promulgated in the exercise of the police power will not be declared unconstitutional unless it is clearly so, and every intendment will be made to sustain it. Currituck County v. Willey, 46 N.C. App. 835, 266 S.E.2d 52, cert. denied, 283 S.E.2d 131 (1980).

Doubt as to whether an ordinance is invalid, as conflicting with individual rights, should be resolved against the city. Slaughter v. O'Berry, 126 N.C. 181, 35 S.E. 241, 48 L.R.A. 442 (1900).

The courts will not inquire into the motives which prompt a municipality's legislative body to enact an ordinance which is valid on its face. Clark's Greenville, Inc. v. West, 268 N.C. 527, 151 S.E.2d 5 (1966).

Courts Will Be Slow to Interfere. — By this section discretionary power is vested in the city authorities, and the courts will be slow to interfere when the ordinance is not contrary to the laws of the State and no fraud, dishonesty, or oppression is charged. State v. Austin, 114 N.C. 855, 19 S.E. 919 (1894).

Unless municipality's action is so clearly unreasonable as to amount to oppression and manifest abuse of discretion, courts will be slow to interfere, and then the power of the court will be exercised with great caution and only in a clear case. Jones v. Town of N. Wilkesboro, 150 N.C. 646, 64 S.E. 866 (1909).

Scope of Courts' Review. — Where town passed ordinance pursuant to its police power as provided under G.S. 160A-186 and expressly stated that its purpose was to protect the health, safety and welfare of the town, review of validity of such ordinance would be to determine if the police power had been exercised within the constitutional limitations imposed by both the state and federal Constitutions. Such review would not include an analysis of the motives which prompted the passage of the ordinance, because so long as an act is not forbidden, the wisdom of the enactment is exclusively a legislative decision. Town of Atlantic Beach v. Young, 307 N.C. 422, 298 S.E.2d 686, appeal dismissed, 462 U.S. 1101, 103 S. Ct. 2446, 77 L. Ed. 2d 1328 (1983).

As to stay of federal court action, see Brown v. Brannon, 399 F. Supp. 133 (M.D.N.C. 1975), aff'd, 535 F.2d 1249 (4th Cir. 1976).

Challenge to Constitutionality of Criminal Statute or Ordinance in Action to Enjoin Enforcement. — Notwithstanding the general rule that the constitutionality of a statute or ordinance purporting to create a criminal offense may not be challenged in an action to enjoin its enforcement, a well-established exception permits such action when injunctive relief is essential to the protection of property rights and the rights of persons against injuries otherwise irremediable. Raleigh Mobile Home Sales, Inc. v. Tomlinson, 7 N.C. App. 289, 172 S.E.2d 276, aff'd, 276 N.C. 661, 174 S.E.2d 542 (1970).

Succeeding boards of commissioners are deemed to act subject to the provisions of previous ordinances passed by their predecessors in authority, until they see fit to repeal them. Hutchins v. Town of Durham, 118 N.C. 457, 24 S.E. 723 (1896).

General Laws Prevail over Ordinances. — Municipal bylaws and ordinances must be in harmony with the general laws of the State, and whenever they come in conflict with the general laws, the bylaws and ordinances must give way. Washington v. Hammond, 76 N.C. 33 (1877); State v. Stevens, 114 N.C. 873, 19 S.E. 861 (1894); State v. Williams, 283 N.C. 550, 196 S.E.2d 756 (1973).

Although the majority of cases dealing with a conflict between a municipal ordinance and a state statute have arisen in criminal actions, the same principles apply in civil causes. Greene v. City of Winston-Salem, 287 N.C. 66, 213 S.E.2d 231 (1975).

In determining whether the General Assembly intended to provide statewide regulation of the land application of biosolids to the exclusion of local regulation, the court must ascertain if the General Assembly has shown a clear legislative intent to provide a complete and integrated regulatory scheme. Granville Farms, Inc. v. County of Granville, 170 N.C. App. 109, 612 S.E.2d 156, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 906 (2005).

Legislative Classifications to Bear Reasonable Relation to Purpose. — The equal protection clauses of the United States and North Carolina Constitutions impose upon law-making bodies the requirement that any legislative classification be based on differences that are reasonably related to the purposes of the act in which it is found. State v. Greenwood, 280 N.C. 651, 187 S.E.2d 8 (1972).

So long as classification made by ordinance bears some reasonable relationship to the public welfare which the ordinance seeks to promote, the ordinance will not be rendered unconstitutional merely because persons in one class derive some incidental competitive advantage over those in another. Raleigh Mobile Home Sales, Inc. v. Tomlinson, 7 N.C. App. 289, 172

Authority to abate nuisances is liberally construed by the courts for the benefit of the citizens. State v. Beacham, 125 N.C. 652, 34 S.E. 447 (1899).

No Liability for Failure to Enact or Enforce Ordinances. — A municipal corporation is not civilly liable for failure to pass ordinances to preserve the public health or otherwise promote the public good, nor for any omission to enforce the ordinances enacted under the legislative powers granted in its charter or to see that they are properly observed by its citizens or by those who may be resident within the corporate limits. Bunch v. Edenton, 90 N.C. 431 (1886); Hull v. Town of Roxboro, 142 N.C. 453, 55 S.E. 351 (1906); Harrington v. Town of Greenville, 159 N.C. 632, 75 S.E. 849 (1912).

But a city is liable in damages for failure to abate a nuisance that amounts to an obstruction in a street in a reasonable time. Dillon v. City of Raleigh, 124 N.C. 184, 32 S.E. 548 (1899).

When Owner Is Entitled to Compensation for Abatement of Nuisance. — An owner of property is not entitled to compensation for property rightfully destroyed or damaged by a city in abating a nuisance; the reason for this is that the destruction or damage is for public safety or health and is not a taking of private property for public use without compensation or due process in the constitutional sense. Rhyne v. Town of Mount Holly, 251 N.C. 521, 112 S.E.2d 40 (1960).

A municipality is liable for impairing, removing or destroying property, ostensibly in the abatement of a nuisance, where the thing or condition in question is not a nuisance per se, under statute or in fact, or where the thing or condition has not been declared to be a nuisance. Rhyne v. Town of Mount Holly, 251 N.C. 521, 112 S.E.2d 40 (1960).

As to legislative authority of board of aldermen of Winston-Salem, see Southern Ry. v. City of Winston-Salem, 275 N.C. 465, 168 S.E.2d 396 (1969).

Conflict Between Regulation Adopted by State Agency and Municipal Ordinance. — Provision of the Gastonia (North Carolina) City Code that governed outdoor billboards conflicted with a regulation that was adopted by the North Carolina Department of Transportation (DOT) to implement North Carolina's Outdoor Advertising Control Act, G.S. 136-126 et seq., and was preempted by the DOT's regulation. Morris Communs. Corp. v. Bd. of Adjustment, 159 N.C. App. 598, 583 S.E.2d 419, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1530 (2003), appeal dismissed sub nom. Morris Communs. v. Bd. of Adjust., 357 N.C. 658, 590 S.E.2d 269 (2003).

Ordinance for State-Owned Beach. —

Because the renourishment projects undertaken by the town to restore ocean turtle habitat were publicly financed sand placement projects, title to the newly-created beach was vested in the State, and despite the protests of ocean front property owners, the appellate court could find nothing in the State Lands Act, codified at G.S. 146-1 et seq., which limited the authority of a town or city to enact regulations in order to protect a public beach located within its municipal limits. Slavin v. Town of Oak Island, 160 N.C. App. 57, 584 S.E.2d 100, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1670 (2003), notice of appeal dismissed, cert. denied, 357 N.C. 659, 590 S.E.2d 271 (2003).

Applied in State v. Underwood, 283 N.C. 154, 195 S.E.2d 489 (1973); Smith v. Keator, 21 N.C. App. 102, 203 S.E.2d 411 (1974); Craig v. County of Chatham, 143 N.C. App. 30, 545 S.E.2d 455, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 221 (2001), cert. granted, 354 N.C. 68, 553 S.E.2d 37 (2001).

LEXIS 595 (2003).

II. SUNDAY ORDINANCES.

Constitutionality Generally. — Ordinances prohibiting certain activities on Sunday, enacted pursuant to this section, are not in contravention of N.C. Const., Art. I, § 13. State v. McGee, 237 N.C. 633, 75 S.E.2d 783, appeal dismissed, 346 U.S. 802, 74 S. Ct. 50, 98 L. Ed. 334, rehearing denied, 346 U.S. 918, 74 S. Ct. 272, 98 L. Ed. 413 (1953).

Sunday observance ordinances, when they proscribe buying and selling, whether it be tangible merchandise or a ticket to an amusement or a sporting event, regulate trade under the broad definition of trade which has been adopted by the Supreme Court. Since, however, these city ordinances are passed under general laws, with reference to them there is no conflict between the exercise of the police power and N.C. Const., Art. II, § 24. State v. Smith, 265 N.C. 173, 143 S.E.2d 293 (1965).

The provisions of N.C. Const., Art. I, § 13 and 19, do not deprive the legislature of authority to prohibit by a statute, otherwise valid, the carrying on of and engaging in, on Sunday, any and all labor and the operation of industrial and commercial pursuits, except for works of necessity and acts which, themselves, are in exercise of the constitutional right to worship. The legislature may delegate this power to municipalities. Such legislation is within the police power of the State and, nothing else appearing, is not a violation of U.S. Const., Amends. I and XIV. Raleigh Mobile Home Sales, Inc. v. Tomlinson, 276 N.C. 661, 174 S.E.2d 542 (1970).

Enactment of Sunday regulations comes within the police power, and the General Assembly or a municipal governing board exercising delegated power may enact such regulations provided the classifications of those affected are based upon reasonable distinctions, affect all persons similarly situated, and have some reasonable relation to the public peace, welfare, and safety. Clark's Charlotte, Inc. v. Hunter, 261 N.C. 222, 134 S.E.2d 364 (1964).

Power to enact Sunday ordinances has been delegated to municipalities of the State. State v. Trantham, 230 N.C. 641, 55 S.E.2d 198 (1949).

Reasonable and Nondiscriminatory Ordinances Upheld. — When enacted by cities and towns under general laws, Sunday observance ordinances which are reasonable and do not discriminate within a class of competitors similarly situated have been upheld as a valid exercise of delegated police power. State v. Smith, 265 N.C. 173, 143 S.E.2d 293 (1965).

Ordinance regulating sale of merchandise on Sunday held valid. Clark's Greenville, Inc. v. West, 268 N.C. 527, 151 S.E.2d 5 (1966).

Sunday observance ordinances adopted in the exercise of the police power conferred by the General Assembly upon cities and towns have been upheld by the Supreme Court. Whitney Stores, Inc. v. Clark, 277 N.C. 322, 177 S.E.2d 418 (1970).

Validity of Ordinance Dependent on Reasonable Relation to Legitimate Objective. — The validity of a Sunday closing statute or ordinance depends upon its reasonable relation to the accomplishment of the State's legitimate objective, which, in this instance, is the promotion of the public health, safety, morals and welfare by the establishment of a day of rest and relaxation. Legislation for this purpose, like other legislation, may not discriminate arbitrarily either between persons, or groups of persons, or between activities which are prohibited and those which are permitted. State v. Greenwood, 280 N.C. 651, 187 S.E.2d 8 (1972).

The general rule is that the enactment of Sunday regulations is a legitimate exercise of the police power, and that the classification on which a Sunday law is based is within the discretion of the legislative branch of the government or within the discretion of the governing body of a municipality clothed with power to enact and enforce ordinances for the observance of Sunday, and will be upheld, provided the classification is founded upon reasonable distinctions, affects all persons similarly situated or engaged in the same business without discrimination, and has some reasonable relation to the public peace, welfare and safety. State v. Greenwood, 280 N.C. 651, 187 S.E.2d 8 (1972).

Difference in Treatment of Businesses Must Have Reasonable Basis. — The objective of a municipal ordinance being the establishment of Sunday as a day of general rest and relaxation, the difference in treatment by the ordinance of two types of business must be supported by a reasonable basis for the conclusion that one, substantially more than the other, will interfere with such use and enjoyment of the day. Raleigh Mobile Home Sales, Inc. v. Tomlinson, 276 N.C. 661, 174 S.E.2d 542 (1970).

Burden of Showing Absence of Reasonable Basis on Complainant. — The legislative body has wide discretion in determining which activities do and which activities do not interfere with the observance of Sunday as a day of general rest and relaxation sufficiently to justify the prohibition of those activities on that day. The burden rests upon the person complaining to establish the absence of a reasonable basis for such determination. Raleigh Mobile Home Sales, Inc. v. Tomlinson, 276 N.C. 661, 174 S.E.2d 542 (1970).

Prohibition of Ordinary Business Pursuits. — It is against the public policy of the State that one should pursue his ordinary business calling on Sunday, and it is very generally understood not only that ordinary business pursuits may be regulated, but altogether prohibited on Sunday. State v. Medlin, 170 N.C. 682, 86 S.E. 597 (1915); State v. Burbage, 172 N.C. 876, 89 S.E. 795 (1916).

Sunday closing ordinance which singled out and banned the operation of billiard halls on Sunday, but permitted other businesses which provided facilities for recreation, sports and amusements, which were potentially as equally disruptive, violated the equal protection clauses of the North Carolina and United States Constitutions. State v. Greenwood, 280 N.C. 651, 187 S.E.2d 8 (1972).

Opening of Drugstores Only. — An ordinance of a town may, under the provisions of this section, prohibit the opening of all places of business on Sunday, except drugstores, and it is not an unreasonable regulation, under the police power of the town, inasmuch as drugstores are open all day Sunday, for the governing authorities to further provide that they may sell articles of common use which are quasi-necessities to many, such as mineral waters, soft drinks, cigars and tobacco, only between certain hours of that day. State v. Medlin, 170 N.C. 682, 86 S.E. 597 (1915).

Failure to Except Department Stores Upheld. — A municipal ordinance prohibiting generally the operation of all businesses within a municipality on Sunday, but excepting certain businesses, including hotels, drugstores, magazine stands, etc., did not result in unlawful discrimination in regard to general department stores, even though such stores had departments selling the same types of goods as stores within the classifications excepted from the ordinance, since the classification of general department stores, as distinguished from drugstores, bakeries, etc., was based upon a reasonable distinction and the ordinance operated equally upon all within several classifications. Clark's Charlotte, Inc. v. Hunter, 261 N.C. 222, 134 S.E.2d 364 (1964).

Sunday observance ordinance classifying "sporting goods and toys" as prohibited items and live bait as permitted was not unreasonable, arbitrary or discriminatory. S.S. Kresge Co. v. Tomlinson, 275 N.C. 1, 165 S.E.2d 236 (1969).

Prohibition of Sales of Mobile But Not Conventional Homes. — A municipal ordinance which prohibited the sale on Sunday of mobile homes but which did not prohibit the sale on Sunday of conventional homes was valid, since a classification based on the differences between the two types of selling, i.e., presence or absence of traffic, congestion, and noise, bore a reasonable relation to the purpose of the ordinance in establishing Sunday as a day of rest and relaxation. Raleigh Mobile Home Sales, Inc. v. Tomlinson, 276 N.C. 661, 174 S.E.2d 542 (1970).

Sale of Coca-Cola. — Regulating the sale of merchandise, drinks, etc., on Sunday is a valid exercise of the police powers of an incorporated city or town. And while the service of meals within the municipality at restaurants, etc., was a necessity (permitting the sale of coffee, tea, etc.), the sale of Coca-Cola as a part of the meals could be prohibited by ordinance. State v. Weddington, 188 N.C. 643, 125 S.E. 257 (1924).

Differential Fines Upheld. — An ordinance of a town, authorized by statute, imposing a fine of $25.00 upon drugstores for selling cigars, etc., on Sunday, and a fine of $5.00 for the same offense upon restaurants, cafes, and lunch stands, declaring the same to be a misdemeanor, related to distinct and easily severable occupations, and in the absence of any finding that those engaged in them came in competition with each other, the ordinance would not be declared unconstitutional and invalid upon the ground that it was discretionary against the owners of drugstores. State v. Davis, 171 N.C. 809, 89 S.E. 40 (1916).

III. OTHER SPECIFIC ORDINANCES.

Classification of Occupations. — The General Assembly or municipal corporation has the power to classify different occupations, provided the classification is not unreasonable and oppressive, and usually the extent to which the power will be exercised is for the General Assembly or the governing body of the municipality. State v. Davis, 171 N.C. 809, 89 S.E. 40 (1916). See also, State v. Davis, 157 N.C. 648, 73 S.E. 130 (1911); Smith v. Wilkins, 164 N.C. 135, 80 S.E. 168 (1913).

Power to Close Business at Certain Hours. — The right of a city to restrict hours of business is restricted to cases when it is for the protection and benefit of the public. It has no power to require a merchant to close his store at an early hour because other merchants so desire to close all stores at a regular early hour. State v. Ray, 131 N.C. 814, 42 S.E. 960 (1902).

Sitting in Place of Business After Closing Time. — A city has power to restrict the use of property insofar as it may injure others, but it has no power to provide against a person sitting in his place of business after a time prescribed for closing it. State v. Thomas, 118 N.C. 1221, 24 S.E. 535 (1896).

City May Proscribe Obscenity Not Forbidden by State Law. — Under subsection (b) of this section, notwithstanding the existence of a general statewide law relating to obscene displays and publications, a city may enact an ordinance prohibiting and punishing conduct not forbidden by such statewide law. State v. Tenore, 280 N.C. 238, 185 S.E.2d 644 (1972).

Nothing in G.S. 14-190.1 to 14-190.9, statewide laws relating to obscene literature and exhibitions and to indecent exposure, expresses or indicates an intent by the General Assembly to preclude cities and towns under this section and G.S. 160A-181 from enacting and enforcing ordinances requiring a higher standard of conduct or condition within their respective jurisdictions. State v. Tenore, 280 N.C. 238, 185 S.E.2d 644 (1972).

As to the regulation of massage parlors, see Cheek v. City of Charlotte, 273 N.C. 293, 160 S.E.2d 18 (1968).

Indecent Language or Cursing. — An ordinance which forbids the use of "abusive or indecent language, cursing, swearing or any loud or boisterous talking, hallooing or any other disorderly conduct" within the corporate limits of a town, and imposes a fine of $25.00 for a violation of it, may be enacted by proper authorities under the powers granted to them in the general law, and such an ordinance is reasonable. State v. Merritt, 83 N.C. 677 (1880); State v. McNinch, 87 N.C. 567 (1882); State v. Cainan, 94 N.C. 880 (1886); State v. Earnhardt, 107 N.C. 789, 12 S.E. 426 (1890).

Town commissioners have no authority to make it unlawful to insult an officer while in the discharge of his duty, nor to provide a fine for one convicted of such offense. State v. Clay, 118 N.C. 1234, 24 S.E. 492 (1896).

Conflict with State Building Code. — An interpretation of this section to allow a city ordinance requiring sprinkler systems, thus empowering a city to ignore explicit statewide legislative enactments, would, in effect, permit a city to amend the North Carolina Building Code by the simple expedient of codifying a contested ordinance as a part of its fire prevention code and thereby to evade the clear requirements of G.S. 143-138(e). Greene v. City of Winston-Salem, 287 N.C. 66, 213 S.E.2d 231 (1975).

Regulation of Gasoline Stations. — That the regulation of gasoline filling or gasoline storage stations comes within the police power of the State is freely conceded; and that such power is specifically conferred upon the plaintiff is likewise conceded. Town of Wake Forest v. Medlin, 199 N.C. 83, 154 S.E. 29 (1930).

It is not necessary to the validity of an ordinance regulating the establishment of gasoline filling stations in a municipality that it substantially comply with the provisions of the statutes as to zoning, since the regulation of filling stations comes within the State police power which has been conferred on municipalities by the general law. Shuford v. Town of Waynesville, 214 N.C. 135, 198 S.E. 585 (1938).

As to the storage of gasoline, see City of Fayetteville v. Spur Distrib. Co., 216 N.C. 596, 5 S.E.2d 838 (1939).

Fluoridation Ordinance. — A municipal ordinance for the fluoridation of the city water supply is enacted in the exercise of public policy, and the courts will not interfere therewith in the absence of a showing that the ordinance is so unreasonable, oppressive, and subversive as to amount to an abuse rather than a legitimate exercise of the legislative power. Stroupe v. Eller, 262 N.C. 573, 138 S.E.2d 240 (1964).

Mobile Home Is Not a Nuisance Per Se. — Subdivision (26) of former G.S. 160-200 conferred upon cities and towns the power to prevent and abate nuisances, but a mobile home is not a nuisance per se. Town of Conover v. Jolly, 277 N.C. 439, 177 S.E.2d 879 (1970).

And May Not Be Prohibited Per Se. — A well-constructed and equipped mobile home connected with the public water, sewer and electric systems could not be deemed per se "detrimental to the health, morals, comfort, safety, convenience and welfare of the people" of a town within the purview of subdivision (6) of former G.S. 160-200; consequently, that subdivision did not confer upon a municipality the authority to enact an ordinance prohibiting the use anywhere within its limits of a single mobile home as a permanent residence. Town of Conover v. Jolly, 277 N.C. 439, 177 S.E.2d 879 (1970).

Zoning Requirements for Mobile Homes. — Mobile homes are sufficiently different from other types of housing so that there is a rational basis for placing different requirements upon them pursuant to a zoning ordinance. Currituck County v. Willey, 46 N.C. App. 835, 266 S.E.2d 52, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 234, 283 S.E.2d 131 (1980).

Zoning Ordinance Preempted by ABC Permit. — In case in which petitioner, without objection by respondent board, argued that the decision of the ABC Commission to grant him a permit preempted respondent's denial of his special exception use permit request, since the zoning ordinance, upon which respondent's denial was based, attempted to regulate the sale of alcoholic beverages, which is a violation of State law, the trial court did not err in concluding that petitioner, as the holder of a valid ABC permit issued by the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission, was entitled to be issued a city beer license, and in ordering the tax collector of the city to issue any city license. Melkonian v. Board of Adjustment, 85 N.C. App. 351, 355 S.E.2d 503, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 320 N.C. 631, 360 S.E.2d 91 (1987).

Abatement of Encroachment on Street by Buildings. — Any permanent structure which materially encroaches upon a public street and impedes travel is a nuisance per se, and may be abated, notwithstanding space is left for the passage of the public; a failure on the part of the city to abate it in a reasonable time will make it liable as a joint tort-feasor. Graham v. City of Charlotte, 186 N.C. 649, 120 S.E. 466 (1923).

Forbidding Lumber Yards in Residential Sections. — It is within the valid discretionary exercise of the police powers of a municipality to pass an ordinance forbidding the erection of lumber yards within a long-established, exclusively residential portion, and when this discretionary power has not been abused the courts will not interfere. Turner v. City of New Bern, 187 N.C. 541, 122 S.E. 469 (1924); Angelo v. City of Winston-Salem, 193 N.C. 207, 136 S.E. 489, aff'd, 274 U.S. 725, 47 S. Ct. 763, 71 L. Ed. 1329 (1927).

Disinfection of Secondhand Clothing. — A city has power to require that a dealer in secondhand clothing turn them over to the city to be disinfected, and exercise of such power cannot be considered as a restriction of an owner over his property, but only the proper and lawful use of authority to protect the health of its citizens from diseases. Rosenbaum v. City of New Bern, 118 N.C. 83, 24 S.E. 1 (1896).

A municipal corporation has a legal right to destroy mosquitoes detrimental to the health and comfort of its residents. Moore v. Town of Plymouth, 249 N.C. 423, 106 S.E.2d 695 (1959).

Regulation of Perishable Food Markets.

— A city, in the exercise of statutory authority, may enact a valid penal ordinance as affecting the health of its citizens, and under its police power, require that meats, fish, oysters, and perishable matter be sold at a sanitary market building containing refrigeration and other sanitary methods, under proper inspection, where adequate accommodation may be obtained at a reasonable rental, not for profit, and the city may exclude such business within a prescribed territory therefrom, the location of the markethouse being reasonably suitable to the business or trades specified. Angelo v. City of Winston-Salem, 193 N.C. 207, 136 S.E. 489, aff'd, 274 U.S. 725, 47 S. Ct. 763, 71 L. Ed. 1329 (1927).

Board of town commissioners could forbid the keeping of hog pens in the town to such an extent as they might deem necessary to prevent nuisances to the public, and, indeed, they could have done so without express authority. State v. Hord, 122 N.C. 1092, 29 S.E. 952 (1898).

Ordinance Against Running of Hogs at Large.

— A town ordinance declaring that “all hogs, etc., found running at large within the town” shall be taken up or impounded, is valid, whether the owner resides within the corporate limits of such town or not. Rose v. Hardie, 98 N.C. 44, 4 S.E. 41 (1887).

Regulation of Swine Farms. — County’s ordinances attempting to regulate swine farms were invalid because the state had established a comprehensive scheme of regulation that indicated the General Assembly’s intention to regulate this area on a state-wide basis, leaving no room for local regulation. Craig v. County of Chatham, 356 N.C. 40, 565 S.E.2d 172, 2002 N.C. LEXIS 539 (2002).

Town ordinance dealing with dogs running at large was not inconsistent with former § 106-381, which statute was designed to provide minimum protection against vicious dogs in all parts of the State (rural, urban, small villages and large cities). With more concentrated population, cities are justified in adopting stricter regulations for dogs and are authorized to require a higher standard of conduct or condition with respect to the keeping of dogs within its corporate limits than was required by former G.S. 106-381 for the State generally. Pharo v. Pearson, 28 N.C. App. 171, 220 S.E.2d 359 (1975).

Paved Parking Lots. — Provision of city ordinance requiring paved parking lots, challenged on due process and equal protection grounds, held valid. Grace Baptist Church v. City of Oxford, 320 N.C. 439, 358 S.E.2d 372 (1987).

Town had authority under its Development Ordinance as authorized by G.S. 160A-372 to require plaintiff to take future road plans into account in designing her subdivision and denial of plaintiff’s permit for her failure to do so was neither ultra vires nor unconstitutionally vague. Batch v. Town of Chapel Hill, 326 N.C. 1, 387 S.E.2d 655, cert. denied, 496 U.S. 931, 110 S. Ct. 2631, 110 L. Ed. 2d 651 (1990).

Waste disposal is a recognized function of local government and a service consistent with governmental responsibility under the State’s delegation of police power. Stillings v. City of Winston-Salem, 63 N.C. App. 618, 306 S.E.2d 489 (1983), rev’d on other grounds, 311 N.C. 689, 319 S.E.2d 233 (1984).

Regulatory Authority of State over Speed of Trains May Not Be Delegated to Cities and Towns. — Section 434 of the Federal Railway Safety Act of 1970, 45 U.S.C., says a state may adopt the law, rule, or regulation regulating the speed of trains within city limits. It does not say the state may delegate to the cities and towns in the state the power to do so. Even though the state may delegate powers to its state created municipalities through enabling statutes, there is no authority for the proposition that the state may delegate to its cities powers it is authorized by Congress to exercise. Johnson v. Southern Ry., 654 F. Supp. 121 (W.D.N.C. 1987).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Local Ordinance Which Conflicts With State Law. — A town municipal ordinance prohibiting the location of gill nets where they are expressly permitted by State law violates subdivision (b)(2) of this section and is, therefore, invalid to the extent of the conflict with State law. See opinion of Attorney General to Preston P. Pate, Jr., Director, Division of Marine Fisheries, 1998 N.C.A.G. 31 (7/22/98).

§ 160A-175. Enforcement of ordinances.

(a) A city shall have power to impose fines and penalties for violation of its ordinances, and may secure injunctions and abatement orders to further insure compliance with its ordinances as provided by this section.

(b) Unless the Council shall otherwise provide, violation of a city ordinance is a misdemeanor or infraction as provided by G.S. 14-4. An ordinance may provide by express statement that the maximum fine, term of imprisonment, or infraction penalty to be imposed for a violation is some amount of money or number of days less than the maximum imposed by G.S. 14-4.

(c) An ordinance may provide that violation shall subject the offender to a civil penalty to be recovered by the city in a civil action in the nature of debt if the offender does not pay the penalty within a prescribed period of time after he has been cited for violation of the ordinance.

(c1) An ordinance may provide for the recovery of a civil penalty by the city for violation of the fire prevention code of the State Building Code as authorized under G.S. 143-139.

(d) An ordinance may provide that it may be enforced by an appropriate equitable remedy issuing from a court of competent jurisdiction. In such case, the General Court of Justice shall have jurisdiction to issue such orders as may be appropriate, and it shall not be a defense to the application of the city for equitable relief that there is an adequate remedy at law.

(e) An ordinance that makes unlawful a condition existing upon or use made of real property may be enforced by injunction and order of abatement, and the General Court of Justice shall have jurisdiction to issue such orders. When a violation of such an ordinance occurs the city may apply to the appropriate division of the General Court of Justice for a mandatory or prohibitory injunction and order of abatement commanding the defendant to correct the unlawful condition upon or cease the unlawful use of the property. The action shall be governed in all respects by the laws and rules governing civil proceedings, including the Rules of Civil Procedure in general and Rule 65 in particular.

In addition to an injunction, the court may enter an order of abatement as a part of the judgment in the cause. An order of abatement may direct that buildings or other structures on the property be closed, demolished, or removed; that fixtures, furniture, or other movable property be removed from buildings on the property; that grass and weeds be cut; that improvements or repairs be made; or that any other action be taken that is necessary to bring the property into compliance with the ordinance. If the defendant fails or refuses to comply with an injunction or with an order of abatement within the time allowed by the court, he may be cited for contempt, and the city may execute the order of abatement. The city shall have a lien on the property for the cost of executing an order of abatement in the nature of a mechanic's and materialman's lien. The defendant may secure cancellation of an order of abatement by paying all costs of the proceedings and posting a bond for compliance with the order. The bond shall be given with sureties approved by the clerk of superior court in an amount approved by the judge before whom the matter is heard and shall be conditioned on the defendant's full compliance with the terms of the order of abatement within a time fixed by the judge. Cancellation of an order of abatement shall not suspend or cancel an injunction issued in conjunction therewith.

(f) Subject to the express terms of the ordinance, a city ordinance may be enforced by any one, all, or a combination of the remedies authorized and prescribed by this section.

(g) A city ordinance may provide, when appropriate, that each day's continuing violation shall be a separate and distinct offense. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1985, c. 764, s. 35; 1993, c. 329, s. 4.)

Local Modification. — City of Durham: 1987, c. 224; town of Pittsboro: 1987, c. 460, s. 28.

Editor's Note. — The Rules of Civil Procedure, referred to in this section, are found in G.S. 1A-1.

CASE NOTES

Procedure for abatement orders in subsection (e) of this section is constitutionally defective and may not be used in enforcing the substantive provisions of a city ordinance. U.T., Inc. v. Brown, 457 F. Supp. 163 (W.D.N.C. 1978).

Legislative Intent. — Subsection (f) of this section and G.S. 160A-365 demonstrate a general intent by the legislature to defer to the decisions of cities on which remedies and penalties shall be used to achieve enforcement of planning and zoning ordinances. Town of Pine Knoll Shores v. Evans, 104 N.C. App. 79, 407 S.E.2d 895 (1991).

This Section Limits City's Choice of Remedies and Penalties. — Under subsection (f) of this section and G.S. 160A-365, the choice of remedies and penalties for enforcement of planning and zoning ordinances remains with the city. The choice of remedies and penalties, however, is limited to those remedies and penalties available in this section. Town of Pine Knoll Shores v. Evans, 104 N.C. App. 79, 407 S.E.2d 895 (1991).

Certain Penalties Must Be Authorized to Be Imposed by Court. — Civil penalties and orders of abatement available under subsections (c) and (d) of this section must be authorized in a city's ordinance in order to be imposed by a court. That authorization may be either specific or general. Town of Pine Knoll Shores v. Evans, 104 N.C. App. 79, 407 S.E.2d 895 (1991).

Court May Issue Injunctions and Orders of Abatement Despite Absence of Ordinance Authorization. — The trial court may, in the absence of authorization in a city ordinance, and upon the request of the city, issue injunctions and orders of abatement for violation of ordinances that makes unlawful a condition existing upon or use made of a real property. Town of Pine Knoll Shores v. Evans, 104 N.C. App. 79, 407 S.E.2d 895 (1991).

Civil Penalty Not Allowed Where Not Authorized by Ordinance. — Judgment of the trial court permitting defendants to avoid, by payment of $2,000.00 to town, removing a deck which town contended defendants constructed in violation of town zoning ordinance was improper where a civil penalty was not authorized by town's ordinance and was not authorized by subsection (e); the fact that the civil penalty was to be paid at the option of defendants was immaterial, as where a party violating a city ordinance is given the option of paying a civil penalty, such optional penalty must nonetheless be authorized by the ordinance. Town of Pine Knoll Shores v. Evans, 104 N.C. App. 79, 407 S.E.2d 895 (1991).

Obscenity Ordinance Held Unconstitutional. — The procedural provisions of a city ordinance regulating commercial exploitation of obscenity, which provided civil penalties for violation and authorized the city manager to issue a citation to the violator describing the violation and assessing the penalty and to include in the citation notice that the city manager would instruct the city attorney to commence suit under subsection (c) of this section if the penalty was not paid in five days, was unconstitutional. U.T., Inc. v. Brown, 457 F. Supp. 163 (W.D.N.C. 1978).

Enforcement of Ordinances Through Injunctive Relief. — Although the General Assembly has given to municipalities the power to enforce ordinances through injunctive relief, a municipality must comply with the requirements of G.S. 1A-1, Rule 65, which requires a clear showing of specific facts of irreparable injury; the availability of injunctive relief as the appropriate ultimate remedy is not prima facie evidence establishing a municipality's right to injunctive relief prior to the resolution of a matter on its merits. Town of Knightdale v. Vaughn, 95 N.C. App. 649, 383 S.E.2d 460 (1989).

Disposition of Proceeds of Civil Action to Recover Parking Penalties. — In any case in which a person is prosecuted and convicted and a fine is imposed for the violation of a parking ordinance, the fine so imposed must be paid, by directive of N.C. Const., Art. IX, G.S. 7, to the county school fund. However, if a city chooses to maintain civil actions to recover the penalties imposed for parking violations, the proceeds of any judgment obtained would belong to the city, and the school fund would have no claim thereon. Cauble v. City of Asheville, 45 N.C. App. 152, 263 S.E.2d 8, aff'd in part and rev'd in part, 301 N.C. 340, 271 S.E.2d 258 (1980).

City had the authority to require confirmation of a sexually oriented business's zoning compliance in its business privilege license application and the authority to reject the business's privilege license application where zoning compliance was found wanting. Fantasy World, Inc. v. Greensboro Bd. of Adjustment, 162 N.C. App. 603, 592 S.E.2d 205, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 267 (2004), cert. denied, 358 N.C. 543, 599 S.E.2d 43 (2004).

Applied in Cauble v. City of Asheville, 301 N.C. 340, 271 S.E.2d 258 (1980); Shavitz v. City of High Point, 177 N.C. App. 465, 630 S.E.2d 4, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1080 (2006).

§ 160A-176. Ordinances effective on city property outside limits.

Any city ordinance may be made effective on and to property and rights-of-way belonging to the city and located outside the corporate limits. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 2; C.S., s. 2790; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 24.)

CASE NOTES

City's Code Not Applicable Outside of City Limits. — Trial court's order requiring a corporation to pay a city for water the corporation drew from its own well was reversed as, although under G.S. 160A-176, the city could have made its ordinances applicable on rights of way, Lumberton, N.C., Code of Ordinances

§ 23-22(a), (b), and (d) were only applicable to businesses within the city limits; the corporation's facility was outside of the city limits. City of Lumberton v. United States Cold Storage, Inc., 178 N.C. App. 305, 631 S.E.2d 165, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1397 (2006).

§ 160A-176.1. Ordinances effective in Atlantic Ocean.

(a) A city may adopt ordinances to regulate and control swimming, surfing and littering in the Atlantic Ocean adjacent to that portion of the city within its boundaries or within its extraterritorial jurisdiction; provided, however, nothing contained herein shall be construed to permit any city to prohibit altogether swimming and surfing or to make these activities unlawful.

(b) This section shall apply only to cities in the counties of Brunswick, Carteret, Currituck, Dare, Hyde, New Hanover, Onslow, and Pender. (1973, c. 539, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The section above has

§ 160A-176.2. Ordinances effective in Atlantic Ocean.

(a) A city may adopt ordinances to regulate and control swimming, personal watercraft operation, surfing and littering in the Atlantic Ocean and other waterways adjacent to that portion of the city within its boundaries or within its extraterritorial jurisdiction; provided, however, nothing contained herein shall be construed to permit any city to prohibit altogether swimming or surfing or to make these activities unlawful.

(b) Subsection (a) of this section applies to the Towns of Atlantic Beach, Calabash, Cape Carteret, Carolina Beach, Caswell Beach, Duck, Emerald Isle, Holden Beach, Kill Devil Hills, Kitty Hawk, Manteo, Nags Head, Oak Island, Ocean Isle Beach, Southern Shores, Sunset Beach, Topsail Beach, and Wrightsville Beach, and the City of Southport only. (1991, c. 494, ss. 1, 2; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 801; 1993, c. 67, s. 5; c. 125, s. 2; 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 625, s. 1; 1997-48, s. 1; 2002-141, s. 1; 2004-203, s. 55.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1991, c. 494, ss. 1 and 2, effective July 2, 1991, as amended by Session Laws 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 801, effective June 29, 1992, has been codified as this section at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

§ 160A-177. Enumeration not exclusive.

The enumeration in this Article or other portions of this Chapter of specific powers to regulate, restrict or prohibit acts, omissions, and conditions shall not be deemed to be exclusive or a limiting factor upon the general authority to adopt ordinances conferred on cities by G.S. 160A-174. § 160A-178. Regulation of solicitation campaigns, flea markets and itinerant merchants.

A city may by ordinance regulate, restrict or prohibit the solicitation of contributions from the public for any charitable or eleemosynary purpose, and also the business activities of itinerant merchants, salesmen, promoters, drummers, peddlers, flea market operators and flea market vendors or hawkers. These ordinances may include, but shall not be limited to, requirements that an application be made and a permit issued, that an investigation be made, that activities be reasonably limited as to time and place, that proper credentials and proof of financial stability be submitted, that not more than a stated percentage of contributions to solicitation campaigns be retained for administrative expenses, and that an adequate bond be posted to protect the public from fraud. (1963, c. 789; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1987, c. 708, s. 8.)

Pickard*, 465 F. Supp. 576 (W.D.N.C. 1979). See also, Carolina Action v. Pickard, 420 F. Supp. 310 (W.D.N.C. 1976).

Ordinance Requiring License to Beg or Solicit Contributions on Streets Upheld Under Former Law. — A city ordinance under former G.S. 160-200, requiring a license to be issued by the municipal authorities to beg upon the city streets or to solicit contributions for charitable or religious purposes, in accordance with whether the person or purpose was ascertained by such authorities as worthy or whether the moneys solicited would be properly applied, was a valid and undiscriminating exercise of a police power, and not unlawful as an interference with religious liberty of people or an obstruction to the lawful pursuit of business. State v. Hundley, 195 N.C. 377, 142 S.E. 330 (1928), decided under former § 160-200.

As to power to regulate peddling prior to 1963 amendment to former G.S. 160-200, authorizing municipalities to prohibit peddlers, etc., see State v. Byrd, 259 N.C. 141, 130 S.E.2d 55 (1963).

§ 160A-179. Regulation of begging.

A city may by ordinance prohibit or regulate begging or otherwise canvassing the public for contributions for the private benefit of the solicitor or any other person. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

No Question as to Which Ordinance a County Sought to Enforce. — In a declaratory judgment action wherein an amended ordinance was the only ordinance codified in the county's code at the time the county filed its complaint to enforce the amended ordinance, which required sexually oriented businesses to become licensed among other requirements, the trial court did not err by denying the businesses' motion to dismiss the county's complaint for failing to plead in the complaint the section number and caption of the county ordinance sought to be enforced, as it was clear to the businesses what ordinance the county sought to enforce. Pitt County v. Dejavue, Inc., — N.C. App. —, 650 S.E.2d 12, 2007 N.C. App. LEXIS 1937 (2007).

§ 160A-180. Regulation of aircraft overflights.

A city may by ordinance regulate the operation of aircraft over the city. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-181. Regulation of places of amusement.

A city may by ordinance regulate places of amusement and entertainment, and may regulate, restrict or prohibit the operation of pool and billiard halls, dance halls, carnivals, circuses, or any itinerant show or exhibition of any kind. Places of amusement and entertainment shall include coffee houses, cocktail lounges, night clubs, beer halls, and similar establishments, but any regulations thereof shall be consistent with any permits or licenses issued by the North Carolina Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1981, c. 412, ss. 4, 5.)

CASE NOTES

Sunday closing ordinance which singled out and banned the operation of billiard halls on Sunday, but permitted other businesses which provided facilities for recreation, sports and amusements, which were potentially as equally disruptive, violated the equal protection clauses of the North Carolina and United States Constitutions. State v. Greenwood, 280 N.C. 651, 187 S.E.2d 8 (1972).

Regulation of Dance Halls. — Under express provisions of former G.S. 160-200, cities had power, among other things, to license, prohibit, and regulate dance halls, and in the interest of public morals to provide for the revocation of such licenses, as a valid exercise of the State's inherent police power, made applicable to cities and towns generally. State v. Vanhook, 182 N.C. 831, 109 S.E. 65 (1921).

An ordinance requiring the consent of the board of directors of the city before keeping a dance hall therein was not objectionable as an arbitrary exercise of power, or as being at the pleasure of the board, but came within its limited legal discretion, which the courts would not permit it to abuse, but would not disturb in the absence of its abusive use. State v. Vanhook, 182 N.C. 831, 109 S.E. 65 (1921), decided under former § 160-200.

Regulation of Obscenity. — Nothing in G.S. 14-190.1 to 14-190.9, statewide laws relating to obscene literature and exhibitions and to indecent exposure, expresses or indicates an intent by the General Assembly to preclude cities and towns under G.S. 160A-174 and this section from enacting and enforcing ordinances requiring a higher standard of conduct or condition within their respective jurisdictions. State v. Tenore, 280 N.C. 238, 185 S.E.2d 644 (1972).

Applied in State v. Underwood, 283 N.C. 154, 195 S.E.2d 489 (1973).

§ 160A-181.1. Regulation of sexually oriented businesses.

(a) The General Assembly finds and determines that sexually oriented businesses can and do cause adverse secondary impacts on neighboring properties. Numerous studies that are relevant to North Carolina have found increases in crime rates and decreases in neighboring property values as a result of the location of sexually oriented businesses in inappropriate locations or from the operation of such businesses in an inappropriate manner. Reasonable local government regulation of sexually oriented businesses in order to prevent or ameliorate adverse secondary impacts is consistent with the federal constitutional protection afforded to nonobscene but sexually explicit speech.

(b) In addition to State laws on obscenity, indecent exposure, and adult establishments, local government regulation of the location and operation of sexually oriented businesses is necessary to prevent undue adverse secondary impacts that would otherwise result from these businesses.

(c) A city or county may regulate sexually oriented businesses through zoning regulations, licensing requirements, or other appropriate local ordinances. The city or county may require a fee for the initial license and any annual renewal. Such local regulations may include, but are not limited to:

- (1) Restrictions on location of sexually oriented businesses, such as limitation to specified zoning districts and minimum separation from sensitive land uses and other sexually oriented businesses;
- (2) Regulations on operation of sexually oriented businesses, such as limits on hours of operation, open booth requirements, limitations on exterior advertising and noise, age of patrons and employees, required separation of patrons and performers, clothing restrictions for masseuses, and clothing restrictions for servers of alcoholic beverages;
- (3) Clothing restrictions for entertainers; and
- (4) Registration and disclosure requirements for owners and employees with a criminal record other than minor traffic offenses, and restrictions on ownership by or employment of a person with a criminal record that includes offenses reasonably related to the legal operation of sexually oriented businesses.

(d) In order to preserve the status quo while appropriate studies are conducted and the scope of potential regulations is deliberated, cities and counties may enact moratoria of reasonable duration on either the opening of any new businesses authorized to be regulated under this section or the expansion of any such existing business. Businesses existing at the time of the effective date of regulations adopted under this section may be required to come into compliance with newly adopted regulations within an appropriate and reasonable period of time.

(e) Cities and counties may enter into cooperative agreements regarding coordinated regulation of sexually oriented businesses, including provision of adequate alternative sites for the location of constitutionally protected speech within an interrelated geographic area.

(f) For the purpose of this section, “sexually oriented businesses” means any businesses or enterprises that have as one of their principal business purposes or as a significant portion of their business an emphasis on matter and conduct depicting, describing, or related to anatomical areas and sexual activities specified in G.S. 14-202.10. Local governments may adopt detailed definitions of these and similar businesses in order to precisely define the scope of any local regulations. (1998-46, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Constitutionality of City Zoning Ordinances. — City zoning requirements regarding sexually oriented businesses set forth by the city’s zoning ordinances, pursuant to G.S. 160A-181.1, and imposed upon the city tax collector by a city ordinance, comported with the Constitutional requirements established by the United States Supreme Court; therefore, the city possessed the authority to allow the city tax collector to assess zoning compliance as part of the administration of the business privilege license tax and to deny a business privilege license to a sexually oriented business because the business sought to operate in violation of a zoning ordinance. Fantasy World,

Inc. v. Greensboro Bd. of Adjustment, 162 N.C. App. 603, 592 S.E.2d 205, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 267 (2004), cert. denied, 358 N.C. 543, 599 S.E.2d 43 (2004).

County ordinance requiring licensure and other conditions upon sexually oriented businesses was upheld as within the police powers of the county, pursuant to G.S. 153A-121, as no procedural or constitutional errors occurred by a trial court declaring the ordinance enforceable and requiring unlicensed businesses to cease operation. Pitt County v. Dejavue, Inc., — N.C. App. —, 650 S.E.2d 12, 2007 N.C. App. LEXIS 1937 (2007).

§ 160A-182. Abuse of animals.

A city may by ordinance define and prohibit the abuse of animals. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-183. Regulation of explosive, corrosive, inflammable, or radioactive substances.

A city may by ordinance restrict, regulate or prohibit the sale, possession, storage, use, or conveyance of any explosive, corrosive, inflammable, or radioactive substances, or any weapons or instrumentalities of mass death and destruction within the city. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-184. Noise regulation.

A city may by ordinance regulate, restrict, or prohibit the production or emission of noises or amplified speech, music, or other sounds that tend to annoy, disturb, or frighten its citizens. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 25.)

§ 160A-185. Emission of pollutants or contaminants.

A city may by ordinance regulate, restrict, or prohibit the emission or disposal of substances or effluents that tend to pollute or contaminate land, water, or air, rendering or tending to render it injurious to human health or welfare, to animal or plant life or to property, or interfering or tending to interfere with the enjoyment of life or property. A city may by ordinance regulate the illegal disposal of solid waste, including littering on public and private property, provide for enforcement by civil penalties as well as other remedies, and provide that such regulations may be enforced by city employees specially appointed as environmental enforcement officers. Any such ordinance shall be consistent with and supplementary to State and federal laws and regulations. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1949, c. 594, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 26; 2001-512, s. 6.)

§ 160A-186. Regulation of domestic animals.

A city may by ordinance regulate, restrict, or prohibit the keeping, running, or going at large of any domestic animals, including dogs and cats. The ordinance may provide that animals allowed to run at large in violation of the ordinance may be seized and sold or destroyed after reasonable efforts to notify their owner. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Through this section and § 160A-174 the legislature has delegated to the municipalities a part of its police power which may be exercised to protect or promote the health, morals, order, safety and general welfare of society. Town of Atlantic Beach v. Young, 307 N.C. 422, 298 S.E.2d 686, appeal dismissed, 462 U.S. 1101, 103 S. Ct. 2446, 77 L. Ed. 2d 1328 (1983).

Scope of Review of Ordinance. — Where town passed ordinance pursuant to its police power as provided under this section and expressly stated that its purpose is to protect the health, safety and welfare of the town, review of validity of such ordinance will be to determine if the police power has been exercised within the constitutional limitations imposed by both the state and federal Constitutions. Such review will not include an analysis of the motives which prompted the passage of this ordinance, because so long as an act is not forbidden, the wisdom of the enactment is exclusively a legislative decision. Town of Atlantic Beach v. Young, 307 N.C. 422, 298 S.E.2d 686, appeal dismissed, 462 U.S. 1101, 103 S. Ct. 2446, 77 L. Ed. 2d 1328 (1983).

Ordinance forbidding the keeping of cows within a certain portion of the city is valid. State v. Stowe, 190 N.C. 79, 128 S.E. 481 (1925), decided under prior similar provisions.

§ 160A-187. Possession or harboring of dangerous animals.

A city may by ordinance regulate, restrict, or prohibit the possession or harboring within the city of animals which are dangerous to persons or property. No such ordinance shall have the effect of permitting any activity or condition with respect to a wild animal which is prohibited or more severely restricted by regulations of the Wildlife Resources Commission. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1977, c. 407, s. 2.)

§ 160A-188. Bird sanctuaries.

A city may by ordinance create and establish a bird sanctuary within the city limits. The ordinance may not protect any birds classed as a pest under Article 22A of Chapter 113 of the General Statutes and the Structural Pest Control Act of North Carolina of 1955 or the North Carolina Pesticide Law of 1971. When a bird sanctuary has been established, it shall be unlawful for any person to hunt, kill, trap, or otherwise take any protected birds within the city limits except pursuant to a permit issued by the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission under G.S. 113-274(c) (1a) or under any other license or permit of the Wildlife Resources Commission specifically made valid for use in taking birds within city limits. (1951, c. 411, ss. 1, 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, c. 830, s. 3.)

§ 160A-189. Firearms.

A city may by ordinance regulate, restrict, or prohibit the discharge of firearms at any time or place within the city except when used in defense of person or property or pursuant to lawful directions of law-enforcement officers, and may regulate the display of firearms on the streets, sidewalks, alleys, or other public property. Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit a city's authority to take action under Article 36A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-190. Pellet guns.

A city may by ordinance regulate, restrict, or prohibit the sale, possession or use within the city of pellet guns or any other mechanism or device designed or used to project a missile by compressed air or mechanical action with less than deadly force. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-191. Limitations on enactment of Sunday-closing ordinances.

No ordinance regulating or prohibiting business activity on Sundays shall be enacted unless the council shall hold a public hearing on the proposed ordinance. Notice of the hearing shall be published once each week for four successive weeks before the date of the hearing. The notice shall fix the date, hour and place of the public hearing, and shall contain a statement of the council's intent to consider a Sunday-closing ordinance, the purpose for such an ordinance, and one or more reasons for its enactment. No ordinance shall be held invalid for failure to observe the procedural requirements for enactment imposed by this section unless the issue is joined in an appropriate proceeding initiated within 90 days after the date of final enactment. This section shall not apply to ordinances enacted pursuant to G.S. 18B-1004(d). (1967, c. 1156, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 27; 1983, c. 768, s. 22.)

§ 160A-193. Abatement of public health nuisances.

(a) A city shall have authority to summarily remove, abate, or remedy everything in the city limits, or within one mile thereof, that is dangerous or prejudicial to the public health or public safety. Pursuant to this section, the governing board of a city may order the removal of a swimming pool and its appurtenances upon a finding that the swimming pool or its appurtenances is dangerous or prejudicial to public health or safety. The expense of the action shall be paid by the person in default. If the expense is not paid, it is a lien on the land or premises where the nuisance occurred. A lien established pursuant to this subsection shall have the same priority and be collected as unpaid ad valorem taxes.

(b) The expense of the action is also a lien on any other real property owned by the person in default within the city limits or within one mile of the city limits, except for the person's primary residence. A lien established pursuant to this subsection is inferior to all prior liens and shall be collected as a money judgment. This subsection shall not apply if the person in default can show that the nuisance was created solely by the actions of another. (1917, c. 136, subch. 7, s. 4; C.S., s. 2800; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 20; 2001-448, s. 1; 2002-116, s. 3.)

CASE NOTES

Contract May Extend Limits of Protection. — By use of a contract between a county and a city, rather than the provisions of this section, a city can extend its protection against accumulated garbage and refuse for more than one mile from its territorial limits. Koontz v. City of Winston-Salem, 280 N.C. 513, 186 S.E.2d 897 (1972).

Adult Business Ordinance Held Vague. — Because a county's adult business ordinance was ambiguous as to whether it applied to businesses outside a city's business limits or only to businesses outside the city's extraterritorial jurisdiction, it was interpreted as applying only to the latter. State v. Baggett, 133 N.C. App. 47, 514 S.E.2d 536 (1999).

City's Demolition of a House Without Giving Notice. — Trial court erred in granting summary judgment to the city on the homeowner's claim for violation of her due process rights because, although the homeowner's house was in severe disrepair, the city violated her due process rights by demolishing the home without giving her notice, as the condition of the house did not pose an imminent threat to the public, warranting its immediate demolition; accordingly, the appellate court reversed the judgment and remanded the case for an entry summary judgment in favor of the homeowner and a trial on the issue of damages. Monroe v. City of New Bern, 158 N.C. App. 275, 580 S.E.2d 372, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1053 (2003), cert. denied, 357 N.C. 461, 586 S.E.2d 93 (2003).

§ 160A-193.1. Stream-clearing programs.

(a) A city shall have the authority to remove natural and man-made obstructions in stream channels and in the floodway of streams that may impede the passage of water during rain events.

(b) The actions of a city to clear obstructions from a stream shall not create or increase the responsibility of the city for the clearing or maintenance of the stream, or for flooding of the stream. In addition, actions by a city to clear obstructions from a stream shall not create in the city any ownership in the stream, obligation to control the stream, or affect any otherwise existing private property right, responsibility, or entitlement regarding the stream. These provisions shall not relieve a city for negligence that might be found under otherwise applicable law.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to affect otherwise existing rights of the State to control or regulate streams or activities within streams.

In implementing a stream-clearing program, the city shall comply with all requirements in State or federal statutes and rules. (2005-441, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-441, s. 4, made this section effective September 27, 2005, and applicable to stream-clearing activities commenced on or after that date.

The preamble to Session Laws 2005-441, reads: "Whereas, the clearing of obstructions in streams, such as dead trees, fallen tree limbs, root balls, underbrush, and trash and debris furthers the health, safety, and welfare of the State's citizens by allowing such streams to function more efficiently to remove stormwater, thus reducing flooding; and

"Whereas, local governments are deterred from engaging in stream-clearing activities by the possibility that they will become legally responsible for regular stream clearing, or the possibility that they will become legally responsible for the impact on private properties of natural events such as flooding, which have never been the legal responsibility of local governments; and

"Whereas, many private landowners do not have the resources to clear obstructions from the streams that are located on their property, and it is in the public interest to facilitate the establishment of stream-clearing programs by local governments; Now, therefore,"

§ 160A-194. Regulating and licensing businesses, trades, etc.

A city may by ordinance, subject to the general law of the State, regulate and license occupations, businesses, trades, professions, and forms of amusement or entertainment and prohibit those that may be inimical to the public health, welfare, safety, order, or convenience. In licensing trades, occupations, and professions, the city may, consistent with the general law of the State, require applicants for licenses to be examined and charge a reasonable fee therefor. Nothing in this section shall impair the city's power to levy privilege license taxes on occupations, businesses, trades, professions, and other activities pursuant to G.S. 160A-211.

Nothing in this section shall authorize a city to examine or license a person holding a license issued by an occupational licensing board of this State as to the profession or trade that he has been licensed to practice or pursue by the State. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-199. Regulation of outdoor advertising.

(a) As used in this section, the term “off-premises outdoor advertising” includes off-premises outdoor advertising visible from the main-traveled way of any road.

(b) A city may require the removal of an off-premises outdoor advertising sign that is nonconforming under a local ordinance and may regulate the use of off-premises outdoor advertising within the jurisdiction of the city in accordance with the applicable provisions of this Chapter.

(c) A city shall give written notice of its intent to require removal of off-premises outdoor advertising by sending a letter by certified mail to the last known address of the owner of the outdoor advertising and the owner of the property on which the outdoor advertising is located.

(d) No city may enact or amend an ordinance of general applicability to require the removal of any nonconforming, lawfully erected off-premises outdoor advertising sign without the payment of monetary compensation to the owners of the off-premises outdoor advertising, except as provided below. The payment of monetary compensation is not required if:

- (1) The city and the owner of the nonconforming off-premises outdoor advertising enter into a relocation agreement pursuant to subsection (g) of this section.
- (2) The city and the owner of the nonconforming off-premises outdoor advertising enter into an agreement pursuant to subsection (k) of this section.
- (3) The off-premises outdoor advertising is determined to be a public nuisance or detrimental to the health or safety of the populace.
- (4) The removal is required for opening, widening, extending or improving streets or sidewalks, or for establishing, extending, enlarging, or improving any of the public enterprises listed in G.S. 160A-311, and the city allows the off-premises outdoor advertising to be relocated to a comparable location.
- (5) The off-premises outdoor advertising is subject to removal pursuant to statutes, ordinances, or regulations generally applicable to the demolition or removal of damaged structures.

(e) Monetary compensation is the fair market value of the off-premises outdoor advertising in place immediately prior to its removal and without consideration of the effect of the ordinance or any diminution in value caused by the ordinance requiring its removal. Monetary compensation shall be determined based on:

- (1) The factors listed in G.S. 105-317.1(a); and
- (2) The listed property tax value of the property and any documents regarding value submitted to the taxing authority.

(f) If the parties are unable to reach an agreement under subsection (e) of this section on monetary compensation to be paid by the city to the owner of the nonconforming off-premises outdoor advertising sign for its removal, and the city elects to proceed with the removal of the sign, the city may bring an action in superior court for a determination of the monetary compensation to be paid. In determining monetary compensation, the court shall consider the factors set forth in subsection (e) of this section. Upon payment of monetary compensation for the sign, the city shall own the sign.

(g) In lieu of paying monetary compensation, a city may enter into an agreement with the owner of a nonconforming off-premises outdoor advertising sign to relocate and reconstruct the sign. The agreement shall include the following:

- (1) Provision for relocation of the sign to a site reasonably comparable to or better than the existing location. In determining whether a location is comparable or better, the following factors shall be taken into consideration:
 - a. The size and format of the sign.
 - b. The characteristics of the proposed relocation site, including visibility, traffic count, area demographics, zoning, and any uncompensated differential in the sign owner's cost to lease the replacement site.
 - c. The timing of the relocation.
 - (2) Provision for payment by the city of the reasonable costs of relocating and reconstructing the sign including:
 - a. The actual cost of removing the sign.
 - b. The actual cost of any necessary repairs to the real property for damages caused in the removal of the sign.
 - c. The actual cost of installing the sign at the new location.
 - d. An amount of money equivalent to the income received from the lease of the sign for a period of up to 30 days if income is lost during the relocation of the sign.
- (h) For the purposes of relocating and reconstructing a nonconforming off-premises outdoor advertising sign pursuant to subsection (g) of this section, a city, consistent with the welfare and safety of the community as a whole, may adopt a resolution or adopt or modify its ordinances to provide for the issuance of a permit or other approval, including conditions as appropriate, or to provide for dimensional, spacing, setback, or use variances as it deems appropriate.
- (i) If a city has offered to enter into an agreement to relocate a nonconforming off-premises outdoor advertising sign pursuant to subsection (g) of this section, and within 120 days after the initial notice by the city the parties have not been able to agree that the site or sites offered by the city for relocation of the sign are reasonably comparable to or better than the existing site, the parties shall enter into binding arbitration to resolve their disagreements. Unless a different method of arbitration is agreed upon by the parties, the arbitration shall be conducted by a panel of three arbitrators. Each party shall select one arbitrator and the two arbitrators chosen by the parties shall select the third member of the panel. The American Arbitration Association rules shall apply to the arbitration unless the parties agree otherwise.
- (j) If the arbitration results in a determination that the site or sites offered by the city for relocation of the nonconforming sign are not comparable to or better than the existing site, and the city elects to proceed with the removal of the sign, the parties shall determine the monetary compensation under subsection (e) of this section to be paid to the owner of the sign. If the parties are unable to reach an agreement regarding monetary compensation within 30 days of the receipt of the arbitrators' determination, and the city elects to proceed with the removal of the sign, then the city may bring an action in superior court for a determination of the monetary compensation to be paid by the city to the owner for the removal of the sign. In determining monetary compensation, the court shall consider the factors set forth in subsection (e) of this section. Upon payment of monetary compensation for the sign, the city shall own the sign.
- (k) Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, a city and an off-premises outdoor advertising sign owner may enter into a voluntary agreement allowing for the removal of the sign after a set period of time in lieu of monetary compensation. A city may adopt an ordinance or resolution providing for a relocation, reconstruction, or removal agreement.
- (l) A city has up to three years from the effective date of an ordinance enacted under this section to pay monetary compensation to the owner of the off-premises outdoor advertising provided the affected property remains in place until the compensation is paid.

(m) This section does not apply to any ordinance in effect on the effective date of this section. A city may amend an ordinance in effect on the effective date of this section to extend application of the ordinance to off-premises outdoor advertising located in territory acquired by annexation or located in the extraterritorial jurisdiction of the city. A city may repeal or amend an ordinance in effect on the effective date of this section so long as the amendment to the existing ordinance does not reduce the period of amortization in effect on the effective date of this section.

(n) The provisions of this section shall not be used to interpret, construe, alter or otherwise modify the exercise of the power of eminent domain by an entity pursuant to Chapter 40A or Chapter 136 of the General Statutes.

(o) Nothing in this section shall limit a city's authority to use amortization as a means of phasing out nonconforming uses other than off-premises outdoor advertising. (2004-152, s. 2.)

§ 160A-200. Annual notice to chronic violators of overgrown vegetation ordinances.

(a) A municipality may notify a chronic violator of the municipality's overgrown vegetation ordinance that, if the violator's property is found to be in violation of the ordinance, the municipality shall, without further notice in the calendar year in which notice is given, take action to remedy the violation and the expense of the action shall become a lien upon the property and shall be collected as unpaid taxes. The initial annual notice shall be served by registered or certified mail. A chronic violator is a person who owns property whereupon, in the previous calendar year, the municipality took remedial action at least three times under the overgrown vegetation ordinance.

(b) This section applies to the Towns of Ahoskie, Ayden, Leland, Pineville, and Spring Lake, and to the Cities of Durham, Eden, Gastonia, Greensboro, High Point, Lexington, Monroe, Reidsville, Roanoke Rapids, Rockingham, Rocky Mount, and Winston-Salem only. (1999-58, s. 2; 2000-33, s. 1; 2000-38, s. 1; 2001-107, s. 1; 2003-77, s. 1; 2003-80, s. 1; 2005-81, s. 1; 2005-202, s. 1; 2007-31, s. 1; 2007-258, s. 1.)

Local Modification. — City of Durham: 2007-220, s. 2 (as to subsection (a)); city of Winston Salem: Session Laws 2003-120, s. 2; as amended by 2007-319, s. 2; town of Spring Lake: Session Laws 2007-319, s. 2.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1999-58, s. 1, effective May 18, 1999, enacted subsection (a) and s. 2 made it effective as to the city of Roanoke Rapids. Session Laws 2000-33, s. 1, effective June 29, 2000, added the city of High Point. Session Laws 2000-38, s. 1, effective June 30, 2000, added the city of Gastonia. Session Laws 2001-107, s. 1, effective May 23, 2001, added the cities of Lexington and Winston Salem. Session Laws 2003-77, s. 1, effective May 22, 2003, added the cities of Durham and Monroe. Session Laws 2003-80, s. 1, effective May 27, 2003, added the city of Rocky Mount. Session Laws 2005-81, s. 1, effective June 13, 2005, added the Towns of Ayden, Leland, and Pineville. Session Laws 2005-202, s. 1, effective July 20, 2005, added the Town of Ahoskie. The section has been codified at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Session Laws 1998-108, s. 2, contains very similar provisions and, as amended by 1999-129, applies to the Towns of Denton, Farmville, and Jonesville and the City of Greenville.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2007-31, s. 1, effective April 30, 2007, substituted "Pineville, and Spring Lake" for "and Pineville" and inserted "Greensboro" in subsection (b).

Session Laws 2007-258, s. 1, effective July 23, 2007, inserted "Eden," "Reidsville," and "Rockingham" in subsection (b).

§ 160A-201. Limitations on regulating solar collectors.

(a) Except as provided in subsection (c) of this section, no city ordinance shall prohibit, or have the effect of prohibiting, the installation of a solar collector that gathers solar radiation as a substitute for traditional energy for water heating, active space heating and cooling, passive heating, or generating electricity for a detached single-family residence, and no person shall be denied permission by a city to install a solar collector that gathers solar radiation as a substitute for traditional energy for water heating, active space heating and cooling, passive heating, or generating electricity for a detached single-family residence.

(b) This section does not prohibit an ordinance regulating the location or screening of solar collectors as described in subsection (a) of this section, provided the ordinance does not have the effect of preventing the reasonable use of a solar collector for a detached single-family residence.

(c) This section does not prohibit an ordinance that would prohibit the location of solar collectors as described in subsection (a) of this section that are visible by a person on the ground:

- (1) On the façade of a structure that faces areas open to common or public access;
- (2) On a roof surface that slopes downward toward the same areas open to common or public access that the façade of the structure faces; or
- (3) Within the area set off by a line running across the façade of the structure extending to the property boundaries on either side of the façade, and those areas of common or public access faced by the structure.

(d) In any civil action arising under this section, the court may award costs and reasonable attorneys' fees to the prevailing party. (2007-279, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2007-279, s. 4, made this section effective October 1, 2007.

§§ 160A-202 through 160A-205: Reserved for future codification purposes.

ARTICLE 9.

Taxation.

§ 160A-206. General power to impose taxes.

A city shall have power to impose taxes only as specifically authorized by act of the General Assembly. Except when the statute authorizing a tax provides for penalties and interest, the power to impose a tax shall include the power to impose reasonable penalties for failure to declare tax liability, if required, or to impose penalties or interest for failure to pay taxes lawfully due within the time prescribed by law or ordinance. The power to impose a tax shall also include the power to provide for its administration in a manner not inconsistent with the statute authorizing the tax. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Some of the cases cited below were decided under former statutory provisions.

City having power to levy a heavy tax on "gift enterprises" must restrict this tax to enterprises that are of a lottery nature. A dealer in trading stamps cannot be taxed, for the tax cannot be applied to a business merely because of its peculiarity. City of Winston v. Beeson, 135 N.C. 271, 47 S.E. 457 (1904).

Recovery of Excess License Tax. — In order to recover money paid a municipality as a license tax in excess of the amount the town was lawfully authorized to collect, and in the absence of statutory regulations, or under the common law, it is necessary that the one so paying should have done so under protest at the time or under circumstances of duress or such as would endanger his person or property, and where the payment has been voluntarily made, the action may not be successfully maintained. Blackwell v. City of Gastonia, 181 N.C. 378, 107 S.E. 218 (1921).

Power to Appoint Special Tax Collector. — Whenever the authorities of a town are commanded to levy and collect taxes, they may appoint a special tax collector to collect the same. But this power to appoint such a collector is additional, and does not abridge their right to require the collection to be made by the regular officer appointed for that purpose. Webb v. Town of Beaufort, 88 N.C. 496 (1883).

Authority to Require Compliance with Zoning Requirements. — City had the authority to require confirmation of a sexually oriented business's zoning compliance in its business privilege license application and the authority to reject the business's privilege license application where zoning compliance was found wanting. Fantasy World, Inc. v. Greensboro Bd. of Adjustment, 162 N.C. App. 603, 592 S.E.2d 205, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 267 (2004), cert. denied, 358 N.C. 543, 599 S.E.2d 43 (2004).

Applied in Cooke v. Futrell, 37 N.C. App. 441, 246 S.E.2d 65 (1978).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Town Located Within Two Counties. — Session Laws 2001-439 and 2002-94 pertaining to the levy of an occupancy tax by cities in Avery County did not specifically authorize the levying of the tax throughout the entire town of Seven Devils, which is located within both Avery and Watagua counties. See opinion of Attorney General to Rebecca Eggers-Gryder, Eggers, Eggers, Eggers, and Eggers, 2003 N.C.A.G. 1 (1/23/03).

§ 160A-207. Remedies for collecting taxes.

In addition to any other remedies provided by law, the remedies of levy, garnishment, and attachment shall be available for collecting any city tax under the rules and procedures prescribed by the Machinery Act for the enforcement of tax liability against personal property, except that:

- (1) The remedies shall become available on the due date of the tax and not before that time;
- (2) Rules dependent on the existence of a lien against real property for the same tax shall not apply; and
- (3) The lien acquired by levy, garnishment, or attachment shall be inferior to any prior or simultaneous lien for property taxes acquired under the Machinery Act. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 29.)

§ 160A-208. Continuing taxes.

Except for taxes levied on property under the Machinery Act, a city may impose an authorized tax by a permanent ordinance that shall stand from year to year until amended or repealed, and it shall not be necessary to reimpose the tax in each annual budget ordinance. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 30.)

§ 160A-208.1. Disclosure of certain information prohibited.

(a) Disclosure Prohibited. — Notwithstanding Chapter 132 of the General Statutes or any other law regarding access to public records, local tax records that contain information about a taxpayer's income or receipts are not public records. A current or former officer, employee, or agent of a city who in the course of service to or employment by the city has access to information about the amount of a taxpayer's income or receipts may not disclose the information to any other person unless the disclosure is made for one of the following purposes:

- (1) To comply with a court order or a law.
- (2) Review by the Attorney General or a representative of the Attorney General.
- (3) To sort, process, or deliver tax information on behalf of the city, as necessary to administer a tax.

(b) Punishment. — A person who violates this section is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. If the person committing the violation is an officer or employee, that person shall be dismissed from public office or public employment and may not hold any public office or public employment in this State for five years after the violation. (1993, c. 485, s. 34; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 14, s. 67.)

§ 160A-209. Property taxes.

(a) Pursuant to Article V, Sec. 2(5) of the Constitution of North Carolina, the General Assembly confers upon each city in this State the power to levy, within the limitations set out in this section, taxes on property having a situs within the city under the rules and according to the procedures prescribed in the Machinery Act (Chapter 105, Subchapter II).

(b) Each city may levy property taxes without restriction as to rate or amount for the following purposes:

- (1) Debt Service. — To pay the principal of and interest on all general obligation bonds and notes of the city.
- (2) Deficits. — To supply an unforeseen deficiency in the revenue (other than revenues of any of the enterprises listed in G.S. 160A-311), when revenues actually collected or received fall below revenue estimates made in good faith in accordance with the Local Government Budget and Fiscal Control Act.
- (3) Civil Disorders. — To meet the cost of additional law-enforcement personnel and equipment that may be required to suppress riots or other civil disorders involving an extraordinary breach of law and order within the jurisdiction of the city.

(c) Each city may levy property taxes for one or more of the following purposes subject to the rate limitation set out in subsection (d):

- (1) Administration. — To provide for the general administration of the city through the city council, the office of the city manager, the office of the city budget officer, the office of the city finance officer, the office of the city tax collector, the city purchasing agent, the city attorney, and for all other general administrative costs not allocated to a particular board, commission, office, agency, or activity.
- (2) Air Pollution. — To maintain and administer air pollution control programs.
- (3) Airports. — To establish and maintain airports and related aeronautical facilities.
- (4) Ambulance Service. — To provide ambulance services, rescue squads, and other emergency medical services.
- (5) Animal Protection and Control. — To provide animal protection and control programs.
- (5a) Arts Programs and Museums. — To provide for arts programs and museums as authorized in G.S. 160A-488.
- (6) Auditoriums, Coliseums, and Convention Centers. — To provide public auditoriums, coliseums, and convention centers.
- (7) Beach Erosion and Natural Disasters. — To provide for shoreline protection, beach erosion control and flood and hurricane protection.

- (8) Cemeteries. — To provide for cemeteries.
- (9) Civil Defense. — To provide for civil defense programs.
- (9a) Community Development. — To provide for community development as authorized by G.S. 160A-456 and 160A-457.
- (10) Debts and Judgments. — To pay and discharge any valid debt of the city or any judgment lodged against it, other than debts or judgments evidenced by or based on bonds or notes.
- (10a) Defense of Employees and Officers. — To provide for the defense of, and payment of civil judgments against, employees and officers or former employees and officers, as authorized by this Chapter.
- (10b) Economic Development. — To provide for economic development as authorized by G.S. 158-7.1 and G.S. 158-12.
- (10c) Drainage. — To provide for drainage projects or programs in accordance with Chapter 156 of the General Statutes or in accordance with this Chapter.
- (11) Elections. — To provide for all city elections and referendums.
- (12) Electric Power. — To provide electric power generation, transmission, and distribution services.
- (13) Fire Protection. — To provide fire protection services and fire prevention programs.
- (14) Gas. — To provide natural gas transmission and distribution services.
- (15) Historic Preservation. — To undertake historic preservation programs and projects.
- (15a) Housing. — To undertake housing projects as defined in G.S. 157-3, and urban homesteading programs under G.S. 160A-457.2.
- (16) Human Relations. — To undertake human relations programs.
- (17) Hospitals. — To establish, support and maintain public hospitals and clinics, and other related health programs and facilities, and to aid any private, nonprofit hospital, clinic, related facility, or other health program or facility.
- (17a) Industrial Development. — To provide for industrial development as authorized by G.S. 158-7.1.
- (18) Jails. — To provide for the operation of a jail and other local confinement facilities.
- (19) Joint Undertakings. — To cooperate with any other county, city, or political subdivision of the State in providing any of the functions, services, or activities listed in this subsection.
- (20) Libraries. — To establish and maintain public libraries.
- (21) Mosquito Control.
- (22) Off-Street Parking. — To provide off-street lots and garages for the parking and storage of motor vehicles.
- (23) Open Space. — To acquire open space land and easements in accordance with Article 19, Part 4, of this Chapter.
- (24) Parks and Recreation. — To establish, support and maintain public parks and programs of supervised recreation.
- (25) Planning. — To provide for a program of planning and regulation of development in accordance with Article 19 of this Chapter.
- (26) Police. — To provide for law enforcement.
- (26a) Ports and Harbors. — To participate in programs with the North Carolina Ports Authority and to provide for harbor masters.
- (27) Public Transportation. — To provide public transportation by rail, motor vehicle, or another means of conveyance other than a ferry, including any facility or equipment needed to provide the public transportation.
- (27a) Railroad Corridor Preservation. — To acquire property for railroad corridor preservation.

- (27b) Senior Citizens Programs. — To undertake programs for the assistance and care of its senior citizens.
- (28) Sewage. — To provide sewage collection and treatment services as defined in G.S. 160A-311(3).
- (29) Solid Waste. — To provide solid waste collection and disposal services, and to acquire and operate landfills.
- (30) Streets. — To provide for the public streets, sidewalks, and bridges of the city.
- (31) Traffic Control and On-Street Parking. — To provide for the regulation of vehicular and pedestrian traffic within the city, and for the parking of motor vehicles on the public streets.
- (31a) Urban Redevelopment. — To provide for urban redevelopment.
- (32) Water. — To provide water supply and distribution services.
- (33) Water Resources. — To participate in federal water resources development projects.
- (34) Watershed Improvement. — To undertake watershed improvement projects.

(d) Property taxes may be levied for one or more of the purposes listed in subsection (c) up to a combined rate of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) on the one hundred dollars' ($100.00) appraised value of property subject to taxation.

(e) With an approving vote of the people, any city may levy property taxes for any purpose for which the city is authorized by its charter or general law to appropriate money. Any property tax levy approved by a vote of the people shall not be counted for purposes of the rate limitation imposed in subsection (d).

The city council may call a referendum on approval of a property tax levy. The referendum may be held at the same time as any other city referendum or city election, but may not be otherwise held (i) on the day of any federal, State, district, or county election already validly called or scheduled by law at the time the tax referendum is called, or (ii) within the period of time beginning 30 days before and ending 10 days after the day of any other city referendum or city election already validly called or scheduled by law at the time the tax referendum is called. The referendum shall be conducted by the same board of elections that conducts regular city elections. A notice of referendum shall be published in accordance with G.S. 163-287. The notice shall state the date of the referendum, the purpose for which it is being held, and a statement as to the last day for registration for the referendum under the election laws then in effect.

The proposition submitted to the voters shall be substantially in one of the following forms:

- (1) Shall the City/Town of _____ be authorized to levy annually a property tax at a rate not in excess of _____ cents on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) value of property subject to taxation for the purpose of _____?
- (2) Shall the City/Town of _____ be authorized to levy annually a property tax at a rate not in excess of that which will produce $ _____ for the purpose of _____?
- (3) Shall the City/Town of _____ be authorized to levy annually a property tax without restriction as to rate or amount for the purpose of _____?

If a majority of those participating in the referendum approve the proposition, the city council may proceed to levy annually a property tax within the limitations (if any) described in the proposition.

The board of elections shall canvass the referendum and certify the results to the city council. The council shall then certify and declare the result of the referendum and shall publish a statement of the result once, with the following statement appended: "Any action or proceeding challenging the regularity or validity of this tax referendum must be begun within 30 days after (date of publication)." The statement of results shall be filed in the clerk's office and inserted in the minutes of the council.

Any action or proceeding in any court challenging the regularity or validity of a tax referendum must be begun within 30 days after the publication of the results of the referendum. After the expiration of this period of limitation, no right of action or defense based upon the invalidity of or any irregularity in the referendum shall be asserted, nor shall the validity of the referendum be open to question in any court upon any ground whatever, except in an action or proceeding begun within the period of limitation prescribed herein.

Except for tax referendums on functions not included in subsection (c) of this section, any referendum held before July 1, 1973, on the levy of property taxes is not valid for the purposes of this subsection. Cities in which such referendums have been held may support programs formerly supported by voted property taxes within the general rate limitations set out in subsection (d) at any appropriate level and are not subject to the former voted rate limitation.

(f) With an approving vote of the people, any city may increase the property tax rate limitation imposed in subsection (c) and may call a referendum for that purpose. The referendum may be held at the same time as any other city referendum or election, but may not be otherwise held (i) on the day of any federal, State, district, or county election, or (ii) within the period of time beginning 30 days before and ending 30 days after the day of any other city referendum or city election. The election shall be conducted by the same board of elections that conducts regular city elections.

The proposition submitted to the voters shall be substantially in the following form: "Shall the property tax rate limitation applicable to the City/Town of _____ be increased from _____ on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) value of property subject to taxation to _____ on the one hundred dollars ($100.00) value of property subject to taxation?"

If a majority of those participating in the referendum approve the proposition, the rate limitation imposed in subsection (c) shall be increased for the city.

(g) With respect to any of the categories listed in subsections (b) and (c) of this section, the city may provide the necessary personnel, land, buildings, equipment, supplies, and financial support from property tax revenues for the program, function, or service.

(h) This section does not authorize any city to undertake any program, function, joint undertaking, or service not otherwise authorized by law. It is intended only to authorize the levy of property taxes within the limitations set out herein to finance programs, functions, or services authorized by other portions of the General Statutes or by city charters. (1917, c. 138, s. 37; 1919, c. 178, s. 3(37); C.S., s. 2963; 1921, c. 8, s. 1; Ex. § 160A-210: Repealed by Session Laws 1979, 2nd Session, c. 1247, s. 22.

§ 160A-211. Privilege license taxes.

(a) Authority. — Except as otherwise provided by law, a city shall have power to levy privilege license taxes on all trades, occupations, professions, businesses, and franchises carried on within the city. A city may levy privilege license taxes on the businesses that were formerly taxed by the State under the following sections of Article 2 of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes only to the extent the sections authorized cities to tax the businesses before the sections were repealed:

G.S. 105-36	Amusements — Manufacturing, selling, leasing, or distributing moving picture films.
G.S. 105-36.1	Amusements — Outdoor theatres.
G.S. 105-37	Amusements — Moving pictures — Admission.
G.S. 105-42	Private detectives and investigators.
G.S. 105-45	Collecting agencies.
G.S. 105-46	Undertakers and retail dealers in coffins.
G.S. 105-50	Pawnbrokers.
G.S. 105-51.1	Alarm systems.
G.S. 105-53	Peddlers, itinerant merchants, and specialty market operators.
G.S. 105-54	Contractors and construction companies.
G.S. 105-55	Installing elevators and automatic sprinkler systems.
G.S. 105-61	Hotels, motels, tourist courts and tourist homes.
G.S. 105-62	Restaurants.
G.S. 105-65	Music machines.
G.S. 105-65.1	Merchandising dispensers and weighing machines.
G.S. 105-66.1	Electronic video games.
G.S. 105-74	Pressing clubs, dry cleaning plants, and hat blockers.
G.S. 105-77	Tobacco warehouses.
G.S. 105-80	Firearms dealers and dealers in other weapons.
G.S. 105-85	Laundries.
G.S. 105-86	Outdoor advertising.
G.S. 105-89	Automobiles, wholesale supply dealers, and service stations.
G.S. 105-89.1	Motorcycle dealers.
G.S. 105-90	Emigrant and employment agents.
G.S. 105-91	Plumbers, heating contractors, and electricians.
G.S. 105-97	Manufacturers of ice cream.
G.S. 105-98	Branch or chain stores.
G.S. 105-99	Wholesale distributors of motor fuels.
G.S. 105-102.1	Certain cooperative associations.
G.S. 105-102.5	General business license.

(b) Barbershop and Salon Restriction. — A privilege license tax levied by a city on a barbershop or a beauty salon may not exceed two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) for each barber, manicurist, cosmetologist, beautician, or other operator employed in the barbershop or beauty salon.

(c) Prohibition. — A city may not impose a license, franchise, or privilege tax on a person engaged in any of the businesses listed in this subsection. These businesses are subject to a State tax for which the city receives a share of the tax revenue.

(1) Supplying piped natural gas taxed under Article 5E of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

(2) Providing telecommunications service taxed under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(4c).

(3) Providing video programming taxed under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(6).

(d) Repealed by Session Laws 2006-151, s. 12, effective January 1, 2007. (R.C., c. 111, s. 13; 1862, c. 51; Code, s. 3800; Rev., s. 2924; C.S., s. 2677; 1949, c. 933; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1996, 2nd Ex. Sess., c. 14, s. 23; 1998-22, s. 12; 2001-430, s. 17; 2006-151, s. 12.)

Editor's Note. — Section 105-77, referred to in subsection (a), has been repealed.

Session Laws 2006-151, s. 20, is a severability clause.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-151, s. 12, effective January 1, 2007, re-wrote subsection (c); and deleted subsection (d), which read: "Telecommunications Restriction. A city may not impose a license, franchise, or privilege tax on a company taxed under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(4c)."

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — The cases cited below were decided under former similar statutory provisions.

Constitutionality. — Public Laws 1929, c. 345, s. 162, imposing a license tax of $50.00 for each store operated under the same ownership or management where there was more than one store so operated, was held constitutional and valid. Great Atl. & Pac. Tea Co. v. Maxwell, 199 N.C. 433, 154 S.E. 838 (1930), aff'd, 284 U.S. 575, 52 S. Ct. 26, 76 L. Ed. 500 (1931).

Purpose. — Former statute imposed a license tax for the purpose of raising revenue, and not an ad valorem tax. Nor did the statute seek to regulate chain stores under the police power, and the tax was in accord with the fiscal policy of the State of raising revenue for State purposes by the imposition of taxes on trades, professions, franchises and incomes, and leaving to the counties and municipalities for their support ad valorem taxes on real and personal property. Great Atl. & Pac. Tea Co. v. Maxwell, 199 N.C. 433, 154 S.E. 838 (1930), aff'd, 284 U.S. 575, 52 S. Ct. 26, 76 L. Ed. 500 (1931).

Prior Law Invalid. — Prior law which imposed a license tax of $50.00 each on stores operated in this State where there were six or more such stores under the same management, but which imposed no such tax on other mercantile establishments doing the same business when there were less than six stores under one management, was held an arbitrary classification and unconstitutional. Great Atl. & Pac. Tea Co. v. Doughton, 196 N.C. 145, 144 S.E. 701 (1928).

Corporation Operating Coal and Ice Yards Liable for Tax. — A corporation operating coal and ice yards at established places of business in several cities of the State, one or more yards being operated in each of the cities, and maintaining scales, bins, etc., and a staff composed of a yard foreman and other employees at each establishment, was held liable for the tax imposed by a similar statute, such coal and ice yards being "mercantile establishments" within the meaning of the statute. Atlantic Ice & Coal Co. v. Maxwell, 210 N.C. 723, 188 S.E. 381 (1936).

City's practice of referring all privilege license applicants to the zoning administrator does not convert a privilege license into a regulatory license; the city's zoning compliance process does not involve or permit any discretion on the part of the zoning administrator as to whether a particular use is allowed in a particular district, in contrast to the special conditional use scheme of this section. Mom N Pops, Inc. v. City of Charlotte, 979 F. Supp. 372 (W.D.N.C. 1997), aff'd, 162 F.3d 1155 (4th Cir. 1998).

Privilege taxes laid upon trades and professions have been laid expressly for revenue since the enactment of provisions similar to this section. State v. Irvin, 126 N.C. 989, 35 S.E. 430 (1900).

Power to levy a tax on all trades includes any employment or business embarked into for gain or profit. Lenoir Drug Co. v. Town of Lenoir, 160 N.C. 571, 76 S.E. 480 (1912).

Unless Inconsistent with Special Law or Charter. — Unless inconsistent with a special law or charter of a city, a tax may be levied on a person engaging in any trade within the city.

Guano Co. v. Town of Tarboro, 126 N.C. 68, 35 S.E. 231 (1900).

Charter and General Statute Construed Together. — The charter of a city giving it certain powers in respect to the levying of franchise taxes on trades and professions, etc., and the general statute will be construed together in determining the legislative grant of power to the municipality to levy taxes of this class. Hilton v. Harris, 207 N.C. 465, 177 S.E. 411 (1934); State v. Bridgers, 211 N.C. 235, 189 S.E. 869 (1937).

Classification of Trades and Professions for Taxation to be Based on Reasonable Distinctions. — A municipal corporation is empowered to tax trades or professions carried on or enjoyed within the city, unless otherwise provided by law, but its classification of trades and professions for taxation must be based upon reasonable distinctions, and all persons similarly situated must be treated alike. Kenny Co. v. Brevard, 217 N.C. 269, 7 S.E.2d 542 (1940).

Classification Upheld. — The law of uniformity did not prohibit the classification by the municipality of dealers in a particular kind of merchandise separately from those whose business it was to sell other articles falling within the same generic term. Rosenbaum v. City of New Bern, 118 N.C. 83, 24 S.E. 1 (1896).

Classification Held Void. — An ordinance requiring a license of livery men, and providing that it should include any persons making contract for hire in town or “any person carrying any person with a vehicle out of town for hire” was void as being unreasonable. Town of Plymouth v. Cooper, 135 N.C. 1, 47 S.E. 129 (1904).

Tax on Firm Delivering Products in City Upheld. — Construing the charter of a city in pari materia with the general statute, the city was given power to tax a firm outside the city which delivered products inside the city to customers procured by its salesman and collected for its goods upon delivery, such trade being “carried on or enjoyed within the city.” Hilton v. Harris, 207 N.C. 465, 177 S.E. 411 (1934).

A manufacturer of fertilizers maintaining its sales department in another state from which sales were exclusively made for fertilizer stored for distribution only in a city in this State was liable under an ordinance of the city levying a tax upon callings and professions, naming among others “fertilizer manufacturers’ agents or dealers,” the tax being for the protection afforded by the city in the exercise of such occupation, and the profits derived therefrom. Guano Co. v. City of New Bern, 158 N.C. 354, 74 S.E. 2 (1912).

Limitation on License Tax on Use of Motor Vehicle. — In light of G.S. 20-97, which expressly prohibited municipality from levying a license or privilege tax in excess of $1.00 upon the use of any motor vehicle licensed by the State, the provisions of a municipal ordinance imposing a license tax upon the operation of passenger vehicles for hire in addition to the $1.00 theretofore imposed by it upon motor vehicles generally was void, and could not be sustained upon the theory that it was a tax upon the business of operating a motor vehicle for hire rather than upon ownership of the vehicle, since the word “business” and the word “use,” as used in the section, meant the same thing. Cox v. Brown, 218 N.C. 350, 11 S.E.2d 152 (1940).

City had the authority to allow the city tax collector to assess zoning compliance as part of the administration of the business privilege license tax and to deny a business privilege license to a sexually oriented business because the business sought to operate in violation of a zoning ordinance. Fantasy World, Inc. v. Greensboro Bd. of Adjustment, 162 N.C. App. 603, 592 S.E.2d 205, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 267 (2004), cert. denied, 358 N.C. 543, 599 S.E.2d 43 (2004).

Editor’s Note. — The opinions below were rendered under former similar statutory provisions.

Montgomery Ward Catalogue Sales Agency as “Chain Store” Subject to Privilege License Tax. — See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Fred R. Harwell, Tax Collector, City of Washington, 41 N.C.A.G. 33 (1970).

Municipality May Levy Privilege License Tax on Court Reporters. — See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. William I. Thornton, Jr., Assistant Greensboro City Attorney, 41 N.C.A.G. 104 (1970), issued under former similar statutory provisions.

As to privilege license taxes on out-of-town beer wholesaler, see opinion of Attorney General to Mrs. Mary W. Moss, Clerk and Tax Collector, Town of Creedmoor, 40 N.C.A.G. 864 (1970), issued under former similar statutory provisions.

§ 160A-211.1. Privilege license tax on low-level radioactive and hazardous waste facilities.

(a) Cities in which hazardous waste facilities as defined in G.S. 130A-290 or low-level radioactive waste facilities as defined in G.S. 104E-5(9b) are located may levy an annual privilege license tax on persons or firms operating such facilities only in accordance with this section.

(b) The rate or rates of a tax levied under authority of this section shall be in an amount calculated to compensate the city for the additional costs incurred by it from having a hazardous waste facility or a low-level radioactive waste facility located in its jurisdiction to the extent to which compensation for such costs is not otherwise provided, which costs may include the loss of ad valorem property tax revenues from the property on which a facility is located, the cost of providing any additional emergency services, the cost of monitoring air, surface water, groundwater, and other environmental media to the extent other monitoring data is not available, and other costs the municipality established as being associated with the facilities and for which it is not otherwise compensated.

(c) Any person or firm taxed pursuant to this section may appeal the tax rate to the Board, but shall pay the tax when due, subject to a refund when the appeal is resolved by the Board or in the courts. (1981, c. 704, s. 15; 1985, c. 462, s. 10; 1987, c. 850, s. 22; 1989, c. 168, s. 35.)

§ 160A-212. Animal taxes.

A city shall have power to levy an annual license tax on the privilege of keeping any domestic animal, including dogs and cats, within the city. This section shall not limit the city's authority to enact ordinances under G.S. 160A-186. (R.C., c. 111, s. 13; 1862, c. 51; Code, s. 3800; Rev., s. 2924; C.S., s. 2677; 1949, c. 933; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Tax on Privilege of Keeping Dog. — Although a dog is property, a dog tax is not directly on the dog as property, but is upon the privilege of keeping a dog. Mowery v. Town of Salisbury, 82 N.C. 175 (1880), decided under former similar provisions.

§ 160A-213. Motor vehicle taxes.

(a) A city may impose an annual license tax on motor vehicles as permitted by G.S. 20-97.

(b) By ordinance a city may provide that the annual license tax imposed under subsection (a) above may be waived for individuals serving as firemen or as members of emergency medical teams. A city may also provide such individuals with tags or decals with distinctive coloring, or other means, to identify the individual as a fireman or a member of an emergency medical team. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, c. 442.)

Cross References. — For further provisions as to motor vehicle license or privilege taxes in counties or municipalities, see G.S. 20-97.

§ 160A-214: Repealed by Session Laws 2006-151, s. 13, effective January 1, 2007.

§ 160A-214.1. Uniform penalties for local meals taxes.

(a) Penalties. — Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the civil and criminal penalties that apply to State sales and use taxes under Chapter 105 of the General Statutes apply to local meals taxes. The governing board of a taxing city has the same authority to waive the penalties for a meals tax that the Secretary of Revenue has to waive the penalties for State sales and use taxes.

(b) Scope. — This section applies to every city authorized by the General Assembly to levy a meals tax.

(c) Definitions. — The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) City. — A municipality.

(2) Meals tax. — A tax on prepared food and drink. (2001-264, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2001-264, s. 3, as amended by Session Laws 2002-72, s. 3, provides: "Any provision of a local act that conflicts with G.S. 153A-154.1 or G.S. 160A-

214.1 is repealed. Any local meals tax penalty in addition to or greater than the corresponding penalty provided in G.S. 153A-154.1 or G.S. 160A-214.1 is repealed."

§ 160A-215. Uniform provisions for room occupancy taxes.

(a) Scope. — This section applies only to municipalities the General Assembly has authorized to levy room occupancy taxes. For the purpose of this section, the term "city" means a municipality.

(b) Levy. — A room occupancy tax may be levied only by resolution, after not less than 10 days' public notice and after a public hearing held pursuant thereto. A room occupancy tax shall become effective on the date specified in the resolution levying the tax. That date must be the first day of a calendar month, however, and may not be earlier than the first day of the second month after the date the resolution is adopted.

(c) Collection. — Every operator of a business subject to a room occupancy tax shall, on and after the effective date of the levy of the tax, collect the tax. The tax shall be collected as part of the charge for furnishing a taxable accommodation. The tax shall be stated and charged separately from the sales records and shall be paid by the purchaser to the operator of the business as trustee for and on account of the taxing city. The tax shall be added to the sales price and shall be passed on to the purchaser instead of being borne by the operator of the business. The taxing city shall design, print, and furnish to all appropriate businesses and persons in the city the necessary forms for filing returns and instructions to ensure the full collection of the tax. An operator of a business who collects a room occupancy tax may deduct from the amount remitted to the taxing city a discount equal to the discount the State allows the operator for State sales and use tax.

(d) Administration. — The taxing city shall administer a room occupancy tax it levies. A room occupancy tax is due and payable to the city finance officer in monthly installments on or before the 20th day of the month following the month in which the tax accrues. Every person, firm, corporation, or association liable for the tax shall, on or before the 20th day of each month, prepare and render a return on a form prescribed by the taxing city. The return shall state the total gross receipts derived in the preceding month from rentals upon which the tax is levied. A room occupancy tax return filed with the city finance officer is not a public record and may not be disclosed except in accordance with G.S. 153A-148.1 or G.S. 160A-208.1.

(e) Penalties. — A person, firm, corporation, or association who fails or refuses to file a room occupancy tax return or pay a room occupancy tax as required by law is subject to the civil and criminal penalties set by G.S. 105-236 for failure to pay or file a return for State sales and use taxes. The governing board of the taxing city has the same authority to waive the penalties for a room occupancy tax that the Secretary of Revenue has to waive the penalties for State sales and use taxes.

(f) Repeal or Reduction. — A room occupancy tax levied by a city may be repealed or reduced by a resolution adopted by the governing body of the city. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax shall become effective on the first day of a month and may not become effective until the end of the fiscal year in which the resolution was adopted. Repeal or reduction of a room occupancy tax does not affect a liability for a tax that was attached before the effective date of the repeal or reduction, nor does it affect a right to a refund of a tax that accrued before the effective date of the repeal or reduction.

(f1) Use. — The proceeds of a room occupancy tax shall not be used for development or construction of a hotel or another transient lodging facility.

(g) This section applies only to Beech Mountain District W, to the Cities of Belmont, Elizabeth City, Eden, Gastonia, Goldsboro, Greensboro, High Point, Kings Mountain, Lexington, Lincolnton, Lumberton, Monroe, Mount Airy, Reidsville, Roanoke Rapids, Shelby, Statesville, Washington, and Wilmington, to the Towns of Ahoskie, Beech Mountain, Benson, Blowing Rock, Boiling Springs, Burgaw, Carolina Beach, Carrboro, Dallas, Dobson, Elkin, Franklin, Jonesville, Kenly, Kure Beach, Mooresville, North Topsail Beach, Pilot Mountain, Selma, Smithfield, St. Pauls, Troutman, Tryon, West Jefferson, Wilkesboro, Wrightsville Beach, Yadkinville, and Yanceyville, and to the municipalities in Avery and Brunswick Counties. (1997-361, s. 4; 1997-364, s. 5; 1997-410, s. 3; 1997-447, s. 2; 1998-112, s. 4; 1999-258, s. 3; 1999-302, s. 2; 2000-103, s. 9; 2001-11, s. 2; 2001-365, s. 3; 2001-434, s. 9; 2001-439, s. 18.1; 2002-94, s. 4; 2002-95, s. 3; 2002-138, s. 2; 2002-139, s. 2; 2002-159, s. 62; 2003-281, s. 14; 2004-105, s. 3; 2004-170, ss. 36(b), 42(b); 2004-199, s. 60(b); 2005-16, s. 3; 2005-46, s. 2.3; 2005-49, s. 3; 2005-220, s. 5; 2005-233, s. 6.2; 2005-435, s. 45; 2006-118, s. 4; 2006-120, ss. 8.2, 10.2; 2006-148, s. 3; 2006-162, s. 20(b); 2006-164, s. 3; 2006-167, s. 3; 2006-264, ss. 19, 81(a); 2007-224, s. 6; 2007-317, s. 3; 2007-340, s. 10; 2007-484, s. 43; 2007-527, s. 42.)

Local Modification. — City of Greensboro: 1999, c. 302, ss. 1, 2.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1997-361, s. 4 enacted this section and made it effective to the Cities of Lumberton and Shelby only. Session Laws 1997-364, s. 5 also enacted this section, making it effective to municipalities in Brunswick County. Session Laws 1997-410, s. 3 made this section applicable to the City of Mount Airy. Session Laws 1997-447, s. 2 made this section applicable to the Cities of Goldsboro, Lumberton, Mount Airy and Shelby and to the municipalities in Brunswick County. Session Laws 1998-112, s. 4 added the City of Statesville and the Town of St. Pauls to the list of localities to which this section applies. Session Laws 1999-258, s. 3 added the Town of Mooresville to this list, and Session Laws 1999-302, s. 2 added the City of Greensboro. The section has been codified at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Session Laws 2002-94, s. 4 inserted "and Seven Devils District W" in subsection (g). Session Laws 2002-159, s. 62, repealed that amendment, and thus G.S. 160A-215(g) is set out without giving effect to Session Laws 2002-94, s. 4.

Session Laws 2006-120, s. 8.2, had inserted "Boiling Springs" in subsection (g); however, that insertion of "Boiling Springs" was repealed, pursuant to the terms of Session Laws 2006-120, s. 10.2, upon the passage of Session Laws 2006-148, s. 3, which also inserted "Boiling Springs" in subsection (g).

Tourism Promotion and Development.

— Session Laws 2001-162, 2001-305, 2001-321, 2001-365, 2001-381, as amended by 2005-120 and 2005-435, s. 52, as rewritten and recodified by 2007-112, s. 1, 2001-434, 2001-439, 2001-480, as amended by Session Laws 2002-36, 2001-484, 2002-94, 2002-95, as amended by Session Laws 2007-340, s. 1, 2002-138 and 2002-139, authorize the affected localities (the counties of Anson, Avery, Buncombe, Cabarrus, Carteret, Cumberland, Dare, Durham, Montgomery, Pender, Richmond, Rowan, Stanly, and Vance, the cities of Gastonia, Kings Mountain, Lincolnton, Monroe, North Topsail Beach, and Wilmington, the towns in Avery county and the towns of Banner Elk, Beech Mountain, Carolina Beach, Carrsboro, Jonesville, Kure Beach, Selma, Smithfield, Wilkesboro, and Wrightsville Beach, and the Township of Averasboro in Harnett County) to levy additional occupancy taxes for tourism promotion and development.

Session Laws 2003-281, s. 12, authorizes the City of Mount Airy to levy additional occupancy taxes for tourism promotion and development.

Session Laws 2003-281, s. 13, authorizes the Town of Blowing Rock to levy additional occupancy taxes for tourism promotion and development.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-16, s. 3, as amended by Session Laws 2006-264, s. 81(a), effective July 1, 2005, inserted “Elizabeth City” in subsection (g).

Session Laws 2006-118, s. 4, effective July 13, 2006, in subsection (g), inserted “Dobson, Elkin” and inserted “Pilot Mountain”.

Session Laws 2006-120, s. 8.2, effective July 17, 2006, in subsection (g), inserted “Benson” and “Kenly”.

Session Laws 2006-148, s. 3, effective July 20, 2006, in subsection (g), inserted “Boiling Springs” and “Tryon”.

Session Laws 2006-162, s. 20(b), effective

July 24, 2006, substituted “20th day” for “15th day” in the second sentence in subsection (d).

Session Laws 2006-164, s. 3, effective July 26, 2006, inserted “Ahoskie” in subsection (g).

Session Laws 2006-167, s. 3, effective July 27, 2006, inserted “Burgaw” in subsection (g).

Session Laws 2006-264, s. 19, effective August 27, 2006, in subsection (g), inserted “Jonesville” and made minor punctuation changes.

Session Laws 2007-224, s. 6, as amended by Session Laws 2007-484, s. 43, and Session Laws 2007-527, s. 42, effective July 17, 2007, in subsection (g), deleted “and” preceding “Wrightsville Beach” and added “and Yanceyville.”

Session Laws 2007-317, s. 3, effective July 30, 2007, added “Dallas” following “Carrboro” in subsection (g).

Session Laws 2007-340, s. 10, effective August 2, 2007, added “Yadkinville, and” in subsection (g).

§ 160A-215.1. Gross receipts tax on short-term leases or rentals.

(a) As a substitute for and in replacement of the ad valorem tax, which is excluded by G.S. 105-275(42), a city may levy a gross receipts tax on the gross receipts from the short-term lease or rental of vehicles at retail to the general public. The tax rate shall not exceed one and one-half percent (1.5%) of the gross receipts from such short-term leases or rentals. This tax on gross receipts is in addition to the privilege taxes authorized by G.S. 160A-211.

(b) If a city enacts the substitute and replacement gross receipts tax pursuant to this section, any entity required to collect the tax shall include a provision in each retail short-term lease or rental agreement noting that the percentage amount enacted by the city of the total lease or rental price, excluding highway use tax, is being charged as a tax on gross receipts. For purposes of this section, the transaction giving rise to the tax shall be deemed to have occurred at the location of the entity from which the customer takes delivery of the vehicle. The tax shall be collected at the time of lease or rental and placed in a segregated account until remitted to the city.

(c) The collection and use of taxes under this section are not subject to highway use tax and are not included in the gross receipts of the entity. The proceeds collected under this section belong to the city and are not subject to creditor liens against the entity.

(d) A tax levied under this section shall be collected by the city but otherwise administered in the same manner as the tax levied under G.S. 105-164.4(a)(2).

(e) The following definitions apply in this section:

(1) Short-term lease or rental. — Defined in G.S. 105-187.1.

(2) Vehicle. — Any of the following:

a. A motor vehicle of the passenger type, including a passenger van, minivan, or sport utility vehicle.

b. A motor vehicle of the cargo type, including cargo van, pickup truck, or truck with a gross vehicle weight rating of 26,000 pounds or less used predominantly in the transportation of property for other than commercial freight and that does not require the operator to possess a commercial drivers license.

c. A trailer or semitrailer with a gross vehicle weight of 6,000 pounds or less.

(f) The penalties and remedies that apply to local sales and use taxes levied under Subchapter VIII of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes apply to a tax levied under this section. The governing body of the city may exercise any power the Secretary of Revenue may exercise in collecting local sales and use taxes. (2000-2, s. 3; 2000-140, s. 75(c); 2001-414, s. 51.)

Editor's Note. — The definitions in subsection (e) have been set out in alphabetical order at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

ARTICLE 10.

Special Assessments.

§ 160A-216. Authority to make special assessments.

Any city is authorized to make special assessments against benefited property within its corporate limits for:

- (1) Constructing, reconstructing, paving, widening, installing curbs and gutters, and otherwise building and improving streets;
- (2) Constructing, reconstructing, paving, widening, and otherwise building or improving sidewalks in any public street;
- (3) Constructing, reconstructing, extending, and otherwise building or improving water systems;
- (4) Constructing, reconstructing, extending, or otherwise building or improving sewage collection and disposal systems of all types, including septic tank systems or other on-site collection or disposal facilities or systems;
- (5) Constructing, reconstructing, extending, and otherwise building or improving storm sewer and drainage systems. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1975, c. 664, s. 8; 1979, c. 619, s. 12.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Most of the cases cited below were decided under former G.S. 160-78 to 160-105 or prior similar provisions.

As to separate construction of general statutes and special or local laws, see City of Kinston v. Atlantic & N.C.R.R., 183 N.C. 14, 110 S.E. 645 (1922). See also, § 160A-3.

In case a special or local law is invalid, the general statutes may be followed in making local improvements. But their provisions must be complied with. Cottrell v. Town of Lenoir, 173 N.C. 138, 91 S.E. 827 (1917).

Power to Impose Assessments Within Right of Taxation. — The power to impose assessments upon owners whose lands abut upon the streets of a city to be improved comes within the sovereign right of taxation, and no license, permit, or franchise from the legislature or a municipal board will be construed to establish an exemption from the proper exercise of this power, or in derogation of it, unless such bodies are acting clearly within their authority, and the grant itself is in terms so clear and explicit as to be free from substantial doubt. City of Durham v. Durham Pub. Serv. Co., 182 N.C. 333, 109 S.E. 40 (1921), aff'd, 261 U.S. 149, 43 S. Ct. 290, 67 L. Ed. 580 (1923).

Ownership of Street Prerequisite to Assessment for Improvement. — The ownership by the city of a street is a prerequisite to the power of the city to levy an assessment for street improvements against abutting owners thereon. Efird v. City of Winston-Salem, 199 N.C. 33, 153 S.E. 632 (1930).

Liability of Municipal Parks for Assessments. — Absent constitutional or statutory provisions to the contrary, the public property of a municipality, such as parks, etc., is subject to assessment for local improvements of its streets; hence, when there is no provision exempting same, a public park of a city was included within the intent and meaning of Laws 1915, Chapter 56, providing that lands abutting on a street to be paved or improved should be assessed for such improvements to the extent of the respective frontage of the lots thereon, in a certain proportionate part of the cost, by the "front foot" rule. Town of Tarboro v. Forbes, 185 N.C. 59, 116 S.E. 81 (1923).

School Property Held Subject to Assessment. — Lands owned by "The School Committee of Raleigh Township, Wake County" and used exclusively for public school purposes were liable for assessment for street improvements made by the City of Raleigh. City of Raleigh v. Raleigh City Admin. Unit, 223 N.C. 316, 26 S.E.2d 591 (1943).

Interference by Courts. — Where an act allows assessments to be made by a city on property abutting on a street for pavement or improvements thereon, the legislative declaration on the subject is conclusive as to the necessity and benefit of the proposed improvements, and in applying the principle and estimating the amount as against the owners, individual or corporate, the court may interfere only in case of palpable and gross abuse. Kinston v. Atlantic & N.C.R.R., 183 N.C. 14, 110 S.E. 645 (1922).

Applied in Abbott v. Town of Highlands, 52 N.C. App. 69, 277 S.E.2d 820 (1981); Cockrell v. City of Raleigh, 306 N.C. 479, 293 S.E.2d 770 (1982); In re Dunn, 73 N.C. App. 243, 326 S.E.2d 309 (1985).

§ 160A-217. Petition for street or sidewalk improvements.

(a) A city shall have no power to levy special assessments for street or sidewalk improvements unless it receives a petition for the improvements signed by at least a majority in number of the owners of property to be assessed, who must represent at least a majority of all the lineal feet of frontage of the lands abutting on the street or portion thereof to be improved. Unless the petition specifies another percentage, not more than fifty percent (50%) of the cost of the improvement may be assessed (not including the cost of improvements made at street intersections).

(b) Property owned by the United States shall not be included in determining the lineal feet of frontage on the improvement, nor shall the United States be included in determining the number of owners of property abutting the improvement. Property owned by the State of North Carolina shall be included in determining frontage and the number of owners only if the State has consented to assessment in the manner provided in G.S. 160A-221. Property owned by railroad companies shall be included in determining frontage and the number of owners to the extent that the property is subject to assessment under G.S. 160A-222. Property owned by railroad companies that is not subject to assessment shall not be included in determining frontage and the number of owners. If it is necessary to exclude property owned by the United States, the State of North Carolina, or a railroad company in order to obtain a valid petition under subsection (a), not more than fifty percent (50%) of the cost (not including the cost of improvement at street intersections) may be assessed unless all of the owners subject to assessment agree to a higher percentage.

(c) No right of action or defense asserting the invalidity of street or sidewalk assessments on grounds that the city did not comply with this section in securing a valid petition shall be asserted except in an action or proceeding begun within 90 days after publication of the notice of adoption of the preliminary assessment resolution. (1915, c. 56, ss. 4, 5; C.S., ss. 2706, 2707; 1955, c. 675; 1963, c. 1000, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 33.)

tain: 1995, c. 133, s. 1; City of Launenburg: 2000-13, s. 1; city of Oxford: 1993, c. 240, s. 1; town of Ahoskie: 1987, c. 261; 1987 (Reg. Sess., 1988), c. 962; town of Carrboro: 1987, c. 476, s. 1; town of Tabor City: 2002-13, s. 1; town of Wake Forest: 1989, c. 347, s. 1.

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — The cases cited below were decided under former similar statutory provisions.

Procedure Must Fulfill Essential Requirements. — While a slight informality of procedure or a failure to observe a provision which is merely directory will not generally affect the validity of an assessment, it is nevertheless true that any substantial and material departure from the essential requirements of the law under which the improvement is made will render an assessment therefor invalid. Town of Tarboro v. Forbes, 185 N.C. 59, 116 S.E. 81 (1923).

Invalidity of Assessment Absent Proper Petition. — An assessment for widening a street under contract with the Highway Commission (now Board of Transportation) without petition of a majority of the owners is invalid. Sechriest v. City of Thomasville, 202 N.C. 108, 162 S.E. 212 (1932).

Absence of Petition Cured by Legislation. — When improvements are made under an assessment, and there has been no petition as required by statute, the assessments are invalid. However, this defect may be cured by a validating act of the legislature although the act is retrospective. Holton v. Town of Mockville, 189 N.C. 144, 126 S.E. 326 (1925); Gallimore v. City of Thomasville, 191 N.C. 648, 132 S.E. 657 (1926).

Where levies are made without a petition, the assessments are invalid but not void, and the legislature has the power to validate the assessments by subsequent legislative act, since the legislature had the power to authorize the assessments in the first instance. Crutchfield v. City of Thomasville, 205 N.C. 709, 172 S.E. 366 (1934).

The General Assembly, which has the power to confer upon the authorities of a municipal corporation the power to improve its streets and sidewalks and to assess the owners of abutting property with a part of the cost of such improvements without a petition, as indicated by this section, also has the power to validate proceedings for the improvement of streets and sidewalks which were begun and which have been concluded without an initial petition. Crutchfield v. City of Thomasville, 205 N.C. 709, 172 S.E. 366 (1934).

When Governing Body's Determination as to Sufficiency of Petition Is Conclusive.

— Where it appears upon the face of a petition, as a matter of law, that the signers of the petition do not represent a majority of the lineal feet of the total frontage on the street proposed to be improved, the determination of the governing body as to the sufficiency of the petition is not final or conclusive. Insofar as the sufficiency of the petition involves only questions of fact, the determination of the governing body, in the absence of fraud, and when acting in good faith, is final and conclusive. City of Tarboro v. Forbes, 185 N.C. 59, 116 S.E. 81 (1923); Gallimore v. City of Thomasville, 191 N.C. 648, 132 S.E. 657 (1926).

Where municipal authorities have approved the petition of owners of land abutting upon a street proposed to be improved in accordance with the statute, their approval and order for the improvements to be made is final, except where it appears from the face of the petition, as a matter of law, that the signers do not represent a majority of the owners or of the lineal feet required by statute. Jones v. City of Durham, 197 N.C. 127, 147 S.E. 824 (1929).

Complaint Alleging Invalidity of Petition Held Insufficient. — In an action to have an assessment levied against plaintiff's property declared invalid, a complaint alleging that only one of the signatures of abutting property owners to the petition for improvements was valid, without alleging that the assessment was based on the petition, what other signatures appeared on the petition, or facts supporting the conclusion that the other signatures were invalid, was insufficient to state a cause of action, and demurrer to the complaint was properly sustained. Broadway v. Town of Asheboro, 250 N.C. 232, 108 S.E.2d 441 (1959).

When City Owns Part of Abutting Land. — A town is subject to assessment on its abutting property, and the rule of a majority of lineal feet and number of owners will apply just the same when a city owns a part of the abutting land as any other time. And if the city fails to sign when its signature is necessary to have a majority of lineal feet, the assessment is a nullity. Town of Tarboro v. Forbes, 185 N.C. 59, 116 S.E. 81 (1923).

Improvement of Only One Side of Street. — An assessment levied for street improvements on abutting property owners is not void on the ground that the assessment was for improving only one side of a street. Town of Waxhaw v. Seaboard A.L. Ry., 195 N.C. 550, 142 S.E. 761 (1928).

Signatures as Evidence of Agency. — Where wife owned the locus in quo and petition for public improvements was signed by both husband and wife, the signature of the wife as the owner of the property along with the signature of the husband was sufficient evidence to be submitted to the jury on the issue of whether wife constituted her husband her agent to subsequently act for her in the premises, rendering the listing of the property in his name on the assessment roll and the special assessment book and the giving of the statutory notices to him sufficient, and thus rendering the lien against the property valid and enforceable as against her and as against her subsequent grantee. Town of Wadesboro v. Cox, 218 N.C. 729, 12 S.E.2d 223 (1940).

Resolution as Evidence. — In an action by a municipality to enforce a lien for public improvements, objection that plaintiff failed to introduce in evidence the petition for improvements signed by the owners of a majority of the lineal feet frontage abutting the improvements was held untenable where the original resolution of the city, introduced in evidence, recited a proper petition and that it was duly certified by the clerk, since if such finding was erroneous, the remedy for correction was by appeal. Town of Asheboro v. Miller, 220 N.C. 298, 17 S.E.2d 105 (1941).

§ 160A-218. Basis for making assessments.

Assessments may be made on the basis of:

- (1) The frontage abutting on the project, at an equal rate per foot of frontage, or
- (2) The area of land served, or subject to being served, by the project, at an equal rate per unit of area, or
- (3) The value added to the land served by the project, or subject to being served by it, being the difference between the appraised value of the land without improvements as shown on the tax records of the county, and the appraised value of the land with improvements according to the appraisal standards and rules adopted by the county at its last revaluation, at an equal rate per dollar of value added; or
- (4) The number of lots served, or subject to being served, where the project involves extension of an existing system to a residential or commercial subdivision, at an equal rate per lot; or
- (5) A combination of two or more of these bases.

Whenever the basis selected for assessment is either area or value added, the council may provide for the laying out of benefit zones according to the distance of benefited property from the project being undertaken, and may establish differing rates of assessment to apply uniformly throughout each benefit zone.

For each project, the council shall endeavor to establish an assessment method from among the bases set out in this section which will most accurately assess each lot or parcel of land according to the benefit conferred upon it by the project. The council's decision as to the method of assessment shall be final and conclusive and not subject to further review or challenge. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Assessments for constructing drains need not be the same, for costs will be different because of difference in location and slope of the several lots. Gallimore v. Town of Thomasville, 191 N.C. 648, 132 S.E. 657 (1926), decided under former statutory provisions.

Method used to determine amount of value added to individual lots served by water system construction, calculating the average value of the improvement to all unimproved lots and establishing a nominal percentage thereof as the increase in value to improved lots, was not a method sanctioned by subdivision (3). This subdivision clearly prescribes a before and after improvement appraisal of the property, with the assessment based on a set rate per value added to the land served, an amount which may necessarily vary due to the nature of the individual lots themselves. Cutting v. Foxfire Village, 75 N.C. App. 161, 330 S.E.2d 210, cert. denied, 314 N.C. 664, 335 S.E.2d 499 (1985).

Decisions as to Benefits to Property Are Final. — The decisions of the city council as to the method of assessment and the total cost of an improvement are final and conclusive and not subject to further review or challenge. This includes decisions as to whether and how much a property is benefitted by the improvements. In re Dunn, 73 N.C. App. 243, 326 S.E.2d 309, cert. denied, 313 N.C. 602, 332 S.E.2d 180 (1985).

§ 160A-219. Corner lot exemptions.

The council shall have authority to establish schedules of exemptions from assessments for corner lots when a project is undertaken along both sides of such lots. The schedules of exemptions shall be based on categories of land use (residential, commercial, industrial, or agricultural) and shall be uniform for each category. The schedule of exemptions may not provide exemption of more than seventy-five percent (75%) of the frontage of any side of a corner lot, or 150 feet, whichever is greater. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

Local Modification. — Forsyth: 1999-89, s. 1; city of Winston-Salem: 1999-89, s. 1; town of Pittsboro: 1987, c. 460, s. 30.

§ 160A-220. Lands exempt from assessment.

No lands within a city, except as herein provided, shall be exempt from special assessments except lands belonging to the United States that are exempt under the provisions of federal statutes. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Charitable Corporation Not Exempt from Special Assessments. — See opinion of Attorney General to Dr. H. G. Jones, Director, Department of Archives and History, 40 N.C.A.G. 454 (1970), issued under former statutory provisions.

§ 160A-221. Assessments against lands owned by the State.

When any city proposes to make local improvements that would benefit lands owned by the State of North Carolina or any board, agency, commission, or institution thereof, the council may request the Council of State to consent to special assessments against the property. The Council of State may authorize the Secretary of Administration to give consent for special assessments against State property, but the city may appeal to the Council of State if the Secretary of Administration refuses to give consent. When consent is given for special assessments against State lands, the Council of State may direct that the assessment be paid from the Contingency and Emergency Fund of the State of North Carolina or from any other available funds. If consent to the assessment is refused, the state-owned property shall be exempt from assessment. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1975, c. 879, s. 46.)

§ 160A-222. Assessments against railroads.

Assessments shall not be made against land owned, leased or controlled by a railroad company, except that if there is a building on the land, the portion of railroad property subject to assessment shall be a lot whose frontage equals the actual front footage occupied by the building plus 25 feet on each side thereof, but not more than the amount of land owned, leased, or controlled by the railroad. If a building is placed on land that would have been subject to assessment but for the limitations imposed by this section after an improvement is made, then the railroad company shall be subject to an assessment without interest on the same basis as if the building had been on the property when the improvement was made.

It is the intent of this section to make uniform the law concerning assessments against railroads. To this end, all provisions of law, whether general or local, in conflict with this section are repealed; and no local act taking effect on or after January 1, 1972, shall be construed to modify, amend, or repeal any portion of this section unless it shall specifically so provide by reference hereto. (1965, c. 839, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — The cases cited below were decided under former G.S. 160-520 and 160-521.

Constitutionality. — Section exempting railroad right-of-way property from assessment for local improvements was not unconstitutional on grounds that it was not authorized by N.C. Const., Art. V, § 2, since those provisions deal with the power of taxation and not with assessments for local improvements. Southern Ry. v. City of Raleigh, 9 N.C. App. 305, 176 S.E.2d 21 (1970), aff'd, 277 N.C. 709, 178 S.E.2d 422 (1971).

Exemption Not Arbitrary. — The General Assembly did not act arbitrarily when, by enactment of former Article 42 of Chapter 160, it determined that railroad right-of-way property was not benefited by and should not be assessed for described local improvements. Southern Ry. v. City of Raleigh, 9 N.C. App. 305, 176 S.E.2d 21 (1970), aff'd, 277 N.C. 709, 178 S.E.2d 422 (1971).

Local Assessments Not "Taxes." — Local assessments may be a species of tax but they are not taxes within the meaning of the term as generally understood in constitutional restrictions and exemptions. These assessments proceed upon the theory that when a local improvement enhances the value of neighboring property, it is reasonable and competent for the legislature to provide that such property shall pay for the improvement. Southern Ry. v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 709, 178 S.E.2d 422 (1971).

Purpose. — The only purpose of former similar section was to withdraw from municipalities the right to levy an assessment against vacant city lots over which railroads operate their trains. The language was plain, and did not require interpretation. Southern Ry. v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 709, 178 S.E.2d 422 (1971).

General Application. — The language employed by the legislature in former similar section clearly manifested a legislative intent that it be of general application. Southern Ry. v. City of Raleigh, 9 N.C. App. 305, 176 S.E.2d 21 (1970), aff'd, 277 N.C. 709, 178 S.E.2d 422 (1971).

Legislature has power to determine by statute what property is benefited by local improvements, and the legislative declaration on the subject, in the absence of arbitrary action, is conclusive, notwithstanding provisions of municipal charter. Southern Ry. v. City of Raleigh, 9 N.C. App. 305, 176 S.E.2d 21 (1970), aff'd, 277 N.C. 709, 178 S.E.2d 422 (1971).

And to Determine What Property Is Not Benefited. — The right of the legislature to determine what property is benefited by a street improvement includes the right to determine what property is not benefited thereby. The right to include involves the right to exclude, and the General Assembly, by providing that a municipality shall not assess railroad right-of-way property for local improvement “unless there is a building on such right-of-way,” acted within its power. Southern Ry. v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 709, 178 S.E.2d 422 (1971).

Street pavement would increase the value of a building by adding to its availability for profitable uses, and the municipality may assess the cost of paving frontage occupied by a building. Southern Ry. v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 709, 178 S.E.2d 422 (1971).

But Not Railroad Right-of-Way. — A street pavement adjacent to a railroad right-of-way ordinarily would not increase the value of the right-of-way for railway purposes. Southern Ry. v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 709, 178 S.E.2d 422 (1971).

§ 160A-223. Preliminary resolution; contents.

Whenever the council decides to finance a proposed project by special assessments, it shall first adopt a preliminary resolution that shall contain the following:

- (1) A statement of intent to undertake the project;
- (2) A general description of the nature and location of the project;
- (3) A statement as to the proposed basis for making assessments, which shall include a general description of the boundaries of the area benefited if the basis of assessment is either area or value added;
- (4) A statement as to the percentage of the cost of the work that is to be assessed;
- (5) A statement as to which, if any, assessments shall be held in abeyance and for how long;
- (6) A statement as to the proposed terms of payment of the assessment; and
- (7) An order setting a time and place for a public hearing on all matters covered by the preliminary resolution which shall be not earlier than three weeks nor later than 10 weeks from the date of the adoption of the preliminary resolution. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-224. Notice of preliminary resolution.

At least 10 days before the date set for the public hearing, the council shall publish a notice that a preliminary assessment resolution has been adopted and that a public hearing will be held on it at a specified time and place. The notice shall generally describe the nature and location of the improvement. In addition, at least 10 days prior to the hearing, the council shall cause a copy of the preliminary resolution to be mailed to the owners, as shown on the county tax records, of all property subject to assessment if the project should be undertaken. The person designated to mail these resolutions shall file with the council a certificate showing that they were mailed by first-class mail and on what date. The certificate shall be conclusive as to compliance with the mailing provisions of this section in the absence of fraud. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

Local Modification. — Town of Calabash: 1987, c. 468, s. 1.

§ 160A-225. Hearing on preliminary resolution; assessment resolution.

At the public hearing, the council shall hear all interested persons who appear with respect to any matter covered by the preliminary resolution. After the public hearing, the council may adopt a resolution directing that the project or portions thereof be undertaken. The assessment resolution shall describe the project in general terms (which may be by reference to projects described in the preliminary resolution) and shall set forth the following:

- (1) The basis on which the special assessments shall be levied, together with a general description of the boundaries of the area benefited if the basis of assessment is either area or value added;
- (2) The percentage of the cost to be specially assessed;
- (3) The terms of payment, including the conditions under which assessments are to be held in abeyance, if any.

The percentage of cost to be assessed may not be different from the percentage proposed, and the projects authorized may not be greater in scope than the projects described in the preliminary resolution. If the council decides that a different percentage of the cost should be assessed than that proposed in the preliminary resolution, or that any project should be enlarged, it shall adopt and advertise a new preliminary resolution as herein provided. (1915, c. 56, s. 6; C.S., s. 2708; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-226. Determination of costs.

When the project is complete, the council shall ascertain the total cost. In addition to construction costs, the cost of all necessary legal services, the amount of interest paid during construction, costs of rights-of-way, and the costs of publication of notices and resolutions may be included. The determination of the council as to the total cost of any project shall be conclusive. (1915, c. 56, s. 9; C.S., s. 2711; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

Local Modification. — City of Durham: 1973, c. 413; city of Salisbury: 1973, c. 190.

CASE NOTES

Decisions as to Benefits to Property Are Final. — The decisions of the city council as to the method of assessment and the total cost of an improvement are final and conclusive and not subject to further review or challenge. This includes decisions as to whether and how much a property is benefitted by the improvements. In re Dunn, 73 N.C. App. 243, 326 S.E.2d 309, cert. denied, 313 N.C. 602, 332 S.E.2d 180 (1985).

§ 160A-226.1. Discounts authorized.

The council is authorized to establish a schedule of discounts to be applied to assessments paid before the expiration of 30 days from the date that notice is published of confirmation of the assessment roll pursuant to G.S. 160A-229. Such a schedule of discounts may be established even though it was not included among the terms of payment as specified in the preliminary assessment resolution or assessment resolution. The amount of any discount may not exceed thirty percent (30%). (1983, c. 381, s. 4.)

CASE NOTES

Applied in In re Dunn, 73 N.C. App. 243, 326 S.E.2d 309 (1985).

§ 160A-227. Preliminary assessment roll; publication.

When the total cost of a project has been determined, the council shall have a preliminary assessment roll prepared. The preliminary roll shall contain a brief description of each lot, parcel, or tract of land assessed, the basis for the assessment, the amount assessed against each, the terms of payment, including the schedule of discounts, if such a schedule is to be established and the name of the owner of each parcel of land as far as this can be ascertained from the county tax records. A map of the project on which is shown each parcel assessed with the basis of its assessment, the amount assessed against it, and the name of the owner, as far as this can be ascertained from the county tax records, shall be a sufficient assessment roll.

After the preliminary assessment roll has been completed, it shall be filed in the city clerk's office where it shall be available for public inspection. A notice of the completion of the assessment roll, setting forth in general terms a description of the project, noting the availability of the assessment roll in the clerk's office for inspection, and stating the time and place for a hearing on the preliminary assessment roll, shall be published at least 10 days before the date set for the hearing on the preliminary assessment roll. The council shall also cause a notice of the hearing on the preliminary assessment roll to be mailed to the owners of property listed thereon at least 10 days before the hearing. The notice mailed to each property owner shall give notice of the time and place of the hearing, shall note the availability of the preliminary assessment roll for inspection in the city clerk's office and shall state the amount of the assessment against the property of the owner as shown on the preliminary assessment roll. The person designated to mail these notices shall file with the council a certificate showing they were mailed by first-class mail and on what date. Such a certificate shall be conclusive as to compliance with the mailing provisions of this section in the absence of fraud. (1915, c. 56, s. 9; C.S., s. 2712; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1983, c. 381, s. 5.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Most of the cases cited below were decided under prior similar statutory provisions.

Sufficiency of Description of Land. — Assessments made upon the lands of an owner adjoining a street improved by the authorities of a city or town would not be declared invalid on the grounds of the insufficiency of the description in the assessment roll at the suit of such property owners, when it was in substantial compliance with the statute. Vester v. Town of Nashville, 190 N.C. 265, 129 S.E. 593 (1925).

Map as Sufficient Description. — A map made by the city engineer and duly approved by the city commissioners was in sufficient compliance with the requirements of the statute. Holton v. Town of Mockville, 189 N.C. 144, 126 S.E. 326 (1925).

As to notice of filing under former statute, see Town of Wake Forest v. Holding, 206 N.C. 425, 174 S.E. 296 (1934).

Failure to Publish Notice of First Hearing Held Immaterial. — Where notice of hearing on the confirmation of an assessment roll was not published, but on the date set for the hearing the municipal board met and adopted the required resolution in amplified form and fixed the time and place for hearing of objections, and notice of the hearing on the second date set was duly published, on which date hearing was duly had, necessary corrections were made, and the assessment roll as corrected was duly approved and confirmed, the fact that notice of hearing on the first date set was not published as required was rendered immaterial. Town of Asheboro v. Miller, 220 N.C. 298, 17 S.E.2d 105 (1941).

§ 160A-228. Hearing on preliminary assessment roll; revision; confirmation; lien.

At the public hearing, which may be adjourned from time to time until all persons have had an opportunity to be heard, the council shall hear objections to the preliminary assessment roll from all interested persons who appear. Then or thereafter, the council shall annul, modify, or confirm the assessments, in whole or in part, either by confirming the preliminary assessments against any or all of the lots or parcels described in the preliminary assessment roll, or by canceling, increasing, or reducing them as may be proper in compliance with the basis of assessment. If any property is omitted from the preliminary assessment roll, the council may place it on the roll and levy the proper assessment. Whenever the council confirms assessments for any project, the city clerk shall enter in the minutes of the council the date, hour, and minute of confirmation. From and after the time of confirmation, the assessments shall be a lien on the property assessed of the same nature and to the same extent as the lien for county and city property taxes, according to the priorities set out in G.S. 160A-233(c). After the assessment roll is confirmed, a copy of it shall be delivered to the city tax collector for collection in the same manner as property taxes, except as herein provided. (1915, c. 56, s. 9; C.S., s. 2713; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 34.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — The cases cited below were decided under prior similar statutory provisions.

Assessments as Liens on Property. — Assessments made upon property for street and sidewalk improvements by a town, in all respects under the authority conferred on the municipality by statute, to be paid in partial payments over a designated period of time, are to be regarded in the nature of a statutory mortgage when due and payable; they constitute liens on the property within the warranty clause against encumbrances contained in a deed, and are recoverable in grantee's action against grantor to the extent he has been required to pay them. Coble v. Dick, 194 N.C. 732, 140 S.E. 745 (1927).

Within Meaning of Warranty Against Encumbrances. — The lien for street assessments is an encumbrance within the meaning of the warranty clause against encumbrances contained in a deed. Coble v. Dick, 194 N.C. 732, 140 S.E. 745 (1927); City of Winston-Salem v. Powell Paving Co., 7 F. Supp. 424 (M.D.N.C. 1934).

Lien Amounts to Statutory Mortgage. — The lien given under former similar statute, when properly established, amounts to a statutory mortgage. City of Kinston v. Atlantic & N.C.R.R., 183 N.C. 14, 110 S.E. 645 (1922); Town of Saluda v. Polk County, 207 N.C. 180, 176 S.E. 298 (1934).

And Is Based on Theory of Special Benefit to Property. — The lien against property for street improvements is a lien in rem against the land itself, but is not strictly a tax lien and is based upon the theory of special benefit to the property itself. Town of Saluda v. Polk County, 207 N.C. 180, 176 S.E. 298 (1934).

Lien Not Enforceable Against Estate of Decedent. — An assessment made upon adjoining land for a street improvement by a town is a charge upon the land constituting a lien superior to all others, but is not enforceable against the personalty or other lands of the owner; and when the owner of land has been thus assessed, payable in installments, and he subsequently dies, such assessment is not a debt of the deceased payable by his personal representative, but a charge against the land itself. The provisions of G.S. 28A-19-6, as to the order of payment of debts of the deceased, have no application. Carawan v. Barnett, 197 N.C. 511, 149 S.E. 740 (1929). See also, City of Statesville v. Jenkins, 199 N.C. 159, 154 S.E. 15 (1930); City of High Point v. Brown, 206 N.C. 664, 175 S.E. 169 (1934); City of Winston-Salem v. Powell Paving Co., 7 F. Supp. 424 (M.D.N.C. 1934).

When Lien Attaches. — The lien for street assessments does not attach to land until confirmation of the assessments; thus, where such assessments are not confirmed by the governing body of the town until after the execution of a deed to the property, the subsequently attaching lien for the assessments does not violate the warranty and covenant in the deed, in the usual language, against encumbrances. Oliver v. Hecht, 207 N.C. 481, 177 S.E. 399 (1934).

Owner's Ratification as Sufficient Compliance with Statute. — Where property owner signs the petition and has notice that improvements are to be made and notice that the assessment roll giving the amount of the assessment against his property has been filed in the office of the city clerk, and he accepts the benefits and pays installments of the assessments without objection, he ratifies same and the statute is sufficiently complied with. Town of Wake Forest v. Holding, 206 N.C. 425, 174 S.E. 296 (1934).

Statute of Limitations. — Assessment against abutting lands for street improvements is made a lien on the land superior to all other liens and encumbrances, and the 10-year statute of limitation, not the three-year statute, is applicable thereto. City of High Point v. Clinard, 204 N.C. 149, 167 S.E. 690 (1933).

Cited in First Am. Fed. Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Royall, 77 N.C. App. 131, 334 S.E.2d 792 (1985).

§ 160A-229. Publication of notice of confirmation of assessment roll.

After the expiration of 20 days from the confirmation of the assessment roll, the city tax collector shall publish once a notice that the assessment roll has been confirmed, and that assessments may be paid without interest at any time before the expiration of 30 days from the date that the notice is published, and that if they are not paid within this time, all installments thereof shall bear interest as provided in G.S. 160A-233. The notice shall also state the schedule of discounts, if one has been established, to be applied to assessments paid before the expiration date for payment of assessments without interest. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1983, c. 381, s. 6.)

§ 160A-230. Appeal to General Court of Justice.

If the owner of, or any person interested in, any lot or parcel of land against which an assessment is made is dissatisfied with the amount of the assessment, he may, within 10 days after the confirmation of the assessment roll, file a notice of appeal to the appropriate division of the General Court of Justice. He shall then have 20 days after the confirmation of the assessment roll to serve on the council or the city clerk a statement of facts upon which the appeal is based. The appeal shall be tried like other actions at law. (1915, c. 56, s. 9; C.S., s. 2714; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Many of the cases cited below were decided under prior similar statutory provisions.

Right of Appeal Makes Statute Constitutional. — The right of appeal to the courts being provided in case of dissatisfaction by an owner of land abutting on a street assessed by the governing body of a municipality for street improvement, the objection that the owner's property is taken for a public use in contravention of the due process clause of the Constitution is untenable. Leak v. Town of Wadesboro, 186 N.C. 683, 121 S.E. 12 (1923).

Jurisdiction of Court is Derivative. — The jurisdiction of the court upon appeal from a levy of assessments for street improvements by the governing body of a town, as provided by statute, is entirely derivative, and where a town has no jurisdiction to condemn land the court on appeal likewise has no jurisdiction to do so. Atlantic Coast Line R.R. v. Town of Ahoskie, 207 N.C. 154, 176 S.E. 264 (1934).

Original jurisdiction to determine questions of fact involved in assessment proceedings is derived from the General Assembly and vested in the city council. Since a property owner's right of appeal from the city council to the courts is created and governed by statute, the jurisdiction acquired is derivative. On appeal to the courts, the owner of assessed property has no right to be heard there on the question of whether the lands are benefitted or not, but only on the validity of the assessment, its proper apportionment and other questions of law. In re Dunn, 73 N.C. App. 243, 326 S.E.2d 309, cert. denied, 313 N.C. 602, 332 S.E.2d 180 (1985).

Superior court may not determine de novo questions within the city council's original jurisdiction. In re Dunn, 73 N.C. App. 243, 326 S.E.2d 309, cert. denied, 313 N.C. 602, 332 S.E.2d 180 (1985).

While a petition is a prerequisite, it is not jurisdictional, and if the finding by the municipal board is erroneous, it should be corrected by appeal. Town of Asheboro v. Miller, 220 N.C. 298, 17 S.E.2d 105 (1941).

The language providing that appeals "shall be tried as other actions at law," serves merely to distinguish those actions from special proceedings for purposes of determining the applicable procedural rules. In re Dunn, 73 N.C. App. 243, 326 S.E.2d 309, cert. denied, 313 N.C. 602, 332 S.E.2d 180 (1985).

Appeal Not Limited to Amount of Assessment. — Former similar statute did not limit the property owner's appeal from an assessment for public improvements solely to the amount to be charged against his land. Smith v. City of Rockingham, 268 N.C. 697, 151 S.E.2d 568 (1966).

Existence of Street as Issue. — Under the provisions of former similar statute, it was necessary that there be an existing street in order for a valid assessment for improvements to be laid on the property of abutting owners, and this could be made an issue in an appeal, with the adjoining owner introducing his evidence to show to the contrary. Atlantic Coast Line R.R. v. Town of Ahoskie, 192 N.C. 258, 134 S.E. 653 (1926).

Collateral Attack in Action to Enforce Lien Precluded. — In an action to enforce a lien for public improvements, a defendant who had notice and ample opportunity to be heard and to appeal from the order confirming the assessment roll cannot impeach the validity of the ordinance or of the assessment for any alleged irregularities which are not jurisdictional. Town of Asheboro v. Miller, 220 N.C. 298, 17 S.E.2d 105 (1941).

Injunctive Relief Not Available After Failure to Appeal. — The remedy of abutting owners assessed for street improvements is given by the provisions for the right of appeal, and when no appeal has been taken and the work has been completed, injunctive relief against the collection of the assessments by the city will not lie. Jones v. City of Durham, 197 N.C. 127, 147 S.E. 824 (1929).

The owner of land abutting on a street which the municipality proposes to improve has his remedy in objecting to the local assessment on his property because of the insufficiency of the petition, and he may not enjoin the issuance of bonds for this necessary expense on that ground when he has failed to pursue his statutory remedy. Brown v. Town of Hillsboro, 185 N.C. 368, 117 S.E. 41 (1923).

Untimely Application for Writ of Certiorari. — An abutting property owner who failed to appeal from a final order of the board of aldermen affirming the assessment roll was not entitled to a writ of certiorari where application for the writ was filed more than eight months after his time for appeal had expired. Sanford v. Southern Oil Co., 244 N.C. 388, 93 S.E.2d 560 (1956).

Estoppel to Assert Errors in Assessments. — Where the property owner failed to object and avail himself of the specific remedy for review and correction of the assessment, but made payments on the assessment, he is estopped to show error in the assessment. Town of Wake Forest v. Gulley, 213 N.C. 494, 196 S.E. 845 (1938).

§ 160A-231. Reassessment.

The council shall have the power, when in its judgment any irregularity, omission, error or lack of jurisdiction in any of the proceedings related thereto, has occurred, to set aside the whole of any special assessment made by it and thereupon to make a reassessment. In that case, all additional interest paid, or to be paid, as a result of the delay in confirming the assessment shall be included as a part of the project cost. The proceeding shall, as far as practicable, in all respects take place as it had with the original assessments, and the reassessment shall have the same force as if it had originally been properly made. (1915, c. 56, s. 9; C.S., s. 2715; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — The cases cited below were decided under prior similar statutory provisions.

Reduction of Assessment Held Unavailable on Grounds Urged. — Where the board of aldermen granted a petition for street improvements requesting the assessment of a larger proportion of the costs of the improvements against the lots of land abutting directly thereon than was otherwise required by statute, after the confirmation of the assessment roll a subsequent board of aldermen was without power to grant a petition of the abutting landowners for a reduction of the assessment upon the ground alone that the amount of the assessments exceeded that which they had originally anticipated, and a suit by other taxpayers of the town to enjoin the granting of such petition was proper. McClester v. Town of China Grove, 196 N.C. 301, 145 S.E. 562 (1928).

Extension resolution providing a new series of installment payments did not invalidate lien of a municipality for an assessment for public improvements, where the sums of the new installments in the aggregate exceeded the amount actually due at the time of the extension. Differences could be adjusted. City of Salisbury v. Arey, 224 N.C. 260, 29 S.E.2d 894 (1944).

§ 160A-232. Payment of assessments in cash or by installments.

The owners of assessed property shall have the option, within 30 days after the publication of the notice that the assessment roll has been confirmed, of paying the assessment either in cash or in not more than 10 annual installments, as may have been determined by the council in the resolution directing the project giving rise to the assessment to be undertaken. With respect to payment by installment, the council may provide

- (1) That the first installment with interest shall become due and payable on the date when property taxes are due and payable, and one subsequent installment and interest shall be due and payable on the same date in each successive year until the assessment is paid in full, or
- (2) That the first installment with interest shall become due and payable 60 days after the date that the assessment roll is confirmed, and one subsequent installment and interest shall be due and payable on the same day of the month in each successive year until the assessment is paid in full. § 160A-233. Enforcement of assessments; interests; foreclosure; limitations.

(a) Any portion of an assessment that is not paid within 30 days after publication of the notice that the assessment roll has been confirmed shall bear interest until paid at a rate to be fixed in the assessment resolution but not more than eight percent (8%) per annum.

(b) If any installment of an assessment is not paid on or before the due date, all of the installments remaining unpaid shall immediately become due and payable, unless the council waives acceleration. The council may waive acceleration and permit the property owner to pay all installments in arrears together with interest due thereon and the cost to the city of attempting to obtain payment. If this is done, the remaining installments shall be reinstated so that they fall due as if there had been no default. Waiver of acceleration and reinstatement of future installments may be done at any time before foreclosure proceedings have been instituted.

(c) Assessment liens may be foreclosed under any procedure prescribed by law for the foreclosure of property tax liens, except that lien sales and lien sale certificates shall not be required, and foreclosure may be begun at any time after 30 days after the due date. The city shall not be entitled to a deficiency judgment in an action to foreclose an assessment lien. The lien of special assessments shall be inferior to all prior and subsequent liens for State, local, and federal taxes, and superior to all other liens.

(d) No city may maintain an action or proceeding to enforce any remedy for the foreclosure of special assessment liens unless the action or proceeding is begun within 10 years from the date that the assessment or the earliest installment thereof included in the action or proceeding became due. Acceleration of installments under subsection (b) shall not have the effect of shortening the time within which foreclosure may be begun, but in that event the statute of limitations shall continue to run as to each installment as if acceleration had not occurred. (1915, c. 56, s. 11; C.S., s. 2717; 1923, c. 87; 1929, c. 331, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

Passing of Installment Option to Municipality. — Provisions giving property owner 30 days in which to pay assessments for local improvements in cash without interest or the election to pay the same in installments are for the benefit of the property owner, and when exercised, become mandatory upon the municipality; but when property owner remains silent and neither pays in cash nor elects to pay in installments, the option passes to the municipality to foreclose or to collect in installments. City of Salisbury v. Arey, 224 N.C. 260, 29 S.E.2d 894 (1944).

The interest rate on street assessments is fixed by statute, and the courts are without authority at law or in equity to prescribe a lesser interest rate. Zebulon v. Dawson, 216 N.C. 520, 5 S.E.2d 535 (1939).

Right to Accelerate. — Provision that upon failure to pay any installment when due all installments remaining unpaid should at once become due and payable gives the municipality the optional right to declare all installments due and payable upon default; absent its declaration to invoke the acceleration provision, the statute of limitations will not begin to run against unpaid installments not then due. Town of Farmville v. Paylor, 208 N.C. 106, 179 S.E. 459 (1935). See also, City of Salisbury v. Arey, 224 N.C. 260, 29 S.E.2d 894 (1944).

Judgment for Installments. — Where the owner of land abutting on the street has refused to pay the assessments lawfully made on him for street improvements, a judgment allowing him to pay by installments may be entered. City of Durham v. Durham Pub. Serv. Co., 182 N.C. 333, 109 S.E. 40 (1921), aff'd, 261 U.S. 149, 43 S. Ct. 290, 67 L. Ed. 580 (1923).

sale, see City of Kinston v. Atlantic & N.C.R.R., 183 N.C. 14, 110 S.E. 645 (1922); Town of Saluda v. Polk County, 207 N.C. 180, 176 S.E. 298 (1934).

Attorneys' Fee. — Construed together, subsection (c) of this section and G.S. 105-374(i) provide for an award of one reasonable attorneys' fee, in the court's discretion, in a foreclosure of an assessment lien by action in the nature of an action to foreclose a mortgage. Guilford County v. Boyan, 42 N.C. App. 627, 257 S.E.2d 463 (1979), cert. denied, 303 N.C. 311, 278 S.E.2d 252 (1981).

Construction of Subsection (d) as to Limitations of Actions. — The inherent illogic of the literal meaning of the first sentence of subsection (d), the sentence's context, and the statute's history all show that the legislature did not intend to bar an action for installments of assessments falling due within the 10-year limitation period, even when installments which became due more than 10 years before the institution of the action were sought to be included in the action. Guilford County v. Boyan, 42 N.C. App. 627, 257 S.E.2d 463 (1979), cert. denied, 303 N.C. 311, 278 S.E.2d 252 (1981).

The second sentence of subsection (d) makes plain that the legislature intended the statute of limitations to run anew from the due date of each individual installment. Guilford County v. Boyan, 42 N.C. App. 627, 257 S.E.2d 463 (1979), cert. denied, 303 N.C. 311, 278 S.E.2d 252 (1981).

§ 160A-234. Assessments on property held by tenancy for life or years.

(a) Assessments upon real property in the possession or enjoyment of a tenant for life, or a tenant for a term of years, shall be paid by the holder of the remainder or reversion, as the case may be.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1979, c. 107, s. 12. (1911, c. 7, ss. 1, 2, 3; C.S., ss. 2718, 2719, 2720; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, c. 107, s. 12; 2003-232, s. 6.)

Editor's Note. — Subsection (a), as amended by Session Laws 2003-232, s. 6, effective January 1, 2004, is applicable to every trust or decedent's estate existing on that date or coming into existence after that date, except as otherwise expressly provided in the will or terms of the trust or in the provisions of Chapter 37A of the General Statutes, as enacted in Session Laws 2003-232.

CASE NOTES

Assessments Not Preference Against Estate of Deceased Life Tenant. — Since street and sidewalk assessments constitute a lien against the property not collectible out of other properties belonging to the owner, and since a life tenant is not liable for the whole assessment, being entitled to have it proportioned, upon the death of a life tenant such assessments made prior to his death do not constitute a preference against his estate payable as a tax assessed on the estate prior to his death. Rigsbee v. Brogden, 209 N.C. 510, 184 S.E. 24 (1936), decided under former similar statutory provisions.

§ 160A-235. Lien in favor of a cotenant or joint owner paying special assessments.

Any one of several tenants in common, or joint tenants, or copartners shall have the right to pay the whole or any part of any special assessment levied against property held jointly or in common, and all sums by him so paid in excess of his share of the assessment, interests, costs, and amounts required for redemption, shall constitute a lien upon the shares of his cotenants or associates, which he may enforce in proceedings for partition, actual or by sale, or in any other appropriate judicial proceeding. The lien herein provided for shall not be effective against an innocent purchaser for value unless and until notice thereof is filed in the office of the clerk of superior court in the county in which the land lies and indexed and docketed in the same manner as other liens required by law to be filed in the clerk's office. (1935, c. 174; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-236. Apportionment of assessments.

When special assessments are made against property which has been or is about to be subdivided, the council may, with the consent of the owner of the property, apportion the assessment among the lots or tracts within the subdivision, or release certain lots or tracts from the assessments if, in the opinion of the council, some of the lots or tracts in the subdivision are not benefited by the project. Upon an apportionment, each of the lots and tracts in the subdivision shall be released from the lien of the original assessment, and the portions of the original assessment assessed against each lot or tract shall have the same force and effect as the original assessment as to the particular lot or tract assessed. At the time of making an apportionment under this section, the council shall enter on its minutes a statement to the effect that the apportionment is made with the consent of the owners of the property affected, and this entry shall be conclusive in the absence of fraud. Reassessments made under this section may include past due installments of principal and interest as well as installments not then due, and any installments not then due shall fall due at the same dates as they would have under the original assessment. The council may delegate authority to make apportionment of assessments to the chief financial officer, but apportionments shall in all cases be reported to the council at its next regular meeting and entered in the minutes. (1929, c. 331, s. 1; 1935, c. 125; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-237. Authority to hold water and sewer assessments in abeyance.

The assessment resolution may provide that assessments levied under this Article for water or sewer improvements be held in abeyance without interest until improvements on the assessed property are actually connected to the water or sewer system for which the assessment was levied, or a date certain not more than 10 years from the date of confirmation of the assessment roll, whichever event first occurs. Upon termination of the period of abeyance, the assessment shall be paid in accordance with the terms set out in the assessment resolution. If assessments are to be held in abeyance, the assessment resolution shall classify the property assessed according to general land use, location with respect to the water or sewer system, or other relevant factors, and shall provide that the period of abeyance shall be the same for all assessed property in the same class.

All statutes of limitations are suspended during the time that any assessment is held in abeyance without interest. (1973, c. 426, s. 35.)

§ 160A-238. Authority to make assessments for beach erosion control and flood and hurricane protection works.

A city may make special assessments, according to the procedures of this Article, against benefited property within the city for all or part of the costs of acquiring, constructing, reconstructing, extending, or otherwise building or improving beach erosion control or flood and hurricane protection works. Assessments for these projects may be made on the basis of:

- (1) The frontage abutting on the project, at an equal rate per foot of frontage; or
- (2) The frontage abutting on a beach or shoreline protected or benefited by the project, at an equal rate per foot of frontage; or
- (3) The area of land benefited by the project, at an equal rate per unit of area; or
- (4) The valuation of land benefited by the project, being the value of the land without improvements as shown on the tax records of the county, at an equal rate per dollar of valuation; or
- (5) A combination of two or more of these bases.

Whenever the basis selected for assessment is either area or valuation, the council shall provide for the laying out of one or more benefit zones according to the distance from the shoreline, the distance from the project, the elevation of the land, or other relevant factors. If more than one benefit zone is established, the council shall establish differing rates of assessment to apply uniformly throughout each benefit zone. (1973, c. 822, s. 7.)

CASE NOTES

Power Not Restricted Where Land and City in Same County. — Summary judgment was properly entered in a declaratory action regarding the applicability of G.S. 153A-15(b) because a condemnation action by a city in order to facilitate the construction of a water supply and distribution facility did not require any approval since the city and the land were located in the same county; moreover, the evidence showed that the real and substantial benefits of the condemnation accrued to the city in question, and not other parties in the case that were located in different counties. Caswell County v. Town of Yanceyville, 170 N.C. App. 124, 611 S.E.2d 451, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 898 (2005).

Proper Exercise of Police Power. — In condemnation proceeding brought pursuant to city's power of eminent domain under G.S. 160A-240.1, partial summary judgment was properly granted precluding property owners from recovering for diminution in value caused by the city's construction of a median restricting access to lanes in only one direction of travel; the separation of lanes of traffic was an exercise of police power, and the means used to accomplish the legitimate objective were reasonable in light of the fact that the owners still had free ingress and egress to their property, and injury to property caused by such an exercise of police power was not compensable. *City of Concord v. These improvements may be sold and are exempt from the restrictions and limitations required to effectuate sales of real or personal property provided for in Article 12 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes. No dwelling may be sold pursuant to this section unless the following requirements are met:

"(1) The dwelling may be sold only to the verifiable owner of the dwelling at the time of Hurricane Floyd, September 15, 1999, and must initially be reoccupied by the same owner.

"(2) The dwelling must have been properly repaired in compliance with the North Carolina Building Code as verified by the county Planning and Development Department by issuance of a building permit, subsequent inspections, and a certificate of occupancy.

"(3) The dwelling must be sold on or before December 31, 2002."

§ 160A-266. Methods of sale; limitation.

(a) Subject to the limitations prescribed in subsection (b) of this section, and according to the procedures prescribed in this Article, a city may dispose of real or personal property belonging to the city by:

- (1) Private negotiation and sale;
- (2) Advertisement for sealed bids;
- (3) Negotiated offer, advertisement, and upset bid;
- (4) Public auction; or
- (5) Exchange.

(b) Private negotiation and sale may be used only with respect to personal property valued at less than thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) for any one item or group of similar items. Real property, of any value, and personal property valued at thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) or more for any one item or group of similar items may be exchanged as permitted by G.S. 160A-271, or may be sold by any method permitted in this Article other than private negotiation and sale, except as permitted in G.S. 160A-277 and G.S. 160A-279.

Provided, however, a city may dispose of real property of any value and personal property valued at thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) or more for any one item or group of similar items by private negotiation and sale where (i) said real or personal property is significant for its architectural, archaeological, artistic, cultural or historical associations, or significant for its relationship to other property significant for architectural, archaeological, artistic, cultural or historical associations, or significant for its natural, scenic or open condition; and (ii) said real or personal property is to be sold to a nonprofit corporation or trust whose purposes include the preservation or conservation of real or personal properties of architectural, archaeological, artistic, cultural, historical, natural or scenic significance; and (iii) where a preservation agreement or conservation agreement as defined in G.S. 121-35 is placed in the deed conveying said property from the city to the nonprofit corporation or trust. Said nonprofit corporation or trust shall only dispose of or use said real or personal property subject to covenants or other legally binding restrictions which will promote the preservation or conservation of the property, and, where appropriate, secure rights of public access.

(c) A city council may adopt regulations prescribing procedures for disposing of personal property valued at less than thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) for any one item or group of items in substitution for the requirements of this Article. The regulations shall be designed to secure for the city fair market value for all property disposed of and to accomplish the disposal efficiently and economically. The regulations may, but need not, require published notice, and may provide for either public or private exchanges and sales. The council may authorize one or more city officials to declare surplus any personal property valued at less than thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) for any one item or group of items, to set its fair market value, and to convey title to the property for the city in accord with the regulations. A city official authorized under this section to dispose of property shall keep a record of all property sold under this section and that record shall generally describe the property sold or exchanged, to whom it was sold, or with whom exchanged, and the amount of money or other consideration received for each sale or exchange.

(d) A city may discard any personal property that: (i) is determined to have no value; (ii) remains unsold or unclaimed after the city has exhausted efforts to sell the property using any applicable procedure under this Article; or (iii) poses a potential threat to the public health or safety. Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1997-174, s. 8, provides: "This act raises the threshold amount in G.S. 143-129 and G.S. 160A-266. If any local act provides a threshold amount for the subjects addressed in these statutes that is less than the amount provided in this act, this act prevails to the extent of that conflict."

Session Laws 2005-227, s. 5, provides: "This act raises the threshold amount [$30,000] in G.S. 143-131 and G.S. 160A-266. If any local act provides a threshold amount for the subjects addressed in these statutes that is less than the amount provided in this act, this act prevails to the extent of that conflict."

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — The cases cited below were decided prior to enactment of this Article.

What Real Estate May Be Sold. — Town or city authorities may sell any personal property, or sell or lease any real estate which belongs to such town or city, as the surplus of the original acreage ceded for the town or city site, or such land as may have been subsequently acquired or purchased. But in no case may such power be extended to the sale or lease of any real estate which is to be held in trust for the use of the town, or any real estate which is devoted to the purpose of government. To enable the town to sell such real estate there must be a special act of the General Assembly authorizing such sale or lease. Southport v. Stanly, 125 N.C. 464, 34 S.E. 641 (1899); Brockenbrough v. Board of Water Comm'rs, 134 N.C. 1, 46 S.E. 28 (1903).

Conveyance of Land Dedicated for Street. — When a city conveys land bounded by an established street, and the grantee enters upon and improves the land, a subsequent conveyance by the corporation of the land covered by the street, whereby the easement of the appurtenant owner is interfered with, is void.

But where there have been no improvements made on a dedicated street and the dedicated land has never been used as a street, a city by an act of legislature conferring authority may sell and convey the land so dedicated to it for street purposes. Moose v. Carson, 104 N.C. 431, 10 S.E. 689 (1889); Church v. Dula, 148 N.C. 262, 61 S.E. 639 (1908).

Contract for removal of sludge from city's sewerage disposal plant related to a service and not a sale of city property within the meaning of the statute requiring sale of city property to be made by auction. Plant Food Co. v. City of Charlotte, 214 N.C. 518, 199 S.E. 712 (1938).

Employment of Real Estate Agent. — Municipality has the authority, in the exercise of its discretion in determining the means for selling, at public auction, parcels of land acquired by foreclosure of tax and street assessment liens, to employ a real estate agent upon commission to obtain a responsible bidder at the sale to bid a sum sufficient to protect the municipality's interest. Cody Realty & Mtg. Co. v. City of Winston-Salem, 216 N.C. 726, 6 S.E.2d 501 (1940).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Municipality may not convey real estate to a non-profit corporation without consideration so that said property may be restored as an historic site. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Kyle Hayes, North Wilkesboro Town Attorney, 40 N.C.A.G. 500 (1969), issued under former G.S. 160-59.

§ 160A-267. Private sale.

When the council proposes to dispose of property by private sale, it shall at a regular council meeting adopt a resolution or order authorizing an appropriate city official to dispose of the property by private sale at a negotiated price. The resolution or order shall identify the property to be sold and may, but need not, specify a minimum price. A notice summarizing the contents of the resolution or order shall be published once after its adoption, and no sale shall be consummated thereunder until 10 days after its publication. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 24.)

Local Modification. — Mecklenburg: 1981, c. 510; town of Wake Forest: 1987, c. 160.

§ 160A-268. Advertisement for sealed bids.

The sale of property by advertisement for sealed bids shall be done in the manner prescribed by law for the purchase of property, except that in the case of real property the advertisement for bids shall be begun not less than 30 days before the date fixed for opening bids. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-269. Negotiated offer, advertisement, and upset bids.

A city may receive, solicit, or negotiate an offer to purchase property and advertise it for upset bids. When an offer is made and the council proposes to accept it, the council shall require the offeror to deposit five percent (5%) of his bid with the city clerk, and shall publish a notice of the offer. The notice shall contain a general description of the property, the amount and terms of the offer, and a notice that within 10 days any person may raise the bid by not less than ten percent (10%) of the first one thousand dollars ($1,000) and five percent (5%) of the remainder. When a bid is raised, the bidder shall deposit with the city clerk five percent (5%) of the increased bid, and the clerk shall readvertise the offer at the increased bid. This procedure shall be repeated until no further qualifying upset bids are received, at which time the council may accept the offer and sell the property to the highest bidder. The council may at any time reject any and all offers. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 25.)

Local Modification. — City of Charlotte: 2000-26, s. 1, as amended by 2007-255, s. 1.

§ 160A-270. Public auction.

(a) Real Property. — When it is proposed to sell real property at public auction, the council shall first adopt a resolution authorizing the sale, describing the property to be sold, specifying the date, time, place, and terms of sale, and stating that any offer or bid must be accepted and confirmed by the council before the sale will be effective. The resolution may, but need not, require the highest bidder at the sale to make a bid deposit in a specified amount. The council shall then publish a notice of the sale at least once and not less than 30 days before the sale. The notice shall contain a general description of the land sufficient to identify it, the terms of the sale, and a reference to the authorizing resolution. After bids have been received, the highest bid shall be reported to the council, and the council shall accept or reject it within 30 days thereafter. If the bid is rejected, the council may readvertise the property for sale.

(b) Personal Property. — When it is proposed to sell personal property at public auction, the council shall at a regular council meeting adopt a resolution or order authorizing an appropriate city official to dispose of the property at public auction. The resolution or order shall identify the property to be sold and set out the date, time, place, and terms of the sale. The resolution or order (or a notice summarizing its contents) shall be published at least once and not less than 10 days before the date of the auction.

(c) The council may conduct auctions of real or personal property electronically by authorizing the establishment of an electronic auction procedure or by authorizing the use of existing private or public electronic auction services. Notice of an electronic auction of property shall identify, in addition to the information required in subsections (a) and (b) of this section, the electronic address where information about the property to be sold can be found and the electronic address where electronic bids may be posted. Notice may be published in a newspaper having general circulation in the political subdivision or by electronic means, or both. A decision to publish notice solely by electronic means for a particular auction or for all auctions under this subsection shall be approved by the governing board of the political subdivision. Except as provided in this subsection, all requirements of subsections (a) and (b) of this section apply to electronic auctions. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 43; 2001-328, s. 5; 2005-227, s. 4; 2006-264, s. 74.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-264, s. 74, effective August 27, 2006, in subsection (c), substituted “auction” for “contract” and “auctions” for “contracts” in the next to last sentence.

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — The cases cited below were decided under former similar provisions.

Requirement of public notice has no application to actual partition of land in which a municipality owns an interest. Actual partition between tenants in common involves no sale or disposal of land or any interest therein. Craven County v. First-Citizens Bank & Trust Co., 237 N.C. 502, 75 S.E.2d 620 (1953).

Effect of Noncompliance with Notice Requirements. — If the publication of notice fails to comply in substance with the law, especially as to the time of publication, a purchaser does not acquire a marketable title. Bagwell v. Town of Brevard, 267 N.C. 604, 148 S.E.2d 635 (1966).

Advertisement Held Not to Relate Back to Prior Publication of Notice. — An advertisement for the sale of municipal property on a date less than 30 days after the first publication of notice could not relate back to a prior publication of notice, even though the prior notice related to substantially the same land, when the prior notice stipulated a different date for the sale and contained material differences in the terms of payment, as well as a discrepancy in the quantity of land to be sold and whether the land would be offered for sale as a whole or in separate tracts; therefore, the purported sale on the date specified in the second advertisement was a nullity. Bagwell v. Town of Brevard, 267 N.C. 604, 148 S.E.2d 635 (1966).

§ 160A-271. Exchange of property.

A city may exchange any real or personal property belonging to the city for other real or personal property by private negotiation if the city receives a full and fair consideration in exchange for its property. A city may also exchange facilities of a city-owned enterprise for like facilities located within or outside the corporate limits. Property shall be exchanged only pursuant to a resolution authorizing the exchange adopted at a regular meeting of the council upon 10 days' public notice. Notice shall be given by publication describing the properties to be exchanged, stating the value of the properties and other consideration changing hands, and announcing the council's intent to authorize the exchange at its next regular meeting. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 42.1.)

§ 160A-272. Lease or rental of property.

Any property owned by a city may be leased or rented for such terms and upon such conditions as the council may determine, but not for longer than 10 years (except as otherwise provided herein) and only if the council determines that the property will not be needed by the city for the term of the lease. In determining the term of a proposed lease, periods that may be added to the original term by options to renew or extend shall be included. Property may be rented or leased only pursuant to a resolution of the council authorizing the execution of the lease or rental agreement adopted at a regular council meeting upon 10 days' public notice. Notice shall be given by publication describing the property to be leased or rented, stating the annual rental or lease payments, and announcing the council's intent to authorize the lease or rental at its next regular meeting.

No public notice need be given for resolutions authorizing leases or rentals for terms of one year or less, and the council may delegate to the city manager or some other city administrative officer authority to lease or rent city property for terms of one year or less. Leases for terms of more than 10 years shall be treated as a sale of property and may be executed by following any of the procedures authorized for sale of real property. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 26.)

CASE NOTES

A municipal corporation has a twofold character and dual powers. The one is variously designated as public, governmental, political or legislative, in which the municipal corporation acts as an agency of the State. The other is variously designated as municipal, private, quasi-private, or proprietary. Lewis v. City of Washington, 63 N.C. App. 552, 305 S.E.2d 752, modified on other grounds, 309 N.C. 818, 310 S.E.2d 610 (1983).

This section empowers a city to lease or rent any property owned by the city for such terms and upon such conditions as the council may determine. This power is to be exercised by the governing body of the municipality acting in its proprietary, rather than its governmental capacity. Lewis v. City of Washington, 63 N.C. App. 552, 305 S.E.2d 752, modified on other grounds, 309 N.C. 818, 310 S.E.2d 610 (1983).

The city's proprietary or corporate power to contract for the leasing of its property is limited. It cannot be exercised so as to disadvantageously affect the governing body's governmental powers. The true test is whether the contract itself deprives a governing body, or its successor, of a discretion which public policy demands should be left unimpaired. Lewis v. City of Washington, 63 N.C. App. 552, 305 S.E.2d 752, modified on other grounds, 309 N.C. 818, 310 S.E.2d 610 (1983).

Leasing Property is a Proprietary Activity. — The rule of governmental immunity did not bar plaintiff's claim against the town because the town's execution of a lease of town property was proprietary in nature. Stephenson v. Town of Garner, 136 N.C. App. 444, 524 S.E.2d 608, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 54 (2000).

§ 160A-272.1. Lease of utility or enterprise property.

Subject to G.S. 160A-321, a city-owned utility or public service enterprise, or part thereof, may be leased. (1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 27.)

§ 160A-273. Grant of easements.

A city shall have authority to grant easements over, through, under, or across any city property or the right-of-way of any public street or alley that is not a part of the State highway system. Easements in a street or alley right-of-way shall not be granted if the easement would substantially impair or hinder the use of the street or alley as a way of passage. A grant of air rights over a street right-of-way or other property owned by the city for the purpose of erecting a building or other permanent structure (other than utility wires or pipes) shall be treated as a sale of real property, except that a grant of air rights over a street right-of-way for the purpose of constructing a bridge or passageway between existing buildings on opposite sides of the street shall be treated as a grant of an easement. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Constitutionality. — This section is not a special act and does not violate N.C. Const., Art. II, § 24, which prohibits the enactment of any local, private, or special act or resolution regulating labor, trade, mining, or manufacturing. Cheape v. Town of Chapel Hill, 320 N.C. 549, 359 S.E.2d 792 (1987).

§ 160A-274. Sale, lease, exchange and joint use of governmental property.

(a) For the purposes of this section, “governmental unit” means a city, county, school administrative unit, sanitary district, fire district, the State, or any other public district, authority, department, agency, board, commission, or institution.

(b) Any governmental unit may, upon such terms and conditions as it deems wise, with or without consideration, exchange with, lease to, lease from, sell to, or purchase from any other governmental unit any interest in real or personal property.

(c) Action under this section shall be taken by the governing body of the governmental unit. Action hereunder by any State agency, except the Department of Transportation, shall be taken only after approval by the Department of Administration. Action with regard to State property under the control of the Department of Transportation shall be taken by the Department of Transportation or its duly authorized delegate. Provided, any county board of education or board of education for any city administrative unit may, upon such terms and conditions as it deems wise, lease to another governmental unit for one dollar ($1.00) per year any real property owned or held by the board which has been determined by the board to be unnecessary or undesirable for public school purposes. (1969, c. 806; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 507, s. 5; 1975, c. 455; c. 664, s. 9; c. 879, s. 46; 1977, c. 464, s. 34; 2001-328, s. 6.)

Purchase and Gift of Property Improper. — County exceeded its statutory authority where it purchased land and gave it to the State as an enticement for the building of a State prison. Carter v. Stanly County, 125 N.C. App. 628, 482 S.E.2d 9 (1997), cert. denied, 346 N.C. 276, 487 S.E.2d 540 (1997).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Town had authority to lease land to town ABC Board on which to build a building, unless some contrary provision of the town's charter controlled. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. W.F. Southern, Mayor Pro Tempore, Town of Walnut Cove, 40 N.C.A.G. 483 (1969), issued under former G.S. 160-61.2.

§ 160A-275. Warranty deeds.

Any city, county, or other municipal corporation is authorized to execute and deliver deeds to any real property with full covenants of warranty, without regard to how the property was acquired, when, in the opinion of the governing body, it is in the best interest of the city, county, or other municipal corporation to convey by warranty deed. Members of the governing boards of counties, cities, and other municipal corporations are hereby relieved of any personal or individual liability by reason of the execution of warranty deeds to governmentally owned property unless they act in fraud, malice, or bad faith. Local Modification. — Cumberland: 1991, c. 57.

§ 160A-276. Sale of stocks, bonds, and other securities.

A city may sell through a broker without complying with the preceding sections of this Article shares of common and preferred stock, bonds, options, and warrants or other rights with respect to stocks and bonds, and other securities, when the stock, bond, or other right or security has an established market and is traded in the usual course of business on a national stock exchange or over-the-counter by reputable brokers and securities dealers. The city may pay the usual fees and taxes incident to such transactions. Nothing in this section authorizes a city to deal in its own bonds in any manner inconsistent with Chapter 159 of the General Statutes, nor to invest in any securities not authorized by G.S. 159-30. (1973, c. 426, s. 44.)

§ 160A-277. Sale of land to volunteer fire departments and rescue squads; procedure.

(a) A city, upon such terms and conditions as it deems wise, with or without monetary consideration may lease, sell or convey to a volunteer fire department or to a volunteer rescue squad any land or interest in land, for the purpose of constructing or expanding fire department or rescue squad facilities, if the volunteer fire department or volunteer rescue squad provides fire protection or rescue services to the city.

(b) Any lease, sale or conveyance under this section must be approved by the city council by resolution adopted at a regular meeting of the council upon 10 days' public notice. Notice shall be given by publication describing the property to be leased or sold, stating the value of the properties, the proposed monetary consideration or lack thereof, and the council's intent to authorize the lease, sale or conveyance. (1979, c. 583.)

Local Modification. — Onslow: 1981, c. 115.

§ 160A-278. Lease of land for housing.

A city may lease land upon such terms and conditions as it deems wise to any person, firm or corporation who will use the land to construct housing for the benefit of persons of low income, or moderate income, or low and moderate income. Such a housing project may also provide housing to persons of other than low or moderate income, as long as at least twenty percent (20%) of the units in the project are set aside for the exclusive use of persons of low income. Despite the provisions of G.S. 160A-272, a lease authorized pursuant to this section may be made by private negotiation and may extend for longer than 10 years. Property may be leased under this section only pursuant to a resolution of the council authorizing the execution of the lease adopted at a regular council meeting upon 10 days' public notice. Notice shall be given by publication describing the property to be leased, stating the value of the property, stating the proposed consideration for the lease, and stating the council's intention to authorize the lease. (1987, c. 464, s. 9.)

§ 160A-279. Sale of property to entities carrying out a public purpose; procedure.

(a) Whenever a city or county is authorized to appropriate funds to any public or private entity which carries out a public purpose, the city or county may, in lieu of or in addition to the appropriation of funds, convey by private sale to such an entity any real or personal property which it owns; provided no property acquired by the exercise of eminent domain may be conveyed under this section; provided that no such conveyance may be made to a for-profit corporation. The city or county shall attach to any such conveyance covenants or conditions which assure that the property will be put to a public use by the recipient entity. The procedural provisions of G.S. 160A-267 shall apply. Provided, however, that a city or county may convey to any public or private entity, which is authorized to receive appropriations from a city or county, surplus automobiles without compensation or without the requirement that the automobiles be used for a public purpose. Provided, however, this conveyance is conditioned upon conveyance by the public or private entity to Work First participants selected by the county department of social services under the rules adopted by the local department of social services. In the discretion of the public or private entity to which the city or county conveys the surplus automobile, when that entity conveys the vehicle to a Work First participant it may arrange for an appropriate security interest in the vehicle, including a lien or lease, until such time as the Work First participant satisfactorily completes the requirements of the Work First program. This subsequent conveyance by the public or private entity to the Work First participant may be without compensation. The participant may be required to pay for license, tag, and/or title.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, this section applies only to cities and counties and not to any other entity which this Article otherwise applies to.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1993, c. 491, s. 1.

(d) This section does not limit the right of any entity to convey property by private sale when that right is conferred by another law, public, or local. (1987, c. 692, s. 1; 1993, c. 491, s. 1; 1998-195, s. 1.)

§ 160A-280. Donations of personal property to other governmental units.

(a) A city may donate to a another governmental unit within the United States, a sister city, or a nonprofit organization incorporated by (i) the United States, (ii) the District of Columbia, or (iii) one of the United States, any personal property, including supplies, materials, and equipment, that the governing board deems to be surplus, obsolete, or unused. The governing board of the city or county shall post a public notice at least five days prior to the adoption of a resolution approving the donation. The resolution shall be adopted prior to making any donation of surplus, obsolete, or unused personal property. For purposes of this section a sister city is a city in a nation other than the United States that has entered into a formal, written agreement or memorandum of understanding with the donor city for the purposes of establishing a long term partnership to promote communication, understanding, and goodwill between peoples and to develop mutually beneficial activities, programs, and ideas. The agreement or memorandum of understanding establishing the sister city relationship shall be signed by the mayors or chief elective officer of both the donor and recipient cities.

(b) For the purposes of this section, the term "governmental unit" shall have the same meaning as defined by G.S. 160A-274(a).

(c) The authority granted to a city, county, or governmental unit under this section is in addition to any authority granted under any other provision of law. (2007-430, s. 1.)

ARTICLE 13.

Law Enforcement.

§ 160A-281. Policemen appointed.

A city is authorized to appoint a chief of police and to employ other police officers who may reside outside the corporate limits of the city unless the council provides otherwise. (R.C., c. 111, s. 16; Code, c. 3803; Rev., s. 2926; C.S., s. 2641; 1969, c. 23, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 45.)

CASE NOTES

Power to Send Policemen to Youth Development Center. — The explicit power of a municipality to appoint and employ police contemplates that the persons so engaged be qualified and competent, and therefore a municipality has implied authority, exercisable within the discretion of its governing body, to send its policemen to a police youth development center and to make proper expenditures for this purpose. Green v. Kitchin, 229 N.C. 450, 50 S.E.2d 545 (1948), decided prior to the enactment of § 160A-289, and commented on in 27 N.C.L. Rev. 500 (1949).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Company police officers were not properly municipal police officers of a town and could not hold themselves out as town officers or enforce state law on the streets and highways of the town. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. G. Dewey Hudson, District Attorney, Fourth Prosecutorial District, 2001 N.C. AG LEXIS 4 (2/23/2001).

§ 160A-282. Auxiliary law-enforcement personnel; workers’ compensation benefits.

- (a) A city may by ordinance provide for the organization of an auxiliary police department made up of volunteer members.
- (b) A city, by enactment of an ordinance, may provide that, while undergoing official training and while performing duties on behalf of the city pursuant to orders or instructions of the chief of police of the city, auxiliary law-enforcement personnel shall be entitled to benefits under the North Carolina Workers’ Compensation Act and to any fringe benefits for which such volunteer personnel qualify.
- (c) The board of commissioners of any county may provide that persons who are deputized by the sheriff of the county as special deputy sheriffs or persons who are serving as volunteer law-enforcement officers at the request of the sheriff and under his authority, while undergoing official training and while performing duties on behalf of the county pursuant to orders or instructions of the sheriff, shall be entitled to benefits under the North Carolina Workers’ Compensation Act and to any fringe benefits for which such persons qualify. (1969, c. 206, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 1263, s. 1; 1979, c. 714, s. 2; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 28.)

Local Modification. — Columbus: 1973, c. 1263, s. 2.

§ 160A-283. Joint county and city auxiliary police.

The governing body of any city, town, or county is hereby authorized to create and establish a joint law-enforcement officers’ auxiliary force with one or more cities, towns, or counties. Each participating city, town, or county shall, by resolution or ordinance, establish the joint auxiliary police force. The resolution or ordinance shall specify whether the members of the joint auxiliary police force shall be volunteers or shall be paid. Members shall be appointed by the respective governmental units and shall take the oath required for regular police officers. The joint auxiliary force may be called into active service at any time by the mayor or chief of police of the participating town or city or the chairman of the board of commissioners or sheriff of a participating county. Members of the joint auxiliary force, while undergoing official training and while on active duty shall be members of the unit which called the auxiliary force into active duty and shall be entitled to all powers, privileges and immunities afforded by law to regularly employed law-enforcement officers of that unit including benefits under the Workers' Compensation Act. Members of the joint auxiliary force shall not be considered as public officers within the meaning of the North Carolina Constitution. Such members shall be dressed in the uniform prescribed by such auxiliary force at any time such members or member exercises any of the duties or authority herein provided for. (1971, c. 607; c. 896, s. 4; 1979, c. 714, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — This section was enacted

as G.S. 160-20.4. It was transferred to its present position by Session Laws 1971, c. 896, s. 4.

§ 160A-284. Oath of office; holding other offices.

Each person appointed or employed as chief of police, policeman, or auxiliary policeman shall take and subscribe before some person authorized by law to administer oaths the oath of office required by Article VI, Sec. 7, of the Constitution. The oath shall be filed with the city clerk. The offices of policeman, chief of police, and auxiliary policeman are hereby declared to be offices that may be held concurrently with any other appointive office pursuant to Article VI, Sec. 9, of the Constitution. The office of auxiliary policeman is hereby declared to be an office that may be held concurrently with any elective office pursuant to Article VI, Sec. 9, of the Constitution. OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Person holding appointive office as police officer can hold position as elected officer in either State or local government, including as a school board member. See opinion of Attorney General to Captain Bobby Kilgore, Monroe Public Safety Department, 55 N.C.A.G. 34 (1985).

§ 160A-285. Powers and duties of policemen.

As a peace officer, a policeman shall have within the corporate limits of the city all of the powers invested in law-enforcement officers by statute or common law. He shall also have power to serve all civil and criminal process that may be directed to him by any officer of the General Court of Justice and may enforce the ordinances and regulations of the city as the council may direct. (Code, s. 3811; Rev., s. 2927; C.S., s. 2642; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; c. 896, s. 4.)

Editor’s Note. — This section was enacted as G.S. 160A-284. It was renumbered G.S. 160A-285 by Session Laws 1971, c. 896, s. 4.

CASE NOTES

Editor’s Note. — Some of the cases cited below were decided under former similar provisions.

A policeman has the authority under general statute to deputize a citizen to aid him in serving a warrant for breach of the peace, a policeman being given the same authority, within the town limits, in making arrests as a sheriff. Tomlinson v. Norwood, 208 N.C. 716, 182 S.E. 659 (1935).

Service of Process Held Valid. — Where a town charter provided for the appointment of a chief of police or marshal and declared that, in the execution of process, he should have the same power, etc., which sheriffs and constables have, the service by such officer of a summons directed to “the sheriff of W. county or town constable of W. town” was valid. Lowe v. Harris, 121 N.C. 287, 28 S.E. 535 (1897).

§ 160A-286. Extraterritorial jurisdiction of policemen.

In addition to their authority within the corporate limits, city policemen shall have all the powers invested in law-enforcement officers by statute or common law within one mile of the corporate limits of the city, and on all property owned by or leased to the city wherever located.

Any officer pursuing an offender outside the corporate limits or extraterritorial jurisdiction of the city shall be entitled to all of the privileges, immunities, and benefits to which he would be entitled if acting within the city, including coverage under the workers’ compensation laws. § 160A-288. Cooperation between law-enforcement agencies.

(a) In accordance with rules, policies, or guidelines officially adopted by the governing body of the city or county by which he is employed, and subject to any conditions or restrictions included therein, the head of any law-enforcement agency may temporarily provide assistance to another agency in enforcing the laws of North Carolina if so requested in writing by the head of the requesting agency. The assistance may comprise allowing officers of the agency to work temporarily with officers of the requesting agency (including in an undercover capacity) and lending equipment and supplies. While working with the requesting agency under the authority of this section, an officer shall have the same jurisdiction, powers, rights, privileges and immunities (including those relating to the defense of civil actions and payment of judgments) as the officers of the requesting agency in addition to those he normally possesses. While on duty with the requesting agency, he shall be subject to the lawful operational commands of his superior officers in the requesting agency, but he shall for personnel and administrative purposes, remain under the control of his own agency, including for purposes of pay. He shall furthermore be entitled to workers' compensation and the same benefits when acting pursuant to this section to the same extent as though he were functioning within the normal scope of his duties.

(b) As used in this section:

- (1) "Head" means any director or chief officer of a law-enforcement agency including the chief of police of a local department, chief of police of county police department, and the sheriff of a county, or an officer of one of the above named agencies to whom the head of that agency has delegated authority to make or grant requests under this section, but only one officer in the agency shall have this delegated authority at any time.

(2) “Law-enforcement agency” means only a municipal police department, a county police department, or a sheriff’s department. All other State and local agencies are exempted from the provisions of this section.

(c) This section in no way reduces the jurisdiction or authority of State law-enforcement officers.

(d) For purposes of this section, the following shall be considered the equivalent of a municipal police department:

- (1) Campus law-enforcement agencies established pursuant to G.S. 115D-21.1(a) or G.S. 116-40.5(a); and
- (2) Colleges or universities which are licensed, or exempted from licensure, by G.S. 116-15 and which employ company police officers commissioned by the Attorney General pursuant to Chapter 74E or Chapter 74G of the General Statutes; and
- (3) Law enforcement agencies operated or eligible to be operated by a municipality pursuant to G.S. 63-53(2); and
- (4) Butner Public Safety. (1967, c. 846; 1971, c. 698, s.1; c. 896, s.4; 1977, c. 534; 1981, c. 93, s. 2; 1987, c. 671, s. 4; 1989, c. 518, s. 2; 1991, c. 636, s. 3; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 1043, s. 6; 1997-143, s. 1; 1999-68, s. 4; 2005-231, s. 8; 2006-159, s. 4.)

As to authority of counties under this section, see also G.S. 153A-212.

Editor’s Note. — This section was enacted as G.S. 160A-287. It was renumbered G.S. 160A-288 by Session Laws 1971, c. 896, s. 4.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-159, s. 4, effective July 23, 2006, in subdivision (d)(3), added “and” at the end and made a minor punctuation change; and added subdivision (d)(4).

CASE NOTES

State Must Show That Officer Was a Government Officer. — The State did not meet its burden of showing that the officer was a government officer at the time of the incident because the officer was outside the jurisdiction of his city police department pursuant to G.S.

15A-402, and the State failed to show that the requirements of this section and the emergency assistance provisions of the Mutual Aid Agreement were followed. State v. Locklear, 136 N.C. App. 716, 525 S.E.2d 813, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 138 (2000).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

A company operating a private prison cannot be a party to a “mutual aid agreement” authorized by this section. See opinion of Attorney General to Senator Frank W. Ballance, Jr. and Representative E. David Redwine, 2001 N.C. AG LEXIS 5 (3/28/2001).

§ 160A-288.1. Assistance by State law-enforcement officers; rules; cost.

(a) The governing body of any city or county may request the Governor to assign temporarily State law-enforcement officers with statewide authority to provide law-enforcement protection when local law-enforcement officers: (i) are engaged in a strike; (ii) are engaged in a slowdown; (iii) otherwise refuse to fulfill their law-enforcement responsibilities; or (iv) submit mass resignations. The request from the governing body of the city or county shall be in writing. The request from a county governing board shall be upon the advice of the sheriff of the county.

(b) The Governor shall formulate such rules, policies or guidelines as may be necessary to establish a plan under which temporary State law-enforcement assistance will be provided to cities and counties. The Governor may delegate the responsibility for developing appropriate rules, policies or guidelines to the head of any State department. The Governor may also delegate to a department head the authority to determine the number of officers to be assigned in a particular case, if any, and the length of time they are to be assigned.

(c) While providing assistance to a city or county, a State law-enforcement officer shall be considered an employee of the State for all purposes, including compensation and fringe benefits.

(d) While providing assistance to the city or county, a State officer shall be subject to the lawful operational commands of his State superior officers. The ranking representative of each State law-enforcement agency providing assistance shall consult with the appropriate city or county officials prior to deployment of the State officers under his command. (1979, c. 639, s. 1.)

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

A company operating a private prison cannot be a party to a "mutual aid agreement" authorized by this section. See opinion of Attorney General to Senator Frank W. Ballance, Jr. and Representative E. David Redwine, 2001 N.C. AG LEXIS 5 (3/28/2001).

§ 160A-288.2. Assistance to State law-enforcement agencies.

(a) In accordance with rules, policies, or guidelines officially adopted by the governing body of the city or county by which he is employed, and subject to any conditions or restrictions included therein, the head of any local law-enforcement agency may temporarily provide assistance to a State law-enforcement agency in enforcing the laws of North Carolina if so requested in writing by the head of the State agency. The assistance may comprise allowing officers of the local agency to work temporarily with officers of the State agency (including in an undercover capacity) and lending equipment and supplies. While working with the State agency under the authority of this section, an officer shall have the same jurisdiction, powers, rights, privileges and immunities (including those relating to the defense of civil actions and the payment of judgments) as the officers of the State agency in addition to those he normally possesses. While on duty with the State agency, he shall be subject to the lawful operational commands of his superior officers in the State agency, but he shall for personnel and administrative purposes, remain under the control of the local agency, including for purposes of pay. He shall furthermore be entitled to workers' compensation and the same benefits when acting pursuant to this section to the same extent as though he were functioning within the normal scope of his duties.

(b) As used in this section:

- (1) "Head" means any director or chief officer of any State or local law-enforcement agency including the chief of police of a local department, chief of police of a county police department, and the sheriff of a county, or an officer of the agency to whom the head of that agency has delegated authority to make or grant requests under this section, but only one officer in the agency shall have this delegated authority at any time.
- (2) "Local law-enforcement agency" means any municipal police department, a county police department, or a sheriff's department.
- (3) "State law-enforcement agency" means any State agency, force, department, or unit responsible for enforcing criminal laws.

(c) This section in no way reduces the jurisdiction or authority of State law-enforcement officers.

(d) For the purposes of this section, the following shall be considered the equivalent of a municipal police department:

- (1) Campus law-enforcement agencies established pursuant to G.S. 116-40.5(a), and G.S. 116-40.5(a).
- (2) Colleges or universities which are licensed, or exempted from licensure, by G.S. 116-15 and which employ company police officers commissioned by the Attorney General pursuant to Chapter 74E or Chapter 74G of the General Statutes.
- (3) Butner Public Safety. (1981, c. 878; 1989, c. 518, s. 3; 1991, c. 636, s. 3; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 1043, s. 7; 2005-231, s. 9; 2006-159, s. 5.)

Cross References. — As to the employment of special police officers for the territory of the Butner Advisory Council Jurisdiction, see G.S. 122C-408.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-159, s. 5, effective July 23, 2006, added “G.S. 116-40.5(a)” at the end of subdivision (d)(1); and added subdivision (d)(3).

CASE NOTES

Sheriff’s Department is Local Governmental Entity. — In the injured party’s suit against a sheriff and individual detention officers arising out of a five-day episode in the county detention center where she alleged that they ignored her requests for medical treatment, the trial court properly concluded that the office of North Carolina sheriff was a “person” under 42 U.S.C.S. § 1983 because: (1) the state constitution created the office of sheriff, N.C. Const. art. VII, § 2, but included that provision within the article governing local governments, along with provisions for counties, cities, towns, and other governmental subdivisions, N.C. Const. art. VII, § 1; (2) state statutes, including G.S. 17E-1, 160A-288.2, 143-166.50, and 97-2, characterized a sheriff’s department as a local governmental entity; (3) there was no contention that the State would be potentially liable for any monetary judgment entered against the sheriff and the detention officers; and (4) the State did not have, with respect to a sheriff, the minimum degree of control required for Eleventh Amendment immunity. Boyd v. Robeson County, — N.C. App. —, 615 S.E.2d 296, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 520 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 615 S.E.2d 866 (2005).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Inspection of ABC licensed business. — A mutual aid agreement is not required for an Alcohol Law Enforcement Officer to ask for the assistance of municipal officers in conducting an inspection of an ABC licensed business within the territorial jurisdiction of the municipality. See opinion of Attorney General to Chief George L. Sweat, — N.C.A.G. — (July 19, 1994).

§ 160A-289. Training and development programs for law enforcement.

A city shall have authority to plan and execute training and development programs for law-enforcement agencies, and for that purpose may

- (1) Contract with other cities, counties, and the State and federal governments and their agencies;
- (2) Accept, receive, and disburse funds, grants and services;
- (3) Create joint agencies to act for and on behalf of participating counties and cities;
- (4) Make applications for, receive, administer, and expend federal grant funds; and
- (5) Appropriate and expend available tax or nontax funds. (1969, c. 1145, s. 3; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; c. 896, s. 4.)

Editor's Note. — This section was enacted as G.S. 160A-288. It was renumbered as G.S. 160A-289 by Session Laws 1971, c. 896, s. 4.

CASE NOTES

Power to Send Policemen to Youth Development Center. — The explicit power of a municipality to appoint and employ police contemplates that the persons so engaged be qualified and competent, and therefore a municipality has implied authority, exercisable within the discretion of its governing body, to send its policemen to a police youth development center to make proper expenditures for this purpose. Green v. Kitchin, 229 N.C. 450, 50 S.E.2d 545 (1948), decided prior to the enactment of this section, and commented on in 27 N.C.L. Rev. 500 (1949).

§ 160A-289.1. Resources to protect the public.

Subject to the requirements of G.S. 7A-41, 7A-44.1, 7A-64, 7A-102, 7A-133, and 7A-498.7, a city may appropriate funds under contract with the State for the provision of services for the speedy disposition of cases involving drug offenses, domestic violence, or other offenses involving threats to public safety. Nothing in this section shall be construed to obligate the General Assembly to make any appropriation to implement the provisions of this section. Further, nothing in this section shall be construed to obligate the Administrative Office of the Courts or the Office of Indigent Defense Services to maintain positions or services initially provided for under this section. (1999-237, s. 17.17(c); 2000-67, s. 15.4(f); 2001-424, s. 22.11(f).)

§ 160A-289.2. Neighborhood crime watch programs.

A city may establish neighborhood crime watch programs within the city to encourage residents and business owners to promote citizen involvement in securing homes, businesses, and personal property against criminal activity and to report suspicious activities to law enforcement officials. (2006-181, s. 2.)

§ 160A-290: Reserved for future codification purposes.

ARTICLE 14.

Fire Protection.

§ 160A-291. Firemen appointed.

A city is authorized to appoint a fire chief; to employ other firemen; to establish, organize, equip, and maintain a fire department; and to prescribe the duties of the fire department. (1917, c. 136, subch. 8, s. 1; C.S., s. 2801; 1969, c. 1065, s. 3; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Many of the cases cited below were decided under former similar provisions.

Organization and operation of a fire department is a governmental, not a private or proprietary function. Great Am. Ins. Co. v. Johnson, 257 N.C. 367, 126 S.E.2d 92 (1962).

City Not Required to Provide Fire Protection. — While a city is allowed to provide fire protection as a municipal service, it is not required by statute to provide such protection or to pay another for the provision of fire protection. Orange Water & Sewer Auth. v. Town of Carrboro, 58 N.C. App. 676, 294 S.E.2d 757, cert. denied, 307 N.C. 127, 297 S.E.2d 400 (1982).

No Liability for Failure to Furnish Adequate Pressure or Service. — The maintenance of a fire department for extinguishing fire without cost to the property owner is a governmental function, and there is no liability for failure to provide adequate pressure or service in extinguishing a fire. Howland v. City of Asheville, 174 N.C. 749, 94 S.E. 524 (1917).

The power to regulate and prevent fire is governmental, and a failure to exercise this power does not subject a city to action for negligence which causes loss by fire. Harrington v. Town of Greenville, 159 N.C. 632, 75 S.E. 849 (1912).

Nor for Negligence. — A city, in the absence of statutory provisions to the contrary, is not liable for any damage occasioned by the negligence of its fire department. Mack v. City Water Works, 181 N.C. 383, 107 S.E. 244 (1921).

The extinguishment of fires is a function which a municipal corporation undertakes in its governmental capacity, and in connection with which, in the absence of statutory provision to the contrary, it incurs no civil liability, either for inadequacy in equipment or for the negligence of its employees. See Seales v. City of Winston-Salem, 189 N.C. 469, 127 S.E. 543 (1925); Mabe v. City of Winston-Salem, 190 N.C. 486, 130 S.E. 169 (1925).

As to liability for injuries to firemen under former provisions, see Peterson v. City of Wilmington, 130 N.C. 76, 40 S.E. 853 (1902).

Liability of City for Hydrant Fees. — Even absent statutory or express contractual liability to pay another for fire protection, justice and equity require a city to pay fire hydrant fees to a water and sewer authority where the authority intended to maintain hydrants for the city's use, the city granted a 60-year franchise to the authority to install and maintain hydrants, free service was explicitly proscribed, the city knew of the hydrant charges, and the city paid such charges until the rate was increased. The law implies a promise by the city to pay for such service. Otherwise, it would be unjustly enriched at the expense of the authority. Orange Water & Sewer Auth. v. Town of Carrboro, 58 N.C. App. 676, 294 S.E.2d 757, cert. denied, 307 N.C. 127, 297 S.E.2d 400 (1982).

§ 160A-292. Duties of fire chief.

Where not otherwise prescribed, the duties of the fire chief shall be to preserve and care for fire apparatus, have charge of fighting and extinguishing fires and training the fire department, seek out and have corrected all places and conditions dangerous to the safety of the city and its citizens from fire, and make annual reports to the council concerning these duties. If these duties include State Building Code enforcement, they shall follow the provisions as defined in G.S. 143-151.13. (1969, c. 1065, s.3; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1989, c. 681, s. 13.)

CASE NOTES

Scope of Liability. — A fire chief is a public official and, as such, his governmental immunity defense, in his official capacity, is waived to the extent of insurance coverage purchased by the town he serves; however, not he but the town is liable for the acts of ordinary negligence of its public officials to the extent it has waived its immunity by purchasing insurance. Willis v. Town of Beaufort, 143 N.C. App. 106, 544 S.E.2d 600, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 227 (2001).

Fallen Power Line. — The city did not owe a special duty to a cable television repairman who was electrocuted by a fallen unmarked power line, and as plaintiff did not allege any intentional misconduct on the part of the city which would survive application of the public duty doctrine, the city was immune to liability. Vanasek v. Duke Power Co., 132 N.C. App. 335, 511 S.E.2d 41 (1999).

§ 160A-293. Fire protection outside city limits; immunity; injury to firemen.

(a) A city may install and maintain water mains, pipes, hydrants, buildings and equipment outside its corporate limits and may send its firemen and equipment outside its corporate limits to provide fire protection to rural or unincorporated areas pursuant to agreements between the city and the county, or between the city and the owner of the property to be protected. Counties are hereby authorized to enter into these agreements and to make from tax funds any payments agreed upon for rural fire protection.

(b) No city or any officer or employee thereof shall be held to answer in any civil action or proceeding for failure or delay in answering calls for fire protection outside the corporate limits, nor shall any city be held to answer in any civil action or proceeding for the acts or omissions of its officers or employees in rendering fire protection services outside its corporate limits.

(c) Any employee of a city fire department, while engaged in any duty or activity outside the corporate limits of the city pursuant to orders of the fire chief or council, shall have all of the jurisdiction, authority, rights, privileges, and immunities, including coverage under the workers' compensation laws, which they have within the corporate limits of the city. (1919, c. 244; C.S., s. 2804; 1941, c. 188; 1947, c. 669; 1949, c. 89; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1991, c. 636, s. 3.)

CASE NOTES

A city's purchase of liability insurance does not deprive it of immunity under subsection (b). Askew Kawasaki, Inc. v. City of Elizabeth City, 124 N.C. App. 453, 477 S.E.2d 85 (1996).

Agreement to Furnish Fire Protection as Compensation for Easement Authorized. — A municipality has the authority to compensate landowners for a water and sewer line easement across a tract of land located outside the municipal limits by an agreement to furnish fire protection for any buildings located on such tract. Valevais v. City of New Bern, 10 N.C. App. 215, 178 S.E.2d 109 (1970) decided under former § 160-238.

And Does Not Constitute Waiver of Governmental Immunity. — An agreement by a municipality to furnish fire protection for property lying outside the municipality as compensation for a water line and sewer easement across such property does not constitute a waiver of the municipality's governmental immunity with respect to torts committed in the maintenance or operation of its fire department. Valevais v. City of New Bern, 10 N.C. App. 215, 178 S.E.2d 109 (1970) decided under former § 160-238.

Profit Does Not Make Municipality's Function Proprietary. — The fact that a water and sewer easement obtained by a municipality in exchange for its promise to furnish fire protection permitted the municipality to sell water at a profit did not make the furnishing of such fire protection a proprietary rather than a governmental function. Valevais v. City of New Bern, 10 N.C. App. 215, 178 S.E.2d 109 (1970) decided under former § 160-238.

Failure to Promptly Respond to Call from Outside Municipal Limits. — Although a municipality contracted to furnish fire protection for property of plaintiffs lying outside municipal limits, alleged failure of members of the municipal fire department to respond promptly to a call for assistance in fighting a fire upon such property would constitute a negligent omission, not a breach of contract, for which the municipality had governmental immunity. Valevais v. City of New Bern, 10 N.C. App. 215, 178 S.E.2d 109 (1970) decided under former § 160-238.

Fire Department's Alleged Role as 911 Dispatcher in Relation to Accident Where Decedent Burned to Death. — Trial court properly denied a city's summary judgment motion pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 56, in a wrongful death action; there was an issue of fact on whether the city was entitled to immunity pursuant to G.S. 160A-293(b), as it was unclear whether the city fire department also acted as a 911 dispatcher in relation to an accident in which the decedent was burned to death. Williams v. Scotland County, 167 N.C. App. 105, 604 S.E.2d 334, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 2076 (2004), cert. denied, 359 N.C. 327, 611 S.E.2d 168 (2005).

Department Not Negligent. — Where the fire department's alleged acts of negligence could not fairly be characterized as either a "failure" or a "delay" under the statute in answering plaintiffs' 911 call, this section was inapplicable to the circumstances set forth in plaintiffs' complaint. Davis v. Messer, 119 N.C. App. 44, 457 S.E.2d 902 (1995), overruled on other grounds, Willis v. Town of Beaufort, 544 S.E.2d 600 (N.C. Ct. App. 2001).

Immunity of Municipalities. — While this statute establishes immunity for a municipality in certain circumstances, its purview is limited only to the municipality and not to officers and employees thereof. Davis v. Messer, 119 N.C. App. 44, 457 S.E.2d 902 (1995), overruled on other grounds, Willis v. Town of Beaufort, 544 S.E.2d 600 (N.C. Ct. App. 2001).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Town May Furnish Fire Protection for Property Outside Its Corporate Limits. — See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. E.M.

Johnson, Pembroke Town Attorney, 40 N.C.A.G. 473 (1969), issued under former statutory provisions.

§ 160A-294. Loss of rural fire employment.

(a) Whenever a city annexes any territory under Parts 2 or 3 of Article 4A of this Chapter, and because of the annexation the rural fire department must terminate the employment of any full-time employee, then the annexing city must take one of the three actions listed below with respect to any person who has been in such full-time employment for two years or more at the time of adoption of the resolution of intent:

- (1) The annexing city may offer employment without loss of salary or seniority and place the person in a position as near as possible in type to the position that was held in the rural fire department; or
- (2) The annexing city may offer employment in some other department of the city at a comparable salary and seniority; or
- (3) The city may choose to pay to the person a sum equal to the person's salary for one year as the equivalent of severance pay. For the purpose of this subsection, the person's salary was his total salary with the rural fire department for the 12-month period ending on the last pay period before the resolution of consideration was adopted, plus any increased salary due to reasonable cost-of-living increases and bona fide promotions; provided that if no resolution of consideration was required to be adopted because of either G.S. 160A-37(j) or G.S. 160A-49(j), or because the resolution of intent was adopted prior to July 1, 1984, the person's salary was his total salary with the rural fire department for the 12-month period ending on the last pay period before the resolution of intent was adopted, plus any increased salary due to reasonable cost-of-living increases and bona fide promotions.

(b) This section is effective with respect to all annexations where an annexation ordinance is adopted on or after January 1, 1983, except that it is also effective with respect to all annexations where an annexation ordinance was adopted before January 1, 1983, but on January 1, 1983, the annexation ordinance:

- (1) Was under review under G.S. 160A-38 or G.S. 160A-50, and a stay is in effect under G.S. 160A-38(e) or G.S. 160A-50(e); or
- (2) Was subject to the Voting Rights Act of 1965 but had not yet been approved under that act. (1983, c. 636, s. 25.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1983, c. 636, s. 37.1, as amended by Session Laws 1983, c. 768, s. 25, provided: "The General Assembly intends by this act to repeal all acts and provisions of acts that modify the application to particular cities and towns of Parts 2 and 3 of Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General

Statutes or that exempt particular cities or towns from the application of either or both of those two Parts. Therefore, all such acts and provisions of acts, even if not specifically listed and repealed in Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act, are repealed. Neither this section nor Sections 26 through 35.4 of this act shall affect any annexation in progress on the dates of ratification of this act under any of the repealed or amended sections.”

Session Laws 1983, c. 636, s. 38, provided: “This act shall be effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after the date of ratification of this act, except that Sections 36 and 37 shall become effective with respect to all annexations where resolutions of intent are adopted on or after July 1, 1984, Sections 25.1 through 35.5 and Section 37.1 are effective upon ratification and Section 25 shall become effective as provided in that section. No annexation where a resolution of intent was adopted prior to the date of ratification of this act shall be affected by this act except as provided in Section 25.”

The act was ratified June 29, 1983.

§ 160A-294.1. Honoring deceased or retiring firefighters.

A fire department established by a municipality pursuant to this Article may, in the discretion of the governing body of the municipality, award to a retiring firefighter or a surviving relative of a deceased firefighter, upon request, the fire helmet of the deceased or retiring firefighter, at a price determined in a manner authorized by the governing body. The price may be less than the fair market value of the helmet. (2003-145, s. 2.)

ARTICLE 15.

Streets, Traffic and Parking.

§ 160A-296. Establishment and control of streets; center and edge lines.

(a) A city shall have general authority and control over all public streets, sidewalks, alleys, bridges, and other ways of public passage within its corporate limits except to the extent that authority and control over certain streets and bridges is vested in the Board of Transportation. General authority and control includes but is not limited to all of the following:

- (1) The duty to keep the public streets, sidewalks, alleys, and bridges in proper repair.
- (2) The duty to keep the public streets, sidewalks, alleys, and bridges open for travel and free from unnecessary obstructions.
- (3) The power to open new streets and alleys, and to widen, extend, pave, clean, and otherwise improve existing streets, sidewalks, alleys, and bridges, and to acquire the necessary land therefor by dedication and acceptance, purchase, or eminent domain.
- (4) The power to close any street or alley either permanently or temporarily.
- (5) The power to regulate the use of the public streets, sidewalks, alleys, and bridges.
- (6) The power to regulate, license, and prohibit digging in the streets, sidewalks, or alleys, or placing therein or thereon any pipes, poles, wires, fixtures, or appliances of any kind either on, above, or below the surface. To the extent a municipality is authorized under applicable law to impose a fee or charge with respect to activities conducted in its rights-of-way, the fee or charge must apply uniformly and on a competitively neutral and nondiscriminatory basis to all comparable activities by similarly situated users of the rights-of-way.

(7) The power to provide for lighting the streets, alleys, and bridges of the city.

(8) The power to grant easements in street rights-of-way as permitted by G.S. 160A-273.

(a1) A city with a population of 250,000 or over according to the most recent decennial federal census may also exercise the power granted by subdivision (a)(3) of this section within its extraterritorial planning jurisdiction. Before a city makes improvements under this subsection, it shall enter into a memorandum of understanding with the Department of Transportation to provide for maintenance.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1991, c. 530, s. 6, effective January 1, 1992. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; subch. 10, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., ss. 2787, 2793; 1925, c. 200; 1963, c. 986; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 507, s. 5; 1979, c. 598; 1991, c. 530, s. 6; 2001-261, s. 1; 2006-151, s. 14.)

Local Modification. — City of Monroe: 1985, c. 177; 2000-35, s. 1; town of Cary: 1993, c. 137, s. 3.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-151, s. 20, is a severability clause.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-151, s. 14, effective January 1, 2007, in subsection (a), made minor punctuation changes throughout and substituted "to all of the following" for "to" at the end of the introductory paragraph; added the last sentence in subdivision (a)(6); and deleted "and" from the end of subdivision (a)(7).

- II. Duty to Keep Streets, etc., in Repair.
- III. Duty to Keep Streets, etc., Free from Obstructions.
- IV. Opening, Closing and Widening Streets.

I. IN GENERAL.

Editor's Note. — Many of the cases cited below were decided under former similar provisions.

A city has both inherent power and authority by general statute over its streets for the protection of its citizens, which is not taken from it by G.S. 62-50, conferring like powers upon the Utilities Commission. City of Durham v. Southern Ry., 185 N.C. 240, 117 S.E. 17 (1923), aff'd, 266 U.S. 178, 45 S. Ct. 51, 69 L. Ed. 231 (1924).

Title of Abutting Owner Subject to City's Powers. — The purchaser of a lot abutting a public street, whatever the origin of the street, takes title subject to the authority of the city to control and limit its use and to abandon or close it under lawful procedure. Wofford v. North Carolina State Hwy. Comm'n., 263 N.C. 677, 140 S.E.2d 376, cert. denied, 382 U.S. 822, 86 S. Ct. 50, 15 L. Ed. 2d 67 (1965).

Right to Devote Sides of Streets to Purposes Other Than Driving. — While it is the duty of a municipal corporation to use reasonable care to keep its streets in a safe condition to drive upon, it has the right to devote the sides of the streets to other useful public purposes, provided it leaves an unobstructed driveway of ample width. It may construct sidewalks for a higher grade and gutters of a lower grade than the driveway, place curbing on the line of the gutters, erect hydrants and authorize the erection of hitching posts and stepping stones as well as poles to support the wires of telegraph and telephone lines. Rollins v. City of Winston-Salem, 176 N.C. 411, 97 S.E. 211 (1918).

No Federal Preemption of Railroad Grade Crossing Regulation. — The exercise by the State of its power to provide for the safety of its citizens with respect to grade crossings of its streets by a railroad company is within its police powers, and may be exercised by municipal corporations under authority conferred on them, and not being delegated to the national government, it is not affected by federal legislation upon interstate commerce or the Federal Transportation Act. City of Durham v. Southern Ry., 185 N.C. 240, 117 S.E. 17 (1923), aff'd, 266 U.S. 178, 45 S. Ct. 51, 69 L. Ed. 231 (1924).

As to city's right to require railroad company to construct an underpass, see City of Durham v. Southern Ry., 185 N.C. 240, 117 S.E. 17 (1923), aff'd, 266 U.S. 178, 45 S. Ct. 51, 69 L. Ed. 231 (1924).

As to right of city to require railroads to construct bridges over their viaducts along streets running over their tracks, see

Atlantic Coastline R.R. v. City of Goldsboro, 155 N.C. 356, 71 S.E. 514 (1911), aff'd, 232 U.S. 548, 34 S. Ct. 364, 58 L. Ed. 721 (1914); Powell v. Seaboard Air Line Ry., 178 N.C. 243, 100 S.E. 424 (1919).

The power of municipal corporations to regulate the use of public streets arises through a legislative grant of authority and is subject to the authority of the General Assembly to regulate the use and control of public roads and streets. Town of Emerald Isle ex rel. Smith v. State, 320 N.C. 640, 360 S.E.2d 756 (1987).

As to city's right to acquire and operate tow-in vehicles, see S. & R. Auto & Truck Serv., Inc. v. City of Charlotte, 268 N.C. 374, 150 S.E.2d 743 (1966).

As to the statutory obligations of the State Highway Commission (now Board of Transportation), see Milner Hotels, Inc. v. City of Raleigh, 271 N.C. 224, 155 S.E.2d 543 (1967). See § 160A-297.

Private Store Not Responsible for Traffic Control. — The duty to provide for traffic control on public streets in a municipality is charged by statute to the city. Defendant corporation, an outlet store, had no duty to provide for a crossing guard, warning lights or other traffic control devices over a city street, nor any duty to warn of the hazard of jaywalking across such a busy thoroughfare. Laumann v. Plakakis, 84 N.C. App. 131, 351 S.E.2d 765 (1987).

A town does not have the exclusive and ultimate ability to determine the use of streets and beaches within a municipality. Town of Emerald Isle ex rel. Smith v. State, 320 N.C. 640, 360 S.E.2d 756 (1987).

Including Road on Town Map Insufficient Evidence of Intent to Accept. — Simply including a road on the town map is insufficient evidence of the town's intent to accept the road for public use; to accept the road for public use, the proper authorities must accept the offer in some recognized legal manner. Wiggins v. Short, 122 N.C. App. 322, 469 S.E.2d 571 (1996).

Maintenance of Road May Provide Evidence of Intent to Accept. — Town or city maintenance of a roadway may be some evidence of acceptance of the road for public use; however, evidence that the town maintained the road for purposes of its water drain easement and not for the public generally was competent to rebut the conclusion that it was a public road. Wiggins v. Short, 122 N.C. App. 322, 469 S.E.2d 571 (1996).

Applied in Lonon v. Talbert, 103 N.C. App. 686, 407 S.E.2d 276 (1991); Cucina v. City of Jacksonville, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 310 (N.C. App. Apr. 4, 2000).

II. DUTY TO KEEP STREETS, ETC., IN REPAIR.

Duty to Maintain Streets in Reasonably Safe Condition. — This section imposes upon the municipality the positive duty to maintain its streets in a reasonably safe condition for travel. Stancill v. City of Washington, 29 N.C. App. 707, 225 S.E.2d 834 (1976).

It is the positive duty of the corporate authorities of a town to keep the streets, including the sidewalks, in "proper repair," that is, in such condition as that the people passing and re-passing over them might at all times do so with reasonable ease, speed and safety. Bunch v. Edenton, 90 N.C. 431 (1886); Fitzgerald v. Concord, 140 N.C. 110, 52 S.E. 309 (1905).

Streets must be constructed in a reasonably safe manner, and to this end ordinary care must be exercised at all times. Willis v. City of New Bern, 191 N.C. 507, 132 S.E. 286 (1926); Hunt v. City of High Point, 226 N.C. 74, 36 S.E.2d 694 (1946).

Streets shall be kept in proper repair to the extent that this can be accomplished by proper and reasonable care and continuing supervision. Willis v. City of New Bern, 191 N.C. 507, 132 S.E. 286 (1926); Hunt v. City of High Point, 226 N.C. 74, 36 S.E.2d 694 (1946).

The governing authorities of a town or city have a duty imposed upon them by law to exercise ordinary care to maintain its streets and sidewalks in a condition reasonably safe for those who use them in a proper manner. Faw v. Town of N. Wilkesboro, 253 N.C. 406, 117 S.E.2d 14 (1960); Mosseller v. City of Asheville, 267 N.C. 104, 147 S.E.2d 558 (1966).

While a city is not an insurer of the safety of one who uses its streets and sidewalks, it is under a duty to use due care to keep its streets and sidewalks in a reasonably safe condition for the ordinary use thereof. Mosseller v. City of Asheville, 267 N.C. 104, 147 S.E.2d 558 (1966).

The exercise of the due care in keeping streets and public ways safe and in suitable condition is a positive obligation imposed upon a municipal corporation. Kaplan v. City of Winston-Salem, 21 N.C. App. 168, 203 S.E.2d 653, rev'd on other grounds, 286 N.C. 80, 209 S.E.2d 743 (1974).

The duty to maintain sidewalks and streets in a safe condition carries with it a correlative duty to perform these maintenance tasks in a competent manner or suffer the consequences of negligently inflicted damage which is foreseeable. Kaplan v. City of Winston-Salem, 21 N.C. App. 168, 203 S.E.2d 653, rev'd on other grounds, 286 N.C. 80, 209 S.E.2d 743 (1974).

While the city is not an insurer of the condition of its streets, this section does subject the defendant city to liability for the negligent failure to maintain its streets in a reasonably safe condition. Stancill v. City of Washington, 29 N.C. App. 707, 225 S.E.2d 834 (1976).

And to Exercise Continuing Supervision over Streets. — It is the duty of a city to exercise a reasonable and continuing supervision over its streets, in order that it may know their condition, and it is held to have knowledge of a defect which such inspection would have disclosed to it. Mosseller v. City of Asheville, 267 N.C. 104, 147 S.E.2d 558 (1966).

Duty extends to streets dedicated and accepted by the municipality, but not to streets or portions of streets not accepted by it, although dedicated by some individual. Hughes v. Clark, 134 N.C. 457, 46 S.E. 956, 47 S.E. 462 (1904).

And to Sidewalks. — The rights, powers, and liability of the municipality extend equally to the sidewalk as to the roadway, for both are parts of the street, and towns and cities are held to the same degree of liability for failure to repair sidewalks as to repair the other part of the street. Bunch v. Edenton, 90 N.C. 431 (1886); Tate v. City of Greensboro, 114 N.C. 392, 19 S.E. 767 (1894); Wolfe v. Pearson, 114 N.C. 621, 19 S.E. 264 (1894); Russell v. Town of Monroe, 116 N.C. 720, 21 S.E. 550, 47 Am. St. R. 823 (1895); Neal v. Town of Marion, 129 N.C. 345, 40 S.E. 116 (1901); Hester v. Traction Co., 138 N.C. 288, 50 S.E. 711 (1905).

A municipality is responsible for the condition of its sidewalks. Dunning v. Forsyth Whse. Co., 272 N.C. 723, 158 S.E.2d 893 (1968).

The duty of keeping its sidewalks in a reasonably safe condition rests primarily on a municipality. Kaplan v. City of Winston-Salem, 21 N.C. App. 168, 203 S.E.2d 653, rev'd on other grounds, 286 N.C. 80, 209 S.E.2d 743 (1974).

The evidence was not sufficient to raise an inference of negligence under this section where the plaintiff's experts testified that the depression in the sidewalk had existed for a number of years, had been at least one-half of an inch for 1-2 years before the accident, and was contrary to the building code but a city employee testified that the records were void of any complaints of defects in the sidewalk; the law with regard to municipalities and maintenance of sidewalks is such that minor defects are not actionable. Desmond v. City of Charlotte, 142 N.C. App. 590, 544 S.E.2d 269, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 176 (2001).

But one other than the municipality may be held liable for injuries caused by a defect in the sidewalk if he created the defect. Dunning v. Forsyth Whse. Co., 272 N.C. 723, 158 S.E.2d 893 (1968).

Liability of Abutting Owner to Pedestrians for Hazardous Conditions on Sidewalk. — Insofar as pedestrians are concerned, any liability of the owner or occupant of abutting property for hazardous conditions existent upon the adjacent sidewalk is limited to conditions created or maintained by him, and must be predicated upon his negligence in that respect. Dunning v. Forsyth Whse. Co., 272 N.C. 723, 158 S.E.2d 893 (1968).

Structures in Streets Subject to City's Paramount Power and Duty. — Pipes, conduits, rails, and structures erected or constructed in the city streets under a general grant of authority to use the streets therefor are subject to the paramount power and duty of the city to repair, alter, and improve the streets, as the city, in its discretion, may deem proper, and to construct therein sewers and other improvements for the public benefit. City of Raleigh v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 180 N.C. 234, 104 S.E. 462 (1920).

Guarding Against Perilous Places. — Proper repair implies that all bridges, dangerous pits, embankments, dangerous walls, and like perilous places and things very near and adjoining the streets shall be guarded against by proper railings and barriers or other reasonably necessary signals for the protection of the public. Fitzgerald v. Concord, 140 N.C. 110, 52 S.E. 309 (1905); Willis v. City of New Bern, 191 N.C. 507, 132 S.E. 286 (1926); Hunt v. City of High Point, 226 N.C. 74, 36 S.E.2d 694 (1946).

City may contract with a street railroad for repair of the street between the tracks as a consideration for the franchise, and the railroad will be required to repair and keep its part in the same condition as the rest of the street. City of New Bern v. Atlantic & N.C.R.R., 159 N.C. 542, 75 S.E. 807 (1912).

Commissioners' Duty. — This section does not impose on the commissioners the duty to personally work the streets, but it does impose on them a duty to keep them in repair. Although they are allowed discretion, the commissioners are subject to indictment for neglecting to keep public streets in repair. State v. Dickson, 124 N.C. 871, 32 S.E. 961 (1899).

Municipality may be held liable for negligent or wanton failure to keep its streets in proper repair and in a reasonably safe condition. Bowman v. Town of Granite Falls, 21 N.C. App. 333, 204 S.E.2d 239 (1974).

A municipality has a positive duty to maintain its streets in a reasonably safe condition for travel, and negligent failure to do so will render it liable to private action for proximate injury. Bunch v. Town of Edenton, 90 N.C. 431 (1884); Russell v. Town of Monroe, 116 N.C. 720, 21 S.E. 550, 47 Am. St. R. 823 (1895); Neal v. Town of Marion, 129 N.C. 345, 40 S.E. 116 (1901); Fitzgerald v. Concord, 140 N.C. 110, 52 S.E. 309 (1905); Graham v. City of Charlotte, 186 N.C. 649, 120 S.E. 466 (1923); Michaux v.

City of Rocky Mount, 193 N.C. 550, 137 S.E. 663 (1927); Speas v. City of Greensboro, 204 N.C. 239, 167 S.E. 807 (1933); Radford v. City of Asheville, 219 N.C. 185, 13 S.E.2d 256 (1941); Waters v. Town of Belhaven, 222 N.C. 20, 21 S.E.2d 840 (1942); Millar v. Town of Wilson, 222 N.C. 340, 23 S.E.2d 42 (1942); Hunt v. City of High Point, 226 N.C. 74, 36 S.E.2d 694 (1946).

Negligent failure to take such measures as ordinary prudence requires to avert injury, where the municipality has actual or imputable knowledge of the dangerous condition, will render municipality liable for injury proximately caused. Hunt v. City of High Point, 226 N.C. 74, 36 S.E.2d 694 (1946).

Municipalities may be liable in tort for failure to maintain their streets in a reasonably safe condition, and they are now required to do so by this section. McClellan v. City of Concord, 16 N.C. App. 136, 191 S.E.2d 430 (1972).

And Cannot Plead Governmental Immunity Therefor. — A municipality cannot, with impunity, create in its streets a condition palpably dangerous, neglect to provide the most ordinary means of protection against it, and then avoid liability for proximate injury on the plea of governmental immunity. Hunt v. City of High Point, 226 N.C. 74, 36 S.E.2d 694 (1946); Kaplan v. City of Winston-Salem, 21 N.C. App. 168, 203 S.E.2d 653, rev'd on other grounds, 286 N.C. 80, 209 S.E.2d 743 (1974).

A municipality may not undertake a task of street improvement or repair in a careless or negligent fashion and then seek to escape liability by invoking the privilege of governmental immunity. Kaplan v. City of Winston-Salem, 21 N.C. App. 168, 203 S.E.2d 653, rev'd on other grounds, 286 N.C. 80, 209 S.E.2d 743 (1974).

As an exception to the doctrine of governmental immunity, it has been uniformly held in this jurisdiction that municipalities may be held liable in tort for failure to maintain their streets in a reasonably safe condition, and they are now required by statute to do so. Clark v. Scheld, 253 N.C. 732, 117 S.E.2d 838 (1961).

No Governmental Immunity. — Municipalities in North Carolina have never been immune from civil liability for negligence based upon the failing to keep its streets free of unnecessary obstructions, as in untrimmed shrubs and bushes that obstructed the view of motorists using the streets involved; therefore, in the case at bar defendant had no immunity to waive, and the insolvency of its insurer did not affect its liability. McDonald v. Village of Pinehurst, 91 N.C. App. 633, 372 S.E.2d 733 (1988).

But Municipality Is Not Insurer of Condition of Streets. — While it is the duty of the city to keep its streets in such repair that they are reasonably safe for public travel, it is not an insurer of such condition, nor does it warrant that they shall at all times be absolutely safe. A city is only responsible for a negligent breach of duty. Fitzgerald v. Concord, 140 N.C. 110, 52 S.E. 309 (1905).

And liability arises only for a negligent breach of duty. Faw v. Town of N. Wilkesboro, 253 N.C. 406, 117 S.E.2d 14 (1960); Mosseller v. City of Asheville, 267 N.C. 104, 147 S.E.2d 558 (1966).

Actual or Constructive Notice Prerequisite to Recovery. — Notice of a defect in a street, actual or constructive, and a failure to act on the part of the municipality to remedy the situation are prerequisites to recovery in an action involving a municipality. Bowman v. Town of Granite Falls, 21 N.C. App. 333, 204 S.E.2d 239 (1974).

In order to establish responsibility, it is not sufficient to show that a defect existed and that an injury has been caused thereby. It must be further shown that the officers of the town knew, or by ordinary diligence might have discovered, the defect, and that the character of the defect was such that injuries to travellers therefrom might reasonably be anticipated. Jones v. City of Greensboro, 124 N.C. 310, 32 S.E. 675 (1899); Fitzgerald v. Concord, 140 N.C. 110, 52 S.E. 309 (1905); Faw v. Town of N. Wilkesboro, 253 N.C. 406, 117 S.E.2d 14 (1960).

It is necessary for a complaining party to show more than the existence of a defect in the street or sidewalk and the injury; he must also show that the officers of the town or city knew, or by ordinary diligence, might have known of the defect, and that the character of the defect was such that injuries to travellers using its street or sidewalk in a proper manner might reasonably be foreseen. Mosseller v. City of Asheville, 267 N.C. 104, 147 S.E.2d 558 (1966).

Summary judgment was appropriate where the plaintiff failed to offer any evidence that the city had either actual or constructive notice of any alleged defect in its sidewalk, as required to support a negligence action under this section, so as to create a genuine issue of material fact. Willis v. City of New Bern, 137 N.C. App. 762, 529 S.E.2d 691, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 499 (2000).

Notice Must Be of Defect Itself. — The notice, actual or implied, of a highway defect causing injuries which a municipality must receive as a condition precedent to liability for those injuries is notice of the defect itself which occasioned the injury, and not merely of conditions naturally productive of that defect and subsequently in fact producing it. Mosseller v. City of Asheville, 267 N.C. 104, 147 S.E.2d 558 (1966).

When Notice Implied. — When observable defects in a highway have existed for a time so long that they ought to have been observed, notice of them is implied. Fitzgerald v. Concord, 140 N.C. 110, 52 S.E. 309 (1905).

Notice of a dangerous condition in a street or sidewalk will be imputed to a town or city if its officers should have discovered it in the exercise of due care. Faw v. Town of N. Wilkesboro, 253 N.C. 406, 117 S.E.2d 14 (1960); Mosseller v. City of Asheville, 267 N.C. 104, 147 S.E.2d 558 (1966).

Implied Notice Usually a Jury Question.

— On the question of notice implied from the continued existence of a defect, no definite or fixed rule can be laid down as to the time required, and it is usually a question for the jury on the facts and circumstances of each particular case. Fitzgerald v. Concord, 140 N.C. 110, 52 S.E. 309 (1905).

Notice of Latent Defects. — Notice of latent defects should not be so readily presumed from their continuance as open and obvious defects. Fitzgerald v. Concord, 140 N.C. 110, 52 S.E. 309 (1905).

Foreseeability of Injury Essential to Recovery.

— To recover for injuries received from a fall on a defective street, the plaintiff must not only show that the city knew of the defect, but must go further and show that the character of the defect was such that injuries to travellers using its street or sidewalk in a proper manner might reasonably be foreseen. Mosseller v. City of Asheville, 267 N.C. 104, 147 S.E.2d 558 (1966).

Trivial Defects Will Not Make City Liable.

— It is not every defect in a street or sidewalk which will render a city liable to a person who falls as a result thereof. Trivial defects, which are not naturally dangerous, will not make the city liable for injuries occasioned thereby. Mosseller v. City of Asheville, 267 N.C. 104, 147 S.E.2d 558 (1966).

Effect of Independent Contributory Cause.

— When two causes combine to produce an injury to a traveler on a highway, both of which are in their nature proximate, the one being a culpable defect in the highway, and the other some occurrence for which neither party is responsible, the municipality is liable, provided the injury would not have been sustained but for such defect. Dillon v. City of Raleigh, 124 N.C. 184, 32 S.E. 548 (1889).

Liability for Consequential Damage in Grading Streets.

— Where a municipal corporation has authority to grade its streets, it is not liable for consequential damage, unless the work was done in an unskillful and incautious manner. Meares v. Commissioners of Wilmington, 31 N.C. 73 (1848); Salisbury v. Western N.C.R.R., 91 N.C. 490 (1884); Wright v. City of Wilmington, 92 N.C. 156 (1885); Tate v. City of Greensboro, 114 N.C. 392, 19 S.E. 767 (1894); Wolfe v. Pearson, 114 N.C. 621, 19 S.E. 264 (1894); Brown v. Electric Co., 138 N.C. 533, 51 S.E. 62 (1905); Thomason v. Seaboard Airline Ry., 142 N.C. 300, 55 S.E. 198 (1906); Small v. Councilmen of Edenton, 146 N.C. 527, 60 S.E. 413 (1908); Ward v. Commissioners of Buford County, 146 N.C. 534, 60 S.E. 418 (1908), overruled on other grounds, In re Alamance County Court Facilities, 329 N.C. 84, 405 S.E.2d 125 (1991); Jones v. Town of Henderson, 147 N.C. 120, 60 S.E. 894 (1908); Dorsey v. Town of Henderson, 148 N.C. 423, 62 S.E. 547 (1908).

Liability for Damages from Tree Cutting.

— Discretionary power of repairing and maintaining a street is vested in the commissioners of a city, and an action for damages caused by cutting of trees in the street, by them, will not lie in favor of an abutting property owner, in the absence of negligence, malice, or wantonness. Tate v. City of Greensboro, 114 N.C. 392, 19 S.E. 767 (1894).

Failure to Provide Reasonable Lighting.

— While a city may not be under a legal necessity to light its streets at all, where it does maintain street lights its failure to provide lighting which is reasonably required at a particular place because of the dangerous condition of the street is a negligent failure to discharge its duty to maintain the streets in a reasonably safe condition for travel. Hunt v. City of High Point, 226 N.C. 74, 36 S.E.2d 694 (1946).

No Right in Abutting Owner to Change Street's Condition.

— When a street is repaired or changed by a city so as to damage an owner of the fee in the street or to cause a nuisance, the owner has no right to change the condition of the street so as to remove the nuisance or lessen the damage, and such act will subject him to indictment. State v. Wilson, 107 N.C. 865, 12 S.E. 320 (1890).

Ratification of Unauthorized Repair by City.

— When an unauthorized person makes an act of repair to streets that might have been done by a city, a ratification by the city will relieve him of any liability as a trespasser. Wolfe v. Pearson, 114 N.C. 621, 19 S.E. 264 (1894).

Although court found that the maintenance of stop signs constituted a discretionary function, thereby entitling city to the defense of governmental immunity, it reversed the lower court's grant of summary judgment in the city's favor where it appeared from the record that the city was covered by a liability insurance policy at the time of the collision at issue, thereby waiving immunity from suit. Cucina v. City of Jacksonville, 138 N.C. App. 99, 530 S.E.2d 353, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 547 (2000), review denied, 352 N.C. 588, 544 S.E.2d 778 (2000).

III. DUTY TO KEEP STREETS, ETC., FREE FROM OBSTRUCTIONS.

Unlike § 160A-298, subdivision (a)(2) of this section creates an affirmative duty of care. Cooper v. Town of Southern Pines, 58

N.C. App. 170, 293 S.E.2d 235 (1982).

But Repair Does Not Prove Possession.

— City's occasional repair of fence on Housing Authority property did not itself prove the city's intent to possess and control the fence, since these repairs might have reflected no more than the city's statutory duty as a municipality to clear streets and rights-of-way. Petty v. City of Charlotte, 85 N.C. App. 391, 355 S.E.2d 210 (1987), cert. denied, 90 N.C. App. 559, 369 S.E.2d 612 (1988).

"Obstruction". — An "obstruction" can be anything, including vegetation, which renders the public passageway less convenient or safe for use. Cooper v. Town of Southern Pines, 58 N.C. App. 170, 293 S.E.2d 235 (1982).

Suit against a city arising from a traffic accident during a funeral procession was properly dismissed because a moving car, even if driven negligently, was not an "obstruction" within the meaning of G.S. 160A-296(a)(2); also, the timing of a traffic signal was a discretionary governmental function, and thus within the immunity doctrine. Sisk v. City of Greensboro, — N.C. App. —, 645 S.E.2d 176, 2007 N.C. App. LEXIS 1094 (2007).

Liability for Negligent Obstructions. —

A city does not have discretionary power to put obstructions in its streets, and it is liable for its negligence in putting or leaving obstructions in the street to one injured by such obstruction. Graham v. City of Charlotte, 186 N.C. 649, 120 S.E. 466 (1923).

A city has no right, in building a bridge, to obstruct the street with concrete pilasters, and for injuries caused by such obstruction it is liable. Graham v. City of Charlotte, 186 N.C. 649, 120 S.E. 466 (1923).

In a wrongful death action arising from a motorist being struck by a train at a railroad crossing in a city, the motorist's widow did not allege that obstructions which allegedly interfered with the motorist's view of the oncoming train were the result of the city's failure to maintain foliage on city property, so she did not show any breach of duty by the city. Wilkerson v. Norfolk S. Ry., 151 N.C. App. 332, 566 S.E.2d 104, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 744 (2002).

City Concurrently Liable for Failure to Repair. —

City's negligence in failing to repair fence along city street on Housing Authority property was in the nature of concurrent, not insulating, negligence, and while inexcusable, the city's negligence was not so highly improbable and extraordinary an occurrence as to bear no reasonable connection to the harm threatened by the Housing Authority's original negligence. Petty v. City of Charlotte, 85 N.C. App. 391, 355 S.E.2d 210 (1987), cert. denied, 90 N.C. App. 559, 369 S.E.2d 612 (1988).

Joint Liability with Private Individual for Obstruction. — If any person unlawfully erects an obstruction or nuisance in the streets of a city, and the town authorities permit it to remain an unreasonable length of time, the town and the tort-feasor will be jointly and severally liable to a traveler for an injury resulting therefrom absent fault on his part. The question of primary and secondary liability is for the offending parties to adjust between themselves. Dillon v. City of Raleigh, 124 N.C. 184, 32 S.E. 548 (1899).

An individual may restrain the wrongful obstruction of public way, of whatever origin, if he will suffer injury thereby as distinct from the inconvenience to the public generally, and he may recover such special damages as he has sustained by reason of the obstruction. Wofford v. North Carolina State Hwy. Comm'n, 263 N.C. 677, 140 S.E.2d 376, cert. denied, 382 U.S. 822, 86 S. Ct. 50, 15 L. Ed. 2d 67 (1965).

Obstruction on Private Property. —

Where tree which plaintiff contended obstructed her view was located on private property, town had no duty to exercise control over this property and therefore owed no duty to the plaintiff. Lavelle v. Schultz, 120 N.C. App. 857, 463 S.E.2d 567 (1995).

City Was Without Authority to License

Placement of Structure in Right-of-Way. —

City was without statutory authority, under G.S. 160A-296(a), to enter into a license agreement with a homeowner's association to permit the city to authorize the placement of a structure in a public street right-of-way. Moore's Ferry Dev. Corp. v. City of Hickory, 166 N.C. App. 441, 601 S.E.2d 900, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 1741 (2004), cert. denied, 359 N.C. 191, 607 S.E.2d 277 (2004), cert. denied, 359 N.C. 191, 607 S.E.2d 278 (2004).

IV. OPENING, CLOSING AND WIDENING STREETS.

The opening and closing of streets is a governmental function. Bessemer Imp. Co. v. City of Greensboro, 247 N.C. 549, 101 S.E.2d 336 (1958).

The power provided by subdivision (a)(3) of this section is to be exercised in the discretion of the governing body of the municipality acting in its governmental, rather than its proprietary capacity. Rockingham Square Shopping Center, Inc. v. Town of Madison, 45 N.C. App. 249, 262 S.E.2d 705 (1980).

Exclusive to the Municipality. — A municipal corporation is usually given express power by its charter to lay out and open streets. Such charter provisions are supplemented by our general statutes. Under the power thus conferred, the municipal authorities are the sole judges of the necessity or expediency of exercising that right. The municipality's power over its streets is exclusive. Waynesville v. Satterthwait, 136 N.C. 226, 48 S.E. 661 (1904); Moore v. Meroney, 154 N.C. 158, 69 S.E. 838

(1910); Michaux v. City of Rocky Mount, 193 N.C. 550, 137 S.E. 663 (1927).

Authorities of the county embracing such municipality are precluded from exercising the same power within the same territory. Parsons v. Wright, 223 N.C. 520, 27 S.E.2d 534 (1943).

All or Part of Street May Be Closed. — Whether a street lies in a subdivision or is of other origin, the city may close all or part of it upon compliance with statutory procedure. Wofford v. North Carolina State Hwy. Comm'n, 263 N.C. 677, 140 S.E.2d 376, cert. denied, 382 U.S. 822, 86 S. Ct. 50, 15 L. Ed. 2d 67 (1965).

But the closing of a street must not deprive a property owner of reasonable ingress or egress. Wofford v. North Carolina State Hwy. Comm'n, 263 N.C. 677, 140 S.E.2d 376, cert. denied, 382 U.S. 822, 86 S. Ct. 50, 15 L. Ed. 2d 67 (1965).

Diminution of Access from Change of Grade Is Damnum Absque Injuria. — When a city acts for public convenience under the authority granted it by the legislature and raises or lowers the grade of a street, any diminution of access by an abutting property owner is damnum absque injuria. The abutting property owner can neither prevent the change by injunction nor recover damages for the diminished value of his property, when the work is done in conformity with plans designated to promote public convenience. Thompson v. Seaboard Air Line R.R., 248 N.C. 577, 104 S.E.2d 181 (1958).

Abutting Owner Not Entitled to Damages for Narrowing of Sidewalk. — An abutting owner may not recover from a city damages resulting to his property by reason of the fact that the abutting sidewalk has been narrowed in order to widen the street under orders of the city commissioners, the width of the street and sidewalk being within the sound discretion of the commissioners. Ham v. City of Durham, 205 N.C. 107, 170 S.E. 137 (1933).

Demurrer to Action Challenging Closing of Street at Railroad Grade Crossing Upheld. — Defendant town, in cooperation with federal and State authorities in procuring the construction of an underpass and the elimination of two grade crossings, closed two of its streets at the railroad crossings. An action was thereupon instituted by property holders adjacent to the railroad tracks and along one of the closed streets, alleging that the order closing the streets was ultra vires and resulted in the creation of a nuisance causing injury to plaintiffs' property. It was held that defendant town had authority to close the said streets at the crossings in the interest of the public welfare, in the exercise of a discretionary governmental power with which the courts could interfere only in instances of fraud or oppression constituting a manifest abuse of discretion, and that as the closing did not constitute a nuisance or abuse of discretion, defendant town's demurrer to the complaint was properly sustained. Sanders v. Atlantic Coast Line R.R., 216 N.C. 312, 4 S.E.2d 902 (1939).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Power of Municipalities to Regulate Streets. — This section grants municipalities authority to regulate public streets within municipalities, except to the extent power and control is vested in the Department of Transportation. See opinion of the Attorney General to Mr. Ralph D. Karpinos, Town Attorney, Chapel Hill, N.C., 58 N.C.A.G. 17 (1988).

The Department of Transportation is vested with general regulatory authority over the use of State Highway System streets. The general grant of authority to municipalities over streets is subordinate to the Department of Transportation's rights and duties to maintain the State Highway System. See opinion of the Attorney General to Mr. Ralph D. Karpinos, Town Attorney, Chapel Hill, N.C., 58 N.C.A.G. 17 (1988).

§ 160A-297. Streets under authority of Board of Transportation.

(a) A city shall not be responsible for maintaining streets or bridges under the authority and control of the Board of Transportation, and shall not be liable for injuries to persons or property resulting from any failure to do so.

(b) Nothing in this Article shall authorize any city to interfere with the rights and privileges of the Board of Transportation with respect to streets and bridges under the authority and control of the Board of Transportation. (1925, c. 71, s. 3; 1957, c. 65, s. 11; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 507, s. 5; 1987, c. 747, s. 3.1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1987, c. 747, which amended this section, effective August 7, 1987, by deleting former subsection (b), which read "A city may, at its own expense, widen any street or bridge under the authority and control of the Board of Transportation, subject to the Board of Transportation's engineering and design specifications," and redesignating former subsection (c) as present subsection (b), in s. 4 provided: "This act shall not be construed to abrogate any agreement between the Department of Transportation and a municipality for the purpose of participating in a State highway system improvement project approved by the Board of Transportation under G.S. 143B-

350(f)(4) if the agreement was approved by the Board of Transportation and executed prior to the effective date of this act. This act shall not apply to highway improvement projects identified in the Department's Transportation Improvement Program 1987-1995 adopted by the Board of Transportation in December 1986 for which local municipal participation in rights-of-way acquisition or construction or both is shown."

Section 25 of Session Laws 1987, c. 747 provided that as used in the act, the word "municipality" means a "city" as defined by G.S. 160A-1.

CASE NOTES

Subsection (a) is intended to apply where there is no contract between a city and the Board of Transportation and does not, per se, absolve a city from liability for injury, if any, imposed upon it by such contract. Matternes v. City of Winston-Salem, 286 N.C. 1, 209 S.E.2d 481 (1974).

Liability of City to Individual User for Failure to Make Repairs, etc., Contracted for. — An individual user of a street which is part of the State highway system who sustains personal injuries or property damage as the result of a dangerous condition of such street cannot maintain an action for damages against a city which contracted with the Board of Transportation to repair or remove such condition and then did nothing whatsoever about it. Matternes v. City of Winston-Salem, 286 N.C. 1, 209 S.E.2d 481 (1974).

Liability of City for Dangerous Condition on State Highway Within Its Borders. — When a city street becomes a part of the State highway system, the Board of Transportation is responsible for its maintenance thereafter, which responsibility includes the control of all signs and structures within the right-of-way. Therefore, in the absence of any control over a State highway within its border, a municipality has no liability for injuries resulting from a dangerous condition of such street, unless it created or increased such condition. Shapiro v. Toyota Motor Co., 38 N.C. App. 658, 248 S.E.2d 868 (1978).

City Not Responsible for "Controlled Access" Areas. — All areas within the boundaries of the "controlled access" area are part of the State Highway system and were excepted from contract between the city and NCDOT; thus, city was not responsible for dangerous conditions within the "controlled access" areas. Eakes v. City of Durham, 125 N.C. App. 551, 481 S.E.2d 403 (1997).

As to the statutory obligations of the State Highway Commission (now Board of Transportation), see Milner Hotels, Inc. v. City of Raleigh, 271 N.C. 224, 155 S.E.2d 543 (1967), decided under former statutory provisions.

§ 160A-298. Railroad crossings.

(a) A city shall have authority to direct, control, and prohibit the laying of railroad tracks and switches in public streets and alleys and to require that all railroad tracks, crossings, and bridges be constructed so as not to interfere with drainage patterns or with the ordinary travel and use of the public streets and alleys.

(b) The costs of constructing, reconstructing, and improving public streets and alleys, including the widening thereof, within areas covered by railroad cross ties, including cross timbers, shall be borne equally by the city and the railroad company. The costs of maintaining and repairing such areas after construction shall be borne by the railroad company.

(c) A city shall have authority to require the installation, construction, erection, reconstruction, and improvement of warning signs, gates, lights, and other safety devices at grade crossings, and the city shall bear ninety percent (90%) of the costs thereof and the railroad company shall bear ten percent (10%) of the costs. The costs of maintaining warning signs, gates, lights, and other safety devices installed after January 1, 1972, shall be borne equally by the city and the railroad company. The maintenance shall be performed by the railroad company and the city shall pay annually to the railroad company fifty percent (50%) of these costs. In maintaining maintenance cost records and determining such costs, the city and the railroad company shall use the same methods and procedures as are now or may hereafter be used by the Board of Transportation.

(d) A city shall have authority to require that a grade crossing be eliminated and replaced by a railroad bridge or by a railroad underpass, if the council finds as a fact that the grade crossing constitutes an unreasonable hazard to vehicular or pedestrian traffic. In such event, the city shall bear ninety percent (90%) of the costs and the railroad company shall bear ten percent (10%) of the costs. If the city constructs a new street which requires a grade separation and which does not replace an existing street, the city shall bear all of the costs. If a railroad company constructs a new track across at grade, or under, or over an existing street, the railroad company shall pay the entire cost thereof. The city shall pay the costs of maintaining street bridges which cross over railroads. Railroad companies shall pay the cost of maintaining railroad bridges over streets, except that cities shall pay the costs of maintaining street pavement, sidewalks, street drainage, and street lighting where streets cross under railroads.

(e) Whenever the widening, improving, or other changes in a street require that a railroad bridge be relocated, enlarged, heightened, or otherwise reconstructed, the city shall bear ninety percent (90%) of the costs and the railroad company shall bear ten percent (10%) of the costs.

(f) It is the intent of this section to make uniform the law concerning the construction and maintenance of railroad crossings, bridges, underpasses, and warning devices within cities. To this end, all general laws and local acts in conflict with this section are repealed, and no local act taking effect on or after January 1, 1972, shall be construed to modify, amend, or repeal any portion of this section unless it specifically so provides by express reference to this section. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 507, s. 5.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — As to city's control over railroad crossings, see also the case notes to G.S. 160A-296.

Exercise of control over railroad crossings is within a municipality's inherent police power. Cooper v. Town of Southern Pines, 58 N.C. App. 170, 293 S.E.2d 235 (1982).

Authority Under This Section Does Not Constitute Duty. — The fact that a city has the authority to make certain decisions does not mean that the city is under an obligation to do so. The words "authority" and "power" are not synonymous with the word "duty". When the Legislature intended to create a duty in this Chapter, it did so expressly. Cooper v. Town of Southern Pines, 58 N.C. App. 170, 293 S.E.2d 235 (1982).

In a wrongful death action arising from a motorist's death after being struck by a train at a railroad crossing in a city, the city's authority, under G.S. 160A-298(c), to require the installation of warning devices at the crossing did not create a duty on its part to have such devices installed. Wilkerson v. Norfolk S. Ry., 151 N.C. App. 332, 566 S.E.2d 104, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 744 (2002).

Section allows a city to exercise its discretion in requiring improvements at railroad crossings. There is no mandate of action. Cooper v. Town of Southern Pines, 58 N.C. App. 170, 293 S.E.2d 235 (1982).

And Courts Will Not Interfere Absent Abuse of Discretion. — Courts will not interfere with discretionary powers conferred on a municipality for the public welfare unless the exercise (or non-exercise) of those powers is so clearly unreasonable as to constitute an abuse of discretion. Cooper v. Town of Southern Pines, 58 N.C. App. 170, 293 S.E.2d 235 (1982).

Unlike this section, § 160A-296(a)(2) creates an affirmative duty of care. Cooper v. Town of Southern Pines, 58 N.C. App. 170, 293 S.E.2d 235 (1982).

Cost of Automatic Signal Devices at Railroad Crossings. — A city has authority, in the exercise of its police power, to promote public safety and convenience, to allocate to a railway company some portion of the costs of the installation and maintenance of automatic signal devices at road crossings. Allocations so made would constitute a denial of a railway company's constitutional right to substantive due process only if the proportion of the costs allocated to it was so unreasonable as to constitute an arbitrary taking of its property. Southern Ry. v. City of Winston-Salem, 275 N.C. 465, 168 S.E.2d 396 (1969), decided under former § 160-200.

Applied in Norman v. N.C. DOT, 161 N.C. App. 211, 588 S.E.2d 42, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 2043 (2003), review dismissed, review denied, 358 N.C. 235, 595 S.E.2d 153 (2004), cert. denied, 358 N.C. 545, 599 S.E.2d 404 (2004).

§ 160A-299. Procedure for permanently closing streets and alleys.

(a) When a city proposes to permanently close any street or public alley, the council shall first adopt a resolution declaring its intent to close the street or alley and calling a public hearing on the question. The resolution shall be published once a week for four successive weeks prior to the hearing, a copy thereof shall be sent by registered or certified mail to all owners of property adjoining the street or alley as shown on the county tax records, and a notice of the closing and public hearing shall be prominently posted in at least two places along the street or alley. If the street or alley is under the authority and control of the Department of Transportation, a copy of the resolution shall be mailed to the Department of Transportation. At the hearing, any person may be heard on the question of whether or not the closing would be detrimental to the public interest, or the property rights of any individual. If it appears to the satisfaction of the council after the hearing that closing the street or alley is not contrary to the public interest, and that no individual owning property in the vicinity of the street or alley or in the subdivision in which it is located would thereby be deprived of reasonable means of ingress and egress to his property, the council may adopt an order closing the street or alley. A certified copy of the order (or judgment of the court) shall be filed in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the street, or any portion thereof, is located.

(b) Any person aggrieved by the closing of any street or alley including the Department of Transportation if the street or alley is under its authority and control, may appeal the council's order to the General Court of Justice within 30 days after its adoption. In appeals of streets closed under this section, all facts and issues shall be heard and decided by a judge sitting without a jury. In addition to determining whether procedural requirements were complied with, the court shall determine whether, on the record as presented to the city council, the council's decision to close the street was in accordance with the statutory standards of subsection (a) of this section and any other applicable requirements of local law or ordinance.

No cause of action or defense founded upon the invalidity of any proceedings taken in closing any street or alley may be asserted, nor shall the validity of the order be open to question in any court upon any ground whatever, except in an action or proceeding begun within 30 days after the order is adopted. The failure to send notice by registered or certified mail shall not invalidate any ordinance adopted prior to January 1, 1989.

(c) Upon the closing of a street or alley in accordance with this section, subject to the provisions of subsection (f) of this section, all right, title, and interest in the right-of-way shall be conclusively presumed to be vested in those persons owning lots or parcels of land adjacent to the street or alley, and the title of such adjoining landowners, for the width of the abutting land owned by them, shall extend to the centerline of the street or alley.

The provisions of this subsection regarding division of right-of-way in street or alley closings may be altered as to a particular street or alley closing by the assent of all property owners taking title to a closed street or alley by the filing of a plat which shows the street or alley closing and the portion of the closed street or alley to be taken by each such owner. The plat shall be signed by each property owner who, under this section, has an ownership right in the closed street or alley.

(d) This section shall apply to any street or public alley within a city or its extraterritorial jurisdiction that has been irrevocably dedicated to the public, without regard to whether it has actually been opened. This section also applies to unopened streets or public alleys that are shown on plats but that have not been accepted or maintained by the city, provided that this section shall not abrogate the rights of a dedicator, or those claiming under a dedicator, pursuant to G.S. 136-96.

(e) No street or alley under the control of the Department of Transportation may be closed unless the Department of Transportation consents thereto.

(f) A city may reserve its right, title, and interest in any utility improvement or easement within a street closed pursuant to this section. Such reservation shall be stated in the order of closing. Such reservation also extends to utility improvements or easements owned by private utilities which at the time of the street closing have a utility agreement or franchise with the city.

(g) The city may retain utility easements, both public and private, in cases of streets withdrawn under G.S. 136-96. To retain such easements, the city council shall, after public hearing, approve a "declaration of retention of utility easements" specifically describing such easements. Notice by certified or registered mail shall be provided to the party withdrawing the street from dedication under G.S. 136-96 at least five days prior to the hearing. The declaration must be passed prior to filing of any plat or map or declaration of withdrawal with the register of deeds. Any property owner filing such plats, maps, or declarations shall include the city declaration with the declaration of withdrawal and shall show the utilities retained on any map or plat showing the withdrawal. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 47; c. 507, s. 5; 1977, c. 464, s. 34, 1981, c. 401; c. 402, ss. 1, 2; 1989, c. 254; 1993, c. 149, s. 1.)

Local Modification. — Wake: 1989, c. 279, s. 1; city of Charlotte: 1987, c. 426 (publication period reduced); city of Durham: 1973, c. 415; 1985, c. 332; city of Statesville: 1987, c. 426 (publication period reduced.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1993, c. 149, which amended this section, provides in s. 2: "This act applies to any street closing order adopted on or after July 1, 1993, but does not apply to pending litigation."

Session Laws 1993, c. 149, s. 3 provides: "This act does not affect any local modifications to G.S. 160A-299 which are not in conflict with the amendments made to G.S. 160A-299 by this act. If the local modification to G.S. 160A-299 conflicts with the amendments made to G.S. 160A-299 made by this act, the amendments made by this act prevail to the extent of the conflict."

CASE NOTES

Closing of Portion of Street. — The legislature did not intend to provide a town with the authority to close a street only if the entire length and breadth of the street is closed; thus, a town may close only a portion of a street. Williamson v. Town of Surf City, 143 N.C. App. 539, 545 S.E.2d 798, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 316 (2001).

Time to Contest Closing of Street. — A declaratory judgment action to contest the validity of a proceeding to close a 30-foot wide strip of land adjacent to the plaintiff's property was untimely where the complaint was filed more than 30 days after the adoption of the ordinance purporting to close the disputed strip of land. Groves v. Community Hous. Corp. of Haywood County, 144 N.C. App. 79, 548 S.E.2d 535, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 345 (2001).

Public Must Acquire Some Right in Street Before Municipality May Close it. — The language of subsections (a) and (d) clearly indicates that the public must have acquired some right in the street or alley before the municipality may act to close it. In re Easement of Right of Way, 90 N.C. App. 303, 368 S.E.2d 639 (1988).

Indexing of resolution closing a street under the name of the city, without also indexing it under the names of the abutting landowners who acquired the fee simple title to the portion closed, was all that was statutorily required. General Greene Inv. Co. v. Greene, 48 N.C. App. 29, 268 S.E.2d 810, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 235, 283 S.E.2d 132 (1980).

Street Not to Be Utilized for Park. — Subsection (c) specifies that if a portion of the street is closed, the land would go to property owners on either side of the dedicated street; thus, closing a street pursuant to this section would not allow town to utilize the street for park purposes. Wooten v. Town of Topsail Beach, 127 N.C. App. 739, 493 S.E.2d 285 (1997), cert. denied, 348 N.C. 78, 505 S.E.2d 888 (1998).

Construction of Public Facilities on Portion of Closed Street. — A town had authority to close a street pursuant to this section where the town intended to use a portion of the closed street to construct public facilities, provided the town complied with the procedural requirements of this section. Williamson v. Town of Surf City, 143 N.C. App. 539, 545

S.E.2d 798, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 316 (2001).

Collateral Attack on Notice Precluded. — Where all abutting owners consented to a closing, no other notices by mail to landowners were required by former G.S. 153-9(17), and subsequent owners of property who purchased on the representation that an adjacent street was open could not collaterally attack the city council's finding that notice of the hearing was duly published. General Greene Inv. Co. v. Greene, 48 N.C. App. 29, 268 S.E.2d 810, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 235, 283 S.E.2d 132 (1980).

Separation of Powers Clause not Violated. — G.S. 160A-299(b) did not deprive a home owner of his right to a fair hearing or violate the Separation of Powers Clause of the North Carolina Constitution in his appeal from a town council order closing a road because he had the opportunity to test, rebut, and explain evidence presented to the council at three public hearings held on the road closure over a two-month period; these hearings were the proper place for him to present evidence and to rebut any evidence contrary to his position. Houston v. Town of Chapel Hill, 177 N.C. App. 739, 630 S.E.2d 249, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1199 (2006).

Evidentiary Hearing Not Required on Appeal. — Homeowner was not entitled to an evidentiary hearing in his appeal from a town council's road closure order because the clear and unambiguous language of G.S. 160A-299(b) directed the superior court to decide all issues except the council's compliance with procedural issues on the record before the town council, and the owner did not challenge the council's procedural compliance; the record evidence supported the council's findings, and the superior court properly affirmed its order after finding that it complied with G.S. 160A-299. Houston v. Town of Chapel Hill, 177 N.C. App. 739, 630 S.E.2d 249, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1199 (2006).

§ 160A-299.1. Applications for intermittent closing of roads within watershed improvement project by municipality; notice; costs; markers.

(a) Upon proper application by the board of commissioners of a drainage district established under the provisions of Chapter 156 of the General Statutes by the board of trustees of a watershed improvement district established under the provisions of Article 2 of Chapter 139 of the General Statutes, by the board of county commissioners of any county operating a county watershed improvement program under the provisions of Article 3 of Chapter 139 of the General Statutes, by the board of commissioners of any watershed improvement commission appointed by a board of county commissioners, or by the board of supervisors of any soil and water conservation district designated by a board of county commissioners to exercise authority in carrying out a county watershed improvement program, any municipality for roads or streets coming under its jurisdictional control is hereby authorized to permit the intermittent closing of any highway or public road within the boundaries of any watershed improvement project operated by the applicants, whenever in the judgment of the municipality it is necessary to do so, and when the highway or public road will be intermittently subject to inundation by floodwaters retained by an approved watershed improvement project.

(b) Before any permit may be issued for the temporary inundation and closing of such a road, an application for such permit shall be made to the appropriate municipality by the public body having jurisdiction over the watershed improvement project. The application shall specify the highway, road, or street involved, and shall request that a permit be granted to the applicant public body to allow the intermittent closing of the road.

(c) Upon receipt of such an application the municipality shall give public notice of the proposed action by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the county or counties, within which the proposed intermittent closing of road or roads would occur; and such notices shall contain a description of the places of beginning and the places of ending of such intermittent closing. In addition, the municipality shall give notice to all public utilities or common carriers having facilities located within the rights-of-way of any roads being closed by mailing copies of such notices to the appropriate offices of the public utility or common carrier having jurisdiction over the affected facilities of the public utility or common carrier. Not sooner than 14 days after publication and mailing of notices, the municipality may issue its permit with respect to such road.

(d) All cost in connection with the publication and mailing of notices shall be paid by the applicant. In the event any municipality issues a permit allowing the intermittent closing of a road, the permit shall contain a provision that the applicant public body having jurisdiction over the watershed improvement project causing the potential flooding shall cause suitable markers to be installed on the road to advise the general public of the intermittent closing of the road. (1975, c. 639, s. 2.)

§ 160A-300. Traffic control.

A city may by ordinance prohibit, regulate, divert, control, and limit pedestrian or vehicular traffic upon the public streets, sidewalks, alleys, and bridges of the city. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1941, c. 153, ss. 1, 2; c. 272; 1947, c. 7; 1953, c. 171; 1965, c. 945; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Most of the cases cited below were decided under former G.S. 160-200.

Ordinances under this section are presumed to be valid, and the courts will not declare them invalid unless they are clearly shown to be so. Wenco Mgt. Co. v. Town of Carrboro, 53 N.C. App. 480, 281 S.E.2d 74 (1981).

Section Does Not Impose Affirmative Duty. — This section grants cities discretionary authority, but imposes no affirmative duty on them to control vehicular traffic on the public streets of the city. Talian v. City of Charlotte, 98 N.C. App. 281, 390 S.E.2d 737, aff'd, 327 N.C. 629, 398 S.E.2d 330 (1990).

City has been held to have owed the plaintiffs no affirmative duty to control traffic on a city street when G.S. 160A-300 authorized the city to control traffic, but did not expressly require it to do so; a city cannot be held liable for delaying the installation of safety devices at a railroad crossing because the city, although authorized to require safety devices, has no duty to have the warning or safety devices in place. Norman v. N.C. DOT, 161 N.C. App. 211, 588 S.E.2d 42, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 2043 (2003), review dismissed, review denied, 358 N.C. 235, 595 S.E.2d 153 (2004), cert. denied, 358 N.C. 545, 599 S.E.2d 404 (2004).

Authority to Regulate Traffic and Use of Streets. — Every municipal corporation has specific statutory authority to adopt such ordinances for the regulation and use of its streets as it deems best for the public welfare of its citizens and to provide for the regulation and diversion of vehicular traffic upon its streets. Gene's, Inc. v. City of Charlotte, 259 N.C. 118, 129 S.E.2d 889 (1963).

As to municipality's right to install traffic control signals, see Upchurch v. Hudson Funeral Home, 263 N.C. 560, 140 S.E.2d 17 (1965); Rappe v. Carr, 4 N.C. App. 497, 167 S.E.2d 48 (1969).

Installation and Maintenance of Traffic Lights as Discretionary Governmental Function. — The installation and maintenance of traffic lights by a municipality is in the interest of the public safety in the exercise of the police power and is a discretionary governmental function. Hodges v. City of Charlotte, 214 N.C. 737, 200 S.E. 889 (1939).

In the installation and maintenance of traffic light signals, a city exercises a discretionary governmental function solely for the benefit of the public and may not be held liable for the negligence of its officers and agents in respect thereto. Hamilton v. Hamlet, 238 N.C. 741, 78 S.E.2d 770 (1953).

The installation and maintenance of electrical traffic control signals in and by municipalities is a governmental function and not a proprietary or corporate function. Rappe v. Carr, 4 N.C. App. 497, 167 S.E.2d 48 (1969).

Private Store Not Responsible for Traffic Control. — The duty to provide for traffic control on public streets in a municipality is charged by statute to the city. Defendant corporation, an outlet store, had no duty to provide for a crossing guard, warning lights or other traffic control devices over a city street, nor any duty to warn of the hazard of jaywalking across such a busy thoroughfare. Laumann v. Plakakis, 84 N.C. App. 131, 351 S.E.2d 765 (1987).

Applied in Cucina v. City of Jacksonville, 138 N.C. App. 99, 530 S.E.2d 353, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 547 (2000), review denied, 352 N.C. 588, 544 S.E.2d 778 (2000).

§ 160A-300.1. Use of traffic control photographic systems.

(a) A traffic control photographic system is an electronic system consisting of a photographic, video, or electronic camera and a vehicle sensor installed to work in conjunction with an official traffic control device to automatically produce photographs, video, or digital images of each vehicle violating a standard traffic control statute or ordinance.

(b) Any traffic control photographic system or any device which is a part of that system, as described in subdivision (a) of this section, installed on a street or highway which is a part of the State highway system shall meet requirements established by the North Carolina Department of Transportation. Any traffic control system installed on a municipal street shall meet standards established by the municipality and shall be consistent with any standards set by the Department of Transportation.

(b1) Any traffic control photographic system installed on a street or highway must be identified by appropriate advance warning signs conspicuously posted not more than 300 feet from the location of the traffic control photographic system. All advance warning signs shall be consistent with a statewide standard adopted by the Department of Transportation in conjunction with local governments authorized to install traffic control photographic systems.

(c) Municipalities may adopt ordinances for the civil enforcement of G.S. 20-158 by means of a traffic control photographic system, as described in subsection (a) of this section. Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 20-176, in the event that a municipality adopts an ordinance pursuant to this section, a violation of G.S. 20-158 at a location at which a traffic control photographic system is in operation shall not be an infraction. An ordinance authorized by this subsection shall provide that:

- (1) The owner of a vehicle shall be responsible for a violation unless the owner can furnish evidence that the vehicle was, at the time of the violation, in the care, custody, or control of another person. The owner of the vehicle shall not be responsible for the violation if the owner of the vehicle, within 30 days after notification of the violation, furnishes the officials or agents of the municipality which issued the citation either of the following:

- a. An affidavit stating the name and address of the person or company who had the care, custody, and control of the vehicle.
 - b. An affidavit stating that the vehicle involved was, at the time, stolen. The affidavit must be supported with evidence that supports the affidavit, including insurance or police report information.
- (1a) Subdivision (1) of this subsection shall not apply, and the registered owner of the vehicle shall not be responsible for the violation, if notice of the violation is given to the registered owner of the vehicle more than 90 days after the date of the violation.
 - (2) A violation detected by a traffic control photographic system shall be deemed a noncriminal violation for which a civil penalty of fifty dollars ($50.00) shall be assessed, and for which no points authorized by G.S. 20-16(c) shall be assigned to the owner or driver of the vehicle nor insurance points as authorized by G.S. 58-36-65.
 - (3) The owner of the vehicle shall be issued a citation which shall clearly state the manner in which the violation may be challenged, and the owner shall comply with the directions on the citation. The citation shall be processed by officials or agents of the municipality and shall be forwarded by personal service or first-class mail to the address given on the motor vehicle registration. If the owner fails to pay the civil penalty or to respond to the citation within the time period specified on the citation, the owner shall have waived the right to contest responsibility for the violation, and shall be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100.00). The municipality may establish procedures for the collection of these penalties and may enforce the penalties by civil action in the nature of debt.
 - (4) The municipality shall institute a nonjudicial administrative hearing to review objections to citations or penalties issued or assessed under this section.

(c1) The duration of the yellow light change interval at intersections where traffic control photographic systems are in use shall be no less than the yellow light change interval duration specified in the Design Manual developed by the Signals and Geometrics Section of the North Carolina Department of Transportation.

(d) This section applies only to the Cities of Albemarle, Charlotte, Durham, Fayetteville, Greensboro, Greenville, High Point, Locust, Lumberton, Newton, Rocky Mount, and Wilmington, to the Towns of Chapel Hill, Cornelius, Huntersville, Matthews, Nags Head, Pineville, and Spring Lake, and to the municipalities in Union County. (1997-216, ss. 1, 2; 1999-17, s. 1; 1999-181, ss. 1, 2; 1999-182, s. 2; 1999-456, s. 48(c); 2000-37, s. 1; 2000-97, s. 2; 2001-286, ss. 1, 2; 2001-487, s. 37; 2003-86, s. 1; 2003-380, s. 2; 2007-341, s. 2.)

Local Modification. — City of Albemarle: 2007-341, s. 1; city of Charlotte: 2007-341, s. 1; city of Durham: 2007-341, s. 1; city of Fayetteville: 2007-341, s. 1; city of Locust: 2007-341, s. 1; city of Rocky Mount: 2007-341, s. 1; town of Chapel Hill: 2000-97, s. 2(b); municipalities in Union County: 2007-341, s.1.

Use of Traffic Control Photographic Systems in Wake County and the City of Concord. — Sessions Laws 2001-286, ss. 3, 4, as amended by Session Laws 2003-380, s. 3, enacted local laws governing the use of traffic control photographic systems in Wake County and the City of Concord.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1997-216, s. 1, effective June 23, 1997, enacted this section and s. 2 made it effective as to the city of Charlotte. Session Laws 1999-17, s. 1, effective April 17, 1999, added the city of Fayetteville. Session Laws 1999-181, effective January 1,

2000, in s. 1, added subsection (b1), added “nor insurance points as authorized by G.S. 58-36-65” at the end of subdivision (c)(2), and in s. 2, added the cities of Greensboro, High Point, and Rocky Mount. Session Laws 1999-182, effective January 1, 2000, in s. 1 made the same changes as were made by Session Laws 1999-181, s. 1, and in s. 2 added Charlotte, Fayetteville, Greenville, Wilmington, and Greensboro and the towns of Huntersville, Matthews, and Cornelius. Session Laws 1999-456, s. 48(c), effective August 13, 1999, and designed to resolve duplicate enactments by Session Laws 1999-181 and 1999-182, repealed Session Laws 1999-182, ss. 1 and 2, and rewrote Session Laws 1997-216, s. 2, as amended by Session Laws 1999-17 and Session Laws 1999-181, to add the city of Wilmington, and the towns of Cornelius, Huntersville, and Matthews. Session Laws 2000-37, s. 1, effective June 30, 2000, added the cities of Greenville and Lumberton, and the town of Pineville. Session Laws 2000-97, s. 2, effective July 10, 2000, added the town of Chapel Hill. The section has been codified at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Session Laws 2006-189, s. 2, provides that: “The Legislative Research Commission may study the impact of the various decisions of the North Carolina courts on the definition of clear proceeds as it relates to the funding and operation of traffic control photographic systems by cities and towns in the State. The Commission may recommend to the General Assembly statutory changes that define clear proceeds in a manner that allows their use for the continued operation of these traffic control devices.”

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2007-341, s. 2, effective September 1, 2007, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, inserted “Locust” in subsection (d).

CASE NOTES

Due Process. — Because G.S. 160A-300.1(c)(4) and a city ordinance promulgated pursuant to it provided an adequate method to challenge the legality of a city’s program to catch red-light violators by use of automatic cameras at intersections, plaintiff’s independent action presenting such a challenge was properly dismissed. Structural Components Int. Inc. v. City of Charlotte, 154 N.C. App. 119, 573 S.E.2d 166, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 1418 (2002).

Constitutionality. — An individual who was assessed a $50.00 civil penalty for a red light violation detected by cameras installed under the authority of G.S. 160A-300.1 lacked standing to challenge the statute on the grounds of a violation of his right to due process and equal protection because the individual did not avail himself of any of the procedural processes available under the statute. Furthermore, even if the individual had standing, the statute was civil in nature and the process was sufficient in a civil setting to afford the citation recipient due process. In addition, the individual failed to allege membership in any suspect class. Shavitz v. City of High Point, 270 F. Supp. 2d 702, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11839 (M.D.N.C. 2003).

Use of Assessments. — The assessments made pursuant to G.S. 160A-300.1 and High Point, N.C., Ordinance No. 00-89, § 10-1-306 constituted monetary payments which, although levied in a civil setting, were penal in nature. Where the assessments did not accrue to the state, the “civil penalties” assessed by a city pursuant to the ordinance were not subject to the requirements N.C. Const. art. IX, § 7.

The fines and other amounts received by the city and the other defendants under the statute and the ordinance were not required to be appropriated and used exclusively for maintaining free public schools in the county. Shavitz v. City of High Point, 270 F. Supp. 2d 702, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11839 (M.D.N.C. 2003).

County board of education was entitled to funds derived from a city’s red light camera program, which program was implemented by an ordinance pursuant to G.S. 160A-300.1(c), as N.C. Const. art. IX, § 7 applied to the civil penalties assessed by the city for violations of the ordinance regarding the failure to stop for a red stoplight. Further, pursuant to G.S. 115C-437, the city was to pay 90 percent of the amount collected by its red light camera program to the board. Shavitz v. City of High Point, 177 N.C. App. 465, 630 S.E.2d 4, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1080 (2006).

Standing. — An individual, who was assessed a $50.00 civil penalty for a red light violation detected by cameras installed under the authority of G.S. 160A-300.1 and High Point, N.C., Ordinance No. 00-89, § 10-1-306, launched a challenge to the statute and the ordinance based on N.C. Const. art. IX, § 7; he did not, however, have standing to bring this claim, as he did not allege that (1) there had been a demand on and refusal by the proper authorities to institute proceedings for the protection of the interests of the political agency or political subdivision; or (2) a demand on such authorities would have been useless. Nor could the individual allege that a demand on the proper authorities, a school board, would have been useless since the school board had protected its own interests by asking for declaratory relief. Shavitz v. City of High Point, 270 F. Supp. 2d 702, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11839 (M.D.N.C. 2003).

An individual, who was assessed a $50.00 civil penalty for a red light violation detected by cameras installed under the authority of G.S.

160A-300.1 and High Point, N.C., Ordinance No. 00-89, § 10-1-306, launched a challenge to the statute and the ordinance based on N.C. Const. art. IX, § 7; while the court concluded that the assessments in question constituted monetary payments. Shavitz v. City of High Point, 270 F. Supp. 2d 702, 2003 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11839 (M.D.N.C. 2003).

§ 160A-300.5. Regulation of golf carts on streets in certain localities.

(a) Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 20-50 and G.S. 20-54, a town may, by ordinance, regulate the operation of golf carts on any public street or highway within the city limits, or on any property owned or leased by the city.

(b) By ordinance, a city may require the registration of golf carts, charge a fee for the registration, specify who is authorized to operate golf carts, and specify the required equipment, load limits, and the hours and methods of operation of golf carts.

(c) This section applies to the City of Saluda and the Towns of Badin, Carolina Beach, Emerald Isle, Faison, Fremont, Indian Beach, Kings Mountain, Kure Beach, Morrisville, Shelby, and Wrightsville Beach only. (2006-27, ss. 1, 2; 2007-72, s. 1; 2007-336, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-27, s. 2, as amended, now applies to 10 or more localities, and has been codified as this section at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2007-72, s. 1, effective April 28, 2007, added the towns of Badin, Carolina Beach, Emerald Isle, Fremont, Indian Beach, Kings Mountain, Kure Beach, Shelby and Wrightsville Beach to the list of localities.

Session Laws 2007-336, s. 1, effective August 2, 2007, added the town of Morrisville to the list of localities.

§ 160A-301. Parking.

(a) On-Street Parking. — A city may by ordinance regulate, restrict, and prohibit the parking of vehicles on the public streets, alleys, and bridges within the city. When parking is permitted for a specified period of time at a particular location, a city may install a parking meter at that location and require any person parking a vehicle therein to place the meter in operation for the entire time that the vehicle remains in that location, up to the maximum time allowed for parking there. Parking meters may be activated by coins or tokens. Proceeds from the use of parking meters on public streets must be used to defray the cost of enforcing and administering traffic and parking ordinances and regulations.

(b) Off-Street Parking. — A city may by ordinance regulate the use of lots, garages, or other facilities owned or leased by the city and designated for use by the public as parking facilities. The city may impose fees and charges for the use of these facilities, and may provide for the collection of these fees and charges through parking meters, attendants, automatic gates, or any other feasible means. The city may make it unlawful to park any vehicle in an off-street parking facility without paying the established fee or charge and may ordain other regulations pertaining to the use of such facilities.

Revenues realized from off-street parking facilities may be pledged to amortize bonds issued to finance such facilities, or used for any other public purpose.

(c) Nothing contained in Public Laws 1921, Chapter 2, Section 29, or Public Laws 1937, Chapter 407, Section 61, shall be construed to affect the validity of a parking meter ordinance or the revenues realized therefrom.

(d) The governing body of any city may, by ordinance, regulate the stopping, standing, or parking of vehicles in specified areas of any parking areas or driveways of a hospital, shopping center, apartment house, condominium complex, or commercial office complex, or any other privately owned public vehicular area, or prohibit such stopping, standing, or parking during any specified hours, provided the owner or person in general charge of the operation and control of that area requests in writing that such an ordinance be adopted. The owner of a vehicle parked in violation of an ordinance adopted pursuant to this subsection shall be deemed to have appointed any appropriate law-enforcement officer as his agent for the purpose of arranging for the transportation and safe storage of such vehicle.

(e) The registered owner of a vehicle that has been leased or rented to another person or company shall not be liable for a violation of an ordinance adopted pursuant to this section if, after receiving notification of the civil violation within 90 days of the date of occurrence, the owner, within 30 days thereafter, files with the officials or agents of the municipality an affidavit including the name and address of the person or company that leased or rented the vehicle. If notification is given to the owner of the vehicle after 90 days have elapsed from the date of the violation, the owner is not required to provide the name and address of the lessee or renter, and the owner shall not be held responsible for the violation. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1941, c. 153, ss. 1, 2; c. 272; 1947, c. 7; 1953, c. 171; 1965, c. 945; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 48; 1979, c. 745, s. 2; 2003-380, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Most of the cases cited below were decided under former G.S. 160-200(31).

A municipality may require a motorist who parks his vehicle in a parking meter zone to set the meter in operation by depositing a coin, provided that the deposit of the coin is the method selected by its governing body in the exercise of its discretion for the purpose of regulating parking in the interest of the public convenience and not as a revenue raising measure. State v. Scoggin, 236 N.C. 1, 72 S.E.2d 97 (1952).

The deposit of a coin by a motorist at the time of parking, to activate the parking meter, is not a fee, charge or toll for using the parking space, but is simply the method adopted by the governing authorities of the city for putting the meter in operation, and the revenue derived therefrom is expressly set apart and dedicated to a particular use by the legislature. Britt v. City of Wilmington, 236 N.C. 446, 73 S.E.2d 289 (1952).

But Revenue Derived Therefrom Is in the Nature of a Tax. — The revenue derived from on-street parking facilities is exacted in the performance of a governmental function, and must be set apart and used for a specific purpose. By whatever name called, it is in the nature of a tax. Britt v. City of Wilmington, 236 N.C. 446, 73 S.E.2d 289 (1952).

Validity of Making Parking Privilege Dependent on Amount of Money Placed in Meter. — Where a municipal ordinance prescribed that parking in a designated zone should be limited to one hour, a motorist could not be convicted of overtime parking for parking in such zone for less than the prescribed one-hour period; hence, an additional provision of the ordinance, that a motorist would be subject to criminal prosecution if he parked in the one-hour zone for longer than 12 minutes upon the deposit of a one-cent coin or 24 minutes upon the deposit of two one-cent coins for successive periods, was unconstitutional as being discriminatory and as making the period of time dependent not upon public convenience but upon the amount of money deposited. State v. Scoggin, 236 N.C. 1, 72 S.E.2d 97 (1952).

Where a municipal ordinance prescribes one-hour and two-hour parking meter zones upon the deposit of a five-cent coin, the ordinance may permit, by nonpenal provisions, that a motorist may deposit a one-cent coin for a shorter length of time, provided the motorist is permitted, by depositing additional pennies, not to exceed a total of five, to remain in the parking space for the total length of time prescribed by the ordinance for such zone. State v. Scoggin, 236 N.C. 1, 72 S.E.2d 97 (1952).

Contract Binding City to Enact Parking Meter Ordinance Not Authorized. — A municipality may not bind itself to enact or enforce on-street and off-street parking regulations by penal ordinance for the period during which bonds issued to provide off-street parking facilities should be outstanding, since it may not contract away or bind itself in regard to its freedom to enact governmental regulations. Britt v. City of Wilmington, 236 N.C. 446, 73 S.E.2d 289 (1952). But see, Town of Graham v. Karpark Corp., 194 F.2d 616 (4th Cir. 1952), upholding a contract with a parking meter manufacturer whereby city agreed to enact and enforce ordinances requiring parking meters until the meters were paid for.

City ordinance prohibiting parking of automobiles on one side of a street on certain blocks where, because of the narrowness of the street, there was insufficient room for cars to pass between parked cars and a streetcar track in the street, was valid in the light of former G.S. 160-200(31). State v. Carter, 205 N.C. 761, 172 S.E. 415 (1934).

Parking Improvements Permissible. — Parking improvements made by town constituted permissible on-street parking; thus, the trial court erred in granting plaintiff's motion for summary judgment. March v. Town of Kill Devil Hills, 125 N.C. App. 151, 479 S.E.2d 252 (1996).

Cited in Cauble v. City of Asheville, 45 N.C. App. 152, 263 S.E.2d 8 (1980).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

As to the validity of subsection (b), insofar as it authorizes criminal sanctions to enforce parking regulations in municipally owned off-street parking facilities, in light of Britt v.

City of Wilmington, 236 N.C. 446, 73 S.E.2d 289 (1952), see opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Rufus C. Boutwell, Jr., 43 N.C.A.G. 141 (1973).

§ 160A-302. Off-street parking facilities.

A city shall have authority to own, acquire, establish, regulate, operate, and control off-street parking lots, parking garages, and other facilities for parking motor vehicles, and to make a charge for the use of such facilities. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1941, c. 153, ss. 1, 2; c. 272; 1947, c. 7; 1953, c. 171; 1965, c. 945; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-302.1. Fishing from bridges regulated.

The governing body of any city is hereby authorized to enact an ordinance prohibiting or regulating fishing from any bridge for the purpose of protecting persons fishing on the bridge from passing vehicular or rail traffic. Such ordinance may also prohibit or regulate fishing from any bridge one mile beyond the corporate limits of the city where the board or boards of county commissioners by resolution agree to such prohibition or regulation; provided, however, that the board or boards of county commissioners may upon 30 days' written notice withdraw their respective approval of the municipal ordinance, and that ordinance shall have no further effect within that county's jurisdiction. The ordinance shall provide that signs shall be posted on any bridge where fishing is prohibited or regulated reflecting such prohibition or regulation. In any event, no one may fish from the drawspan of any regularly attended drawbridge.

The police department of the city is hereby vested with the jurisdiction and authority to enforce any ordinance passed pursuant to this section.

The authority granted under the provisions of this section shall be subject to the authority of the Board of Transportation to prohibit fishing on any bridge on the State highway system. (1971, c. 690, ss. 2, 3, 6; c. 896, s. 15; 1973, c. 426, s. 49; c. 507, s. 5.)

Editor's Note. — This section was originally codified as subdivision (47) of former G.S. 160-200. It was transferred to its present position by Session Laws 1971, c. 896, s. 15.

§ 160A-303. Removal and disposal of junked and abandoned motor vehicles and motor vehicles that constitute a safety hazard.

(a) A city may by ordinance prohibit the abandonment of motor vehicles on the public streets or on public or private property within the city, and may enforce any such ordinance by removing and disposing of junked or abandoned motor vehicles according to the procedures prescribed in this section.

(b) A motor vehicle is defined to include all machines designed or intended to travel over land or water by self-propulsion or while attached to any self-propelled vehicle.

(b1) An abandoned motor vehicle is one that:

- (1) Has been left upon a street or highway in violation of a law or ordinance prohibiting parking; or
- (2) Is left on property owned or operated by the city for longer than 24 hours; or
- (3) Is left on private property without the consent of the owner, occupant, or lessee thereof for longer than two hours; or
- (4) Is left on any public street or highway for longer than seven days.

(b2) A junked motor vehicle is an abandoned motor vehicle that also:

- (1) Is partially dismantled or wrecked; or
- (2) Cannot be self-propelled or moved in the manner in which it was originally intended to move; or
- (3) (applicable to most localities) Is more than five years old and worth less than one hundred dollars ($100.00);

(3a) Is more than five years old and worth less than five hundred dollars ($500.00); this subdivision applies only to the Cities of Belmont, Bessemer City, Cherryville, Eden, Gastonia, Greensboro, Henderson, High Point, Mount Holly, and Reidsville and the Towns of Ahoskie, Ayden, Cornelius, Cramerton, Dallas, Davidson, Farmville, Huntersville, LaGrange, Matthews, Mint Hill, Louisburg, Spring Lake, and Stanley; or

(4) Does not display a current license plate.

(c) Any junked or abandoned motor vehicle found to be in violation of an ordinance adopted under this section may be removed to a storage garage or area, but no such vehicle shall be removed from private property without the written request of the owner, lessee, or occupant of the premises unless the council or a duly authorized city official or employee has declared it to be a health or safety hazard. The city may require any person requesting the removal of a junked or abandoned motor vehicle from private property to indemnify the city against any loss, expense, or liability incurred because of the removal, storage, or sale thereof. When an abandoned or junked motor vehicle is removed, the city shall give notice to the owner as required by G.S. 20-219.11(a) and (b).

(d) Hearing Procedure. — Regardless of whether a city does its own removal and disposal of motor vehicles or contracts with another person to do so, the city, shall provide a hearing procedure for the owner. For purposes of this subsection, the definitions in G.S. 20-219.9 apply.

- (1) If the city operates in such a way that the person who tows the vehicle is responsible for collecting towing fees, all provisions of Article 7A, Chapter 20, apply.
- (2) If the city operates in such a way that it is responsible for collecting towing fees, it shall:

- a. Provide by contract or ordinance for a schedule of reasonable towing fees,
- b. Provide a procedure for a prompt fair hearing to contest the towing,
- c. Provide for an appeal to district court from that hearing,
- d. Authorize release of the vehicle at any time after towing by the posting of a bond or paying of the fees due, and
- e. Provide a sale procedure similar to that provided in G.S. 44A-4, 44A-5, and 44A-6, except that no hearing in addition to the probable cause hearing is required. If no one purchases the vehicle at the sale and if the value of the vehicle is less than the amount of the lien, the city may destroy it.

(e) Repealed by Session Laws 1983, c. 420, s. 13.

(f) No person shall be held to answer in any civil or criminal action to any owner or other person legally entitled to the possession of any abandoned, lost, or stolen motor vehicle for disposing of the vehicle as provided in this section.

(g) Nothing in this section shall apply to any vehicle in an enclosed building or any vehicle on the premises of a business enterprise being operated in a lawful place and manner if the vehicle is necessary to the operation of the enterprise, or to any vehicle in an appropriate storage place or depository maintained in a lawful place and manner by the city.

(h) Repealed by Session Laws 1983, c. 420, s. 13, effective July 1, 1983. (1965, c. 1156; 1967, cc. 1215, 1250; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 50; 1975, c. 716, s. 5; 1983, c. 420, ss. 11-13; 1997-456, s. 27; 2005-10, ss. 1, 3; 2006-15, s. 1; 2006-166, s. 2; 2006-171, s. 1; 2007-208, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — The subsection (b1) and (b2) designations were inserted pursuant to Session Laws 1997-456, s. 27 which authorized the Revisor of Statutes to renumber or reletter sections and parts of sections having a number or letter designation that is incompatible with the General Assembly's computer database.

Since Session Laws 2005-10, ss. 1, 3, as amended by Session Laws 2006-15, s. 1, and as amended by 2006-166, s. 2, and as amended by Session Laws 2006-171, s. 1, now applies to 10 or more jurisdictions, it has been codified as subdivision (b2)(3a) of this section at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2007-208, s. 1, effective July 11, 2007, in subdivision (b2)(3a), added references to the cities of Eden, Greensboro, High Point, and Reidsville and the towns of Ayden, Cornelius, Davidson, Huntersville, and Spring Lake.

CASE NOTES

A city may make provision for the removal of motor vehicles abandoned or disabled in its streets so as to promote the free flow of traffic therein. S & R Auto & Truck Serv.,

Inc. v. City of Charlotte, 268 N.C. 374, 150 S.E.2d 743 (1966), decided under former § 160-200(44).

§ 160A-303.1. Regulation of the placing of trash, refuse and garbage within municipal limits.

The governing body of any municipality is hereby authorized to enact an ordinance prohibiting the placing, discarding, disposing or leaving of any trash, refuse or garbage upon a street or highway located within that municipality or upon property owned or operated by the municipality unless such garbage, refuse or trash is placed in a designated location or container for removal by a specific garbage or trash service collector. Any ordinance adopted pursuant hereto may prohibit the placing, discarding, disposing or leaving of any trash, refuse or garbage upon private property located within the municipality without the consent of the owner, occupant, or lessee thereof and may provide that the placing, discarding, disposing or leaving of the articles forbidden by this section shall, for each day or portion thereof the articles or matter are left, constitute a separate offense.

The governing body of a municipality, in any ordinance adopted pursuant hereto, may provide that a person who violates the ordinance may be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars ($50.00) or imprisoned not exceeding 30 days, or both, for each offense. (1973, c. 953.)

§ 160A-303.2. Regulation of abandonment of junked motor vehicles.

(a) A municipality may by ordinance regulate, restrain or prohibit the abandonment of junked motor vehicles on public grounds and on private property within the municipality's ordinance-making jurisdiction upon a finding that such regulation, restraint or prohibition is necessary and desirable to promote or enhance community, neighborhood or area appearance, and may enforce any such ordinance by removing or disposing of junked motor vehicles subject to the ordinance according to the procedures prescribed in this section. The authority granted by this section shall be supplemental to any other authority conferred upon municipalities. Nothing in this section shall be construed to authorize a municipality to require the removal or disposal of a motor vehicle kept or stored at a bona fide "automobile graveyard" or "junkyard" as defined in G.S. 136-143.

For purposes of this section, the term "junked motor vehicle" means a vehicle that does not display a current license plate and that:

- (1) Is partially dismantled or wrecked; or
- (2) Cannot be self-propelled or moved in the manner in which it originally was intended to move; or
- (3) (applicable to most localities) Is more than five years old and appears to be worth less than one hundred dollars ($100.00); [or]
- (4) Is more than five years old and appears to be worth less than five hundred dollars ($500.00). This subdivision applies only to the Cities of Belmont, Bessemer City, Cherryville, Eden, Gastonia, Greensboro, High Point, Monroe, Mount Holly, and Reidsville and the Towns of Ahoskie, Ayden, Cornelius, Cramerton, Dallas, Davidson, Farmville, Huntersville, LaGrange, Mint Hill, Louisburg, Spring Lake, and Stanley.

(a1) Any junked motor vehicle found to be in violation of an ordinance adopted pursuant to this section may be removed to a storage garage or area, but no such vehicle shall be removed from private property without the written request of the owner, lessee, or occupant of the premises unless the council or a duly authorized city official or employee finds in writing that the aesthetic benefits of removing the vehicle outweigh the burdens imposed on the private property owner. Such finding shall be based on a balancing of the monetary loss of the apparent owner against the corresponding gain to the public by promoting or enhancing community, neighborhood or area appearance. The following, among other relevant factors, may be considered:

- (1) Protection of property values;
- (2) Promotion of tourism and other economic development opportunities;
- (3) Indirect protection of public health and safety;
- (4) Preservation of the character and integrity of the community; and
- (5) Promotion of the comfort, happiness, and emotional stability of area residents.

(a2) The city may require any person requesting the removal of a junked or abandoned motor vehicle from private property to indemnify the city against any loss, expense, or liability incurred because of the removal, storage, or sale thereof. When an abandoned or junked motor vehicle is removed, the city shall give notice to the owner as required by G.S. 20-219.11(a) and (b).

(a3) Hearing Procedure. — Regardless of whether a city does its own removal and disposal of motor vehicles or contracts with another person to do so, the city shall provide a prior hearing procedure for the owner. For purposes of this subsection, the definitions in G.S. 20-219.9 apply.

- (1) If the city operates in such a way that the person who tows the vehicle is responsible for collecting towing fees, all provisions of Article 7A, Chapter 20, apply.
- (2) If the city operates in such a way that it is responsible for collecting towing fees, it shall:
 - a. Provide by contract or ordinance for a schedule of reasonable towing fees,
 - b. Provide a procedure for a prompt fair hearing to contest the towing,
 - c. Provide for an appeal to district court from that hearing,
 - d. Authorize release of the vehicle at any time after towing by the posting of a bond or paying of the fees due, and
 - e. Provide a sale procedure similar to that provided in G.S. 44A-4, 44A-5, and 44A-6, except that no hearing in addition to the probable cause hearing is required. If no one purchases the vehicle at the sale and if the value of the vehicle is less than the amount of the lien, the city may destroy it.

(a4) Any person who removes a vehicle pursuant to this section shall not be held liable for damages for the removal of the vehicle to the owner, lienholder or other person legally entitled to the possession of the vehicle removed; however, any person who intentionally or negligently damages a vehicle in the removal of such vehicle, or intentionally or negligently inflicts injury upon any person in the removal of such vehicle, may be held liable for damages.

(b) Any ordinance adopted pursuant to this section shall include a prohibition against removing or disposing of any motor vehicle that is used on a regular basis for business or personal use. (1983, c. 841, s. 2; 1985, c. 737, s. 2; 1987, c. 42, s. 2; c. 451, s. 2; 1989, c. 3; c. 743, s. 2; 2005-10, ss. 2, 3; 2006-15, s. 3; 2006-166, s. 2; 2006-171, s. 1; 2007-208, s. 2; 2007-505, s. 3.)

Local Modification. — City of Albemarle: 2002-80, s. 1; city of Greenville: 1998-80; 2004-30, s. 1; city of Henderson: 2004-30, s. 1; city of Jacksonville: 2005-25, s. 1 (as to subsection (a)); city of Lumberton: 1995, c. 53, ss. 1, 2; city of Winston-Salem: 2000-104, s. 2; town of Matthews: 2004-30, s. 2; 2005-24, s. 1; town of Waynesville: 2004-30, s. 1.

Editor's Note. — As enacted by Session Laws 1983, c. 841, s. 2, effective October 1, 1983, this section was applicable only to municipalities in the Counties of Dare, Stokes, Alleghany, Carteret and Columbus. Subsequently, Session Laws 1985, c. 737, s. 2, effective July 12, 1985, amended this section by making it applicable to an additional 19 counties. At the direction of the Revisor of Statutes, the section was set out above as G.S. 160A-303.2.

Later amendments added additional counties to the list of those to which the section was applicable.

Session Laws 1989, c. 743, s. 2, deleted "in municipalities in certain counties" from the end of the catchline, and rewrote this section.

Session Laws 1989, c. 743, s. 4 provided that the act does not affect the validity of any ordinance passed prior to October 1, 1989.

Since Session Laws 2005-10, ss. 2, 3, as amended by Session Laws 2006-15, s. 1, and as amended by 2006-166, s. 2, and as amended by Session Laws 2006-171, s. 1, now applies to 10 or more jurisdictions, it has been codified as subdivision (a)(4) of this section at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes. The bracketed language at the end of subdivision (a)(3) has also been added at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2007-208, s. 2, effective July 11, 2007, in subdivision (a)(4), inserted references to the cities of Eden, Greensboro, High Point, and Reidsville, and the towns of Ayden, Cornelius, Davidson, Huntersville, and Spring Lake.

Session Laws 2007-505, s. 3, effective August

30, 2007, inserted "Monroe" in subdivision (a)(4).

§ 160A-304. Regulation of taxis.

(a) A city may by ordinance license and regulate all vehicles operated for hire in the city. The ordinance may require that the drivers and operators of taxicabs engaged in the business of transporting passengers for hire over the public streets shall obtain a license or permit from the city; provided, however, that the license or permit fee for taxicab drivers shall not exceed fifteen dollars ($15.00). As a condition of licensure, the city may require an applicant for licensure to pass a controlled substance examination. The ordinances may also specify the types of taxicab services that are legal in the municipality; provided, that in all cases shared-ride services as well as exclusive-ride services shall be legal. Shared-ride service is defined as a taxi service in which two or more persons with either different origins or with different destinations, or both, occupy a taxicab at one time. Exclusive-ride service is defined as a taxi service in which the first passenger or party requests exclusive use of the taxicab. In the event the applicant is to be subjected to a national criminal history background check, the ordinance shall specifically authorize the use of FBI records. The ordinance shall require any applicant who is subjected to a national criminal history background check to be fingerprinted.

The Department of Justice may provide a criminal record check to the city for a person who has applied for a license or permit through the city. The city shall provide to the Department of Justice, along with the request, the fingerprints of the applicant, any additional information required by the Department of Justice, and a form signed by the applicant consenting to the check of the criminal record and to the use of the fingerprints and other identifying information required by the State or national repositories. The applicant's fingerprints shall be forwarded to the State Bureau of Investigation for a search of the State's criminal history record file, and the State Bureau of Investigation shall forward a set of the fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for a national criminal history check. The city shall keep all information pursuant to this subsection privileged, in accordance with applicable State law and federal guidelines, and the information shall be confidential and shall not be a public record under Chapter 132 of the General Statutes.

The Department of Justice may charge each applicant a fee for conducting the checks of criminal history records authorized by this subsection.

The following factors shall be deemed sufficient grounds for refusing to issue a permit or for revoking a permit already issued:

- (1) Conviction of a felony against this State, or conviction of any offense against another state which would have been a felony if committed in this State;
- (2) Violation of any federal or State law relating to the use, possession, or sale of alcoholic beverages or narcotic or barbiturate drugs;
- (3) Addiction to or habitual use of alcoholic beverages or narcotic or barbiturate drugs;
- (4) Violation of any federal or State law relating to prostitution;
- (5) Noncitizenship in the United States;
- (6) Habitual violation of traffic laws or ordinances.

The ordinance may also require operators and drivers of taxicabs to display prominently in each taxicab, so as to be visible to the passengers, the city taxi permit, the schedule of fares, a photograph of the driver, and any other identifying matter that the council may deem proper and advisable. The ordinance may also establish rates that may be charged by taxicab operators, may limit the number of taxis that may operate in the city, and may grant franchises to taxicab operators on any terms that the council may deem advisable.

(b) When a city ordinance grants a taxi franchise for operation of a stated number of taxis within the city, the holder of the franchise shall report at least quarterly to the council the average number of taxis actually in operation during the preceding quarter. The council may amend a taxi franchise to reduce the number of authorized vehicles by the average number not in actual operation during the preceding quarter, and may transfer the unused allotment to another franchised operator. Such amendments of taxi franchises shall not be subject to G.S. 160A-76. Allotments of taxis among franchised operators may be transferred only by the city council, and it shall be unlawful for any franchised operator to sell, assign, or otherwise transfer allotments under a taxi franchise. (1943, c. 639, s. 1; 1945, c. 564, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1981, c. 412, s. 4; c. 606, s. 5; c. 747, s. 66; 1987, c. 777, s. 7; 2002-147, s. 14; 2003-65, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Most of the cases cited below were decided under former G.S. 160-200(35) and (36a).

The word "franchise" denotes a right or privilege conferred by law, that is, a special privilege conferred by government on an individual, natural or corporate, which is not enjoyed by its citizens generally, of common right. Ordinarily the grant of a franchise when accepted and acted on creates a contract which is binding on the grantor and the grantee. Hence, the grant of a franchise contemplates, and usually embraces, express conditions and stipulations as to standards of service, and so forth, which the grantee or holder of the franchise must perform. Victory Cab Co. v. City of Charlotte, 234 N.C. 572, 68 S.E.2d 433 (1951).

Ordinance Regulating Taxicabs Presumed to Be Valid. — In the exercise of their delegated power to license, regulate, and control the operators and drivers of taxicabs, it is the duty of the municipal authorities, in their sound discretion, to determine what ordinances or regulations are reasonably necessary for the protection of the public or the better government of the town; and when in the exercise of such discretion and ordinance is adopted, it is presumed to be valid, and the courts will not declare it invalid unless it is clearly shown to be so. State v. Stallings, 230 N.C. 252, 52 S.E.2d 901 (1949); Victory Cab Co. v. Shaw, 232 N.C. 138, 59 S.E.2d 573 (1950).

Former § 160-200(36a) did not authorize city to impose exactions on taxicabs beyond the limits fixed by § 20-97, subsections (a) and (b). Victory Cab Co. v. City of Charlotte, 234 N.C. 572, 68 S.E.2d 433 (1951).

Requiring Taxicab Drivers to Wear Distinctive Insignia. — It is not an unlawful, unreasonable, or arbitrary exercise of its delegated police power for a city to require, as a condition incident to the privilege of operating a taxicab on its streets, that the driver of such taxicab shall wear a distinctive cap or other insignia while operating same, to show that he is a duly licensed taxicab driver. Such a requirement would seem to be reasonable and a protection to the public against unlicensed drivers or operators. State v. Stallings, 230 N.C. 252, 52 S.E.2d 901 (1949).

Requiring Taxicab Operators to Secure Liability Insurance. — An ordinance requiring operators of taxicabs or other motor vehicles for hire to secure liability insurance or enter into bond with personal or corporate surety is a valid exercise of the police power and does not violate the U.S. Const., Amend. XIV, the operation of vehicles for gain being a special and extraordinary use of a city's streets, which the city has the power to condition by ordinance uniform upon all coming within the classification. Watkins v. Iseley, 209 N.C. 256, 183 S.E. 365 (1936).

Coverage of Indemnity Bond or Deposit. — An indemnity bond for a taxi corporation did not cover liability for injuries inflicted prior to the execution of the bond. Manheim v. Virginia Sur. Co., 215 N.C. 693, 3 S.E.2d 16 (1939).

Where a municipal ordinance required taxicab operators to deposit insurance, surety bonds, or cash or securities, conditioned upon the payment of a final judgment in favor of any person injured by the operation of a cab over the municipal streets, the cash or securities deposited for the operation of cabs under a stipulated trade name, filed with the municipality under an agreement pursuant to the ordinance, did not cover a final judgment for injuries to a garage mechanic from the negligent operation of the cab while on private garage premises. Perrell v. Beaty Serv. Co., 248 N.C. 153, 102 S.E.2d 785 (1958).

Cited in State v. Johnson, 42 N.C. App. 234, 256 S.E.2d 297 (1979).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Subdivision (a)(2) does not prohibit issuance of taxi operator's permit where the applicant therefor has a prior conviction for possession or sale of intoxicating liquors. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. Joe Chandler, City Attorney, Elizabethtown, N.C., 47 N.C.A.G. 74 (1977).

§ 160A-305. Agreements under National Highway Safety Act.

Any city is hereby authorized to enter into agreements with the State of North Carolina and its agencies, and with the federal government and its agencies, to secure the full benefits available to the city under the National Highway Safety Act of 1966, and to cooperate with State and federal agencies, other public and private agencies, interested organizations, and individuals, to effectuate the purposes of the act and subsequent amendments thereof. (1967, c. 1255; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-306. Building setback lines.

(a) A city shall have authority to (i) classify all or a portion of the streets in the city according to their size, present and anticipated traffic loads, and other characteristics relevant to the achievement of the purposes of this section, and (ii) establish by ordinance minimum distances that buildings and other permanent structures or improvements constructed along each class or type of street shall be set back from the right-of-way line or the center line of an existing or proposed street. Portions of any street may be classified in a manner different from other portions of the same street where the characteristics of the portions differ.

(b) Any setback line shall be designed

- (1) To promote the public safety by providing adequate sight distances for persons using the street and its sidewalks, lessening congestion in the street and sidewalks, facilitating the safe movement of vehicular and pedestrian traffic on the street and sidewalks and providing adequate fire lanes between buildings, and
- (2) To protect the public health by keeping dwellings and other structures an adequate distance from the dust, noise, and fumes created by traffic on the street and by insuring an adequate supply of light and air.

(c) A setback-line ordinance shall permit affected property owners to appeal to the council for variance or modification of setback requirements as they apply to a particular piece of property. The council may vary or modify the requirements upon a showing that

- (1) The peculiar nature of the property results in practical difficulties or unnecessary hardships that impede carrying out the strict letter of the requirement.
- (2) The property will not yield a reasonable return or cannot be put to reasonable use unless relief is granted, and
- (3) Balancing the public interest in enforcing the setback requirements and the interest of the owner, the grant of relief is required by considerations of justice and equity.

In granting relief, the council may impose reasonable and appropriate conditions and safeguards to protect the interest of neighboring properties. The council may delegate authority to hear appeals under setback-line ordinances to any authorized body to hear appeals under zoning ordinances. If this is done, appeal to the council from the board shall be governed by the same laws and rules as appeals from decisions granting or denying variances or modifications under the zoning ordinance. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1987, c. 747, ss. 13, 14.)

§ 160A-307. Curb cut regulations.

A city may by ordinance regulate the size, location, direction of traffic flow, and manner of construction of driveway connections into any street or alley. The ordinance may require the construction or reimbursement of the cost of construction and public dedication of medians, acceleration and deceleration lanes, and traffic storage lanes for driveway connections into any street or alley if:

(1) The need for such improvements is reasonably attributable to the traffic using the driveway; and

(2) The improvements serve the traffic of the driveway.

No street or alley under the control of the Department of Transportation may be improved without the consent of the Department of Transportation. However, if there is a conflict between the written driveway regulations of the Department of Transportation and the related driveway improvements required by the city, the more stringent requirement shall apply. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1987, c. 747, s. 16.)

§ 160A-308. Regulation of dune buggies.

A municipality may by ordinance regulate, restrict and prohibit the use of dune or beach buggies, jeeps, motorcycles, cars, trucks, or any other form of power-driven vehicle specified by the governing body of the municipality on the foreshore, beach strand and the barrier dune system. Violation of any ordinance adopted by the governing body of a municipality pursuant to this section is a Class 3 misdemeanor.

Provided, a municipality shall not prohibit the use of such specified vehicles from the foreshore, beach strand and barrier dune system by commercial fishermen for commercial activities. Commercial fishermen, however, shall abide by all other regulations or restrictions duly enacted by municipalities under this section. (1973, cc. 856, 1401; 1993, c. 539, s. 1086; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 14, s. 68; c. 24, s. 14(c).)

§ 160A-309. Intersection and roadway improvements.

A city may contract with a developer or property owner, or with a private party who is under contract with the developer or property owner, for public intersection or roadway improvements that are adjacent or ancillary to a private land development project. Such a contract is not subject to Article 8 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes if the public cost will not exceed two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) and the city or its designated agency determines that: (i) the public cost will not exceed the estimated cost of providing for those public intersection or roadway improvements through either eligible force account qualified labor or through a public contract let pursuant to Article 8 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes; or (ii) the coordination of separately constructed public intersection or roadway improvements, and the adjacent or ancillary private land development improvements would be impracticable. A city may enact ordinances and policies setting forth the procedures, requirements, and terms for agreements authorized by this section. (2005-426, s. 8(c).)

Funds for Local Government Water and Sewer Improvement Grants. — Session Laws 2007-323, s. 13.13A(a)-(p), provides: “(a) Allocation of Funds. — Of the funds appropriated in this act to the Rural Economic Development Center, Inc., (Rural Center) the sum of one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) for the 2007-2008 fiscal year shall be allocated as follows:

“(1) Up to $50,000,000 may be used to provide grants to local government units for wastewater-related projects under subsection (b) of this section.

“(2) Up to $50,000,000 may be used to provide grants to local government units for public water system-related projects under subsection (b) of this section.

“(b) Definitions. — The definitions in G.S. 159G-20 and the following definitions apply in this section. In addition, the following definitions shall apply in this section unless otherwise provided:

“(1) Ability to pay. — An assessment of the ability of a local government unit to pay for a water infrastructure project as calculated annually by the Division of Community Assistance in the Department of Commerce.

“(2) Economically distressed area. — Any of the following:

“a. An economically distressed county as defined in G.S. 143B-437.01.

“b. That part of a county in which the poverty rate is at least one hundred fifty percent (150%) of the State poverty rate. The poverty rate is the percentage of the population whose income is below the most recent federal poverty level set by the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

“c. That part of a county that experiences an actual or imminent loss of jobs in a number equal to or greater than five percent (5%) of the total number of jobs in the part.

“(3) Rural county. — A county with a population density of fewer than 250 people per square mile based on the most recent federal decennial census.

“(c) Eligible Applicants; Eligible Projects. — A local government unit is not eligible for a grant under subsection (a) of this section unless it meets the eligibility requirements under subsection (d) or subsection (e) of this section for that type of grant. The funds allocated under this section may be used to provide either a planning grant that meets the requirements under subsection (d) of this section or a supplemental grant that meets the requirements of subsection (e) of this section. The following projects are eligible for receiving a grant under this section:

“(1) Wastewater collection system.

“(2) Wastewater treatment works.

“(3) Public water system.

“(4) Wastewater and drinking water infrastructure planning.

“(5) Multi-jurisdictional wastewater, drinking water, water quality, and stormwater planning.

“(d) Planning Grants. — A planning grant under this section is available for the costs associated with preliminary planning for wastewater collection system projects, wastewater treatment works projects, and public water system projects. Preliminary planning includes developing a capital improvement plan, developing a comprehensive land-use plan, conducting a study, developing a regional or multi-jurisdictional infrastructure or water quality improvement plan, assembling a financing plan to carry out a project, completing a grant application, and preparing a preliminary engineering report for a proposed project. A planning grant is subject to the following restrictions:

“(1) Eligibility. — For purposes of this subsection, a regional council of government organized under G.S. 160A-460 or a regional planning and development commission organized under G.S. 153A-391 is considered a local government unit. A local government unit is eligible for a planning grant if it meets the following criteria:

“a. It is a rural county or is located in one of these counties.

“b. It is an economically distressed county or is located in an economically distressed county or an economically distressed area.

“c. It is applying for a regional or multi-jurisdictional planning project involving two or more units of local government.

“(2) Maximum. — A planning grant shall not exceed forty thousand dollars ($40,000) for each unit of local government.

“(3) Matching funds. — A local government unit shall match a planning grant on a dollar-for-dollar basis unless the unit meets one or more of the following descriptions, in which instance the Rural Center may require a match of less than fifty percent (50%):

“a. It is an economically distressed county or located in an economically distressed county.

“b. Its poverty rate is at least one hundred fifty percent (150%) of the State poverty rate.

“c. If it is not a county, its ability to pay is less than fifty percent (50%) of the ability to pay of the county in which it is located.

“(e) Supplemental Grants. — A supplemental grant is available to match other funds to be applied to the construction costs of an eligible project. Other funds include federal funds, State funds received under Article 2 of Chapter 159G of the General Statutes, and local funds. A supplemental grant is subject to the following restrictions:

“(1) Eligibility. — A local government unit is eligible for a supplemental grant if it meets the following criteria:

“a. It is a rural county or is located in one of these counties.

“b. It adopts a resolution to set the household user fee for water and sewer service in the area served by the project at an amount that equals or exceeds the high-unit-cost threshold.

“(2) Maximum. — A supplemental grant shall not exceed five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) unless the applicant meets one or more of these descriptions:

“a. It is an economically distressed county or is located in an economically distressed county.

“b. Its poverty rate is at least one hundred fifty percent (150%) of the State poverty rate.

“c. If it is not a county, its ability to pay is less than fifty percent (50%) of the ability to pay of the county in which it is located.

“(3) Matching funds. — A local government unit shall match a supplemental grant on a dollar-for-dollar basis unless the unit meets one or more of the following descriptions, in which instance the Rural Center may require a match of less than fifty percent (50%):

"a. It is an economically distressed county or is located in an economically distressed county.

"b. Its poverty rate is at least one hundred fifty percent (150%) of the State poverty rate.

"c. If it is not a county, its ability to pay is less than fifty percent (50%) of the ability to pay of the county in which it is located.

"(f) Criteria for Grants. — The criteria in G.S. 159G-23, the criteria set out in this section, and any other criteria established by the Board of Directors of the Rural Center shall apply to a grant provided under this section. An application for a project that serves an economically distressed area shall have priority over a project that does not.

"(g) Grant Applications. — Any application for a grant under this section shall be submitted by the local government unit to the Rural Center. An application shall be submitted on a form prescribed by the Rural Center, and shall contain the information required by the Rural Center. An applicant shall submit to the Rural Center, any additional information requested by the Rural Center to enable the Rural Center to make a determination on the application. An application that does not contain information required on the application or requested by the Rural Center is incomplete and is not eligible for consideration. An applicant may submit an application in as many categories as it is eligible for consideration under this section.

"(h) Environmental Assessment. — An application submitted under this section for any grant other than a planning grant for a project under subdivision (b)(4) or (b)(5) of this section shall state whether the project to be funded by the grant requires an environmental assessment. If the application indicates that an environmental assessment is not required, it must identify the exclusion in the North Carolina Environmental Policy Act, Article 1 of Chapter 113A of the General Statutes, that applies to the project. The Rural Center, shall give the Department of Environment and Natural Resources a copy of an application that indicates an environmental assessment is not required. If the Department of Environment and Natural Resources determines that the project requires an environmental assessment, the Department shall notify the Rural Center, and the applicant, and the applicant shall submit the assessment to the Department before the Center continues its review of the application.

"An application that does not identify an exclusion in the North Carolina Environmental Policy Act shall include the environmental assessment of the project's probable impacts on the environment that was submitted to the Department of Environment and Natural Resources. If the Department notifies the Rural Center that an environmental impact statement is required, the Rural Center shall not award the applicant a grant until a final environmental assessment impact statement has been completed and approved as provided in the Environmental Policy Act.

"(i) Review of Applications and Award of Grant. —

"(1) Point Assignment. — The Rural Center shall review all grant applications submitted under this section for an application period, to be determined by the Rural Center, and shall rank each application in accordance with the points assigned to the evaluation criteria. The Rural Center shall make a written determination of an application's rank and attach the determination to the application. The Rural Center's determination of rank is conclusive.

"(2) Reconsideration. — When an application's rank is too low to receive an award of a grant for the application period, the Rural Center may reconsider an amended application, provided the application addresses questions from the previous grant round.

"(3) Notification of Decision. — When the Rural Center determines that an application's rank makes it eligible for an award of a grant, the Rural Center shall send the applicant a letter of intent to award the grant. The notice shall set out any conditions the applicant must meet to receive an award of a grant. When the applicant satisfies the conditions set out in the letter of intent, the Rural Center shall send the applicant an offer to award a grant. The applicant shall give the Rural Center written notice of whether it accepts or rejects the offer. A grant is considered awarded the date the offer to award the grant is sent by the Rural Center.

"(j) Disbursement of Grant. — A planning grant awarded under this section may be disbursed in one payment. Other grants awarded under this section shall be disbursed in two or more payments based on the progress of the project for which the grant was awarded. To obtain a payment, a grant recipient shall submit a request for payment to the Rural Center and shall document the expenditures for which the payment is requested. The Rural Center shall review the payment request for compliance with all grant conditions.

"(k) Withdrawal of Grant. — An award for a grant for a project is withdrawn if the applicant fails to enter into a construction contract for the project within one year after the date of the award for supplemental grants under subsection (d) of this section, unless the Board of Directors of the Rural Center finds that the applicant has good cause for the failure. If the Rural Center finds good cause for an applicant's failure, the Rural Center shall set a date by which the applicant must take action or forfeit the grant. This subsection does not apply to a planning grant for a project under subdivision (b)(4) or (b)(5) of this section.

“(1) Authority. — The Rural Center may inspect a project for which it awards a grant under this section to determine the progress made on the project and whether the construction of the project is consistent with the project described in the grant application. The inspection may be performed by personnel of the Rural Center or by a professional engineer licensed under Chapter 89C of the General Statutes.

“(2) Disqualification. — An individual may not perform an inspection of a project under this section if the individual meets any of the following criteria:

“a. Is an officer or employee of the local government unit that received the grant award for the project.

“b. Is an owner, officer, employee, or agent of a contractor or subcontractor engaged in the construction of the project for which the grant was made.

“(m) The Rural Center may use a portion of the funds allocated under this section for administration, not to exceed two percent (2%), for the life of the grant program created by this section. Of these funds for administrative costs, the sum of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) may be used to fund the ongoing work of the State Water Infrastructure Commission in the 2007-2008 fiscal year.

“(n) Reporting Requirement. — The Rural Center shall report to the Joint Legislative Commission on Governmental Operations on a quarterly basis concerning the progress of the grant program created under this section. The first report is due no later than December 1, 2007.

“(o) Separate Accounts. — Each grant that is provided under this section shall be administered through a separate account.

“(p) Loans Prohibited. — The Rural Center shall not use the funds allocated under this section to make loans.”

Session Laws 2007-323, s. 1.2, provides: “This act shall be known as the ‘Current Operations and Capital Improvements Appropriations Act of 2007’.”

Session Laws 2007-323, s. 32.3, provides: “Except for statutory changes or other provisions that clearly indicate an intention to have effects beyond the 2007-2009 fiscal biennium, the textual provisions of this act apply only to funds appropriated for, and activities occurring during, the 2007-2009 fiscal biennium.”

CASE NOTES

Airports. — The provisions of Chapter 40A now control cities’ eminent domain actions with respect to airports. Smith v. City of Charlotte, 79 N.C. App. 517, 339 S.E.2d 844 (1986).

Cable Television System as “Public Purpose.” — The provisions of this article which authorize cities to finance, acquire, construct, own, and operate a cable television system do not violate the “public purpose” clause of N.C. Const., Art. V, § 2(1). Madison Cablevision, Inc. v. City of Morganton, 325 N.C. 634, 386 S.E.2d 200 (1989).

The establishment, financing, construction, operation, and maintenance of a cable television system by a municipality as authorized by this article involved a reasonable connection with the convenience and necessity of the city and benefited the public generally, as opposed to special interests or persons, and thus constituted a “public purpose” within the meaning of N.C. Const., Art. V, § 2(1). Madison Cablevision, Inc. v. City of Morganton, 325 N.C. 634, 386 S.E.2d 200 (1989).

The power to grant or to refuse to grant a franchise is vested solely in the governing body of the city; this power is essentially legislative in nature, and its exercise is discretionary. Madison Cablevision, Inc. v. City of Morganton, 325 N.C. 634, 386 S.E.2d 200 (1989).

Intent That Competition Be Displaced in Cable Television Service. — The powers conferred upon cities by the North Carolina General Statutes with respect to provision and franchising of cable television service reflect the clear contemplation that competition may be displaced with respect to this service. Madison Cablevision, Inc. v. City of Morganton, 325 N.C. 634, 386 S.E.2d 200 (1989).

No Violation of Chapter 75. — Municipal ownership and operation of cable television systems does not violate Chapter 75 which relates to monopolies. Madison Cablevision, Inc. v. City of Morganton, 325 N.C. 634, 386 S.E.2d 200 (1989).

Defendant city was not immune from tort liability in the operation of its sewer system and was answerable to plaintiffs for any negligent act which may have caused them injury and damage. Pulliam v. City of Greensboro, 103 N.C. App. 748, 407 S.E.2d 567, cert. denied, 330 N.C. 197, 412 S.E.2d 59 (1991).

City which owned sewage treatment facility located in county and outside city's boundaries was not required to comply with county's zoning ordinances in upgrading the facility and providing sewage service to newly annexed areas of city with that facility. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 85 N.C. App. 26, 354 S.E.2d 280, modified and aff'd, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Since county had no authority to restrict or regulate city's provision of sewer service to its residents, the city could use city-owned sewage treatment plant located outside the city but within the county, which was upgraded pursuant to the county's special use permit, with a condition attached to the permit requiring the county's prior approval of service to county citizens, to meet its statutory mandate to provide sewer service to residents in newly annexed areas without seeking the county's prior approval, even though the facility was located in the county. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Authority to Impose Impact and Tap Fees. — Town of Wrightsville Beach had the authority to impose utility system impact fees and tap fees for water and sewer services under the public enterprise statute and no specific enabling legislation was necessary; section 160A-314(a) makes no distinction between increasing rates, rents, or fees in order to raise the money necessary for capital improvements, and there is no language in the statute limiting a town's authority to impose fees for the use of the services as a method of raising money for capital expansion or requiring that a town only increase rates for the services furnished to fund such improvements; thus, under G.S. 160A-314 the Town could increase fees, rates or both to raise money needed. South Shell Inv. v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 703 F. Supp. 1192 (E.D.N.C. 1988), aff'd, 900 F.2d 255 (4th Cir. 1990).

City's Stormwater Management Program Exceeded Statutory Authority. — Durham city ordinance, designed to satisfy the EPA's National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System's permit requirements required by the Water Quality Act's demands for pollution control of stormwater discharges into public waters, and fees thereunder, exceeded its enabling authority as laid out by this section and G.S. 160A-314(a1). Smith Chapel Baptist Church v. City of Durham, 350 N.C. 805, 517 S.E.2d 874 (1999). (decided prior to 2000 amendment).

Authority to Expand a Sewer System. — A condemnation procedure was proper where the condemnation satisfied the public use and public benefit test as all city residents, including the landowners whose property was being condemned, and provided an equal right to connect to the expanded sewer system, which was an essential service. Tucker v. City of Kannapolis, 159 N.C. App. 174, 582 S.E.2d 697, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1442 (2003).

City's operation of a fiber optics network is a cable television system authorized to be owned and operated as a public enterprise. BellSouth Telecomms., Inc. v. City of Laurinburg, 168 N.C. App. 75, 606 S.E.2d 721, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 164, cert. denied, — N.C. —, 615 S.E.2d 660, cert. denied, 359 N.C. 629, — S.E.2d — (2005).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Ownership and Operation of Private For-Profit Corporation. — The authority of a city to hold property granted by G.S. 160A-11 should not be interpreted to authorize a city to act as a shareholder of a private for-profit corporation organized under the provisions of Chapter 55, and to appoint city officials and employees as corporate directors or officers. See opinion of the Attorney General to H. Michael Boyd, Deputy City Attorney, City of Charlotte, 60 N.C.A.G. 114 (1992).

While there may be authority for a city to purchase all of the stock of a corporation which owns and operates a water and sewer system, there is no authority to operate and continue the existence of a private for-profit corporation which is outside of the traditional functions of a municipality and for which there is no judicial or legislative approval. See opinion of the Attorney General to H. Michael Boyd, Deputy City Attorney, City of Charlotte, 60 N.C.A.G. 114 (1992).

§ 160A-312. Authority to operate public enterprises.

(a) A city shall have authority to acquire, construct, establish, enlarge, improve, maintain, own, operate, and contract for the operation of any or all of the public enterprises as defined in this Article to furnish services to the city and its citizens. Subject to Part 2 of this Article, a city may acquire, construct, establish, enlarge, improve, maintain, own, and operate any public enterprise outside its corporate limits, within reasonable limitations, but in no case shall a city be held liable for damages to those outside the corporate limits for failure to furnish any public enterprise service.

(b) A city shall have full authority to protect and regulate any public enterprise system belonging to or operated by it by adequate and reasonable rules. The rules shall be adopted by ordinance, shall apply to the public enterprise system both within and outside the corporate limits of the city, and may be enforced with the remedies available under any provision of law.

(c) A city may operate that part of a gas system involving the purchase and/or lease of natural gas fields, natural gas reserves and natural gas supplies and the surveying, drilling or any other activities related to the exploration for natural gas, in a partnership or joint venture arrangement with natural gas utilities and private enterprise. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 51; 1975, c. 821, s. 5; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 29; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 836, s. 1.)

I. IN GENERAL.

Editor’s Note. — Many of the cases below were decided under former similar provisions.

Section Contemplates Anticompetitive Activity. — This section grants cities the authority to acquire, construct, maintain, improve, own, operate, and regulate sewage collection systems of all types, and additionally, the North Carolina scheme explicitly contemplates anticompetitive activity because it expressly authorizes cities to require those within its limits to use its sewer facilities. Therefore, the North Carolina legislature contemplated anticompetitive conduct by cities respecting sewage services within city limits. Pinehurst Enters., Inc. v. Town of S. Pines, 690 F. Supp. 444 (M.D.N.C. 1988), aff'd, 887 F.2d 1080 (4th Cir. 1989).

The term "reasonable limitations" does not refer solely to the territorial extent of city's venture, but embraces all facts and circumstances which affect the reasonableness of the venture. Quality Water Supply, Inc. v. City of Wilmington, 97 N.C. App. 400, 388 S.E.2d 608, cert. denied, 326 N.C. 598, 393 S.E.2d 881 (1990).

Municipality Promulgates Regulations as Agent of General Assembly. — Since this section gives a municipality the authority to regulate by reasonable rules any public enterprise belonging to the municipality, a municipality in promulgating such regulations acts merely as an agent of the General Assembly. City of Wilson v. Carolina Bldrs. of Wilson, Inc., 94 N.C. App. 117, 379 S.E.2d 712 (1989).

The courts cannot inquire into the motives which prompted a municipality to enact an ordinance which is valid on its face, and they cannot frustrate the operation of such an ordinance by judicial action. City of Wilson v. Carolina Bldrs. of Wilson, Inc., 94 N.C. App. 117, 379 S.E.2d 712 (1989).

No liability for Failure to Furnish Sufficient Water or Light. — A city which owns a municipal light and waterworks system and operates the same in its governmental capacity cannot be held liable in damages for failure to furnish a sufficient supply of either water or light. Harrington v. Town of Greenville, 159 N.C. 632, 75 S.E. 849 (1912); Howland v. City of Asheville, 174 N.C. 749, 94 S.E. 524 (1917); Mabe v. City of Winston-Salem, 190 N.C. 486, 130 S.E. 169 (1925).

II. GARBAGE SERVICE.

No Obligation to Provide Garbage Service. — A municipality may provide the service of collecting and removing garbage as an exercise of police powers delegated to it, but is under no compulsion to provide such service. Big Bear of N.C., Inc. v. City of High Point, 294 N.C. 262, 240 S.E.2d 422 (1978).

Rates Charged for Garbage Service. — A municipality which provides garbage collection services may impose a charge reasonably commensurate with the cost of this service upon the householder or building occupant. Under proper classification, the rates charged need not be uniform, and a business may be charged at a rate different from individuals. Big Bear of N.C., Inc. v. City of High Point, 294 N.C. 262, 240 S.E.2d 422 (1978).

Municipality need not provide garbage collection services to one who refuses to pay the charge imposed, and may discontinue this service in the event of nonpayment. Big Bear of N.C., Inc. v. City of High Point, 294 N.C. 262, 240 S.E.2d 422 (1978).

III. WATER AND SEWAGE SERVICE.

County Zoning Ordinances Inapplicable to Municipal Facility. — City which owned a sewage treatment facility located in a county and outside the city's boundaries was not required to comply with county's zoning ordinances in upgrading the facility and providing sewage service to newly annexed areas of city with that facility. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 85 N.C. App. 26, 354 S.E.2d 280, modified and aff'd, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Since county had no authority to restrict or regulate city's provision of sewer service to its residents, the city could use city-owned sewage treatment plant located outside the city but within the county, which was upgraded pursuant to the county's special use permit, with a condition attached to the permit requiring the county's prior approval of service to county citizens, to meet its statutory mandate to provide sewer service to residents in newly annexed areas without seeking the county's prior approval, even though the facility was located in the county. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

A municipality owes no duty to supply water to a resident for resale to others either within or without its limits. Fulghum v. Town of Selma, 238 N.C. 100, 76 S.E.2d 368 (1953).

Construction of a sewerage system is a governmental function. McCombs v. City of Asheboro, 6 N.C. App. 234, 170 S.E.2d 169 (1969).

And Municipality Is Not Liable for Personal Injuries Resulting from Construction of Sewerage System. — A municipal corporation is performing a governmental function when engaged in construction of a sewerage system and is not liable for personal injuries resulting from the alleged negligent acts of its employees in such construction, notwithstanding the municipality charges for sewage and sanitary services which it furnishes its citizens. A municipality will not lose its governmental immunity solely because it is engaged in an activity which makes a profit, the test being whether the act is for the common good of all without the element of special corporate benefit or pecuniary profit. McCombs v. City of Asheboro, 6 N.C. App. 234, 170 S.E.2d 169 (1969).

Or for Injuries to Health Resulting from Its Construction and Maintenance. — In the construction and maintenance of a sewer or drainage system, a municipal corporation exercises a part of the governmental powers of the State for the customary local convenience and benefit of all the people, and in the exercise of these discretionary functions the municipality cannot be required to respond in damages to individuals for injury to health, resulting either from omissions to act or the mode of exercising the power conferred on it for public purposes to be used at discretion for the public good. McCombs v. City of Asheboro, 6 N.C. App. 234, 170 S.E.2d 169 (1969).

Maintenance of a free public sewer system by a city is an exercise of its police power for the public benefit, so that a city would not be liable for the death of a citizen from illness caused by the pollution of a stream by the sewer which emptied into it. Metz v. City of Asheville, 150 N.C. 748, 64 S.E. 881, 22 L.R.A. (n.s.) 940 (1909).

But May Be Liable for Damages to Property. — In actions brought to recover damages for injury to property and person by reason of the alleged negligent maintenance of a sewerage system, recovery has been allowed for damage to property on the theory of the creation of a nuisance and the taking of property. McCombs v. City of Asheboro, 6 N.C. App. 234, 170 S.E.2d 169 (1969).

A municipal corporation, empowered to construct and maintain a sewerage system, may not exercise its power in such a way as to create a private nuisance without making compensation for the injury inflicted, or being liable in damages therefor or subject to equitable restraint in a proper case, and it is a nuisance to pollute a stream by emptying sewage therein. Moser v. City of Burlington, 162 N.C. 141, 78 S.E. 74 (1913).

Sewer Excavations Not Attractive Nuisance. — Municipalities must build sewers and other conduits necessitating the making of excavations. This creates some obvious danger, but is not categorized as an attractive nuisance. McCombs v. City of Asheboro, 6 N.C. App. 234, 170 S.E.2d 169 (1969).

Fluoridation of Water Supply. — An ordinance for fluoridation of the city water supply is enacted in the exercise of public policy, and the courts will not interfere therewith in the absence of a showing that the ordinance is so unreasonable, oppressive, and subversive as to amount to an abuse rather than a legitimate exercise of the legislative power. Stroue v. Eller, 262 N.C. 573, 138 S.E.2d 240 (1964).

Utilities Had Standing to Challenge City's Provision of Water to Subdivision. — Plaintiff utilities which, by virtue of their contiguity to subdivision were in a superior position to any other utility in the area to provide service to the development since no other competitor would be able to provide for subdivision without first obtaining a certificate, and in the event that another company sought a certificate, plaintiffs would be afforded the opportunity to contest the application, had a legitimate expectation of entitlement sufficient to give them a protectible interest so as to challenge city's provision of water to the subdivision. Quality Water Supply, Inc. v. City of Wilmington, 97 N.C. App. 400, 388 S.E.2d 608, cert. denied, 326 N.C. 598, 393 S.E.2d 881 (1990).

City's extension of service to private subdivision beyond its corporate limits was within the reasonable limitations requirement of this section. Quality Water Supply, Inc. v. City of Wilmington, 97 N.C. App. 400, 388 S.E.2d 608, cert. denied, 326 N.C. 598, 393 S.E.2d 881 (1990).

Annexation of Area Served by Private Water or Sewer Lines. — Where there is no contract or municipal ordinance involved, and the territory served by private water or sewer lines is annexed to a municipality, the owner of the lines may not recover the value thereof from the municipality unless it appropriates them and controls them as proprietor. Covington v. City of Rockingham, 266 N.C. 507, 146 S.E.2d 420 (1966).

Maintenance of private water or sewer lines upon annexation as a voluntary act on the part of the city does not amount to a taking of the property. Covington v. City of Rockingham, 266 N.C. 507, 146 S.E.2d 420 (1966).

Town Authorized to Extend Water Lines. — When the water service being provided by plaintiff water service to annexed area was no longer equal to the water service being provided by the town to other areas within the municipal boundaries, the town had the authority, pursuant to this section, to extend its water lines to the annexed area. Carolina Water Serv., Inc. v. Town of Atlantic Beach, 121

N.C. App. 23, 464 S.E.2d 317 (1995).

By offering water users in annexed area with the option, rather than requirement, to connect to the town's water system at reduced fees, the town was simply providing those users with the same opportunity as it had historically given to water users in other areas to which it had extended service. Carolina Water Serv., Inc. v. Town of Atlantic Beach, 121 N.C. App. 23, 464 S.E.2d 317 (1995).

City Authorized to Expand Sewer System. — A condemnation procedure was proper because the intended use of the condemnation satisfied the public use and public benefit test as all city residents, including the landowners whose property was being condemned, and provided an equal right to connect to the expanded sewer system, which was an essential service. Tucker v. City of Kannapolis, 159 N.C. App. 174, 582 S.E.2d 697, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1442 (2003).

IV. ELECTRIC SERVICE.

The clause "Subject to Part 2 of this Article" refers to those situations where a city extending its electric lines outside its corporate limits necessarily begins construction within its corporate limits. When a city extending service outside its corporate limits constructs lines beginning at some point within its corporate limits, then pursuant to this section and G.S. 160A-332, such lines as are within the city limits may not infringe on the guaranteed corridor rights of a secondary supplier. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 69 N.C. App. 378, 317 S.E.2d 701, cert. denied, 312 N.C. 82, 321 S.E.2d 895 (1984).

Under current legislation, the absolute right of a secondary supplier to serve customers within its 300-foot corridor arises upon the effective date of annexation, statutorily defined as the "determination date." If the legislature determines that the corridor rights of a secondary supplier deserve protection before the effective date of annexation, then it can guarantee such rights by defining the "determination date" when such rights arise as the date an annexation ordinance is adopted rather than the date an annexation plan is effected. Unless and until such time arises, the Supreme Court precedent in relying solely on this section in determining whether a city has legislative authority to extend its lines will be followed. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 69 N.C. App. 378, 317 S.E.2d 701, cert. denied, 312 N.C. 82, 321 S.E.2d 895 (1984).

The first sentence of this section grants a city absolute authority without limitation or restriction to provide electric service for the benefit of the city itself and its citizens. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 69 N.C. App. 378, 317 S.E.2d 701, cert. denied, 312 N.C. 82, 321 S.E.2d 895 (1984).

This section does not affect a city's right to furnish electric service to a newly annexed territory within its corporate limits. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 69 N.C. App. 378, 317 S.E.2d 701, cert. denied, 312 N.C. 82, 321 S.E.2d 895 (1984).

A city's rights under this section are not subject to the provisions of §§ 160A-331 to 160A-338. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 69 N.C. App. 378, 317 S.E.2d 701, cert. denied, 312 N.C. 82, 321 S.E.2d 895 (1984).

Only Limits on City Are Reasonable Limits. — Since a municipality is not an "electric supplier" as that term is used in section 62-110.2 its public works commission is not prohibited from supplying electric service to a customer outside city's limits, so long as its extension of service is within "reasonable limitations," as provided for in this section. South River Elec. Membership Corp. v. City of Fayetteville, 113 N.C. App. 401, 438 S.E.2d 464, cert. denied, 336 N.C. 74, 445 S.E.2d 38 (1994).

V. EXTENSION OF SERVICES OUTSIDE CORPORATE LIMITS.

Right to Operate Utilities Beyond Corporate Boundaries Within Reasonable Limitations. — A municipality is authorized to construct and operate utilities for the benefit of the public beyond its corporate boundaries within reasonable limitations. If the authority was not thus limited this section would contravene fundamental law. Public Serv. Co. v. City of Shelby, 252 N.C. 816, 115 S.E.2d 12 (1960).

The term "reasonable limitations" does not refer solely to the territorial extent of the venture, but embraces all facts and circumstances which affect the reasonableness of the venture. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974); Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp. v. City of Fayetteville, 309 N.C. 726, 309 S.E.2d 209 (1983); Morgan v. Town of Hertford, 70 N.C. App. 725, 321 S.E.2d 170 (1984).

Right to Distribute Electricity Beyond Corporate Limits. — A municipality has the power to purchase, generate, or distribute electricity for its own use and the use of its inhabitants, and is given legislative authority to extend its lines beyond its corporate limits for the purpose of selling electricity to nonresidents; therefore, a complaint in an action against a municipality alleging injury from negligent maintenance of power lines outside the corporate limits was not demurrable on the ground that the alleged negligence of its officers and employees was ultra vires. Kennerly v. Town of Dallas, 215 N.C. 532, 2 S.E.2d 538 (1939).

A municipal corporation engaged in the production and distribution of electric power is authorized to extend this service to consumers outside its corporate limits, and this would confer authority on a city to construct and operate transmission lines for the distribution of electric current for the benefit of the public beyond its corporate boundaries within reasonable limitations. But if from lawful competition the town's business is curtailed, it would seem that no actionable wrong would result, nor would the town be entitled to injunctive relief therefrom. Town of Grimesland v. City of Washington, 234 N.C. 117, 66 S.E.2d 794 (1951).

Section Provides Sole Authority Therefor. — This section provides the sole authority for and restriction upon municipalities furnishing electric service outside corporate limits. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. VEPCO, 310 N.C. 302, 311 S.E.2d 586 (1984); Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 69 N.C. App. 378, 317 S.E.2d 701, cert. denied, 312 N.C. 82, 321 S.E.2d 895 (1984).

This section vests municipalities with a right to serve potential new customers outside its corporate limits so long as this extension of service is within reasonable limitations. State ex rel. Utilities Comm'n v. VEPCO, 310 N.C. 302, 311 S.E.2d 586 (1984).

Operation of Electric System Outside Municipality. — The 1965 Electric Act, appearing in G.S. 160A-331 through 160A-338 and G.S. 62-110.2, does not empower or authorize municipalities to operate electric systems outside corporate limits, nor does it restrict such service. Insofar as the General Statutes are concerned, the sole authority for, and the only restriction upon municipalities furnishing electric service outside corporate limits is found in this section. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp. v. City of Fayetteville, 309 N.C. 726, 309 S.E.2d 209 (1983).

For analysis of the dichotomy between a city's rights to extend electric service outside city limits under this section and its rights to extend such service within city limits under G.S. 160A-331 to 160A-338, see Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 69 N.C. App. 378, 317 S.E.2d 701, cert. denied, 312 N.C. 82, 321 S.E.2d 895 (1984).

For case holding that extension of city's electric system across city limits exceeded "reasonable limitations," see Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

Effect of Utilities Commission's Assignment of Area to Electric Suppliers. — The Utilities Commission's assignment of an area to an electric supplier does not automatically preclude a city from extending its service lines into the area. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

All municipalities have been given the right to extend water and sewer facilities beyond the corporate limits of the municipality.

Upchurch v. City of Raleigh, 252 N.C. 676, 114 S.E.2d 772 (1960).

Municipalities have legislative permission to extend their sewer and water lines beyond corporate boundaries. Such extensions may be made either because necessary to the effective operation of the improvement within the city, or to provide services for a profit beyond the corporate limits. Eakley v. City of Raleigh, 252 N.C. 683, 114 S.E.2d 777 (1960).

Extension of Water and Sewer Facilities for Profit Requires Vote. — A municipality has the power to extend funds for the construction and operation of water and sewer facilities without a vote when such facilities are for the benefit of the citizens of the municipality, but extension of such facilities outside its corporate limits for the purpose of profit is a proprietary function requiring a vote of its citizens. Eakley v. City of Raleigh, 252 N.C. 683, 114 S.E.2d 777 (1960).

Right to Impose Conditions on Furnishing Water and Sewer Service outside Corporate Limits. — Since it is optional with the city as to whether or not it will furnish water to residents outside its corporate limits and permit such residents to connect their sewer facilities with the sewerage system of the city, or with any other sewerage system which connects with the city system, it may fix the terms upon which the service may be rendered and its facilities used. George v. City of Asheville, 80 F.2d 50, 103 A.L.R. 568 (4th Cir. 1935); Williamson v. City of High Point, 213 N.C. 96, 195 S.E. 90 (1938); Kennerly v. Town of Dallas, 215 N.C. 532, 2 S.E.2d 538 (1939); Atlantic Constr. Co. v. City of Raleigh, 230 N.C. 365, 53 S.E.2d 165 (1949).

A municipality which operates its own waterworks is under no duty in the first instance to furnish water to persons outside its limits. It has the discretionary power, however, to engage in this undertaking. When a municipality exercises this discretionary power, it does not assume the obligations of a public service corporation toward nonresident consumers. It retains the authority to specify the terms upon which nonresidents may obtain its water. Fulghum v. Town of Selma, 238 N.C. 100, 76 S.E.2d 368 (1953).

Duty of Equal Service in Furnishing Water Owed Only to Consumers within Corporate Limits. — When a municipality engages in supplying water to its inhabitants, it owes the duty of equal service in furnishing water only to consumers within its corporate limits. Fulghum v. Town of Selma, 238 N.C. 100, 76 S.E.2d 368 (1953).

The factors used to ascertain whether an extension of service is reasonable are the electric providers' current levels of service in the area in question, particularly in the immediate vicinity of the potential customer, and the present readiness, willingness, and ability of each to serve the potential customer. South River Elec. Membership Corp. v. City of Fayetteville, 113 N.C. App. 401, 438 S.E.2d 464, cert. denied, 336 N.C. 74, 445 S.E.2d 38 (1994).

City's operation of a fiber optics network is a cable television system authorized to be owned and operated as a public enterprise. BellSouth Telecomms., Inc. v. City of Laurinburg, 168 N.C. App. 75, 606 S.E.2d 721, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 164, cert. denied, — N.C. —, 615 S.E.2d 660, cert. denied, 359 N.C. 629, — S.E.2d — (2005).

Ownership and Operation of Private For-Profit Corporation. — The authority of a city to hold property granted by G.S. 160A-11 should not be interpreted to authorize a city to act as a shareholder of a private for-profit corporation organized under the provisions of Chapter 55, and to appoint city officials and employees as corporate directors or officers. See opinion of the Attorney General to H. Michael Boyd, Deputy City Attorney, City of Charlotte, 60 N.C.A.G. 114 (1992).

Approval for Condemnation Not Required. — Summary judgment was properly entered in a declaratory action regarding the applicability of G.S. 153A-15(b) because a condemnation action by a city in order to facilitate the construction of a water supply and distribution facility did not require any approval since the city and the land were located in the same county; moreover, the evidence showed that the real and substantial benefits of the condemnation accrued to the city in question, and not other parties in the case that were located in different counties. Caswell County v. Town of Yanceyville, 170 N.C. App. 124, 611 S.E.2d 451, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 898 (2005).

§ 160A-313. Financing public enterprise.

Subject to the restrictions, limitations, procedures, and regulations otherwise provided by law, a city shall have full authority to finance the cost of any public enterprise by levying taxes, borrowing money, and appropriating any other revenues therefor, and by accepting and administering gifts and grants from any source on behalf thereof. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Town had authority to impose impact and tap fees under this section and G.S. 160A-314(a). South Shell Inv. v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 703 F. Supp. 1192 (E.D.N.C. 1988), aff'd, 900 F.2d 255 (4th Cir. 1990).

Town of Wrightsville Beach had the authority to impose utility system impact fees and tap fees for water and sewer services under the public enterprise statute and no specific enabling legislation was necessary; section 160A-314(a) makes no distinction between increasing rates, rents, or fees in order to raise the money necessary for capital improvements, and there is no language in the statute limiting a town's authority to impose fees for the use of the services as a method of raising money for capital expansion or requiring that a town only increase rates for the services furnished to fund such improvements; thus, under G.S. 160A-313 the town could increase fees, rates or both to raise money needed. South Shell Inv. v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 703 F. Supp. 1192 (E.D.N.C. 1988), aff'd, 900 F.2d 255 (4th Cir. 1990).

§ 160A-314. Authority to fix and enforce rates.

(a) A city may establish and revise from time to time schedules of rents, rates, fees, charges, and penalties for the use of or the services furnished by any public enterprise. Schedules of rents, rates, fees, charges, and penalties may vary according to classes of service, and different schedules may be adopted for services provided outside the corporate limits of the city.

(a1)(1) Before it establishes or revises a schedule of rates, fees, charges, or penalties for stormwater management programs and structural and natural stormwater and drainage systems under this section, the city council shall hold a public hearing on the matter. A notice of the hearing shall be given at least once in a newspaper having general circulation in the area, not less than seven days before the public hearing. The hearing may be held concurrently with the public hearing on the proposed budget ordinance.

- (2) The fees established under this subsection must be made applicable throughout the area of the city. Schedules of rates, fees, charges, and penalties for providing stormwater management programs and structural and natural stormwater and drainage system service may vary according to whether the property served is residential, commercial, or industrial property, the property's use, the size of the property, the area of impervious surfaces on the property, the quantity and quality of the runoff from the property, the characteristics of the watershed into which stormwater from the property drains, and other factors that affect the stormwater drainage system. Rates, fees, and charges imposed under this subsection may not exceed the city's cost of providing a stormwater management program and a structural and natural stormwater and drainage system. The city's cost of providing a stormwater management program and a structural and natural stormwater and drainage system includes any costs necessary to assure that all aspects of stormwater quality and quantity are managed in accordance with federal and State laws, regulations, and rules.
- (3) No stormwater utility fee may be levied under this subsection whenever two or more units of local government operate separate stormwater management programs or separate structural and natural stormwater and drainage system services in the same area within a county. However, two or more units of local government may allocate among themselves the functions, duties, powers, and responsibilities for jointly operating a stormwater management program and structural and natural stormwater and drainage system service in the same area within a county, provided that only one unit may levy a fee for the service within the joint service area. For purposes of this subsection, a unit of local government shall include a regional authority providing stormwater management programs and structural and natural stormwater and drainage system services.

(a2) A fee for the use of a disposal facility provided by the city may vary based on the amount, characteristics, and form of recyclable materials present in solid waste brought to the facility for disposal. This section does not prohibit a city from providing aid to low-income persons to pay all or part of the cost of solid waste management services for those persons.

(b) A city shall have power to collect delinquent accounts by any remedy provided by law for collecting and enforcing private debts, and may specify by ordinance the order in which partial payments are to be applied among the various enterprise services covered by a bill for the services. A city may also discontinue service to any customer whose account remains delinquent for more than 10 days. When service is discontinued for delinquency, it shall be unlawful for any person other than a duly authorized agent or employee of the city to do any act that results in a resumption of services. If a delinquent customer is not the owner of the premises to which the services are delivered, the payment of the delinquent account may not be required before providing services at the request of a new and different tenant or occupant of the premises, but this restriction shall not apply when the premises are occupied by two or more tenants whose services are measured by the same meter.

(c) Except as provided in subsection (d) of this section and G.S. 160A-314.1, rents, rates, fees, charges, and penalties for enterprisory services shall be legal obligations of the person contracting for them, and shall in no case be a lien upon the property or premises served, provided that no contract shall be necessary in the case of structural and natural stormwater and drainage systems.

(d) Rents, rates, fees, charges, and penalties for enterprisory services shall be legal obligations of the owner of the premises served when:

(1) The property or premises is leased or rented to more than one tenant and services rendered to more than one tenant are measured by the same meter.

(2) Charges made for use of a sewage system are billed separately from charges made for the use of a water distribution system.

(e) Nothing in this section shall repeal any portion of any city charter inconsistent herewith. (1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1991, c. 591, s. 1; c. 652, s. 4; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 1007, s. 46; 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 594, s. 28; 2000-70, s. 4.)

Local Modification. — City of Charlotte: 1998-66; city of Dunn: 1991, c. 502; city of Durham: 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 925; city of Gastonia: 1991, c. 557, s. 1; city of Reidsville: 1983, c. 125; 1989 (Reg. CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Some of the cases cited below were decided under former similar provisions.

A municipality is authorized to establish and revise rates for water and sewer services. Mulberry-Fairplains Water Ass'n v. Town of N. Wilkesboro, 105 N.C. App. 258, 412 S.E.2d 910, cert. denied, 332 N.C. 148, 419 S.E.2d 573 (1992).

A municipality may establish a charge for sewerage service and require all its water customers to pay for such service whether such customers live within or without the corporate limits of such municipality. Covington v. City of Rockingham, 266 N.C. 507, 146 S.E.2d 420 (1966).

And Such Charge Is Not in the Nature of a Tax. — A properly adopted ordinance of a municipality establishing a sewerage service charge is not in the nature of a tax for the use of the users' sewer facilities, but a charge for the use of the sewer facilities of the municipality in the disposal of polluted water and sewage which drains into the disposal system of the municipality. Covington v. City of Rockingham, 266 N.C. 507, 146 S.E.2d 420 (1966).

Setting of Rates for Water and Sewerage as Proprietary Function. — Setting of rates and charges for water and sewer services furnished by a municipality to its customers is a proprietary function, subject only to limitations imposed upon such action by statute or contractual obligation assumed in such actions. Town of Spring Hope v. Bisette, 53 N.C. App. 210, 280 S.E.2d 490 (1981), aff'd, 305 N.C. 248, 287 S.E.2d 851 (1982).

Since this section expressly authorizes a city to base its stormwater utility (SWU) fees on the impervious area of a piece of property, the rate scheme enacted by the City of Durham pursuant to its SWU ordinance was rationally related to the amount of runoff from each lot and was not an arbitrary exercise of the city's statutory authority. Smith Chapel Baptist Church v. City of Durham, 350 N.C. 805, 517 S.E.2d 874 (1999). (decided prior to 2000 amendment).

City's Stormwater Management Program Exceeded Statutory Authority. — Durham city ordinance, designed to satisfy the EPA's National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System's permit requirements required by the Water Quality Act's demands for pollution control of stormwater discharges into public waters, and fees thereunder, exceeded its enabling authority as laid out by G.S. 160A-311 and subsection (a1) of this section. Smith Chapel Baptist Church v. City of Durham, 350 N.C. 805, 517 S.E.2d 874 (1999). (decided prior to 2000 amendment).

Landowners Entitled to Refund Where Ordinance and Fees Were Illegal. — Where city's stormwater utility ordinance and fees charged thereunder were invalid as a matter of law, plaintiffs were entitled to a full refund of the illegally collected fees, plus interest on those fees to the date of judgment. Smith Chapel Baptist Church v. City of Durham, 350 N.C. 805, 517 S.E.2d 874 (1999). (decided prior to 2000 amendment).

Not Invalidated by Courts Absent Arbitrary or Discriminatory Action. — Setting of rates and charges for water and sewer services furnished by a municipality is a matter for the judgment and discretion of municipal authorities, not to be invalidated by the courts absent some showing of arbitrary or discriminatory action. Town of Spring Hope v. Bissette, 53 N.C. App. 210, 280 S.E.2d 490 (1981), aff'd, 305 N.C. 248, 287 S.E.2d 851 (1982).

Test of Arbitrariness. — Test is not whether any particular customer has directly benefited from the use of a discrete or particular component of the utility plant, but whether the municipal authority has acted arbitrarily in establishing its rates. Town of Spring Hope v. Bissette, 53 N.C. App. 210, 280 S.E.2d 490 (1981), aff'd, 305 N.C. 248, 287 S.E.2d 851 (1982).

Inclusion in Rates of Capital Costs of Improvement. — Great weight of authority is to the effect that in the setting of rates and charges for water and sewer services a municipal body may include not only operating expenses and depreciation, but also capital costs associated with actual or anticipated growth or improvement of the facilities required for the furnishing of such services. Town of Spring Hope v. Bissette, 53 N.C. App. 210, 280 S.E.2d 490 (1981), aff'd, 305 N.C. 248, 287 S.E.2d 851 (1982).

Propriety of Rates Calculated to Recoup Costs of New Facilities Not Yet in Use. — Where the costs of necessary new facilities constructed to serve a municipality's customers are known or are predictable, rates calculated to begin recoupment of those costs are not unlawful or illegal merely because the new facilities have not yet been put into actual use. Town of Spring Hope v. Bissette, 53 N.C. App. 210, 280 S.E.2d 490 (1981), aff'd, 305 N.C. 248, 287 S.E.2d 851 (1982).

Right to Classify Consumers Under Reasonable Classifications. — The statutory authority of a city to fix and enforce rates for its services and to classify its customers is not a license to discriminate among customers of essentially the same character and services. Rather, this section must be read as a codification of the general rule that a city has the right to classify consumers under reasonable classifications based upon such factors as the cost of service or any other matter which presents a substantial difference as a ground of distinction. Town of Taylorsville v. Modern Cleaners, 34 N.C. App. 146, 237 S.E.2d 484 (1977).

No License to Discriminate. — The statutory authority of a city to fix and enforce rates for public services furnished by it and to classify its customers is not a license to discriminate among customers of essentially the same character and services. Wall v. City of Durham, 41 N.C. App. 649, 255 S.E.2d 739, cert. denied, 298 N.C. 304, 259 S.E.2d 918 (1979).

A public utility, whether publicly or privately owned, may not discriminate in the distribution of services or the establishment of rates. There must be substantial differences in service or conditions to justify differences in rates. There must be no unreasonable discrimination between those receiving the same kind and degree of service. Cabarrus County v. City of Charlotte, 71 N.C. App. 192, 321 S.E.2d 476 (1984).

City is free to establish such fees and charges for services rendered to residents outside its corporate limits as it may deem reasonable and proper, by contract or by ordinance. Atlantic Constr. Co. v. City of Raleigh, 230 N.C. 365, 53 S.E.2d 165 (1949).

Town had authority to impose impact and tap fees under this section and G.S. 160A-313. South Shell Inv. v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 703 F. Supp. 1192 (E.D.N.C. 1988), aff'd, 900 F.2d 255 (4th Cir. 1990).

Town of Wrightsville Beach had the authority to impose utility system impact fees and tap fees for water and sewer services under the public enterprise statute and no specific enabling legislation was necessary; this section makes no distinction between increasing rates, rents, or fees in order to raise the money necessary for capital improvements, and there is no language in the statute limiting a town's authority to impose fees for the use of the services as a method of raising money for capital expansion or requiring that a town only increase rates for the services furnished to fund such improvements; thus, under this section the town could increase fees, rates or both to raise money needed. South Shell Inv. v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 703 F. Supp. 1192 (E.D.N.C. 1988), aff'd, 900 F.2d 255 (4th Cir. 1990).

Rates Charged Consumers Outside Corporate Limits Held Not Discriminatory. — An amendment to an ordinance which substantially increased the rates charged for water supplied by a municipality for consumption outside its corporate limits could not be held discriminatory in a legal sense when it applied alike to all nonresidents, and it was immaterial that a nonresident consumer deemed such rates exorbitant or unreasonable. Fulghum v. Town of Selma, 238 N.C. 100, 76 S.E.2d 368 (1953).

Minimum Monthly Charge Assessed Against Condominium Complex Held Reasonable. — For a municipal water supplier to charge a condominium complex based only on the size of the service line rather than on the number of residential units in the complex would unfairly discriminate against single residential customers because it would place an unfair portion of the costs of water service on them. Accordingly, a minimum monthly charge assessed condominium complexes is neither discriminatory nor arbitrary, but is reasonable. Bogue Shores Homeowners Ass'n v. Town of Atl. Beach, 109 N.C. App. 549, 428 S.E.2d 258 (1993), pet. disc. rev. denied, 334 N.C. 162, 432 S.E.2d 356 (1993).

Ordinance Held Unenforceable Against City. — A county ordinance providing that no fees could be charged residents of the county or franchise haulers by the owners or operators of a sanitary landfill located within the county was improper, because it based fees upon the wrong criteria (residence rather than kind and degree of service) in violation of this section. Therefore, the county could not enforce the ordinance against city which operated a sanitary landfill in the county. Cabarrus County v. City of Charlotte, 71 N.C. App. 192, 321 S.E.2d 476 (1984).

Applied in Ricks v. Town of Selma, 99 N.C. App. 82, 392 S.E.2d 437 (1990).

§ 160A-314.1. Availability fees for solid waste disposal facilities; collection of any solid waste fees.

(a) In addition to a fee that a city may impose for collecting solid waste or for using a disposal facility, a city may impose a fee for the availability of a disposal facility provided by the city. A fee for availability may not exceed the cost of providing the facility and may be imposed on all improved property in the city that benefits from the availability of the facility. A city may not impose an availability fee on property whose solid waste is collected by a county, a city, or a private contractor for a fee if the fee imposed by a county, a city, or a private contractor for the collection of solid waste includes a charge for the availability and use of a disposal facility provided by the city. Property served by a private contractor who disposes of solid waste collected from the property in a disposal facility provided by a private contractor that provides the same services as those provided by the city disposal facility is not considered to benefit from a disposal facility provided by the city and is not subject to a fee imposed by the city for the availability of a disposal facility provided by the city. To the extent that the services provided by the city disposal facility differ from the services provided by the disposal facility provided by a private contractor in the same city, the city may charge an availability fee to cover the costs of the additional services provided by the city disposal facility.

In determining the costs of providing and operating a disposal facility, a city may consider solid waste management costs incidental to a city's handling and disposal of solid waste at its disposal facility. A fee for the availability or use of a disposal facility may be based on the combined costs of the different disposal facilities provided by the city.

(b) A city may adopt an ordinance providing that any fee imposed under subsection (a) or under G.S. 160A-314 for collecting or disposing of solid waste may be billed with property taxes, may be payable in the same manner as property taxes, and, in the case of nonpayment, may be collected in any manner by which delinquent personal or real property taxes can be collected. If an ordinance states that delinquent fees can be collected in the same manner as delinquent real property taxes, the fees are a lien on the real property described on the bill that includes the fee. (1991, c. 652, s. 5; 2007-550, s. 10(b).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2007-550, s. 19, is a severability clause.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2007-550, s. 10(b), effective August 1, 2007, in the first paragraph of subsection (a), inserted "that provides the same services as those provided by the city disposal facility" in the fourth sentence, and added the last sentence.

§ 160A-315. Billing and collecting agents for certain sewer systems.

Any city that maintains and operates a sewage collection and disposal system but does not maintain and operate a water distribution system is authorized to contract with the owner or operator of the water distribution system operating within the area served by the city sewer system to act as the billing and collection agent of the city for any charges, rents, or penalties imposed by the city for sewer services. (1933, c. 322, s. 1; 1941, c. 106; 1961, c. 1074; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

Cross References. — As to authority of corporations for the disposal of solid waste, see counties, cities and towns to enter into long-term contracts with private persons, firms or G.S. 153A-299.1 through 153A-299.6.

§ 160A-316. Independent water companies to supply information.

The owner or operator of any independent or private water distribution system operating within a city that maintains and operates a sewage collection and disposal system shall furnish to the city upon request copies of water meter readings and any other water consumption records and data that the city may require to bill and collect its sewer rents and charges. The city shall pay the reasonable cost of supplying this information. (1933, c. 322, s. 1; 1941, c. 106; 1961, c. 1074; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-317. Power to require connections to water or sewer service and the use of solid waste collection services.

(a) Connections. — A city may require an owner of developed property on which there are situated one or more residential dwelling units or commercial establishments located within the city limits and within a reasonable distance of any water line or sewer collection line owned, leased as lessee, or operated by the city or on behalf of the city to connect the owner's premises with the water or sewer line or both, and may fix charges for the connections. In lieu of requiring connection under this subsection and in order to avoid hardship, the city may require payment of a periodic availability charge, not to exceed the minimum periodic service charge for properties that are connected.

(b) Solid Waste. — A city may require an owner of improved property to do any of the following:

- (1) Place solid waste in specified places or receptacles for the convenience of city collection and disposal.
- (2) Separate materials before the solid waste is collected.
- (3) Participate in a recycling program by requiring separation of designated materials by the owner or occupant of the property prior to disposal. An owner of recovered materials as defined by G.S. 130A-290(a)(24) retains ownership of the recovered materials until the owner conveys, sells, donates, or otherwise transfers the recovered materials to a person, firm, company, corporation, or unit of local government. A city may not require an owner to convey, sell, donate, or otherwise transfer recovered materials to the city or its designee. If an owner places recovered materials in receptacles or delivers recovered materials to specific locations, receptacles, and facilities that are owned or operated by the city or its designee, then ownership of these materials is transferred to the city or its designee.

- (4) Participate in any solid waste collection service provided by the city or by a person who has a contract with the city if the owner or occupant of the property has not otherwise contracted for the collection of solid waste from the property.

(c) A city may impose a fee for the solid waste collection service provided under subdivision (4) of subsection (b) of this section. The fee may not exceed the costs of collection. (1917, c. 136, subch. 7, s. 2; C.S., s. 2806; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1979, c. 619, s. 14; 1981, c. 823; 1989, c. 741, s. 2; 1991, c. 698, s. 2; 1993, c. 165, s. 2; 1995, c. 511, s. 4.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1993, c. 165, which amended this section, in s. 3 provides that the act is effective upon ratification and does not apply to any contracts in existence at that time or to any extensions or renewals thereof. The act was ratified on June 16, 1993.

Session Laws 1995, c. 511, which amended this section, in s. 5 provides: "It is the express purpose of this act to provide additional and alternative powers to political subdivisions and authorities affected by this act and to provide additional and alternative methods by which the functions affected by this act may be performed. This act is not intended, and shall not be construed, to derogate, limit, or repeal any power now existing under any other law, whether general, special, or local."

Session Laws 1995, c. 511, which amended this section, in s. 6 provides: "All general, special, or local laws, or parts thereof, inconsistent with the provisions of this act are declared to be inapplicable to the provisions of this act."

CASE NOTES

Legislature Contemplated Anticompetitive Conduct by Cities Respecting Sewage Services Within City Limits. —

Section 160A-312 grants cities the authority to acquire, construct, maintain, improve, own, operate, and regulate sewage collection systems of all types, and additionally, the North Carolina scheme explicitly contemplates anticompetitive activity because it expressly authorizes cities to require those within its limits to use its sewer facilities. Therefore, the North Carolina legislature contemplated anticompetitive conduct by cities respecting sewage services within city limits. Pinehurst Enters., Inc. v. Town of S. Pines, 690 F. Supp. 444 (M.D.N.C. 1988), aff'd, 887 F.2d 1080 (4th Cir. 1989).

Section Not Applicable to Property Located Outside City. — A municipality is not authorized to compel owners of improved property located outside the city, but which may be located upon or near one of its sewer lines, or a line which empties into the city's sewerage system, to connect with the sewerline. Atlantic Constr. Co. v. City of Raleigh, 230 N.C. 365, 53 S.E.2d 165 (1949); Smith v. City of Winston-

Salem, 247 N.C. 349, 100 S.E.2d 835 (1957), decided under former § 160-240.

Authority to Impose Impact and Tap Fees. —

Town of Wrightsville Beach had the authority to impose utility system impact fees and tap fees for water and sewer services under the public enterprise statute and no specific enabling legislation was necessary; section 160A-314(a) makes no distinction between increasing rates, rents, or fees in order to raise the money necessary for capital improvements, and there is no language in the statute limiting a town's authority to impose fees for the use of the services as a method of raising money for capital expansion or requiring that a town only increase rates for the services furnished to fund such improvements; thus, under G.S. 160A-314 the town could increase fees, rates or both to raise money needed. South Shell Inv. v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 703 F. Supp. 1192 (E.D.N.C. 1988), aff'd, 900 F.2d 255 (4th Cir. 1990).

§ 160A-318. Mutual aid contracts.

(a) Any two or more cities, counties, water and sewer authorities, metropolitan sewage districts, sanitary districts, or private utility companies or combination thereof may enter into contracts with each other to provide mutual aid and assistance in restoring electric, water, sewer, or gas services in the event of natural disasters or other emergencies under such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon. Mutual aid contracts may include provisions for furnishing personnel, equipment, apparatus, supplies and materials; for reimbursement or indemnification of the aiding party for loss or damage incurred by giving aid; for delegating authority to a designated official or employee to send aid upon request; and any other provisions not inconsistent with law.

(b) Officials and employees furnished by one party in aid of another party pursuant to a mutual aid contract entered into under authority of this section shall be conclusively deemed for all purposes to remain officials and employees of the aiding party. While providing aid to another and while traveling to and from another city or county pursuant to giving aid, they shall retain all rights, privileges, and immunities, including coverage under the North Carolina Workers' Compensation Act, as they enjoy while performing their normal duties.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, any party to a mutual aid contract entered into under authority of this section, may sell or otherwise convey or deliver to another party to the contract personal property to be used in restoring utility services pursuant to the contract, without following procedures for the sale or disposition of property prescribed by any general law, local act, or city charter.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed to deprive any party to a mutual aid contract of its discretion to send or decline to send its personnel, equipment, and apparatus in aid of another party to the contract under any circumstances, whether or not obligated by the contract to do so. In no case shall a party to a mutual aid contract or any of its officials or employees be held to answer in any civil or criminal action for declining to send personnel, equipment, or apparatus to another party to the contract, whether or not obligated by contract to do so. (1967, c. 450; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1991, c. 636, s. 3.)

§ 160A-319. Utility franchises.

(a) A city shall have authority to grant upon reasonable terms franchises for a telephone system and any of the enterprises listed in G.S. 160A-311, except a cable television system. A franchise granted by a city authorizes the operation of the franchised activity within the city. No franchise shall be granted for a period of more than 60 years, except that a franchise for solid waste collection or disposal systems and facilities shall not be granted for a period of more than 30 years. Except as otherwise provided by law, when a city operates an enterprise, or upon granting a franchise, a city may by ordinance make it unlawful to operate an enterprise without a franchise.

(b) For the purposes of this section, "cable television system" means any system or facility that, by means of a master antenna and wires or cables, or by wires or cables alone, receives, amplifies, modifies, transmits, or distributes any television, radio, or electronic signal, audio or video or both, to subscribing members of the public for compensation. "Cable television system" does not include providing master antenna services only to property owned or leased by the same person, firm, or corporation, nor communication services rendered to a cable television system by a public utility that is regulated by the North Carolina Utilities Commission or the Federal Communications Commission in providing those services. (Code, ss. 704, 3117; 1901, c. 283; 1905, c. 526; Rev., s. 2916; 1907, c. 978; P.L. 1917, c. 223; C. S., s. 2623; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 58; 1927, c. 14; 1933, c. 69; 1949, c. 938; 1955, c. 77; 1959, c. 391; 1961, c. 308; 1967, c. 100, s. 2; c. 1122, s. 1; 1969, c. 944; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1975, c. 664, s. 11; 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 1013, s. 2; 2006-151, s. 15.)

Cross References. — As to authority of counties, cities and towns to enter into long-term contracts with private persons, firms or corporations for the disposal of solid waste notwithstanding the provisions of this section, see G.S. 153A-299.3.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 1013, which amended this section, in s. 8 provides: "Any contract for solid waste collection or disposal entered into by any county, city, or town that would have been lawful if this act had been in effect at the time the contract was entered into is validated. The provisions of this act that limit a contract or franchise for the collection and disposal of solid waste to a period of not more than 30 years shall not be construed to invalidate any contract or franchise for a longer period up to 60 years that was entered into by any county, city, or town prior to the date this act is effective."

The act became effective July 22, 1992.

Session Laws 2006-151, s. 20, is a severability clause.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-151, s. 15, effective January 1, 2007, in subsection (a), in the first sentence, substituted "a telephone system and" for "the operation within the city of" and substituted "G.S. 160A-311, except a cable television system" for "G.S. 160A-311 and for the operation of telephone systems" at the end, added the second sentence, and deleted "years and cable television franchises shall not be granted for a period of more than 20" following "period of more than 30" at the end of the third sentence.

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Most of the cases cited below were decided under former similar provisions.

Every town has the power to grant franchises to public utilities, that is, the right to engage within the corporate boundaries in business of a public nature. Duke Power Co. v. Blue Ridge Elec. Membership Corp., 253 N.C. 596, 117 S.E.2d 812 (1961).

Grant of Franchise is Governmental Function. — In the granting of a franchise to a public utility to operate a system for furnishing gas for cooking and heating to residents of the municipality, the municipality exercises a governmental function, and may not be held liable in tort to a person injured by a gas explosion, even if it be conceded that the city was negligent in continuing the franchise after the pipelines and equipment of the licensee had become defective. Denning v. Goldsboro Gas Co., 246 N.C. 541, 98 S.E.2d 910 (1957).

Grant or Refusal of Franchise Vested Solely in Governing Body. — The power to grant or to refuse to grant a franchise is vested solely in the governing body of the city; this power is essentially legislative in nature, and its exercise is discretionary. Madison Cablevision, Inc. v. City of Morganton, 325 N.C. 634, 386 S.E.2d 200 (1989).

The sovereign right to franchise implies the power to control for public benefit, including among other things, the right to fix reasonable rates and to specify where the franchise may or may not be exercised, so as to afford adequate service to the public. Duke Power Co. v. Blue Ridge Elec. Membership Corp., 253 N.C. 596, 117 S.E.2d 812 (1961).

Terms and Conditions Within Discretion of Local Body. — The terms and conditions upon which franchises to public utilities are to be granted, unless clearly unreasonable or expressly prohibited by law, rest in the sound discretion of the local body. Mullen v. Town of Louisburg, 225 N.C. 53, 33 S.E.2d 484 (1945).

A franchise need not be exclusive. Indeed, if it is exclusive, an additional question as to its validity arises under N.C. Const., Art. I, § 32 and 34. Kornegay v. City of Raleigh, 269 N.C. 155, 152 S.E.2d 186 (1967).

No grant of franchise by a city is deemed exclusive unless so expressed by the grant. Hill v. Elizabeth City, 298 F. 67 (4th Cir. 1924).

Grant of Exclusive Privilege Held Unconstitutional. — Those provisions of an ordinance granting the exclusive privilege to construct and maintain a waterworks within the corporate limits of a town, and the exclusive use of its streets, alleys, sidewalks, public grounds, streams and bridges, came within the confirmation of N.C. Const., Art. I, § 34, which declares that "perpetuities and monopolies are contrary to the genius of a free state and shall not be allowed." Thrift v. Elizabeth City, 122 N.C. 31, 30 S.E. 349 (1898).

No Right to Grant Franchise for Use of Streets Absent Legislative Authority. — The law is well settled that the title either of the fee in the soil or an easement is vested in the municipality, in trust for the use of the people as and for a public highway, and that it cannot, without legislative authority, divert them from this use. Therefore, a grant by a city of a franchise allowing gas pipes to be laid in its streets is void unless allowed by express legislation. Elizabeth City v. Banks, 150 N.C. 407, 64 S.E. 189 (1909).

City Must Follow Procedural Restrictions of Charter. — Where the charter of a city provides procedural restrictions upon the granting by the city of franchises, such city must follow such procedural restrictions of its charter in granting a franchise, regardless of whether the authority to grant the particular franchise is conferred upon the city by statute or by its own charter. Shaw v. City of Asheville, 269 N.C. 90, 152 S.E.2d 139 (1967).

Statutory Term Read into Contract. — Where a franchise granted by a municipality fails to stipulate a term, the statutory term of 60 years will be read into the contract as a part thereof. Boyce v. City of Gastonia, 227 N.C. 139, 41 S.E.2d 355 (1947).

Grant of Right to Construct City-Wide Television Cable System as Franchise. — The grant by a city to a person, firm or corporation of the right to construct a city-wide television cable system of towers, poles, cables, wires, and other apparatus in, along, and over its streets and other public ways and to operate such systems for the profit of the grantee is clearly a franchise, for it is the grant of a right which is not held by all persons in common and which may be granted only by the act of the sovereign or its authorized agent. Kornegay v. City of Raleigh, 269 N.C. 155, 152 S.E.2d 186 (1967).

Acceptance of a municipal franchise by a water company carries with it the duty of supplying water to all persons along the lines of its mains without discrimination and at uniform rates. Griffin v. Goldsboro Water Co., 122 N.C. 206, 30 S.E. 319 (1898).

A water company operating under a franchise-contract from a city or town, and receiving the benefits and advantages arising thereunder, may not repudiate the duty of supplying water free to public schools, etc., which it had expressly contracted to do in accepting the franchise containing such provision, and collect for water it had furnished upon quantum meruit or otherwise. Henderson Water Co. v. Trustees of Henderson Graded Schools, 151 N.C. 171, 65 S.E. 927 (1909).

License Granted to Railroad Not a Permanent Easement. — A license granted by a city to a railroad company to lay a track upon and to that extent use the streets, in the absence of an express power in the charter to do so, cannot be construed into a grant of a permanent easement. State v. Atlantic & N.C.R.R., 141 N.C. 736, 53 S.E. 290 (1906).

Power to Annul License. — After a city, by ordinance, has granted a street railroad a right to construct its line over certain streets, it cannot by subsequent ordinance arbitrarily annul such license. Asheville Street Ry. v. City of Asheville, 109 N.C. 688, 14 S.E. 316 (1891).

Displacement of Cable Television Service Competition. — The powers conferred upon cities by the North Carolina General Statutes with respect to provision and franchising of cable television service reflect the clear contemplation that competition may be displaced with respect to this service. Madison Cablevision, Inc. v. City of Morganton, 325 N.C. 634, 386 S.E.2d 200 (1989).

Rights of Abutting Owners. — As against the rights of abutting owners, the municipal authorities have no power to grant to a railroad company an easement to lay its track upon and operate its trains over the streets of a town, even though the title to the streets be in the town. Staton v. Atlantic Coast Line R.R., 147 N.C. 428, 61 S.E. 455 (1908).

No Violation of Chapter 75. — Municipal ownership and operation of cable television systems does not violate Chapter 75, which relates to monopolies. Madison Cablevision, Inc. v. City of Morganton, 325 N.C. 634, 386 S.E.2d 200 (1989).

Town Was Equitably Estopped from Requiring a Franchise for a Landfill. — Neighboring town was equitably estopped from arguing that a county failed to receive a public enterprise franchise from the town for the operation of a proposed landfill, despite an ordinance that the town passed after it gave its approval for the landfill before later withdrawing its approval. County of Wake v. N.C. Dep't of Env't & Natural Res., 155 N.C. App. 225, 573 S.E.2d 572, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 1632 (2002), cert. dismissed, 357 N.C. 62, 579 S.E.2d 387 (2003).

City's operation of a fiber optics network is a cable television system authorized to be owned and operated as a public enterprise. BellSouth Telecomms., Inc. v. City of Laurinburg, 168 N.C. App. 75, 606 S.E.2d 721, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 164, cert. denied, — N.C. —, 615 S.E.2d 660, cert. denied, 359 N.C. 629, — S.E.2d — (2005).

§ 160A-320. Public enterprise improvements.

(a) Authorization. — A city may contract with a developer or property owner, or with a private party who is under contract with the developer or property owner, for public enterprise improvements that are adjacent or ancillary to a private land development project. Such a contract shall allow the city to reimburse the private party for costs associated with the design and construction of improvements that are in addition to those required by the city's land development regulations. Such a contract is not subject to Article 8 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes if the public cost will not exceed two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) and the city determines that: (i) the public cost will not exceed the estimated cost of providing for those improvements through either eligible force account qualified labor or through a public contract let pursuant to Article 8 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes; or (ii) the coordination of separately constructed improvements would be impracticable. A city may enact ordinances and policies setting forth the procedures, requirements, and terms for agreements authorized by this section.

(b) Property Acquisition. — The improvements may be constructed on property owned or acquired by the private party or on property owned or acquired by the city. The private party may assist the city in obtaining easements in favor of the city from private property owners on those properties that will be involved in or affected by the project. The contract between the city and the private party may be entered into before the acquisition of any real property necessary to the project. (2005-426, s. 8(d).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-426, s. 11, made this section effective January 1, 2006.

§ 160A-321. Sale, lease, or discontinuance of city-owned enterprise.

A city is authorized to sell or lease as lessor any enterprise that it may own upon any terms and conditions that the council may deem best. However, except as to transfers to another governmental entity pursuant to G.S. 160A-274, a city-owned enterprise shall not be sold, leased to another, or discontinued unless the proposal to sell, lease, or discontinue is first submitted to a vote of the people and approved by a majority of those who vote thereon. Voter approval shall not be required for the sale, lease, or discontinuance of airports, off-street parking systems and facilities, or solid waste collection and disposal systems. CASE NOTES

Approval of Voters Not Required for Sale of Diesel Engines. — Where a municipality decided to abandon the generation of electricity by the use of diesel engines and substitute therefor electricity purchased wholesale for distribution through its electric plant, and in pursuance of such change of policy advertised a sale of diesel engines, there was no sale by such municipality of its electric plant requiring approval of a majority of the qualified voters. Mullen v. Town of Louisburg, 225 N.C. 53, 33 S.E.2d 484 (1945), decided under former similar statutory provisions.

As to private sale under former statutory provisions, see Allen v. Town of Reidsville, 178 N.C. 513, 101 S.E. 267 (1919).

§ 160A-322. Contracts for electric power and water.

A city is authorized to enter into contracts for a period not exceeding 40 years for the supply of water, and for a period not exceeding 30 years for the supply of electric power or other public commodity or services. (Code, ss. 704, 3117; 1901, c. 283; 1905, c. 526; Rev., s. 2916; 1907, c. 978; P.L. 1917, c. 223; C.S., s. 2623; Ex. Sess. 1921, c. 58; 1927, c. 14; 1933, c. 69; 1949, c. 938; 1955, c. 77;

§ 160A-323. Load management and peak load pricing of electric power.

In addition and supplemental to the powers conferred upon municipalities by the laws of the State and for the purposes of conserving electricity and increasing the economy of operation of municipal electric systems, any municipality owning or operating an electric distribution system, any municipality engaging in a joint project pursuant to Chapter 159B of the General Statutes and any joint agency created pursuant to Chapter 159B of the General Statutes, shall have and may exercise the power and authority:

- (1) To investigate, study, develop and place into effect procedures and to investigate, study, develop, purchase, lease, own, operate, maintain, and put into service devices, which will temporarily curtail or cut off certain types of appliances or equipment for short periods of time whenever an unusual peak demand threatens to overload the electric system or economies would result; and
- (2) To fix rates and bill customers by a system of nondiscriminatory peak pricing, with incentive rates for off-peak use of electricity charging more for peak periods than for off-peak periods to reflect the higher cost of providing electric service during periods of peak demand on the electric system. (1977, c. 232.)

§ 160A-324. Contract with private solid waste collection firm(s).

(a) If the area to be annexed described in an act of the General Assembly includes an area where a firm (i) meets the requirements of subsection (a1) of this section, (ii) on the ninetieth day preceding the date of introduction in the House of Representatives or the Senate of the bill which became the act making the annexation, was providing solid waste collection services in the area to be annexed, (iii) is still providing such services on the date the act becomes law, and (iv) by reason of the annexation the firm's franchise with a county or arrangements with third parties for solid waste collection will be terminated, the city shall do one of the following:

- (1) Contract with the firm for a period of two years after the effective date of the annexation ordinance to allow the firm to provide collection services to the city in the area to be annexed for sums determined under subsection (d) of this section.
 - (2) Pay the firm for the firm's economic loss, with one-third of the economic loss to be paid within 30 days of the termination and the balance paid in 12 equal monthly installments during the next succeeding 12 months. Any remaining economic loss payment is forfeited if the firm terminates service to customers in the annexation area prior to the effective date of the annexation.
 - (3) Make other arrangements satisfactory to the parties.
- (a1) To qualify for the options set forth in subsection (a) of this section, a firm must have, subsequent to receiving notice of the annexation in accordance with subsection (b) of this section, filed with the city clerk at least 10 days prior to the effective date of the annexation a written request to contract with the city to provide solid waste collection services containing a certification, signed by an officer or owner of the firm, that the firm serves at least 50 customers within the county at that time.

(a2) Firms shall file notice of provision of solid waste collection service with the city clerk of all cities located in the firm's collection area or within five miles thereof.

(b) The city shall make a good faith effort to provide at least 30 days before the effective date of the annexation a copy of the act to each private firm providing solid waste collection services in the area to be annexed. The notice shall be sent to all firms that filed notice in accordance with subsection (a2) of this section by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the address provided by the firm under subsection (a2) of this section.

(c) The city may require that the contract contain:

- (1) A requirement that the firm post a performance bond and maintain public liability insurance coverage;
- (2) A requirement that the firm agree to service customers in the annexed area that were not served by that firm on the effective date of annexation;
- (3) A provision that divides the annexed area into service areas if there were more than one firm being contracted within the area, such that the entire area is served by the firms, or by the city as to customers not served by the firms;
- (4) A provision that the city may serve customers not served by the firm on the effective date of annexation;
- (5) A provision that the contract can be cancelled in writing, delivered by certified mail to the firm in question with 30 days to cure, substantial violations of the contract, but no contract may be cancelled on these grounds unless the Local Government Commission finds that substantial violations have occurred, except that the city may suspend the contract for up to 30 days if it finds substantial violation of health laws;
- (6) Performance standards, not exceeding city standards existing at the time of notice provided pursuant to subsection (b) of this section, with provision that the contract may be cancelled for substantial violations of those standards, but no contract may be cancelled on those grounds unless the Local Government Commission finds that substantial violations have occurred;
- (7) A provision for monetary damages if there are violations of the contract or of performance standards.

(d) If the services to be provided to the city by reason of the annexation are substantially the same as rendered under the franchise with the county or arrangements with the parties, the amount paid by the city shall be at least ninety percent (90%) of the amount paid or required under the existing franchise or arrangements. If such services are required to be adjusted to conform to city standards or as a result of changes in the number of customers and as a result there are changes in disposal costs (including mileage and landfill charges), requirements for storage capacity (dumpsters and/or residential carts), and/or frequency of collection, the amount paid by the city for the service shall be increased or decreased to reflect the value of such adjusted services as if computed under the existing franchise or arrangements. In the event agreement cannot be reached between the city and the firm under this subsection, the matters shall be determined by the Local Government Commission.

(e), (f) Repealed by Session Laws 2006-193, s. 1, applicable to annexations for which the bill making the annexation is enacted on or after January 1, 2007.

(g) If the city fails to offer a contract to the firm within 30 days following the effective date of the annexation act, the firm may appeal within 60 days following the effective date of the annexation act to the Local Government Commission for an order directing the city to offer a contract. If the Local Government Commission finds that the city has not made an offer which complies with this section, it shall order the city to pay to the firm a civil penalty of the amount of payments it finds that the city would have had to make under the contract, during the noncompliance period until the contract offer is made. Either the firm or the city may obtain judicial review in accordance with Chapter 150B of the General Statutes.

(h) A firm which has given notice under subsection (a) of this section that it desires to contract, and any firm that the city believes is eligible to give such notice, shall make available to the city not later than 30 days following a written request of the city all information in its possession or control, including but not limited to operational, financial and budgetary information, necessary for the city to determine if the firm qualifies for the benefits of this section and to determine the nature and scope of the potential contract and/or economic loss. The firm forfeits its rights under this section if it fails to make a good faith response within 30 days following receipt of the written request for information from the city, provided that the city's written request so states by specific reference to this section.

(i) As used in this section, the following terms mean:

- (1) Economic loss. — A sum equal to 15 times the average gross monthly revenue for the three months prior to the introduction of the bill under subsection (a) of this section, collected or due the firm for residential, commercial, and industrial collection service in the area annexed or to be annexed; provided that revenues shall be included in calculations under this subdivision only if policies of the city will provide solid waste collection to those customers such that arrangements between the firm and the customers will be terminated.
- (2) Firm. — A private solid waste collection firm. (1989, c. 598, s. 1; 2006-193, s. 3.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-193, s. 3, effective August 3, 2006, and applicable to annexations for which the bill making the annexation is enacted on or after January 1, 2007, rewrote subsection (a); added subsections (a1), (a2) and (i); added the last sentence in subsection (b); deleted "private" preceding "firm" and "firms" throughout subsections (c), (d) and (g); substituted "in writing, delivered by certified mail to the firm in question with 30 days to cure" for "for" in subdivision (c)(5); inserted "existing at the time of notice provided pursuant to subsection (b) of this section" in subdivision (c)(6); substituted "the" for "such" near the end of subsection (d); deleted subsections (e) and (f); and, in subsection (h), substituted "30 days" for "five days" in the first sentence and added the last sentence.

§ 160A-325. Selection or approval of sites for certain sanitary landfills; solid waste defined.

(a) The governing board of a city shall consider alternative sites and socioeconomic and demographic data and shall hold a public hearing prior to selecting or approving a site for a new sanitary landfill that receives residential solid waste that is located within one mile of an existing sanitary landfill within the State. The distance between an existing and a proposed site shall be determined by measurement between the closest points on the outer boundary of each site. The definitions set out in G.S. 130A-290 apply to this subsection. As used in this subsection:

- (1) "Approving a site" refers to prior approval of a site under G.S. 130A-294(a)(4).

- (2) "Existing sanitary landfill" means a sanitary landfill that is in operation or that has been in operation within the five-year period immediately prior to the date on which an application for a permit is submitted.
 - (3) "New sanitary landfill" means a sanitary landfill that includes areas not within the legal description of an existing sanitary landfill as set out in the permit for the existing sanitary landfill.
 - (4) "Socioeconomic and demographic data" means the most recent socioeconomic and demographic data compiled by the United States Bureau of the Census and any additional socioeconomic and demographic data submitted at the public hearing.
- (b) As used in this Part, "solid waste" means nonhazardous solid waste, that is, solid waste as defined in G.S. 130A-290 but not including hazardous waste. (1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 1013, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 1013, which enacted this section, in s. 8 provides: "Any contract for solid waste collection or disposal entered into by any county, city, or town that would have been lawful if this act had been in effect at the time the contract was entered into is validated. The provisions of this act that limit a contract or franchise for the collection and disposal of solid waste to a period of not more than 30 years shall not be construed to invalidate any contract or franchise for a longer period up to 60 years that was entered into by any county, city, or town prior to the date this act is effective." The act became effective July 22, 1992.

Session Laws 1991 (Reg. Sess., 1992), c. 1013, s. 9 provides: "G.S. 153A-136(c), as enacted by Section 1 of this act, and G.S. 160A-325(a), as enacted by Section 3 of this act, shall not apply to the selection or approval of a site for a new sanitary landfill if, prior to the effective date of this act [July 22, 1992]:

"(1) The site was selected or approved by the board of commissioners of a county or the governing board of a city;

"(2) A public hearing on the selection or approval of the site has been held;

"(3) A long-term contract was approved by the Department of Environment, Health, and Natural Resources [now the Department of Environment and Natural Resources] under Part 4 of Article 15 of Chapter 153A of the General Statutes; or

"(4) An application for a permit for a sanitary landfill to be located on the site has been submitted to the Department of Environment, Health and Natural Resources [now the Department of Environment and Natural Resources]."

CASE NOTES

Exemption From Statute Prior to July 2, 1992. — The defendants were only required to comply with one of four conditions of Session Laws 1991 Reg. Sess., 1992, c. 1013, s. 9 in order to qualify for the exemption provided in this section; in this case, a showing that the site was selected and approved by Alderman was sufficient to comply with condition (1). Grassy § 160A-326. Limitations on rail transportation liability.

(a) As used in this section:

- (1) "Claim" means a claim, action, suit, or request for damages, whether compensatory, punitive, or otherwise, made by any person or entity against:
 - a. The City, a railroad, or an operating rights railroad; or
 - b. An officer, director, trustee, employee, parent, subsidiary, or affiliated corporation as defined in G.S. 105-130.6, or agent of: the City, a railroad, or an operating rights railroad.
- (2) "Operating rights railroad" means a railroad corporation or railroad company that, prior to January 1, 2001, was granted operating rights by a State-Owned Railroad Company or operated over the property of a State-Owned Railroad Company under a claim of right over or adjacent to facilities used by or on behalf of the City.

- (3) "Passenger rail services" means the transportation of rail passengers by or on behalf of the City and all services performed by a railroad pursuant to a contract with the City in connection with the transportation of rail passengers, including, but not limited to, the operation of trains; the use of right-of-way, trackage, public or private roadway and rail crossings, equipment, or station areas or appurtenant facilities; the design, construction, reconstruction, operation, or maintenance of rail-related equipment, tracks, and any appurtenant facilities; or the provision of access rights over or adjacent to lines owned by the City or a railroad, or otherwise occupied by the City or a railroad, pursuant to charter grant, fee-simple deed, lease, easement, license, trackage rights, or other form of ownership or authorized use.
- (4) "Railroad" means a railroad corporation or railroad company, including a State-Owned Railroad Company as defined in G.S. 124-11, that has entered into any contracts or operating agreements of any kind with the City concerning passenger rail services.

(b) Contracts Allocating Financial Responsibility Authorized. — The City may contract with any railroad to allocate financial responsibility for passenger rail services claims, including, but not limited to, the execution of indemnity agreements, notwithstanding any other statutory, common law, public policy, or other prohibition against same, and regardless of the nature of the claim or the conduct giving rise to such claim.

(c) Insurance Required. —

- (1) If the City enters into any contract authorized by subsection (b) of this section, the contract shall require the City to secure and maintain, upon and after the commencement of the operation of trains by or on behalf of the City, a liability insurance policy covering the liability of the parties to the contract, a State-Owned Railroad Company as defined in G.S. 124-11 that owns or claims an interest in any real property subject to the contract, and any operating rights railroad for all claims for property damage, personal injury, bodily injury, and death arising out of or related to passenger rail services. The policy shall name the parties to the contract, a State-Owned Railroad Company as defined in G.S. 124-11 that owns or claims an interest in any real property subject to the contract, and any operating rights railroad as named insureds and shall have policy limits of not less than two hundred million dollars ($200,000,000) per single accident or incident, and may include a self-insured retention in an amount of not more than five million dollars ($5,000,000).
- (2) If the City does not enter into any contract authorized by subsection (b) of this section, upon and after the commencement of the operation of trains by or on behalf of the City, the City shall secure and maintain a liability insurance policy, with policy limits and a self-insured retention consistent with subdivision (1) of this subsection, for all claims for property damage, personal injury, bodily injury, and death arising out of or related to passenger rail services.

(d) Liability Limit. — The aggregate liability of the City, the parties to the contract or contracts authorized by subsection (b) of this section, a State-Owned Railroad Company as defined in G.S. 124-11, and any operating rights railroad for all claims arising from a single accident or incident related to passenger rail services for property damage, personal injury, bodily injury, and death is limited to two hundred million dollars ($200,000,000) per single accident or incident or to any proceeds available under any insurance policy secured pursuant to subsection (c) of this section, whichever is greater.

(e) Effect on Other Laws. — This section shall not affect the damages that may be recovered under the Federal Employers' Liability Act, 45 U.S.C. § 51, et seq., (1908); or under Article 1 of Chapter 97 of the General Statutes.

(f) Applicability. — This section shall apply only to municipalities with a population of more than 500,000 persons, according to the latest decennial census, or to municipalities that have entered into a transit governance interlocal agreement with, among other local governments, a city with a population of more than 500,000 persons. (2002-78, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — The definitions in subsection (a) were redesignated at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes to preserve alphabetical order.

§ 160A-327. Displacement of private solid waste collection services.

(a) A unit of local government shall not displace a private company that is providing collection services for municipal solid waste or recovered materials, or both, except as provided for in this section.

(b) Before a local government may displace a private company that is providing collection services for municipal solid waste or recovered materials, or both, the unit of local government shall publish notice of the first meeting where the proposed change in solid waste collection service will be discussed. Notice shall be published once a week for at least four consecutive weeks in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the area in which the unit of local government and the proposed displacement area are located. The first public notice shall be given no less than 30 days but no more than 60 days prior to the displacement issue being placed on the agenda for discussion or action at an official meeting of the governing body of the unit of local government. The notice shall specify the date and place of the meeting, the geographic location in which solid waste collection services are proposed to be changed, and the types of solid waste collection services that may be affected. In addition, the unit of local government shall send written notice by certified mail, return receipt requested, to all companies that have filed notice with the unit of local government clerk pursuant to the provisions of subsection (f) of this section. The unit of local government shall deposit notice in the U.S. mail at least 30 days prior to the displacement issues being placed on the agenda for discussion or action at an official meeting of the governing body of the unit of local government.

(c) Following the public notice required by subsection (b) of this section, but in no event later than six months after the date of the first meeting pursuant to subsection (b) of this section, the unit of local government may proceed to take formal action to displace a private company. The unit of local government or other public or private entity selected by the unit of local government may not commence the actual provision of these services for a period of 15 months from the date of the first publication of notice, unless the unit of local government provides compensation to the displaced private company as follows:

- (1) Subject to subdivision (3) of this subsection, if the private company has provided collection services in the displacement area prior to announcement of the displacement action, the unit of local government shall provide compensation to the displaced private company in an amount equal to the total gross revenues for collection services provided in the displacement area for the six months prior to the first publication of notice required under subsection (b) of this section.
- (2) Subject to subdivision (3) of this subsection, if the displaced private company has provided collection services in the displacement area for less than six months prior to the first publication of notice required under subsection (b) of this section, the unit of local government shall provide compensation to the displaced private company in an amount equal to the total gross revenues for the period of time that the private company provided such services in the displacement area.

- (3) If the displaced private company purchased an existing operation of another private company providing such services, compensation shall be for six months based on the monthly average total gross revenues for three months the immediate preceding the first publication of notice required under subsection (b) of this section.

(d) If the local government elects to provide compensation pursuant to subsection (c) of this section, the amount due from the unit of local government to the displaced company shall be paid as follows: one-third of the compensation to be paid within 30 days of the displacement and the balance paid in six equal monthly installments during the next succeeding six months.

(e) If the unit of local government fails to change the provision of solid waste services as described in the notices required under subsection (b) of this section within six months of the date of the first meeting pursuant to subsection (b) of this section, the unit of local government shall not take action to displace without complying again with the provisions of subsection (b) of this section.

(f) Notice of the provision of solid waste collection service shall be filed with the unit of local government clerk of all cities and counties located in the private company's collection area or within five miles thereof.

(g) This section shall not apply when a private company is displaced as the result of an annexation under Article 4A of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes or an annexation by an act of the General Assembly. The provisions of G.S. 160A-37.3, 160-49.3, or 160A-324 shall apply.

(h) If a unit of local government intends to provide compensation under subsection (c) of this section to a private company that has given notice under subsection (f) of this section, the private company shall make available to the unit of local government not later than 30 days following a written request of the unit of local government, sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, all information in its possession or control, including operational, financial, and budgetary information necessary for the unit of local government to determine if the private company qualifies for compensation. The private company forfeits its rights under this section if it fails to make a good faith response within 30 days following receipt of the written request for information from the unit of local government provided that the unit of local government's written request so states by specific reference to this section.

(i) Nothing in this section shall affect the authority of a city or county to establish recycling service where recycling service is not currently being offered.

(j) As used in this section, the following terms mean:

- (1) Collection. — The gathering of municipal solid waste, recovered materials, or recyclables from residential, commercial, industrial, governmental, or institutional customers and transporting it to a sanitary landfill or other disposal facility. Collection does not include transport from a transfer station or processing point to a disposal facility.
- (2) Displacement. — Any formal action by a unit of local government that prohibits a private company from providing all or a portion of the collection services for municipal solid waste, recovered materials, or recyclables that the company is providing in the affected area at least 90 days prior to the date of the first publication of notice required by subsection (b) of this section. Displacement also means an action by a unit of local government to use an availability fee, nonoptional fee, or taxes to fund competing collection services for municipal solid waste, recovered materials, or recyclables that the private company is providing in the affected areas at least 90 days prior to the date of the first publication of notice required under subsection (b) of this section is given. Displacement does not include any of the following actions:

- a. Failure to renew a franchise agreement or contract with a private company.
 - b. Taking action that results in a change in solid waste collection services because the private company's operations present an imminent and substantial threat to human health or safety or are causing a substantial public nuisance.
 - c. Taking action that results in a change in solid waste collection services because the private company has materially breached its franchise agreement or the terms of a contract with the local government, or the company has notified the local government that it no longer intends to honor the terms of the franchise agreement or contract. Notice of breach must be delivered in writing, delivered by certified mail to the firm in question with 30 days to cure the violation of the contract.
 - d. Terminating an existing contract or franchise in accordance with the provisions of the contract or franchise agreement.
 - e. Providing temporary collection services under a declared state of emergency.
 - f. Taking action that results in a change in solid waste collection services due to the existing providers' felony conviction of a violation in the State of federal or State law governing the solid waste collection or disposal.
 - g. Contracting with a private company to continue its existing services or provide a different level of service at a negotiated price on terms agreeable to the parties.
- (3) Municipal solid waste. — As defined in G.S. 130A-290(18a).
- (4) Unit of local government. — A county, municipality, authority, or political subdivision that is authorized by law to provide for collection of solid waste or recovered materials, or both. (2006-193, s. 4.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-193, s. 5, made this section effective August 3, 2006, and applicable to actions taken on or after January 1, 2007.

§ 160A-328. Local government landfill liaison.

(a) A city that has planning jurisdiction over any portion of the site of a sanitary landfill may employ a local government landfill liaison. No person who is responsible for any aspect of the management or operation of the landfill may serve as a local government landfill liaison. A local government landfill liaison shall have a right to enter public or private lands on which the landfill facility is located at reasonable times to inspect the landfill operation in order to:

- (1) Ensure that the facility meets all local requirements.
- (2) Identify and notify the Department of suspected violations of applicable federal or State laws, regulations, or rules.
- (3) Identify and notify the Department of potentially hazardous conditions at the facility.

(b) Entry pursuant to this section shall not constitute a trespass or taking of property. (2007-550, s. 11(b).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2007-550, s. 11(b), enacted this section as G.S. 160A-325. It has been renumbered as this section at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Session Laws 2007-550, s. 11(c), made this section effective August 1, 2007.

Session Laws 2007-550, s. 19, is a severability clause.

Part 2. Electric Service in Urban Areas.

§ 160A-331. Definitions.

Unless the context otherwise requires, the following words and phrases shall have the meanings indicated when used in this Part:

- (1) "Assigned area" means any portion of an area annexed to or incorporated into a city which, on or before the effective date of annexation or incorporation, had been assigned by the North Carolina Utilities Commission to a specific electric supplier pursuant to G.S. 62-110.2.
- (1a) "Assigned supplier" means a person, firm, or corporation to which the North Carolina Utilities Commission had assigned a specific area for service as an electric supplier pursuant to G.S. 62-110.2, which area, in whole or in part, is subsequently annexed to or incorporated into a city.
- (1b) The "determination date" is
 - a. April 20, 1965, with respect to areas within the corporate limits of any city as of April 20, 1965;
 - b. The effective date of annexation with respect to areas annexed to any city after April 20, 1965;
 - c. The date a primary supplier comes into being with respect to any city first incorporated after April 20, 1965.
- (2) "Line" means any conductor located inside the city, or any conductor within 300 feet of areas annexed by the city that is a primary supplier, for distributing or transmitting electricity, except as follows:
 - a. For overhead construction, a conductor from the pole nearest the premises of a consumer to such premises, or a conductor from a line tap to such premises.
 - b. For underground construction, a conductor from the transformer (or the junction point, if there be one) nearest the premises of a consumer to such premises.
- (3) "Premises" means the building, structure, or facility to which electricity is being or is to be furnished. Two or more buildings, structures, or facilities that are located on one tract or contiguous tracts of land and are used by one electric consumer for commercial, industrial, institutional, or governmental purposes, shall together constitute one "premises," except that any such building, structure, or facility shall not, together with any other building, structure, or facility, constitute one "premises" if the electric service to it is separately metered and the charges for such service are calculated independently of charges for service to any other building, structure, or facility.
- (4) "Primary supplier" means a city that owns and maintains its own electric system, or a person, firm, or corporation that furnishes electric service within a city pursuant to a franchise granted by, or contract with, a city, or that, having furnished service pursuant to a franchise or contract, is continuing to furnish service within a city after the expiration of the franchise or contract.
- (5) "Secondary supplier" means a person, firm, or corporation that is not a primary supplier, but that furnishes electricity at retail to one or more consumers other than itself within the limits of a city, or that has a conductor located within 300 feet of an area annexed by a city that is a primary supplier. A primary supplier that furnishes electric service within a city pursuant to a franchise or contract that limits or restricts the classes of consumers or types of electric service permitted to such supplier shall, in and with respect to any area annexed by the city after April 20, 1965, be a primary supplier for such classes of consumers or types of service, and if it furnishes other electric service in the annexed area on the effective date of annexation, shall be a secondary supplier, in and with respect to such annexed area, for all other electric service. A primary supplier that continues to furnish electric service after the expiration of a franchise or contract that limited or restricted such primary supplier with respect to classes of consumers or types of electric service shall, in and with respect to any area annexed by the city after April 20, 1965, be a secondary supplier for all electric service if it is furnishing electric service in the annexed area on the effective date of annexation. (1965, c. 287, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 52; 1997-346, s. 1; 1999-111, s. 1; 2003-24, s. 1; 2005-150, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1997-346, s. 6, as amended by Session Laws 1999-111, s. 1, which added subdivision (1), defining "Assigned area", and subdivision (1a), defining "Assigned supplier", provides in part: "This act expires on December 31, 2003." Session Laws 2003-24, s.

1, repealed the expiration provision.

CASE NOTES

Legislative Intent. — By defining and restricting the rights of competing electric companies, the Legislature, in the 1965 Electric Act, limited free competition among private electric suppliers in rural areas. It is for the Legislature, not for the court to determine whether legislation other than G.S. 160A-312 is needed to curtail the competitive rights of municipal electric suppliers in rural areas. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 69 N.C. App. 378, 317 S.E.2d 701, cert. denied, 312 N.C. 82, 321 S.E.2d 895 (1984).

The Electric Act of 1965 was originally intended to prevent or reduce litigation regarding electric service rights between competing suppliers. City of Concord v. Duke Power Co., 346 N.C. 211, 485 S.E.2d 278 (1997).

Section 62-110.2 was passed together with this Part, as part of the same act. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 20 N.C. App. 347, 201 S.E.2d 508, aff'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

Purpose of § 62-110.2 and This Part. — Both G.S. 62-110.2, applying to rural areas, and this Part, applying to municipalities, sought to eliminate the wasteful duplication of power lines by assigning territories to specific suppliers of electricity. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 20 N.C. App. 347, 201 S.E.2d 508, aff'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

Considered together, § 62-110.2 and this Part cover the entire State, and reflect the interests of municipalities, utility companies and cooperatives. They form a unified plan for eliminating duplication of electric facilities by assigning territories to particular suppliers. Domestic Elec. Serv., Inc. v. City of Rocky Mount, 20 N.C. App. 347, 201 S.E.2d 508, aff'd on other grounds, 285 N.C. 135, 203 S.E.2d 838 (1974).

Common-law doctrine of abandonment does not apply to the 1965 Electric Act. Duke Power Co. v. City of Morganton, 90 N.C. App. 755, 370 S.E.2d 54, cert. denied, 323 N.C. 364, 373 S.E.2d 544 (1988).

Rights of Certain Nonmunicipal Suppliers Recognized. — By the enactment of this Part, the General Assembly took a considerable step in recognizing rights of nonmunicipal suppliers of electric power in cities operating their own systems. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 22 N.C. App. 91, 205 S.E.2d 774, cert. denied, 285 N.C. 661, 207 S.E.2d 752 (1974).

The Territorial Assignment Act of 1965, as codified at G.S. 62-110.2 and G.S. 160A-331 to 160A-338, represents an attempt to eliminate the uneconomic duplication of transmission and distribution systems bred of unbridled competition between public utilities, electric membership corporations and municipalities by designating the various competitors' rights.

Morgan v. Town of Hertford, 70 N.C. App. 725, 321 S.E.2d 170 (1984).

Municipality as “Secondary Supplier”.

— A town, a municipal corporation, is a “person” or “corporation” within the meaning of subdivision (5) of this section and therefore qualifies as a “secondary supplier.” Morgan v. Town of Hertford, 70 N.C. App. 725, 321 S.E.2d 170 (1984).

Applicability of Provisions to Municipality.

— A municipality operating an electric service within the corporate limits of another municipality is subject to the provisions of G.S. 160A-331 to 160A-338. Morgan v. Town of Hertford, 70 N.C. App. 725, 321 S.E.2d 170 (1984).

The clause “subject to part 2 of this article,” as used in G.S. 160A-312, refers to those situations where a city extending its electric lines outside its corporate limits necessarily begins construction within its corporate limits. When a city extending service outside its corporate limits constructs lines beginning at some point within its corporate limits, then pursuant to G.S. 160A-312 and 160A-332, such lines as are within the city limits may not infringe on the guaranteed corridor rights of a secondary supplier. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 69 N.C. App. 378, 317 S.E.2d 701, cert. denied, 312 N.C. 82, 321 S.E.2d 895 (1984).

The furnishing of electric service to an area subsequently annexed must be carried out pursuant to the 1965 Electric Act (G.S. 160A-331 to 160A-338 and 62-110.1 to 62-110.2). State ex rel. Utils. Comm’n v. VEPCO, 310 N.C. 302, 311 S.E.2d 586 (1984).

Operation of Electric System Outside Municipality.

— The 1965 Electric Act, appearing in G.S. 160A-331 through 160A-338 and G.S. 62-110.2, does not empower or authorize municipalities to operate electric systems outside corporate limits, nor does it restrict such service. Insofar as the General Statutes are concerned, the sole authority for, and the only restriction upon municipalities furnishing electric service outside corporate limits is found in G.S. 160A-312. Lumbee River Elec. Membership Corp. v. City of Fayetteville, 309 N.C. 726, 309 S.E.2d 209 (1983).

Nothing in this Part empowers or restricts municipalities in the operation of their electric systems outside their corporate limits. State ex rel. Utils. Comm’n v. VEPCO, 310 N.C. 302, 311 S.E.2d 586 (1984).

For analysis of the dichotomy between a city’s rights to extend electric service outside city limits under G.S. 160A-312 and its rights to extend such service within city limits under G.S. 160A-331 to 160A-338, see Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 69 N.C. App. 378, 317 S.E.2d 701, cert. denied, 312 N.C. 82, 321 S.E.2d 895 (1984).

Section 160A-312 does not affect a city’s right to furnish electric service to a newly annexed territory within its corporate limits, such right being determined solely by the provisions of G.S. 160A-331 to 160A-338. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 69 N.C. App. 378, 317 S.E.2d 701, cert. denied, 312 N.C. 82, 321 S.E.2d 895 (1984).

In situations in which multiple annexations have occurred, the determination date is the annexation date in which a primary and secondary supplier competing for the right to service a premises initially requiring electric service first existed. City of Concord v. Duke Power Co., 346 N.C. 211, 485 S.E.2d 278 (1997).

The definition of premises is clearly and unambiguously defined; both buildings constructed by the hospital on its contiguous tracts of land constituted one premises that was being served by the city. City of New Bern v. Carteret-Craven Elec. Membership Corp., 145 N.C. App. 140, 548 S.E.2d 845, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 580 (2001), cert. granted, 354 N.C. 215, 553 S.E.2d 909 (2001).

Where a customer constructed a new building on an adjacent lot, that was separately metered, and then demolished the old building, the new building was considered a new premises, and the customer was entitled to choose between secondary electric service providers under Electric Act, under the specific facts of the instant case. City of New Bern v. Carteret-Craven Elec. Membership Corp., 356 N.C. 123, 567 S.E.2d 131, 2002 N.C. LEXIS 681 (2002).

Applied in State ex rel. Utils. Comm’n v. Hunt Mfg. Co., 16 N.C. App. 335, 192 S.E.2d 16 (1972); State ex rel. Utils. Comm’n v. VEPCO, 62 N.C. App. 262, 302 S.E.2d 642 (1983); City of Concord v. Duke Power Co., 122 N.C. App. 248, 468 S.E.2d 615 (1996).

§ 160A-331.1: Repealed by Session Laws 2007-419, s. 3, effective August 21, 2007.

Editor’s Note. — Session Laws 2007-419, s. 3, provides in part: “Agreements previously entered into pursuant to G.S. 117-10.3 and G.S. 160A-331.1 shall not be affected by this repeal.”

§ 160A-331.2. Agreements of electric suppliers.

(a) The General Assembly finds and determines that, in order to avoid the unnecessary duplication of electric facilities and to facilitate the settlement of disputes between cities that are primary suppliers and other electric suppliers, it is desirable for the State to authorize electric suppliers to enter into agreements pursuant to which the parties to the agreements allocate to each other the right to provide electric service to premises each would not have the right to serve under this Article but for the agreement, provided that no agreement between a city that is a primary supplier and another electric supplier shall be enforceable by or against an electric supplier that is subject to the territorial assignment jurisdiction of the North Carolina Utilities Commission until the agreement has been approved by the Commission. The Commission shall approve an agreement entered into pursuant to this section unless it finds that such agreement is not in the public interest. Such agreements may allocate the right to serve premises by reference to specific premises, geographical boundaries, or amounts of unspecified load to be served, but no agreement shall affect in any way the rights of other electric suppliers who are not parties to the relevant agreement. The provisions of this section apply to agreements relating to electric service inside and outside the corporate limits of a city.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 2007-419, s. 1, effective August 21, 2007.

(c) To the extent negotiations undertaken pursuant to subsection (b) of this section, as enacted by S.L. 2005-150, have not resulted in an agreement between a negotiating electric membership corporation and a negotiating city by May 31, 2007, jurisdiction shall immediately lie in the North Carolina Utilities Commission to resolve all issues related to those negotiations. Either party to the negotiations may petition the Commission to exercise the jurisdiction conferred in this subsection upon the filing of a petition and the payment of a filing fee of five hundred dollars ($500.00). In reaching its decision, the Commission shall include consideration of the public convenience and necessity. The Commission shall not consider rate differentials between the involved city and the involved electric membership corporation.

(d) Notwithstanding an order of the Commission issued pursuant to subsection (c) of this section:

- (1) Any electric membership corporation or city may furnish electric service to any consumer who desires service from that electric membership corporation or city at any premises being served by another electric membership corporation or city, or at premises which another electric membership corporation or city has the right to serve pursuant to subsection (c) of this section, upon agreement of the affected electric membership corporation or city, subject to approval by the Commission.
- (2) The Commission shall have the authority and jurisdiction, after notice to all affected electric membership corporations and cities and after a hearing, if a hearing is requested by any affected electric membership corporation or city, or any other interested party, to order any electric membership corporation or city which may reasonably do so to furnish electric service to any consumer who desires service from that electric membership corporation or city at any premises being served by another electric membership corporation or city pursuant to subsection (c) of this section or subdivision (1) of this subsection, or which another electric membership corporation or city has the right to serve pursuant to subsection (c) of this section or subdivision (1) of this subsection, and to order the other electric membership corporation or city to cease and desist from furnishing electric service to such premises, upon finding that service to the consumer by the electric membership corporation or city which is then furnishing service, or which has the right to furnish service to those premises, is or will be inadequate or undependable, or that the rates, conditions of service, or service regulations, applied to such consumer, are unreasonably discriminatory.

(e) Assignments or reassignments made or approved by the Commission pursuant to subsection (c) or (d) of this section shall be deemed to be service area agreements approved pursuant to subsection (a) of this section. (2005-150, s. 3; 2007-419, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2007-419, s. 4, provides in part: "Any disputes submitted to the Public Staff of the North Carolina Utilities Commission pursuant to G.S. 7A-38.3C(i) [repealed] are transferred to the North Carolina Utilities Commission to be considered by the Commission pursuant to G.S. 160A-331.2(c), as enacted by this act, and the Commission shall exercise its jurisdiction upon payment of the filing fee required by that subsection by the petitioner."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2007-419, s. 1, effective August 21, 2007, deleted subsection (b) and added subsections (c) through (e).

§ 160A-332. Electric service within city limits.

(a) The suppliers of electric service inside the corporate limits of any city in which a secondary supplier was furnishing electric service on the determination date (as defined in G.S. 160A-331(1)) shall have rights and be subject to restrictions as follows:

- (1) The secondary supplier shall have the right to serve all premises being served by it, or to which any of its facilities are attached, on the determination date.
- (2) The secondary supplier shall have the right, subject to subdivision (3) of this section, to serve all premises initially requiring electric service after the determination date which are located wholly within 300 feet of its lines and located wholly more than 300 feet from the lines of the primary supplier, as such suppliers' lines existed on the determination date.
- (3) Any premises initially requiring electric service after the determination date which are located wholly within 300 feet of a secondary supplier's lines and wholly within 300 feet of another secondary supplier's lines, but wholly more than 300 feet from the primary supplier's lines, as the lines of all suppliers existed on the determination date, may be served by the secondary supplier which the consumer chooses, and no other supplier shall thereafter furnish electric service to such premises, except with the written consent of the supplier then serving the premises.
- (4) A primary supplier shall not furnish electric service to any premises which a secondary supplier has the right to serve as set forth in subdivisions (1), (2), and (3) of this section, except with the written consent of the secondary supplier.
- (5) Any premises initially requiring electric service after the determination date which are located wholly or partially within 300 feet of the primary supplier's lines and are located wholly or partially within 300 feet of the secondary supplier's lines, as such suppliers' lines existed on the determination date, may be served by either the secondary supplier or the primary supplier, whichever the consumer chooses, and no other supplier shall thereafter furnish service to such premises, except with the written consent of the supplier then serving the premises.

- (6) Any premises initially requiring electric service after the determination date, which are located only partially within 300 feet of the secondary supplier's lines and are located wholly more than 300 feet from the primary supplier's lines, as such supplier's lines existed on the determination date, may be served either by the secondary supplier or the primary supplier, whichever the consumer chooses, and no other supplier shall thereafter furnish service to such premises, except with the written consent of the supplier then serving the premises.
- (6a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a secondary supplier, upon obtaining the prior written consent of the city, shall be the exclusive provider of electric service within (i) any assigned area for which that secondary supplier had been assigned supplier prior to the determination date; or (ii) any area previously unassigned by the North Carolina Utilities Commission pursuant to G.S. 62-110.2. However, any rights of other electric suppliers existing under G.S. 62-110.2 prior to the determination date to provide service shall continue to exist without impairment in the areas described in (i) and (ii) above.
- (6b) A primary supplier or secondary supplier that, after the determination date, offers to serve any premises initially requiring electric service for which a consumer has a right to choose suppliers under subsections (5) or (6) of this section, without providing the consumer written notice that the consumer may be entitled to choose another electric supplier for the premises, shall not have the right to serve those premises.
- (7) Except as provided in subdivisions (1), (2), (3), (5), (6), and (6a) of this section, a secondary supplier shall not furnish electric service within the corporate limits of any city unless it first obtains the written consent of the city and the primary supplier.
- (b) In any city that is first incorporated after April 20, 1965, in which, on the effective date of the incorporation, there is more than one supplier of electric service, all suppliers of electric service therein shall continue to have the rights and be subject to the restrictions in effect before the city was incorporated until there is a primary supplier within the city.
- (c) It shall be unlawful for a primary supplier or secondary supplier to serve premises within a city that the supplier does not have the right to serve under the provisions of this Article. Upon receiving written notice from another supplier of electric service that has authority to lawfully provide service to the premises in dispute that the provision of service by the current supplier is unlawful, the primary supplier or secondary supplier that is providing electric service shall be obligated to discontinue service and remove all of its facilities used in the provision of the unlawful service within 30 days after substitute electric service can be provided by an electric supplier with authority to lawfully provide service to the premises, unless the supplier currently providing service has a good faith basis for believing it has authority to continue rendering such service. If the primary or secondary supplier is determined to be providing electric services unlawfully, and is found to have unreasonably failed to fulfill its obligation to discontinue service as required above, the supplier of electric service that has authority to lawfully provide service to the premises may bring an action to compel performance of those obligations, and may recover in that action its costs of enforcing this subsection, including its reasonable attorneys' fees. (1965, c. 287, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1997-346, s. 2; 1999-111, s. 1; 2003-24, s. 1; 2005-150, ss. 4, 5.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1997-346, s. 6, as amended by Session Laws 1999-111, s. 1, which added subdivision (a)(6a), making certain secondary suppliers exclusive, provides in part: "This act expires on December 31, 2003." Session Laws 2003-24, s. 1, repealed the expiration provision.

CASE NOTES

Legislative Intent. — By defining and restricting the rights of competing electric companies, the Legislature in the 1965 Electric Act, limited free competition among private electric suppliers in rural areas. It is for the Legislature, not for the court to determine whether legislation other than G.S. 160A-312 is needed to curtail the competitive rights of municipal electric suppliers in rural areas. Duke Power Co. v. City of High Point, 69 N.C. App. 378, 317 S.E.2d 701, cert. denied, 312 N.C. 82, 321 S.E.2d 895 (1984).

The Electric Act of 1965 was originally intended to prevent or reduce litigation regarding electric service rights between competing suppliers. City of Concord v. Duke Power Co., 346 N.C. 211, 485 S.E.2d 278 (1997).

Common-law doctrine of abandonment does not apply to the 1965 Electric Act. Duke Power Co. v. City of Morganton, 90 N.C. App. 755, 370 S.E.2d 54, cert. denied, 323 N.C. 364, 373 S.E.2d 544 (1988).

In situations in which multiple annexations have occurred, the determination date is the annexation date in which a primary and secondary supplier competing for the right to service a premises initially requiring electric service first existed. City of Concord v. Duke Power Co., 346 N.C. 211, 485 S.E.2d 278 (1997).

§ 160A-333. Temporary electric service.

No electric supplier shall furnish temporary electric service for the construction of premises which it would not have the right to serve under this Part if such premises were already constructed. The construction of lines for, and the furnishing of, temporary electric service for the construction of premises which any other electric supplier, if chosen by the consumer, would have the right to serve if such premises were already constructed, shall not impair the right of such other electric supplier to furnish service to such premises after the construction thereof, if then chosen by the consumer; nor, unless the consumer chooses to have such premises served by the supplier that furnished the temporary service, shall the furnishing of such temporary service or the construction of a line therefor impair the right of any other electric supplier to furnish service to any other premises which, without regard to the construction of such temporary service line, it has the right to serve. (1965, c. 287, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 53.)

§ 160A-334. Authority and jurisdiction of Utilities Commission.

Notwithstanding G.S. 160A-332 and 160A-333, if the North Carolina Utilities Commission finds that service being furnished to or to be furnished to the consumer by a secondary supplier is or will be inadequate or undependable, or that rates, conditions of service or service regulations, applied to such consumer, are unreasonably discriminatory, the Commission shall have the authority and jurisdiction, after notice to each affected electric supplier, and after hearing, if a hearing is requested by an interested party, to:

- (1) Order a primary supplier that is subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission to furnish electric service to any consumer who desires service from the primary supplier at any premises served by a secondary supplier, or at premises which a secondary supplier has the right to serve pursuant to other sections of this Part, and to order such secondary supplier to cease and desist from furnishing electric service to such premises, or

- (2) Order any secondary supplier to cease and desist from furnishing electric service to any premises being served by it or to any premises which it has the right to serve pursuant to other sections of this Part, if the consumer desires service from a primary supplier that is not subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission and which is willing to furnish service to such premises. (1965, c. 287, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 54.)

§ 160A-335. Discontinuance of service and transfer of facilities by secondary supplier.

A secondary supplier may voluntarily discontinue its service to any premises and remove any of its electric facilities located inside the corporate limits of a city or sell and transfer such facilities to a primary supplier in such city, subject to approval by the North Carolina Utilities Commission, if the Commission determines that the public interest will not thereby be adversely affected. (1965, c. 287, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-336. Electric service for city facilities.

No provisions of this Part shall prevent a city that is a primary supplier from furnishing its own electric service for city facilities, or prevent any other primary supplier from furnishing electric street lighting service to a city inside its corporate limits. (1965, c. 287, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-337. Effect of Part on rights and duties of primary supplier.

Except for the rights granted to and restrictions upon primary suppliers contained in the provisions of this Part, nothing in this Part shall diminish, enlarge, alter, or affect in any way the rights and duties of a primary supplier to furnish electric service to premises within the corporate limits of a city. (1965, c. 287, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-338. Electric suppliers subject to police power.

No provisions of this Part shall restrict the exercise of the police power of a city over the erection and maintenance of poles, wires, and other facilities of electric suppliers in streets, alleys, and other public ways. (1965, c. 287, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

ARTICLE 17.

*Cemeteries.§ 160A-341. Authority to establish and operate cemeteries.

A city shall have authority to establish, operate, and maintain cemeteries either inside or outside its corporate limits, may acquire and hold real and personal property for cemetery purposes by gift, purchase, or (for real property) by exercise of the power of eminent domain, may devote any property owned by the city to use as a cemetery, may prohibit burials at any place within the city other than city cemeteries, and may regulate the manner of burial in city cemeteries. Nothing in this section shall confer upon any city authority to prohibit or regulate burials in cemeteries licensed by the State Burial Association Commissioner, or in church cemeteries.

As used in this Article "cemetery" includes columbariums and facilities for cremation. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1969, c. 402; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

City's Power over Interment. — The ownership of a lot in a cemetery or a license to inter therein is subject to the police power of the State; interments may be forbidden, and bodies already interred removed, by ordinance of the city, if authorized by act of the legislature. Humphrey v. Board of Trustees, 109 N.C. 132, 13 S.E. 793 (1891), decided under former § 160-2(3).

Town was not impliedly authorized to enact an ordinance reserving to itself the exclusive right to set memorial markers in cemeteries and requiring the payment of a special charge for setting such markers not purchased from the town by former G.S. 160-2(3). Grave constitutional questions would be raised by any statute giving a town such authority. State v. McGraw, 249 N.C. 205, 105 S.E.2d 659 (1958).

§ 160A-342. Authority to transfer cemeteries.

A city may transfer and convey any city cemetery property, together with any accumulated perpetual care trust funds set aside for the maintenance of the cemetery, to any religious organization or cemetery licensed by the State Burial Association Commissioner, upon condition that the transferee will continue use of the property as a cemetery, will perpetually maintain it, and will apply any perpetual care trust funds so transferred only for maintenance of the cemetery. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1969, c. 402; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-343. Authority to abandon cemeteries.

A city shall have authority to abandon any cemetery that has not been used for interment purposes within 10 years. Upon abandonment, all monuments, tombstones, and the contents of all graves within the cemetery shall be transferred at city expense to another city cemetery, or to a cemetery licensed by the State Burial Association Commissioner. After the transfer of monuments, tombstones, and the contents of graves, the city may take possession of, convey, or use the former cemetery property for any lawful purpose. (1917, c. 136, subch. 5, s. 1; 1919, cc. 136, 237; C.S., s. 2787; 1969, c. 402; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-344. Authority to assume control of abandoned cemeteries.

(a) Whenever property not under the control or in the possession of any church or religious organization in any city has been heretofore set aside or used for cemetery purposes, and the trustees or owners named in the deed or deeds for the property have died, or are unknown, or the deeds of conveyance have been lost or misplaced and no record of title thereto has been found, and the property has been occupied and used for burial purposes for a time sufficient to identify its use as cemetery property, the city in which the cemetery is located is authorized to take possession of the land and any adjoining land not held by known claimants of title, have the property surveyed and lines established, and to designate and appropriate the property as a city cemetery.

(b) The city may have the land subdivided and laid off into family burial plots, may sell any of the unused lots so laid off to any person for burial purposes, and may use the proceeds of the sale for the improvement and upkeep of the cemetery.

(c) The city may appropriate and use funds for the improvement and maintenance of the cemetery, and all laws and ordinances applicable to city cemeteries shall apply to the cemetery from and after the date that the city assumes control of it. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-345. Authority to condemn cemeteries.

A city shall have authority to acquire title in fee simple by purchase or exercise of the power of eminent domain to any cemetery, graveyard, or burial place within the city and to operate and maintain the property so acquired as a city cemetery. This section shall not apply to a cemetery licensed by the North Carolina State Burial Association Commissioner, nor to property owned or controlled by any church or religious organization, unless the owner of the property consents to the acquisition. (1951, c. 385, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-346. Authority to condemn easements for perpetual care.

A city shall have authority to acquire an easement for perpetual care by gift, grant, purchase, or exercise of the power of eminent domain in any cemetery, graveyard, or burial place within the city. When a perpetual care easement is acquired under this section, all city ordinances concerning the care and upkeep of city cemeteries shall be applicable to the cemetery, and the income from city perpetual care trust funds may be used to care for and maintain the cemetery. This section shall not apply to a cemetery licensed by the North Carolina State Burial Association Commissioner or to property owned or controlled by any church or religious organization unless the owner of the property consents to the acquisition. (1951, c. 385, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-347. Perpetual care trust funds.

(a) A city is authorized to create a perpetual care trust fund for any cemeteries under its ownership or control, to accept gifts, grants, bequests, and devises on behalf of the perpetual care trust fund, to deposit any revenues realized from the sale of lots in or the operation of city cemeteries in the perpetual care trust fund, and to hold and administer the trust fund for the purpose of perpetually caring for and beautifying the city’s cemeteries. The city may make contracts with the owners of plots in city cemeteries obligating the city to maintain the plots in perpetuity upon payment of such sums as the council may fix.

(b) The principal of perpetual care trust funds shall be held intact, and the income from such funds shall be used to carry out contracts with plot owners for the perpetual care of the plots, and to maintain and perpetually care for the cemetery.

(c) Perpetual care trust funds shall be kept separate and apart from all other city funds, and shall in no case be appropriated by, lent to, or in any manner used by the city for any purpose other than the perpetual care of city cemeteries. (1917, c. 136, subch. 9, s. 1; C.S., ss. 2810, 2811, 2812; 1927, c. 254; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-348. Regulation of city cemeteries.

A city may by ordinance adopt rules and regulations concerning the opening of graves, the erection of tombstones and monuments, the building of walls and fences, the hours of opening and closing and all other matters concerning the use, operation, and maintenance of city cemeteries. The ordinance may impose a schedule of prices for lots and fees for the opening of graves in the cemetery, but it may not require the owners of plots to purchase monuments, vaults, or other items from the city. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

ARTICLE 17A.

Cemetery Trustees.

§ 160A-349.1. Creation of board authorized; official title; terms of office; vacancies.

The governing body of any municipal corporation which now owns or shall hereafter own a cemetery is authorized, if it is deemed proper, to create a board composed of not less than three nor more than five persons, to be known as “Cemetery Trustees of the Town or City of, North Carolina”; shall fix the term of office of each member, in no case to exceed five years, and in case of any vacancy by death, resignation or otherwise, elect a successor. (Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 583, s. 1.)

Editor’s Note. — This Article, which is derived from Public-Local Laws 1923, c. 583, as amended by Session Laws 1951, c. 87, and Session Laws 1973, c. 474, s. 31, was omitted from the General Statutes of 1943, and was codified for the first time in 1973.

§ 160A-349.2. Members to meet and organize; meetings; bond of secretary and treasurer; record of proceedings.

The members of said board, when properly elected, shall within 30 days after notice of their election convene and designate one of their number chairman, one secretary and treasurer, and provide for regular meetings at such times as the said board shall fix; it shall also fix the bond to be given by the secretary and treasurer, conditioned for the faithful accounting of all moneys which shall come into his hands; shall provide for special meetings, and shall cause the secretary to keep a record of its proceedings. (Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 583, s. 2.)

§ 160A-349.3. Property vested.

Upon the creation of such board the title to all property held by the town or city and used for cemetery purposes shall pass to and vest in said board, subject to the same limitations, conditions and restrictions as it was held by the town or city; provided, that the governing body of the town or city may at any time by resolution direct that title to such property shall pass to and vest in the town or city itself, and in such event it shall be the duty of the board and its officers to execute all necessary documents to effect such transfer and vesting. (Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 583, s. 3; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 30.)

§ 160A-349.4. Control and management; superintendent and assistants; enumeration of powers.

The said board shall have the exclusive control and management of such cemetery; shall have the power to employ a superintendent and such assistants as may be needed, and may do any and all things pertaining to the control, maintenance, management and upkeep of the cemetery which the governing body of the town or city could have done, or which by law the governing body of the town or city shall hereafter be authorized to do. (Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 583, s. 4.)

§ 160A-349.5. Rules continued in force.

All rules and regulations heretofore adopted by the town or city for the control, upkeep, management, and maintenance, as well as policing of the cemetery, shall continue in force and effect until and after the said board shall have changed the same as herein provided for. (Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 583, s. 5.)

§ 160A-349.6. Rules for maintaining order and policing; force of rules; copy to governing body; publication.

The said board shall have power to adopt rules and regulations for maintaining order in the cemetery and policing the same, and such rules and regulations, when adopted, shall have the same force and effect as ordinances adopted and passed by the governing body of the town or city. When any such rules and regulations shall be adopted the secretary of the board shall transmit a copy thereof to the governing body of the town or city, and shall cause a copy to be published in some newspaper published in the town or city, and the said rules and regulations shall be in force and effect 10 days after their publication. (Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 583, s. 6.)

§ 160A-349.7. Presentation of budget; details of budget; appropriation; payment to board.

Thirty days prior to the adoption of the annual budget by the governing body of the town or city, the said trustees shall present to such governing body a budget for the ensuing year, in which said budget there shall be set out in detail an accurate account of the receipts and expenditures of the board for the previous year, the estimated expense for the ensuing year, the estimated source of income from all sources, other than appropriation by the governing body of the town or city, any balance on hand, and such other information as the said trustees may think proper; and the said governing body of the town or city shall in the annual budget include such appropriation as it deems proper for the care and maintenance of the said cemetery for the ensuing year, which shall be paid over to the board of trustees in monthly installments.

For purposes of the Local Government Budget and Fiscal Control Act (Chapter 159, Subchapter III), the board of trustees of a cemetery is a board of the municipal corporation establishing the board of trustees and is not a public authority as defined by G.S. 159-7. (Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 583, s. 7; 1971, c. 780, s. 37.3; 1973, c. 474, s. 31; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 31.)

§ 160A-349.8. Commissioners to obtain maps, plats and deeds; list of lots sold and owners; surveys and plats to be made; additional lots, streets, walks and parkways; price of lots; regulation of sale of lots.

The board of trustees shall obtain from the governing body all maps, plats, deeds and other evidences relating to the lands, lots and property of the cemetery; they shall also obtain from the governing body of the town or city, as nearly as possible, an accurate list of the lots theretofore sold, together with the names of the owners thereof. The said board of trustees shall from time to time cause surveys to be made, maps and plats prepared, laying out additional lots, streets, paths, walks and parkways; shall fix a price at which such lots shall be sold, which price may from time to time, in the discretion of the board, be changed; shall adopt rules and regulations as to the sale of said lots and deliver to the purchaser or purchasers deed or evidences of title thereto. (Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 583, s. 8.)

§ 160A-349.9. Power to acquire land; adjacent property; disposal of money from lot sales; investments; income from investment.

The said board shall have the power to acquire additional lands for cemetery purposes, either by purchase or otherwise. In making such additional acquisitions of property, if possible, they shall acquire adjacent property; all moneys received from the sale of lots shall be held by the board of trustees intact and used for the purchase of additional lands; to beautify and otherwise maintain and keep the present property and the future acquired property. The board may, if it seems best to it, invest the said money in good, interest-bearing securities, payable to the said board, and the income derived therefrom shall be by the board used in the beautifying, maintenance and upkeep of the cemetery or cemeteries under its control. (Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 583, s. 9.)

§ 160A-349.10. Power to condemn land; procedure for condemnation; board incorporated.

If it becomes necessary to acquire additional lands for cemetery purposes and the board cannot agree with the owners upon the price thereof, the board shall have the power to condemn the lands for cemetery purposes, and in so doing the provisions of Chapter 40A of the General Statutes shall be followed as nearly as possible, and to that end, and for that purpose, the board of trustees of any cemetery acquired under this Article shall be deemed and considered a corporation and a body politic. (Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 583, s. 10; 2001-487, s. 38(i).)

§ 160A-349.11. Price of lands included in budget.

If any lands are acquired by purchase or condemnation for cemetery purposes and the board of trustees shall not have sufficient funds with which to pay for the same, the amount necessary shall be included in their budget request, and the governing body of any town or city may make an appropriation to complete the purchase. (Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 583, s. 11; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 32.)

§ 160A-349.12. Power to accept gifts; exclusive use of gifts.

The board of trustees of any cemetery shall have the power to accept gifts, either by devise, bequeath or otherwise, and hold the same for the purposes expressed in the gift, and any moneys coming into the hands of such board by devise or otherwise shall be by the board used exclusively for the purposes for which it is given. (Pub. Loc. 1923, c. 583, s. 12.)

§ 160A-349.13. Sale of unnecessary property.

The board of trustees of any cemetery, created pursuant to this Article, shall have the power to sell at public auction, as provided by G.S. 160-59, any real property, title to which is held by it, which it shall determine to be unfit or unnecessary for cemetery purposes, except when such sale would violate the terms of any deed, gift or trust pursuant to which the property proposed to be sold was acquired. Any such sales and conveyances heretofore made by any such board of trustees are hereby validated. (1951, c. 87.)

Editor's Note. — Section 160-59, referred to in this section, was repealed by Session Laws 1971, c. 698, s. 2. For present provisions as to sale of municipal property at public auction, see G.S. 160A-270.

§ 160A-349.14. Exercise of powers subject to approval.

The board may not act to acquire or sell land pursuant to G.S. 160A-349.9, G.S. 160A-349.10, or G.S. 160A-349.13 unless such action was approved in advance by the governing body of the town or city. (1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 33.)

§ 160A-349.15. Termination.

The governing body of the town or city shall have the authority to terminate the existence of the board at any time. In the event of such termination, all property and assets of the board shall automatically become the property of the town or city and the town or city shall succeed to all rights, obligations and liabilities of the board. Further, in the event of such termination, it shall be the duty of the board and its officers to execute all necessary documents to effect the transfer of property and assets to the town or city. Construction of Swimming Pool as Public Purpose. — While the construction of a swimming pool as a part of a city’s recreation system may not be financed as a necessary expense of government under our constitutional limitation, N.C. Const., Art. V, § 4, without a vote of the people, nevertheless, such a facility is for a public purpose. City of Greensboro v. Smith, 239 N.C. 138, 79 S.E.2d 486 (1954), decided prior to enactment of this Article.

§ 160A-351. Declaration of State policy.

The lack of adequate recreational programs and facilities is a menace to the morals, happiness, and welfare of the people of this State. Making available recreational opportunities for citizens of all ages is a subject of general interest and concern, and a function requiring appropriate action by both State and local government. The General Assembly therefore declares that the public good and the general welfare of the citizens of this State require adequate recreation programs, that the creation, establishment, and operation of parks and recreation programs is a proper governmental function, and that it is the policy of North Carolina to forever encourage, foster, and provide these facilities and programs for all its citizens. § 160A-353. Powers.

In addition to any other powers it may possess to provide for the general welfare of its citizens, each county and city in this State shall have authority to:

- (1) Establish and conduct a system of supervised recreation;
- (2) Set apart lands and buildings for parks, playgrounds, recreational centers, and other recreational programs and facilities;
- (3) Acquire real property, either within or without the corporate limits of the city or the boundaries of the county, including water and air rights, for parks and recreation programs and facilities by gift, grant, purchase, lease, exercise of the power of eminent domain, or any other lawful method.
- (4) Provide, acquire, construct, equip, operate, and maintain parks, playgrounds, recreation centers, and recreation facilities, including all buildings, structures, and equipment necessary or useful in connection therewith;
- (5) Appropriate funds to carry out the provisions of this Article;
- (6) Accept any gift, grant, lease, loan, bequest, or devise of real or personal property for parks and recreation programs. Devises, bequests, and gifts may be accepted and held subject to such terms and conditions as may be imposed by the grantor or trustor, except that no county or city may accept or administer any terms that require it to discriminate among its citizens on the basis of race, sex, or religion. Recreational Facility Need Not Be Designed Before Land Is Acquired. — Neither G.S. 40A-3(b)(3), which vests municipalities with the power of eminent domain to establish, enlarge or improve parks, playgrounds and other recreational facilities, nor this section, of similar import, nor any other statute, contains any requirement that the city design a public facility authorized by resolution before the land for the facility is acquired. City of Charlotte v. Rouso, 82 N.C. App. 588, 346 S.E.2d 693 (1986).

Dedication for Recreation Facilities Is for Public Purpose. — The power of cities to dedicate real property for use as recreation centers and for other recreational purposes was expressly conferred by former G.S. 160-156, and the exercise of this power was in the public interest and for a public purpose. Brumley v. Baxter, 225 N.C. 691, 36 S.E.2d 281, 162 A.L.R. 930 (1945). See also, White v. City of Charlotte, 209 N.C. 573, 183 S.E. 730 (1936); Atkins v. City of Durham, 210 N.C. 295, 186 S.E. 330 (1936).

Issuance of Bonds to Establish Parks and Playgrounds Upheld. — Municipal corporations were given authority by former G.S. 160-156, 160-200(12), and 160-229, to establish parks and playgrounds necessary to the maintenance of the health of their inhabitants; hence, an ordinance of a populous industrial city which provided for the issuance of bonds to establish and maintain parks and playgrounds for the children of the city was a valid exercise of its police power under legislative authority for the promotion of the public health, safety, and morals. Atkins v. City of Durham, 210 N.C. 295, 186 S.E. 330 (1936).

Abandonment of Public Park. — The authority to acquire, establish, and regulate parks conferred by former G.S. 160-200(12) did not give a municipality the power to abandon an established public park. Wishart v. City of Lumberton, 254 N.C. 94, 118 S.E.2d 35 (1961).

Eminent Domain Proper Exercise of Power to Acquire Land for Parks. — It was not error to find that plaintiff was authorized to acquire land for parks, recreational programs and facilities through exercise of power of eminent domain. Town of Chapel Hill v. Burchette, 100 N.C. App. 157, 394 S.E.2d 698 (1990).

§ 160A-354. Administration of parks and recreation programs.

A city or county may operate a parks and recreation system as a line department, or it may create a parks and recreation commission and vest in it authority to operate the parks and recreation system. (1945, c. 1052; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-355. Joint parks and recreation systems.

Any two or more units of local government may cooperate in establishing parks and recreation systems as authorized in Article 20, Part 1, of this Chapter. (1945, c. 1052; 1967, c. 1228; 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

§ 160A-356. Financing parks and recreation.

Each county and city is authorized to expend for its parks and recreation system any of its revenues not otherwise limited as to use by law. (1945, c. 1052; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1975, c. 664, s. 12.)

§ 160A-357: Repealed by Session Laws 1975, c. 664, s. 13.

§§ 160A-358, 160A-359: Reserved for future codification purposes.

ARTICLE 19.

Planning and Regulation of Development.

Part 1. General Provisions.

§ 160A-360. Territorial jurisdiction.

(a) All of the powers granted by this Article may be exercised by any city within its corporate limits. In addition, any city may exercise these powers within a defined area extending not more than one mile beyond its limits. With the approval of the board or boards of county commissioners with jurisdiction over the area, a city of 10,000 or more population but less than 25,000 may exercise these powers over an area extending not more than two miles beyond its limits and a city of 25,000 or more population may exercise these powers over an area extending not more than three miles beyond its limits. The boundaries of the city's extraterritorial jurisdiction shall be the same for all powers conferred in this Article. No city may exercise extraterritorially any power conferred by this Article that it is not exercising within its corporate limits. In determining the population of a city for the purposes of this Article, the city council and the board of county commissioners may use the most recent annual estimate of population as certified by the Secretary of the North Carolina Department of Administration.

(a1) Any municipality planning to exercise extraterritorial jurisdiction under this Article shall notify the owners of all parcels of land proposed for addition to the area of extraterritorial jurisdiction, as shown on the county tax records. The notice shall be sent by first-class mail to the last addresses listed for affected property owners in the county tax records. The notice shall inform the landowner of the effect of the extension of extraterritorial jurisdiction, of the landowner's right to participate in a public hearing prior to adoption of any ordinance extending the area of extraterritorial jurisdiction, as provided in G.S. 160A-364, and the right of all residents of the area to apply to the board of county commissioners to serve as a representative on the planning board and the board of adjustment, as provided in G.S. 160A-362. The notice shall be mailed at least four weeks prior to the public hearing. The person or persons mailing the notices shall certify to the city council that the notices were sent by first-class mail, and the certificate shall be deemed conclusive in the absence of fraud.

(b) Any council wishing to exercise extraterritorial jurisdiction under this Article shall adopt, and may amend from time to time, an ordinance specifying the areas to be included based upon existing or projected urban development and areas of critical concern to the city, as evidenced by officially adopted plans for its development. Boundaries shall be defined, to the extent feasible, in terms of geographical features identifiable on the ground. A council may, in its discretion, exclude from its extraterritorial jurisdiction areas lying in another county, areas separated from the city by barriers to urban growth, or areas whose projected development will have minimal impact on the city. The boundaries specified in the ordinance shall at all times be drawn on a map, set forth in a written description, or shown by a combination of these techniques. This delineation shall be maintained in the manner provided in G.S. 160A-22 for the delineation of the corporate limits, and shall be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of each county in which any portion of the area lies.

(c) Where the extraterritorial jurisdiction of two or more cities overlaps, the jurisdictional boundary between them shall be a line connecting the midway points of the overlapping area unless the city councils agree to another boundary line within the overlapping area based upon existing or projected patterns of development.

(d) If a city fails to adopt an ordinance specifying the boundaries of its extraterritorial jurisdiction, the county of which it is a part shall be authorized to exercise the powers granted by this Article in any area beyond the city's corporate limits. The county may also, on request of the city council, exercise any or all these powers in any or all areas lying within the city's corporate limits or within the city's specified area of extraterritorial jurisdiction.

(e) No city may hereafter extend its extraterritorial powers under this Article into any area for which the county at that time has adopted and is enforcing a zoning ordinance and subdivision regulations and within which it is enforcing the State Building Code. However, the city may do so where the county is not exercising all three of these powers, or when the city and the county have agreed upon the area within which each will exercise the powers conferred by this Article.

(f) When a city annexes, or a new city is incorporated in, or a city extends its jurisdiction to include, an area that is currently being regulated by the county, the county regulations and powers of enforcement shall remain in effect until (i) the city has adopted such regulations, or (ii) a period of 60 days has elapsed following the annexation, extension or incorporation, whichever is sooner. During this period the city may hold hearings and take any other measures that may be required in order to adopt its regulations for the area.

(f1) When a city relinquishes jurisdiction over an area that it is regulating under this Article to a county, the city regulations and powers of enforcement shall remain in effect until (i) the county has adopted this regulation or (ii) a period of 60 days has elapsed following the action by which the city relinquished jurisdiction, whichever is sooner. During this period the county may hold hearings and take other measures that may be required in order to adopt its regulations for the area.

(g) When a local government is granted powers by this section subject to the request, approval, or agreement of another local government, the request, approval, or agreement shall be evidenced by a formally adopted resolution of that government's legislative body. Any such request, approval, or agreement can be rescinded upon two years' written notice to the other legislative bodies concerned by repealing the resolution. The resolution may be modified at any time by mutual agreement of the legislative bodies concerned.

(h) Nothing in this section shall repeal, modify, or amend any local act which defines the boundaries of a city's extraterritorial jurisdiction by metes and bounds or courses and distances.

(i) Whenever a city or county, pursuant to this section, acquires jurisdiction over a territory that theretofore has been subject to the jurisdiction of another local government, any person who has acquired vested rights under a permit, certificate, or other evidence of compliance issued by the local government surrendering jurisdiction may exercise those rights as if no change of jurisdiction had occurred. The city or county acquiring jurisdiction may take any action regarding such a permit, certificate, or other evidence of compliance that could have been taken by the local government surrendering jurisdiction pursuant to its ordinances and regulations. Except as provided in this subsection, any building, structure, or other land use in a territory over which a city or county has acquired jurisdiction is subject to the ordinances and regulations of the city or county.

(j) Repealed by Session Laws 1973, c. 669, s. 1. (1959, c. 1204; 1961, c. 103; c. 548, ss. 1, 13/4; c. 1217; 1963, cc. 519, 889, 1076, 1105; 1965, c. 121; c. 348, s. 2; c. 450, s. 1; c. 864, ss. 3-6; 1967, cc. 15, 22, 149; c. 197, s. 2; cc. 246, 685; c. 1208, s. 3; 1969, cc. 11, 53; c. 1010, s. 5; c. 1099; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; c. 1076, s. 3; 1973, c. 426, s. 56; c. 525; c. 669, s. 1; 1977, c. 882; c. 912, ss. 2, 4; 1995 (Reg. Study Commission on Residential and Urban Development Encroachment on Military Bases and Training Areas. — Session Laws 2004-161, ss. 4.1 to 4.5, create the Study Commission on Residential and Urban Development Encroachment on Military Bases and Training Areas.

Session Laws 2004-161, s. 4.2, provides: "The Commission shall study the following concerning residential and urban development encroachment on military bases and training areas:

"(1) Restricting the zoning in the areas around military bases and training areas.

"(2) How encroachment affects deed registration.

"(3) Protecting the areas around military bases and training areas by purchasing development rights and buffers using all available State trust funds and other available funding mechanisms.

"(4) Any other issue the Commission considers relevant."

Session Laws 2004-161, s. 4.4, provides that the Commission shall submit a final report of findings and recommendations, including any legislative recommendations, to the 2005 General Assembly upon its convening. The Commission shall terminate upon the convening of the 2005 General Assembly.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-418, s. 14, provides: "The provisions of this act shall not be deemed to repeal or amend the validity or enforceability of any local act or charter provision previously enacted by the General Assembly."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-418, s. 10, effective January 1, 2006, substituted "planning board" for "planning agency" in the third sentence of subsection (a1).

CASE NOTES

The obvious purpose of the statutory mandate in subsection (b) requiring that boundaries be defined in terms of geographical features identifiable on the ground is that boundaries be defined, to the extent feasible, so that owners of property outside the city can easily and accurately ascertain whether their property is within the area over which the city exercises its extraterritorial zoning authority. Sellers v. City of Asheville, 33 N.C. App. 544, 236 S.E.2d 283 (1977).

Standing to Contest Annexation Scheme of Neighboring Town. — Section 160A-31 describes a voluntary annexation undertaken at the request of land owners and does not authorize suit by neighboring municipalities; only if another town owned property in the annexed area, or if both towns were simultaneously attempting to annex controverted property, could there be a justiciable controversy, giving one town standing to contest the annexation by the other, and, even then, this section provides a way to resolve such a conflict. Town of Ayden v. Town of Winterville, 143 N.C. App. 136, 544 S.E.2d 821, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 223 (2001).

A county may not exercise jurisdiction over any part of a city located within its borders. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Statutes do not give a county authority over provision of sewer services within a city, or over newly annexed areas of the city which also lie in the county. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Use of City-Owned Sewage Treatment Plant Without Prior Approval of County. — Since county had no authority to restrict or regulate city's provision of sewer service to its residents, the city could use city-owned sewage treatment plant located outside the city but within the county, which was upgraded pursuant to the county's special use permit, with a condition attached to the permit requiring the county's prior approval of service to county citizens, to meet its statutory mandate to provide sewer service to residents in newly annexed areas without seeking the county's prior approval, even though the facility was located in the county. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

Town Not Exempt from Description Requirements. — By enacting Session Laws 1973, c. 131, which provided that Town of Lake Waccamaw "may exercise the powers set forth" in this section, et seq. within one mile of the town limits and within 2,000 feet of Lake Waccamaw's high water mark, the legislature did not exercise extraterritorial jurisdiction on behalf of Lake Waccamaw, but merely permitted it to be done. Therefore, the Town of Lake Waccamaw was not exempted thereby from the description requirements of subsection (b) of this section. Town of Lake Waccamaw v. Savage, 86 N.C. App. 211, 356 S.E.2d 810, cert. denied, 320 N.C. 797, 361 S.E.2d 89 (1987).

County Zoning Ordinance Did Not Preclude Town's Extension. — Town was not precluded from extending its extraterritorial jurisdiction pursuant to G.S. 160A-360(e) because an earlier county ordinance did not extend zoning into the proposed area under G.S. 153A-344(a), and a subsequent county zoning ordinance was enacted arbitrarily and capriciously under G.S. 153A-340(a) and G.S. 153A-341. Town of Green Level v. Alamance County, — N.C. App. —, 646 S.E.2d 851, 2007 N.C. App. LEXIS 1622 (2007).

Definition of Boundaries Held Not to Comply with Subsection (b). — Extraterritorial jurisdiction ordinance enacted by town, which defined extraterritorial boundaries by reference to a map showing the boundaries drawn in sweeping curves around town limits and lake, did not comply with the description requirements of subsection (b) of this section. Town of Lake Waccamaw v. Savage, 86 N.C. App. 211, 356 S.E.2d 810, cert. denied, 320 N.C. 797, 361 S.E.2d 89 (1987).

Definiteness in Boundary Descriptions Not Met. — The boundaries of a city's proposed extraterritorial zone failed to meet the degree of definiteness mandated by subsection (b) where the only description merely referred to "the territory beyond the corporate limits for a distance of one mile in all directions" and the map showed the "mile boundary" drawn in sweeping curves. Sellers v. City of Asheville, 33 N.C. App. 544, 236 S.E.2d 283 (1977).

Failure to Record Descriptions Not Fatal. — The city substantially complied with this section although it failed to timely record the map or written description of the ordinance in which it exercised extraterritorial jurisdiction; therefore, the plaintiff-store owner was barred from attacking the validity of the ordinance based on procedural grounds by the statute of limitations provided in G.S. 160A-364.1. Potter v. City of Hamlet, 141 N.C. App. 714, 541 S.E.2d 233, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 18 (2001), cert. denied, 355 N.C. 379, 547 S.E.2d 814 (2001).

Adult Business Ordinance Held Vague. — Because a county's adult business ordinance was ambiguous as to whether it applied to businesses outside a city's business limits or only to businesses outside the city's extraterritorial jurisdiction, it was interpreted as applying only to the latter. State v. Baggett, 133 N.C. App. 47, 514 S.E.2d 536 (1999).

Zoning Ordinance Held Void. — Plaintiff town did not satisfy requirements of this section and G.S. 160A-364 where its notice of a public hearing failed to apprise defendants, or any other property owners within the affected area, of the nature and character of proposed actions to exert extra-territorial jurisdiction, failed to describe in any way the area in question, and failed to comport with the clear requirements of G.S. 160A-364 in that it was not published in two successive calendar weeks, and where, furthermore, plaintiff's ordinance was adopted in a proceeding held over eight months subsequent to its initial hearing, and without either further public hearing or notice, and plaintiff never recorded a boundary description as required by subsection (b) of this section; therefore, the court correctly ruled plaintiff's extraterritorial zoning ordinance void and ineffective as against defendants. Town of Swansboro v. Odum, 96 N.C. App. 115, 384 S.E.2d 302 (1989).

§ 160A-361. Planning boards.

(a) Any city may by ordinance create or designate one or more boards or commissions to perform the following duties:

- (1) Make studies of the area within its jurisdiction and surrounding areas;
- (2) Determine objectives to be sought in the development of the study area;
- (3) Prepare and adopt plans for achieving these objectives;
- (4) Develop and recommend policies, ordinances, administrative procedures, and other means for carrying out plans in a coordinated and efficient manner;
- (5) Advise the council concerning the use and amendment of means for carrying out plans;
- (6) Exercise any functions in the administration and enforcement of various means for carrying out plans that the council may direct;

- (7) Perform any other related duties that the council may direct.
- (b) A board or commission created or designated pursuant to this section may include, but shall not be limited to, one or more of the following:
- (1) A planning board or commission of any size (with not fewer than three members) or composition deemed appropriate, organized in any manner deemed appropriate;
 - (2) A joint planning board created by two or more local governments pursuant to Article 20, Part 1, of this Chapter. (1919, c. 23, s. 1; C.S., s. 2643; 1945, c. 1040, s. 2; 1955, cc. 489, 1252; 1959, c. 327, s. 2; c. 390; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 57; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 35; 1997-309, s. 7; 1997-456, s. 27; 2004-199, s. 41(a).)

Editor's Note. — The subsection (a) and (b) designations were inserted pursuant to Session Laws 1997-456, s. 27 which authorized the Revisor of Statutes to renumber or reletter sections and parts of sections having a number or letter designation that is incompatible with the General Assembly's computer database.

CASE NOTES

The planning board (zoning commission) has no legislative, judicial or quasi-judicial power. Its recommendations do not restrict or otherwise affect the legislative power of the legislative body, i.e., the city council.

§ 160A-362. Extraterritorial representation.

When a city elects to exercise extraterritorial zoning or subdivision-regulation powers under G.S. 160A-360, it shall in the ordinance creating or designating its planning board provide a means of proportional representation based on population for residents of the extraterritorial area to be regulated. Representation shall be provided by appointing at least one resident of the entire extraterritorial zoning and subdivision regulation area to the planning board and the board of adjustment that makes recommendations or grants relief in these matters. For purposes of this section, an additional member must be appointed to the planning board or board of adjustment to achieve proportional representation only when the population of the entire extraterritorial zoning and subdivision area constitutes a full fraction of the municipality's population divided by the total membership of the planning board or board of adjustment. Membership of joint municipal county planning agencies or boards of adjustment may be appointed as agreed by counties and municipalities. Any advisory board established prior to July 1, 1983, to provide the required extraterritorial representation shall constitute compliance with this section until the board is abolished by ordinance of the city. The representatives on the planning board and the board of adjustment shall be appointed by the board of county commissioners with jurisdiction over the area. When selecting a new representative to the planning board or to the board of adjustment as a result of an extension of the extraterritorial jurisdiction, the board of county commissioners shall hold a public hearing on the selection. A notice of the hearing shall be given once a week for two successive calendar weeks in a newspaper having general circulation in the area. The board of county commissioners shall select appointees only from those who apply at or before the public hearing. The county shall make the appointments within 45 days following the public hearing. Once a city provides proportional representation, no power available to a city under G.S. 160A-360 shall be ineffective in its extraterritorial area solely because county appointments have not yet been made. If there is an insufficient number of qualified residents of the area to meet membership requirements, the board of county commissioners may appoint as many other residents of the county as necessary to make up the requisite number. When the extraterritorial area extends into two or more counties, each board of county commissioners concerned shall appoint representatives from its portion of the area, as specified in the ordinance. If a board of county commissioners fails to make these appointments within 90 days after receiving a resolution from the city council requesting that they be made, the city council may make them. If the ordinance so provides, the outside representatives may have equal rights, privileges, and duties with the other members of the board to which they are appointed, regardless of whether the matters at issue arise within the city or within the extraterritorial area; otherwise they shall function only with respect to matters within the extraterritorial area. § 160A-363. Supplemental powers.

(a) A city or its designated planning board may accept, receive, and disburse in furtherance of its functions any funds, grants, and services made available by the federal government and its agencies, the State government and its agencies, any local government and its agencies, and any private and civic sources. Any city, or its designated planning board with the concurrence of the council, may enter into and carry out contracts with the State and federal governments or any agencies thereof under which financial or other planning assistance is made available to the city and may agree to and comply with any reasonable conditions that are imposed upon such assistance.

(b) Any city, or its designated planning board with the concurrence of the council, may enter into and carry out contracts with any other city, county, or regional council or planning agency under which it agrees to furnish technical planning assistance to the other local government or planning agency. Any city, or its designated planning board with the concurrence of its council, may enter into and carry out contracts with any other city, county, or regional council or planning agency under which it agrees to pay the other local government or planning board for technical planning assistance.

(c) Any city council is authorized to make any appropriations that may be necessary to carry out any activities or contracts authorized by this Article or to support, and compensate members of, any planning board that it may create pursuant to this Article, and to levy taxes for these purposes as a necessary expense.

(d) A city may elect to combine any of the ordinances authorized by this Article into a unified ordinance. Unless expressly provided otherwise, a city may apply any of the definitions and procedures authorized by law to any or all aspects of the unified ordinance and may employ any organizational structure, board, commission, or staffing arrangement authorized by law to any or all aspects of the ordinance.

(e) If the city is found to have illegally exacted a tax, fee, or monetary contribution for development or a development permit not specifically authorized by law, the city shall return the tax, fee, or monetary contribution plus interest of six percent (6%) per annum. (1919, c. 23, s. 1; C.S., s. 2643; 1945, c. 1040, s. 2; 1955, cc. 489, 1252; 1959, c. 327, s. 2; c. 390; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1983, c. 377, s. 9; 2004-199, s. 41(b); 2005-418, s. 1(a); 2007-371, s. 2.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-418, s. 14, provides: "The provisions of this act shall not be deemed to repeal or amend the validity or enforceability of any local act or charter provision previously enacted by the General Assembly."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws

2005-418, s. 1(a), effective January 1, 2006, added subsection designations to the existing provisions; and added present subsection (d).

Session Laws 2007-371, s. 2, effective August 19, 2007, and applicable to actions filed on or after that date, added subsection (e).

§ 160A-364. Procedure for adopting, amending, or repealing ordinances under Article.

(a) Before adopting, amending, or repealing any ordinance authorized by this Article, the city council shall hold a public hearing on it. A notice of the public hearing shall be given once a week for two successive calendar weeks in a newspaper having general circulation in the area. The notice shall be published the first time not less than 10 days nor more than 25 days before the date fixed for the hearing. In computing such period, the day of publication is not to be included but the day of the hearing shall be included.

(b) If the adoption or modification of the ordinance would result in changes to the zoning map or would change or affect the permitted uses of land located five miles or less from the perimeter boundary of a military base, the governing body of the local government shall provide written notice of the proposed changes by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the commander of the military base not less than 10 days nor more than 25 days before the date fixed for the public hearing. If the military provides comments or analysis regarding the compatibility of the proposed ordinance or amendment with military operations at the base, the governing body of the local government shall take the comments and analysis into consideration before making a final determination on the ordinance. (1923, c. 250, s. 4; C.S., s. 2776(u); 1927, c. 90; 1955, c. 1334, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 58; 1977, c. 912, s. 5; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 36; 1981, c. 891, s. 1; 2004-75, s. 2; 2005-426, s. 1(a).)

CASE NOTES

Notice Must Reveal Nature and Character of Proposed Action. — To be adequate, the notice of public hearing required by this section must fairly and sufficiently apprise those whose rights may be affected of the nature and character of the action proposed. Sellers v. City of Asheville, 33 N.C. App. 544, 236 S.E.2d 283 (1977).

G.S. 160A-364 plainly states that it is the “city council” that shall hold a public hearing and that it is notice of that public hearing which must be given; this language in no way permits the argument that notice can somehow be given for a hearing before a body other than a city council in order to satisfy the statute. Molamphy v. Town of S. Pines, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 3594 (M.D.N.C. Mar. 3, 2004).

Notice Held Adequate. — Where defendant’s published notice of zoning action stated that village would consider extending its extraterritorial zoning jurisdiction, and metes and bounds description included land owned by plaintiff, that description put plaintiff on notice that changes would be made affecting its property. Pinehurst Area Realty, Inc. v. Village of Pinehurst, 100 N.C. App. 77, 394 S.E.2d 251 (1990), review denied and appeal dismissed, 328 N.C. 92, 402 S.E.2d 417 (1991), cert. denied, 501 U.S. 1251, 111 S. Ct. 2890, 115 L. Ed. 2d 1055 (1991).

Notices Held Inadequate. — Where none of the notices published pursuant to this section informed the public that the city intended, for the first time in its history, to make its zoning ordinance applicable to property outside its city limits, the notices were not in compliance with this section, since they failed adequately to alert owners of property outside the city that their rights might be affected. Sellers v. City of Asheville, 33 N.C. App. 544, 236 S.E.2d 283 (1977).

Amendment to a town’s development ordinance, which would have prohibited convenience stores in certain zoning districts, was invalid under G.S. 160A-364 and under the development ordinance itself because the pre-adoption notice did not satisfy requirements for adequacy of description and publication; the fact that the landowner who challenged the amendment had actual notice prior to adoption did not prevent the amendment from being void. Molamphy v. Town of S. Pines, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 3594 (M.D.N.C. Mar. 3, 2004).

Zoning Ordinance Held Void. — Plaintiff town did not satisfy requirements of G.S. 160A-360 and this section where its notice of a public hearing failed to apprise defendants, or any other property owners within the affected area, of the nature and character of proposed actions to exert extraterritorial jurisdiction, failed to describe in any way the area in question, and failed to comport with the clear requirements of this section in that it was not published in two successive calendar weeks, and where, furthermore, plaintiff’s ordinance was adopted in a proceeding held over eight months subsequent to its initial hearing, and without either further public hearing or notice, and plaintiff never recorded a boundary description as required by G.S. 160A-360(b); therefore, the court correctly ruled plaintiff’s extraterritorial zoning ordinance void and ineffective as against defendants. Town of Swansboro v. Odum, 96 N.C. App. 115, 384 S.E.2d 302 (1989).

App. LEXIS 272 (2002), cert. denied, 355 N.C. 758, 566 S.E.2d 482 (2002).

§ 160A-364.1. Statute of limitations.

A cause of action as to the validity of any zoning ordinance, or amendment thereto, adopted under this Article or other applicable law shall accrue upon adoption of the ordinance, or amendment thereto, and shall be brought within two months as provided in G.S. 1-54.1. (1981, c. 891, s. 3; 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 746, s. 7.)

CASE NOTES

Public Policy Includes Need for Finality in Zoning Matters. — Zoning claims raised important public policy considerations, and there is a strong need for finality with respect to zoning matters so that landowners may use their property without fear of challenge years after zoning has apparently been determined. Pinehurst Area Realty, Inc. v. Village of Pinehurst, 100 N.C. App. 77, 394 S.E.2d 251 (1990), review denied and appeal dismissed, 328 N.C. 92, 402 S.E.2d 417 (1991), cert. denied, 501 U.S. 1251, 111 S. Ct. 2890, 115 L. Ed. 2d 1055 (1991).

Plaintiff's challenge to zoning law based on alleged state and federal constitutional violations was not subject to three-year personal injury statute of limitations, but rather, was subject to the nine-month period contained in this section. Pinehurst Area Realty, Inc. v. Village of Pinehurst, 100 N.C. App. 77, 394 S.E.2d 251 (1990), review denied and appeal dismissed, 328 N.C. 92, 402 S.E.2d 417 (1991), cert. denied, 501 U.S. 1251, 111 S. Ct. 2890, 115 L. Ed. 2d 1055 (1991).

Injury in Clear and Concrete Fashion. — Plaintiffs' cause of action, for statute of limitations purposes, arose at the time the city's billboard ordinance first became effective because it was then that the regulation injured plaintiffs' property in clear and concrete fashion. Capital Outdoor Adv., Inc. v. City of Raleigh, 337 N.C. 150, 446 S.E.2d 289, rehearing denied, 337 N.C. 807, 449 S.E.2d 566 (1994).

Challenge to Zoning Amendment Barred. — Challenge by plaintiffs to 1975 amendment prohibiting duplexes in R-1 districts as being violative of the purposes of zoning was barred by the statute of limitations of G.S. 1-54.1, even though the ordinance was already in effect when plaintiffs acquired their interest in the property. Sherrill v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 81 N.C. App. 369, 344 S.E.2d 357, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 318 N.C. 417, 349 S.E.2d 600 (1986).

Where every landowner affected by zoning change was informed by letter that planning board would make a recommendation to the board based upon public hearing and where plaintiffs were given a full public hearing on their petition to "downzone" the property at issue, plaintiffs were given proper notice and had the opportunity to remedy their lack of diligence; therefore, the statute of limitations barred plaintiff's action challenging the zoning change. Bryan v. Raynor, 94 N.C. App. 91, 379 S.E.2d 880, cert. denied, 325 N.C. 707, 388 S.E.2d 448 (1989).

Failure to Record Land Descriptions Not Fatal. — Because the city substantially complied with G.S. 160A-360 although it failed to timely record the map or written description of the ordinance in which it exercised extraterritorial jurisdiction, the plaintiff-store owner was barred from attacking the validity of the ordinance based on procedural grounds by the statute of limitations provided in this section. Potter v. City of Hamlet, 141 N.C. App. 714, 541 S.E.2d 233, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 18 (2001), cert. denied, 355 N.C. 379, 547 S.E.2d 814 (2001).

§ 160A-365. Enforcement of ordinances.

Subject to the provisions of the ordinance, any ordinance adopted pursuant to authority conferred by this Article may be enforced by any remedy provided by G.S. 160A-175. (1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Legislative Intent. — Section 160A-175(f) and this section demonstrate a general intent by the legislature to defer to the decisions of cities on which remedies and penalties shall be used to achieve enforcement of planning and zoning ordinances. Town of Pine Knoll Shores v. Evans, 104 N.C. App. 79, 407 S.E.2d 895 (1991).

City Has Limited Choice of Remedies and Penalties. — Under G.S. 160A-175(f) and this section, the choice of remedies and penalties for enforcement of planning and zoning ordinances remains with the city. The choice of remedies and penalties, however, is limited to those remedies and penalties available in G.S. 160A-175. Town of Pine Knoll Shores v. Evans, 104 N.C. App. 79, 407 S.E.2d 895 (1991).

§ 160A-366. Validation of ordinance.

Any city ordinance regularly adopted before January 1, 1972, under authority of general laws revised and reenacted in Chapter 160A, Article 19, or under authority of any city charter or local act concerning the same subject matter, is validated with respect to its application within the corporate limits of the city and as to its application within the extraterritorial jurisdiction of the city. Such an ordinance, and any city ordinance adopted since January 1, 1972, under authority of general laws revised and reenacted in Chapter 160A, Article 19, are hereby validated, notwithstanding the fact that such ordinances were not recorded pursuant to G.S. 160A-360(b) or 160A-364 and notwithstanding the fact that the adopting city council did not also adopt an ordinance defining or delineating by specific description the areas within its extraterritorial jurisdiction pursuant to G.S. 160A-360; provided that this act shall be deemed to validate ordinances of cities in Mecklenburg County only with respect to their application within the corporate limits of such cities. Part 2. Subdivision Regulation.

§ 160A-371. Subdivision regulation.

A city may by ordinance regulate the subdivision of land within its territorial jurisdiction. In addition to final plat approval, the ordinance may include provisions for review and approval of sketch plans and preliminary plats. The ordinance may provide for different review procedures for differing classes of subdivisions. The ordinance may be adopted as part of a unified development ordinance or as a separate subdivision ordinance. Decisions on approval or denial of preliminary or final plats may be made only on the basis of standards explicitly set forth in the subdivision or unified development ordinance. Whenever the ordinance includes criteria for decision that require application of judgment, those criteria must provide adequate guiding standards for the entity charged with plat approval. (1955, c. 1334, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 2005-418, s. 2(a).) provision previously enacted by the General Assembly."

CASE NOTES

Failure to Follow Quasi-Judicial Process. — Where ordinance adopted by city required the city to use a quasi-judicial process when reviewing an application to develop property, council's decision denying a developer's application to build affordable housing would be reversed, because the council did not use fair-trial standards in reaching its decision and did not state the facts upon which it based its decision with sufficient specificity that the appellate court could review the decision to determine if it was lawful. Guilford Fin. Servs., LLC v. City of Brevard, 150 N.C. App. 1, 563 S.E.2d 27, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 399 (2002).

Conditions on Approval of Subdivision

Plan. — Merely changing the location of a recreation area as a condition of approval of a subdivision plan does not amount to a taking so as to require compensation and is a valid exercise of a municipality's police power under G.S. 160A-372. Messer v. Town of Chapel Hill, 59 N.C. App. 692, 297 S.E.2d 632 (1982), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 307 N.C. 697, 301 S.E.2d 390 (1983).

§ 160A-372. Contents and requirements of ordinance.

(a) A subdivision control ordinance may provide for the orderly growth and development of the city; for the coordination of transportation networks and utilities within proposed subdivisions with existing or planned streets and highways and with other public facilities; for the dedication or reservation of recreation areas serving residents of the immediate neighborhood within the subdivision or, alternatively, for provision of funds to be used to acquire recreation areas serving residents of the development or subdivision or more than one subdivision or development within the immediate area, and rights-of-way or easements for street and utility purposes including the dedication of rights-of-way pursuant to G.S. 136-66.10 or G.S. 136-66.11; and for the distribution of population and traffic in a manner that will avoid congestion and overcrowding and will create conditions that substantially promote public health, safety, and the general welfare.

(b) The ordinance may require a plat be prepared, approved, and recorded pursuant to the provisions of the ordinance whenever any subdivision of land takes place. The ordinance may include requirements that plats show sufficient data to determine readily and reproduce accurately on the ground the location, bearing, and length of every street and alley line, lot line, easement boundary line, and other property boundaries, including the radius and other data for curved property lines, to an appropriate accuracy and in conformance with good surveying practice.

(c) The ordinance may provide for the more orderly development of subdivisions by requiring the construction of community service facilities in accordance with municipal plans, policies, and standards. To assure compliance with these and other ordinance requirements, the ordinance may provide for performance guarantees to assure successful completion of required improvements. If a performance guarantee is required, the city shall provide a range of options of types of performance guarantees, including, but not limited to, surety bonds or letters of credit, from which the developer may choose. For any specific development, the type of performance guarantee from the range specified by the city shall be at the election of the developer.

The ordinance may provide for the reservation of school sites in accordance with comprehensive land use plans approved by the council or the planning board. In order for this authorization to become effective, before approving such plans the council or planning board and the board of education with jurisdiction over the area shall jointly determine the specific location and size of any school sites to be reserved, which information shall appear in the comprehensive land use plan. Whenever a subdivision is submitted for approval which includes part or all of a school site to be reserved under the plan, the council or planning board shall immediately notify the board of education and the board of education shall promptly decide whether it still wishes the site to be reserved. If the board of education does not wish to reserve the site, it shall so notify the council or planning board and no site shall be reserved. If the board of education does wish to reserve the site, the subdivision shall not be approved without such reservation. The board of education shall then have 18 months beginning on the date of final approval of the subdivision within which to acquire the site by purchase or by initiating condemnation proceedings. If the board of education has not purchased or begun proceedings to condemn the site within 18 months, the subdivider may treat the land as freed of the reservation.

The ordinance may provide that a developer may provide funds to the city whereby the city may acquire recreational land or areas to serve the development or subdivision, including the purchase of land that may be used to serve more than one subdivision or development within the immediate area. All funds received by the city pursuant to this paragraph shall be used only for the acquisition or development of recreation, park, or open space sites. Any formula enacted to determine the amount of funds that are to be provided under this paragraph shall be based on the value of the development or subdivision for property tax purposes. The ordinance may allow a combination or partial payment of funds and partial dedication of land when the governing body of the city determines that this combination is in the best interests of the citizens of the area to be served.

The ordinance may provide that in lieu of required street construction, a developer may be required to provide funds that the city may use for the construction of roads to serve the occupants, residents, or invitees of the subdivision or development and these funds may be used for roads which serve more than one subdivision or development within the area. All funds received by the city pursuant to this paragraph shall be used only for development of roads, including design, land acquisition, and construction. However, a city may undertake these activities in conjunction with the Department of Transportation under an agreement between the city and the Department of Transportation. Any formula adopted to determine the amount of funds the developer is to pay in lieu of required street construction shall be based on the trips generated from the subdivision or development. The ordinance may require a combination of partial payment of funds and partial dedication of constructed streets when the governing body of the city determines that a combination is in the best interests of the citizens of the area to be served. (1955, c. 1334, s. 1; 1961, c. 1168; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 59; 1985, c. 146, ss. 1, 2; 1987, c. 747, ss. 9, 18; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 1024, s. 39; 2005-426, s. 2(a).)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-426, s. 2(a), effective January 1, 2006, designated former undesignated paragraphs as present subsections (a) through (c); in subsection (a), substituted “transportation networks and utilities” for “streets and highways” and “that substantially promote” for “essential to”; in subsection (b), added the first sentence, and, in the second sentence, substituted “plats” for “the final plat”; in subsection (c), rewrote the first paragraph, substituted “board” for “agency” throughout the second paragraph, inserted “of education” following “board” in the third and fifth sentences, deleted the former third paragraph which read: “The ordinance may require that a plat be prepared, approved, and recorded pursuant to its provisions whenever any subdivision of land takes place” and made a minor stylistic change.

CASE NOTES

Legislative Intent. — The plain words of this section make it abundantly clear that the legislative intent is to somehow secure to the residents of the immediate neighborhood within the subdivision the benefit of particular recreation areas. River Birch Assocs. v. City of Raleigh, 326 N.C. 100, 388 S.E.2d 538 (1990).

Section Subject to Broad Interpretation. — The broad interpretation of Chapter 160A mandated by G.S. 160A-4 applies to this section. River Birch Assocs. v. City of Raleigh, 326 N.C. 100, 388 S.E.2d 538 (1990).

This section permits city ordinances to provide for the conveyance of recreation areas in accordance with approved plats to home owners' associations, in order to set aside to the residents of a subdivision certain areas for recreation purposes. River Birch Assocs. v. City of Raleigh, 326 N.C. 100, 388 S.E.2d 538 (1990).

The requirement of a conveyance of common recreation areas to the home owners' association of a subdivision is an additional and supplementary power reasonably necessary or expedient to carry into effect the legislative intent to secure to the residents of the subdivision the benefits of the recreation areas. River Birch Assocs. v. City of Raleigh, 326 N.C. 100, 388 S.E.2d 538 (1990).

Conditions on Approval of Subdivision Plan. — Merely changing the location of a recreation area as a condition of approval of a subdivision plan does not amount to a taking so as to require compensation and is a valid exercise of a municipality's police power under this section. Messer v. Town of Chapel Hill, 59 N.C. App. 692, 297 S.E.2d 632 (1982), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 307 N.C. 697, 301 S.E.2d 390 (1983).

Town Had Authority Under Its Development Ordinance as authorized by this section to require plaintiff to take future road plans into account in designing her subdivision and denial of plaintiff's permit for her failure to do so was neither ultra vires nor unconstitutionally vague. Batch v. Town of Chapel Hill, 326 N.C. 1, 387 S.E.2d 655, cert. denied, 496 U.S. 931, 110 S. Ct. 2631, 110 L. Ed. 2d 651 (1990).

Summary Judgment Found In Error. — The trial court's grant of summary judgment for defendant, implicitly finding as a matter of law that defendant could compel plaintiffs to construct access roads, was error where: defendant-town had no authority under this section to require plaintiffs to pave, curb and gutter streets abutting their subdivision because these streets were not within plaintiffs' subdivision; where plaintiffs were not fee simple owners of the roads deeded as a right-of-way to the State Highway Commission; and where there was no evidence that the defendants sought funds from the plaintiffs for road construction although they had that option. Buckland v. Town of Haw River, 141 N.C. App. 460, 541 S.E.2d 497, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 1307 (2000).

§ 160A-373. Ordinance to contain procedure for plat approval; approval prerequisite to plat recordation; statement by owner.

Any subdivision ordinance adopted pursuant to this Part shall contain provisions setting forth the procedures to be followed in granting or denying approval of a subdivision plat prior to its registration.

The ordinance may provide that final decisions on preliminary plats and final plats are to be made by:

- (1) The city council,
- (2) The city council on recommendation of a designated body, or
- (3) A designated planning board, technical review committee, or other designated body or staff person.

From and after the effective date of a subdivision ordinance that is adopted by the city, no subdivision plat of land within the city's jurisdiction shall be filed or recorded until it shall have been submitted to and approved by the council or appropriate agency, as specified in the subdivision ordinance, and until this approval shall have been entered on the face of the plat in writing by an authorized representative of the city. The Review Officer, pursuant to G.S. 47-30.2, shall not certify a plat of a subdivision of land located within the territorial jurisdiction of a city that has not been approved in accordance with these provisions, nor shall the clerk of superior court order or direct the recording of a plat if the recording would be in conflict with this section. (1955, c. 1334, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 60; 1997-309, s. 8; 2005-418, s. 3(a).)

Local Modification. — City of Raleigh: 1985, c. 498, s. 3; town of Knightdale: 1989, c. 430, s. 2; town of Zebulon: 1989, c. 606, s. 2.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-418, s. 14, provides: "The provisions of this act shall not be deemed to repeal or amend the validity or enforceability of any local act or charter provision previously enacted by the General Assembly."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-418, s. 3(a), effective January 1, 2006, substituted "decisions on preliminary plats and final plats are to be made by" for "approval of each individual subdivision plat is to be given by" in the first paragraph; substituted "designated body" for "planning agency" in subdivision (2); and added "technical review committee, or other designated body or staff person" at the end of subdivision (3).

CASE NOTES

Hearing. — Defendant city did not act in an arbitrary and capricious manner in granting permits for residential development, where it met the minimum procedural requirements and was not required by this section to provide a hearing or notice to nearby property owners. Nazziola v. Landcraft Properties, Inc., 143 N.C. App. 564, 545 S.E.2d 801, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 290 (2001).

Failure to Follow Quasi-Judicial Process. — Where ordinance adopted by city required the city to use a quasi-judicial process when reviewing an application to develop property, council's decision denying a developer's application to build affordable housing would be reversed, because the council did not use fair-trial standards in reaching its decision and did not state the facts upon which it based its decision with sufficient specificity that the court could review the decision to determine if it was lawful. Guilford Fin. Servs., LLC v. City of Brevard, 150 N.C. App. 1, 563 S.E.2d 27, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 399 (2002).

OPINIONS OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

Subdivision ordinances and amendments thereto must be filed with Register of Deeds; recording these ordinances includes indexing and filing. See opinion of Attorney General to Mr. James Dick Proctor, 41 N.C.A.G. 752 (1972).

§ 160A-374. Effect of plat approval on dedications.

The approval of a plat shall not be deemed to constitute or effect the acceptance by the city or public of the dedication of any street or other ground, public utility line, or other public facility shown on the plat. However, any city council may by resolution accept any dedication made to the public of lands or facilities for streets, parks, public utility lines, or other public purposes, when the lands or facilities are located within its subdivision-regulation jurisdiction. Acceptance of dedication of lands or facilities located within the subdivision-regulation jurisdiction but outside the corporate limits of a city shall not place on the city any duty to open, operate, repair, or maintain any street, utility line, or other land or facility, and a city shall in no event be held to answer in any civil action or proceeding for failure to open, repair, or maintain any street located outside its corporate limits. Unless a city, county or other public entity operating a water system shall have agreed to begin operation and maintenance of the water system or water system facilities within one year of the time of issuance of a certificate of occupancy for the first unit of housing in the subdivision, a city or county shall not, as part of its subdivision regulation applied to facilities or land outside the corporate limits of a city, require dedication of water systems or facilities as a condition for subdivision approval.

(1955, c. 1334, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1983 (Reg. Sess., 1984), c. 1080; 1985, c. 635.)

§ 160A-375. Penalties for transferring lots in unapproved subdivisions.

(a) If a city adopts an ordinance regulating the subdivision of land as authorized herein, any person who, being the owner or agent of the owner of any land located within the jurisdiction of that city, thereafter subdivides his land in violation of the ordinance or transfers or sells land by reference to, exhibition of, or any other use of a plat showing a subdivision of the land before the plat has been properly approved under such ordinance and recorded in the office of the appropriate register of deeds, shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. The description by metes and bounds in the instrument of transfer or other document used in the process of selling or transferring land shall not exempt the transaction from this penalty. The city may bring an action for injunction of any illegal subdivision, transfer, conveyance, or sale of land, and the court shall, upon appropriate findings, issue an injunction and order requiring the offending party to comply with the subdivision ordinance. Building permits required pursuant to G.S. 160A-417 may be denied for lots that have been illegally subdivided. In addition to other remedies, a city may institute any appropriate action or proceedings to prevent the unlawful subdivision of land, to restrain, correct, or abate the violation, or to prevent any illegal act or conduct.

(b) The provisions of this section shall not prohibit any owner or its agent from entering into contracts to sell or lease by reference to an approved preliminary plat for which a final plat has not yet been properly approved under the subdivision ordinance or recorded with the register of deeds, provided the contract does all of the following:

- (1) Incorporates as an attachment a copy of the preliminary plat referenced in the contract and obligates the owner to deliver to the buyer a copy of the recorded plat prior to closing and conveyance.
- (2) Plainly and conspicuously notifies the prospective buyer or lessee that a final subdivision plat has not been approved or recorded at the time of the contract, that no governmental body will incur any obligation to the prospective buyer or lessee with respect to the approval of the final subdivision plat, that changes between the preliminary and final plats are possible, and that the contract or lease may be terminated without breach by the buyer or lessee if the final recorded plat differs in any material respect from the preliminary plat.
- (3) Provides that if the approved and recorded final plat does not differ in any material respect from the plat referred to in the contract, the buyer or lessee may not be required by the seller or lessor to close any earlier than five days after the delivery of a copy of the final recorded plat.
- (4) Provides that if the approved and recorded final plat differs in any material respect from the preliminary plat referred to in the contract, the buyer or lessee may not be required by the seller or lessor to close any earlier than 15 days after the delivery of the final recorded plat, during which 15-day period the buyer or lessee may terminate the contract without breach or any further obligation and may receive a refund of all earnest money or prepaid purchase price.

(c) The provisions of this section shall not prohibit any owner or its agent from entering into contracts to sell or lease land by reference to an approved preliminary plat for which a final plat has not been properly approved under the subdivision ordinance or recorded with the register of deeds where the buyer or lessee is any person who has contracted to acquire or lease the land for the purpose of engaging in the business of construction of residential, commercial, or industrial buildings on the land, or for the purpose of resale or lease of the land to persons engaged in that kind of business, provided that no conveyance of that land may occur and no contract to lease it may become effective until after the final plat has been properly approved under the subdivision ordinance and recorded with the register of deeds. (1955, c. 1334, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1977, c. 820, s. 2; 1993, c. 539, s. 1087; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 2005-426, s. 3(a).)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-426, s. 3(a), effective January 1, 2006, redesignated the former undesignated paragraph as present subsection (a), and added the last two sentences; and added subsections (b) and (c).

CASE NOTES

This section and § 160A-389 Compared. — The specific penal and equitable relief set out in this section is relief intended to deter those who violate subdivision ordinances; G.S. 160A-389 permits broader, appropriate action and proceedings to prevent or correct the violation of a zoning ordinance. Town of Nags Head v. Tillett, 314 N.C. 627, 336 S.E.2d 394 (1985).

Enforcement of Subdivision Ordinances. — Although the Town of Nags Head may deny a building permit to applicants whose property violates zoning ordinances, as authorized by G.S. 3.08 of the Nags Head Code of Ordinances and by G.S. 160A-389, its enforcement of subdivision ordinances is restricted to the penal and injunctive relief of this section and G.S. 17.10 of the Code of Ordinances. Town of Nags Head v. Tillett, 314 N.C. 627, 336 S.E.2d 394 (1985).

§ 160A-376. Definition.

(a) For the purpose of this Part, “subdivision” means all divisions of a tract or parcel of land into two or more lots, building sites, or other divisions when any one or more of those divisions is created for the purpose of sale or building development (whether immediate or future) and shall include all divisions of land involving the dedication of a new street or a change in existing streets; but the following shall not be included within this definition nor be subject to the regulations authorized by this Part:

- (1) The combination or recombination of portions of previously subdivided and recorded lots where the total number of lots is not increased and the resultant lots are equal to or exceed the standards of the municipality as shown in its subdivision regulations.
- (2) The division of land into parcels greater than 10 acres where no street right-of-way dedication is involved.
- (3) The public acquisition by purchase of strips of land for the widening or opening of streets or for public transportation system corridors.
- (4) The division of a tract in single ownership whose entire area is no greater than two acres into not more than three lots, where no street right-of-way dedication is involved and where the resultant lots are equal to or exceed the standards of the municipality, as shown in its subdivision regulations.

(b) A city may provide for expedited review of specified classes of subdivisions. (1955, c. 1334, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 61; 1977, c. 912, s. 6; 2003-284, s. 29.23(a); 2005-426, s. 4(a).)

Local Modification. — Town of Rose Hill: 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 565, s. 1. Session Laws 2004-46, s. 1, repealed local modifications by S.L. 1997-246, s. 2, and S.L. 2001-50, s. 2, effective January 1, 2005.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws

2005-426, s. 4(a), effective January 1, 2006, redesignated the former undesignated introductory paragraph as present subsection (a), and inserted, “when any one or more of those divisions is created”; added subsection (b); and made minor stylistic and punctuation changes.

§§ 160A-377 through 160A-380: Reserved for future codification purposes.

Part 3. Zoning.

§ 160A-381. Grant of power.

(a) For the purpose of promoting health, safety, morals, or the general welfare of the community, any city may adopt zoning and development regulation ordinances. These ordinances may be adopted as part of a unified development ordinance or as a separate ordinance. A zoning ordinance may regulate and restrict the height, number of stories and size of buildings and other structures, the percentage of lots that may be occupied, the size of yards, courts and other open spaces, the density of population, the location and use of buildings, structures and land. The ordinance may provide density credits or severable development rights for dedicated rights-of-way pursuant to G.S. 136-66.10 or G.S. 136-66.11.

(b) Expired.

(b1) These regulations may provide that a board of adjustment may determine and vary their application in harmony with their general purpose and intent and in accordance with general or specific rules therein contained, provided no change in permitted uses may be authorized by variance.

(c) The regulations may also provide that the board of adjustment, the planning board, or the city council may issue special use permits or conditional use permits in the classes of cases or situations and in accordance with the principles, conditions, safeguards, and procedures specified therein and may impose reasonable and appropriate conditions and safeguards upon these permits. When deciding special use permits or conditional use permits, the city council or planning board shall follow quasi-judicial procedures. No vote greater than a majority vote shall be required for the city council or planning board to issue such permits. For the purposes of this section, vacant positions on the board and members who are disqualified from voting on a quasi-judicial matter shall not be considered “members of the board” for calculation of the requisite majority. Every such decision of the city council or planning board shall be subject to review of the superior court in the nature of certiorari in accordance with G.S. 160A-388.

Where appropriate, such conditions may include requirements that street and utility rights-of-way be dedicated to the public and that provision be made of recreational space and facilities.

(d) A city council member shall not vote on any zoning map or text amendment where the outcome of the matter being considered is reasonably likely to have a direct, substantial, and readily identifiable financial impact on the member. Members of appointed boards providing advice to the city council shall not vote on recommendations regarding any zoning map or text amendment where the outcome of the matter being considered is reasonably likely to have a direct, substantial, and readily identifiable financial impact on the member.

(e) As provided in this subsection, cities may adopt temporary moratoria on any city development approval required by law. The duration of any moratorium shall be reasonable in light of the specific conditions that warrant imposition of the moratorium and may not exceed the period of time necessary to correct, modify, or resolve such conditions. Except in cases of imminent and substantial threat to public health or safety, before adopting an ordinance imposing a development moratorium with a duration of 60 days or any shorter period, the governing board shall hold a public hearing and shall publish a notice of the hearing in a newspaper having general circulation in the area not less than seven days before the date set for the hearing. A development moratorium with a duration of 61 days or longer, and any extension of a moratorium so that the total duration is 61 days or longer, is subject to the notice and hearing requirements of G.S. 160A-364. Absent an imminent threat to public health or safety, a development moratorium adopted pursuant to this section shall not apply to any project for which a valid building permit issued pursuant to G.S. 160A-417 is outstanding, to any project for which a conditional use permit application or special use permit application has been accepted, to development set forth in a site-specific or phased development plan approved pursuant to G.S. 160A-385.1, to development for which substantial expenditures have already been made in good faith reliance on a prior valid administrative or quasi-judicial permit or approval, or to preliminary or final subdivision plats that have been accepted for review by the city prior to the call for public hearing to adopt the moratorium. Any preliminary subdivision plat accepted for review by the city prior to the call for public hearing, if subsequently approved, shall be allowed to proceed to final plat approval without being subject to the moratorium.

Any ordinance establishing a development moratorium must expressly include at the time of adoption each of the following:

- (1) A clear statement of the problems or conditions necessitating the moratorium and what courses of action, alternative to a moratorium, were considered by the city and why those alternative courses of action were not deemed adequate.
- (2) A clear statement of the development approvals subject to the moratorium and how a moratorium on those approvals will address the problems or conditions leading to imposition of the moratorium.
- (3) An express date for termination of the moratorium and a statement setting forth why that duration is reasonably necessary to address the problems or conditions leading to imposition of the moratorium.
- (4) A clear statement of the actions, and the schedule for those actions, proposed to be taken by the city during the duration of the moratorium to address the problems or conditions leading to imposition of the moratorium.

No moratorium may be subsequently renewed or extended for any additional period unless the city shall have taken all reasonable and feasible steps proposed to be taken by the city in its ordinance establishing the moratorium to address the problems or conditions leading to imposition of the moratorium and unless new facts and conditions warrant an extension. Any ordinance renewing or extending a development moratorium must expressly include, at the time of adoption, the findings set forth in subdivisions (1) through (4) of this subsection, including what new facts or conditions warrant the extension.

Any person aggrieved by the imposition of a moratorium on development approvals required by law may apply to the appropriate division of the General Court of Justice for an order enjoining the enforcement of the moratorium, and the court shall have jurisdiction to issue that order. Actions brought pursuant to this section shall be set down for immediate hearing, and subsequent proceedings in those actions shall be accorded priority by the trial and appellate courts. In any such action, the city shall have the burden of showing compliance with the procedural requirements of this subsection.

(f) In order to encourage construction that uses sustainable design principles and to improve energy efficiency in buildings, a city may charge reduced building permit fees or provide partial rebates of building permit fees for buildings that are constructed or renovated using design principles that conform to or exceed one or more of the following certifications or ratings:

- (1) Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) certification or higher rating under certification standards adopted by the U.S. Green Building Council.
- (2) A One Globe or higher rating under the Green Globes program standards adopted by the Green Building Initiative.
- (3) A certification or rating by another nationally recognized certification or rating system that is equivalent or greater than those listed in subdivisions (1) and (2) of this subsection. (1923, c. 250, s. 1; C.S., s. 2776(r); 1967, c. 1208, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1981, c. 891, s. 5; 1985, c. 442, s. 1; 1987, c. 747, s. 11; 1995, c. 357, s. 1; 2005-426, s. 5(a); 2007-381, s. 2.)

Local Modification. — Town of Chapel Hill: (as to subsection (d), and applicable in that area where the town exercises territorial planning jurisdiction, including any area under the town's jurisdiction pursuant to a Joint Planning Agreement with Orange County) 2003-237, s. 2; 2004-27, s. 1.

Editor's Note. — Subsection (b) expired pursuant to the terms of Session Laws 1995, c. 357, s. 2.

Session Laws 2005-426, s. 11, provides that G.S. 160A-381(e), as added by Section 5(a) of this act, is effective September 1, 2005 and any renewal or extension on or after September 1, 2005, of a moratorium on development approvals that is in effect prior to or on that date, is subject to the provisions of this act.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-426, s. 5(a), effective January 1, 2006, rewrote the section.

Session Laws 2007-381, s. 2, effective August 19, 2007, added subsection (f).

I. IN GENERAL.

Editor's Note. — Many of the cases cited in the annotations to this section were decided under former G.S. 160-172 to 160-181.2 and other similar provisions.

Rezoning is a legislative act, whereas a proceeding to grant a variance or special use permit is quasi-judicial in nature. Sherill v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 81 N.C. App. 369, 344 S.E.2d 357, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 318 N.C. 417, 349 S.E.2d 600 (1986).

Enforcement Provisions. — The broad enforcement provisions of G.S. 160A-389, a zoning statute, could not serve as the statutory basis for denying a building permit to one whose lot violated the subdivision requirements of Chapter 17 of the Nags Head Code of Ordinances. However, insofar as the Town of Nags Head rested its denial of a building permit upon the violation of zoning laws, the broader enforcement license of this section would apply and would sustain such a remedy. Town of Nags Head v. Tillett, 314 N.C. 627, 336 S.E.2d 394 (1985).

Concrete mixing facility did not forfeit its nonconforming use under ordinance providing for forfeiture in the event that such use ceased for six months, although the plant was not operated for more than six months due to a slump in business, where the owner maintained the plant, equipment, inventories, and utilities as before, and could have resumed operations within two hours after deciding to do so. Southern Equip. Co. v. Winstead, 80 N.C. App. 526, 342 S.E.2d 524 (1986).

City's practice of referring all privilege license applicants to the zoning administrator does not convert a privilege license into a regulatory license; the city's zoning compliance process does not involve or permit any discretion on the part of the zoning administrator as to whether a particular use is allowed in a particular district, in contrast to the special conditional use scheme of this section. Mom N Pops, Inc. v. City of Charlotte, 979 F. Supp. 372 (W.D.N.C. 1997), aff'd, 162 F.3d 1155 (4th Cir. 1998).

City had the authority to allow the city tax collector to assess zoning compliance as part of the administration of the business privilege license tax and to deny a business privilege license to a sexually oriented business because the business sought to operate in violation of a zoning ordinance. Fantasy World, Inc. v. Greensboro Bd. of Adjustment, 162 N.C. App. 603, 592 S.E.2d 205, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 267 (2004), cert. denied, 358 N.C. 543, 599 S.E.2d 43 (2004).

II. POWER TO ZONE.

The original zoning power of the State reposes in the General Assembly. Schloss v. Jamison, 262 N.C. 108, 136 S.E.2d 691 (1964); Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971); Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 278 N.C. 17, 178 S.E.2d 616 (1971); Allgood v. Town of Tarboro, 281 N.C. 430, 189 S.E.2d 255 (1972).

The power to zone is the power of the State and rests initially in the General Assembly. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968); Decker v. Coleman, 6 N.C. App. 102, 169 S.E.2d 487 (1969).

The power to zone is the power originally vested in the General Assembly to legislate with reference to the use which may be made of land and the structures which may be erected or located thereon. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 278 N.C. 17, 178 S.E.2d 616 (1971).

Rezoning must be effected by the exercise of legislative power, rather than by special arrangements with the owner of a particular tract or parcel of land. Rose v. Guilford County, 60 N.C. App. 170, 298 S.E.2d 200 (1982).

Which May Delegate It as Exercise of Police Power. — The General Assembly may delegate power to a municipal corporation to enact zoning ordinances in the exercise of police power of the State. Jackson v. Guilford County Bd. of Adjustment, 275 N.C. 155, 166 S.E.2d 78 (1969).

Statutes which have been passed authorizing the governing bodies of municipal corporations to enact zoning ordinances prescribing that in certain areas only designated types of buildings may be erected and used have been generally upheld by the courts as an exercise of the police power of the State. Vance S. Harrington & Co. v. Renner, 236 N.C. 321, 72 S.E.2d 838 (1952); City of Raleigh v. Morand, 247 N.C. 363, 100 S.E.2d 870 (1957), appeal dismissed, 357 U.S. 343, 78 S. Ct. 1369, 2 L. Ed. 2d 1367 (1958).

And the zoning power of municipalities is derived from the State. State v. Joyner, 286 N.C. 366, 211 S.E.2d 320, appeal dismissed, 422 U.S. 1002, 95 S. Ct. 2618, 45 L. Ed. 2d 666 (1975).

As Delegated by the General Assembly. — The General Assembly has delegated to the legislative body of cities and incorporated towns the power to adopt zoning regulations and, from time to time, to amend or repeal such regulations. In re Markham, 259 N.C. 566, 131 S.E.2d 329, cert. denied, 375 U.S. 931, 84 S. Ct. 332, 11 L. Ed. 2d 263 (1963).

The General Assembly has delegated its police powers to enact zoning regulations to municipal corporations. Armstrong v. McInnis, 264 N.C. 616, 142 S.E.2d 670 (1965).

Through the provisions of former Article 14 of Chapter 160, fourteen cities and towns of this State were delegated the authority to zone property within their boundaries and to restrict to specified purposes the uses of private property within each zone. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

The General Assembly has delegated to the legislative body of a municipality the power to adopt zoning regulations for the purpose of promoting health, safety, morals or the general welfare of the community. Allgood v. Town of Tarboro, 281 N.C. 430, 189 S.E.2d 255 (1972).

Promoting the general welfare of the community through control of lot size and population density is a legitimate use of the police power. Messer v. Town of Chapel Hill, 125 N.C. App. 57, 479 S.E.2d 221 (1996).

A municipal corporation has no inherent power to zone its territory and restrict to specified purposes the use of private property in each such zone. Such power has, however, been delegated to the cities and incorporated towns of this State by the General Assembly. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968); Decker v. Coleman, 6 N.C. App. 102, 169 S.E.2d 487 (1969).

A municipality has no inherent power to zone its territory and possesses only such power to zone as is delegated to it by the enabling statutes. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

A city has power to zone only as delegated to it by enabling statutes. Sellers v. City of Asheville, 33 N.C. App. 544, 236 S.E.2d 283 (1977).

Delegation of Zoning Power as Exception to General Rule. — The authority of the General Assembly to delegate to municipal corporations power to legislate concerning local problems, such as zoning, is an exception to the general rule that legislative powers, vested in the General Assembly by N.C. Const., Art. II, § 1, may not be delegated by it. This exception to the doctrine of nondelegation is not limited to a delegation of such legislative authority to incorporated cities and towns, but extends, as to other types of local matters, to a like delegation to counties and other units established by the General Assembly for local government. Jackson v. Guilford County Bd. of Adjustment, 275 N.C. 155, 166 S.E.2d 78 (1969).

Delegation of Zoning Power Cannot Exceed Power of General Assembly. — The General Assembly cannot delegate to a municipal corporation more extensive power to regulate the use of private property than the General Assembly itself possesses. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968).

Zoning Power Cannot Be Further Delegated to Board of Adjustment. — The power to zone is conferred upon the governing body of the municipality and cannot be delegated to the board of adjustment. Hence, a board of adjustment has no power to permit a type of business or building prohibited by an ordinance, for to do so would be an amendment of the law and not a variance of its regulations. James v. Sutton, 229 N.C. 515, 50 S.E.2d 300 (1948); In re O'Neal, 243 N.C. 714, 92 S.E.2d 189 (1956).

The privilege of erecting a nonconforming building or a building for a nonconforming use may not be granted by the board of adjustment under the guise of a variance permit, as the board of adjustment has no power to amend the ordinance under which it functions. Lee v. Board of Adjustment, 226 N.C. 107, 37 S.E.2d 128 (1946).

The legislative body of the municipal corporation may not delegate to the municipal board of adjustment the power to zone; that is, the power originally vested in the General Assembly to legislate with reference to the use which may be made of land and the structures which may be erected or located thereon. It follows that a county zoning ordinance may not delegate such legislative powers to the county board of adjustment. Jackson v. Guilford County Bd. of Adjustment, 275 N.C. 155, 166 S.E.2d 78 (1969).

The legislative body of the municipal corporation may not delegate to the municipal board of adjustment the power to zone. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 278 N.C. 17, 178 S.E.2d 616 (1971).

It would constitute an unlawful delegation and exercise of the legislative power vested by the General Assembly in the board of aldermen of Winston-Salem to allow the board of adjustment to deny a special permit on the ground that the board of adjustment did not consider a use specified in the ordinance as a conditional permissible use to be in accord with the "purpose and intent" of the ordinance. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 278 N.C. 17, 178 S.E.2d 616 (1971).

Power to Zone Need Not Be Exercised. — The grant of the power to zone to a municipal corporation imposes no duty upon the city or town to exercise it, and the courts may not require the city or town to enact zoning legislation. This is a matter within the discretion of the legislative body of the city or town. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968).

And Is Not Exhausted by Adoption of a Zoning Ordinance. — The adoption of a zoning ordinance in exercise of the police power, delegated to a municipal corporation, does not exhaust that power. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968).

Municipality exercises the police power of the State within the limits of zoning power delegated. Schloss v. Jamison, 262 N.C. 108, 136 S.E.2d 691 (1964); Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 278 N.C. 17, 178 S.E.2d 616 (1971).

In enacting and enforcing zoning regulations, a municipality acts as a governmental agency and exercises the police power of the State. Armstrong v. McInnis, 264 N.C. 616, 142 S.E.2d 670 (1965); Taylor v. Bowen, 272 N.C. 726, 158 S.E.2d 837 (1968).

Zoning laws, when valid, are an exercise of the police power of the sovereign to reasonably regulate or restrict the use of private property to promote the public health, the public safety, the public morals or the public welfare. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968).

Power to Zone Is Subject to Limitations of Enabling Act. — The power to zone, conferred upon the legislative body of a municipality, is subject to the limitations of the enabling act. Schloss v. Jamison, 262 N.C. 108, 136 S.E.2d 691 (1964); Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 278 N.C. 17, 178 S.E.2d 616 (1971).

The power to zone, conferred upon the legislative body of a municipality, is subject to the limitations of the enabling act. Within the limits of the powers so delegated, the municipality exercises the police power of the State. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

A zoning ordinance or an amendment thereto which is not adopted in accordance with the enabling statutes is invalid and ineffective. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971); Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 281 N.C. 715, 190 S.E.2d 175 (1972); Sellers v. City of Asheville, 33 N.C. App. 544, 236 S.E.2d 283 (1977).

And to Limitations Imposed by the Constitution. — The authority of a city or town to enact zoning ordinances is subject both to the limitations imposed by the Constitution and to the limitations of the enabling statute. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968).

The power to zone is subject to the limitations imposed by the Constitution upon the legislative power forbidding arbitrary and unduly discriminatory interference with the rights of property owners. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968).

Exercise by a city of delegated power to zone is subject both to limitations imposed by the Constitution upon the legislative power of the State itself, forbidding arbitrary and unduly discriminatory interference with the rights of property owners, and also to the limitations in the statutes by which the power was delegated. Decker v. Coleman, 6 N.C. App. 102, 169 S.E.2d 487 (1969).

The authority to zone property and to restrict to specified purposes the uses of private property within each zone is limited by the provisions of the enabling statute and also by constitutional provisions which forbid arbitrary and unduly discriminatory interference with the rights of property owners. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

The authority to enact zoning ordinances is subject to the limitations imposed by the enabling statute and by the Constitution. These limitations forbid arbitrary and unduly discriminatory interference with property rights in the exercise of such power. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971); Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 281 N.C. 715, 190 S.E.2d 175 (1972).

Unlawful Contract Zoning. — Illegal contract zoning connotes a transaction wherein both the landowner who is seeking a certain zoning action and the zoning authority itself undertake reciprocal obligations in the context of a bilateral contract. This depends upon a finding of a transaction in which both the landowner seeking a rezoning and the zoning authority undertake reciprocal obligations; in short, a "meeting of the minds" must occur; mutual assurances must be exchanged. Hall v. City of Durham, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564, cert. denied, 323 N.C. 629, 374 S.E.2d 586 (1988).

County Ordinances Inapplicable to Municipal Sewage Facility. — City which owned a sewage treatment facility located in a county and outside the city's boundaries was not required to comply with county's zoning ordinances in upgrading the facility and providing sewage service to newly annexed areas of city with that facility. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 85 N.C. App. 26, 354 S.E.2d 280, modified and aff'd, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

As to similarity of former provisions regarding zoning by counties and municipalities, see Jackson v. Guilford County Bd. of Adjustment, 2 N.C. App. 408, 163 S.E.2d 265 (1968), aff'd, 275 N.C. 155, 166 S.E.2d 78 (1969); Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 278 N.C. 17, 178 S.E.2d 616 (1971).

Zoning Ordinance Validly Enacted Under Delegated Authority. — Wrightsville Beach, N.C., Zoning Ordinance § 155.009(A) was properly and validly established under a grant of power contained in 1981 N.C. Sess. Laws 904 and G.S. 160A-381(a); accordingly, where property owners' home was constructed too close to the property line, in violation of the ordinance's setback requirements, the town building inspector's refusal to issue them a certificate of occupancy was proper. Prewitt v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 161 N.C. App. 481, 595 S.E.2d 442, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 2192 (2003).

III. ZONING ORDINANCES, GENERALLY.

Who May Challenge Rezoning Ordinance. — In order to challenge a rezoning ordinance, one must have a specific personal and legal interest in the subject matter affected by the ordinance and must be directly and adversely affected by the ordinance. Davis v. City of Archdale, 81 N.C. App. 505, 344 S.E.2d 369 (1986).

Alleged diminution in the value of the property of adjacent or nearby landowners due to increased traffic on roads which already carried traffic volumes in excess of capacity and due to increased demands upon already overburdened public utilities are not special damages distinct from those of the rest of the community, and plaintiffs did not have standing to challenge rezoning ordinances on such grounds. Davis v. City of Archdale, 81 N.C. App. 505, 344 S.E.2d 369 (1986).

Criteria for Validity of Zoning Ordinance. — As a general rule a zoning ordinance of a municipality is valid and enforceable if it emanates from ample grant of power by the legislature to the city or town, if it has a reasonable tendency to promote the public safety, health, morals, comfort, welfare and prosperity and if its provisions are not arbitrary, unreasonable or confiscatory. Helms v. City of Charlotte, 255 N.C. 647, 122 S.E.2d 817 (1961).

A zoning ordinance covering all land within the municipality and separating commercial and industrial districts of the city from those set apart for residences, schools, parks, libraries, churches, etc., which is uniform and operates alike on all territory within the respective zones, bears a reasonable relation to the health, safety, morals and general welfare of the entire community, and is a valid and constitutional exercise of the delegated police power of the municipality. Kinney v. Sutton, 230 N.C. 404, 53 S.E.2d 306 (1949).

An ordinance passed under an enabling statute, following its provisions and carrying it into effect in the city passing it, prescribing uniform regulations for each zone or district and giving an inspector certain judicial functions with respect to the kind or class of buildings under a board of adjustment and review, and providing for certiorari, is a valid exercise of power and not repugnant to the organic law prohibiting discriminations. Harden v. City of Raleigh, 192 N.C. 395, 135 S.E. 151 (1926).

Substantial Relation to Public Welfare Essential. — Zoning ordinances are upheld when, but only when, they bear a substantial relation to the public health, safety, morals, or general welfare. Schloss v. Jamison, 262 N.C. 108, 136 S.E.2d 691 (1964).

Depreciation of Property Not Enough to Invalidate Ordinance. — The mere fact that a zoning ordinance seriously depreciates the value of complainant's property is not enough, standing alone, to establish its invalidity. Helms v. City of Charlotte, 255 N.C. 647, 122 S.E.2d 817 (1961); County of Durham v. Addison, 262 N.C. 280, 136 S.E.2d 600 (1964).

If the police power is properly exercised in the zoning of a municipality, a resultant pecuniary loss to a property owner is a misfortune which he must suffer as a member of society. Schloss v. Jamison, 262 N.C. 108, 136 S.E.2d 691 (1964).

Unless Property Is Rendered Valueless by Impossibility of Permitted Use. — A municipal zoning ordinance is confiscatory and invalid in its application to a particular lot if it is practically impossible to use such lot for the purpose permitted by the ordinance so that the ordinance renders such property valueless for practical purposes. Helms v. City of Charlotte, 255 N.C. 647, 122 S.E.2d 817 (1961).

Fact that a lot would be more valuable if devoted to a nonconforming use does not deprive owner of property without due process of law when the zoning regulations are uniform in their application to all within the respective districts, and the differentiation of the uses of property within the respective districts is in accordance with a comprehensive plan in the interest of the health, safety, morals or general welfare of the entire community. Kinney v. Sutton, 230 N.C. 404, 53 S.E.2d 306 (1949).

Two of the essentials of a comprehensive zoning ordinance are: (1) It applies to all territory subject to the zoning jurisdiction of a city council, including the area beyond and surrounding the corporate limits of the city for a distance of one mile in all directions, and (2) with reference to property within a particular district or zone, all uses permissible in the zone are available as of right to the owner. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

The test of whether the means of the regulation of land use are reasonable is two pronged: 1) whether the ordinance as applied is reasonably necessary to promote the public good and, 2) whether the interference with the owner's right to use the property is reasonable in degree. Messer v. Town of Chapel Hill, 125 N.C. App. 57, 479 S.E.2d 221 (1996).

As to validity of comprehensive zoning ordinances, see Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971). See also, Schloss v. Jamison, 262 N.C. 108, 136 S.E.2d 691 (1964).

Mere laxity of enforcement will not invalidate zoning restrictions. Sherrill v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 81 N.C. App. 369, 344 S.E.2d 357, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 318 N.C. 417, 349 S.E.2d 600 (1986).

As to the showing necessary to invalidate zoning ordinance on constitutional grounds, see Sherrill v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 81 N.C. App. 369, 344 S.E.2d 357, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 318 N.C. 417, 349 S.E.2d 600 (1986).

Zoning and Property Lines Need Not Coincide. — It is not a prerequisite to the validity of a zoning ordinance that the zoning district lines should coincide with property lines. Helms v. City of Charlotte, 255 N.C. 647, 122 S.E.2d 817 (1961).

City May Limit Use of Property in Residential District. — Former G.S. 160-172 authorized municipalities to enact zoning ordinances prohibiting the use of property within a residential district for business or commercial purposes. Kinney v. Sutton, 230 N.C. 404, 53 S.E.2d 306 (1949).

Same Restrictions Must Apply to All Areas in Each Class. — When a classification of a zone has been made, all the areas in each class must be subject to the same restrictions. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Conversion of Apartments to Condominiums Not a Change in Use Subject to Zoning Regulation. — Contemplated change in ownership to condominiums does not constitute a change in use which a town may regulate by its zoning ordinance. Graham Court Assocs. v. Town Council, 53 N.C. App. 543, 281 S.E.2d 418 (1981).

Where petitioner's apartment complex property did not comply with zoning ordinance requirements for multi-family housing, but its continued use as multi-family housing was permitted as a prior nonconforming use under the zoning ordinance of respondent town, contemplated change in ownership to condominiums did not constitute a change in use which respondent town could regulate by a zoning ordinance, and respondent lacked the right or legal authority to require petitioner to apply for or receive a special use permit as a prerequisite to its right to sell the apartments as condominiums. Graham Court Assocs. v. Town Council, 53 N.C. App. 543, 281 S.E.2d 418 (1981).

In enacting a zoning ordinance a municipality is engaged in legislating, not in contracting. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

In enacting a zoning ordinance, a municipality is engaged in legislating and not in contracting. As a consequence, a zoning ordinance fixing the boundaries of zones does not result in a contract between the municipality and property owners precluding the municipality from afterwards changing the boundaries if it deems a change to be desirable. Moreover, a zoning ordinance does not vest in a property owner the right that the restrictions imposed by it upon his property or the property of others shall remain unaltered. Marren v. Gamble, 237 N.C. 680, 75 S.E.2d 880 (1953).

And zoning regulations may be amended or changed when such action is authorized by the enabling statute and does not contravene constitutional limitations on the zoning power. Marren v. Gamble, 237 N.C. 680, 75 S.E.2d 880 (1953).

Property may not be rezoned in reliance upon representations of the applicant. Hall v. City of Durham, 88 N.C. App. 53, 362 S.E.2d 791 (1987), aff'd, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564 (1988).

Rezoning may not be based on assurances that the applicant will make a specific use of the property. Hall v. City of Durham, 88 N.C. App. 53, 362 S.E.2d 791 (1987), aff'd, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564 (1988).

Rezoning must take into account all permitted uses under the new classification. Hall v. City of Durham, 88 N.C. App. 53, 362 S.E.2d 791 (1987), aff'd, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564 (1988).

Provisions for amortization of non-conforming uses in zoning ordinances are valid if reasonable, and the per se rule holding all amortization provisions unconstitutional is rejected. State v. Joyner, 286 N.C. 366, 211 S.E.2d 320, appeal dismissed, 422 U.S. 1002, 95 S. Ct. 2618, 45 L. Ed. 2d 666 (1975).

Interpretation of Zoning Provisions. — With reference to zoning, the law is disposed to interpret language in the light of surrounding circumstances and to give to words their ordinary meaning and significance. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

Zoning Ordinances to Be Liberally Construed in Favor of Owner. — Zoning ordinances are in derogation of the rights of private property and should be liberally construed in favor of the property owner. Clark v. Richardson, 24 N.C. App. 556, 211 S.E.2d 530 (1975).

Zoning ordinances are in derogation of the right of private property, and where exemptions appear in favor of the property owner, they must be liberally construed in favor of such owner. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

Entire Ordinance to Be Considered on Review. — In examining the reasonableness of a zoning ordinance, due process dictates that the court look at the entire ordinance and not only at the provision as it applies to a particular inhabitant of the municipality. State v. Joyner, 286 N.C. 366, 211 S.E.2d 320, appeal dismissed, 422 U.S. 1002, 95 S. Ct. 2618, 45 L. Ed. 2d 666 (1975).

When Zoning Provisions Held Void for Vagueness. — A particular zoning enactment or provision thereof may be judicially declared to be inoperative and void for uncertainty, vagueness, or indefiniteness. However, the courts will not, in doubtful cases, declare a statute to be so meaningless and unintelligible as to be inoperative. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

Court will not substitute its judgment for that of the legislative body charged with the primary duty and responsibility of determining whether its action is in the interest of the public health, safety, morals, or general welfare. Hence, when the most that can be said against an ordinance adopted in the proper exercise of the police power is that whether it was an unreasonable, arbitrary or unequal exercise of power is fairly debatable, the courts will not interfere. Schloss v. Jamison, 262 N.C. 108, 136 S.E.2d 691 (1964).

Controversies in respect of facts pertinent to the validity of a rezoning ordinance present questions of fact for determination by the superior court judge. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

IV. SPECIFIC ZONING ORDINANCES.

Ordinance Permitting Commercial Activities by Family Members in Residential

District. — Provisions of a zoning ordinance which permit commercial and industrial activities within a residential district, provided such activities are carried on by members of the immediate family and not more than two persons are employed therein, does not render the ordinance void as being discriminatory, since the commercial activities permitted thereunder in a residential district are so intrinsically different from unlimited commercial and industrial activities in general as to permit their separate classification. Kinney v. Sutton, 230 N.C. 404, 53 S.E.2d 306 (1949).

Ordinance purporting to prohibit erection of a gin or mill without consent of neighboring property owners cannot be upheld. Wilcher v. Sharpe, 236 N.C. 308, 72 S.E.2d 662 (1952), commented on in 31 N.C.L. Rev. 308 (1953).

Zoning ordinance which prohibited operation of a building material salvage yard in certain districts, and which permitted a three-year period after it was adopted for the removal of such business, was not so arbitrary, unreasonable or unrelated to the general welfare of the community as to be unconstitutional by its terms; to the contrary, it represented a conscious effort on the part of the legislative body of the city to regulate the use of land throughout the city and thus promote the health, safety or general welfare of the community. State v. Joyner, 286 N.C. 366, 211 S.E.2d 320, appeal dismissed, 422 U.S. 1002, 95 S. Ct. 2618, 45 L. Ed. 2d 666 (1975).

Storage of Gasoline. — A municipal ordinance prohibiting storage of gasoline within the fire district of the city in tanks with a capacity greater than 4,400 gallons bore sufficient relationship to the public safety to come within the police power of the municipality, at least for purpose of sustaining a finding to that effect upon the hearing of an order to show cause why a temporary order restraining the violation of the ordinance should not be continued to the hearing. City of Fayetteville v. Spur Distrib. Co., 216 N.C. 596, 5 S.E.2d 838 (1939).

Ordinance that could effectively prohibit all off-premise outdoor advertising signs in the city was a proper exercise of city's police power and did not violate the plaintiff's rights under U.S. Const., Amend. I or U.S. Const., Amend. XIV. Nor was the ordinance invalid on its face as a "taking without just compensation." Whether the ordinance violated plaintiff's rights under U.S. Const., Amend. V. or U.S. Const., Amend. XIV required findings of fact to determine whether there had been an unconstitutional taking as applied to plaintiff. Georgia Outdoor Adv., Inc. v. City of Waynesville, 900 F.2d 783 (4th Cir. 1990).

Authority to Determine What Signs Will Be Permitted in Each District. — Subject to constitutional limitations, a city council has authority to determine and define legislatively what signs will be permitted in each respective zone or district. Schloss v. Jamison, 262 N.C. 108, 136 S.E.2d 691 (1964).

When rezoning property from one general use district with fixed permitted uses to another general use district with fixed permitted uses, a city council must determine that the property is suitable for all uses permitted in the new general use district, even where it has additional authority to consider a development plan in passing upon a rezoning request and to require any submitted site plan to conform therewith. Hall v. City of Durham, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564, cert. denied, 323 N.C. 629, 374 S.E.2d 586 (1988).

Zoning Based on Race Invalid. — A zoning ordinance limiting the uses of property solely on the basis of race is beyond the scope of police power, since the reserved police power of the State must stop when it encroaches on the protection afforded the citizen by the federal Constitution. Clinard v. City of Winston-Salem, 217 N.C. 119, 6 S.E.2d 867, 126 A.L.R. 634 (1940).

Rezoning Held Invalid as Contract Zoning. — Where city council considered a proposed development plan, as well as collateral representations concerning adjacent property and deed restrictions controlling future use of the rezoned site, but did not determine the suitability of the land for other uses of the classification in question, the challenged rezoning constituted unlawful contract zoning. Hall v. City of Durham, 88 N.C. App. 53, 362 S.E.2d 791 (1987), aff'd, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564 (1988).

V. CONDITIONAL OR SPECIAL USE PERMITS.

Conditional or Special Use Permit Defined. — A conditional use or a special use permit is one issued for a use which the ordinance expressly permits in a designated zone upon proof that certain facts and conditions detailed in the ordinance exist. Coastal Ready-Mix Concrete Co. v. Board of Comm'rs, 299 N.C. 620, 265 S.E.2d 379, rehearing denied, 300 N.C. 562, 270 S.E.2d 106 (1980).

A "special exception" within the meaning of a zoning ordinance is one which is expressly permitted in a given zone upon proof that certain facts and conditions detailed in the ordinance exist. It is granted by the board of adjustment, after a public hearing, upon a finding that the specified conditions have been satisfied. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 278 N.C. 17, 178 S.E.2d 616 (1971).

Special Use Permit Not Required Where No Power to Zone Exists. — Rocky Mount Board of Adjustment had no authority to require a special use permit on the part of the Nash-Rocky Mount Board of Education with regard to its erection of a parking lot, because a parking lot was not a building or the use of a building as that term was provided for in the 2003 version of G.S. 160A-392 applicable to the matter; therefore, the Board of Adjustment had no zoning power and no special use permit was needed. Nash-Rocky Mount Bd. of Educ. v. Rocky Mount Bd. of Adjustment, 169 N.C. App. 587, 610 S.E.2d 255, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 679 (2005).

Safeguards against arbitrary action by zoning boards in granting or denying special use permits are not only to be found in specific guidelines for their action. Equally important are requirements that in each instance the board (1) follow the procedures specified in the ordinance; (2) conduct its hearings in accordance with fair-trial standards; (3) base its findings of fact only upon competent, material, and substantial evidence; and (4) in allowing or denying the application, state the basic facts on which it relied with sufficient specificity to inform the parties, as well as the court, what induced its decision. Humble Oil & Ref. Co. v. Board of Aldermen, 284 N.C. 458, 202 S.E.2d 129 (1974).

In passing upon an application for a special permit, a town council may not violate at will the regulations it has established for its own procedure; it must comply with the provisions of the applicable ordinance. This requirement is necessary in order to accord due process and equal protection to applicants and to refute charges that any denial is an arbitrary discrimination against the property owner. Piney Mt. Neighborhood Ass'n v. Town of Chapel Hill, 63 N.C. App. 244, 304 S.E.2d 251 (1983).

When a town council conducts a quasi-judicial hearing to determine facts prerequisite to issuance of a permit, it can dispense with no essential element of a fair trial. The applicant must have the opportunity to give evidence, cross-examine witnesses, and inspect documents; and unsworn statements may not be used to support findings absent waiver or stipulation. In allowing or denying the application, the council must state the basic facts on which it relied with sufficient specificity to inform the parties, as well as the court, what induced its decision. Piney Mt. Neighborhood Ass'n v. Town of Chapel Hill, 63 N.C. App. 244, 304 S.E.2d 251 (1983).

Dismissal based on sovereign immunity was proper because conditional use permitting requires the exercise of substantial discretion on the part of local officials in deciding important community-wide land use policies, and therefore, is legislative and discretionary in nature. Stephenson v. Town of Garner, 136 N.C. App. 444, 524 S.E.2d 608, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 54 (2000).

Practice of conditional use zoning is an approved practice in North Carolina, so long as the action of the local zoning authority in accomplishing the zoning is reasonable, neither arbitrary nor unduly discriminatory, and in the public interest. Chrismon v. Guilford County, 322 N.C. 611, 370 S.E.2d 579 (1988).

Cities are not obliged to use a two-step legislative/quasi-judicial proceeding in ruling on requests for re-zoning; conditional use zoning is proper as long as the zoning is reasonable, neither arbitrary nor unduly discriminatory, and in the public interest. Massey v. City of Charlotte, 145 N.C. App. 345, 550 S.E.2d 838, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 637 (2001), cert. denied, 354 N.C. 219, 554 S.E.2d 342 (2001).

Principal differences between valid conditional use zoning and illegal contract zoning are related and are essentially two in number: First, valid conditional use zoning features merely a unilateral promise from the landowner to the local zoning authority as to the landowner's intended use of the land in question, while illegal contract zoning anticipates a bilateral contract in which the landowner and the zoning authority make reciprocal promises. Second, in the context of conditional use zoning, the local zoning authority maintains its independent decision-making authority, while in the contract zoning scenario, it abandons that authority by binding itself contractually with the landowner seeking a zoning amendment. Chrismon v. Guilford County, 322 N.C. 611, 370 S.E.2d 579 (1988).

It is not necessary that property rezoned to a conditional use district be available for all of the uses allowed under the corresponding general use district. Chrismon v. Guilford County, 322 N.C. 611, 370 S.E.2d 579 (1988).

Concerns about the adverse effect of a proposed development upon traffic congestion and safety are valid. Such concerns support the denial of a special use permit. Ghidorzi Constr., Inc. v. Town of Chapel Hill, 80 N.C. 438, 342 S.E.2d 545, cert. denied, 317 N.C. 703, 347 S.E.2d 41 (1986).

Denial of a special use permit should be based on findings which are supported by competent, material, and substantial evidence appearing in the record. Ghidorzi Constr., Inc. v. Town of Chapel Hill, 80 N.C. App. 438, 342 S.E.2d 545, cert. denied, 317 N.C. 703, 347 S.E.2d 41 (1986).

Where petitioners produced competent, material and substantial prima facie evidence to show their compliance with four general conditions required to obtain a special use permit needed to construct a mobile home park, and where the city council failed to make adequate findings of fact to support denial of the special use application, such action constituted "an unlawful exercise of legislative power by the Board ... in violation of Article II, Section I, of the Constitution of North Carolina." Clark v. City of Asheboro, 136 N.C. App. 114, 524 S.E.2d 46, 1999 N.C. App. LEXIS 1397 (1999).

Issuance of Special Use Permit by Board of Adjustment. — Where a municipal ordinance required the board of adjustment to issue a special use permit when it made certain affirmative findings specified in the ordinance, the board's determination of whether to issue a special use permit was not an unlawful exercise of legislative power. Kenan v. Board of Adjustment, 13 N.C. App. 688, 187 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 281 N.C. 314, 188 S.E.2d 897 (1972).

Spot zoning is not invalid per se, but rather, it is beyond the authority of the municipality or county and therefore void only in the absence of a clear showing of a reasonable basis therefor. Chrismon v. Guilford County, 322 N.C. 611, 370 S.E.2d 579 (1988).

Form of Spot Zoning Held Legal. — While the rezoning of two tracts from A-1 to CU-M-2, so as to allow the storage and sale of agricultural chemicals, constituted a form of spot zoning, this activity was not illegal spot zoning. Because of the substantial benefits created for the surrounding community by the rezoning and because of the close relationship between the likely uses of the rezoned property and the uses already present in the surrounding tracts, there was a clear showing of a reasonable basis for the spot zoning. Chrismon v. Guilford County, 322 N.C. 611, 370 S.E.2d 579 (1988).

Judicial review of town decisions to grant or deny conditional use permits is provided for in G.S. 160A-388(e). Coastal Ready-Mix Concrete Co. v. Board of Comm'rs, 299 N.C. 620, 265 S.E.2d 379, rehearing denied, 300 N.C. 562, 270 S.E.2d 106 (1980).

Civil Action Not Appropriate Avenue for Appeal. — Neither a trial court nor an appellate court had subject matter jurisdiction over a developer's appeal of a city council's denial of a special use permit to construct a cemetery where the proper avenue of appeal for the developer was to have petitioned for certiorari under G.S. 160A-381(c). Northfield Dev. Co. v. City of Burlington, 165 N.C. App. 885, 599 S.E.2d 921, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 1528 (2004), cert. denied, 359 N.C. 191, 607 S.E.2d 278 (2004).

Scope of Review of Denial of Permit. — In reviewing a municipality's decision on an application for a special use permit, the court's scope of review includes: (1) Reviewing the record for errors in law, (2) insuring that procedures specified by law in both statute and ordinance are followed, (3) insuring that appropriate due process rights of a petitioner are protected including the right to offer evidence, cross-examine witnesses, and inspect documents, (4) insuring that decisions of town boards are supported by competent, material and substantial evidence in the whole record, and (5) insuring that decisions are not arbitrary and capricious. Ghidorzi Constr., Inc. v. Town of Chapel Hill, 80 N.C. App. 438, 342 S.E.2d 545, cert. denied, 317 N.C. 703, 347 S.E.2d 41 (1986).

The question before the Court of Appeals is not whether the evidence before the superior court supported that court's order as to the special use application, but whether the evidence before the town council supported the council's action. The superior court is not the trier of fact. That is the function of the town council. Ghidorzi Constr., Inc. v. Town of Chapel Hill, 80 N.C. App. 438, 342 S.E.2d 545, cert. denied, 317 N.C. 703, 347 S.E.2d 41 (1986).

Where applicants for a conditional use permit did not show that a proposed crematorium would not be detrimental to or endanger the general welfare, they did not show that the proposed use would comply with all of a city's standards; in affirming the denial of the application, the trial court applied the proper standard of review in the nature of certiorari pursuant to G.S. 160A-381(c), and its decision was supported by substantial evidence. Butler v. City Council of Clinton, 160 N.C. App. 68, 584 S.E.2d 103, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1672 (2003).

Whole Record Test. — In determining the sufficiency of the evidence supporting the town council's decision to deny an application for a special use permit, the whole record test is applied, considering not only the evidence which justifies the council's decision, but also that which fairly detracts from it. The whole record test does not allow the Court of Appeals or the superior court to replace the council's judgment as between two reasonably conflicting views. Ghidorzi Constr., Inc. v. Town of Chapel Hill, 80 N.C. App. 438, 342 S.E.2d 545, cert. denied, 317 N.C. 703, 347 S.E.2d 41 (1986).

In determining the sufficiency of the evidence to support a council's decision to issue special use permits, the court applies the whole record test which requires the examination of all competent evidence to determine if the council's decision is based upon substantial evidence. Behringer v. City of Raleigh, 107 N.C. App. 505, 421 S.E.2d 179 (1992).

County Zoning Board Exceeded Its Delegated Authority. — County zoning board exceeded its authority when it voided a mine operator's special use exception permit after finding violations, then treated the mine operator's current permit application as one for a new permit and applied the standard under a new ordinance; instead of voiding the original permit, which was issued in 1997, the board should have considered the application in light of the standards in effect prior to October of 2000, the date of the new ordinance, and had the board done so, it should have found that the mine operator met the burden when the mine operator produced a current permit from the Department of Environment, Health, and Natural Resources, Division of Land Resources for the activities contemplated and the 1997 ordinance had no other, more stringent conditions specified. Hewett v. County of Brunswick, 155 N.C. App. 138, 573 S.E.2d 688, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 1592 (2002).

VI. BUILDING PERMITS.

Building Inspector Must Follow Literal Provisions of Regulations. — In the issuing of building permits, the building inspector, a purely administrative agent, must follow the literal provisions of the zoning regulations. Lee v. Board of Adjustment, 226 N.C. 107, 37 S.E.2d 128 (1946).

Vested Rights Under Building Permit. — Issuance of a building permit creates no vested right to build contrary to the provisions of a subsequently enacted zoning ordinance, unless the permittee, acting in good faith, has made substantial expenditures in reliance upon the permit at a time when they did not violate declared public policy. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 281 N.C. 715, 190 S.E.2d 175 (1972).

When builder obtains a permit knowing of a pending ordinance which would make authorized construction a nonconforming use and hereafter hurriedly makes expenditures in an attempt to acquire a vested right before the law can be changed, he does not act in good faith and acquires no rights under the permit. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 281 N.C. 715, 190 S.E.2d 175 (1972).

Permit Could Not Be Arbitrarily Denied. — The town board could not deny the petitioners a conditional use permit where the decision was based on opinions and generalized fears, even those of a realtor, rather than on facts or other substantial evidence that the operation of an extended-stay hotel would "materially endanger the public health or safety" or that the project would "substantially injure the value of adjoining or abutting property"; although the project would increase traffic, no evidence indicated that this would mean an intensification of traffic congestion or a traffic hazard, nor were the expert opinions expressing concern about property values supported by certified appraisals or market studies. Sun Suites Holdings, L.L.C. v. Board of Aldermen, 139 N.C. App. 269, 533 S.E.2d 525, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 886 (2000), cert. denied, 353 N.C. 280, 546 S.E.2d 397 (2000).

Permit Could Not Be Denied Under Invalid Amendment. — An applicant's right to a permit, denied under an existing valid ordinance which entitled him to it, could not be defeated by a purported amendment which was void ab initio because it was not adopted as required by the enabling statute. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 281 N.C. 715, 190 S.E.2d 175 (1972).

An ordinance which classifies mobile homes differently from modular and site-built homes is valid. The protection of property values in the zoned area is a legitimate governmental objective, and the method of construction of homes may be determined by a city governing board as affecting the price of homes. The prohibition of such buildings is rationally related to the protection of the value of other homes in the area. Duggins v. Town of Walnut Cove, 63 N.C. App. 684, 306 S.E.2d 186, cert. denied, 309 N.C. 819, 310 S.E.2d 348 (1983), appeal dismissed, 466 U.S. 946, 104 S. Ct. 2145, 80 L. Ed. 2d 532 (1984).

A town is clearly authorized by this section to regulate and restrict the location and use of any buildings or structures for residential and other purposes, including restricting the location of mobile homes. Duggins v. Town of Walnut Cove, 63 N.C. App. 684, 306 S.E.2d 186, cert. denied, 309 N.C. 819, 310 S.E.2d 348 (1983), appeal dismissed, 466 U.S. 946, 104 S. Ct. 2145, 80 L. Ed. 2d 532 (1984).

VII. CERTIORARI.

Aggrieved Party for Judicial Review. —

An adjoining property owner was an aggrieved party, even though she failed to allege such, and the trial court had jurisdiction to allow her to amend her petition for certiorari, where she sought certiorari for judicial review of the zoning board's grant of a setback variance. Darnell v. Town of Franklin, 131 N.C. App. 846, 508 S.E.2d 841 (1998).

Timeliness of Certiorari Petition Is Determined by Superior Court. — Had the Legislature intended this section to contain a 30-day limit, it would have included one in the statute. As such a limit is not present in this section, the Supreme Court, must assume the Legislature intended to leave determination of the timeliness of a petition for certiorari to the superior court in which the petition is filed. White Oak Properties, Inc. v. Town of Carrboro, 313 N.C. 306, 327 S.E.2d 882 (1985).

Timeliness Depends on Circumstances. — In the absence of a designated time period within which to seek review of a decision by a board of aldermen, the superior court must determine, in its discretion, whether a petition for writ of certiorari has been filed within a reasonable time of the decision of the board of aldermen. What is a reasonable time must, in all cases, depend upon the circumstances. White Oak Properties, Inc. v. Town of Carrboro, 313 N.C. 306, 327 S.E.2d 882 (1985).

Timeliness Decided Under Equitable Doctrine of Laches. — Generally, whether a petition for certiorari has been timely filed can be decided by determining whether the petitioner's delay bars him under the equitable doctrine of laches from being afforded review. White Oak Properties, Inc. v. Town of Carrboro, 313 N.C. 306, 327 S.E.2d 882 (1985).

Section 160A-388(e) Compared. — As with this section, G.S. 160A-388(e) provides that "[e]very decision of the board [of adjustment] shall be subject to review by the superior court by proceedings in the nature of certiorari." Unlike this section, however, G.S. 160A-388(e) adds that "[a]ny petition for review by the superior court shall be filed with the clerk of superior court within 30 days after the decision of the board [of adjustment] is filed in such office as the ordinance specifies, or after a written copy thereof is delivered to every aggrieved party ... whichever is later." White Oak Properties, Inc. v. Town of Carrboro, 313 N.C. 306, 327 S.E.2d 882 (1985).

Former Chapter 160, Article 14, contained no provision for judicial review by certiorari or otherwise of the action of the legislative body of cities and towns with reference to the enactment, amendment or repeal of zoning regulations. In re Markham, 259 N.C. 566, 131 S.E.2d 329, cert. denied, 375 U.S. 931, 84 S. Ct. 332, 11 L. Ed. 2d 263 (1963).

Superior Court Sitting as Appellate Court. — In reviewing errors raised by plaintiff's petition for writ of certiorari pursuant to this section, the superior court was sitting as a court of appellate review. Batch v. Town of Chapel Hill, 326 N.C. 1, 387 S.E.2d 655, cert. denied, 496 U.S. 931, 110 S. Ct. 2631, 110 L. Ed. 2d 651 (1990).

When a superior court's jurisdiction is invoked under this section, the superior court judge sits as an appellate court, not a trial court. Estates, Inc. v. Town of Chapel Hill, 130 N.C. App. 664, 504 S.E.2d 296 (1998).

Remedies in Superior Court. — The superior court had no authority to grant an injunction where it was sitting as an appellate court in review of a quasi-judicial decision by the town council. Estates, Inc. v. Town of Chapel Hill, 130 N.C. App. 664, 504 S.E.2d 296 (1998).

Mandate of Superior Court is Judgment. — The term "judgment" as used in G.S. 1A-1-62(c) must include the mandate of a superior court when it sits as an appellate court to review the decision of a town council in granting or denying a special use permit. Estates, Inc. v. Town of Chapel Hill, 130 N.C. App. 664, 504 S.E.2d 296 (1998).

Consideration of Summary Judgment Motion on Writ of Certiorari Held Improper. — In case contesting town council's denial of plaintiff's subdivision plan, the trial court's decision to consider a summary judgment motion on a writ of certiorari was improper; however, it was proper for the motion for summary judgment to come before the trial court on the questions raised in plaintiff's complaint, which had been improperly joined with her petition for writ of certiorari. Batch v. Town of Chapel Hill, 326 N.C. 1, 387 S.E.2d 655, cert. denied, 496 U.S. 931, 110 S. Ct. 2631, 110 L. Ed. 2d 651 (1990).

§ 160A-382. Districts.

(a) For any or all these purposes, the city may divide its territorial jurisdiction into districts of any number, shape, and area that may be deemed best suited to carry out the purposes of this Part; and within those districts it may regulate and restrict the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, repair or use of buildings, structures, or land. Such districts may include, but shall not be limited to, general use districts, in which a variety of uses are permissible in accordance with general standards; overlay districts, in which additional requirements are imposed on certain properties within one or more underlying general or special use districts; and special use districts or conditional use districts, in which uses are permitted only upon the issuance of a special use permit or a conditional use permit and conditional zoning districts, in which site plans and individualized development conditions are imposed.

(b) Property may be placed in a special use district, conditional use district, or conditional district only in response to a petition by the owners of all the property to be included. Specific conditions applicable to these districts may be proposed by the petitioner or the city or its agencies, but only those conditions mutually approved by the city and the petitioner may be incorporated into the zoning regulations or permit requirements. Conditions and site-specific standards imposed in a conditional district shall be limited to those that address the conformance of the development and use of the site to city ordinances and an officially adopted comprehensive or other plan and those that address the impacts reasonably expected to be generated by the development or use of the site.

A statement analyzing the reasonableness of the proposed rezoning shall be prepared for each petition for a rezoning to a special or conditional use district, or a conditional district, or other small-scale rezoning.

(c) Except as authorized by the foregoing, all regulations shall be uniform for each class or kind of building throughout each district, but the regulations in one district may differ from those in other districts. (1923, c. 250, s. 2; C.S., s. 2776(s); 1931, c. 176, s. 1; 1933, c. 7; 1963, c. 1058, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 60; 1985, c. 607, s. 1; 2005-426, s. 6(a).)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-426, s. 6(a), effective January 1, 2006, redesignated the former paragraph as present subsections (a) through (c); in subsection (a), at the end of the last sentence, added “and conditional zoning districts, in which site plans and individualized development conditions are imposed”; rewrote the first paragraph of subsection (b), and added the second paragraph.

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Some of the cases cited below were decided under former statutory provisions.

Two of the essentials of a comprehensive zoning ordinance are: (1) it applies to all territory subject to the zoning jurisdiction of a city council, including the area beyond and surrounding the corporate limits of the city for a distance of one mile in all directions; and (2) with reference to property within a particular district or zone, all uses permissible in the zone are available as of right to the owner. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

The law does not require all areas of a defined class to be contiguous, but when a classification has been made, all areas in each class must be subject to the same restrictions. Decker v. Coleman, 6 N.C. App. 102, 169 S.E.2d 487 (1969).

Different areas in a municipality may be put in the same class. Decker v. Coleman, 6 N.C. App. 102, 169 S.E.2d 487 (1969).

It is not required that zoning district lines coincide with property lines, regardless of the area involved. Penny v. City of Durham, 249 N.C. 596, 107 S.E.2d 72 (1959).

To hold that zoning district lines must coincide with property lines, regardless of area involved, would be to render the act largely ineffective. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

Restrictions on Use Must Be Uniform in All Areas in Same Class. — When a city adopts a zoning ordinance, restrictions on use must be uniform in all areas in a defined class or district. Decker v. Coleman, 6 N.C. App. 102, 169 S.E.2d 487 (1969).

When a classification of a zone has been made, all the areas in each class must be subject to the same restrictions. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

The regulations prescribed shall be uniform for each class or kind of building throughout each district, but the regulations of one district may differ from those of the others. Bizzell v. Board of Aldermen, 192 N.C. 364, 135 S.E. 58 (1926).

How Cases Determined. — In one part of a district a filling station may be noxious or offensive to the public within the purview of the ordinance and in another part it may not be; at one place it may menace the public safety and at another it may not. Conditions and probable results must be taken into account. Thus, while the board of adjustment passes on individual cases, each case is determined in the contemplation of the statute and the ordinance by a uniform rule. Harden v. City of Raleigh, 192 N.C. 395, 135 S.E. 151 (1926).

Property may not be rezoned in reliance upon representations of the applicant. Hall v. City of Durham, 88 N.C. App. 53, 362 S.E.2d 791 (1987), aff'd, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564 (1988).

Rezoning may not be based on assurances that the applicant will make a specific use of the property. Hall v. City of Durham, 88 N.C. App. 53, 362 S.E.2d 791 (1987), aff'd, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564 (1988).

Rezoning must take into account all permitted uses under the new classification. Hall v. City of Durham, 88 N.C. App. 53, 362 S.E.2d 791 (1987), aff'd, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564 (1988).

Practice of conditional use zoning is an approved practice in North Carolina, so long as the action of the local zoning authority in accomplishing the zoning is reasonable, neither arbitrary nor unduly discriminatory, and in the public interest. Chrismon v. Guilford County, 322 N.C. 611, 370 S.E.2d 579 (1988).

When Consent of Property Owners Required. — Conditional use zoning authorized by this section requires the consent of all the property owners within the area to be rezoned, and the only use which can be made of the land which is conditionally rezoned is that which is specified in the conditional use permit. Rezoning from one general use district with listed permitted uses to another general use district does not require the consent of such property owners and does not limit the future use of the property to a specific use, but allows changes from one permitted use to any other use permitted in the new zone. Hall v. City of Durham, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564, cert. denied, 323 N.C. 629, 374 S.E.2d 586 (1988).

Principal differences between valid conditional use zoning and illegal contract zoning are related and are essentially two in number: First, valid conditional use zoning features merely a unilateral promise from the landowner to the local zoning authority as to the landowner's intended use of the land in question, while illegal contract zoning anticipates a bilateral contract in which the landowner and the zoning authority make reciprocal promises. Second, in the context of conditional use zoning, the local zoning authority maintains its independent decision-making authority, while in the contract zoning scenario, it abandons that authority by binding itself contractually with the landowner seeking a zoning amendment. Chrismon v. Guilford County, 322 N.C. 611, 370 S.E.2d 579 (1988).

It is not necessary that property rezoned to a conditional use district be available for all of the uses allowed under the corresponding general use district. Chrismon v. Guilford County, 322 N.C. 611, 370 S.E.2d 579 (1988).

Spot zoning is not invalid per se, but rather, it is beyond the authority of the municipality or county and therefore void only in the absence of a clear showing of a reasonable basis therefor. Chrismon v. Guilford County, 322 N.C. 611, 370 S.E.2d 579 (1988).

Spot Zoning Held Legal. — While the rezoning of two tracts from A-1 to CU-M-2, so as to allow the storage and sale of agricultural chemicals, constituted a form of spot zoning, this activity was not illegal spot zoning. Because of the substantial benefits created for the surrounding community by the rezoning and because of the close relationship between the likely uses of the rezoned property and the uses already present in the surrounding tracts, there was a clear showing of a reasonable basis for the spot zoning. Chrismon v. Guilford County, 322 N.C. 611, 370 S.E.2d 579 (1988).

Rezoning Held Invalid as Contract Zoning. — Where city council considered a proposed development plan, as well as collateral representations concerning adjacent property and deed restrictions controlling future use of the rezoned site, but did not determine the suitability of the land for other uses of the classification in question, the challenged rezoning constituted unlawful contract zoning. Hall v. City of Durham, 88 N.C. App. 53, 362 S.E.2d 791 (1987), aff'd, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564 (1988).

No Zoning Power Over School's Parking Lot. — Rocky Mount Board of Adjustment had no authority to require a special use permit on the part of the Nash-Rocky Mount Board of Education with regard to its erection of a parking lot, because a parking lot was not a building or the use of a building as that term was provided for in the 2003 version of G.S. 160A-

392 applicable to the matter; therefore, the Board of Adjustment had no zoning power and no special use permit was needed. Nash-Rocky Mount Bd. of Educ. v. Rocky Mount Bd. of Adjustment, 169 N.C. App. 587, 610 S.E.2d 255, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 679 (2005).

§ 160A-383. Purposes in view.

Zoning regulations shall be made in accordance with a comprehensive plan. When adopting or rejecting any zoning amendment, the governing board shall also approve a statement describing whether its action is consistent with an adopted comprehensive plan and any other officially adopted plan that is applicable, and briefly explaining why the board considers the action taken to be reasonable and in the public interest. That statement is not subject to judicial review.

The planning board shall advise and comment on whether the proposed amendment is consistent with any comprehensive plan that has been adopted and any other officially adopted plan that is applicable. The planning board shall provide a written recommendation to the governing board that addresses plan consistency and other matters as deemed appropriate by the planning board, but a comment by the planning board that a proposed amendment is inconsistent with the comprehensive plan shall not preclude consideration or approval of the proposed amendment by the governing board.

Zoning regulations shall be designed to promote the public health, safety, and general welfare. To that end, the regulations may address, among other things, the following public purposes: to provide adequate light and air; to prevent the overcrowding of land; to avoid undue concentration of population; to lessen congestion in the streets; to secure safety from fire, panic, and dangers; and to facilitate the efficient and adequate provision of transportation, water, sewerage, schools, parks, and other public requirements. The regulations shall be made with reasonable consideration, among other things, as to the character of the district and its peculiar suitability for particular uses, and with a view to conserving the value of buildings and encouraging the most appropriate use of land throughout such city. (1923, c. 250, s. 3; C.S., s. 2776(t); 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 2005-426, s. 7(a); 2006-259, s. 28.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-426, s. 7(a), effective January 1, 2006, rewrote the section.

Session Laws 2006-259, s. 28, effective August 23, 2006, in the second sentence of the first paragraph, substituted "When" for "Prior to" at the beginning, substituted "also approve" for "adopt" near the middle, and substituted "and any other officially adopted plan that is applicable, and briefly" for "and" near the end.

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Some of the cases cited below were decided under former similar statutory provisions.

The concept of zoning implies a restriction upon the owner's right to use a specific tract for a use profitable to him but detrimental to the value of other properties in the area, thus promoting the most appropriate use of land throughout the municipality, considered as a whole. Blades v. City of Raleigh, 280 N.C. 531, 187 S.E.2d 35 (1972); Graham Court Assocs. v. Town Council, 53 N.C. App. 543, 281 S.E.2d 418 (1981).

City Legislative Body May Not Disregard Fundamental Concepts of Zoning. — Notwithstanding that the motivation of the members of a city legislative body may be laudable, any action of that body that disregards the fundamental concepts of zoning as set forth in the enabling legislation may be arbitrary and capricious. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Zoning ordinance deals basically with use, not ownership, of property. Graham Court Assocs. v. Town Council, 53 N.C. App. 543, 281 S.E.2d 418 (1981).

Zoning is the regulation by a municipality of the use of land within that municipality, and of the buildings and structures thereon, and is not regulation of the ownership of the land or structures. Graham Court Assocs. v. Town Council, 53 N.C. App. 543, 281 S.E.2d 418 (1981).

The matter of zoning is prospective because it in effect constitutes planning as to how a city or town will be developed in the future. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

A "comprehensive plan" is simply a plan which zones an entire town or city, as opposed to a limited portion thereof arbitrarily selected for zoning, in a manner which is calculated to achieve the purposes set forth by statute. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

All Permissible Uses Are Available Under Comprehensive Zoning. — One essential of a "comprehensive" zoning ordinance is that all uses permissible within a given classification are available as of right to the owner. Hall v. City of Durham, 88 N.C. App. 53, 362

S.E.2d 791 (1987), aff'd, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564 (1988).

And a Means by Which a Community's Character Is Preserved. — A comprehensive zoning plan is a means by which the character of the community is to be preserved although devoting the land to its most appropriate uses. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Ordinance itself may show that zoning is comprehensive in nature. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

As to necessity for an extrinsic written plan, see Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

As to purposes for which a municipal corporation may adopt a comprehensive zoning ordinance, as set forth in former statute, see Schloss v. Jamison, 262 N.C. 108, 136 S.E.2d 691 (1964).

Spot Zoning Defined. — Spot zoning arises where a small area, usually a single lot or a few lots, surrounded by other property of a similar nature, is placed arbitrarily in a different use zone from that to which the surrounding property is made subject. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968); Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

A zoning ordinance, or amendment, which singles out and reclassifies a relatively small tract owned by a single person and surrounded by a much larger area uniformly zoned, so as to impose upon the small tract greater restrictions than those imposed upon the larger area, or so as to relieve the small tract from restrictions to which the rest of the area is subjected, is called "spot zoning." Blades v. City of Raleigh, 280 N.C. 531, 187 S.E.2d 35 (1972).

Size of Area as Factor in Determining Existence of Spot Zoning. — While the size of an area is seldom solely determinative of the question of whether an ordinance constitutes spot zoning, it is a factor that few courts are prone to overlook. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Spot zoning is beyond authority of mu-municipality or county absent a clear showing that a reasonable basis exists for such distinction. Blades v. City of Raleigh, 280 N.C. 531, 187 S.E.2d 35 (1972); Lathan v. Union County Bd. of Comm'rs, 47 N.C. App. 357, 267 S.E.2d 30, cert. denied, 301 N.C. 92, 273 S.E.2d 298 (1980).

Subjection of Small Area to More Burdensome Restrictions. — When a small area is subjected, by spot zoning, to a more burdensome restriction than that applicable to surrounding property of like kind, the weight of authority is that the owner of the property so subjected to discriminatory regulation may successfully attack the validity of the ordinance. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968); Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Reclassification of Small Residential Area to Permit Commercial Use. — The rule denying the validity of spot zoning ordinances has been applied where a small area previously in a residential zone has been removed, by an amending ordinance, from such zone and reclassified to permit business or commercial use over the objection of adjoining owners of residential property. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968); Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

An ordinance rezoning five acres of land from classification for single-family residences to a less restrictive classification constituted unlawful "spot zoning" where the rezoned property was surrounded by a very large area classified R-4 and extensively developed by the construction and occupancy of single-family residences, and the record disclosed no reasonable basis for granting the owner of the tract freedom from restrictions imposed upon the owners of other properties in the surrounding area. Blades v. City of Raleigh, 280 N.C. 531, 187 S.E.2d 35 (1972).

Where Police Power Permits Restrictions upon Specific Tract. — The police power, upon which zoning ordinances must rest, permits restriction upon the right of the owner of a specific tract, when the legislative body has a reasonable basis to believe that it will promote the general welfare by conserving the values of other properties and encouraging the most appropriate use thereof. Blades v. City of Raleigh, 280 N.C. 531, 187 S.E.2d 35 (1972).

City's legislative body has authority to rezone property when reasonably necessary to do so in the interests of the public health, the public safety, the public morals or the public welfare. Ordinarily, the only limitation upon this legislative authority is that it may not be exercised arbitrarily or capriciously.

Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Rezoning on Condition Disapproved. — The rezoning of residential property to a business use, on the condition that the land rezoned shall be devoted exclusively to the business use for which application to rezone was made or otherwise remain residential, constitutes zoning without regard to the public health, safety and welfare, concern for which is basic to that comprehensiveness contemplated in the enabling act. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Property may not be rezoned in reliance upon representations of the applicant. Hall v. City of Durham, 88 N.C. App. 53, 362 S.E.2d 791 (1987), aff'd, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564 (1988).

Rezoning may not be based on assurances that the applicant will make a specific use of the property. Hall v. City of Durham, 88 N.C. App. 53, 362 S.E.2d 791 (1987), aff'd, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564 (1988).

Rezoning must take into account all permitted uses under the new classification. Hall v. City of Durham, 88 N.C. App. 53, 362 S.E.2d 791 (1987), aff'd, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564 (1988).

Unlawful Contract Zoning. — A municipal ordinance rezoning a tract of land to a less restrictive R-6 classification constituted unlawful "contract zoning" where there was nothing in the record to indicate that the city council contemplated the opening of the tract to all uses permissible under the R-6 classification, and it was apparent that the city council's action was based on its approval of the applicant's plans to construct specifically described town houses on the property. Blades v. City of Raleigh, 280 N.C. 531, 187 S.E.2d 35 (1972).

Where city council considered a proposed development plan, as well as collateral representations concerning adjacent property and deed restrictions controlling future use of the rezoned site, but did not determine the suitability of the land for other uses of the classification in question, the challenged rezoning constituted unlawful contract zoning. Hall v. City of Durham, 88 N.C. App. 53, 362 S.E.2d 791 (1987), aff'd, 323 N.C. 293, 372 S.E.2d 564 (1988).

Zoning Need Not Assure Most Profitable Use of Each Tract. — This section does not contemplate that a zoning pattern must be, or should be, designed to permit each individual tract of land to be devoted to its own most profitable use, irrespective of the surrounding area. Blades v. City of Raleigh, 280 N.C. 531, 187 S.E.2d 35 (1972).

In designing zoning regulations to prevent and relieve traffic congestion it is important that streets and thoroughfares planned for an area be considered as well as those in existence. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Rezoning Upheld. — City's decision to adopt ordinances rezoning two parcels of land was a single procedure, constituting legitimate conditional zoning, entirely consistent with act permitting city to engage in conditional zoning as a legislative act, where the zoning ordinances were adopted in accordance with a small area plan, with goals that included: creating a greater mixture of land uses; planning for future mass transit service; developing pedestrian improvements; and developing a public gathering space and a network of green spaces. Summers v. City of Charlotte, 149 N.C. App. 509, 562 S.E.2d 18, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 272 (2002), cert. denied, 355 N.C. 758, 566 S.E.2d 482 (2002).

§ 160A-383.1. Zoning regulations for manufactured homes.

(a) The General Assembly finds and declares that manufactured housing offers affordable housing opportunities for low and moderate income residents of this State who could not otherwise afford to own their own home. The General Assembly further finds that some local governments have adopted zoning regulations which severely restrict the placement of manufactured homes. It is the intent of the General Assembly in enacting this section that cities reexamine their land use practices to assure compliance with applicable statutes and case law, and consider allocating more residential land area for manufactured homes based upon local housing needs.

(b) For purposes of this section, the term "manufactured home" is defined as provided in G.S. 143-145(7).

(c) A city may not adopt or enforce zoning regulations or other provisions which have the effect of excluding manufactured homes from the entire zoning jurisdiction.

(d) A city may adopt and enforce appearance and dimensional criteria for manufactured homes. Such criteria shall be designed to protect property values, to preserve the character and integrity of the community or individual neighborhoods within the community, and to promote the health, safety and welfare of area residents. The criteria shall be adopted by ordinance.

(e) In accordance with the city's comprehensive plan and based on local housing needs, a city may designate a manufactured home overlay district within a residential district. Such overlay district may not consist of an individual lot or scattered lots, but shall consist of a defined area within which additional requirements or standards are placed upon manufactured homes.

(f) Nothing in this section shall be construed to preempt or supersede valid restrictive covenants running with the land. The terms "mobile home" and "trailer" in any valid restrictive covenants running with the land shall include the term "manufactured home" as defined in this section. (1987, c. 805, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Federal Preemption Not Found. — A county ordinance requiring mobile homes to have siding and shingles of a type similar to standard residential construction was enacted to remove from the range of safe and satisfactorily performing materials only ones based on undesirable appearance, and left the regulation of safety and performance of roofing and siding materials to Congress and the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and thus was not preempted. CMH Mfg., Inc. v. Catawba County, 994 F. Supp. 697 (W.D.N.C. 1998).

Standing. — It was error for the trial court to dismiss plaintiff's claims based on mootness and lack of standing where property ownership was irrelevant and where the failure to rezone directly and adversely affected the plaintiff's pecuniary interest. Northfield Dev. Co. v. City of Burlington, 136 N.C. App. 272, 523 S.E.2d 743, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 2 (2000).

This section does not require a city to adopt Manufactured Home Overlay District. Northfield Dev. Co. v. City of Burlington, 136 N.C. App. 272, 523 S.E.2d 743, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 2 (2000).

Manufactured Homes Not Excluded from Entire Jurisdiction. — A city's refusal to rezone an area at plaintiff's request did not constitute a decision to preclude the use of manufactured homes in city's "entire zoning jurisdiction" in violation of subsection (c) of this section. Northfield Dev. Co. v. City of Burlington, 136 N.C. App. 272, 523 S.E.2d 743, 2000 N.C. App. LEXIS 2 (2000).

§ 160A-383.2. Voluntary agricultural districts.

A city may amend the ordinances applicable within its planning jurisdiction to provide flexibility to farming operations that are located within a city or county voluntary agricultural district or enhanced voluntary agricultural district adopted under Article 61 of Chapter 106 of the General Statutes. Amendments to applicable ordinances may include provisions regarding on-farm sales, pick-your-own operations, road signs, agritourism, and other activities incident to farming. For purposes of this section, the term "farming" shall have the same meaning as set forth in G.S. 106-581.1. (2005-390, s. 7.)

§ 160A-383.3. Reasonable accommodation of amateur radio antennas.

A city ordinance based on health, safety, or aesthetic considerations that regulates the placement, screening, or height of the antennas or support structures of amateur radio operators must reasonably accommodate amateur radio communications and must represent the minimum practicable regulation necessary to accomplish the purpose of the city. A city may not restrict antennas or antenna support structures of amateur radio operators to heights of 90 feet or lower unless the restriction is necessary to achieve a clearly defined health, safety, or aesthetic objective of the city. (2007-147, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2007-147, s. 3, made this section effective October 1, 2007.

§ 160A-384. Method of procedure.

(a) The city council shall provide for the manner in which zoning regulations and restrictions and the boundaries of zoning districts shall be determined, established and enforced, and from time to time amended, supplemented or changed, in accordance with the provisions of this Article. The procedures adopted pursuant to this section shall provide that whenever there is a zoning map amendment, the owner of that parcel of land as shown on the county tax listing, and the owners of all parcels of land abutting that parcel of land as shown on the county tax listing, shall be mailed a notice of a public hearing on the proposed amendment by first class mail at the last addresses listed for such owners on the county tax abstracts. This notice must be deposited in the mail at least 10 but not more than 25 days prior to the date of the public hearing. The person or persons mailing such notices shall certify to the City Council that fact, and such certificate shall be deemed conclusive in the absence of fraud.

(b) The first class mail notice required under subsection (a) of this section shall not be required if the zoning map amendment directly affects more than 50 properties, owned by a total of at least 50 different property owners, and the city elects to use the expanded published notice provided for in this subsection. In this instance, a city may elect to either make the mailed notice provided for in subsection (a) of this section or may as an alternative elect to publish notice of the hearing as required by G.S. 160A-364, but provided that each advertisement shall not be less than one-half of a newspaper page in size. The advertisement shall only be effective for property owners who reside in the area of general circulation of the newspaper which publishes the notice. Property owners who reside outside of the newspaper circulation area, according to the address listed on the most recent property tax listing for the affected property, shall be notified according to the provisions of subsection (a) of this section.

(c) When a zoning map amendment is proposed, the city shall prominently post a notice of the public hearing on the site proposed for rezoning or on an adjacent public street or highway right-of-way. When multiple parcels are included within a proposed zoning map amendment, a posting on each individual parcel is not required, but the city shall post sufficient notices to provide reasonable notice to interested persons. Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1985, c. 595, which amended this section, provided that the amendment is applicable only when tax maps are available for the areas to be zoned.

Session Laws 1995, c. 546, which amended this section, in s. 2.1 provides: "Any local act in conflict with this act is repealed to the extent of the conflict."

Session Laws 2005-418, s. 14, provides: "The provisions of this act shall not be deemed to repeal or amend the validity or enforceability of any local act or charter provision previously enacted by the General Assembly."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-418, s. 4(a), effective January 1, 2006, rewrote subsection (b); and added subsection (c).

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Many of the cases cited below were decided under former similar statutory provisions.

Ordinance Presumed Valid. — How a city or town shall be zoned or rezoned and how various properties shall be classified or reclassified rests with the municipal legislative body, and its judgment is presumed to be reasonable and valid and beyond judicial interference unless shown to be arbitrary, unreasonable or capricious. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

There is a presumption that the city council adopts a zoning ordinance in the proper exercise of the police power. Schloss v. Jamison, 262 N.C. 108, 136 S.E.2d 691 (1964).

A duly adopted rezoning ordinance is presumed to be valid. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277

N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971); State v. Joyner, 286 N.C. 366, 211 S.E.2d 320, appeal dismissed, 422 U.S. 1002, 95 S. Ct. 2618, 45 L. Ed. 2d 666 (1975).

Depreciation of Property Value Not Enough to Establish Invalidity. — There is a presumption that a zoning ordinance, adopted pursuant to the prescribed procedures, is valid, and the mere fact that it depreciates the value of the complainant's property is not enough to establish its invalidity. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968).

Burden of Establishing Invalidity. — When it is shown that a zoning ordinance has been adopted by the governing board of a municipality, there is a presumption in favor of the validity of the ordinance, and the burden is upon the complaining property owner to show its invalidity or inapplicability. Helms v. City of Charlotte, 255 N.C. 647, 122 S.E.2d 817 (1961).

A property owner who asserts the invalidity of a zoning ordinance adopted in the proper exercise of the police power has the burden of establishing its invalidity. Schloss v. Jamison, 262 N.C. 108, 136 S.E.2d 691 (1964).

A municipal zoning ordinance will be presumed to be valid, and the burden is on the complaining party to show it to be invalid. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

Burden of establishing arbitrariness in zoning is on the party asserting it. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

The burden is on the complaining party to show that a duly adopted rezoning ordinance is invalid. State v. Joyner, 286 N.C. 366, 211 S.E.2d 320, appeal dismissed, 422 U.S. 1002, 95 S. Ct. 2618, 45 L. Ed. 2d 666 (1975).

Controversies in respect of facts pertinent to the validity of a rezoning ordinance present questions of fact for determination by the superior court judge. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Courts Will Not Substitute Their Judgment for Legislative Body's. — When the most that can be said against a zoning ordinance is that whether it was an unreasonable, arbitrary or unequal exercise of power is fairly debatable, the courts will not interfere. In such circumstances the courts will not substitute their judgment for that of the legislative body. Helms v. City of Charlotte, 255 N.C. 647, 122 S.E.2d 817 (1961); Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968).

The courts may not substitute their judgment for that of the legislative body concerning the wisdom of imposing restrictions upon the use of properties within that body's legislative jurisdiction. Blades v. City of Raleigh, 280 N.C. 531, 187 S.E.2d 35 (1972).

But Legislative Body May Not Disregard Fundamental Concepts of Zoning. — Notwithstanding the fact that the motivation of the members of a city legislative body may be laudable, any action of that body that disregards the fundamental concepts of zoning as set forth in the enabling legislation may be arbitrary and capricious. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Courts May Inquire into Procedure and Reasonableness of Zoning. — The courts may inquire into procedures followed by a city legislative body at a hearing before it and determine whether a zoning ordinance was adopted in violation of required procedures, or is arbitrary and without reasonable basis in view of the established circumstances. Blades v.

City of Raleigh, 280 N.C. 531, 187 S.E.2d 35 (1972).

City's legislative body has authority to rezone property when reasonably necessary to do so in the interests of the public health, the public safety, the public morals or the public welfare. Ordinarily, the only limitation upon this legislative authority is that it may not be exercised arbitrarily or capriciously. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

A city may, from time to time, amend its zoning ordinance so as to transfer an area from one use district into another, since the enactment of a zoning ordinance is not a contract by the city with property owners to maintain the zoning pattern thereby established. Blades v. City of Raleigh, 280 N.C. 531, 187 S.E.2d 35 (1972).

Notice and opportunity to be heard are prerequisite to validity of modification of municipal zoning regulations. Walker v. Town of Elkin, 254 N.C. 85, 118 S.E.2d 1 (1961).

Notice Held Sufficient. — Notice published in a newspaper of general circulation in the municipality and county advising that changes in the zoning of described property and proposed changes in the zoning ordinance of the municipality would be discussed, inviting all persons interested in the proposed changes to be present, was sufficient to sustain a finding that notice of changes both in the zoning regulations and in zone lines had been given. Walker v. Town of Elkin, 254 N.C. 85, 118 S.E.2d 1 (1961).

The fact that complainants did not see a notice given by advertisement in a local newspaper could not affect validity of a zoning ordinance when everything required by the statute was done before its adoption. It is a matter of almost daily occurrence that rights are affected and the status of relationships is changed upon the giving of similar notice, but no one may successfully contend that acts predicated upon such notice are rendered invalid because persons affected did not see the notice in the newspaper. Helms v. City of Charlotte, 255 N.C. 647, 122 S.E.2d 817 (1961).

Notice given for public hearing was sufficient to fairly apprise those whose rights could be affected of the nature of the action, where the notice was published in the newspaper twice, and the notice stated the issues to be considered and the area to be affected. Bryan v. Raynor, 94 N.C. App. 91, 379 S.E.2d 880, cert. denied, 325 N.C. 707, 388 S.E.2d 448 (1989).

Safeguards against arbitrary action by zoning boards in granting or denying special use permits are not only to be found in specific guidelines for their action. Equally important are the requirements that in each instance the board (1) follow the procedures specified in the ordinance; (2) conduct its hearings in accordance with fair-trial standards; (3) base its findings of fact only upon competent, material, and substantial evidence; and (4) in allowing or denying the application, state the basic facts on which it relied with sufficient specificity to inform the parties, as well as the court, what induced its decision. Humble Oil & Ref. Co. v. Board of Aldermen, 284 N.C. 458, 202 S.E.2d 129 (1974).

Municipality Not Estopped from Enforcing Ordinance. — The fact that a municipal official issued a permit for a nonconforming use after the enactment of a zoning ordinance did not estop the municipality from enforcing the ordinance. Helms v. City of Charlotte, 255 N.C. 647, 122 S.E.2d 817 (1961).

Applied in Allgood v. Town of Tarboro, 281 N.C. 430, 189 S.E.2d 255 (1972); Sofran Corp. v. City of Greensboro, 327 N.C. 125, 393 S.E.2d 767 (1990).

§ 160A-385. Changes.

(a) Qualified Protests.

- (1) Zoning ordinances may from time to time be amended, supplemented, changed, modified or repealed. In case, however, of a qualified protest against a zoning map amendment, that amendment shall not become effective except by favorable vote of three-fourths of all the members of the city council. For the purposes of this subsection, vacant positions on the council and members who are excused from voting shall not be considered "members of the council" for calculation of the requisite supermajority.
- (2) To qualify as a protest under this section, the petition must be signed by the owners of either (i) twenty percent (20%) or more of the area included in the proposed change or (ii) five percent (5%) of a 100-foot-wide buffer extending along the entire boundary of each discrete or separate area proposed to be rezoned. A street right-of-way shall not be considered in computing the 100-foot buffer area as long as that street right-of-way is 100 feet wide or less. When less than an entire parcel of land is subject to the proposed zoning map amendment, the 100-foot buffer shall be measured from the property line of that parcel. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the city may rely on the county tax listing to determine the "owners" of potentially qualifying areas.
- (3) The foregoing provisions concerning protests shall not be applicable to any amendment which initially zones property added to the territorial coverage of the ordinance as a result of annexation or otherwise, or to an amendment to an adopted (i) special use district, (ii) conditional use district, or (iii) conditional district if the amendment does not change the types of uses that are permitted within the district or increase the approved density for residential development, or increase the total approved size of nonresidential development, or reduce the size of any buffers or screening approved for the special use district, conditional use district, or conditional district.

(b) Amendments in zoning ordinances shall not be applicable or enforceable without consent of the owner with regard to buildings and uses for which either (i) building permits have been issued pursuant to G.S. 160A-417 prior to the enactment of the ordinance making the change or changes so long as the permits remain valid and unexpired pursuant to G.S. 160A-418 and unrevoked pursuant to G.S. 160A-422 or (ii) a vested right has been established pursuant to G.S. 160A-385.1 and such vested right remains valid and unexpired pursuant to G.S. 160A-385.1. (1923, c. 250, s. 5; C.S., s. 2776(v); 1959, c. 434, s. 1; 1965, c. 864, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1977, c. 912, s. 7; 1985, c. 540, s. 2; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 996, s. 1; 1991, c. 512, s. 4; 2005-418, s. 5.)

Local Modification. — City of Charlotte: 1983 (Reg. Sess., 1984), c. 955; city of Gastonia: 1983, c. 176; city of Rockingham: 2001-48.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-418, s. 14, provides: "The provisions of this act shall not be deemed to repeal or amend the validity or enforceability of any local act or charter provision previously enacted by the General Assembly."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-418, s. 5, effective January 1, 2006, rewrote subsection (a); and substituted "Amendments in zoning ordinances" for "Amendments, modifications, supplements, repeal or other changes in zoning regulations and restrictions and zone boundaries" in subsection (b).

CASE NOTES

I. In General.

II. Protests.

I. IN GENERAL.

Editor's Note. — Some of the cases cited below were decided under former similar statutory provisions.

Applicability of 1985 Amendment. — The 1985 amendment to this section did not apply to case in which town issued its certificate to petitioner on June 3, 1982, and amendment to town's zoning ordinance was adopted June 14, 1982, more than three years before the effective date of the amendment. Issuance of Cama Minor Dev. Permit No. 82-0010 v. Town of Bath, 82 N.C. App. 32, 345 S.E.2d 699 (1986).

Rezoning is a legislative act, whereas a proceeding to grant a variance or special use permit is quasi-judicial in nature. Sherrill v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 81 N.C. App. 369, 344 S.E.2d 357, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 318 N.C. 417, 349 S.E.2d 600 (1986).

As to showing necessity to invalidate zoning ordinance on constitutional grounds, see Sherrill v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 81 N.C. App. 369, 344 S.E.2d 357, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 318 N.C. 417, 349 S.E.2d 600 (1986).

The enactment of a zoning ordinance is not a contract with the property owners of the city and confers upon them no vested right to have the ordinance remain forever in force or to demand that the boundaries of each zone or the uses to be made of property in each zone remain as declared in the original ordinance. Such legislation by the city may be repealed in its entirety, or amended as the city's legislative body determines from time to time to be in the best interests of the public, subject only to the limitations of the enabling statute and the limitations of the Constitution. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968).

A comprehensive zoning ordinance does not constitute a contract between a municipality and the property owners which precludes the municipality from changing the boundaries if at a later date it deems a change to be desirable, nor does it vest in any property owner the right that the restrictions imposed by it upon his property or the property of others should remain unaltered. Allgood v. Town of Tarboro, 281 N.C. 430, 189 S.E.2d 255 (1972).

A city may, from time to time, amend its zoning ordinance so as to transfer an area from one use district into another, since the enactment of a zoning ordinance is not a contract by the city with property owners to maintain the zoning pattern thereby established. Blades v. City of Raleigh, 280 N.C. 531, 187 S.E.2d 35 (1972).

A city's legislative body has authority to rezone property when it is reasonably necessary to do so in the interests of the public health, the public safety, the public morals or the public welfare. Ordinarily, the only limitation upon this legislative authority is that it may not be exercised arbitrarily or capriciously. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Subject to Enabling Act and Constitutional Limitations. — Zoning regulations may be amended or changed when the action is authorized by the enabling statute and does not contravene constitutional limitations on the zoning power. Allgood v. Town of Tarboro, 281 N.C. 430, 189 S.E.2d 255 (1972).

A municipality's authority to enact and amend zoning ordinances is subject to the limitations imposed by the enabling statute and by the Constitution. These limitations forbid arbitrary and unduly discriminating interference with property rights in the exercise of such power. Thus, a zoning ordinance or an amendment thereto which is not adopted in accordance with the enabling statute is invalid and ineffective. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 281 N.C. 715, 190 S.E.2d 175 (1972).

Ordinances enacted under this section must relate rationally to valid police power objective of promoting the health, safety, morals, or general welfare of the public. Wenco Mgt. Co. v. Town of Carrboro, 53 N.C. App. 480, 281 S.E.2d 74 (1981).

Arbitrary and Unduly Discriminatory Interference Not Permitted. — Zoning regulations may be amended or changed, but constitutional limitations forbid arbitrary and unduly discriminatory interference with property rights in the exercise of such power. Allgood v. Town of Tarboro, 281 N.C. 430, 189 S.E.2d 255 (1972).

Towns exercising authority pursuant to this section are subject to constitutional limitations against arbitrary and unduly discriminatory interference with the rights of property owners. Wenco Mgt. Co. v. Town of Carrboro, 53 N.C. App. 480, 281 S.E.2d 74 (1981).

Vested Rights Under Building Permit. — Issuance of a building permit creates no vested right to build contrary to the provisions of a subsequently enacted zoning ordinance, unless the permittee, acting in good faith, has made substantial expenditures in reliance upon the permit at a time when they did not violate declared public policy. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 281 N.C. 715, 190 S.E.2d 175 (1972).

When, at the time a builder obtains a permit, he has knowledge of a pending ordinance which would make the authorized construction a non-conforming use and thereafter hurriedly makes expenditures in an attempt to acquire a vested right before the law can be changed, he does not act in good faith and acquires no rights under the permit. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 281 N.C. 715, 190 S.E.2d 175 (1972).

Plaintiffs acquired vested rights under this section by virtue of the issuance of building permit by town, which the North Carolina General Assembly prohibited interference with by subsequent governmental action. Browning-Ferris Indus. of S. Atl., Inc. v. Wake County, 905 F. Supp. 312 (E.D.N.C. 1995).

Vested Rights Under Common Law. — Regardless of whether subsection (b) and G.S. 160A-385.1 were applicable, under North Carolina common law, plaintiffs' rights to develop tract of land had vested where plaintiffs incurred substantial expenditures in reliance on site plan approval and the issuance of building permit by town, and plaintiffs' efforts following the site plan approval were undertaken in good faith and under reasonable reliance on the validity of the approvals they had been granted. Browning-Ferris Indus. of S. Atl., Inc.

v. Wake County, 905 F. Supp. 312 (E.D.N.C. 1995).

City Legislative Body May Not Disregard Fundamental Concepts of Zoning. — Notwithstanding that the motivation of the members of a city legislative body may be laudable, any action of that body that disregards the fundamental concepts of zoning as set forth in the enabling legislation may be arbitrary and capricious. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Amendment Need Not Accomplish All Purposes Specified in Enabling Act. — It is not required that an amendment to a zoning ordinance accomplish or contribute specifically to the accomplishment of all of the purposes specified in the enabling act. It is sufficient that the legislative body of the city had reasonable ground upon which to conclude that one or more of those purposes would be accomplished or aided by the amending ordinance. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968).

But Tract Must Be Suitable for All Uses Permitted Under New Classification. — The zoning of a tract of land may be changed from a residential classification to a less restrictive residential classification only if and when its location and the surrounding circumstances are such that the property should be made available for all uses permitted in the less restrictive district. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Rezoning must be effected by exercise of legislative power rather than special arrangements with the owner of a particular tract or parcel of land. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Rezoning on consideration of assurances that a particular tract or parcel will be developed in accordance with restricted approved plans is not a permissible ground for placing the property in a zone where restrictions of the nature prescribed are not otherwise required or contemplated. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

The rezoning of residential property to a business use on condition that the land rezoned shall be devoted exclusively to the business use for which application to rezone was made, or otherwise remain residential, constitutes zoning without regard to the public health, safety and welfare, concern for which is basic to that comprehensiveness contemplated in the enabling act. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Determining Validity of Amending Ordinance. — The basic rule to determine the validity of an amending ordinance is the same rule used to determine the validity of the original ordinance. The legislative body must act in good faith. It cannot act arbitrarily or capriciously. If the conditions existing at the time of the proposed change are such as would have originally justified the proposed action, the legislative body has the power to act. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Inquiry Is Whether Amendment Is Beyond Legislative Power of City. — The relevant inquiry is always whether the amending ordinance is beyond the legislative power of the city. If it is not, the area rezoned becomes a legitimate part of the original comprehensive zoning plan of the city. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 7 N.C. App. 602, 173 S.E.2d 533 (1970), rev'd on other grounds, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

Effect of Unlawful Amending Ordinance. — If the amending ordinance is beyond the legislative power of the city, whether for the reason that it constitutes spot zoning or on some other ground, its adoption does not remove the designated area from the effect of the comprehensive zoning ordinance previously enacted. In that event, the proposed use remains unlawful, and the right of owners of adjoining property to enjoin such use is not affected by the amending ordinance. Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 273 N.C. 430, 160 S.E.2d 325 (1968).

Permit May Not Be Denied Under Invalid Amendment. — An applicant's right to a permit, denied under an existing valid ordinance which entitled him to it, may not be defeated by a purported amendment which was void ab initio because it was not adopted as required by the enabling statute. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 281 N.C. 715, 190 S.E.2d 175 (1972).

Burden on Complaining Party to Show Invalidity. — An amendment to a municipal zoning ordinance is presumed to be valid and the burden is on the complaining party to show its invalidity. Allgood v. Town of Tarboro, 281 N.C. 430, 189 S.E.2d 255 (1972).

Controversies in respect of facts pertinent to the validity of a rezoning ordinance present questions of fact for determination by the superior court judge. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

As to controlling effect of former similar section over a municipal ordinance, see Eldridge v. Mangum, 216 N.C. 532, 5 S.E.2d 721 (1939).

II. PROTESTS.

"Lot". — The context of this section indicates that the word "lot" has its common and ordinary meaning. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

"Immediately Adjacent". — "Immediately adjacent" means "adjoining" or "abutting." This interpretation creates an area easily determinable, which lends itself to definite calculations of the percentage required to invoke the provisions of the statute. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

"Directly Opposite". — "Directly opposite" means those tracts of land on opposite sides of the street with only the street intervening. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

Property of Protestants Held Not "Directly Opposite". — Where a zoning ordinance, passed by a majority vote of the city council, rezoned applicant's property lying more than 150 feet from the street, but left the zoning regulations unchanged as to applicant's property abutting the street to a depth of 150 feet therefrom, and owners of more than 20 percent of the footage on the opposite side of the street from applicant's property had protested the change, the property of those protesting did not lie "directly opposite" the property rezoned within the purview of this section, and therefore it was not required that the zoning ordinance be passed by three fourths of the members of the city council. Penny v. City of Durham, 249 N.C. 596, 107 S.E.2d 72 (1959).

Persons Entitled to Invoke Protest Provisions. — In order for plaintiffs to invoke the protest provisions of this section, they must own 20 percent or more of the area extending 100 feet from the rezoned tract. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

The protest provision of this section extends to the owners of 20 percent or more of each of the areas of the lots on either side of, and extending 100 feet from any area included in proposed changes or amendments of municipal zoning ordinances. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

The owners of lots immediately outside of (within 100 feet) or adjoining the boundary line of the property to be altered are the parties most directly affected by the alteration and therefore, most logically are the owners "of the area of the lots" intended by the legislature to qualify as protestants. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

Where city proposed to amend zoning ordinance to eliminate nonconforming outdoor signs, the group of lot owners included in the proposed change was limited to those owners who had existing, nonconforming signs at the time the ordinance was announced; because city failed to meet its duty under Unruh v. City of Asheville, 97 N.C. App. 287, 388 S.E.2d 235 (1990), to determine whether at least 20 percent of this group timely filed protest petitions, the amendment, enacted by a simple majority, was invalid. Morris Communs. Corp. v. City of Asheville, 356 N.C. 103, 565 S.E.2d 70, 2002 N.C. LEXIS 546 (2002).

Creation of Buffer Zone by Applicant to Avoid Necessity of Larger Than Majority Vote. — Where an applicant for a zoning change seeks to avoid the necessity of a larger than majority vote by creating a buffer zone of 100 feet between that portion of his property sought to be rezoned and the lands of adjacent property owners, such action is valid and avoids the requirement of such larger vote. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

Notice and Public Hearing in Adoption or Amendment of Zoning Ordinances. — The general rule, as applied to former Article 14 of Chapter 160, was that there had to be compliance with the statutory requirements of notice and public hearing in order to adopt or amend zoning ordinances. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

Further Hearing Not Required for Insubstantial Alterations in Initial Proposal. — No further notice or hearing is required after a properly advertised and properly conducted public hearing when the alteration of the initial proposal is insubstantial. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

Or Where Notice and Hearing Were Broad Enough to Indicate Possibility of Changes. — Additional notice and public hearing ordinarily will not be required when the initial notice is broad enough to indicate the possibility of substantial change and substantial changes are made of the same fundamental character as contained in the notice, such changes resulting from objections, debate, and discussion at the properly noticed initial hearing. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

Additional Notice and Hearing Required for Substantial Alterations. — If the ordinance or amendment as finally adopted contains alterations substantially different (amounting to a new proposal) from those originally advertised and heard, there must be additional notice and opportunity for additional hearing. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

Alteration Favorable to Complainants Not Substantial. — Alteration of the initial proposal will not be deemed substantial when it results in changes favorable to the complaining parties. Heaton v. City of Charlotte, 277 N.C. 506, 178 S.E.2d 352 (1971).

Permit issued to respondent was not a building permit under subsection (b) although the zoning administrator stated that the permit that was issued to respondent was the equivalent of a building permit where the permit did not contain the compliance provision required by G.S. 160A-417 and in the notice sent to adjoining property owners, the zoning administrator referred to respondent's permit as a "zoning permit." Simpson v. City of Charlotte, 115 N.C. App. 51, 443 S.E.2d 772 (1994).

Town Lacked the Authority to Consider Untimely Protest Petitions. — In a request for rezoning and a special use permit, a town lacked the authority to consider protest petitions that were untimely under G.S. 160A-386; where the town was unable to determine which petitions were timely filed, a super-majority vote was not required, and since a simple majority of the town board voted for a rezoning, the property was rezoned. Coleman v. Town of Hillsborough, 173 N.C. App. 560, 619 S.E.2d 555, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2117 (2005).

§ 160A-385.1. Vested rights.

(a) The General Assembly finds and declares that it is necessary and desirable, as a matter of public policy, to provide for the establishment of certain vested rights in order to ensure reasonable certainty, stability, and fairness in the land-use planning process, secure the reasonable expectations of landowners, and foster cooperation between the public and private sectors in the area of land-use planning. Furthermore, the General Assembly recognizes that city approval of land-use development typically follows significant landowner investment in site evaluation, planning, development costs, consultant fees, and related expenses.

The ability of a landowner to obtain a vested right after city approval of a site specific development plan or a phased development plan will preserve the prerogatives and authority of local elected officials with respect to land-use matters. There will be ample opportunities for public participation and the public interest will be served. These provisions will strike an appropriate balance between private expectations and the public interest, while scrupulously protecting the public health, safety, and welfare.

(b) Definitions.

- (1) "Landowner" means any owner of a legal or equitable interest in real property, including the heirs, devisees, successors, assigns, and personal representative of such owner. The landowner may allow a person holding a valid option to purchase to act as his agent or representative for purposes of submitting a proposed site specific development plan or a phased development plan under this section, in the manner allowed by ordinance.
- (2) "City" shall have the same meaning as set forth in G.S. 160A-1(2).
- (3) "Phased development plan" means a plan which has been submitted to a city by a landowner for phased development which shows the type and intensity of use for a specific parcel or parcels with a lesser degree of certainty than the plan determined by the city to be a site specific development plan.
- (4) "Property" means all real property subject to zoning regulations and restrictions and zone boundaries by a city.
- (5) "Site specific development plan" means a plan which has been submitted to a city by a landowner describing with reasonable certainty the type and intensity of use for a specific parcel or parcels of property. Such plan may be in the form of, but not be limited to, any of the following plans or approvals: A planned unit development plan, a subdivision plat, a preliminary or general development plan, a conditional or special use permit, a conditional or special use district zoning plan, or any other land-use approval designation as may be utilized by a city. Unless otherwise expressly provided by the city, such a plan shall include the approximate boundaries of the site; significant topographical and other natural features effecting development of the site; the approximate location on the site of the proposed buildings, structures, and other improvements; the approximate dimensions, including height, of the proposed buildings and other structures; and the approximate location of all existing and proposed infrastructure on the site, including water, sewer, roads, and pedestrian walkways. What constitutes a site specific development plan under this section that would trigger a vested right shall be finally determined by the city pursuant to an ordinance, and the document that triggers such vesting shall be so identified at the time of its approval. However, at a minimum, the ordinance to be adopted by the city shall designate a vesting point earlier than the issuance of a building permit. A variance shall not constitute a site specific development plan, and approval of a site specific development plan with the condition that a variance be obtained shall not confer a vested right unless and until the necessary variance is obtained. Neither a sketch plan nor any other document which fails to describe with reasonable certainty the type and intensity of use for a specified parcel or parcels of property may constitute a site specific development plan.
- (6) "Vested right" means the right to undertake and complete the development and use of property under the terms and conditions of an approved site specific development plan or an approved phased development plan.

(c) Establishment of vested right.

A vested right shall be deemed established with respect to any property upon the valid approval, or conditional approval, of a site specific development plan or a phased development plan, following notice and public hearing by the city with jurisdiction over the property. Such vested right shall confer upon the landowner the right to undertake and complete the development and use of said property under the terms and conditions of the site specific development plan or the phased development plan including any amendments thereto. A city may approve a site specific development plan or a phased development plan upon such terms and conditions as may reasonably be necessary to protect the public health, safety, and welfare. Such conditional approval shall result in a vested right, although failure to abide by such terms and conditions will result in a forfeiture of vested rights. A city shall not require a landowner to waive his vested rights as a condition of developmental approval. A site specific development plan or a phase development plan shall be deemed approved upon the effective date of the city's action or ordinance relating thereto.

(d) Duration and termination of vested right.

- (1) A right which has been vested as provided for in this section shall remain vested for a period of two years. This vesting shall not be extended by any amendments or modifications to a site specific development plan unless expressly provided by the city.
 - (2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (d)(1), a city may provide that rights shall be vested for a period exceeding two years but not exceeding five years where warranted in light of all relevant circumstances, including, but not limited to, the size and phasing of development, the level of investment, the need for the development, economic cycles, and market conditions. These determinations shall be in the sound discretion of the city.
 - (3) Notwithstanding the provisions of (d)(1) and (d)(2), the city may provide by ordinance that approval by a city of a phased development plan shall vest the zoning classification or classifications so approved for a period not to exceed five years. The document that triggers such vesting shall be so identified at the time of its approval. The city still may require the landowner to submit a site specific development plan for approval by the city with respect to each phase or phases in order to obtain final approval to develop within the restrictions of the vested zoning classification or classifications. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require a city to adopt an ordinance providing for vesting of rights upon approval of a phased development plan.
 - (4) Following approval or conditional approval of a site specific development plan or a phased development plan, nothing in this section shall exempt such a plan from subsequent reviews and approvals by the city to ensure compliance with the terms and conditions of the original approval, provided that such reviews and approvals are not inconsistent with said original approval. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the city from revoking the original approval for failure to comply with applicable terms and conditions of the approval or the zoning ordinance.
 - (5) Upon issuance of a building permit, the provisions of G.S. 160A-418 and G.S. 160A-422 shall apply, except that a permit shall not expire or be revoked because of the running of time while a vested right under this section is outstanding.
 - (6) A right which has been vested as provided in this section shall terminate at the end of the applicable vesting period with respect to buildings and uses for which no valid building permit applications have been filed.
- (e) Subsequent changes prohibited; exceptions.
- (1) A vested right, once established as provided for in this section, precludes any zoning action by a city which would change, alter, impair, prevent, diminish, or otherwise delay the development or use of the property as set forth in an approved site specific development plan or an approved phased development plan, except:

- a. With the written consent of the affected landowner;
 - b. Upon findings, by ordinance after notice and a public hearing, that natural or man-made hazards on or in the immediate vicinity of the property, if uncorrected, would pose a serious threat to the public health, safety, and welfare if the project were to proceed as contemplated in the site specific development plan or the phased development plan;
 - c. To the extent that the affected landowner receives compensation for all costs, expenses, and other losses incurred by the landowner, including, but not limited to, all fees paid in consideration of financing, and all architectural, planning, marketing, legal, and other consultant's fees incurred after approval by the city, together with interest thereon at the legal rate until paid. Compensation shall not include any diminution in the value of the property which is caused by such action;
 - d. Upon findings, by ordinance after notice and a hearing, that the landowner or his representative intentionally supplied inaccurate information or made material misrepresentations which made a difference in the approval by the city of the site specific development plan or the phased development plan; or
 - e. Upon the enactment or promulgation of a State or federal law or regulation which precludes development as contemplated in the site specific development plan or the phased development plan, in which case the city may modify the affected provisions, upon a finding that the change in State or federal law has a fundamental effect on the plan, by ordinance after notice and a hearing.
- (2) The establishment of a vested right shall not preclude the application of overlay zoning which imposes additional requirements but does not affect the allowable type or intensity of use, or ordinances or regulations which are general in nature and are applicable to all property subject to land-use regulation by a city, including, but not limited to, building, fire, plumbing, electrical, and mechanical codes. Otherwise applicable new regulations shall become effective with respect to property which is subject to a site specific development plan or a phased development plan upon the expiration or termination of the vesting rights period provided for in this section.
- (3) Notwithstanding any provision of this section, the establishment of a vested right shall not preclude, change or impair the authority of a city to adopt and enforce zoning ordinance provisions governing nonconforming situations or uses.
- (f) Miscellaneous provisions.
- (1) A vested right obtained under this section is not a personal right, but shall attach to and run with the applicable property. After approval of a site specific development plan or a phased development plan, all successors to the original landowner shall be entitled to exercise such rights.
 - (2) Nothing in this section shall preclude judicial determination, based on common law principles or other statutory provisions, that a vested right exists in a particular case or that a compensable taking has occurred. Except as expressly provided in this section, nothing in this section shall be construed to alter the existing common law.
 - (3) In the event a city fails to adopt an ordinance setting forth what constitutes a site specific development plan triggering a vested right, a landowner may establish a vested right with respect to property upon the approval of a zoning permit, or otherwise may seek appropriate relief from the Superior Court Division of the General Court of Justice. (1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 996, s. 2.)

CASE NOTES

Vested Rights Under Building Permits. — Plaintiffs acquired vested rights under G.S. 160A-385 by virtue of the issuance of building permit by town, which the North Carolina General Assembly prohibited interference with by subsequent governmental action. Browning-Ferris Indus. of S. Atl., Inc. v. Wake County, 905 F. Supp. 312 (E.D.N.C. 1995).

Vested Rights Under Common Law. — Regardless of whether G.S. 160A-385(b) and this section were applicable, under North Carolina common law, plaintiffs’ rights to develop tract of land had vested where plaintiffs incurred substantial expenditures in reliance on site plan approval and the issuance of building permit by town, and plaintiffs’ efforts following the site plan approval were undertaken in good faith and under reasonable reliance on the validity of the approvals they had been granted. Browning-Ferris Indus. of S. Atl., Inc. v. Wake County, 905 F. Supp. 312 (E.D.N.C. 1995).

North Carolina recognizes two methods for a landowner to establish a vested right in a zoning ordinance: (1) qualify with relevant statutes (G.S. 153A-344.1, 160A-385.1) or (2) qualify under the common law. Browning-Ferris Indus. of S. Atl., Inc. v. Guilford County Bd. of Adjustment, 126 N.C. App. 168, 484 S.E.2d 411 (1997).

Illustrative Cases. — Developer acquired a statutory vested right in a governmentally-approved land use plan because the public hearing notice on the adoption of that plan identified the classification of the developer’s property and indicated the designation applied to it was used with a general zoning district to modify development conditions according to an approved conditional site plan. *Michael Weinman Assocs. v. § 160A-386. Protest petition; form; requirements; time for filing.

No protest against any change in or amendment to a zoning ordinance or zoning map shall be valid or effective for the purposes of G.S. 160A-385 unless it be in the form of a written petition actually bearing the signatures of the requisite number of property owners and stating that the signers do protest the proposed change or amendment, and unless it shall have been received by the city clerk in sufficient time to allow the city at least two normal work days, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays, before the date established for a public hearing on the proposed change or amendment to determine the sufficiency and accuracy of the petition. The city council may by ordinance require that all protest petitions be on a form prescribed and furnished by the city, and such form may prescribe any reasonable information deemed necessary to permit the city to determine the sufficiency and accuracy of the petition. A person who has signed a protest petition may withdraw his or her name from the petition at any time prior to the vote on the proposed zoning amendment. Only those protest petitions that meet the qualifying standards set forth in G.S. 160A-385 at the time of the vote on the zoning amendment shall trigger the supermajority voting requirement. CASE NOTES

Applicability. — Where outdoor advertisers sued city for declaratory judgment regarding the city's enactment of an ordinance regarding allowable outdoor signs, the provisions of G.S. 160A-385 and 160A-386 were found to apply to such ordinance, despite being more commonly applied to zoning map amendments. Morris Communications Corp. v. City of Asheville, 145 N.C. App. 597, 551 S.E.2d 508, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 732 (2001), cert. granted, 354 N.C. 364, 556 S.E.2d 574 (2001).

Unable to Determine Timeliness of Petitions. — In a request for rezoning and a special use permit, a town lacked the authority to consider protest petitions that were untimely under G.S. 160A-386; where the town was unable to determine which petitions were timely filed, a super-majority vote was not required, and since a simple majority of the town board voted for a rezoning, the property was rezoned. Coleman v. Town of Hillsborough, 173 N.C. App. 560, 619 S.E.2d 555, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2117 (2005).

§ 160A-387. Planning board; zoning plan; certification to city council.

In order to initially exercise the powers conferred by this Part, a city council shall create or designate a planning board under the provisions of this Article or of a special act of the General Assembly. The planning board shall prepare or shall review and comment upon a proposed zoning ordinance, including both the full text of such ordinance and maps showing proposed district boundaries. The planning board may hold public hearings in the course of preparing the ordinance. Upon completion, the planning board shall make a written recommendation regarding adoption of the ordinance to the city council. The city council shall not hold its required public hearing or take action until it has received a recommendation regarding ordinance from the planning board. Following its required public hearing, the city council may refer the ordinance back to the planning board for any further recommendations that the board may wish to make prior to final action by the city council in adopting, modifying and adopting, or rejecting the ordinance.

Subsequent to initial adoption of a zoning ordinance, all proposed amendments to the zoning ordinance or zoning map shall be submitted to the planning board for review and comment. If no written report is received from the planning board within 30 days of referral of the amendment to that board, the governing board may proceed in its consideration of the amendment without the planning board report. The governing board is not bound by the recommendations, if any, of the planning board. (1923, c. 250, s. 6; C.S., s. 2776(w); 1967, c. 1208, s. 2; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1973, c. 426, s. 60; 1977, c. 912, s. 8; 2005-418, s. 7(a).)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-418, s. 7(a), effective January 1, 2006, substituted "board" for "agency" in the section heading; rewrote the first paragraph; and added the second paragraph.

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Some of the cases cited below were decided under former similar statutory provisions.

The municipality must designate a planning agency to develop and certify a zoning ordinance. George v. Town of Edenton, 31 N.C. App. 648, 230 S.E.2d 695 (1976), rev'd on other grounds, 294 N.C. 679, 242 S.E.2d 877 (1978).

Planning Agency Has No Legislative, Judicial or Quasi-Judicial Power. — A municipal planning and zoning commission has no legislative, judicial or quasi-judicial power, and the city council acts in the exercise of its legislative function in determining whether the commission's recommendations in regard to the enactment of zoning ordinances should be followed. In re Markham, 259 N.C. 566, 131 S.E.2d 329, cert. denied, 375 U.S. 931, 84 S. Ct. 332, 11 L. Ed. 2d 263 (1963).

The planning board (zoning commission) has no legislative, judicial or quasi-judicial power. Its recommendations do not restrict or otherwise affect the legislative power of the city council. Allred v. City of Raleigh, 277 N.C. 530, 178 S.E.2d 432 (1971).

And Functions Only in an Advisory Capacity. — The planning agency is not a legislative body. In relation to the town council, it functions only in an advisory capacity, and its recommendations are in no way binding on the council. George v. Town of Edenton, 31 N.C. App. 648, 230 S.E.2d 695 (1976), rev'd on other grounds, 294 N.C. 679, 242 S.E.2d 877 (1978).

This section does not expressly restrict its application to a municipality's initial adoption of a comprehensive zoning ordinance. Such certification may also be required for subsequent comprehensive revisions of an ordinance, as distinguished from acts by which ordinances are amended, supplemented or changed. George v. Town of Edenton, 294 N.C. 679, 242 S.E.2d 877 (1978).

Applied in Nash-Rocky Mount Bd. of Educ. v. Rocky Mount Bd. of Adjustment, 169 N.C. App. 587, 610 S.E.2d 255, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 679 (2005).

§ 160A-388. Board of adjustment.

(a) The city council may provide for the appointment and compensation of a board of adjustment consisting of five or more members, each to be appointed for three years. In appointing the original members of such board, or in the filling of vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of existing members, the council may appoint certain members for less than three years to the end that thereafter the terms of all members shall not expire at the same time. The council may, in its discretion, appoint and provide compensation for alternate members to serve on the board in the absence or temporary disqualification of any regular member or to fill a vacancy pending appointment of a member. Alternate members shall be appointed for the same term, at the same time, and in the same manner as regular members. Each alternate member, while attending any regular or special meeting of the board and serving on behalf of any regular member, shall have and may exercise all the powers and duties of a regular member. A city may designate a planning board or governing board to perform any or all of the duties of a board of adjustment in addition to its other duties.

(b) A zoning ordinance or those provisions of a unified development ordinance adopted pursuant to the authority granted in this Part shall provide that the board of adjustment shall hear and decide appeals from and review any order, requirement, decision, or determination made by an administrative official charged with the enforcement of that ordinance. An appeal may be taken by any person aggrieved or by an officer, department, board, or bureau of the city. Appeals shall be taken within times prescribed by the board of adjustment by general rule, by filing with the officer from whom the appeal is taken and with the board of adjustment a notice of appeal, specifying the grounds thereof. The officer from whom the appeal is taken shall forthwith transmit to the board all the papers constituting the record upon which the action appealed from was taken. An appeal stays all proceedings in furtherance of the action appealed from, unless the officer from whom the appeal is taken certifies to the board of adjustment, after notice of appeal has been filed with him, that because of facts stated in the certificate a stay would, in his opinion, cause imminent peril to life or property or that because the violation charged is transitory in nature a stay would seriously interfere with enforcement of the ordinance. In that case proceedings shall not be stayed except by a restraining order, which may be granted by the board of adjustment or by a court of record on application, on notice to the officer from whom the appeal is taken and on due cause shown. The board of adjustment shall fix a reasonable time for the hearing of the appeal, give due notice thereof to the parties, and decide it within a reasonable time. The board of adjustment may reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or may modify the order, requirement, decision, or determination appealed from, and shall make any order, requirement, decision, or determination that in its opinion ought to be made in the premises. To this end the board shall have all the powers of the officer from whom the appeal is taken.

(c) The zoning ordinance may provide that the board of adjustment may permit special exceptions to the zoning regulations in specified classes of cases or situations as provided in subsection (d) of this section, not including variances in permitted uses, and that the board may use special and conditional use permits, all to be in accordance with the principles, conditions, safeguards, and procedures specified in the ordinance. The ordinance may also authorize the board to interpret zoning maps and pass upon disputed questions of lot lines or district boundary lines and similar questions as they arise in the administration of the ordinance. The board shall hear and decide all matters referred to it or upon which it is required to pass under any zoning ordinance.

(d) When practical difficulties or unnecessary hardships would result from carrying out the strict letter of a zoning ordinance, the board of adjustment shall have the power to vary or modify any of the regulations or provisions of the ordinance so that the spirit of the ordinance shall be observed, public safety and welfare secured, and substantial justice done. No change in permitted uses may be authorized by variance. Appropriate conditions, which must be reasonably related to the condition or circumstance that gives rise to the need for a variance, may be imposed on any approval issued by the board.

(e) The concurring vote of four-fifths of the members of the board shall be necessary to reverse any order, requirement, decision, or determination of any administrative official charged with the enforcement of an ordinance adopted pursuant to this Part, or to decide in favor of the applicant any matter upon which it is required to pass under any ordinance, or to grant a variance from the provisions of the ordinance. For the purposes of this subsection, vacant positions on the board and members who are disqualified from voting on a quasi-judicial matter shall not be considered "members of the board" for calculation of the requisite supermajority if there are no qualified alternates available to take the place of such members.

(e1) A member of the board or any other body exercising the functions of a board of adjustment shall not participate in or vote on any quasi-judicial matter in a manner that would violate affected persons' constitutional rights to an impartial decision maker. Impermissible conflicts include, but are not limited to, a member having a fixed opinion prior to hearing the matter that is not susceptible to change, undisclosed ex parte communications, a close familial, business, or other associational relationship with an affected person, or a financial interest in the outcome of the matter. If an objection is raised to a member's participation and that member does not recuse himself or herself, the remaining members shall by majority vote rule on the objection.

(e2) Every decision of the board shall be subject to review by the superior court by proceedings in the nature of certiorari. Any petition for review by the superior court shall be filed with the clerk of superior court within 30 days after the decision of the board is filed in such office as the ordinance specifies, or after a written copy thereof is delivered to every aggrieved party who has filed a written request for such copy with the secretary or chairman of the board at the time of its hearing of the case, whichever is later. The decision of the board may be delivered to the aggrieved party either by personal service or by registered mail or certified mail return receipt requested.

(f) The chairman of the board of adjustment or any member temporarily acting as chairman, is authorized in his official capacity to administer oaths to witnesses in any matter coming before the board.

(g) The board of adjustment may subpoena witnesses and compel the production of evidence. If a person fails or refuses to obey a subpoena issued pursuant to this subsection, the board of adjustment may apply to the General Court of Justice for an order requiring that its order be obeyed, and the court shall have jurisdiction to issue these orders after notice to all proper parties. No testimony of any witness before the board of adjustment pursuant to a subpoena issued in exercise of the power conferred by this subsection may be used against the witness in the trial of any civil or criminal action other than a prosecution for false swearing committed on the examination. Any person who, while under oath during a proceeding before the board of adjustment, willfully swears falsely, is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1923, c. 250, s. 7; C.S., s. 2776(x); 1929, c. 94, s. 1; 1947, c. 311; 1949, c. 979, ss. 1, 2; 1963, c. 1058, s. 3; 1965, c. 864, s. 2; 1967, c. 197, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1977, c. 912, ss. 9-12; 1979, c. 50; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1247, s. 37; 1981, c. 891, s. 7; 1985, c. 397, s. 2; c. 689, s. 30; 1991, c. 512, s. 2; 1993, c. 539, s. 1088; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 2005-418, s. 8(a).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-418, s. 14, provides: "The provisions of this act shall not be deemed to repeal or amend the validity or enforceability of any local act or charter provision previously enacted by the General Assembly."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-418, s. 8(a), effective January 1, 2006, in subsection (a), substituted "or temporary disqualification of any regular member or to fill a vacancy pending appointment of a member" for "of any regular member," in the third sentence, substituted "on behalf" for "in the absence" in the fifth sentence, and in the last sentence, substituted "board or governing board" for "agency"; in subsection (b), deleted the former first sentence which read: "The board of adjustment shall hear and decide appeals from and review any order, requirement, decision, or determination made by an administrative official charged with the enforcement of any ordinance adopted pursuant to this Part." and added the present first sentence; in subsection (c), inserted "specified" and "as provided in subsection (d) ... all to be"; rewrote subsection (d); added the last sentence in subsection (e); added subsection (e1); and added the subsection (e2) designation.

CASE NOTES

I. In General. II. Judicial Review.

I. IN GENERAL.

Editor's Note. — Some of the cases cited below were decided under former similar statutory provisions.

Construction with Other Laws. — In the context of an appeal from the grant of a special use permit, G.S. 160A-388(e) is a substantially parallel statute to G.S. 153A-345(e). Sarda v. City/Durham Bd. of Adjustment, 156 N.C. App. 213, 575 S.E.2d 829, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 79 (2003).

Authority of Town's Board of Commissioners. — A town's board of commissioners authority to organize city government pursuant to G.S. 160A-146 includes the power to abolish a board of adjustment, appointed and created pursuant to this section, and to thereafter create a new board of adjustment and make appointments thereto. Board of Adjustment v. Town of Swansboro, 334 N.C. 421, 432 S.E.2d 310, rehearing denied, 335 N.C. 182, 436 S.E.2d 369 (1993).

Appellate Jurisdiction of Board. — Subsection (b) of this section clearly confers on the board only appellate jurisdiction, as distinguished from original jurisdiction, to decide whether a particular use is permitted under the zoning ordinance. Tate v. Board of Adjustment, 83 N.C. App. 512, 350 S.E.2d 873 (1986).

Absent any indication that city zoning enforcement officials had made a decision whether petitioners' use of pool on their property in conjunction with child care center was permitted or not, the board of adjustment lacked jurisdiction to decide such question. Tate v. Board of Adjustment, 83 N.C. App. 512, 350 S.E.2d 873 (1986).

Town board of adjustment did not have jurisdiction to review and reverse the decision of the town board of commissioners. Garrity v. Morrisville Zoning Bd. of Adjustment, 115 N.C. App. 273, 444 S.E.2d 653, cert. denied, 337 N.C. 692, 448 S.E.2d 523 (1994).

In reviewing the determination of an administrative enforcement officer that a sawmill on residential property violated a city ordinance, city's board of adjustment only had the authority to reverse, affirm, or modify the officer's determination that the owner's use of the sawmill violated the zoning ordinance, and the board did not have the authority to rule on the owner's constitutional challenges to the validity of the zoning ordinance itself. Dobo v. Zoning Bd. of Adjustment, 149 N.C. App. 338, 561 S.E.2d 298, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 311 (2002).

City zoning board of adjustment had jurisdiction to hear an appeal taken from the municipal tax collector's denial of a business privilege license application based upon his assessment that the business was in violation of local zoning laws. Fantasy World, Inc. v. Greensboro Bd. of Adjustment, 162 N.C. App. 603, 592 S.E.2d 205, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 267 (2004), cert. denied, 358 N.C. 543, 599 S.E.2d 43 (2004).

Amelioration of General Zoning Regulations Intended. — The plain intent and purpose of former G.S. 160-178 was to permit, through the board of adjustment, the amelioration of the rigors of necessarily general zoning regulations by eliminating the necessity for a slavish adherence to the precise letter of the regulations where, in a given case, little or no good on the one side and undue hardship on the other would result from a literal enforcement. Lee v. Board of Adjustment, 226 N.C. 107, 37 S.E.2d 128 (1946).

Planning and zoning commission is separate and distinct from the board of adjustment. In re Markham, 259 N.C. 566, 131 S.E.2d 329, cert. denied, 375 U.S. 931, 84 S. Ct. 332, 11 L. Ed. 2d 263 (1963).

The board is not a law-making body and has no power to amend a zoning ordinance either to permit the construction of a building prohibited by ordinance or to prohibit the construction of one permitted by ordinance. In re Rea Constr. Co., 272 N.C. 715, 158 S.E.2d 887 (1968).

Former G.S. 160-172 and 160-178 did not grant board of adjustment legislative authority, and therefore, board was without power to amend an ordinance under which it functioned. Lee v. Board of Adjustment, 226 N.C. 107, 37 S.E.2d 128 (1946).

The legislative body may not delegate to the municipal board of adjustment the power to zone. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 278 N.C. 17, 178 S.E.2d 616 (1971).

It would constitute an unlawful delegation of the legislative power vested by the General Assembly in a board of aldermen to allow the board of adjustment to deny a special permit on the ground that the board of adjustment did not consider a use specified in the ordinance as a conditional permissible use to be in accord with the "purpose and intent" of the ordinance. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 278 N.C. 17, 178 S.E.2d 616 (1971).

In exercising discretion, board of adjustment must abide by the rules provided by the local ordinance enacted in accord with and by permission of the State zoning law. Jackson v. Guilford County Bd. of Adjustment, 2 N.C. App. 408, 163 S.E.2d 265 (1968), aff'd, 275 N.C. 155, 166 S.E.2d 78 (1969).

Rule which demands that a board of adjustment consistently follow its procedural rules is equally applicable to a case involving a variance; therefore, where the board of adjustment rules then applicable stated that an application for rehearing "shall be denied by the board if in its judgment there has been no substantial change in the facts, evidence or conditions in the case," the board violated its own procedural rules when it agreed to rehear application for a variance, since it was clear that there had been no change in the "facts, evidence or conditions in the case." Kirby v. Board of Adjustment, 95 N.C. App. 182, 381 S.E.2d 889, cert. denied, 325 N.C. 707, 388 S.E.2d 458 (1989).

Reduction of Terms. — If a board of adjustment is created, then it must consist of at least five appointees, each with three-year terms. Such terms may not be reduced by the city council as long as the board of adjustment is in existence. However, the prohibition against the reduction of the length of the terms of the members of an existing board of adjustment does not diminish the authority of the city council to abolish the board. Board of Adjustment v. Town of Swansboro, 108 N.C. App. 198, 423 S.E.2d 498 (1992), aff'd, 334 N.C. 421, 432 S.E.2d 310, reh'g denied, 335 N.C. 182, 436 S.E.2d 369 (1993).

Quasi-Judicial Capacity of Board. — A board of adjustment is an administrative agency which acts in a quasi-judicial capacity. In re Rea Constr. Co., 272 N.C. 715, 158 S.E.2d 887 (1968); Jackson v. Guilford County Bd. of Adjustment, 2 N.C. App. 408, 163 S.E.2d 265 (1968), aff'd, 275 N.C. 155, 166 S.E.2d 78 (1969).

The board of adjustment is clothed, if not with judicial, at least with quasi-judicial power; it being its duty to investigate facts and from its investigation to draw conclusions as a basis of official action, and to exercise discretion of a judicial nature. Harden v. City of Raleigh, 192 N.C. 395, 135 S.E. 151 (1926); In re Markham, 259 N.C. 566, 131 S.E.2d 329, cert. denied, 375 U.S. 931, 84 S. Ct. 332, 11 L. Ed. 2d 263 (1963); Jackson v. Guilford County Bd. of Adjustment, 2 N.C. App. 408, 163 S.E.2d 265 (1968), aff'd, 275 N.C. 155, 166 S.E.2d 78 (1969).

A board of adjustment has a quasi-judicial power under subsection (d) of this section to vary or modify zoning regulations only so long as the spirit of the ordinance continues to be observed. Sherrill v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 76 N.C. App. 646, 334 S.E.2d 103 (1985).

Delegation of Authority to Determine Facts and Draw Conclusions. — The legislature may delegate to the board of adjustment, as a quasi-judicial body, the authority to determine facts and therefrom to draw conclusions as a basis of its official action. Jackson v. Guilford County Bd. of Adjustment, 2 N.C. App. 408, 163 S.E.2d 265 (1968), aff'd, 275 N.C. 155, 166 S.E.2d 78 (1969).

The principal function of a board of adjustment is to issue variance permits so as to prevent injustice by a strict application of the ordinance. In re Rea Constr. Co., 272 N.C. 715, 158 S.E.2d 887 (1968).

Board of adjustment cannot permit type of business or building prohibited by zoning ordinance, for to do so would be an amendment of law and not a variance of its regulations. Lee v. Board of Adjustment, 226 N.C. 107, 37 S.E.2d 128 (1946).

But Can Merely "Vary" Regulations. — The board of adjustment cannot disregard the provisions of the enabling act or regulations enacted in accordance with zoning law, but can merely "vary" them to prevent injustice when the strict letter of the provisions would work "unnecessary hardship." Lee v. Board of Adjustment, 226 N.C. 107, 37 S.E.2d 128 (1946); In re Markham, 259 N.C. 566, 131 S.E.2d 329, cert. denied, 375 U.S. 931, 84 S. Ct. 332, 11 L. Ed. 2d 263 (1963).

Issuance of Special Permit on Making of Specified Findings Not Unlawful Exercise of Power. — Where a municipal ordinance required the board of adjustment to issue a special use permit when it made certain affirmative findings specified in the ordinance, the board's determination of whether to issue a special use permit was not an unlawful exercise of legislative power. Kenan v. Board of Adjustment, 13 N.C. App. 688, 187 S.E.2d 496, cert. denied, 281 N.C. 314, 188 S.E.2d 897 (1972).

Standing to Challenge Zoning Ordinance. — A corporation which did not have any legal interest in property affected by a zoning ordinance did not have standing to challenge that zoning ordinance when only twelve of its 114 members the members/shareholders had standing as individuals to challenge the zoning ordinance. Northeast Concerned Citizens, Inc. v. City of Hickory, 143 N.C. App. 272, 545 S.E.2d 768, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 264 (2001).

Where an owner was granted a special use permit to operate a paintball playing field on the owner's property, the adjoining neighbors lacked standing to appeal the grant of the permit, as their mere averment that they owned land in the immediate vicinity of the subject property, absent an allegation of special damages distinct from the rest of the community, was insufficient to confer standing upon them. Sarda v. City/ Durham Bd. of Adjustment, 156 N.C. App. 213, 575 S.E.2d 829, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 79 (2003).

Zoning ordinances may be challenged by individuals in an action for declaratory judgment or a writ of certiorari under G.S. 160A-388(e); individuals have standing under either if they have a specific legal interest that is directly and uniquely affected by the zoning ordinance (an aggrieved party under G.S. 160A-388(e)). State Employees Ass'n of N.C., Inc. v. State, 154 N.C. App. 207, 573 S.E.2d 525, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 1451 (2002).

"Unnecessary hardship" does not mean a pecuniary loss to a single owner in being denied a building permit for a nonconforming structure pursuant to zoning regulations binding upon all alike. Lee v. Board of Adjustment, 226 N.C. 107, 37 S.E.2d 128 (1946).

A "special exception" within the meaning of a zoning ordinance is one which is expressly permitted in a given zone upon proof that certain facts and conditions detailed in the ordinance exist. It is granted by the board of adjustment, after a public hearing, upon a finding that the specified conditions have been satisfied. Keiger v. Winston-Salem Bd. of Adjustment, 278 N.C. 17, 178 S.E.2d 616 (1971).

A special permit is not a legal right but is a concession in exceptional cases which the board, in the exercise of its discretion, may grant, subject to court review. Craver v. Zoning Bd. of Adjustment, 267 N.C. 40, 147 S.E.2d 599 (1966).

Nonconforming building or use that conflicts with general purpose or spirit of zoning ordinance can only be authorized by the board of aldermen acting in their legislative capacity to rezone, not under the guise of a variance permit. Sherrill v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 76 N.C. App. 646, 334 S.E.2d 103 (1985).

No Authority to Permit Duplexes by Variance in R-1 Area. — As the purpose of an R-1 designation is to limit density, while the purpose and effect of a duplex is to increase density, variance requested by petitioners, who sought to build duplexes in R-1 areas, was directly contrary to the zoning ordinance; in these circumstances the board of adjustment had no legal authority under subsection (d) of this section to grant the requested variance, and thus there was no need for it to make findings on the merits of the request. Sherrill v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 76 N.C. App. 646, 334 S.E.2d 103 (1985).

Safeguards against arbitrary action by zoning boards in granting or denying special use permits are not only to be found in specific guidelines for their action. Equally important are the requirements that in each instance the board (1) follow the procedures specified in the ordinance; (2) conduct its hearings in accordance with fair-trial standards; (3) base its findings of fact only upon competent, material, and substantial evidence; and (4) in allowing or denying the application, state the basic facts on which it relied with sufficient specificity to inform the parties, as well as the court, what induced its decision. Humble Oil & Ref. Co. v. Board of Aldermen, 284 N.C. 458, 202 S.E.2d 129 (1974).

Board's Findings May Not Be Based on Unsworn Statements. — Absent stipulations or waiver, a board of adjustment may not base critical findings of fact as to the existence or nonexistence of a nonconforming use on unsworn statements. Jarrell v. Board of Adjustment, 258 N.C. 476, 128 S.E.2d 879 (1963).

Where one asserts a legal right to a nonconforming use, whether he has such legal right depends upon factual findings, and in the determination of such factual findings unsworn statements may not be considered either competent or substantial. Jarrell v. Board of Adjustment, 258 N.C. 476, 128 S.E.2d 879 (1963).

Waiver of Right to Insist That Witnesses Be Under Oath. — By voluntary participation in a hearing, a party may waive the right to insist that the witnesses should be under oath. Craver v. Zoning Bd. of Adjustment, 267 N.C. 40, 147 S.E.2d 599 (1966).

Action of Board Held Not Res Judicata upon Second Application. — Approval by the board of adjustment of denial of a permit to erect a filling station on certain land did not constitute res judicata upon a second application made thereafter three years after the first application, upon substantial change of the traffic conditions. In re Broughton's Estate, 210 N.C. 62, 185 S.E. 434 (1936).

The general administrative agencies review statutes are applicable to municipal agencies such as zoning boards. Humble Oil & Ref. Co. v. Board of Aldermen, 284 N.C. 458, 202 S.E.2d 129 (1974).

As to similarity of zoning provisions relating to municipalities and counties under former law, see Jackson v. Guilford County Bd. of Adjustment, 2 N.C. App. 408, 163 S.E.2d 265 (1968), aff'd, 275 N.C. 155, 166 S.E.2d 78 (1969).

As to invalidity of ordinances prescribing procedure for enforcement of zoning regulations in conflict with former statutory provisions, see Mitchell v. Barfield, 232 N.C. 325, 59 S.E.2d 810 (1950).

Where plaintiff was not the owner of any of the property that was the subject of an inspection decision such building inspector's decisions did not affect a property interest belonging to plaintiff as defined by state law and summary judgment against plaintiff was proper. Gentile v. Town of Kure Beach, 91 N.C. App. 236, 371 S.E.2d 302 (1988).

Petitioner Not Barred by Ordinance Time Requirements or Laches. — Petitioner was not barred by ordinance time requirements from challenging interpretation relating to kitchen, adult day-care, and offices, nor was he barred by laches. Laches will only work as a bar when the claimant knew of the existence of the grounds for the claim. There was no showing that petitioner knew of grounds for appeal before letter of August 10, 1989. Allen v. City of Burlington Bd. of Adjustment, 100 N.C. App. 615, 397 S.E.2d 657 (1990).

Constructive Notice Barred Challenge to Operation of Homeless Shelter. — Petitioner conceded that he had constructive notice of an interpretation allowing homeless shelter, since it has been in operation since 1986, and was barred from challenging the operation of the shelter as it currently stood. This time bar also applied to subsequent planned expansion of the shelter. Allen v. City of Burlington Bd. of Adjustment, 100 N.C. App. 615, 397 S.E.2d 657 (1990).

Issuance of Special Permit Upheld. — Application which a developer submitted, seeking a special use permit allowing construction of an apartment complex on land that was zoned for residential and agricultural use was not defective because it was signed by the developer, but not by people who owned the land, and the trial court found that the board's decision granting the special use permit was supported by the record. Cox v. Hancock, 160 N.C. App. 473, 586 S.E.2d 500, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1829 (2003).

II. JUDICIAL REVIEW.

Constitutional Sufficiency of Review. — City tax collector's zoning decision to deny a business privilege license application was immediately appealable to the city zoning board of adjustment, and the board's decision could be reviewed in superior court upon the filing of a petition for certiorari; the judicial relief provided in G.S. 160A-388 was constitutionally sufficient because the license applicant was afforded the possibility of sufficiently prompt judicial review. Fantasy World, Inc. v. Greensboro Bd. of Adjustment, 162 N.C. App. 603, 592 S.E.2d 205, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 267 (2004), cert. denied, 358 N.C. 543, 599 S.E.2d 43 (2004).

Time for Petition for Certiorari. — Subsection (e) of this section clearly gives petitioners 30 days after the letter of delivery of the board's decision to petitioners or the filing of the decision with the office specified in the ordinance within which to petition for certiorari. Ad/Mor v. Town of Southern Pines, 88 N.C. App. 400, 363 S.E.2d 220 (1988).

Decisions of the board of adjustment are final, subject to the right of the courts to review errors in law and to give relief against orders which are arbitrary, oppressive, or attended with manifest abuse of authority. Lee v. Board of Adjustment, 226 N.C. 107, 37 S.E.2d 128 (1946); County of Durham v. Addison, 262 N.C. 280, 136 S.E.2d 600 (1964).

Quasi-judicial functions, when exercised, not arbitrarily, but in subordination to a uniform rule prescribed by statute, ordinarily are not subject to judicial control. It is only in extreme cases, those which are arbitrary, oppressive, or attended with manifest abuse, that the courts will interfere. Harden v. City of Raleigh, 192 N.C. 395, 135 S.E. 151 (1926). See also, Rosenthal v. City of Goldsboro, 149 N.C. 128, 62 S.E. 905 (1908).

When the decision was filed in the appropriate office is a question of fact, the resolution of which is essential to determine whether petitioners are entitled to judicial review. Ad/Mor v. Town of Southern Pines, 88 N.C. App. 400, 363 S.E.2d 220 (1988).

Scope of Judicial Review. — The task of a court reviewing a decision made by a town board sitting as a quasi-judicial body on an application for a conditional use permit includes: (1) reviewing the record for errors in law; (2) insuring that procedures specified by law in both statute and ordinance are followed; (3) insuring that appropriate due process rights of a petitioner are protected, including the right to offer evidence, to cross-examine witnesses, and to inspect documents; (4) insuring that the decision of the town board is supported by competent, material and substantial evidence in the whole record; and (5) insuring that the decision is not arbitrary and capricious. Both the superior court and the appellate courts are bound by all the standards of review noted above. Coastal Ready-Mix Concrete Co. v. Board of Comm'rs, 299 N.C. 620, 265 S.E.2d 379, rehearing denied, 300 N.C. 562, 270 S.E.2d 106 (1980).

On review of zoning board decision, it was incumbent on the trial court to insure that the board's decision was not contrary to State law and was authorized by local ordinance; and if the ABC Commission had rendered a statutorily authorized decision contrary to the board's decision to deny petitioner's special exception permit request, then it was necessary for the trial court to consider the question of whether the board's decision was contrary to State law. Melkonian v. Board of Adjustment, 85 N.C. App. 351, 355 S.E.2d 503, cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 320 N.C. 631, 360 S.E.2d 91 (1987).

As to the scope of review under former statutory provisions, see Jarrell v. Board of Adjustment, 258 N.C. 476, 128 S.E.2d 879 (1963); In re Coleman, 11 N.C. App. 124, 180 S.E.2d 439 (1971).

The superior court, pursuant to a writ of certiorari under subsection (e), only has the power to review the issue of whether a permit was properly granted or denied. Simpson v. City of Charlotte, 115 N.C. App. 51, 443 S.E.2d 772 (1994).

In reviewing the city board of adjustment's affirmance of an administrative enforcement officer decision that a sawmill on residential property violated a city ordinance, the superior court had the statutory power to review only the issue of whether the officer's determination was properly affirmed, and did not have the statutory authority to address the owner's constitutional challenges to the validity of the zoning ordinance. Dobo v. Zoning Bd. of Adjustment, 149 N.C. App. 338, 561 S.E.2d 298, 2002 N.C. App. LEXIS 311 (2002).

When a superior court reviews the decision of a board of adjustment on certiorari, the court sits as an appellate court. CG & T Corp. v. Board of Adjustment, 105 N.C. App. 32, 411 S.E.2d 655 (1992).

Superior Court Not the Trier of Fact. — On review of the sufficiency and competency of the evidence at the appellate level, the question is not whether the evidence before the superior court supported that court's order, but whether the evidence before the town board was supportive of its action. In proceedings of this nature, the superior court is not the trier of fact. Such is the function of the town board. Coastal Ready-Mix Concrete Co. v. Board of Comm'rs, 299 N.C. 620, 265 S.E.2d 379, rehearing denied, 300 N.C. 562, 270 S.E.2d 106 (1980).

Findings of Fact Necessary. — Findings of fact are an important safeguard against arbitrary and capricious action by the board of adjustment because they establish a sufficient record upon which the appellate court can review the board's decision. Crist v. City of Jacksonville, 131 N.C. App. 404, 507 S.E.2d 899 (1998).

Review of Questions of Fact. — The writ of certiorari is a writ to bring the matter before the court, upon the evidence presented by the record itself, for review of alleged errors of law. It does not lie to review questions of fact to be determined by evidence outside the record. In re Pine Hill Cemeteries, 219 N.C. 735, 15 S.E.2d 1 (1941). See Lee v. Board of Adjust- ment, 226 N.C. 107, 37 S.E.2d 128 (1946); Jarrell v. Board of Adjustment, 258 N.C. 476, 128 S.E.2d 879 (1963).

Determination of questions of fact by the board of adjustment will not be disturbed when its findings are supported by evidence and are made in good faith. In re Hasting, 252 N.C. 327, 113 S.E.2d 433 (1960).

Rezoning Petition Cannot Be Used to Circumvent Appeals Process. — The plaintiff-store owner who failed to file an appeal with the City's Board of Adjustment contesting the zoning officer's determination that the sale of beer in his store would constitute an unlawful expansion of a non-conforming use pursuant to the requirements of this section, and who instead filed a rezoning petition requesting that his property be rezoned from I-2 to B-3, failed to avail himself of the only judicial review authorized by statute and could not collaterally attack the determination of the zoning officer by appeal to the court. Potter v. City of Hamlet, 141 N.C. App. 714, 541 S.E.2d 233, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 18 (2001), cert. denied, 355 N.C. 379, 547 S.E.2d 814 (2001).

Judicial review of town's decisions to grant or deny conditional use permits is provided for in subsection (e) of this section. Coastal Ready-Mix Concrete Co. v. Board of Comm'rs, 299 N.C. 620, 265 S.E.2d 379, rehearing denied, 300 N.C. 562, 270 S.E.2d 106 (1980).

Jurisdiction to Review Interpretation of Variance. — The Superior Court clearly had jurisdiction under subsection (e) of this section to review Board of Adjustment's April 15, 1985, interpretation of a Nov. 26, 1984, variance granted to petitioner, where petitioner was aggrieved by the latter order, under its writ of certiorari, and the Court of Appeals had jurisdiction to review the court's decision. Brummer v. Board of Adjustment, 81 N.C. App. 307, 343 S.E.2d 603, cert. denied, 318 N.C. 413, 349 S.E.2d 590 (1986).

Review Limited to Whether Variance Properly Denied Absent Challenge to Validity of Ordinance. — Upon denial of a variance by the board of aldermen, sitting in their quasi-judicial capacity as the board of adjustment, the superior court, and hence the Court of Appeals through its derivative appellate jurisdiction, had the statutory power to review only the issue of whether the variance was properly denied. The constitutionality of the zoning ordinance was a separate issue not properly a part of these proceedings, since the denial of the variance request never addressed the validity of the zoning ordinance, and since the superior court sat in the posture of an appellate court, so that it was not in a position to address constitutional issues that were not before the board. Sherrill v. Town of Wrightsville Beach, 76 N.C. App. 646, 334 S.E.2d 103 (1985).

Who May Appeal from Order. — Any owner whose property is affected has the right to apply to the courts for review of an order of a municipal board of adjustment. Lee v. Board of Adjustment, 226 N.C. 107, 37 S.E.2d 128 (1946).

Any aggrieved party may appeal from a ruling of the city building inspector to the board of adjustment, and such an aggrieved party may then appeal from the board to superior court by way of certiorari. Pigford v. Board of Adjustment, 49 N.C. App. 181, 270 S.E.2d 535 (1980), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 301 N.C. 722, 274 S.E.2d 230 (1981).

An order of a board of adjustment which exceeds its authority under the zoning ordinance may be appealed by nearby landowners who will sustain special damage from the proposed use. Heery v. Town of Highlands Zoning Bd. of Adjustment, 61 N.C. App. 612, 300 S.E.2d 869 (1983).

In order to seek review of board of adjustment decisions made under zoning ordinances, petitioners must be aggrieved persons within the meaning of this section. This means only that the appealing party must have some interest in the property affected. However, the "property affected" is not limited to the property subject to the special use permit. Heery v. Town of Highlands Zoning Bd. of Adjustment, 61 N.C. App. 612, 300 S.E.2d 869 (1983).

Only persons "aggrieved" within the meaning of this section possess standing to seek judicial review. Lloyd v. Town of Chapel Hill, 127 N.C. App. 347, 489 S.E.2d 898 (1997).

An adjoining property owner was an aggrieved party, even though she failed to allege such, and the trial court had jurisdiction to allow her to amend her petition for certiorari, where she sought certiorari for judicial review of the zoning board's grant of a setback variance. Darnell v. Town of Franklin, 131 N.C. App. 846, 508 S.E.2d 841 (1998).

Adverse Decision of Board of Aldermen. — Section 160A-381, and not subsection (e) of this section, grants applicants the right to petition the superior court for writ of certiorari from adverse decisions of boards of aldermen. White Oak Properties, Inc. v. Town of Carrboro, 71 N.C. App. 360, 322 S.E.2d 400 (1984), rev'd on other grounds, 313 N.C. 306, 327 S.E.2d 882 (1985).

The same procedures should be followed when seeking review of adverse decisions on application for conditional use permits, whether delivered by a board of aldermen or a board of adjustment. In the absence of a specified time for applying for certiorari from a board of aldermen which is different from that allowed for appeal from a board of adjustment, the reasonable conclusion is that the time limit is the same for both. White Oak Properties, Inc. v. Town of Carrboro, 71 N.C. App. 360, 322 S.E.2d 400 (1984), rev'd on other grounds, 313 N.C. 306, 327 S.E.2d 882 (1985).

An aggrieved person in a zoning proceeding must own the affected property or have some interest in it. Wil-Hol Corp. v. Marshall, 71 N.C. App. 611, 322 S.E.2d 655 (1984).

Petitioner Held Not "Aggrieved Party". — Where it did not appear in the record that petitioner was the owner of property affected by a ruling of defendant board of adjustment, petitioner was not an aggrieved party entitled to judicial review, and proceedings in the superior court were therefore nullities. Pigford v. Board of Adjustment, 49 N.C. App. 181, 270 S.E.2d 535 (1980), cert. denied and appeal dismissed, 301 N.C. 722, 274 S.E.2d 230 (1981).

Since optionee had no present right to erect a building on the land, the withholding of a building permit from him could not in law impose an "undue and unnecessary hardship" upon him as a predicate for relief from an order of a municipal board of adjustment. Lee v. Board of Adjustment, 226 N.C. 107, 37 S.E.2d 128 (1946).

Plaintiffs, an unincorporated association of owners of business, who challenged the issuance of a permit to allow renovation of a structure to be used as a shelter for the homeless, lacked standing to seek review of the zoning board's decision, where they failed to allege, and the superior court failed to find, that plaintiffs would be subject to special damages distinct from the rest of the community and alleged nothing more than that they were nearby or adjacent property owners. Concerned Citizens v. Board of Adjustment, 94 N.C. App. 364, 380 S.E.2d 130 (1989).

As to necessity for prosecution of a legal proceeding by a legal person, see In re Coleman, 11 N.C. App. 124, 180 S.E.2d 439 (1971).

Applicability of principles of § 150B-51. — While the specific review provision of the North Carolina Administrative Procedure Act, G.S. 150B-51, is not directly applicable to reviews of town board zoning decisions, the principles that provision embodies are highly pertinent. Coastal Ready-Mix Concrete Co. v. Board of Comm'rs, 299 N.C. 620, 265 S.E.2d 379, rehearing denied, 300 N.C. 562, 270 S.E.2d 106 (1980).

This section contains no requirement that a complete record be submitted to the superior court for review. Burton v. New Hanover County Zoning Bd. of Adjustment, 49 N.C. App. 439, 271 S.E.2d 550 (1980), cert. denied, 302 N.C. 217, 276 S.E.2d 914 (1981).

Collateral Attack Held Not Available. — Where defendants failed to exercise the remedies available to them under a zoning ordinance by seeking judicial review of a denial of their request for a variance from the planting strip provision of the ordinance, they could not collaterally attack the validity of the planting strip provision in plaintiff city's action for an injunction requiring them to comply with the ordinance. City of Elizabeth City v. LFM Enterprises, Inc., 48 N.C. App. 408, 269 S.E.2d 260 (1980).

A zoning ordinance could not be collaterally attacked by a party who failed to avail herself of the judicial review that the ordinance and statutes authorized. Wil-Hol Corp. v. Marshall, 71 N.C. App. 611, 322 S.E.2d 655 (1984).

In action by plaintiff seeking civil penalties and injunctive relief against defendant for displaying portable signs, where defendant failed to file any notice of appeal with the zoning administrator or the board of adjustment within the required 30 days after he received the notice of the zoning administrator's determination, he waived any right to raise in superior court defenses he might have had to the assessment. Having failed to exercise his administrative remedies, defendant could not collaterally attack the determination of the zoning administrator. Grandfather Village v. Worsley, 111 N.C. App. 686, 433 S.E.2d 13 (1993).

Mandamus but Not Appeal Held Available. — Plaintiff could not attack special use permits where she failed to first appeal to the board of zoning adjustment. However, plaintiff stated a proper claim against town for mandamus by alleging that zoning administrators failed to enforce ordinance. Midgette v. Pate, 94 N.C. App. 498, 380 S.E.2d 572 (1989).

Entry of Consent Order Did Not Render Appeal Moot. — Appeal by proposed intervenors in an appeal under G.S. 160A-388(e) of the decision of a town board of adjustment denying a conditional use permit for a residential development was not rendered moot by the entry of a consent decree between the developer and the board requiring the board to issue the permit; the intervenors, who were nearby landowners opposed to the development, sought not only to prevent the issuance of the permit but also alleged that the trial court's action in approving the consent decree was unlawful and that there were sufficient special damages to entitle them to intervention as a matter of right. Council v. Town of Boone, 146 N.C. App. 103, 551 S.E.2d 907, 2001 N.C. App. LEXIS 795 (2001), cert. denied, 354 N.C. 360, 560 S.E.2d 130 (2001).

Use of Property as Improper Challenge to Expansion. — Board of Adjustment properly held that petitioner could not challenge the expansion of the homeless shelter on the grounds of the use of the property. Allen v. City of Burlington Bd. of Adjustment, 100 N.C. App. 615, 397 S.E.2d 657 (1990).

Grant of Variance Affirmed. — Town of Surf City board of adjustment's decision to grant a variance of approximately 7.2 inches to property owners was based upon competent evidence and was not arbitrary or capricious because: (1) there was sufficient evidence to support the board's finding that literal enforcement of the Surf City, N.C., Zoning Ordinance would result in an unnecessary hardship for the owners; (2) the variance would allow the owners to continue their construction project that was started only after obtaining a legitimate construction permit; (3) there was no indication that granting the variance would harm neighboring properties or structures, and would not give any special privileges to the owners; (4) the board followed the procedures for granting a variance as outlined in the ordinance; and (5) the owners followed the necessary procedures to obtain a building permit before they began construction on their property and the hardship that they faced was not one of their own making. Turik v. Town of Surf City, — N.C. App. —, 642 S.E.2d 251, 2007 N.C. App. LEXIS 686 (2007).

Appeal rights do not resurface simply because a use which has been found to be permissible on the property is being expanded. Any challenge to this expansion would have to be based on factors other than use. Allen v. City of Burlington Bd. of Adjustment, 100 N.C. App. 615, 397 S.E.2d 657 (1990).

Proper Review at Appellate Level Considers Whether Evidence Before Town Board Was Supportive of Its Action. — In reviewing sufficiency and competency of the evidence at the appellate level, the question is not whether the evidence before the superior court supported that court's order, but whether the evidence before, the town board was supportive of its action. Coulter v. City of Newton, 100 N.C. App. 523, 397 S.E.2d 244 (1990).

Insufficient Pleadings. — In action to contest decision of town board of adjustment issuing special exception permit for expansion of present nonconforming building, allegation that landowner was the "owner of adjoining property" did not satisfy the pleading requirement, in that there was no allegation relating to whether and in what respect landowner's land would be adversely affected by the board's issuance of the special exception permit. Kentallen, Inc. v. Town of Hillsborough, 110 N.C. App. 767, 431 S.E.2d 231 (1993).

Time for Appeal. — The fact that the town planner failed to inform the landowner of its right to appeal a zoning decision did not preclude enforcement of the town's 30-day limitation period for filing an appeal, where the planner's letter was silent, but the landowner was presumed to know the law governing such appeals. Water Tower Office Assocs. v. Town of Cary Bd. of Adjustment, 131 N.C. App. 696, 507 S.E.2d 589 (1998).

Appeal Held Timely. — The trial court erred by affirming the Board of Adjustment's determination that petitioner was time-barred from bringing appeal, relying on local ordinance and laches. Burlington Zoning Ordinance G.S. 32.15(H) provided that appeals were to be taken within a "reasonable time." Reasonable was not defined. In making a determination of what is reasonable, the time begins to run when a party has actual or constructive notice of the zoning decision. There is no evidence that petitioner had actual notice of the building inspector's decision until letter of August 10, 1989. Petitioner appealed this decision on September 8, 1989, within a reasonable period. Allen v. City of Burlington Bd. of Adjustment, 100 N.C. App. 615, 397 S.E.2d 657 (1990).

Remand, Not Granting Variance, Was Proper. — Although denial of an owner's request for a variance was improper, the proper course was for the trial court to remand the case to the board, not to grant the variance. Stealth Props., LLC v. Town of Pinebluff Bd. of Adjustment, — N.C. App. —, 645 S.E.2d 144, 2007 N.C. App. LEXIS 1123 (2007).

"Aggrieved Party" Defined. — An aggrieved party is one who can either show an interest in the property affected, or if the party is a nearby property owner, some special damage, distinct from the rest of the community, amounting to a reduction in the value of his property. Allen v. City of Burlington Bd. of Adjustment, 100 N.C. App. 615, 397 S.E.2d 657 (1990).

An aggrieved party is one who either shows a legal interest in the property affected or, in the case of a nearby property owner, shows some special damage, distinct from the rest of the community, amounting to a reduction in value of the owner's property. Lloyd v. Town of Chapel Hill, 127 N.C. App. 347, 489 S.E.2d 898 (1997).

Petitioner Held to Be "Aggrieved Party". — Board of Adjustment's determination that petitioner was not an aggrieved person was not supported by evidence in the record where: the record revealed competent evidence of such special damages through petitioner's own testimony; respondents' expert testified in general terms about the neighborhood and his opinion as to the appropriateness of the proposed uses in the area; and nothing in his testimony could reasonably be concluded to negative petitioner's testimony about his property. Allen v. City of Burlington Bd. of Adjustment, 100 N.C. App. 615, 397 S.E.2d 657 (1990).

Standing of Aggrieved Party to Appeal. — Appeals may be taken to the Board of Adjustment from a building inspector's decision only by a "person aggrieved" by that decision. Allen v. City of Burlington Bd. of Adjustment, 100 N.C. App. 615, 397 S.E.2d 657 (1990).

Appeal by Intervenors Dismissed. — Appeal by intervenors was dismissed where there was no evidence of a diminishment of property values or an assertion of special damages distinct from the rest of the community. Lloyd v. Town of Chapel Hill, 127 N.C. App. 347, 489 S.E.2d 898 (1997).

De Novo Review. — A zoning board of adjustment's determination of nonconforming use is subject to a review de novo. Welter v. Rowan County Bd. of Comm'rs, 160 N.C. App. 358, 585 S.E.2d 472, 2003 N.C. App. LEXIS 1802 (2003).

§ 160A-389. Remedies.

If a building or structure is erected, constructed, reconstructed, altered, repaired, converted, or maintained, or any building, structure or land is used in violation of this Part or of any ordinance or other regulation made under authority conferred thereby, the city, in addition to other remedies, may institute any appropriate action or proceedings to prevent the unlawful erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, repair, conversion, maintenance or use, to restrain, correct or abate the violation, to prevent occupancy of the building, structure or land, or to prevent any illegal act, conduct, business or use in or about the premises. (1923, c. 250, s. 8; C.S., s. 2776(y); 1971, c. 698, s. 1.)

CASE NOTES

Editor's Note. — Some of the cases cited below were decided under former similar statutory provisions.

City cannot be estopped from enforcing a zoning ordinance by the conduct of a zoning official in encouraging or permitting the violation. City of Winston-Salem v. Hoots Concrete Co., 47 N.C. App. 405, 267 S.E.2d 569, cert. denied, 283 S.E.2d 131 (1980).

A municipal corporation was not estopped from enforcing a valid zoning regulation by obtaining an injunction merely on account of the conduct of its officials in permitting or even encouraging its violation by issuing a permit for a permissive use with knowledge that the owner intended to use same for a prohibited purpose or by acquiescing in such unlawful use over a period of years. City of Raleigh v. Fisher, 232 N.C. 629, 61 S.E.2d 897 (1950).

In enacting and enforcing zoning regulations, a municipality acts as a governmental agency and exercises the police power of the State. Town of Hillsborough v. Smith, 10 N.C. App. 70, 178 S.E.2d 18 (1970), cert. denied, 277 N.C. 727, 178 S.E.2d 831 (1971).

Municipality did not waive immunity merely by instituting a civil action under former G.S. 160-179 to restrain a violation of its zoning ordinance. Town of Hillsborough v. Smith, 10 N.C. App. 70, 178 S.E.2d 18 (1970), Superior court properly exercised its scope of review in affirming a decision by a city zoning board of adjustment to affirm the denial of a business privilege license by a city tax collector for a sexually oriented business that sought to operate in violation of a city ordinance because competent, material, and substantial evidence existed in the record to support the decision. Fantasy World, Inc. v. Greensboro Bd. of Adjustment, 162 N.C. App. 603, 592 S.E.2d 205, 2004 N.C. App. LEXIS 267 (2004), cert. denied, 358 N.C. 543, 599 S.E.2d 43 (2004).

cert. denied, 277 N.C. 727, 178 S.E.2d 831 (1971).

Enforcement Provisions. — The broad enforcement provisions of this section, a zoning statute, could not serve as the statutory basis for denying a building permit to one whose lot violated the subdivision requirements of Chapter 17 of the Nags Head Code of Ordinances. However, insofar as the Town of Nags Head rested its denial of a building permit upon the violation of zoning laws, the broader enforcement license of G.S. 160A-381 would apply and would sustain such a remedy. Town of Nags Head v. Tillett, 314 N.C. 627, 336 S.E.2d 394 (1985).

The specific penal and equitable relief set out in G.S. 160A-375 is intended to deter those who violate subdivision ordinances; this section permits broader, appropriate action and proceedings to prevent or correct the violation of a zoning ordinance. Town of Nags Head v. Tillett, 314 N.C. 627, 336 S.E.2d 394 (1985).

As to use of injunction under former § 160-179, see City of Fayetteville v. Spur Distrib. Co., 216 N.C. 596, 5 S.E.2d 838 (1939), commented on in 18 N.C.L. Rev. 255 (1940); Town of Clinton v. Ross, 226 N.C. 682, 40 S.E.2d 593 (1946); City of Raleigh v. Morand, 247 N.C. 363, 100 S.E.2d 870 (1957), appeal dismissed, 357 U.S. 343, 78 S. Ct. 1369, 2 L. Ed. 2d 1367 (1958); City of New Bern v. Walker, 255 N.C.

355, 121 S.E.2d 544 (1961).

Whether specific use of property conforms to zoning ordinance is a question of law, and as such, the determination is made by the local zoning board and is reviewable by the courts as a matter of law. City of Winston-Salem v. Hoots Concrete Co., 47 N.C. App. 405, 267 S.E.2d 569 (1980).

No Zoning Power Over School's Parking Lot. — Rocky Mount Board of Adjustment had no authority to require a special use permit on the part of the Nash-Rocky Mount Board of Education with regard to its erection of a parking lot, because a parking lot was not a building or the use of a building as that term was provided for in the 2003 version of G.S. 160A-392 applicable to the matter and, therefore, the Board of Adjustment had no zoning power and no special use permit was needed. Nash-Rocky Mount Bd. of Educ. v. Rocky Mount Bd. of Adjustment, 169 N.C. App. 587, 610 S.E.2d 255, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 679 (2005).

§ 160A-390. Conflict with other laws.

When regulations made under authority of this Part require a greater width or size of yards or courts, or require a lower height of a building or fewer number of stories, or require a greater percentage of a lot to be left unoccupied, or impose other higher standards than are required in any other statute or local ordinance or regulation, regulations made under authority of this Part shall govern. When the provisions of any other statute or local ordinance or regulation require a greater width or size of yards or courts, or require a lower height of a building or a fewer number of stories, or require a greater percentage of a lot to be left unoccupied, or impose other higher standards than are required by the regulations made under authority of this Part, the provisions of that statute or local ordinance or regulation shall govern. This Part shall not repeal any zoning act or city planning act, local or general, now in force, except those that are repugnant to or inconsistent herewith. This Part shall be construed to be an enlargement of the duties, powers, and authority contained in other laws authorizing the appointment and proper functioning of city planning commissions or zoning commissions by any city or town in the State of North Carolina. § 160A-392. Part applicable to buildings constructed by State and its subdivisions; exception.

All of the provisions of this Part are hereby made applicable to the erection, construction, and use of buildings by the State of North Carolina and its political subdivisions.

Notwithstanding the provisions of any general or local law or ordinance, no land owned by the State of North Carolina may be included within an overlay district or a special use or conditional use district without approval of the Council of State. (1951, c. 1203, s. 1; 1971, c. 698, s. 1; 1985, c. 607, s. 2; 2004-199, s. 41(e); 2005-280, s. 1.)

Local Modification. — Town of Southport: 2005-305, s. 11.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2004-199, s. 41(e), which amended this section, was itself repealed by S.L. 2005-280, s. 1, effective August 18, 2005. The 2004 amendment inserted "and land" following "use of buildings" in the first paragraph; and substituted "within a conditional use district without approval of the Council of State or its designate" for "within an overlay district or a special use or conditional use district without approval of the Council of State" in the second paragraph.

"Building." — Plain meaning of the word "building" in G.S. 160A-392 does not encompass a parking lot. Nash-Rocky Mount Bd. of Educ. v. Rocky Mount Bd. of Adjustment, 169 N.C. App. 587, 610 S.E.2d 255, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 679 (2005).

County Ordinances Inapplicable to Municipal Sewage Facility. — City which owned a sewage treatment facility located in a county and outside the city's boundaries was not required to comply with county's zoning ordinances in upgrading the facility and providing sewage service to newly annexed areas of city with that facility. Davidson County v. City of High Point, 85 N.C. App. 26, 354 S.E.2d 280, modified and aff'd, 321 N.C. 252, 362 S.E.2d 553 (1987).

No Zoning Power Over School's Parking

Part 3C. Historic Districts and Landmarks.

§ 160A-400.1. Legislative findings.

The historical heritage of our State is one of our most valued and important assets. The conservation and preservation of historic districts and landmarks stabilize and increase property values in their areas and strengthen the overall economy of the State. This Part authorizes cities and counties of the State within their respective zoning jurisdictions and by means of listing, regulation, and acquisition:

- (1) To safeguard the heritage of the city or county by preserving any district or landmark therein that embodies important elements of its culture, history, architectural history, or prehistory; and
- (2) To promote the use and conservation of such district or landmark for the education, pleasure and enrichment of the residents of the city or county and the State as a whole. (1989, c. 706, s. 2.)

§ 160A-400.2. Exercise of powers by counties as well as cities.

The term “municipality” or “municipal” as used in G.S. 160A-400.1 through 160A-400.14 shall be deemed to include the governing board or legislative board of a county, to the end that counties may exercise the same powers as cities with respect to the establishment of historic districts and designation of landmarks. (1989, c. 706, s. 2; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 1024, s. 40.)

CASE NOTES

Editor’s Note. — The case cited below was decided under former similar statutory provisions.

Discretion of Municipal Governing Body. — The statutory authorization of historic district ordinances is a mixture of delegated legislative and administrative power. A municipal governing body has unlimited discretion to determine whether or not to establish a historic district or districts. Once it chooses to do so, however, its discretion, insofar as the method and the standard by which a historic district ordinance is to be administered, is extremely limited. A-S-P Assocs. v. City of Raleigh, 298 N.C. 207, 258 S.E.2d 444 (1979).

A historic district ordinance is to be administered by a historic district commission, the composition of which is specified by the General Assembly, in accordance with the standard of “incongruity” set directly by the General Assembly in former G.S. 160A-397. A-S-P Assocs. v. City of Raleigh, 298 N.C. 207, 258 S.E.2d 444 (1979).

§ 160A-400.3. Character of historic district defined.

Historic districts established pursuant to this Part shall consist of areas which are deemed to be of special significance in terms of their history, prehistory, architecture, and/or culture, and to possess integrity of design, setting, materials, feeling, and association. (1989, c. 706, s. 2.)

Legal Periodicals. — For article, “Reaffirmation of Local Initiative: North Carolina’s 1979 Historic Preservation Legislation,” see 11

N.C. Cent. L.J. 243 (1980).

For note on historic district zoning, see 16 Wake Forest L. Rev. 495 (1980).

§ 160A-400.4. Designation of historic districts.

Any municipal governing board may, as part of a zoning or other ordinance enacted or amended pursuant to this Article, designate and from time to time amend one or more historic districts within the area subject to the ordinance.

Such ordinance may treat historic districts either as a separate use district classification or as districts which overlay other zoning districts. Where historic districts are designated as separate use districts, the zoning ordinance may include as uses by right or as conditional uses those uses found by the Preservation Commission to have existed during the period sought to be restored or preserved, or to be compatible with the restoration or preservation of the district.

No historic district or districts shall be designated until:

- (1) An investigation and report describing the significance of the buildings, structures, features, sites or surroundings included in any such proposed district, and the description of the boundaries of such district has been prepared, and
- (2) The Department of Cultural Resources, acting through the State Historic Preservation Officer or his or her designee, shall have made an analysis of and recommendations concerning such report and description of proposed boundaries. Failure of the department to submit its written analysis and recommendations to the municipal governing board within 30 calendar days after a written request for such analysis has been received by the Department of Cultural Resources shall relieve the municipality of any responsibility for awaiting such analysis, and said board may at any time thereafter take any necessary action to adopt or amend its zoning ordinance.

The municipal governing board may also, in its discretion, refer the report and proposed boundaries to any local preservation commission or other interested body for its recommendations prior to taking action to amend the zoning ordinance. With respect to any changes in the boundaries of such district subsequent to its initial establishment, or the creation of additional districts within the jurisdiction, the investigative studies and reports required by subdivision (1) of this section shall be prepared by the preservation commission, and shall be referred to the local planning agency for its review and comment according to procedures set forth in the zoning ordinance. Changes in the boundaries of an initial district or proposal for additional districts shall also be submitted to the Department of Cultural Resources in accordance with the provisions of subdivision (2) of this section.

On receipt of these reports and recommendations, the municipality may proceed in the same manner as would otherwise be required for the adoption or amendment of any appropriate zoning ordinance provisions. (1989, c. 706, s. 2.)

§ 160A-400.5. Designation of landmarks; adoption of an ordinance; criteria for designation.

Upon complying with G.S. 160A-400.6, the governing board may adopt and from time to time amend or repeal an ordinance designating one or more historic landmarks. No property shall be recommended for designation as a historic landmark unless it is deemed and found by the preservation commission to be of special significance in terms of its historical, prehistorical, architectural, or cultural importance, and to possess integrity of design, setting, workmanship, materials, feeling and/or association.

The ordinance shall describe each property designated in the ordinance, the name or names of the owner or owners of the property, those elements of the property that are integral to its historical, architectural, or prehistorical value, including the land area of the property so designated, and any other information the governing board deems necessary. For each building, structure, site, area, or object so designated as a historic landmark, the ordinance shall require that the waiting period set forth in this Part be observed prior to its demolition. For each designated landmark, the ordinance may also provide for a suitable sign on the property indicating that the property has been so designated. If the owner consents, the sign shall be placed upon the property. If the owner objects, the sign shall be placed on a nearby public right-of-way. (1989, c. 706, s. 2.)

§ 160A-400.6. Required landmark designation procedures.

As a guide for the identification and evaluation of landmarks, the commission shall undertake, at the earliest possible time and consistent with the resources available to it, an inventory of properties of historical, architectural, prehistorical, and cultural significance within its jurisdiction. Such inventories and any additions or revisions thereof shall be submitted as expeditiously as possible to the Office of Archives and History. No ordinance designating a historic building, structure, site, area or object as a landmark nor any amendment thereto may be adopted, nor may any property be accepted or acquired by a preservation commission or the governing board of a municipality, until all of the following procedural steps have been taken:

- (1) The preservation commission shall (i) prepare and adopt rules of procedure, and (ii) prepare and adopt principles and guidelines, not inconsistent with this Part, for altering, restoring, moving, or demolishing properties designated as landmarks.
- (2) The preservation commission shall make or cause to be made an investigation and report on the historic, architectural, prehistorical, educational or cultural significance of each building, structure, site, area or object proposed for designation or acquisition. Such investigation or report shall be forwarded to the Office of Archives and History, North Carolina Department of Cultural Resources.
- (3) The Department of Cultural Resources, acting through the State Historic Preservation Officer shall either upon request of the department or at the initiative of the preservation commission be given an opportunity to review and comment upon the substance and effect of the designation of any landmark pursuant to this Part. Any comments shall be provided in writing. If the Department does not submit its comments or recommendation in connection with any designation within 30 days following receipt by the Department of the investigation and report of the commission, the commission and any city or county governing board shall be relieved of any responsibility to consider such comments.
- (4) The preservation commission and the governing board shall hold a joint public hearing or separate public hearings on the proposed ordinance. Reasonable notice of the time and place thereof shall be given. All meetings of the commission shall be open to the public, in accordance with the North Carolina Open Meetings Law, Chapter 143, Article 33C.
- (5) Following the joint public hearing or separate public hearings, the governing board may adopt the ordinance as proposed, adopt the ordinance with any amendments it deems necessary, or reject the proposed ordinance.
- (6) Upon adoption of the ordinance, the owners and occupants of each designated landmark shall be given written notification of such designation insofar as reasonable diligence permits. One copy of the ordinance and all amendments thereto shall be filed by the preservation commission in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the landmark or landmarks are located. Each designated landmark shall be indexed according to the name of the owner of the property in the grantee and grantor indexes in the register of deeds office, and the preservation commission shall pay a reasonable fee for filing and indexing. In the case of any landmark property lying within the zoning jurisdiction of a city, a second copy of the ordinance and all amendments thereto shall be kept on file in the office of the city or town clerk and be made available for public inspection at any reasonable time. A third copy of the ordinance and all amendments thereto shall be given to the city or county building inspector. The fact that a building, structure, site, area or object has been designated a landmark shall be clearly indicated on all tax maps maintained by the county or city for such period as the designation remains in effect.

- (7) Upon the adoption of the landmarks ordinance or any amendment thereto, it shall be the duty of the preservation commission to give notice thereof to the tax supervisor of the county in which the property is located. The designation and any recorded restrictions upon the property limiting its use for preservation purposes shall be considered by the tax supervisor in appraising it for tax purposes. (1989, c. 706, s. 2; 2002-159, s. 35(m).)

§ 160A-400.7. Historic Preservation Commission.

Before it may designate one or more landmarks or historic districts, a municipality shall establish or designate a historic preservation commission. The municipal governing board shall determine the number of the members of the commission, which shall be at least three, and the length of their terms, which shall be no greater than four years. A majority of the members of such a commission shall have demonstrated special interest, experience, or education in history, architecture, archaeology, or related fields. All the members shall reside within the territorial jurisdiction of the municipality as established pursuant to G.S. 160A-360. The commission may appoint advisory bodies and committees as appropriate.

In lieu of establishing a historic preservation commission, a municipality may designate as its historic preservation commission, (i) a separate historic districts commission or a separate historic landmarks commission established pursuant to this Part to deal only with historic districts or landmarks respectively, (ii) a planning board established pursuant to this Article, or (iii) a community appearance commission established pursuant to Part 7 of this Article. In order for a commission or board other than the preservation commission to be designated, at least three of its members shall have demonstrated special interest, experience, or education in history, architecture, or related fields. At the discretion of the municipality the ordinance may also provide that the preservation commission may exercise within a historic district any or all of the powers of a planning board or a community appearance commission.

A county and one or more cities in the county may establish or designate a joint preservation commission. If a joint commission is established or designated, the county and cities involved shall determine the residence requirements of members of the joint preservation commission. Local Modification. — Wake: 2004-11; Town of Nags Head: 2003-46, s. 1.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2005-418, s. 14, provides: "The provisions of this act shall not be deemed to repeal or amend the validity or enforceability of any local act or charter provision previously enacted by the General Assembly."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2005-418, s. 12, effective January 1, 2006, twice substituted "planning board" for "planning agency" in the second paragraph.

§ 160A-400.8. Powers of the Historic Preservation Commission.

A preservation commission established pursuant to this Part may, within the zoning jurisdiction of the municipality:

- (1) Undertake an inventory of properties of historical, prehistorical, architectural, and/or cultural significance;
- (2) Recommend to the municipal governing board areas to be designated by ordinance as "Historic Districts"; and individual structures, buildings, sites, areas, or objects to be designated by ordinance as "Landmarks";
- (3) Acquire by any lawful means the fee or any lesser included interest, including options to purchase, to properties within established districts or to any such properties designated as landmarks, to hold, manage, preserve, restore and improve the same, and to exchange or dispose of the property by public or private sale, lease or otherwise, subject to covenants or other legally binding restrictions which will secure appropriate rights of public access and promote the preservation of the property;
- (4) Restore, preserve and operate historic properties;
- (5) Recommend to the governing board that designation of any area as a historic district or part thereof, or designation of any building, structure, site, area, or object as a landmark, be revoked or removed for cause;
- (6) Conduct an educational program with respect to historic properties and districts within its jurisdiction;
- (7) Cooperate with the State, federal, and local governments in pursuance of the purposes of this Part. The governing board or the commission when authorized by the governing board may contract with the State, or the United States of America, or any agency of either, or with any other organization provided the terms are not inconsistent with State or federal law;
- (8) Enter, solely in performance of its official duties and only at reasonable times, upon private lands for examination or survey thereof. However, no member, employee or agent of the commission may enter any private building or structure without the express consent of the owner or occupant thereof;
- (9) Prepare and recommend the official adoption of a preservation element as part of the municipality's comprehensive plan;
- (10) Review and act upon proposals for alterations, demolitions, or new construction within historic districts, or for the alteration or demolition of designated landmarks, pursuant to this Part; and
